A burning desire to create

BY OLIVIA RICHMAN
NEWS STAFF WRITER

POMFRET — Northeastern Connecticut Art Guild member Bonnie Pellett has a talent for pyrography. If you're wondering what pyrography is you're not alone. So Pellett has a simple term for the art form: wood burning.

In a crowd of painters, knitters and photographers, Pellett's work often stands out: An image of an animal etched professionally into a slab of wood, appearing almost as a textured drawing.

So how did Pellett pick up such a unique hobby? It was high school, she recalls, when she first head of pyrography. A man had come into her school to talk to her class about wood carving. And she has been "hooked ever since."

The unique art form stood out to Pellett because she found it "simple and fascinating." She admired how quickly the visiting artist had burned images into wood before her very eyes. And even more so, she admired how beautiful it looked — "I was inspired, you could say."

Always artistic, Pellett had been always been a fan of drawing with pencil on paper, a more traditional form of art. And she always ended up drawing animals and wildlife.

"I've always been a person that just loves the outdoors and animals. I guess it really found its way into my work," said Pellett. "It's a piece of me."

She gets her inspiration from a variety of places: Photographs she's taken of her backyard. Pictures she's spotted online or in a calendar. It doesn't matter where it comes from. As long as it speaks to her.

That's when she puts it into wood.

"Sometimes I'll simply follow the shape and uniqueness of the wood itself," she said. "The shapes just speak to me sometimes and I just do what needs to be done. But I'll work with anything. Any kind of wood. Even this antique ironing board."

Whether abstract or scenic, wood burning is always a relaxing escape for Pellett. She really can "zen out" and "tune everything out" when she's creating a new piece.

"You really get to express yourself," she said. "I put a piece of myself in every piece. I don't do the exact photograph. You can really be yourself and put your own spin on it in each

Jacqueline Lucier gave advice on jewelry making and painting at NECTAG's art exhibit.

Addicted to beads

BY OLIVIA RICHMAN
NEWS STAFF WRITER

KILLINGLY — Last weekend was a busy one for East Killingly artist Jacqueline Lucier. First, she did a live painting demonstration at The Silver Circle for Putnam's First Friday festival. Then, she did a live painting demonstration once again at the Pomfret Historical Society building — where she also sold jewelry — for NECTAG's Fall Color art exhibit.

A painter for the past few decades, Lucier said that paintings are her main art form. But she has started doing jewelry on the side because, to put it simply, she's "addicted to beads."

I sat down with the busy artist to find out more about her passion for jewelry making and ended up learning about her strength and determination.

How did you first get introduced to jewelry making?

"My sister. She started making jewelry. I visited her up in Vermont one summer and started helping her. I fooled around with it and I got quite hooked."

What about it really stuck with you?

"The beads, the colors, the designs... I've made thousands of pieces of jewelry and no two are alike. They're always coming out with new styles and trends. It's never ending it seems. It's addicting."

There's always something new to make.

"When you're a creative person and you have an endless supply of inspiration and ideas... Your brain doesn't shut off. You have to have an outlet."

So jewelry is your creative outlet.

"Jewelry is an outlet. And my painting is a passion. My jewelry is an obsession. An addiction, I'd say. The beads are addicting."

Ellis Tech schedules open house

DANIELSON — An open house is scheduled at H.H. Ellis Technical High School from 5:30 p.m. to 7 p.m. on Tuesday, Oct. 17, at the school located at 613 Upper Maple Street. There is no cost and the evening is open to the public. Prospective students, their parents and teachers, alumni and community members are invited to attend.

Are you curious about the benefits of a world-class, rigorous learning environment that provides students with both college and career readiness upon graduation? You no longer have to dream about a promising future. Envision this: You are a highly qualified technician at removing dings and dents; while also providing expert services of weld-on applications and bonded panel installation. You are a professional at designing and building custom BBQ's, fireplaces, patios, walls, and stairs to suit all of your customers' plans and budgets. Your mastery of integrating intensive training and artistic vision is only a steppingstone into the myriad of culinary careers. Residential, commercial, and industrial professional paths are solid career options in the electrical field. The educational opportunities at H.H. Ellis Technical High School are the perfect environment for you to fulfill your technical and educational interests. The eastern Connecticut community is cordially invited to explore the eleven industry-standard trade departments. The evening also welcomes you to visit our: modern academic classrooms, 21st Century media center, world-class fitness center, and first-class gymnasium in this state-of-the-art facility.

What will you see and learn at our Open House? Students and staff will be available to demonstrate the applications of the latest high tech equipment, including the Weinig Molding Machine, the Hunter Hawkeye alignment machine, the computer interface oscilloscopes, the 3-D printer, and a variety of CNC devices. Visitors will view the latest hair creations in the Hairdressing and Barbering Salon, sample a variety of tasty treats courtesy of the Culinary Arts students, and learn about Ellis Tech's many sports and club offerings. Staff and students will gladly share their experiences and explain the latest "blended learning" model for math classes, and walk you through the process of applying to Ellis Tech.

H.H. Ellis Technical High School students graduate with the flexibility to successfully continue their education at the college level or enter the work force directly into their trade. To help students reduce college debt, some of our graduates even use their acquired technical skills and licenses to work in their field of study while also attending college. Our goal is for 100 percent of our students to reach their fullest potential to achieve the technical and educational expertise to be successful.

First Friday's theme was Nightmare on Main Street

PUTNAM — There's no better way to celebrate October than First Friday's "Nightmare On Main Street" on Oct. 6. The last downtown street fair of the season was inspired by horror films, the Halloween-themed event featured a zombie fashion show and encouraged the community to dress up. Vendors, live music, demonstrations and food made for a festive night downtown.

It may have been sprinkling at the beginning of First Friday, but event goers who stuck it out were rewarded with a beautiful double rainbow!

American Legion National Commander to visit Putnam

PUTNAM — Denise H. Rohan, the first woman elected to serve as American Legion National Commander in the 99-year history of the nation’s largest veteran’s organization, will visit and tour the Greater Putnam Area on Tuesday, Oct. 17. Her visit to Northeastern Connecticut is part of a three-day stay in the Nutmeg state.

Rohan, a United States Army veteran who served from 1974 to 1976, has been an active member of the American Legion since 1984. She’s currently a member of the Mason Lindsay Post 385 – Verona, in her home state of Wisconsin. She was elected to the Post of National Commander in August at the national convention in Reno, Nev. The American Legion is a veteran’s organization comprised of two million members.

“We’re pleased and excited as we prepare for Commander Rohan’s visit,” said a statement by Post No. 13 Commander Ronald P. Coderre and Everett G. Shepard Past Commander of Post 111 in Woodstock, who are co-chairman of the local visit.

American Legion National Commander Denise H. Rohan

She will be part of a photo session on the WWI Veterans Memorial Bridge on Pomfret Street, where Linda Colangelo will sing the National Anthem and God Bless the USA. The commander will then proceed on a tour of Putnam, viewing the 31 banners of WWII and Korean War veterans that are on display throughout downtown.

The next stop along the tour is a visit to the Putnam Ash Landfill, where she’ll be greeted by Wheelabrator Operations Manager Donald Musial. From Putnam the tour will move to Woodstock passing by Post #111, the post-9/11 Memorial at the Town Hall in memory of military personnel who have lost their life in Afghanistan and Iraq, Woodstock Academy and the historic Pink House.

Coderre and Shepard, in concert with the Department of Connecticut and the 4th District, has planned a full schedule during her visit.

Commander Rohan will begin her tour with a visit to the Veterans Coffee House in Danielson, where she will address the veterans in attendance. She will also be presented with a proclamation by Putnam Mayor Tony Falzarano.

From Woodstock the group will travel to Thompson with a stop at the West Thompson Dam where she’ll be greeted by Army Corps of Engineer representatives and Thompson historian Joseph Lindley.

Commander Rohan will be the guest of honor at a 1 p.m. luncheon hosted by Post No. 67 Commander Robert Lebeau and Thompson First Selectman Ken Beausoleil. That evening she’ll be hosted at an informal dinner in Stafford Springs at Post No. 26 where she’ll be greeted by 4th District Commander Perry Caldwell. Prior to departing Connecticut on Thursday, Commander Rohan will address local Legionnaires at an evening formal dinner on Wednesday hosted by Commander Archie LaPierre of Post No. 91 in Moosup.

“We’re honored to have Northeastern Connecticut selected as part of our National Commander’s visit. Our goal is to show her not only the beauty of our area but to have her leave with a sense of the strength of American Legion in the Quiet Corner,” said Coderre and Shepard.

Commander Rohan will be accompanied by her aide, Mike Rohan, her husband of 41 years. Mr. Rohan, who is also an Army veteran, is an active Legionnaire having formerly served as past department adjutant for the Department of Wisconsin. The Rohans have a son, Nicholas, daughter-in-law Angie and grandchildren Sawyer and Isla.

What differentiates you from your opponent?
Experience. I have been first selectman, know the job, and did it well. I understand how municipal government functions and the critical inter-connections between boards, commission, town departments, and employees. I know who and when to ask questions. I understand my first responsibility is to the residents of Pomfret and that they should be included in discussions and decision making. I believe the position is a full time responsibility, citizen participation is important and 'Citizen's comments' should not be eliminated from meetings.
What is your vision for the future?
We are at a point that we can no longer keep doing the same old. We can't afford it. We need a regional perspective, more collaboration, and elimination of duplication of spending and services. With strong leadership and governance Pomfret can be at the forefront during this dynamic restructuring and preserve our community, enhance our economy, enrich educational excellence and conserve our scenic landscape

Patrick McCarthy

Name: Patrick McCarthy
Position sought: Selectman
Town of: Pomfret
Background/ Qualifications: I am a full-time teacher, coach, and administrator at Rectory School and a former Vestry member and Youth Group leader of Christ Church in Pomfret. In these positions, I have helped to oversee budgets, manage staffing and scheduling, follow designated policies and procedures, and maintain a positive public image for those organizations. I have extensive experience teaching civics and how government should work, which will make my adjustment to the position very fast.
What makes you the best candidate for this position?
While I am not a veteran politician, I do possess the administrative experience, level of dedication, and adherence to procedural standards and knowledge necessary to be successful for the job of Selectman. I have operated within budgetary constraints, handled public relations, and managed people in every aspect of both my professional and volunteer work, and I know that I can be successful in this position if given the chance by the voters of Pomfret.

