Moratorium adopted for recreational marijuana

BY JASON BLEAU

WEBSTER - The town of Webster has joined a slew of communities statewide who are implementing temporary moratoriums on recreational marijuana establishments as the state continues to discuss restrictions and regulations for such businesses in the months

It's been nearly a year since the Commonwealth of Massachusetts voted to legalize recreation marijuana use and sales during the November elections and one of the biggest talking points throughout the state in 2017 has been how towns should follow up with the legalization of the controversial substance. During the Oct. 16 annual town meeting-Town Administrator Doug Willardson spoke on the article that would implement an amendment to the town's zoning bylaws by adding the temporary moratorium until the end of 2018.

"The cannabis control commission has until March 15 to develop regulations regarding the use and sale of recreational marijuana so we want to wait until we get rules and regulations from the state before we develop our local rules and regulations," Willardson told a packed auditorium of residents at the busy town meeting.

The moratorium essentially puts a hold on the use of any property for the distribution and or cultivation of non-medical-use marijuana while the town works to produce regulations concerning the drug. With the state expected to have its own recommendations in March, the moratorium would expire in December 2018.

However, there were concerns at the annual town meeting this is setting Webster up to lose revenue if the opportunity to bring such businesses into the community is presented sooner than next December.

That concern was brought forward by citizens Laurie Bysiewicz, who argued that if the state will have answers in March that leaves a lot of time for Webster to lose out if other local communities decide to access these businesses sooner.

"December of 2018 is fourteen months from now when we're looking for revenue and really searching for money,' Bysiewicz said. "We have to stop borrowing. Our audits

McGovern challenges free-market's 'alien' ideology

BY GUS STEEVES STAFF WRITER

DUDLEY - Our modern economy is "so complex we don't actually understand how everything is working." That means most people rely on experts, bureaucracies and the media to explain it, "without knowing what they're doing.'

To Nichols Professor Arthur McGovern, that has "unfortunate side effects" that are becoming more dangerous as time passes, in large part because the sources of information are increasingly being controlled by a handful of powerful corporate interests who benefit from consumption, centralization and community breakdown.

'Capitalist enterprise is actively manipulating society in ways that are obviously detrimental to society," he told a small audience at Nichols' Conant Library. Because the economy has "disembodied itself" from society as a whole, setting independent goals of profit and cost reduction while rejecting what "free-market" ideology sees as "the vague, feel-good stuff" -- health, ecology, peace, democracy, etc -- it has become "amoral. Congratulations! You've been flocked!

OXFORD — Have you been Oxford High School Class of flocked by Oxford's Operation Graduation 2018? If not, you may be soon! Watch for the flocks of pink flamingos which will be appearing on lawns around town for the next several weeks.

This is part of the fundraising efforts of OpGrad for the 2018. For the past 18 years, parents of the graduating class band together to raise funds for a safe, fun, alcohol and drug-free lock-in event held the night of graduation.

This year, as in years past, the group's fundraising goal is $17,000 – for the venue, entertainment, food, and prizes for the event. The "Flocking" campaign serves a dual purpose; to raise awareness and visibility of OpGrad's fundraising mission, and to raise funds. Those who are "flocked" also receive an envelope in which to place

Dudley EDC releases new survey

BY JASON BLEAU STONEBRIDGE CORRESPONDENT

DUDLEY - The Dudley Development Economic Committee is seeking public input through a new survey for one more week.

The survey, which kicked off earlier this month, covers numerous topics to ensure the town is heading in the right direction. As the town continues to examine its five-year economic development plan, the relatively young committee is hoping to see more public interaction in the process starting with the new survey which runs through the remainder of

Chairman of the EDC John Briare said this is the first survey of its kind to be conducted in the town in 18 years and the results will be important to the committee's continued mission of bringing new businesses and offerings to the community in years to come. The short, 15-minute survey covers numerous topics including the kinds of businesses residents would like to see come to town and what the focus should be for Dudley as it looks to grow and establish an identity for a new era.

"There are a couple of things that we wanted to do with the survey and that's to really get a pulse on what people are feeling. We know people like living a bedroom community. There are certain things that we know so we didn't put those questions in there. These questions are a little different than people are used to," Briare said of the survey. "We want to know where people think we should spend our time with economic development and where we should be focusing our efforts. We want to know what they like and what the overall weaknesses are."

Voters turn down fire truck purchase

BY JASON BLEAU

WEBSTER - After a somewhat contentious debate, voters in Webster turned down the borrowing of $575,000 for the purchase of a new fire engine in a close vote during the fall annual town meeting Oct 16.

In the closest decision of the night, and one of the closest Webster has seen in recent years, 57 percent of 116 voters on hand voted for the purchase, but the 88 who voted no were enough to prevent the 66 percent needed to approve the item, striking it down as a result.

The request for the purchase, which would have been paid through borrowing and from the trading in of Engine 5 and Ladder 2, received mixed responses from the finance committee and several members of the attending public, who had questions about the need for the purchase and the fire departments spending hab-

Chair of the Finance Committee Earl Gabor started the conversation asking for the formation of a five-member capital equipment committee to provide recommendations for the voters on future purchases by the department for the next annual town meeting in May. That group would have included the fire department chief, the town administrator, a finance committee member, and two citizens. That motion was turned down by voters, however it did spark a debate that drew frustration from Fire Chief Brian Hickey, who felt that the finance committee was overstepping their boundaries when it comes to the fire department's recommendations to the public.

"There are other departments in this town that make large purchases. I don't see a committee formed to make

Car Buying Tips

Customers ask place: Should I buy a new or used vehicle?

The RIGHT answer: This is a question that people have asked for years. The answer is one that is dependent on a number of factors. Some people are concerned about potential problems when buying a used car. At Place Motor we complete a 172 point inspection of our used vehicles. We make sure that our customers can feel confident they are getting a good car or truck when they do business with us. While an extended service plan can help alleviate these concerns it doesn't always do enough to make a customer happy. New Vehicles carry the factory warranty to solve these issues.

Usually a defining factor is budget. Customers must consider what they can comfortably afford. Buying a used car or truck saves customers thousands of dollars as compared to a new vehicle. Sometimes when buying a used car payments can still be a problem for a customer's budget. Many banks will shorten available terms or require more money down and this can strain anyone's budget. We work with several lenders and offer certified used vehicles so in most cases we are able to help customers achieve their required budget. While new vehicles are more expensive than used, new vehicles generally have rebates or special finance rates to make them more affordable. We have seen cases where the monthly payment for a new car is very close to that of a used car. With the availability of leasing programs a new car payment could even be less than that of a used car.

Here at Place Motor our goal is to help you get the RIGHT vehicle for your needs and budget. We will spend some time with you to make sure we understand your needs, offer you affordable solutions and make sure that you get the RIGHT vehicle at the RIGHT price. Come see why at Place Motor we are the RIGHT PLACE SINCE 1923.

Five years of Kicking Cancer to the Curb

BY JASON BLEAU

DUDLEY - It's been a long five years for the patrons of The Fitness Studio in Dudley, but to this day the local gym and its members continue to honor their matriarch Kerri Murphy every October during cancer awareness month with the annual Kick Cancer to the Curb walk.

This year's event was held October 21 with participants from all across the region filing into the gym on Schofield Avenue to take part in the walk, which stretched from the studio itself to the Park N' Shop plaza and back, a nearly four mile walk. One of the event's organizers, Angela Toomey, said reaching the five year milestone is a major accomplishment for the patrons of The Fitness Studio. In its first year, the cancer walk was formed just to support Kerri Murphy, but after her passing the gym's members decided to make the walk a tradition to support the Adam Bullen Foundation, who helped Murphy in her battle with cancer five years ago.

"We have a great turnout and a lot of support. It is a wonderful way to honor Kerri's memory as well as provide support for the foundation that provides emotional and financial support for those fighting cancer. It really means a lot for us to be able to do this," Toomey said. "It's amazing actually. I worry from year to year actually whether or not the turnout would die out but it doesn't. We get the support and it's for such a great cause."

Jennifer Looney, a friend of Kerri Murphy's who took ownership of the gym after Murphy passed away, said the walk is an important day of catharsis and community for all involved and has many different layers to it for everyone who walks. Some walk for those they know. Some walk in Murphy's memory. But everyone who walks does so with an understanding that they are helping make a difference.

It's always great to honor Kerri with an event like this and have so many people who knew her and even some who didn't know her show up to just support the local people who are struggling with cancer," Looney said. "There are people from all over the community here -Everyone here has a personal story or a personal tie to someone with cancer. It's not an isolated disease. Everyone I know personally has been touched by it in some way, shape or form and Kerri's legacy was health, fitness, community and love and that's what this is all about.'

Whether through pledges, raffles or donations all the money raised from the Kick Cancer to the Curb walk helps to support the Adam Bullen Foundation which helped Murphy in her battle and pledges to assist cancer patients with many different needs to make sure noone fights alone. Adam Bullen's parents were on hand for the cancer walk, as they are every year, and said that the assist their foundation in their mission.

"It's very helpful to our cause. We help a lot of cancer patients throughout the area and this help is invaluable actually. This is a very important event to us," Pat Bullen said. "I see a lot of people that we've helped here and this is a great chance for us to spread the word throughout. Cancer is a horrible disease. We know that first hand obviously, as to the people here.'

Of course the theme of the day was that no one fights alone. Just as the first Kick Cancer to the Curb event helped the entire gym community come together to show support for Kerri Murphy, the Adam Bullen foundation helps make sure no cancer patient fights alone every year. Together, The Fitness Studio and its supporters have raised over $25,000 for the foundation, and that's before factoring in the 2017 numbers, which were unavailable for this report. For Pat Bullen and her family this money goes a long way to help them continue a sentimental mission her son started during his own battle with the disease.

"His concern was he didn't want to be alone when he fought his disease and he only fought it for six months once he knew what he had. We tried to be there 24 hours a day and he didn't want to fight it alone and didn't want people to be alone. He saw people at the hospital who couldn't have family there because of the treatment and travel and even just parking and gas. A lot of people would lose their job if they took too much time off to see their loved ones who are in the middle of their battle. We know that he's pleased and looking down at this event today happy that we can continue to help those in their fights," Pay Bullen said.

Orange balloons are released into the sky in memory of the late Kerri Murphy, the former owner of The Fitness Studio and the beneficiary of the first Kick Cancer to the Curb walk.

Sturbridge Coffee Roasters 'Think Pink' campaign benefits Cancer Center

Sturbridge Coffee Roasters (SCR) will donate $1 for each pound of freshly roasted coffee purchased to the Cancer Center at Harrington Hospital during the month of October in honor of Breast Cancer Awareness Month. To commemorate our "Think Pink" campaign, coffee is being sold in special pink bags to further raise awareness. The campaign is running at both of Sturbridge Coffee Roasters' shops in Southbridge and Dudley location.

The campaign is part of Sturbridge Coffee Roaster's on-going business plan to give back to the community. Each month, owner Elvis Dyer and his wife Karen choose a charity to donate to on behalf of their business.