What differentiates you from your opponent(s)?
Commitment. My opponent has stated she held several positions over a number of years. She currently has a 17% attendance rate on the Library Board and has yet to attend a meeting for her appointed Senior Advocate Commission position. My attendance record for all meetings and work exceeds 97%. I will show up and take my position and the people I represent seriously and treat them with respect.
What is your vision for the future?
I believe we need to fully explore federal and state grants like those Maureen Nicholson acquired for Pomfret in her previous term as First Selectman. Taxpayers have been asked repeatedly to pay more simply to keep funding at current levels; we simply have to stop going "back to the well" expecting our citizens to provide all of the costs. There are other avenues to explore; we need to start investigating other income sources immediately.

J. Scott Pempek

Name: J. Scott Pempek
Position sought: Selectman
Town of: Putnam
Background/ Qualifications: Born and raised in Putnam. Married to Cheryl, two daughters Kristen and Rebecca. B.S. in management Bryant University, M.B.A. Nichols College. Senior District Sales Manager, American Honda Motor Co. 24 years. Served on the Putnam Board of Education from 2005 to 2013, Selectman for the Town of Putnam since 2013.
What makes you the best candidate for this position?
Although I am a lifelong Democrat, my philosophy and voting history while on both the Board of Education and Selectmen has always been to base my suggestions and support on what I feel is best for the town of Putnam and not necessarily the party. If reelected I plan on continuing this philosophy.
What differentiates you from your opponent(s)? I have a proven record of leadership while serving on the Board of Education and Selectman.

Accomplishments include the High School renovation project. Chairing the Ash Landfill Expansion Negotiations. Putnam now has lengthened our revenue stream because of this.
Successfully getting 3 other towns to collaborate with Putnam in the Technology Park. This increased Putnam's reimbursement for development costs from 50% to now 75%
What is your vision for the future?
Making Putnam an even better place to live work and grow. This can be accomplishments by: Growing the Grand List. This will help stabilize taxes. Selling the lots in the new technology park. Exploring partnerships with other towns to share services in this era of decreased funding coming from Hartford.

Joseph Zornado

Name: Joseph Zornado
Position sought: 4-year seat on the Board of Education
Town of: Killingly
Background/ Qualifications: I earned by PhD in English from the University of Connecticut in 1992. I have been teaching college students since 1989. For the last 22 years I have been a professor of English at Rhode Island College teaching students who themselves hope to be public school teachers in classrooms anywhere from K-12. I work directly with students who only months before have graduated from high schools like Killingly. I see their strengths and their many challenges.
What makes you the best candidate for this position?
As a registered Independent, and with my professional background, my communication skills, and my interest in the success of all students, I think I am the only candidate running prepared, willing, and able to serve as a communication bridge between current factions on the Board of Education, and between the Board of Ed and the Killingly Town Council. We must move beyond personal conflicts and institutional dysfunction. As a first-time member I will be in a position to serve the policy mission of the Board of Education and no other master.

What is your vision for the future?
The future is uncertain and it is certainly not guaranteed. The challenges we face as a community, as a region, and as a nation grow more daunting day-by-day. Even so, I believe that education is the only solution. It is the bulwark of civilization. Without it we simply cannot exist as we do. If young people take away from their early years a rich and thoughtful curriculum, respectful contact with others, and an environment that protects and serves the dignity of all, then there is hope for the future. Education opens us. It enlightens the mind. It makes for a deeper, richer individual life as well as a more satisfying life with others—we not only learn, we grow. If we can provide an educational experience for our young people that is largely secure, sustainable, and that allows them to become who they are, then we will have succeeded in preserving the future.

Raymond Wishart Jr.

Name: Raymond Wishart Jr.
Position sought: Planning and Zoning
Town of: Pomfret
Background/ Qualifications: 20 year resident of Pomfret, currently on the Planning and Zoning Commission. I am currently working for a telecommunication company in the role of a network engineer.
What makes you the best candidate for this position? Reasonable, rational decision making and my work schedule allows me to attend most meetings.

What differentiates you from your opponent(s)?
I have yet to any discussions with our opponent on the subject of P&Z.
What is your vision for the future?
Maintain the quality of life and community in Pomfret in my capacity on the Planning and Zoning Commission.

Richard Edwin Brotbeck

Name: Richard Edwin Brotbeck
Position sought: Library Board of Trustees
Town of: Thompson
Background/ Qualifications: I am an author and book publisher. I now teach creative writing, and English as a second language online, and I teach at Bay Path's Adult Education Evening Program.
What makes you the best candidate for this position?
As a member of the board, I will work to increase community outreach through a spirit of volunteerism. I will help explore and include new materials, and I will help the library staff communicate their needs to the other members of the board.
What differentiates you from your opponent(s)?

I have spent hundreds of hours in our library, many times almost by myself. I want to help find ways to change this; to make our beautiful facility even more accessible, more attractive, more relevant to modern scholarship, citizenship, enrichment and education.
What is your vision for the future?
I want to ensure that the diversity of our language and culture do not get run over or left behind on the information superhighway.

Valerie May

Name: Valerie May
Position sought: Board of Education
Town of: Pomfret
Background/ Qualifications: High School Science Teacher for 22 years. Received several local and state-level awards for excellence in teaching. Have served on the Pomfret BOE for 2 years and represented Pomfret on the EastConn Board of Directors Executive Board. 19 year resident of Pomfret
What makes you the best candidate for this position?
I have extensive experience in Education with knowledge of educational theory and practices. I come to the position with the perspective of a parent, educator, and tax payer.
What differentiates you from your

opponent(s)?
My experience in education differentiates from my opponents. While aware of the fiscal constraints on our town, I understand the priorities regarding providing opportunities for students to be successful.
What is your vision for the future?
I see a future where education is valued as it prepares our children for the technical workplace they will encounter. The key to a successful future is are knowledge citizens who can make decisions based on evidence and sound reasoning.

Bill Wolfe

Name: Bill Wolfe
Position sought: Constable
Town of: Pomfret
Background/Qualifications: A construction background that included the setting up and maintaining of traffic patterns for busy roads and intersections.
What makes you the best candidate for the position?
I have been a constable for over 3 years and in that time whenever a need has arisen I make sure that I am available to offer some kind of assistance.
What differentiates you from your opponent(s)?

I have traffic control experience. Moving to Pomfret 13 years ago, I have not lived in town as long as some of the other constables but ask for your vote so that I may continue to serve the community. I enjoy being a constable and interacting with the public.
What is your vision for the future?
To continue to fulfill a need for assistance whether it be a weather emergency, school function, or town event.

MEET THE CANDIDATES

Bev Champany

Name: Bev Champany
Position sought: Planning and Zoning commission
Town of: Pomfret
Background/ Qualifications: I have been on the Planning and Zoning Commission for 10 years as an alternate and full member. I have the experience and understand the regulations. I have been involved as a volunteer in many facets of Pomfret for over 40 years. I know the town.
What makes you the best candidate for this position?
I have 10 years of experience that is hard earned and valuable to being a contributing member of the commission. Zoning regulations are complicated and it takes time to become familiar with and understand them.
What differentiates you from your

opponent(s)?
Having 10 years of experience on the commission and my lifetime experience of living and raising a family in town. I am familiar with the regulations. I understand the values of our community and the need to balance growth with maintaining our rural character.
What is your vision for the future?
To keep our rural identity while encouraging responsible growth. Pomfret has its own personality and we need to be true to that and not try to be like every other town. Our zoning regulations are important to preserving our community.

Cris Cadiz

Name: Cris Cadiz
Position sought: Library Board of Trustees
Town of: Pomfret
Background/ Qualifications: Former teacher with master's degree from Wesleyan University, writer, ardent volunteer, book & library lover!
What makes you the best candidate for this position?
I will not just be a name on the board list; I will actively attend meetings and spend essential volunteer hours doing everything I can to make our already wonderful public library an even better place for the community.
What differentiates you from your opponent(s)?

I am an energetic volunteer. I care deeply about the projects/organizations to which I commit my time and thoughts. And I work to get things done, not just talk about them.
What is your vision for the future?
That more community members learn about, visit & use Pomfret Public Library. That we continue to develop the great programs offered for all ages and expand when possible. That we use it to our best advantage. It's a small but mighty resource. It deserves attention, respect, love.

David Ring

Name: David Ring
Position sought: Library Trustee
Town of: Pomfret
Background/ Qualifications: I am the library director at Pomfret School; I have worked here for 7 years. I hold a B.A. and M.Ed. from the University of Massachusetts at Amherst.
What makes you the best candidate for this position?
I work in a library every day. I understand the unique role our town library serves in Pomfret, the scope of services it offers, and the importance it plays in the lives of our citizens, young and old. I know, first hand, the sense of community it can engender. I am the best candidate for this role because I not only care deeply about libraries, but am immersed in the business of libraries, both as a director and as a community patron.
What differentiates you from your opponent(s)?
With my educational background, my direct professional experience, my understanding of library budgets, the cooperative relationship I already have with our town librarians, and the fact that I almost live next door to the library, I am uniquely qualified to help our town library and library staff fulfill its community mission.

What is your vision for the future?
Our library has, for generations, served Pomfret well. The role of a community library is dynamic and, as one of but a few community gathering spaces, requires that it have the space and resources (personnel, physical, and virtual) to meet the diverse and continually shifting needs of Pomfret patrons. I hope to work with the library staff, fellow trustees, and the town to help the library realize its full potential in exceeding expectations for what a town library can be.

Christine Kalafus

Name: Christine Kalafus
Postion sought: Library Board of Trustees
Town of: Pomfret
Background/ Qualifications: Professionally, I am an award-winning writer, editor, and writing teacher. I have served voluntarily on numerous charitable boards including the Deary Fund and Quinebaug Valley Velo Club. I am also a co-founder and present Co-Chair of Quiet Corner Shouts.
What makes you the best candidate for this position?
I am reliable and focused. I have been self-employed for fourteen years and used to working both collaboratively and independently. As a professional in the arts, I thrive at finding creative solutions within budgetary and any other restrictions.
What differentiates you from your opponent(s)?
I am not just a resident in Pomfret, but a regular library patron and one of its regular workshop instructors. I have spent time speaking with library Director Laurie Bell and Adult Services Librarian Nick Beams on the challenges they face in providing library services.

What is your vision for the future?
A library reflects its community. As demand for access to information—from books and periodicals to educational events, grows, our little library requires appropriate space to meet that demand. My vision is library Director Laurie Bell's vision: the addition of a multi-purpose room for use as a lecture space, one easily divided into three smaller spaces. Also, for the Children's Section to be solely for children and their parents, not overflow for adult work-stations.

Dayna Flath

Name: Dayna Flath
Position sought: Board of Finance
Town of: Pomfret
Background/ Qualifications: BA in Computer Science from Boston University, MBA from UVM, Sr Budget Analyst at UVM, Manager of IT at UCONN; Software Designer at SCT Corp, I own Common Sense Payroll, LLC in Pomfret and am the bookkeeper for 3 local non-profit organizations
What makes you the best candidate for this position? I have an extensive background in budgeting, finance and fund accounting as well as being very detail oriented while keeping the big picture in mind. I grew up in Pomfret and returned here to raise my family – it's my home and I want to help ensure that it remains the wonderful town that it is.

What differentiates you from your opponent(s)?
My education and work experience are directly related to the work of the Board of Finance. As a successful business owner, I understand the need to balance income and expenses while ensuring that we are prepared for the future and the unexpected.
What is your vision for the future?
I would like Pomfret to retain its small town atmosphere with plenty of open space and its sense of community while ensuring that its citizens have the services and opportunities they need without incurring undue financial strain.

Debi Thompson

Name: Debi Thompson
Position sought: Board of Finance
Town of: Pomfret
Background/ Qualifications: 25+ year resident of the town. 30 yr. career with the State of CT – DCF, Retiring as the Director of Business Operations. After retirement, I was called back to work at the State of CT Dept of Public Health, supervising their Contracts unit for 15 months. Currently directing the AARP tax program in Windham and London Counties. Currently sit on the Zoning Board of Appeals, and serving as Vice President of the Pomfret Senior Association. Former Member of the Pomfret Commission on Aging.
What makes you the best candidate for this position?
I currently sit on the Board, and am very familiar with the town's finances. My career experience with government finance, managing both state and federal funds, developing budgets, spending plans and implementing recissions, uniquely qualifies me for serving our town in the current fiscal climate, which will require tough decisions

What differentiates you from your opponent(s)?
I have current experience in government accounting methods and comprehensive knowledge of how government financing works. I can offer options and possibilities in the difficult period before us.
What is your vision for the future?
Town business will need to be done differently and more efficiently. I wish to explore any and all options to keep the high-quality services our townspeople have come to expect. I want to ensure the procedures put in place, and voted on by our citizens are consistently implemented, and to get the best value for each taxpayer's dollar.

Mary Wishart

Name: Mary Wishart
Position sought: Zoning Board of Appeals, Alternate
Town of: Pomfret
Background/ Qualifications: I have lived in Pomfret my entire life. I went to PCS and graduated from Woodstock Academy. I am a student at ECSU studying math and computer science. As a college student living in town, I able to be an active member of the community I grew up in.
What makes you the best candidate for this position?
I'm young and ready to make this town a better place. I am energetic and anxious to learn, Not many young people are getting involved in their communities and I think we need representation and a voice of a younger generation to help direct the future of Pomfret.

What differentiates you from your opponent(s)?
My age, I am one of the candidates under 25 running for office in Pomfret. I can bring a new perspective to the town, encourage others to participate and be a role model for others to get involved.
What is your vision for the future?
I want Pomfret to be a town where people are happy to live, and where people would want to move to. I also want to see more young people becoming involved politically within their communities and see more interaction between generations in Pomfret.

MEET THE CANDIDATES

Nick Fulchino

Name: Nick Fulchino
Position sought: Zoning Board of Appeals
Town of: Pomfret
Background/ Qualifications:
I grew up in Pomfret and graduated from PCS and Pomfret School. I am currently a junior at Saint Anselm College in Manchester, New Hampshire where I am studying Politics and American Studies. I have been involved in local politics and was the Field Director for State Representative Pat Boyd’s campaign.
What makes you the best candidate for this position?
If elected, I will put in the time and ask the questions needed to fully understand our regulations and any issues that come before the Board. I look forward to the opportunity to discuss land use issues and come to reasonable solutions. As a town, we need to balance economic growth with scenic preservation, and I hope to bring a new set of eyes to this old problem and others.
What differentiates you from your

opponent(s)?
In order to keep Pomfret current and efficient, we need new voices and fresh perspectives at all levels of town government. At 19 years old, I am the youngest candidate on the ballot in Pomfret. I don’t think this is a liability, I think it is an asset. We need a new generation of citizen volunteers for Pomfret’s future.
What is your vision for the future?
When State Representative Pat Boyd ran for office, he talked of a community where neighbors help neighbors and that government should reflect this idea. I am inspired by his words. I envision a Pomfret where we can come together and find solutions to our problems – regardless of whether they are budgetary matters or zoning issues. I would like the opportunity to participate in and give back to my community because Pomfret is truly my home.

Gail Oakley Pratt

Name: Gail Oakley Pratt
Position sought: Town Council
Town of: Killingly
Background/ Qualifications:
Attorney-at-law (Employed by the Connecticut Judicial Branch); Killingly Town Council (2001-2003; and 2015-17 as Vice Chair; Current Chair Ordinance Sub Committee – also serving on Fiscal & Personnel Sub Committees) Killingly Quiet Corner Lions (Charter Member) Killingly Charter revision Commission 2013 Killingly Board of Education (3 terms between 1997 & 2011 – Chaired Fiscal & Policy Sub Committees; also served on Personnel, Scholarship, & Curriculum Sub Committees) Planning & Zoning Commission (alternate 1995 - 1997)
What makes you the best candidate for this position?
I truly care about the Town, and have lived here for thirty years. I pride myself on always being prepared for every discussion; I do my homework. I listen to others and consider the whole picture before I vote. I am not driven by any partisan dogma and will do what I believe to be in the best interest of the Town. I have considerable experience in the financial and legal realms.

What differentiates you from your opponent(s)?
I have more than 20 years of dedicated service to the town of Killingly. My extensive experience in legal and financial matters is a definite benefit to the Council. I know how to research every issue, and I always come prepared
What is your vision for the future?
Maintain our rural character. Stable tax rate. Business friendly atmosphere to encourage small business and agricultural growth. Secure land for future industrial growth. Convene Charter Revision Commission. More fiscally responsible police protection. Increase communication with residents via (1) Installation of a digital sign at Owen Bell Park; (2) CodeRed civic & emergency notification system; (3) Expand Channel 22. Examine more cost effective methods of trash disposal.

Gary Sturni

Name: Gary Sturni
Position sought: Library Board
Town of: Pomfret, CT
Background/ Qualifications:
Retired clergy with graduate degrees
What makes you the best candidate for this position?
I am committed to lifelong learning and want to promote the importance of reading.
What differentiates you from your opponent(s)?
Perhaps nothing: anyone running for this position I’m sure also shares the mission of promoting literacy and the enjoyment of reading. I may be unique in having had a career where reading broadly, was, and still is, a job requirement.

What is your vision for the future?
To support the Library staff in serving children and families in story hours, in promoting a knowledge of the history of our area, and providing resources to deal with current issues, locally and regionally.

Leigh Grossman

Name: Leigh Grossman
Position sought: Board of Education
Town of: Pomfret
Background/ Qualifications:
I am a PCS parent, longtime member of the English Department at UConn, and the author of 15 books. I currently serve on the Planning and Zoning Commission, and previously served on Pomfret’s Conservation Commission and the Library Book Selection Committee. A Pomfret resident since 1998, I am a past president of the Pomfret Historical Society.
What makes you the best candidate for this position?
I’m a strong communicator who has helped resolve miscommunications between parents and the school system in the past. I’m good at framing tough problems in a way that everyone can deal with them effectively without hurt feelings or defensiveness.

What differentiates you from your opponent(s)?
I can be very parent-focused while at the same time understanding why the administration makes particular choices, and I’m very good at bridging that divide in a way that helps get everyone on the same page.
What is your vision for the future?
Pomfret has a great school system, but schools don’t stay strong without a lot of hard work, good communication, and attention to detail. I’m looking forward to helping to keep PCS strong and innovative, and making sure our kids have opportunities to maximize their potential.

Lynn LaBerge

Name: Lynn LaBerge
Position sought: Town Council District 5 seat
Town of: Killingly
Background/ Qualifications:
I am a lifelong resident of the Town of Killingly, secretary of the Westfield Village Board of Directors, and volunteer at the Killingly Historical Society. I am serving my 3rd term on the town council and my 15th term on the Borough Council. This has given me the insight and knowledge I need to serve the citizens of Killingly. I understand how local government works and how to get things done.
What makes you the best candidate for this position?
I have the experience. I understand how a town budget is prepared and where to look for cuts. I research issues that will be coming before the council and attend the meetings of our boards, commissions, and committees so I have good background information and can make a well informed decision.

What differentiates you from your opponent(s)?
I am a lifelong resident of Killingly. I have lived in East Killingly, Ballouville, Elmville, and now in Danielson. I understand the unique differences of the town and know that what will work in a one part of town will not work in another.
What is your vision for the future?
I want Killingly to be a vibrant town. One with village centers where you live and then can walk to shop, eat out, and get professional and medical services. A great school system and recreational centers in both the north and south parts of town. Where we have economic growth and yet still keep our rural characteristics. Showcase that we are a small New England town with big things going on.

Daniel D. Kellaway

Name: Daniel D. Kellaway
Position sought: Zoning Board of Appeals
Town of: Pomfret
Background/ Qualifications:
Hamilton College, Class of 2017 (Government major); Pomfret School, Class of 2013; Rectory School, Class of 2010; Eagle Scout, Boy Scouts of America
What makes you the best candidate for this position?
Ever since I was an elementary school student, I have had a passion for politics and public service. Now, at age 22, I am incredibly excited to be running for public office for the first time. I’m hoping to send a message to more young people that politics can be an engaging, meaningful, and yes, even fun activity for them to join. Pomfret Democrats have actually nominated three candidates under the age of 25.
What differentiates you from your opponent(s)?
As a recent college graduate, I am trying my best to bring lots of fresh ideas and new enthusiasm to local government. Since I have actively studied government for the last four years, I am greatly looking forward to transferring my knowledge of government into daily, practical action.

What is your vision for the future?
I am firmly committed to environmental protection, in Pomfret and everywhere. If I am fortunate enough to be elected, maintaining the pristine, bucolic nature of Pomfret will always be my top priority. In addition, I will always do my best to be an honest, fair steward of the town’s zoning regulations.