In addition to supporting the Cancer Center at Harrington, Sturbridge Coffee Roasters also offers a 10% discount to all Harrington Healthcare employees year round when they present their ID badge. Approximately 10 years ago, Harrington saved Sturbridge Coffee Roasters owner Elvis Dyer's life when he received critical, emergency surgery. He has been a patient for the past 15+ years. One of Sturbridge Coffee Roasters employees previously received chemotherapy treatment for non-Hodgkin's lymphoma at the Cancer Center at Harrington.

"Harrington has always been really good to me, my loved ones and my friends, and I try and do what I can to return that favor," said Dyer. Sturbridge Coffee Roasters is your local, fresh roasted coffee shop. The business opened in 2004 in Sturbridge, in a small space where beans were roasted and delicious coffee drinks were served to locals and tourists. We quickly discovered that our customers also wanted a place to relax with their coffee, which led to the relocation five miles down the road to our present location in Southbridge. In August 2014, the business was sold to the current owner and coffee lover, Elvis Dyer. In July 2015, we opened our second location in Dudley. Our bean offerings continue to expand to provide opportunities for coffee lovers to experience new flavor profiles and beans from around the world.

'Who lyeth there?' Using genealogy to understand

Join us Thursday, Nov 16 for a presentation by Beth Finch McCarthy on the settling of the Massachusetts Bay Colony, with specific emphasis on Dudley, during the Great Pilgrim Migration of the 1600s. This presentation uses the seemingly empty colonial burial ground as a backdrop to tell the stories of the earliest families of New England. Themes include how Massachusetts' first towns were created and how successive generations expanded westward, bringing with them family gossip and scandals.

The program is scheduled 6-7:30 p.m. Please register by visiting or calling the Pearle Crawford Library at (508) 949-8021. This program is sponsored by Friends of the Crawford Library.

Beth Finch McCarthy is a professional genealogist with over 10 years of research experience and holds a certificate from the Genealogical Research program at Boston University's Center for Professional Education. She is a member of the Association of Professional Genealogists, the Massachusetts Society of Genealogists, and the National Genealogical Society. Her eclectic family line comprises English Puritans and Merchant adventurers from the 1600s, New England pioneers and Revolutionary Patriots from the 1700s, and Dutch farmers and Swedish industrialists from the 1800s.

Choral group planning annual auction

STURBRIDGE — The Quinebaug Valley Singers, centered in Sturbridge announce the second annual auction, to be held Sunday, Nov. 5 from 2 to 4 p.m. at the Federated Church of Sturbridge and Fiskdale, 8 Maple St. in Sturbridge. The many high-quality items, gift certificates and services to be auctioned can be previewed at 1:30 p.m.

This is an unusual auction, benefiting an unusual organization. The Quinebaug Valley Singers, founded over 30 years ago, draw their 50+members from many communities in south-central Massachusetts and northeastern Connecticut. They present two pairs of concerts a year, in December and May. Under the leadership of music director Nym Cooke, they have established a reputation for top-notch performances and unusual, creative programming.

This year's QVS auction will feature both live bidding (led by experienced auctioneer Roland Parent) and silent bidding. A registration fee of $10, payable either at the door, in advance from any QVS member, or by contacting the auction's co-chairs (see below), buys you a bidding paddle, and you're ready for the fun of bidding—and the excite-

And come to the Quinebaug Valley Singers' holiday concerts! You have a choice of two venues on two dates: St. Joachim Chapel, St. Anne/St. Patrick Parish in Fiskdale, on Saturday, Dec. 9 at 7:30 p.m., or Charlton Baptist Church on Sunday, Dec. 10 at 3 p.m. Both concerts are free, and (as always) will include yummy refreshments.

More information about the Quinebaug Valley Singers may be found on their Facebook page (Quinebaug Valley Singers – QVS) or on their website (www.qvsingers.org). Or by calling Linda Lambrecht at (774) 402-0218 or Carol Curtin at (508) 341-6828.

Dr. George received his B.S. from the College of Engineering at Cornell University and his M.D. from Weill Cornell Medical College. His post-graduate studies included a general surgery internship at Brown University and Rhode Island Hospital, and an orthopedic surgery residency at the University of Vermont. He completed his training with a spine surgery fellowship at Penn State University and Hershey Medical Center.

Prior to joining the Center for Bone and Joint Care, Dr. George spent 23 years in an orthopedic practice in Northwest CT. He has been a scientific advisor and board member at a company that developed an antimicrobial spinal implant, which is approved for clinical usage in Europe.

In his spare time, Dr. George enjoys skiing, snorkeling, hiking, reading history books and visiting museums. He is an avid fan of Coast Guard Football, where his brother is the head coach. His greatest joy is spending time with his four children.

Now more than ever, we've got your back.

If you suffer from back pain, relief is closer than you might think.

Daniel C. George, MD from the Center for Bone and Joint Care brings expert orthopedic care for the back and neck and the highest quality spine surgery to Day Kimball Hospital located in nearby Putnam, CT.

Dr. George is a board-certified orthopedic surgeon specializing in spinal medicine and surgery. He can evaluate your condition and recommend a course of action that might include physical therapy, chiropractic care, acupuncture, pain management, injections, medications and other options.

If non-surgical approaches don't alleviate your pain and surgery is necessary, Dr. George performs the latest, safest, and least-invasive techniques for back and neck surgery right here at Day Kimball Hospital.

Contact Dr. George at the Center for Bone and Joint Care to schedule a consultation. Discuss your condition with him, and see how he can help you reduce or eliminate your back pain — and improve your quality of life.

WHAT OUR PATIENTS SAY:

"I feel better than I have in months. Thanks to Dr. George, I've gotten my life back."

DR. GEORGE ON SURGERY AT DAY KIMBALL HOSPITAL:

"In coming to Northeast Connecticut, I joined two teams dedicated to providing state-of-the-art care: the great orthopedic surgeons at the Center for Bone and Joint Care, and the surgical care team at Day Kimball Hospital. I am very impressed by the level of care delivered by both organizations."

Willardson stressed that this is a temporary regulation and one that gives Webster the entirety of 2018, if needed, to formulate local regulations concerning the drug and its distribution.

"If we have regulations developed before then we can end the moratorium. We can do that at either the May town meeting in 2018 or the October town meeting of 2018," Willardson explained. "I think it's in the town's best interests to wait and see what the state's regulations are. We don't want to left unprepared if the state does something we are not comfortable with."

Residents agreed, passing the moratorium in a 111 to 41 decision, a 73 percent vote in favor of the temporary regulation that goes into effect immediately.

Daylight savings...end of an eva

We 'modern' people have this strange little glitch in our systems. It isn't all that old, though that illustrious inventor and wise man Ben Franklin suggested it back in 1764, it didn't actually begin to happen until 1916. So we are celebrating its 101st birthday just this

It has its naysayers and its supporters, but how did we get here any way?

It started for two major reasons, farming and the high cost of electricity.

In the early days of electricity that is, turn of the 20th century when it was all new and shiny and even a little scary, turning on the incandescent bulbs, using that mysterious unseeable force and having to pay for it besides was daunting. So if we could just extend daylight a little longer we wouldn't need to use those newfangled gadgets quite so much....

And of course farmer could use that extra time too. (Well, not really, anyone who actually farmed and didn't legislate farming from behind a desk knew very well that the animals didn't use clocks, the people would just rise in darkness and go out earlier.)

But it looked good on paper anyway. There was some noise about factory workers too, and having some daylight time after a shift to be able to have some down time.

Some states, even when it was proposed and the country divvied up on it, there were states that opted out. Indiana never used it. You can drive between Ohio and Indiana and arrive before you left depending on the direction you drive on a good day.

And yes, it is horribly confusing as we get closer to the day to make the big change back, or forward as the case may be. Our bodies don't like it, our pets don't like it, all our systems just go on autopilot for about four days while we adjust (and we don't entirely, we just keep checking our timepieces to see if we have it right yet).

So why do we bother? It can't be the cost of electricity any longer, and even if we were to blame it on some agrarian need, which it never was, we have fewer farmers today than ever. And they have access to good night lighting too, if they

It's time to ditch the whole thing and leave the clocks alone. Pick a time, and leave them there. All year. All the time. No back and forth. The daylight actually stays the same you know, you haven't really added anything to the day at all. If you truly want more daylight for a longer period of time, get up earlier in the morning.

THE DEADLINE to submit letters to the editor and commentaries for next

Beyond the horizon of earthly life

Thursday, Next November 2 the Catholic Church celebrates All Souls Day. On this day, we direct our thoughts to those who have finished their earthly journey of life and entered eternity. It is a tradition of Christianity that we visit a cemetery, pray for our deceased loved ones and place a votive lamp on their gravesite. Each one of us can relate to a person or several people with whom we lived or worked--they could have been our parents, siblings, spouses or friends who made a lasting impression on our lives, but are no longer with us. Their departure left a void in our life and left us with many questions such as: Where they are now? Can we see them again?

By our birth we accept the fact that someday our earthly life will end. Part of this "contract of life" entails that there is no way out of the "mortality clause". All creatures are ephemeral which means that sooner or later, gradually or suddenly, predictably or unexpectedly, by the course of nature or a tragic accident or a wound inflicted by the ill-will of another person, the time will come to meet our Creator. We all inescapably live under the shadow of death. But there is no need for anguish and despair because death is not the absolute terminus. There is a bright and infinite horizon beyond. Believers of various religions and faith traditions affirm that there is life after death. Although it may seem self-contradictory at first glance, the truth is that is it possible to survive death.

Nihilists and cynics will say that everything is annihilated abruptly like in a black hole, but people of faith know that an afterlife awaits their soul. Life is not entirely ended, but rather is changed, somewhat like a caterpillar undergoing metamorphosis and leaving its cocoon. For the human person terrestrial life ends and new life begins in the heavenly homeland.

Saint Paul the Apostle wrote: "Eye has not seen, ear has not heard, nor has it entered the human heart what God has prepared for those who love him" (1 Corinthians 2:9; cf. Isaiah 64:3).

As the Catechism of the Catholic Church expresses: "Heaven is the ultimate end and fulfillment of the deepest human longings, the state of supreme, definitive happiness" (1024).

Each and every soul yearns to be unitincomprehensible is the happiness in which the soul will be immersed.

We cannot talk our way into heaven at the moment we are standing before the judgment seat of God. Our fate is sealed when we draw our last breath. Here and now is the time to hear the word of God and respond to God's beckoning. We need to convert away from our defiance, with the freely-given grace of God, and accept the invitation to live as sons and daughters of God before we pass from this life and see God face-to-face. Life is not a farce; it is not just "virtual reality" or a "dress rehearsal for a play". Life is real. Whether we accept or reject God in our hearts and minds has real and lasting consequences.

We will stand as an individual before God, who is justice and mercy itself. The track-record of our life will reveal the answer to the question: "Do you love me"? Our love for God and others will determine our fate. We cannot willfully ignore or deliberately contravene God's word throughout this life and suddenly become His best-buddy in the afterlife. We can and must, with the help of the gift of grace, cultivate a friendship with God day-in and day-out. A personal relationship with Jesus begins here and now. What the world sees as a risk—a life of righteousness—is a risk worth taking; the alternative of being one's own god is not worth the cost.