Sara DiIorio

Name: Sara DiIorio
Position sought: Pomfret Board of Education
Town of: Pomfret
Background/ Qualifications:
Bachelor’s degree in Early Childhood Education. Master’s degree in Special Education. Current Board of Education member.
What makes you the best candidate for this position?
I have been in the field of education for 23 years. I have worked in both private and public schools, regular and special education. I am currently on the Pomfret Board of Education. I serve as Chair of the Policy committee.

What differentiates you from your opponent(s)?
My experience in the field of Education.
What is your vision for the future?
Support the administration in providing the students of Pomfret access to high quality education while being mindful of the tough financial times that are upon us.

Another candle on the cake

I read my horoscope every day, even though I don't really believe it. I'm a Libra, celebrating a birthday this month, and the daily prognostications are always good. Libras, symbolized by the Scales of Justice, are allegedly even handed, temperate, and friendly. Sometimes I see myself reflected perfectly, but I know it is magical thinking. If good luck is in my future, I buy a lottery ticket, though my rational mind knows it is a waste of money. I'm not alone in my foolishness. Most of us want to believe there is something special about us, even if we didn't do anything to earn it.

NANCY WEISS

A friend gave me a DNA kit as a birthday present. It is a generous gift and I'm grateful. As I followed the directions, spit in a little vial and sent it off to Utah, thoughts popped up. If a rare condition were revealed, would I have to report it on health insurance forms? Do I want to know if there is an awful disease in my future? Finally, would my ancestry be what I have always assumed it to be, Welsh, Scottish and English, a fairly boring combination, or something more exotic? I met a woman who said she had just discovered she was part Samoan. Wow, I might like that.

On my mother's side I'm related to the much maligned Puritans. Through the centuries, the family has kept a book of their lineage as a shortcut to show who they are. My mother thought it all ridiculous. She would insist that everyone has relatives, some good, some bad. What matters is what one does with one's own life not ancestors. I think her attitude is remarkably contemporary, although on our recent trip to Japan, I liked their belief that ancestors watch over humans and help us in life. That sounds rather cozy.

A birthday brings up serious questions of longevity and mortality, but the more immediate focus is on whether one does or does not look one's age. What is the standard anyway? When Gloria Steinem turned 80 a few years old, people exclaimed that she looked good. She answered – this is what 80 looks like, staring back at the world through her signature Aviator glasses.

I know people who get as much changed or fixed about their physical selves as possible: new teeth, hair, eyelids, chins, a personal trainer. The results are often successful and the person looks good. Too much and they look scary.

I know people who work on everything about their insides. They change their diet, take supplements, drink Kombucha tea and shun gluten, alcohol and sugar. It is a time consuming process, but perhaps it works. The pursuit may be more interesting than the result.

I know people who work hard on their mental and spiritual sides. Daily crossword puzzles keep the mind sharp. A radio program, Innovation Hub, said that people who read books live 2.5 years longer than people who don't. Mindfulness, meditation and silent retreats bring insights, and revelations. Church membership brings community, comfort and peace

My paternal grandmother, Hannah, believed in everything. She died before I was born, but left behind trunks filled with her stuff. Our daughter framed a page that outlines the fine points of reading tea leaves. She also read tarot cards, palms, people's auras. She hired a seer to tell my father's future on the day he was born. It was surprisingly accurate. She juggled all these beliefs with traditional Protestantism and apparently saw no contradiction.

On my birthday, I'll review my horoscope for the year ahead. I'll read my DNA results. I'll look in the mirror and consider what can be improved or ignored. If I'm offered a cup of tea, I'll imagine a smiling face as the bottom of the cup. All the magic boils down to knowing that we are here now and that is enough, especially if there is also cake.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Richardson supports Larson

To the editor:

This year's municipal elections are taking place at a time when towns across the state are facing an uncertain financial future; particularly here in the northeast. In spite of that backdrop, the Woodstock slate shows very little in terms of competitive races as most candidates are running unopposed. That doesn't mean your vote is unimportant as your vote is your opportunity to have your voice heard. Who you vote for, or don't vote for, sends a message. So please take time to vote.

There are two contested races on this year's ballot: first selectman and a seat on the Board of Assessment Appeals. Ed Larson, current chairman of the Board of Assessment Appeals, is running for re-election. Ed has been a Woodstock resident for 47 years. With a background in construction management, Ed has served on numerous committees, commissions, and boards in service to the town for more than 40 years and has been on the Board of Assessment Appeals since its formation in 1992 – never missing a meeting. If you go to town meetings, you can usually find Ed there, ready and willing to speak out on behalf of the residents of the town, especially in support of Prop 46.

I have spoken out many times for change in town government, Ed is NOT one of those changes, and so I ask you to support Ed Larson for Board of Assessment Appeals.

Thompson resident cautions about proposed budget

To the editor,

It is important to the voters in the Town of Thompson that caution should be the approach in accepting or rejecting the Town Budget discussed at the Town Meeting on October 11th and voted on at the Referendum on October 19th. The need for caution is based on the premise that approval of the Budget as presented provides for approval of the EXPENSES only. If, say, there is a shortfall of $3Million due to the current Governor's approved budget by decree, then the taxpayers would be on the hook for the shortfall — this is in the neighborhood of an additional 5 mill tax increase. Please be careful.

Folsom supports Nicholson and McCarthy

To the editor,

Nobody likes bureaucratic red tape and we all respect a leader that is able to cut through the red tape and get things done. On the other hand, we have all heard the old sayings "haste makes waste" or "measure twice and cut once". There is certainly wisdom in these sayings. Maureen Nicholson has a demonstrated ability to cut through the red tape and still make sure that the i's are dotted and t's are crossed so that Pomfret gets both special projects and routine Town business done right. Maureen and Patrick McCarthy will make excellent leaders in what may be very difficult financial times.

Rimer is for Donna Smith

To the editor:

The Town of Pomfret is in the enviable position of having two qualified candidates for first selectman. That said, I'm writing to support Donna Smith because of her extensive experience and personable approach to management. For the past few years, Donna has served on the board of selectmen, the Board of Directors of the NDDH Board of Health, and the Woodstock Academy Board of Trustees. As a selectman she helped to reduce the town budget by $50,000 without losing services. She helped develop the sidewalk plan for Rectory and Pomfret Schools. She created a formal process for agricultural land leases. She's proactive about maintaining roads to make them last longer. Before her service on the board of selectmen, she was on the Pomfret Board of Education, the Pomfret Community School Building Committee, and the EastConn Board of Directors. Her work experience is even more impressive. She is a self-employed money manager who gained business experience at QVCTC, Rectory School, Fleet Bank, and Raytheon. She has a double major in marketing and economics and graduated cum laude from Nichols College. Her business background has led to her fiscally responsible style of management. I hardly need to say more except that Donna is knowledgeable, articulate, approachable, and motivated. She has a wealth of experience and the skills to face the perennial small-town issues of manageable taxes, quality education, and rural character. Join me in voting for Donna Smith for first selectman.

Guglielmo endorses Smith and Lewerenz

To the editor:

I am pleased that two outstanding individuals have stepped forward to lead the Town of Pomfret in these very tough economic times. Both have lived in town for many many years and have a record of service to the community which is second to none.

Donna Smith is running for first selectman. She is currently serving on the board of selectman for the town which gives her the ability to hit the ground running. Her education and background are strong assets in making her a strong candidate for this leadership position.

Donna is currently serving on the northeast district Health department board of Directors. In the past she has served on the Pomfret Community School board of directors and the board for Eastconn. She served on these two boards simultaneously for almost a decade. She also served on the executive committee for the Woodstock Academy Board of Education. she was also raised her two sons in the community, both attending a local schools. Hers is an outstanding record of hard work and achievement.

Pamela Lewerenz is a candidate for the board of selectmen. She is a 40 year resident of the town. She has five children and five grandchildren. Pam was a volunteer for both boys and girls scouts and served as the treasurer of the Abington social library. She worked in the Pomfret Tax collectors office for more of than a decade and is currently The owner operator of her own accounting firm, obviously, her financial literacy will be very important in these times of tight budgets.

I am proud to endorse these two outstanding, capable and the competent individuals for these important local offices.

Cerrone supports DiIorio, May, and Grossman for Pomfret Board of Education

To the editor:

I have had the privilege of serving the Town of Pomfret on the Board of Education since 2005, now as Chair since 2016. Among the excellent candidates agreeing to put their names on the ballot this year is Sara DiIorio. Sara has been a mainstay in civic leadership in Pomfret since 1997. She has served on the Library Board, volunteers at the Audubon Society and is a Board Member of the Performing Arts of Northeast Connecticut, in addition to being a Pomfret BOE member since 2013. Sara brings her knowledge and experience as an educator, holding a BA in Early Childhood Education and a Masters in Special Education. Sara is one of the hardest working members of the board, which is reflected in her engagement with community members, communication skills, preparation, attendance at meetings, and committee participation. She is Chair of the Policy Committee, and has spent many hours on this committee and many Negotiation Committees over the years. Pomfret has a great asset in Sara DiIorio on the BOE and we should keep her come November!

Also on the Democratic ballot for BOE are Leigh Grossman and incumbent Valerie May, both with experience in education, who also have my full support. Running for BOF are exceptional candidates Dana Flath and incumbent Deb Thompson. The Nicholson/McCarthy team is outstanding from top to bottom. Pomfret is fortunate to have such excellent candidates and I encourage you to take this campaign season to get to know them all and vote for all on the top line of the November 7th ballot to put Pomfret back on track.

Adjusting to life financially after a divorce

There's no doubt about it — going through a divorce can be an emotionally trying time. Ironing out a divorce settlement, attending various court hearings, and dealing with competing attorneys can all weigh heavily on the parties involved. It is an unfortunate circumstance, but unfortunately, it is a reality for some.

In addition to the emotional impact a divorce can have, it's important to be aware of how your financial position will be impacted. Now, more than ever, you need to make sure that your finances are on the right track. You will then be able to put the past behind you and set in place the building blocks that can be the foundation for your new financial future.

Establish a budget
A good place to start is to establish a budget that reflects your current monthly income and expenses. In addition to your regular salary and wages, be sure to include other types of income, such as dividends and interest. If you will be receiving alimony and/or child support, you'll want to include those payments as well. But it may be important to realize your situation and what things you will and will not be paying for.