Contrary to the spirit of our age, after the internet revolution which embraces the motto, "I can do whatever I want" and seemingly holds that wrong acts and badness have no repercussions, actions do have a price tag in our earthly lifespan and implications on our eternal destiny. Our internal disposition and our external words and deeds make

This should resonate with our present generation, especially young people who do not have any goals of life but concentrate their attention on superficial experiences and illusions. Many of them lost their identity and someone called them "homeless tourists" because true values appear to them as deluded and doubtful. The question is, how to awaken them to deal with the reality of life so they may understand that God, the Church and Divine Worship are the essence of our daily existence. The famous French philosopher, Blaise Pascal, said, that eternity affects the human person in the core of his very existence and touches him so deeply that the man has to lose all his senses not to care about it. Why, then, doesn't the present generation care about their eternal life? Most likely because their parents don't care either, or because they are being educated by the internet, television, and the streets.

The Catholic tradition emphasizes human cooperation with the gift of supernatural grace and the responsibility of persons for their actions. Having faith—a true faith which finds expression in good deeds—is necessary for eternal salvation. "Good works, made possible by grace and the working of the Holy Spirit, contribute to growth in grace," states the Joint Declaration on the Doctrine of Justification by the Lutheran World Federation and the Catholic Church, "so that the righteousness that comes from God is preserved and communion with Christ is deep-Jesus died for all of us and this truth is permanent and irrevocable. Therefore, we should lead lives that reflect God's unmerited gift of grace to everyone.

We should not remain indifferent about the health and well-being of our soul. We need to be open-minded to God's plan for our life and the grace that fuels it. The little things and the big things we do, matter. We need to ensure that we do not rupture our relationship with God by what we do or what we fail to do. God never fails to deliver His end of the bargain. The divine promise of eternal life is trustworthy, for God never deceives nor can God ever be deceived. Let us live as fervently in accord with that divine promise which is our only anchor of hope. At the end of the day, when we trust in God's goodness and mercy and cooperate with the gift of God's grace, we can survive our own mortality and rejoice forever with the angels and saints in paradise.

Careful out there on Halloween

CHIEF'S CORNER STEVE

WOJNAR

Trick or Treat in Dudley is scheduled for Tuesday, Oct. 31 from 5:30pm to 7:30pm. This should be a time for everyone to have fun and get lots of candy. I wanted to remind everyone participating in this activity of important some safety tips.

It is important to remember to have plenty of illumination when out at night. Carry a flashlight and use reflective tape on costumes, especially those that are dark in color. Adjust any mask or hood in such a way to maintain clear vision. This will not only protect you from cars but also limit accidents on unfamiliar property. Also, stay on the sidewalks and away from traffic. If there are no sidewalks, walk along the road shoulder facing traffic. Never go out alone. Younger kids should always be accompanied by an adult. Older children not accompanied by an adult should be in a group and inform their families where they will be at all times. Since most people have access to a cell phone, keeping in contact should not be an issue. Children should never enter any home when they do not know the person. Wait outside and let the people bring the items to the door.

All candy must be inspected by an adult before the kids "dig in." Accept only wrapped items and reject anything such as fruit or loose candy. If there is even a slight possibility of candy having been tampered with, discard it. There will certainly be enough left for everyone to enjoy. The evening is designed to be fun for children. Officers will be out during these times assisting everyone in having a happy and safe Halloween.

Finally, remember to respect those home owners who do not participate or may have run out of candy. A home without outside lights on can be a good indicator of one of these circumstances. Try to avoid these locations out of respect for their privacy. In addition, it is unsafe to walk in a location which is not known and not well lit. There could be hazard spots present which can cause an accident or injury. Thank you in advance for your cooperation with these many tips and try to keep this a fun and

Thanks again for your questions and comments. Please send them to me at the Dudley Police Department, 71 West Main St., Dudley, MA 01571 or email at swojnar@dudleypolice.

Blessed Backpack Brigade gives update

YOUR

We thought it's time to give you an update on what we've been doing, and what type of help we are in need of. The Blessed Backpack Brigade is a small group of volunteers who help the homeless, elderly, unemployed, disabled, underemployed, veterans, indigents and children with the help and generosity of our community. As you know, we provide meals for the homeless, elderly, and less fortunate on the second and fourth Wednesday of the month at the American Legion on Houghton Street (Just off School Street). Several people, businesses and groups have come forward to offer some help, and we are deeply appreciative. At the risk of forgetting anyone, please accept our heartfelt thanks - you know who Rosemary and Bob Campbell from Uxbridge, donated 8 plarn sleeping mats to the Brigade at one of our meals recently.

The sleeping mats are intended for people who are less fortunate and the homeless. These crochet mats are remarkably comfortable and offer just enough to create a barrier between the ground and the body, to help retain body heat while sleeping. It's no problem if the mats get wet as they can easily be dried.

The mats are also a cleaner way of sleeping. Bugs don't like them. And when dirty, they can be easily hosed off, shaken out and be good to go again.

They are portable as well. The crochet plastic makes for a very lightweight mat. With the accompanying strap, these crochet mats can easily be carried over a homeless person's shoulder.

Not only are they free to make, each mat will keep 500-700 plastic bags out of the landfill. Humanitarian and eco-friendly! Thank you so much to these wonderful folks for reaching out to help us.

There is a fundraiser being held for us by Nichols College events class on Friday, Nov. 10th at Point Breeze Restaurant in Webster. SAVE THE DATE! It should be a really fun time, the theme is Back to the '80s. Tickets are $20 per person and include a fabulous buffet, lots of surprises, and a live band.

In order to maximize our profits, we would like to have a raffle that will knock your socks off! If you can put together a basket, or maybe buddy-up with someone to donate something, it would be greatly appreciated. Maybe you know of a business that would be willing to donate??? Spread the word! Now's the time to get creative!! Tool basket, gift cards, scratch tickets, corn hole boards, the ever popular booze gifts, etc. You are only limited by your imagination! Tickets can be purchased on line at buytickets.at/blessedbackpackbrigade1/121062, directly from the Blessed Backpack Brigade Facebook page, or the assessor's office in the Dudley Town Hall.

WE WILL BE HAPPY TO PROVIDE YOU WITH OUR 501(C)(3) IF NEEDED.

Finally, we want to THANK YOU from the very bottom of our hearts for helping and caring enough to go the extra mile for those who are less fortunate. We speak for them also when we say how much it is appreciated. May God bless you all for all you do!

Does market volatility scare you?

Halloween is almost upon us. Of course, on Halloween night, you may see a parade of monsters, demons, Transformers and other frightening individuals stopping by your house, exercising their right to demand candy. Fortunately, their appearance will be unlikely to cause you unpleasant dreams. But some people seem to have real fears about other things – such as what may happen in the financial markets. One way to keep those fears at bay is to avoid certain impulsive moves, such as the following:

Avoid ducking out of the market -Consider this: In March 2007, the Dow Jones Industrial Average stood at about 12,275 points. Exactly two years later, in the immediate aftermath of the financial crisis, the Dow had fallen to about 6,500 – a drop of 47% and the Dow's lowest point in 12 years. By that time, a lot of people had gone to the investment sidelines. So, what did they miss? Depending on how long they stayed out of the market, they may have missed some, or perhaps most, of one of the longest and strongest bull markets in history, because, just eight years later, the Dow had soared to almost 21,000, a gain of 223%. Of course, investing does involve the risk of losing principal, and there is no guarantee the market will perform as it has in the past. However, it's fair to say that if you duck out of the market during its lower points, you might not benefit from the gains that may follow.

Avoid chasing "hot" stocks - By the time you hear about a supposedly "hot" stock, it may already be cooling off. Also, how trustworthy is the source? Does this tip come from an unbiased, knowledgeable individual? If not, you have reason to question its value. Even more important, though, you need to ask if the hot stock is appropriate for your needs, goals and risk tolerance. If not, it's not so hot.

FINANCIAL Focus

risk. Conversely, if you are determined to avoid any amount of loss, at any time, you might invest so conservatively that your portfolio won't grow enough to help you achieve your long-term goals. You need to strike a balance between risk and reward that is appropriate for you, and you need to make investment choices suitable for your individual risk tolerance.

Avoid owning too many of the same investments - If you own a lot of one particular financial asset and a market downturn affects that asset class strongly, your portfolio could suffer. But if you spread your investment dollars among domestic and international stocks, bonds, U.S. Treasury securities, certificates of deposit (CDs) and so on, you may not be as susceptible to a downturn, because different types of investments often perform differently at any given time. (Keep in mind, though, that while diversification can help reduce the effects of market volatility, it can't guarantee profits or protect against all losses.)

No matter what you do, you can't take all the uncertainty out of investing. But by understanding market volatility and the composition of your portfolio, you can invest with more confidence.

Marianne Donnelly, multidisciplinary performing artist provides quality family entertainment with strong educational content in a creative, dynamic style. Themes include humor, history, nature, respect, sharing and caring. Songs and stories are woven into rich theatrical experiences that delight ages three through adult. Exquisite costumes enhance the vibrant, joyful performances.

American historical memorabilia

ANTIQUES, COLLECTIBLES

& ESTATES

Our country has a rich history, and New England is a significant location for much of that history. We often find items in local estates from pre-colonial America along with many historical items from more recent times.

Prior to Europeans coming to America, indigenous people were here making use of stones and other WAYNE TUISKULA objects available to them. Spears tips, arrowheads and vessels for food and liquids are sought after by collectors. Native American beads that are thousands of years old have been discovered. Because beadwork is so fragile, most of what we find is from the 20th century or late 19th century. Two pair of beaded gloves were some of the more valuable Native American objects that we sold. They brought a figure in the mid $100s. The gloves were attributed to a tribe in the Pacific Northwest.

Although there is debate about whether Boston or Philadelphia is "the Cradle of Liberty" we certainly live in one of the most historic areas in the country. Books and broadsides from Colonial times still turn up in estates somewhat frequently and they sell well. We've sold many pieces of coin silver designed by colonial silversmiths. A sheet with 8 pieces of uncut currency brought over $2,000 in our August auction.

America changed greatly through the early to mid-19th century. Westward expansion continued with the Louisiana Purchase and Lewis and Clark Expedition in the early 1800's. The United States entered the War of 1812 and later entered a war with Mexico in 1846. In our last auction, we sold a ship passage document from this era. The document gave permission for a schooner to transport cargo from Savannah, Georgia to Barbados in 1809. It fetched

Industry was thriving in New England during this period. Samuel Slater memorized how textile machines worked before he left his native England. He used this knowledge to build a textile mill in Pawtucket, Rhode Island. Ushistory. org reports that Girls" "Lowell were hired in Lowell, MA mills beginning in 1823. The owners found that they could pay women less than men for their work in the textile mills there. We sold some leather fire buckets in our last auction from this era. They were said to have belonged to LeBaron Putnam of Sutton, MA. The pair reached nearly $20,000.

I won't discuss Civil War or any other war memorabilia in this column. That warrants a column of its own.

Moving forward after the Civil War, the Battle of Little Big Horn and the discovery of the Comstock Lode were taking place in the West. Rockefeller incorporated Standard Oil and Carnegie built the Bessemer steel plant in the East.

In Massachusetts, Boston experienced the Great Fire of 1872. The Boston Historical Society states that 776 buildings across 65 acres were destroyed. An estimated $13.5 million in properties were lost and personal property of $60 million. We sold a presentation fire trumpet made to honor firefighters who battled this blaze for $2,800 at a 2006 auction. There was one small piece from that fire that brought about $50, that is an interesting part of history. The piece, a business card, was stamped on the back, noting that it had been in a fire proof safe and survived the massive fire.

We have an estate sale scheduled in Millbury on November 11th and 12th. Other events are in the works. See www. centralmassauctions.com for details.

 Friday's Child ** **

Little Colton is a 1-year-old boy of Cape Verdean/Caucasian descent who is often seen smiling and laughing. Little Colton is not a big fan of snuggling but he loves to be tickled! He just started to crawl and sit up on his own and his social worker said he may be on the verge of saying his first words.

Little Colton is legally freed for adoption and needs a family who is ready to parent a child with special needs. The most appropriate home for Little Colton would consist of two parents with one stay at home parent. He would do well in a home as the only child or with older children who are school age. Little Colton has an older sister who has previously been adopted and visits between them would be beneficial as they get older.

Westfield Adoption Party

Have you ever considered adopting a child from foster care? Join the Massachusetts Adoption Resource Exchange (MARE) at the Westfield Boys and Girls Club on November 5th from 1:30-3:30 pm in Westfield. Families are invited to meet children and sibling groups of all ages who are waiting to be adopted, and to speak with their social workers. Whether you are considering adoption for the first time or have already completed MAPP training, this event is for you! To register, email web@mareinc.org.

To learn more about adoption from foster care, call the Massachusetts Adoption Resource Exchange (MARE) at 1-800-882-1176 or visit www. mareinc.org. The sooner you call, the sooner a waiting child will have "a permanent place to call HOME."

Tips to save on the high cost of energy

TAKE THE HINT KAREN

TRAINOR

As the warm weather winds down, it's time to prepare for the long, cold winter. Here in New England heating bills are high enough. But with ever-rising fuel costs and a seemingly never ending recession, it's no wonder many are fretting over upcoming utility bills! The good news is, with some common sense changes, energy use can be cut down to size. Read on for the annual rundown on reducing fuel consumption (and costs)!

10% off the top: According to several energy solution websites, "phantom" or "standby" energy accounts for nearly 10% of a typical family's electricity use. As most of you likely know, electronics such as TVs and computers are common phantom energy users as they are not completely turned off until unplugged. These items should be connected to a power strip, to enable shutting off everything with one simple switch. The big surprise is small electronic devices such as cell phones, cameras, and even tool chargers can draw power 24/7 too! In fact, the average family has 40 such items that are sapping energy and upping your monthly electricity bill.

Save 3 to 10% more: Think lowering the thermostat temperature slightly won't make a dent in your fuel savings? Think again. Did you know turning down the thermostat just one degree can save three percent on your fuel bill? Better yet, lowering it five degrees for four hours a day can add up to a 10 percent savings! Lower your thermostat at night and use an extra wool blanket or quilt. And if the house is empty for more than four hours per day turn the thermostat down five or more degrees when you leave for work and crank it back up when you return.

Shave another 5% off: Families typically use more hot water in winter months and heating up the water can account for nearly 15 percent of total household energy costs. Lowering the temperature on the hot water heater to 120° can add up to substantial savings throughout the winter. Some manufacturers set water heater thermostats at 140°, while most households only require 120°. According to the U.S. Department of Energy, each 10° reduction in water temperature, you can save between 3 to 5 percent in energy costs. Another benefit? Reducing your water temperature to 120° also slows mineral buildup and corrosion in your water heater and pipes - helping the water

Pocket $100 per year: If you have an older hot water heater, heater operate at its maximum efficiency to last longer.

check with your utility company to find out if it would benefit from an insulation jacket. This cost effective tip can add up to over $100 a year in energy cost savings.

Here's another quick tip: If you are going on vacation, be sure to turn the hot water thermostat down a bit. You'll save money even while you're gone!

Save another $250: Doing laundry takes its toll on water usage and hot and warm water cycles use more fuel than you might think. Save money by buying a cold water detergent and doing all your laundry in cold water. Typical savings realized by a family of five is up to $250 annually.

Here are more family friendly tips to save energy:

*Another easy money saving tip is to opt for showers instead of baths during winter months. While a long, hot bath is tempting, remember, it will almost triple your cost over a shower as more water is used and must be heated. To save even more on hot water costs, replace shower heads with low flow models. New ones are so improved, you'll hardly notice the reduction in water flow.

*During the winter months, use your stove and bathroom fans sparingly, as they remove precious warm air from the room. Obviously, vou'll want to use a vent to dispel moisture in the bathroom, but there's usually no need to switch on the vent fan every time you put on the bathroom light. Ditto for a kitchen fan vent. Use it periodically while cooking; do not leave it on constantly unless smoke is an issue.

*Replace all the lights in your house with compact fluorescent lights. They last up to 10 times longer and cost one quarter the amount to operate. Plus, they are now very afford-

*Did you know a dusty light bulb will give off up to 50% less light? Dust them and save money and your sight!

*Dust also acts as a powerful insulator and dusty baseboard vents and radiators use more energy than necessary to heat up a room, so keep surfaces clean. If you have a coil thermostat, be sure to clean it each season to ensure accurate readings. Just take off the over and wipe or blow away dust.

*Check your furnace filter frequently. A clogged filter greatly decreases the furnace's efficiency and makes it work harder. Some energy efficient advisors suggest automatically replacing filters each month. They claim the savings realized in efficiency more than make up for the cost of the new

*Do a vent check. If you have baseboards, make sure they are fully open and operable. Move any furniture or drapes that could be blocking warm air flow. Vents or baseboards that are even partially blocked result in an unnecessary hike in heating costs.

*Automatic timers are very affordable and they make adjusting thermostats a no brainer. Typically, they will keep the temperature steady during the day and automatically reduce it at night, resulting in substantial savings.

Generations before us took frugal advantage of the fact moist air retains heat. Stoves of yesteryear often had a pan of water to add moisture to the air. Today, a humidifier is often the choice to boost the effect of heating, which translates into lower fuel costs.

Support cancer patients by giving blood with the Red Cross

During Breast Cancer Awareness Month, the American Red Cross encourages eligible donors to give blood to support cancer patients and others.

Mary Alice Donofrio gave blood for the first time in memory of her mother who received several blood transfusions while being treated for breast

"I had no idea what to expect, but the experience was very easy and quite rewarding. Ever since then, I try and give blood as often as I can, and every time it gives me a good feeling in my heart. It is so nice to know that taking just an hour or so out of my day can help save the lives of others."

According to the American Cancer Society, nearly 1.7 million new cases of cancer are expected in the U.S. this year. Breast cancer is the most common cancer among women, with nearly 253,000 women expected to be diagnosed in 2017. Cancer patients may need blood products during chemotherapy, surgery or treatment for complications.

How to donate blood

Simply download the American Red Cross Blood Donor App, visit redcrossblood.org or call 1-800-RED CROSS (1-800-733-2767) to make an appointment or for more information. All blood types are needed to ensure a reliable supply for patients. A blood donor card or driver's license or two other forms of identification are required at check-in. Individuals who are 17 years of age (16 with parental consent in some states), weigh at least 110 pounds and are in generally good health may be eligible to donate blood. High school students and other donors 18 years of age and younger also have to meet certain height and weight requirements.

Blood and platelet donors can save time at their next donation by using RapidPass® to complete their pre-donation reading and health history questionnaire online, on the day of their donation, from a computer or mobile device. Challenging the rule of money

BY GUS STEEVES STAFF WRITER

DUDLEY - When our media uses the term "oligarchs," it seems to most often be preceded by "Russian." But the United States has it's own share of them, super-wealthy individuals and corporations who use their money to push the political system to do their bidding.

To Dudley's Liza Moran, that fact is a wake-up call, an alarm that's gotten louder since 2010's Citizens' United decision opened the floodgates of "dark money" being used to support candidates, ballot questions and otherwise influence election results.

"I woke up and want to get active, do something about this," she said. "This is so important. It's about our grandkids and the world we're leaving to Moran was responding to a presentation by Larry Scarff of "People Govern, Not Money," a state-level part of the American Promise national campaign to overturn Citizen's United and the subsequent McCutcheon decision by enacting the 28th Amendment.

According to the American Promise website, a key part of the process is to come to consensus on what the amendment language should be, and two versions are now in Congress. One got 54 Senate votes last session and now has 133 cosponsors between the houses; the other, the other is presently in the House with 34 cosponsors. The latter is the stronger one -- called the "We the People Amendment," it outright states "The rights protected by the Constitution of the United States are rights of natural persons only," while "artificial entities" only get "privileges" that "shall not be construed to be inherent or inalienable." It states local, state and federal levels "shall regulate, limit or prohibit" campaign spending and prohibits money being construed as speech under the 1st Amendment. The other one, the "Democracy for All Amendment," says the government "may" regulate election spending and "may distinguish between natural persons and corporations."

"I'd been asleep for 62 of my 63 years of life here. About a year and a half ago, I woke up," Scarff told a couple dozen people at the Unity Brunch Saturday. "Money is the problem. We're stuck here, and we've got to get it out of politics to get back on track."

What used to be "one person, one vote has become one dollar, one vote,' he added.

We've seen that especially in the last few years. Since 2010, he said, just half of one percent (0.5%) of the population has funded most of the $45 billion spent on politics, with 2016's cycle alone costing $6.8 billion. And it's becoming more concentrated: In 2012, 32 entities combined for $300 million in spending; last year, it took just 10 donors to cross that threshold.

Most of 2016's spending came from

League's best take part in SWCL golf championship

BY NICK ETHIER SPORTS STAFF WRITER

LEICESTER — On Thursday, Oct. 19, Leicester Country Club once again hosted the Southern Worcester County League (SWCL) golf championship. All 12 SWCL schools were in attendance and up to six golfers per team were allowed to compete in the 18-hole stroke play format. The top four lowest scores counted toward the team's total.

Grafton High's Wyatt Taylor wound up being the medalist after shooting a 3-over par 73. Other top-10 finishers included Tantasqua Regional's Michael Sosik (74), Grafton's Deron Breen (76), Auburn High's Ryan Henderson (77), Northbridge High's J.J. Cannon (77), Tantasqua's Ryan Slade (77), Northbridge's Ben Brodeur (80), Grafton's Ty Dupuis (81), Millbury High's Tommy Remiszewski (81) and Tantasqua's Terrence Baker (81).

Grafton also won the team event, with their four best scores totaling 312 strokes. Tantasqua (315) and Northbridge (325) followed in second and third place, respectively.