As for expenses, you'll want to focus on dividing them into two categories: fixed and discretionary. Fixed expenses include things like housing, food, and transportation. Discretionary expenses include things like entertainment, vacations, etc. Keep in mind that you may need to cut back on some of your discretionary expenses until you adjust to living on less income. However, it's important not to deprive yourself entirely of any enjoyment. You'll want to build the occasional reward (for example, yoga class, dinner with friends) into your budget.

Your next step should be to reevaluate your financial goals. While you were married, you may have set certain financial goals with your spouse. Now that you are on your own, these goals may have changed, therefore your budget may need to account for this. Start out by making a list of the things that you now would like to achieve. Do you need to put more money towards retirement? Are you interested in going back to school? Would you like to save for a new home?

Take control of your debt
While you're adjusting to your new budget, be sure that you take control of your debt and credit. You should try to avoid the temptation to rely on credit cards to provide extras. And if you do have debt, try to put a plan in place to pay it off as quickly as possible. You may want to track balances and interest rates then develop a plan to manage payments and avoid late fees.

Protect/establish credit
Since divorce can have a negative impact on your credit rating, consider taking steps to try to protect your credit record and/or establish credit in your own name. A positive credit history is important since it will allow you to obtain credit when you need it, and at a lower interest rate. Good credit is even sometimes viewed by employers as a prerequisite for employment.

Review your credit report and check it for any inaccuracies. Are there joint accounts that have been

What was going on in Killingly 150 years ago

Do you ever think about what life was like for your relatives who lived long ago? I thought I would begin this week’s column by glancing back at what was happening in Killingly one hundred fifty years ago in 1867. The end of the Civil War had brought new life to the Borough and outlying villages and many changes were under way. On High Street in Dayville, Alexander Blanchard was erecting “a spacious two-story house, for tenements.” The Attawaugan Manufacturing Company was erecting a two-family tenement house. The lot presently occupied by Killingly Memorial School, known in that day and age as the “Hutchins Place” was being greatly improved by Joseph D. Bates, Esq. “Mr. Bates is setting out trees, laying out drives and walks, a croquet lawn, artificial ponds, and when the grounds are all finished he will have a delightful spot upon which to build a fine residence” (Windham County Transcript 5/8/1867). Many of you older readers may remember Joseph Bates’s stately home as the Kingswood Inn. For photos of the exterior and an interior room see Images of America Killingly by Natalie L. Coolidge and Robert A. Spencer, p.28.

While reading the Transcript tidbits I came across a notice of the death of one of Killingly’s early millowners, Jedediah Leavens, Esq. of Norwich. The Transcript had extracted the article from the Bulletin. “Jedediah Leavens died at his residence in this city, (Norwich) at twenty minutes of 3 o’clock, Tuesday afternoon, aged sixty-four. He wat about on Wednesday of last week, but stayed at home on the 4th complaining of pain in his face, which he supposed was occasioned by his teeth, but a day or two later he was so ill that a physician was sent for, who pronounced it a case of malignant typhoid fever...Mr. Leavens was born in Killingly, and was engaged in manufacturing in Chestnut Hill, in that town in early life, and at one time represented his town in the Legislature. Some thirty years ago he removed to Norwich, and went into business with J. M. Huntington, their business being the sale of supplies for manufactories. He left this business to engage in manufacturing again, and for many years has been largely interested in J. Leavens & Sons cotton mill at Packersville and the Whitestone Mill at Killingly, of which he was general agent. Mr. Leavens was an active member of the Broadway Church, and has been one of its deacons ever since its organization... (WCT 4/11/1867).

Apparently 1867 was a time of temperance in Killingly as a number of the individuals running hotels and inns were fined for selling liquor (WCT 9/19/1867). No mention was made of the made patrons they must have had.

Dayville was flourishing, partially because “most of the villages on the Five Mile and Whitestone (Whetstone) streams do their business at Dayville.” The railroad depot of the Norwich and Worcester Railroad Company in Dayville was considered better than that at many points. (WCT 11/7/1867).

In a series of articles about mill villages in Windham County, Attawaugan was “one of the neatest, most quiet, orderly and moral factory in New England...The mill is a new brick building (still standing), occupying the site of a small wooden mill known as Weatherhead’s ...The mill contains 200 looms with preparation, and production weekly 13,500 yards of 40 inch goods for bleaching, 9000 yards of a lighter 39 inch cloth and 6,500 yards of 40 inch twilled goods, which are colored for tailors’ use. The cloth is sold in New York, but in the present state of the markets, quotations are entirely unreliable. Lorenzo Blackstone, Esq.--the popular Mayor of Norwich--is the largest owner in the Company and Agent for this and the other mills of the company on the Five Mile River...The present village consists of 33 tenements, mostly new, and with the neat picket fences enclosing them are as white as paint can make them...One hundred twenty-five hands are employed by the company.

“A few rods below the factory are the Saw, Shingle, Grist, and flouring mills of A. Bassett, with two run of stones and bolts. This mill is the most complete in its fittings for flouring purposes of any in the County.” (WCT 11/21/1867). James Bracken did blacksmithing at “at the shop adjacent to the Attawaugan Grain and Flour Mills.”

I showed Killingly Historical Society vice-president Bernie Mitchell the above paragraphs since he lives on the Five Mile River right below the Attawaugan mill. Using maps of Killingly (Woodford’s 1855 map of Windham County and Gray’s map from 1869), he quickly pointed out that the road to Alexander’s Lake at the stoplight at Route 12 was not the same as it is now. Instead it cut across closer to Church Street in Attawaugan. Also, the canal from the Five Mile River to Alexander’s Lake did not appear on the 1855 map but did in 1869. Obviously there were many changes in Killingly that I have not given much thought to. I’ll have to do more reading and research to this post-Civil War era.

To establish a good track record with creditors, be sure to make your monthly bill payments on time and try to avoid having too many credit inquiries on your report. Such inquiries are made every time you apply for new credit cards.

Review your insurance needs

Typically, insurance coverage for one or both spouses is negotiated as part of a divorce settlement. However, you may have additional insurance needs that go beyond that which you were able to obtain through your divorce settlement.

When it comes to health insurance, make having adequate coverage a priority. Unless your divorce settlement requires your spouse to provide you with health coverage, one option is to obtain temporary health insurance coverage (up to 36 months) through the Consolidated Omnibus Budget Reconciliation Act (COBRA). You can also consider purchasing individual coverage or, if you’re employed, coverage through your employer.

Change your beneficiary designations

After a divorce, you’ll want to change the beneficiary designations on any life insurance policies, retirement accounts, and bank or credit union accounts you may have in place. Keep in mind that a divorce settlement may require you to keep a former spouse as a beneficiary on a policy, in which case you cannot change the beneficiary designation. This also includes changes to your will and updating your new status.

Life can be full of the unexpected, and planning for the unplanned events in life can be overwhelming because, of course, they were not planned. Taking one step at a time, prioritizing your needs, and Planning Well may alleviate these pressures and re-route you towards the goals you wish to accomplish.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

What would war with North Korea look like?

To the editor:

Were you born after 1975? If so, chances are that you have little knowledge of the dangers of nuclear weapons. You probably remember little about the the Cold War, and have had little reason to be concerned about nuclear war.

But now it is time for a cram course, because some experts now fear that the chance of a nuclear war in Korea is about 10 percent.

Experts think the chances are slim that a war in Korea can be kept limited, even if the United States starts with very limited strikes. Kim Jong-un or his successors will respond with the use of their 11,000 artillery units against the city of Seoul. One estimate is that that could kill 20,000 people a day, and that a prolonged conventional war would kill between 500,000 and 1,000,000 people. And it is possible that Kim Jong-un would use chemical and biological weapons as well.

President Trump has said that in such a case he would totally destroy North Korea, i.e. he would use nuclear weapons. He could use tens or perhaps hundreds of bombs of various sizes.

North Korea would surely use all its estimated 20 to 60 nuclear weapons that it can, whether in a first strike or at the instant it sees the US attacking it. Some of their bombs are the size of the bomb dropped on Nagasaki, others may be larger, and they now seem to have a hydrogen weapon that can fit on a missile.

The effect of a nuclear bomb varies greatly depending on its size and design, the height at which it’s detonated, and its target. You can see a vast range of simulations at Nuclearsecrecy.com/nukemap . In all cases, at the fireball, hotter than the sun, everyone would be vaporized. The heat would radiate further out, killing people with burns. The hurricane-force winds could cause firestorms in areas with wooden buildings. The blast would send a shock wave radiating out for a considerable distance, destroying buildings. At a distance people will receive levels of radiation which will cause them to die of radiation sickness, or to die eventually of cancers. The electromagnetic pulse would destroy unshielded electronics and communications. The radioactive dust that is carried by the wind will fall out, causing death and sicknesses for substantial numbers of people downwind. The smoke would block sunlight, causing crop failures.

One war-gaming simulation estimated that eight million people would die, not including delayed deaths. Long-term, many of the hundred thousand American soldiers and civilians in Korea would die. There are 74 million Koreans on the peninsula, and those who survive quick death would face lingering deaths due to radiation sickness, starvation, and chaos. (Please remember that the vast majority of those humans are people with whom we have no grievance.)

Kim Jong-un is likely to try to send missiles to Guam and or Northwestern United States. If successful, they would have the same consequences on our soil that would have been experienced in Korea.

China has said that they would enter the war if we tried to change the North Korean regime. So then we would have a faceoff between two nuclear superpowers. And Russia might enter the war. Restraint would be difficult. Things could escalate. All for what?

In a resulting World War III, billions would die. The environment would be poisoned. The ozone layer would be depleted, exposing life to extra ultraviolet rays. A nuclear winter from the smoke could last for 5 to 25 years. Billions would starve. Civilization would be set back centuries. And you? Your family? The prospects are not good.

Of course there are countless variations on such scenarios. But war-gamers have found that no scenario is a good one. We do not have a good military option. We must negotiate.

So please call Congressman Courtney and Senators Murphy and Blumenthal. Demand that they do all they can to prevent nuclear war. Ask them to support laws that restrict a president from launching a preemptive first nuclear strike. Call 1-844-USA-0234.

Baldwin supports Donna Smith

To the editor:

I have had the pleasure of serving on the Pomfret Board of Selectmen with Donna Smith for the past two years. As the First Selectman, I have observed Donna’s creative thinking and collaborative approach to problem solving. She is always willing and able to make time to serve our Town in several additional capacities such as accepting appointment to the Northeast Connecticut District Department of Health’s executive board and acting as the Board of Selectmen liaison to the Agricultural Commission.