The scoring golfers and their team score are to follow:

1. Grafton High, 312 — Wyatt Taylor, 73; Deron Breen, 76; Ty Dupuis, 81; Ryan Sullivan, 82

2. Tantasqua Regional, 315 — Michael Sosik, 74; Ryan Slade, 77; Terrence Baker, 81; Noah Berthiaume, 83

3. Northbridge, 325 — J.J. Cannon, 77; Ben Brodeur, 80; Robbie Cannon, 83; Nolan Lebrasseur, 85

4. Millbury High, 338 — Tommy Remiszewski, 81; Jack Ezold, 83; Ryan Tarasiak, 85; Jack Remuck and Ryan Gagliardi, 89

5. Oxford High, 339 — Ryan Parr, 83; Dan Walker, 84; Benjamin Grniet, 85; Matt Constantine,

6. Auburn High, 341 — Ryan Henderson, 77; Colun Lutz, 87; Joe Scanlon, 88; Mike DelloStritto, 89

7. Bartlett, 360 — Omar Mercedes, 85; Alex Hetherman, 87; Kody Petrelli, 94; Dom Palmerino, 94

8. Leicester, 380 — Seth Krueger, 92; Rob Kemp, 93; Ryan Pickett, 96; Tom Steiger and Chris Porcaro, 99

9. Quaboag, 392 — Jack Dorman, 88; Cole Crosby, 99; Matt Wetnicka, 101; Robert Wilson, 104

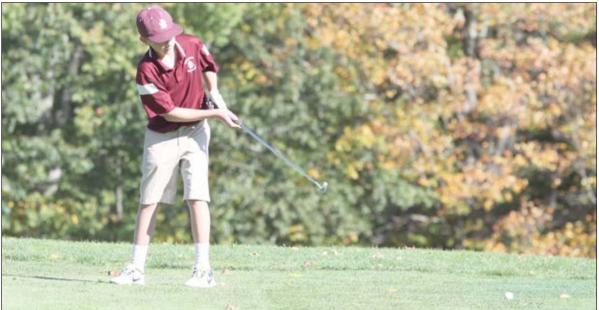

10. Uxbridge, 399 — Jack Hughes, 96; Joseph Bernard, 100; Katie Cullen, 100; Ben Lyons, 103

11. David Prouty, 406 — Colin Nosek, 91; Fisher Haynes, 101; Nick Haynes, 102; Adam Gibson, 112

Bartlett golf team district-bound for first time in 10-plus years

The Bartlett High golf team qualified for the Central Mass. Division 2 district tournament for the first time in 10-plus years after accumulating a regular season record of 13-3.

SPORTS STAFF WRITER

LEICESTER — Barry Berthiaume has been the head coach of Bartlett High's golf program for 10 years, and the Indians have been unable to reach the district tournament in his tenure. Until Backed by a 10-match winning streak to close out their regular season, the Indians finished 13-3 and easily qualified for the Central Mass. Division 2 sectional championship, which is scheduled to be played after press time on Tuesday, Oct. 24 at Gardner Municipal Golf Course.

Bartlett, whose impressive resume includes running through the Southern Worcester County League (SWCL) East Division undefeated, have "seen it coming" in regard to qualifying for districts, according to Berthiaume.

Eleven of the players have been playing together for over five years because they all started with the Dudley Hill Junior Camp," he said of his impressive 18-player roster after the Indians took seventh place at the SWCL championship at Leicester Country Club on Thursday, Oct. 19. "I'm thrilled to see the growth that these guys have gone through. It's been very exciting to watch."

Alex Hetherman, Bartlett's senior captain, is the lone golfer with postseason experience on the links. A season ago Hetherman qualified for districts as an individual and played well, finishing in a tie for fourth place at Highfields Golf & Country Club in Grafton. Hetherman then advanced to the state final at Black Swan Country Club in Georgetown. There, Hetherman was the second best in Central Mass., finishing one stroke behind Nipmuc Regional's Cole Alibozek.

"I feel more comfortable going with my team," Hetherman said when comparing the two seasons. "Driving up with the team on the bus and having them: with me will be a comfort thing for me, so it will help.'

Hetherman added that he "wasn't really surprised" about the entire team qualifying for districts.

"We worked really hard all summer at it," he noted, as 18-hole practice rounds were routinely played at Bartlett's year," expressed Vigeant home course of Raceway Golf Club in via telephone on Oct. 20. Thompson, Conn.

Fellow senior Corey Harrington; end there for Bay Path, knows what the playoff atmosphere is all ! though. Back on Oct. 4 about in high school sports, as he was a : the Minutemen took member of the Indians' basketball team last winter that reached the Division 3 state semifinals.

"This is like the basketball team where: we're all really close — we hang out a lot: outside of golf," said Harrington.

Berthiaume and Hetherman agree links and the four lowthat if the Indians play well at districts : est scores counted. Bay that they have a chance to qualify for Path totaled 307 strokes, states as a team.

"It's not scores that we have not reached already," said Berthiaume. "If the players all come together and all play: to the potential we can do it."

"If we shoot what we're capable of and what we know we can shoot, there's no reason we can't make it to states," added ? Hetherman. "I just want to end it on a good note."

The Division 2 state tournament will be at Highfields on Tuesday, Oct. 31.

The Bartlett High golf team includes Hetherman, Harrington and fellow seniorsDomPalmerino,ConnorBrennan, Justin Daab, Noah Fleming, juniors Kody Petrelli, Bradley Markiewicz, Brian James, Julia Podedworny, sophomores Barry Berthiaume, Omar Mercedes, Chelsea Cournoyer, freshmen Sam Kontoes, Ryan Truscott, Moises Lewis, Ethan Hinkle, and eighth grader Josie Corridori. John Lewis is the team's assistant coach to Berthiaume.

A 'banner year' for Minutemen on the golf course

BY NICK ETHIER SPORTS STAFF WRITER

The Bay Path Regional varsity golf team has been "up and coming" in recent years, according to head coach Dan Vigeant. The Minutemen enjoyed seasons of 10-4 in 2015 and 12-2 last fall, but they really rose to prominence this year.

Vigeant, now in his ninth season coaching the team, believes that Bay Path's perfect 14-0 season is the first time it has occurred in school history. The Minutemen defeated each of the Colonial Athletic League schools

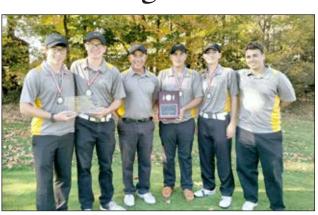

Blackstone Valley Tech, the Advanced Math and Science Academy, Worcester Tech, Assabet Valley, Keefe Tech, Nashoba Tech and Monty Tech — twice.

"We had a banner

The winning didn't part in the 24-school Vocational State Championship Acushnet River Valley Golf Course. Each team sent five golfers onto the winning the event by an impressive 13 shots. "I know there's a lot of competition out there, even just in the Voke schools that we play, and now we're talking about state-wide competition. I never, ever thought that we'd pull this down," said Vigeant. "It surprised me a lot that we came in first place, especially by such a large margin.'

Jon Sterczala paced the Minutemen by winning medalist honors. The senior shot an even-par 72, while senior Keith Duval took third place with a 76, Ben Lombard placed fourth with a 79 and Ryan Vigeant — Coach Vigean's son —

The Bay Path Regional varsity golf team has enjoyed an undefeated regular season, a Colonial Athletic League championship and a State Vocational championship. took fifth place with an

"I've just got the dream team over here," said Dan Vigeant of the team's massive accomplishment.

Then, on Oct. 19, Bay Path competed in the Colonial Athletic League championship at Gardner Municipal Golf Course. Dan Vigeant made sure that his team didn't enter the competition with a cocky attitude after beating each team twice during regular season

"There's another element of coaching the kids and getting them ready for a game. When you're undefeated, I'm not used to that," he explained. "We had to keep them grounded. They stayed focused and stayed on their game."

The Minutemen's four best totaled 319 strokes to win again running away. Ryan Vigeant was third overall with a score of 7-over par 78, while Bombard was fourth with a 79, and Sterczala and Duval sixth with matching 81's. Junior Colin Allain also competed and shot a 91. Junior Nate Lussier is the team's sixth golfer and regularly contributed to the team's success during the course of the season. Dan Vigeant knew that Bay Path could be a strong team ever since Ryan, his son, and Bombard both junior co-captains began golfing seriously in middle school.

"They both absolutely love golf," Dan Vigeant said of the two. "Even in sixth, seventh and eighth grade we'd drop them off at the golf course and they'd just play. We built off of that and this year has been absolutely outstanding."

The Minutemen are next set to compete in the Central Mass. Division 2 district tournament, which is back at Gardner Municipal on Tuesday, Oct. 24 — after press time.

'Normally we play at Highfields in Grafton, but for some reason there was a change and we got moved out to Gardner. I don't know everybody else's record, but we should do pretty well," Dan Vigeant said of now playing there a third time this fall.

And should Bay Path play well, either an individual or the entire team could advance to the Division 2 state championship, to be played at Highfields on Tuesday,

"It would be the icing on the cake," concluded Dan Vigeant.

Murray scores four TD's as Pirates top Southbridge to remain unbeaten

BY NICK ETHIER

SOUTHBRIDGE — Niko Murray has endured seasons of 0-11, 1-10 and 1-10 at Oxford High during his eighth grade, freshman and sophomore years with the varsity football team. But Murray and the Pirates are experiencing a whole new feeling in 2017 — the feeling of winning.

Backed by Murray's nine-carry, 227yard and four touchdown performance versus Southbridge High at Harry J. McMahon Field on Friday, Oct. 20, Oxford improved to a perfect 7-0 with a 35-6 win. Head coach Jeff Clarkson predicted improvement from his team this fall, especially when the group had a preseason tilt and were firing on all cylinders.

"We scrimmaged Woodstock Academy early," he said. "All the coaches, we just kind of looked at each other in amazement."

The Pirates went into their regular season opener with Worcester Tech with a newfound confidence, and it translated into a 31-14 victory.

We're not going into this game hoping to win, we're going to go win this game. That's the way we went into the first game and it's followed suit," said Clarkson.

Oxford has since had victories versus Abby Kelley Foster (35-13), Murdock High (42-14), South High (31-0), Quaboag Regional (49-0) and David Prouty Regional (44-26) before taking on

And Murray is a key cog to the Pirates' success. He had already accumulated 1,200-plus rushing yards before taking on the Pioneers and is now over 1,400. Clarkson has certainly seen Murray's year-by-year improvement firsthand.

"Two years ago you gave him a bump and he was down. Last year it was two hands," said Clarkson, noting that a proper offseason regiment has helped Murray's performance. "This year speed camps all summer and weight training. He's very focused and his line is working hard for him."

Versus Southbridge, Murray had rushing scores from 77, 12, 64 and 59 yards out. Three of the four were sweeps toward the sideline, the other a counter that ultimately ended up going to the outside as well.

"It's definitely my favorite play because I can get outside and I have my best linemen blocking for me," Murray said of the sweep. "It gives me the chance to see what's in front of me."

Murray credited the blocking of fullback Tyler Jacques and linemen James Cutroni and Ryan Nolan to give him ample time and space to run effectively.

Murray scored Oxford's first three touchdowns before quarterback Joel Erickson (3 of 7, 71 yards) found Ryan Walsh (2 receptions, 66 yards) for a 24-yard touchdown pass to make the score 26-0 at halftime.

Murray scored again in the third quarter and a defensive safety accounted for the final two points. Sam Lavalee booted three extra points. Defensively, Sam Wing recovered a pair of fumbles to keep the Pioneers (0-7) out of the end zone until 27 seconds remained.

Oxford now has its biggest test to date on Friday, Oct. 27 when they travel to Leicester High to take on the 5-2 Wolverines in a matchup that will certainly shake up the upcoming Division 7 playoff structure.

"It's time to really buckle down and play disciplined," said Clarkson. "It's going to be the true test.'

Kaley Eaton of Bay Path traps the ball out of the air in traffic to win control.

BY DEAN P. ST. LAURENT

CHARLTON — On Senior Night, the Bay Path girls' varsity soccer team was able to clinch a spot in the upcoming Central Mass. Division 3 district tournament with a 5-0 win over Worcester's South High under the lights at George L. Fowler Memorial Field on Tuesday, Oct. 17.

"I think that we are very excited because last year we waited until last minute to clinch our spot in districts, and this year we did it with a few games left, which gives us a chance to work on some things before we enter districts," expressed head coach Tammy Legere.

From the start of the game it was obvious that the game plan was to get everyone involved and make the experience as memorable as possible for the group of four senior Minutemen players

It wasn't long until Bay Path's offense was able to pass through the Colonels when the ball reached the feet of senior Leilany Cintron inside the box, where she perfectly placed a shot toward the right side of the net and past South keeper AnaMaria Ospina. A few moments later junior forward Nekelle Waskiewicz was able to give the Minutemen a quick 2-0 lead when her shot hit the upper right 90, just out of reach of Ospina.

Throughout the rest of the game, the Minutemen were able to get everyone into play, which allowed for the seniors to play in the field and out of position, which gave them all a chance to score on their special night.

"Our main focus tonight was to get everyone involved who hasn't gotten the chance to be involved this year," explained Legere. "Getting all the seniors to score on Senior Night was talked about and all the seniors don't all play on the field and they don't all play forward, so mixing up and putting them at different positions on the field to give them a chance to score was something that they won't forget."

Senior defender Caitlyn Churchy was able to play some forward in the game and picked up a one-on-one opportunity with Ospina. Churchy converted, rocketing a shot in the net for the last goal before the end of the first half. Seniors Jillian Lier and Kendra Alicea both scored in the second half to secure every senior getting a goal.

The whole team was excited that they were able to earn a spot in districts with a few games remaining, and it gives the Minutemen a chance to work out the kinks in order to make solid postseason run.

Bay Path's Lauryn Dawson — who earned the shutout versus South — punts the ball away from her net.

"It feels good, we all worked hard and I am happy with my team for giving it their all today," Alicea excitedly said. "We have to work together, talk and put our heads in the game and if we do that we definitely got it."

Legere is extremely happy for her team, but with a few games before districts she will emphasize a few things to make sure her team is ready for the playoffs

"We have to work on our defense, spreading the field, passing with good give-and-goes and overall just staying focused," Legere concluded.

Warriors' offense too much for Shepherd Hill

UPTON — Nipmuc Regional's varsity field hockey team brought its offensive 'A' game when they hosted Shepherd Hill Regional on Wednesday, Oct. 18. The Warriors scored twice in the game's first four minutes and never looked back, winning a 7-1 decision.

Nipmuc, now 11-2-1, had Kate Dawson score four of the goals, with Bailey Lynch assisting on three of them. Lynch also added two goals, while Kiara Hentz recorded the other.

The Warriors held a 6-0 halftime lead, but it was nearly 6-1. The Rams'

Carrianne Fortier put the ball in the back of the cage nearing halftime, but the play was ruled dangerous — negating the goal.

Nipmuc got its final goal to go ahead, 7-0, before Shepherd Hill scored with nine minutes to play. Katie Lavoie passed the ball up to Abby Karalus, whose shot got past Warriors' goalie Corinne Osgood (six saves).

Hailee Cronin-Loggie made 17 saves for the Rams, who dropped to 1-11-3 with the loss. Nipmuc earned six penalty corner opportunities to The Hill's two.

WILLIMANTIC, Conn. — Eastern Connecticut State University senior forward Alex Kallgren of Dudley will serve as the only representative from the Little East Conference at the 2017 NFHCA (National Field Hockey Coaches' Association) Division 3 Senior All-Star Game, sponsored by Victory Sports Tours.

The three-time All-LEC selection and program's all-time leader in goals (37) and points (93) was one of 60 players nationwide selected to compete in the game, which is scheduled to be held Nov. 18 at 5 p.m. at Owsley B. Frazier Stadium on the campus of Bellarmine University in Louisville, Ky., in conjunction with the NCAA Division 3 field hockey Final Four.

Kallgren becomes only the second selection in the 21-year history of the program, following E-Club Hall of Famer Mo Deegan in 2004. She becomes the first selection to the game under current 12th-year head coach Christine Hutchison, who was a first-year assistant under head coach Kathy Railey in 2004.

Kallgren broke Deegan's career records for goals and points this season, and ranks second to Deegan with 19 career assists, needing three to establish a career record. Deegan, the only field hockey player to date in the E-Club Hall of Fame, compiled 79 career points in a 75-game career. Kallgren has appeared in all possible 69 matches in her career, with 66 starts. This year, Kallgren also broke Deegan's career record of eight game-winning goals, recording the ninth of her career in a 5-4 LEC win at Keene State College Oct. 14.

One of three players in program history to twice score as many as three goals in a match (joined by Deegan and current teammate Khiara Valentine), Kallgren and Deegan are the only players in program history to score as many as 10 goals twice in a season, with 12 as a sophomore in 2015 and 11 as a freshman in 2014. Kallgren's season-best total of six assists this year equals the sixthmost in a season in program history.

In her career, Kallgren has contributed at least a point in 38 matches, including in 14 of 20 as a sophomore when she collected career-highs of 12 goals (one shy of the season record) and 29 points (equaling the season record). In addition to leading this year's team with six assists, Kallgren is second with eight goals and second with 22 points. Her first multi-goal game of the year came against Keene when she contributed to four of the team's five goals with three goals and an assist.

Academically, Kallgren is a three-time qualifier to the NFHCA National Academic Team as a Sport Management/Exercise Science major and Physical Education minor.

Into the fall hunting seasons, but a warning to watch out for tiny predators

Last week's weather was great but cooltemperatures are needed to get the deer moving. Many areas do not have a good crop of acorns in them this year, but for the ones that do there is a good abundance of deer feeding on them. One local archer had a few visual encounters with deer, but did not get a shot. He did manage to get some footage on his iPad of numerous turkeys feeding under his tree stand. The fall turkey season opened this past Monday, Oct. 23, and will continue to Nov. 4. Only one turkey may be harvested in the fall and can be of either sex. Only hunters with a valid permit are allowed to hunt fall turkeys. If you filled your two tags in the spring, you cannot hunt the fall season in Mass!

Pheasant hunting is now in full gear in Massachusetts. Pheasant stocking will continue up until Thanksgiving in open covers and Wildlife Management areas. The two bird daily limit and six for the season already has pheasant hunters looking to Rhode Island to hunt. Grouse populations are in very bad shape locally, but areas to the west of the valley still hold some of the fast flying birds. Woodcock are also in bad shape locally. Mass Fish & Wildlife needs to look at their six bird annual limit of pheasant per hunter, and make available a program that allows bird hunters to purchase pheasant tags allowing for the taking of more birds.

The six bird annual limit if so antiquated changes need to be made soon. At a time when woodcock and grouse were abundant, bird hunters had a chance to continue hunting with their bird dogs. Raising a bird dog to harvest six pheasant is crazy. Hunting out of state or at game farms is too expensive for many bird hunters. Fortunately, a few clubs have a game preserve license, and they provide some great pheasant hunting weekly.

Trout fishing anglers can fish all year long and take a daily limit of trout 365 days a year. Raising trout is very expensive, as is the raising of pheasant. Hopefully the Division of Fish & Wildlife board will take up this topic at one of their future meetings.

This writer received his copy of the New England Outdoor Writers newsletter last week. As a member for more than 20 years, I have had a chance to meet some great writers that often share some very good information about their own personal activities in the outdoors. This nonprofit organization annually selects some great college students that show good potential in protecting our environment and sportsmen's activities for the next generations. The NEOWA annually awards thousands of dollars in scholarships to these young college students.

This month's newsletter had a very good article by President Rand Julius about the dangers of tick bites. Although this writer has talked about the dangers of tick bites in the past, he revealed new information, and he asked other writers to talk about his wife's latest experience in one of their columns, hoping to sound the alarm about the dangers Randy's wife Mary found a tiny tick on her foot after time in her backyard. She removed it and did not think about it until the next day when she noticed a small rash in the area of the bite. Twenty four hours later she noticed her foot had started to swell. Her leg was numb and she had severe nerve pain in her joints. She also had flu like symptoms. A doctor's visit and blood test revealed that she had showed positive for the tick disease "anaplasmosis." She was put on a prescribed medication immediately which she took for three weeks. Although she feels better, she still has nerve pain & numbness in her

A couple of weeks later Mary's 91 year old father contracted the disease "babesiosis" from a tick bite. He nearly died from the disease, but after time in a VA hospital with numerous intravenous antibiotics, he seems to be getting better. During his stay at the hospital he suffered from internal bleeding & went into cardiac arrest. Doctors are still in the dark on how to treat patients that have tick bites, so the patient needs to stay educated on what he or she needs to do to survive.

a tick bite when he contracted a serious infection. It started off as symptoms of the flu, but got much worse with each passing day. He lost 20 pounds and had numbness and pain from one joint to another. He got so bad he could not get out of bed. A specialist put him on "Rocepherin" medication, which is an intravenous medication, and he started to improve but soon found himself getting worse after the drug was stopped. He contacted another doctor and found out that he had "babesiosis" which is similar to malaria. He never tested positive for Lyme disease after all of his testing by prior doctors. He has finally recovered from his illness after being treated with numerous medications including penicillin, but Randy and Ron wanted to tell their story about the dangers of tick bites.

Test for Lyme disease are only 50 % accurate at best Ron stated. Recent hunting activities in local covers have hunters finding many ticks attached to their dogs, clothing and on their skin. Be careful out there and stay alert for any signs of tick bites and symptoms of Lyme disease. You need to check your family and your pets daily for ticks and tick bites. Do not hesitate to find another doctor if you are not getting better in a few days. If you encounter a tick bite be sure to get medical help as soon as possible. It could save your life!!!!