Many of you may remember Donna’s sustained commitment to a strong and vibrant Pomfret education system having served as an elected member of the Board of Education, appointed member of the Woodstock Academy Board of Trustees and our regional education resource center’s EASTCONN Executive Board, As a First Selectman, her hands-on experience with and knowledge of the many education partners that comprise our education system will serve our town well as we move into an increasingly austere State fiscal climate.

Donna is a successful entrepreneur with a keen understanding of cost-value propositions. As a Town, we could not ask for a more qualified person to find that difficult balance between provided government services, their costs and the impacts on us as taxpayers.

Donna has demonstrated she cares about Pomfret and its future. She is a collaborative and creative problem solver. She possesses the right mix of knowledge, skills and experience to lead Pomfret to a bright future. It is with the utmost confidence and assuredness in her leadership that I strongly endorse her for First Selectman.

Putnam honors WWII and Korean War vets

PUTNAM — An overflow crowd of more than 100 veterans, family and friends squeezed into The Crossings Restaurant on Wednesday, Oct. 4, to honor 21 of the 31 veterans whose photos grace the “Hometown Hero” banners displayed throughout Putnam. The program, organized by the Mayotte-Viens American Legion Post #13 of Putnam was the culmination of months of work by Post members in cooperation with the Town of Putnam Recreation Department.

The program opened with the presentation of the colors by Post #13 Honor Guard members Alan Joslin and Charlie Leach. Following the recitation of the Pledge of Allegiance by those present, Donald Steinbrick, Post Chaplain Emeritus offered a prayer.

Post Commander Ronald P. Coderre, who served as Master of Ceremonies for the program offered a brief welcome followed by greetings from the Town of Putnam by Mayor Tony Falzarano.

In his welcoming speech, Commander Coderre thanked the honored veterans for their service and willingness to be part of the “Hometown Hero” project. He also recognized all veterans in attendance. He noted that wherever and whenever a veteran served or is serving, they did so willingly, following orders and with respect for the flag of the United States of America.

“These veterans did not kneel in the presence of the flag,” said Coderre in reference to the recent display by many of the current day professional athletes.

Hometown hero veterans gather on Oct. 4

“I’m so proud of the men and women we honored today. Their service to our country can never and must never be forgotten. They are part of the reason we enjoy the freedom that is present in our country today. I’m also very proud of the men and women of Post #13, who work collaboratively in providing programs and services throughout the greater Putnam area.”

All of the veterans present were recognized individually with a professionally produced replica of their banner, which hangs in downtown Putnam. In addition the Post honored Putnam recreation director Willie Bousquet for his assistance in seeing this project to its successful end. American Legion Certificate of Appreciation was also presented to Chase Graphics, who designed and produced the banners and to The Crossings Restaurant for their support of the program. Chase Graphics was represented by company owners Jim and Deb St. Jean along with designer Kathy Guertin and sales rep Jennifer Beckett. Owners Jim Guillot and Sean Sullivan along with manager Keith Barnes were present from The Crossings. The banners, which were raised just prior to Labor Day, will remain on display throughout October and until shortly following Veterans Day in November.

Fashion exhibit at Woodstock History Society

WOODSTOCK — The “I Love What You’re Wearing” exhibition has been extended to Dec. 30 at Woodstock Historical Society. The fabulous creations of Dyllis Schlosser Braithwaite currently on view at the Woodstock Historical Society will remain on exhibition until the end of the year. Sixty-five imaginative outfits by this textile artist are on display representing the work of forty years. The exhibition is free and open to the public Sunday afternoons from noon to 4 p.m. and by appointment. Schools, textile art classes, crafters, and other groups are encouraged to make special arrangements to view this unique show. For information, please contact (860) 928-1035. The Woodstock Historical Society is located at 523 Route 169, in Woodstock.

Also, the “I Love What You’re Wearing Program and Gallery Walk” is scheduled for 3 p.m. on Oct. 21, on that date University of Connecticut Professor of Costume Design Laura Crow will present a special talk on her friend Dyllis Schlosser Braithwaite. Ms. Crow curated the initial UConn exhibition of Mrs. Braithwaite’s work that appeared at the Windham Textile and History Museum in Willimantic. She will discuss Dyllis’ styles and techniques and then lead a gallery walk to focus on individual garments. This program is free to the public and takes place in Palmer Memorial Hall, the Woodstock Historical Society.

Woodstock church solicits donations for hurricane victims

WOODSTOCK — The First Congregational Church of Woodstock, in partnership with Church World Service, is collecting emergency relief supplies to help victims of hurricanes in Texas, Florida, and Puerto Rico. Over 100,000 CWS Hygiene Kits and Emergency Cleanup Buckets have already been mobilized by CWS.

According to the CWS’s website, Emergency Cleanup Buckets mean critical supplies for families who are reentering their homes. We have an URGENT need for kits.” Individuals, families, organizations and area businesses are invited to participate.

Donations will go to people in need regardless of faith or religious affiliation. “CWS Kits are small packages of supplies assembled by volunteers and shipped to families and communities in need around the world. You can gather with friends in your community to assemble kits or buckets.” The First Congregational Church of Woodstock will handle all shipping and processing fees.

Cleanup bucket supplies can be dropped off at the First Congregational Church of Woodstock at 543 Route 169, Woodstock, weekday mornings from 8 a.m. to noon, Sundays at 11 a.m. or by appointment (860) 963-0288. The drive will continue through Nov. 5.

Needed supplies for each cleanup bucket include: One five-gallon bucket with resealable lid (If bucket has been used, clean well but do not use if it has held chemicals of any kind.); four scouring pads; Seven sponges, including one large; One scrub brush; Eighteen reusable cleaning towels (e.g. Easy Wipes); One 50 oz. or two 25 oz. bottle(s) of liquid laundry detergent; One 16-28 oz. bottle of liquid disinfectant dish soap; One 12-16 oz. bottle of household cleaner that can be mixed with water (no spray bottles); One package of 48-50 clothespins; Clothesline, two 50 ft. or one 100 ft.; Five dust masks; Two pairs non-surgical, non-latex gloves; One pair work gloves, cotton with leather palm or all leather; 24-28 heavy duty or contractor type 30-45-gallon trash bags on a roll and removed from carton; One 6-9 oz. bottle of non-aerosol insect repellent.

All cleaning items must be new – all liquid items must be capped and securely tightened. You can donate supplies or, monetary donations are always welcome. You can partner with friends or family to create complete buckets.

“It’s a perfect opportunity to teach our children, in a tangible way, about helping others in need,” said Bev Brazeal, Board of Outreach co-chair. “We thank you for whatever donations you feel moved to make.”

The Rev. Jocelyn Gardner Spencer, pastor of First Congregational Church of Woodstock, said “Our faith teaches us that every human being is a child of God, that we are all kin in God’s family. So, whenever people anywhere are suffering, we are called to help, just as we would for our parents, siblings, or children. Donating emergency cleanup buckets is a tangible way to put into practice God’s call to love our neighbors as ourselves.”

Art show at Pomfret Historical Society

“Cat,” by Richard Landry.

POMFRET — “Fall Colors” welcomed artists from all over northeastern Connecticut, encouraging them to share their art — in the form of finished pieces and live demonstrations — at the Pomfret Historical Society building. With paintings, drawings, sculptures, jewelry and photographs by NECTAG artists, there was an endless supply of art to admire.

Murals are Krivacs specialty

Artist Tom Krivacs shows customers how different his paintings look under a black light.

NEWS STAFF WRITER

PUTNAM — The Sochar Gallery at Arts & Framing in downtown Putnam welcomed back Springfield artist Tom Krivacs. With a brand new and totally different collection, Krivacs’ space-themed murals were a huge hit with anyone who attended the reception. In fact, he sold a few pieces within the first night of his new exhibit. Usually a professional painter who does large murals, Krivacs came across this new art form when a customer brought it to his attention. After purchasing a new home, a customer asked Krivacs if he would do a celestial sky ceiling mural for his two children. Although Krivacs had no idea how to do it at the time, he agreed. He immediately went to YouTube and Google, researching artists who often did space themed murals. He found how-to videos and instructional articles. But it was the art he saw that truly inspired him. “There’s amazing work out there,” Krivacs said. “It blows me away. It inspires me to try harder. I can’t believe some of the stuff I’ve seen. It’s crazy. Walls that look totally different in day and night. In the morning it’s just a cave scene. At night, you see the stars and planets surrounding the landscape.” With these unique scenes in his mind, Krivacs began to create glow-in-the-dark paintings that appeared different under a black light. The space-themed abstract pieces became a new obsession for Krivacs. “I think it’s the excitement of the color,” he said. “It’s magic paint. It’s just as magic to me when I’m working on it. Something you see under the black light, you won’t see under natural light. Just as magical to me as the person viewing it. It’s all trial and error.” The photos that Krivacs often studies are pictures that have come back from the Hubble Telescope. “It’s so inspiring,” said Krivacs. “Because the colors and images are just endless. Like outer space itself. In my head I have endless ideas. And I get to put them on canvas and watch them develop as I work on them.” But while he does get inspired by photos’ colors, most of his work is not started from a picture he has seen. Krivacs stated that “space is endless,” so he can create his “own image of space.” The paintings are his idea of what may be out there. “It’s what I see when I’m soaring,” he said. For someone so fascinated by space images, it may come as a surprise that Krivacs has no interest in space itself. He has no hope of going up into space. He would never want to go to the moon or to Mars. In fact, Krivacs doesn’t even like cruise ships all that much. “I like my feet on the ground.” This may be because Krivacs once fell from a roof while painting, a tragic accident that ended up with him waking up with a new found passion: Creative painting. It was a skill he once knew nothing about. Now, Krivacs is always painting and always trying new art styles. “It’s the freedom of painting,” he said. “It’s the freedom to create whatever I want to create. It’s my escape from the real world.” For Krivacs, his mediums are always changing. And when he sees something he wants to try he just goes for it. He said: “I immerse myself in it.” Olivia Richman may be reached at (860) 928-1818, ext. 112 or by e-mail at olivia@stonebridgepress.com

Davis is Putnam Bank Employee of the Month

PUTNAM — Alyson Davis was named Putnam Bank’s Employee of the Month for September. Davis has been with the bank since October 2001, and is currently the CSR Supervisor at the Main Office in Putnam. “I’m honored and grateful to receive this award. You’re only as good as the people around you and I’m fortunate to be part of a great team. While I appreciate the individual recognition, this could easily be a team award,” Davis said. Davis is an avid runner and active in the community having participated in the Walk & Run for NECT Cancer Fund, Northeast Opportunities for Wellness 3.5ish Mile Road Race, and Quinebaug

Alyson Davis

Valley Community College Foundation Tackle the Trail. She lives in Putnam with her sons, Elijah and CJ. “Aly is a highly competent, caring, and enthusiastic employee of Putnam Bank, and I’m not at all surprised that she received such glowing reviews from staff and customers alike. She excels in her position. She demonstrates excellent customer service and still finds the time to participate in community activities which is at the core of Putnam Bank’s mission,” said Thomas Borner, Putnam Bank President & CEO.