The Uxbridge Rod & Gun Club will open their pond to fishing for members this Saturday at 1 p.m.!! A large stocking of trout last week should have anglers catching some impressive trout.

Our sympathy goes out to the family and friends of Chris Thurlow. Chris was a long time employee of Mass. Fish & Wildlife and advanced to the position of central district manager, which he held for many years.

outside sources -- so-called "dark money," which isn't required to be transparent about who the funds come from and is almost unregulated regarding what they can do with it provided they don't get caught collaborating with a given campaign. According to OpenSecrets.org, Hillary Clinton directly spent just under $800 million, Donald Trump about half that. Gary Johnson used about $13 million, and Jill Stein $3.7 million.

"It's really becoming obvious to me; you can see it," Scarff said. "We're moving into rule by the wealthy." In one word -- oligarchy.

Back in 2015, a Pew Research poll found that 76 percent of respondents -- with an equal number in both parties -- agreed that "money has greater influence on politics today than before" and 64 percent felt "the high cost of presidential campaigns discourages good candidates." The Pew website also notes that spending by "Super-PACs" alone in 2012 equaled the total spent in 2014; there was no super-PAC money at all before 2010 (because they were illegal); and spending has basically been rising continuously since the 1970s with next to no correlation with turnout.

"It's not just Democratic, Republican or Independent, it's an American issue," Scarff said, noting that the current initiative petition process aims to "tell Congress 'Do your job and send us an amendment, because we're ready to ratify. If you don't do your job, we'll go around you."

Amending the Constitution, however, isn't an easy process by design. It can happen one of two ways under Article V. Two-thirds of Congress can vote to send an amendment to the states, which three-fourths then ratify; or two-thirds of the states can pass legislation calling for a Constitutional Convention, send delegates to draft the amendment(s), and then have three-fourths of the states ratify the resulting change(s). The former method has so far created all of the amendments after the Bill of Rights, in part because Congress wants to avoid the latter method, which probably opens the entire Constitution to changes, not just the proposed amendment.

Scarff said there was a legal opinion several years ago stating it is possible to just call an "Amendment Convention" to debate one particular proposal, but it has never been tested.

Enjoy fall foliage, but get ready for winter

GARDEN MOMENTS

> MELINDA MYERS

Enjoy the fall color and plan a few colorful additions for next season. A few well-known favorites include several maples, sweetgum, serviceberry and redbud. Check out the ginkgo that drops its leaves in a few days and the katsura tree with its fragrant burnt vanilla-scented, yellow fall foliage.

The colorful leaves of fothergilla, Virginia sweetspire and oakleaf hydrangea add energy to any landscape. Look for the brilliant fall foliage of arrowwood viburnum, cotoneasters and sumac. And, if you are lucky you will catch a glimpse and whiff of the fragrant yellow flowers of common witchhazel (Hamamelis virginia).

Water plants as needed until the ground freezes. New plantings, evergreens, and container planters need the most attention. Water thoroughly when the top 4 inches of the soil is crumbly and moist. Give all plants a thorough watering before the ground freezes. Properly watered and cared for plants have a greater rate of winter survival.

Don't rake those leaves into the street. Recycle that valuable resource right in your landscape. Shred fall leaves with the mower and leave on the lawn, dig them in the garden or bag and save them for mulch in next year's garden. Many gardeners tuck bagged leaves behind the shrubs surrounding their home for added insulation. Next summer spread the leaves over the garden to conserve moisture, suppress weeds and improve the soil as they decompose.

Keep cutting your grass as long as it continues to grow. Grow your grass tall and leave the clippings on the lawn. They add water, nutrients and organic matter to the soil. Chop fallen leaves and leave them in place. As long as you can see the grass for the leaves there is no problem.

Place black bird netting over groundcover plantings as soon as the leaves start to fall. Simply lift the leaf-filled netting and dump the leaves in the compost pile, garden or other area to be recycled. Replace the netting until all your leaves have fallen.

And for your indoor plants, start forcing your Christmas cactus now for holiday bloom. Keep the soil slightly dry and the plants cooler, 50 to 55°, at night. Do not fertilize during this period. If you are growing them in a warmer location of 55 to 75° you will need to give the plants 13 to 15 hours (respectively) of darkness and 10 hours of daylight for three months to form buds. Cover or move the plants to a dark location each night and back into bright sunlight during the day. Once buds have formed and the plant is blooming provide consistent soil moisture, a draft-free location and moderate light.

Finish moving houseplants, hibiscus and other patio plants that can't survive your winters indoors. Gradually introduce them to the lower light conditions in your home. Check for and control pests. Wait a few weeks before moving them in with your indoor plant collection. Place the plants in the sunniest window or add an artificial light. Wait two weeks if you need to move it to a shadier spot in the house. Gradually decrease the light, so the plant has a chance to adjust to its new location with minimal leaf loss. Consider adding some artificial light for better winter growth and survival.

is without the moral guidance the rest of our society adheres to," he said. "If corporations are people, they're sociopaths."

That doesn't mean McGovern's anti-capitalism; in fact, he noted capitalism "is the best economic system we have. It just needs to be controlled." Part of that control will require "locking up a guy in a three-piece suit," only then will the CEO-types see that their acts have consequences to them personally, since fines are just costs of doing business, he observed.

It's an argument with roots going back centuries to the start of the Industrial Revolution. McGovern noted that era saw major technical improvements that made production much more efficient and faster. But that came with several downsides, one of which the owners almost immediately latched on

They started thinking they'd soon find there weren't enough people to buy all their goods, he said. At the time, "thrift was a cultural norm;" it lasted well into the 20th century. McGovern recalled interviewing an old woman (age 80) about 20 years ago who recalled being gifted a pair of scissors that "everyone was so jealous"

changed that? What Advertising. Although that had existed in the 1800s, it started becoming particularly noticeable and more effective in the 1920s, when Edward Bernays married it to the psychological theories of his uncle Sigmund Freud to create "public relations," for which he coined the term "propaganda." One of Bernays' early campaigns succeeded in getting women to start smoking cigarettes by selling them as sexy and upperclass, and his ideas have subsequently been used by almost all industries to totally change the culture from a thrifty, self-sufficient one to one "very aligned with industrial values" of consumption and materialism, McGovern said.

Capitalism, he notes, "manipulates us for its own ends. It has become much more invasive in areas of society where it would have never been thinkable years ago."

He sees this in the opioid crisis, which has caused 200,000 deaths in the US in recent years. He noted the country has just 5 percent of the globe's population, but consumes 80 percent of the world's prescription opioids. Recently, the news reported a stunning incident: a DEA investigation found that the pharmacy in Merlin, KY (pop. 394) had handed out 9 million Oxycontin tablets, but when that hit the news, Big Pharma lobbied Congress to "take the DEA off its back," and the investigation was quietly killed, he said.

He also sees it in the growing private, for-profit prison industry. In Ohio, for example, a state contract with a private prison firm requires 90 percent occupancy, or the state pays them more money.

though, more, McGovern sees it in the finance sector, which is what started his exploration of the topic when it collapsed in 2007. Among other things, he recalled banks offering so-called "NINJA loans -- no income, no job, accepted"-- and other deceitful practices that loaded balance sheets with so many bad loans, "these banks were almost non-functional." The big ones got bailed out with hundreds of billions in taxpayer dollars via the TARP program, US families lost $10 trillion in total household wealth, but nobody significant went to jail and many of the practices have since been resumed.

"There was all sorts of criminal behavior, and not only were they not punished, they were rewarded," he observed.

Trying to understand why that happened was a six-year process of research, during which McGovern found there had been warnings about capitalism's destructive tendencies going back decades. One of the more thorough came from Karl Polanyi, whose 1944 book "The Great Transformation" explained how free-market ideology fueled the world wars, colonialism, pollution, and social/ecological problems. But trying to slow or stop those problems themselves created social crises.

"The idea of a self-adjusting market implied a static utopia," Polanyi wrote. "Such an institution could not exist for any length of time without annihilating the human and natural substance of society; it would have physically destroyed man and transformed his surroundings into a wilderness."

To Polanyi, a major reason for that effect is the fact that free-market ideology sees the economy as separate from everything else, and that everything can be a commodity, translated into money via the market. He notes no human society has ever taken such a stance until now; in previous cultures, markets existed, but they were only a minor part of life dominated by social factors, limited by "rituals and ceremonies which restricted its scope."

While all societies "are limited by economic factors," he wrote, capitalism "chose to base itself on a motive only rarely acknowledged as valid in the history of human societies, and certainly never before raised to the level of a justification of action and behavior in everyday life -- namely, gain."

McGovern notes reality contradicts most of the market ideology's concepts, particularly the idea of "Homo economicus," who supposedly makes all decisions based on a "rational" understanding of costs and benefits. Under the ideology, selfish individualism will result in benefits for all, but "that's absurd and demonstrably inaccurate," he said -- human beings routinely act without any measurable economic gain, often doing things on whim for psychological and social motives.

"The entire system is running on a logic that's alien to real human beings," McGovern said. "[Corporations] don't live anywhere, don't have ties to any community."

Librarian James Douglas noted the idea that profits are the only goal of business is fairly new. That last era of excess -- the late 1800s to 1920s -- saw "robber barons," inequality and corruption, but most big capitalists still had a sense of responsibility to their com munity, using their money to build schools, libraries, etc. Today, the big firms "pay lip service to social responsibility; it's more of a marketing tool now," he said.

EDC

So far, the survey has already proven to be helpful, giving Briare and other EDC members an early look into some of the concerns and priorities that residents want to see addressed. Early results are showing a need for more local job opportunities, but some questions also focus on more home-based businesses that Briare said are currently complicated by the town's standing regulations. Part of the goal of the survey is to determine what changes in those limitations would be acceptable to allow more modern, home grown businesses to thrive.

"We asked about home occupations for instance and if we expanded that definition to allow trades people like a garage mechanic who might work on cars on the side. We want to know if people would mind if such a person had ten customers a day if it's zoned in a residential area," Briare said. "The world is changing and Dudley needs to change as well so we need to make sure our zoning is amenable to those changes."

Another question asks about whether or not residents would want the town to explore a new tax format related to the concerns about local education spending that came to a head most recently during annual town meetings in June. Briare said such a change is purely conceptual at this time, but it's important for the EDC to know if the public would even want such a shift to take place if it were possible.

"No matter how much planning you do or how much money you put aside if something occurs similar to what occurred in the spring town meetings in Charlton and Dudley where all of a sudden you're wiped out of your $700,000 or $400,000 in reserves that can really hurt a plan. So we looked to see what the rest of the country is doing and one thing that is overwhelming for a majority of cities and towns across the country is they actually separate their tax rate into a government rate and then they have a separate school tax and that way if the school needs additional money they can simply vote to amend the tax rate for the school," said Briare. He noted that he's not sure if this practice is common in Massachusetts, or even legal, but if the possibility of such a change were to be explored the EDC would want to make sure the public is willing to consider it.

All of this is part of a continued effort by the EDC to embrace transparency and bring more involvement from residents in what decisions and goals the committee makes for the future. While nothing is set in stone Briare said this survey will provide a baseline for what the future might look hold for the town of Dudley.