Death By Fatal Murder at the Bradley Playhouse

PUTNAM — The Theatre of Northeastern Connecticut at The Bradley Playhouse is currently presenting “Death by Fatal Murder”, a murder mystery/comedy thriller which runs Oct. 13, 14, 20 and 21 at 7:30 pm and Oct. 15 and 22 at 2 p.m. Death by Fatal Murder was written by Peter Gordon, who has a well-earned reputation for his comedies in which chaos and confusion arise out of everyday situations. The play is a spoof on Agatha Christie’s well-known murder mysteries. All this leads to an evening that will keep you guessing and laughing as you and Inspector Pratt try to solve the murder. The action takes place in a British country manor in 1940. One of the local constables is missing and the bumbling Inspector Pratt is determined to discover what happened to him. Throw in a cast of eccentric characters, an unexpected arrival and a spooky séance and you won’t know if you should be on the edge of your seat or rolling in the aisle. The TNECT production of Death By Fatal Murder is Co-directed by Kathy Parker and Jennifer Briere, who also plays Nancy Allwright, the owner of the manor. J. Matthew Bailey appears as the clueless Inspector Pratt who is assisted by Inspector Thomkins, played by Kyle Rictor. Other characters include Miss Joan Maple, the local amateur sleuth (think Agatha Christie’s Miss Marple) played by Bonnie Theriault, and upper crust farmer Ginny Farquhar who is portrayed by Larissa Bailey. Natasha Darius is the clairvoyant Blodwyn

Morgan and Jonathan Demers appears as the skirt chasing Enzo Garibaldi. Squadron Leader Roger Allwright played by Roy Simmons and Gary Kobza as Constable Atkins complete the cast. Kyle Rictor, who appears on the Bradley stage for the first time, is actually an accomplished musician who just moved here from Nashville, TN. He has been an independent musician for ten years and won a Grammy for songwriting in 2015. Over 50 of his songs have been featured in film and television. The Bradley Playhouse is located at 30 Front Street (Route 44) in Putnam. For more information call (860) 928-7887 or visit www.thebradley-playhouse.org

PB Bancorp announces increased dividend

PUTNAM — Thomas A. Borner, President and CEO of PB Bancorp, Inc., has announced that the Company’s Board of Directors has declared a quarterly cash dividend on the Company’s common stock of $0.05 per share. The dividend will be payable to all stockholders of record as of Oct. 18, 2017, and is scheduled to be paid on November 1, 2017. “We are pleased to announce this latest dividend payment for the Holding Company” said Borner. “We believe that providing a return to our stockholders is an important part of being a community bank. We look forward to continuing to build our brand of community banking, a journey we embarked upon 155 years ago, and serving our mission of enhancing the quality of life in the communities we serve”. PB Bancorp, Inc., headquartered in Putnam, is the parent of Putnam Bank, a state chartered stock savings bank founded in 1862. The bank offers a wide range of financial services through its eight full-service offices. Putnam Bank also operates a full-service loan center in Putnam, Connecticut. The Bank’s deposits are insured by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation. PB Bancorp, Inc.’s common stock trades on the NASDAQ Capital Market under the symbol PBBI.

Buell’s Orchard Harvest Festival

EASTFORD — A little rain didn’t stop families from attending Buell’s Orchard’s Harvest Festival over Columbus Day weekend. On Saturday and Monday they welcomed the community to free hay rides and live music. There was also free donut and cider samples. People could also pick their own apples or pumpkins, or enjoy a chicken BBQ lunch. It was the perfect way to spend a long weekend, rain or shine.

Fiddler and composer Andy Reiner provided some fun and light-hearted entertainment.

Sam Ziegler getting his face painted by Theresa Lacasse; The face profits from the face painting went towards Child Voice International, a non-profit that helps struggling families in Africa.

The Harvest Festival included free hayrides to and from their pumpkin patch.

Author Billy Steers said his Tractor Mike series started off as bedtime stories he told his children when they were little.

BEADS

Why are you so addicted to beads?

“They’re gorgeous. They’re fascinating. They’re just amazing. They’re beautiful. They’re glitzy. They can be anything. I just love them. The color combinations... You have to look to your artistic side... I just love them.”

It’s something you can’t really describe. You’re just drawn to it.

“Yes. Oh, yeah. I’m wearing all of my stuff right now! I’m wearing all denim lapis right now because I’m wearing denim today. It’s not boring. Plain sterling silver, I love it. But, you know, it can get boring. You want to put a little color in your life.”

What is your favorite jewelry to make? Is there a certain style or type of jewelry?

“There are so many stitches and weaves... There are so many ways you can do beading. So many methods. You need to learn all of those methods and designs before you can really execute it. It’s a learning process. Like these bracelets are the same design essentially, but you have to choose your colors, your size... One is larger. One is more embellished... I learn by doing.”

So you like to do as many styles as you can and try every style you see, it sounds like.

“I’ll try anything and everything at least once. I’ll keep doing it with variations on it if I like it.”

What type of jewelry do you like most?

“I think I like earrings best.”

Why is that?

“They can be done quickly. There are so many possibilities. I had surgery in 2006. I was spending a lot of time in bed, post-op. I must have made about 150 pairs of earrings. I like anything I can do in bed.”

It sounds like it really kept you positive.

“It keeps your minds off of your problems. It’s like painting. You lose yourself. Painters talk about getting into the zone... Well, that’s an important part of the artistic flow of things – getting into that zone – no matter what the art form is. I’ve always been creative...”

How long have you been painting?

“Seriously, for the last 25 years.”

What got you into painting?

“My husband and I built a new home. We added a bonus room over the garage. He took over the cellar for his wood working. I took over that room over the garage for my studio. So I have a dedicated area for doing some serious stuff.”

What do you like to paint? What is your inspiration?

“Anything. Anything. Anything and everything.”

What is your favorite painting you’ve done?

“My favorite painting I did after my youngest sister died. She was killed in an automobile accident. I have another sister. So I did a semi-abstract painting with a collage with three crows. Two sister crows on what looked like a collaged headstone. And one sister flying away. That’s my favorite painting.”

Wow. It sounds like you were really able to describe your feelings through this piece.

“Oh yeah. It’s self-expression. You want to express something without using words. Sometimes you just don’t want to. If something hurts so bad... I don’t know about other people, but I have a tendency to hold things in. It’s not healthy to not have an outlet. If I can go in to the studio and throw paint around according to my mood... It’s a release. When you’re in the zone, everything in the world – all the crap in the world – melts away. It’s gone temporarily. It’s such a relief.

It’s a refuge from the world.”

When you’re not painting or making jewelry, what do you like to spend time doing?

“I like spending time with my grandchildren. They have football games, basketball games... I just like when they stay overnight and we can watch movies together. I also like cooking. I like cooking for my family. And I like to go visit my family in Vermont.”

It sounds like you’re very family-oriented. Do you have any advice for anyone looking to get into jewelry making?

“Nothing ventured, nothing gained.”

Simple, but true.

“If you don’t try it, how do you know if you like it or not? Everyone starts off somewhere.”

A day of peace

BY OLIVIA RICHMAN
NEWS STAFF WRITER

PUTNAM — “May Peace Prevail on Earth.” Over two dozen community members of several faiths gathered at the Daughters of the Holy Spirit auditorium on Sep. 24 to celebrate the International Day of Peace, sponsored by the Greater Putnam Interfaith Council.

It was a tradition that began ten years ago to “recognize peace, starting with yourself and within your community,” said Interfaith Council member Lyn Tolar. “That builds into peace for the nation, and then the world.” The keynote speech at Peace Day was given by Methodist Pastor Reverend Bob Song Bok Jon. It was a speech that discussed the beginnings of the United Nations’ Peace Day back in 1891. A day to promote peace within and between people. He concluded: “We are all God’s children... may our work for peace and justice continue.”

The thirty or so attendees then did some singing and prayers that represented the religions and beliefs that were present: Judaism, Muslim, Christian, Bah’i and Unitarian Universalist.

“It brings unity,” said Tolar. “It shows that everyone of all different faith groups have a core essence of believing in peace. We believe in peace. We believe in justice for all. There’s more that unifies us than what brings us apart. There’s more unity than disunity.”

The members of the Greater Putnam Interfaith Council and beyond expressed that all of the negativity in the world has made Peace Day even more relevant. And it’s given the attendees more to talk about.

“But we aren’t political,” said Tolar. “Peace Day is a safe space for everyone. With the world the way it is today, there is a lot of feeling of division between groups. But in reality, there isn’t. There’s so much more that unifies us. It’s important for us to recognize that and change that discussion and that dialogue going on.”

It was also a place for people to learn more about other religions, faiths and ethnicities. A lot of times it’s the unknown that makes people wary of each other. So Peace Day ended up being very eye opening for some attendees.

“We had someone present from a Muslim background and Islamic faith. What he had to say was so comforting to them. He talked about Islam being based on peace. And justice. That changed their attitude,” said Tolar. “They actually saw someone from Islamic faith who was very open, very genuine. They really liked him.”

The ceremony ended with the group singing “Let There Be Peace on Earth,” followed by a Native American meditative walk on the outside grounds.

Quinebaug Valley rallies for fallen teammate

Charlie Lentz photo

Quinebaug Valley's Will McGlynn rushes against Platt Tech last Friday in Milford. McGlynn ran for 201 yards and two touchdowns.

BY CHARLIE LENTZ
VILLAGER EDITOR

MILFORD — It was a quiet walk to the team bus before the long trip home last Friday night. There was no raucous celebration for the Quinebaug Valley Pride following a 34-29 comeback victory over Platt Tech at DeVito Sports Complex. The Pride rallied on a 15-yard touchdown pass with just one minute and 16 seconds left but that seemed far from their minds as they prepared for the two-hour trip home.