"It will be interesting to see (the results). So far the response has been good. Our initial goal is if we get 200 respondents that would be ideal. It'd be better than any public forum we've held," said Briare. "The big thing that we're trying to do here is to actually get a plan that is actionable. What can we do realistically and accomplish immediately, a year from now, or five or ten years from now? The infrastructure is there. We just need a plan."

The survey can be accessed by visiting the town of Dudley website where a link to is present on the home page. The survey takes around 15 minutes to complete and will close on November 4.

TOWN MEETING

those purchases for them. So essentially what they're doing is they're micromanaging my department. I'm not exactly sure what the purpose is," Chief Hickey said. "I don't understand why we're looking for a committee to do this with. I've given more information about this truck than any other truck we've tried to purchase. There's been a lot of discussion on social media which a lot of it was just hearsay and a lot of it was just from people who had no understanding of how the fire department works.'

Hickey later called the finance committee's recommendation "embarrassing" to the town.

Town Administrator Doug Willardson came to Hickey's defense saying he had discussions the purchase with the finance committee and the chief, and that it is part of a replacement plan meant to reduce the number of trucks in the fire department and cut costs without impacting public safety.

"I met with the finance committee regarding this purchase and I respectfully disagree. The fire chief is the one with the expert knowledge in that area. He knows what's best for the department and we met with him. The chief has done a great job reducing the number of vehicles from nine apparatus in his fleet to seven which will save on future replacement costs and maintenance costs," said Willardson. "I think the chief has done a great job making this financially advantageous decision for the town."

Finance Committee member Michael Finamore felt the committee received information about the truck too late to make a recommendation in favor of the purchase and voiced his opinion that waiting until May was the better decision.

"We asked for information two and a half weeks ago and we didn't receive it until six o'clock this evening. It would be inappropriate for this board to recommend anything to the fire department until we can review the information," said Finamore. "I don't believe seven months is an unreasonable time to wait and get a true and accurate picture that we can give to the public."

Hickey noted he had opened up dialogue with the public through open houses and other events to discuss the need for the truck. He also explained he has worked hard to try and bring the fire department to a new level of service and commitment in Webster and replacing the truck is part of that long-term plan which has seen roadblocks in the past.

"The fire department overall is looking to better service the town of Webster. We've made changes to the way we operate. We've asked for more funding for more personnel to cover the overnight shifts. That was defeated a couple years ago in a Proposition 2 ½ override. Every year we ask for money for our operating budget to increase our staffing to provide better services to the town of Webster. As the chief, I have a full understanding of what the department's needs are. I'm not seeing anyone on the finance committee that would give us any insight as to how the department needs to be run," Hickey said.

Some residents did make their decision to vote against the purchase known with the primary reasoning voiced at the town meeting being confusion over the recommended purchase. Voter Sean Williams was one of those who was outspoken about the article and while he voiced support for the fire department he said he wanted to understand the purchase better before voting in favor of the article. "I have to agree with the finance committee. I think whatever way it needs to be done it's done correctly and it's never a problem to form a committee and ask questions," Williams said. "The fire chief is the expert and nobody is taking that away from him, but these are large purchases - I read some of the background information and I'm very confused by some of this stuff.'

The fate of the truck purchase is now left in limbo for the time being, considering that the request for a committee to further review the request before the May town meeting was also voted down.

Theresa P. "Terry" Choiniere, 83

WEBSTER-Theresa P. 'Terry" Choiniere, 83, died peacefully Sunday, October 22, 2017 at Webster Manor with her loving family at her side. Mrs. Choiniere was born March 17, 1934 in North Grosvenordale, CT. She is the daughter of the late Henry and the late Josephine (Gagnon) An derson. She was predeceased by her husband of 49 years Jean Paul Choiniere in 2008.

She is survived by two daughters: Michelle Donovan and her husband Timothy of Webster, and Monique Snyder and her husband John of Charlton, She also has four grandchildren; Spencer Donovan, Morgan Donovan, Madison Snyder and Carly Snyder. Sister In Law, Lola Anderson of North Grosvenordale, CT. Many nieces and nephews. Predeceased by her brothers, Henry, Richard, and Raymond Anderson, and Sr. Rachel Anderson.

Terry worked 40 years as a cutter at Bates Shoe. Mrs Choiniere was a life long member of Sacred Heart Of Jesus Parish and a supporter of St. Anne School. She spent many years volunteering her time at church festivals and school functions. What brought T.C. the most pleasure was cooking a good meal for her family and friends. She was a avid card player and would win at cribbage more often than not. Her joy was her love of her family and her grandchildren and supporting their endeavors. The family would like to thank the staff at Webster Manor for their love and care of their mother "the governor".

A Mass of Christian burial will be held 10

AM on Thursday, October 26 at Sacred Heart Of Jesus Church, 16 East Main St., Webster, Burial will follow in Sacred Heart Of Jesus Cemetery.. Susan Anne Vogel

Susan Anne Vogel was born November 12, 1946 in St. Louis, Missouri and died October 2017 in Worcester, Massachusetts.

Mom loved to laugh. She had a great sense of humor, and was always talking to others and making them smile too.

She genuinely cared about those around her, and liked to keep up with them, their families and their busy lives. People were drawn to her. She loved to dress nicely, shop for make-up with her granddaughter, and never left the house without lipstick even in an emergency! She loved to tour Boston with her son. Mom had her battles, but she cared deeply for her family and loved to visit and talk on the phone with them as often as she could. She will be reunited with her parents Elsie May Phillips and Richard Francis Phillips, and sisters Marilyn Lee and Judy Belsky, as she returns to Heavenly Father.

She is survived by her daughter Nanci Nanney (Rodney), and sons Scott Vogel (Tanva) & Christopher Vogel (Mila) and her grandchildren Nathan, Elana and Eilah Nanney, and Kayleigh, Levi and Vivian Vogel. She is also survived by her siblings Margaret 'Peg' Allen (John), Jean Schonhoff, Nancy Sprinkle (Randy) and John Phillips

Memorial service to be held at 11:00am on October 27, 2017 at Valhalla Cemetery, 7600 Saint Charles Rock Road, St. Louis, Missouri 63133

Patricia "Pat" (Langer) Baril, 90

OXFORD - Patricia "Pat" (Langer) Baril, died Friday, October 13, 2017, at home with her family by her side, after a long battle Parkinson's disease. She is survived by her husband of 68 years, Francis E. Baril; three children, Deborah A. Roland and her husband Paul of Oxford, David E. Baril and his wife Alberta of Eastampton, NJ, and Richard G. Baril and his wife Angela of Monroe, CT; her sister, Lois Taylor and her husband Warren Field of Centerville, and her sister in law Theresa Baril of Tuscon, AZ. She also leaves six grandchildren, Anita Greco and her husband Nick, Michael Baril and his wife Kasev. Heather Roland, Christopher Roland and his wife Alyce Delbridge, Jessica Baril, and Jacqueline Baril; as well as two great-grandchildren, Daniela and Alessandro Greco; and numerous nephews and nieces. She was born in Oxford, daughter of the late Herbert B. and Ethel I. (Bell) Langer, and was a lifelong resident of Oxford. She graduated from Oxford High School and Boston Children's Hospital School of Nursing.

Pat worked as a registered nurse at several area hospitals, though she enjoyed caring for her home and family for most of her life. She was a devout member of the Oxford United Methodist Church where she worked on various committees, and arranged the altar flowers for close to thirty years. She was an active leader of the Camp Fire Girls for over ten years and mentored the same group of girls as they progressed. For many years Pat worked alongside her husband Frank and other Oxford Ecumenical volunteers in organizing the local food shelf for community members in need. She was also an active board member of the Council on Aging.

Pat's greatest love was spending time with her family. In her spare moments, Pat enjoyed sewing, knitting, cross stitching, baking, traveling the world, and playing in bridge tournaments with her husband. She also enjoyed summers on Webster Lake and many cold, New England winters away in sunny Florida!

Above all, Pat was known for her sharp wit and her loving demeanor. She was always so kind and thoughtful. We will miss her smile, her ability to laugh and her wry sense of humor. We know she is with God, and her mother and father who greeted her on the morning of her passing. We now have another angel to watch over us all.

The family would like to send our gratitude to all the nurses and staff at Eddy Pond, the Jewish Healthcare Hospice, and Worcester Home Care, for their loving and attentive care during her illness.

A funeral service officiated by Pat's nephews Pastors Herbert and John Taylor was held at 10:30 a.m. on Saturday, October, 21 2017, at the Oxford United Methodist Church, 465 Main St., Oxford. Burial followed at North Cemetery in Oxford. Calling hours were Friday, October 20, 2017 at Paradis-Givner Funeral Home, 357 Main St., Oxford. In lieu of flowers, memorial contributions may be made to the Oxford United Methodist Church, 465 Main St., Oxford, MA 01540.

It's informal, confidential, with tough love advice from the heart, sharing of resources, hope and hugs.

HOLISTIC HEALTH: Chair Yoga and so much more every Tuesday from 10:30 to 11:30 a.m. at The First Congregational Church, 135 Center Road, Dudley (please park and enter through the right side basement entrance). Class Fee: $5/ class voluntary contribution (Cancer patients always free). Proceeds donated to the First Congregational Church of Dudley. Instructor: Joanne LaLiberte, Holistic Health practitioner. This class of chair yoga is to expand the lungs and strengthen all the body's major muscle groups, for stability and mobility, balance, increasing flexibility, muscularity of hip and legs and increasing range of motion with our "rear view mirror" twists. We work through the entire body, quieting the nerves, relieving stress, realigning posture and we leave renewed. Chair yoga is open to adults of all ages. It is kept light-hearted with respect for every member of the class. We honor the body as it is right now and work to improve its overall health. We come to class as individuals and leave as family. Get to know yourself through the eyes of chair yoga and build a body that serves you better. Wear comfortable clothing. As with any exercise program, check with your nealthcare professional before starting KNOWING KNITTERS: Come join the Drop In Knitting Group from 10 a.m. to noon on Fridays at the Pearle L. Crawford Memorial Library, Schofield Avenue, Dudley. All ages and levels, from beginner to expert, are welcome. For more information, call Mary Kunkel at (508) 943-8107 or Jacqueline Vassar at (508) 892-4754.

GOT FOOD? The Bread of Life Food Pantry, Calvary Assembly of God, located at 105 Southbridge Road, is open Mondays from 10 a.m. to noon and Thursdays from 5 to 7 p.m. They are closed on holidays. They can be reached at 508-949-3711.

SUPPORT: The Cancer Support Group meets from 6:30 to 8 p.m. on the second Monday of every month in the Boardroom on the 4th floor at Harrington Hospital, 100 South Street, Southbridge. Call (508) 764-2400 for more SUPPORT: Overeaters Anonymous group meeting every Wednesday at 6 p.m. Come to Room RHF-1 at Day Kimball Hospital, 320 Pomfret St., Putnam, CT. We will welcome you! For more information, contact Kathryn at (508) 949-0819.