Jamie Talbot caught that game-winning pass on fourth-and-five from Platt Tech’s 15-yard line. The junior receiver was in no mood for revelry as he stood near the 50-yard line following the dramatic seesaw finish — the lead changed hands four times in the fourth quarter. Tears slowly rolled down Talbot’s cheeks as he spoke of what mattered more than any win on any football field. His voice wavered as he remembered teammate Jonas Poirier — who died unexpectedly six days earlier.

“We were all thinking about Jonas. We had just lost a player through accidental death,” Talbot said. “We were all thinking about him.”

Despite their heavy hearts Quinebaug Valley managed to build a 20-7 halftime lead — but Talbot cautioned his teammates to stay focused.

“I told everyone at halftime that we had to keep our minds straight,” Talbot said. “And we had to win for Jonas.”

Talbot’s advice was prophetic — victory was in doubt as the Panthers clawed back. Quinebaug Valley took a 20-14 lead into the fourth quarter but Platt Tech senior quarterback Keenan Little (14 carries for 141 yards) rushed two yards for a touchdown, and following the extra point Platt Tech took its first lead of the game, 21-20, with 9:43 remaining. Talbot answered on the ensuing kickoff, racing 77 yards for a touchdown — and Will McGlynn rushed for the two-point conversion as the Pride regained the lead, 28-21, with 9:29 left. The Panthers fought back on a five-yard touchdown run from Dan Benjamin — and then Little rushed for the conversion to put Platt Tech up 29-28 with 8:19 left.

With time running out and Quinebaug Valley still trailing by one point, the Pride were down to one last chance on fourth-and-five from Platt Tech’s 15-yard line — Talbot and junior quarterback Josh Dodd saw an opening and improvised.

“We didn’t plan that slant route,” Talbot said. “It was an audible.”

Dodd (14-of-21 for 142 yards and two touchdowns with one interception) exploited the Panthers defense on his last toss of the game. Eleven players huddled as one before the game-winning touchdown. A final throw for a fallen teammate.

“We had an ulterior motive. It’s all for Jonas. We said let’s get this no matter what. No matter what the deficit is,” Dodd said. “There was a hole in the defense, all game we’d been hitting flats. Over the middle was open so I called a simple spot route and it worked out for us in the end. This one’s for Jonas. This is all for Jonas. He’s watching down on us and I know he’s smiling right now.”

Quinebaug Valley coach Joe Asermelly said Dodd was unflappable despite the pressure on fourth down with the game on the line.

“(Dodd) is the most poised junior I’ve ever coached. He is just Joe Cool in there. And throughout the game, every time I looked up at the sideline, he had a steady confidence about him,” Asermelly said. “Obviously this was a seesaw game and I felt like he was the emotional steady that our offense needed. He gave our guys great opportunities in clutch situations. He’s a clutch kid.”

The loss dropped Platt Tech’s record to 1-4. The Pride won their second-straight game to lift their record to 2-2. Quinebaug Valley is next scheduled to play host to Prince Tech (3-0) on Friday, Oct. 13, with kickoff set for 5:30 p.m. at Ellis Tech. Before the long bus ride home from Milford last Friday night, a somber football coach paused to remember a freshman who would have appreciated a perfect game-winning throw.

“Jonas Poirier passed away Saturday night. He was a wide receiver. He was loved and respected by everybody in that locker room. He was a great kid,” Asermelly said. “I just think that Jonas Poirier is as responsible for the win as anybody on the field tonight. He’s a special kid. I feel like his spirit was with us tonight.”

Talbot was all alone as he caught Dodd’s pass near the 5-yard line and then raced to the end zone untouched — perhaps he had some company as he crossed the goal line.

“Jonas was the first thing on my mind,” Talbot said “I know he was up there looking down at us.”

Woodstock girls cruising toward the postseason

BY CHARLIE LENTZ
VILLAGER EDITOR

WOODSTOCK — It was another dominating victory for the Woodstock Academy girls soccer team in a 2-0 win over Killingly High on Oct. 4. The Centaurs outshot the Redgals 27-0 and lifted their record to 8-2 through 10 games.

“We’re getting better every day, it seems like,” said Woodstock coach Dennis Snelling.

Woodstock appears poised for another strong run in both the Eastern Connecticut Conference Tournament and the Class L state tournament. It’s business as usual this season. Woodstock was ranked seventh in the state in Class L after 10 games. If the Centaurs retain that ranking that would set them up well for the state tourney, likely giving them a first-round game at home and if the win that one, another home game in the second round.

“We’ll get a get a home game first and a home game second if it comes to that,” Snelling said. “We’re tied for first in our league (ECC) so we’re doing all the right things. Of course it’s nice to win every game but it’s good to learn from the losses, move forward, and get better.”

The Centaurs returned 17 players from last season’s team. Last fall Woodstock finished 13-2-2 and won the Eastern Connecticut Conference Division II title. The Centaurs have been stingy on defense and that’s one of their strong-points.

“I have to say that the defense, that they allow three shots a game, allowing zero today,” Snelling said.

Woodstock notched seven shutouts through its first 10 games — its only defeats over that span were a 3-0 loss to Waterford on Sept. 18 and a 3-0 loss to East Lyme on Sept. 25.

Freshman center back Brynn Kusnarowis has been a solid defender. Kusnarowis and Emma Redfield each scored one goal in the win over Killingly on Oct. 4.

“(Kusnarowis) kind of anchors it from the center position,” Snelling said.

Senior defender Olivia Perry, senior Kennedy Davignon, and sophomore Hallie Saracina have been key cogs on defense as well.

“Olivia is the captain on the backline, she leads vocally in the back,” Snelling said. “And Hallie Saracina and Kennedy (Davignon) plays a good defensive midfield. We just constantly have the ball. So we won’t lose many games if we always have the ball. It’s just we just need to score more.”

Perhaps the key down the stretch and in the postseason will be the ability to take advantage of scoring opportunities.

“We need to get more confident shots off,” Snelling said. “A lot of our shots are less than full power. It’s a confidence thing, after so many games where you’re not scoring as many as you think you should, of course it’s in your head. We practice it every day. It’s just one thing we need to be better at.”

Woodstock is next scheduled to play at Stonington High School on Saturday, Oct. 14, with kickoff scheduled for 11 a.m. The Centaurs will continue to hone their offensive game as the playoffs approach.

“We want to just get more confident as a team and more chemistry when we have the ball,” Snelling said. “We have all the pieces. We have all the talented players. We just need it to happen.”

Killingly booters build for the future

VILLAGER EDITOR

WOODSTOCK — The first time Killingly High played Woodstock Academy back on Sept. 14 the Redgals were winless — and they fell behind the Centaurs by five goals at halftime en route to a 6-0 soccer loss at home. Coach Jim Lackner's youthful squad made a turnaround before traveling to Woodstock on Oct. 4 — winning four of its next six games. So while Lackner wasn't happy with Woodstock's 2-0 win over Killingly in the rematch at Bentley Athletic Complex he said the Redgals' chances for a berth in the Class M state tournament were not out of the question. Killingly's record fell to 4-6-1 through 11 games.

"We need (a minimum of) two wins and tie to get in," said Lackner after the loss to Woodstock. "I feel confident in this group. If we play a little better than we did today offensively — if we play defensively like we did today — I think we'll be fine. I think we can get it. We've got a good group of kids."

With the loss of eight senior starters from last year's roster it seemed a berth in the state tournament might be a stretch this season. But Killingly has a youth movement going that is producing some victories and working hard.

"I'm extremely pleased. To me, a great season is if we can pull off going to states," Lackner said. "I really believe in this group. We've got a lot of new kids."

Freshman offensive center midfielder Abbie Burgess led the team with eight goals through its first nine games. Lackner said Burgess gets better with each game but they just couldn't click offensively against Woodstock (8-2 through 10 games).

"We struggled to connect some passes there (against Woodstock) and get the runs we needed," Lackner said. "They're young so they're making mistakes. A lot of them are freshmen and sophomores."

Freshman Grace Nichols has been a solid defender on the back line.

"I think we shored things up defensively a bit since the beginning of the season," Lackner said. "First time we played Woodstock it was the second game of the year. We were trying girls in different positions."

Among some of the contributors to the turnaround are junior defender Cecilia LeBlanc, sophomore Chloe Hibbard, junior Emily Watling, junior center defensive midfielder Taylor Jax and senior defender Ashley Depointe. They are getting used to working together.

"The idea was every time we played teams in the (Eastern Connecticut Conference) Medium (Division) we wanted to give a better performance than we did the first time," Lackner said.

Senior Sarah Azizi and freshman Taylyn Lemoine have split the goalkeeping tasks. The Redgals are closing in on a playoff berth.

"We were 4-2 in the last six games," Lackner said. "We played as well as we could defensively against Woodstock. Offensively, that's just a missing piece for us — against these good teams. Woodstock is a team that's capable of winning the ECC Tournament this year. They're just really good."

Killingly is next scheduled to play host to Waterford at 4:15 p.m. on Friday, Oct. 13, at Old Killingly High School. The Redgals continue to build for the future.

"We've got a young team," Lackner said. "I think this year will be beneficial for us down the road."

Killingly 3, Fitch 3

DAYVILLE — The Redgals trailed 3-0 before rallying for the tie on Monday, Oct. 9, at Killingly High. Madison Lynch scored all three goals for the Falcons in the first half. Chloe Hibbard scored late in the first half to pull Killingly within two goals. Freshman Abbie Burgess scored two goals in the second half to sent the game into overtime. Taylyn Lemoine stopped Lynch on a breakaway with three minutes left in double overtime to preserve the tie.

Cecilia LeBlanc, Emily Watling, and Taylor Jax notched assists for Killingly. Navaeh Jones and Carly Zingus had assists for Fitch. Killingly led 13-7 in shots. Keeper Francesca Foster made five saves for Fitch. The tie put Killingly's record at 4-6-1. Fitch was 5-6-2.

Putnam girls headed toward tourney berth

CHAPLIN — First-year coach April Chavez has the Putnam High girls soccer team on track toward a berth in the Class S state tournament and it helps to have senior Morgan Foucault aiding the cause. Foucault scored two goals to help the Clippers defeat host Parish Hill 2-1 last Saturday — lifting her career total to 97 goals. Putnam notched six wins through its first 10 games and Foucault is focused on finishing strong down the stretch.

"We definitely have to start getting the wins in the more challenging games. Killingly and Thompson (Tourtellotte Memorial) we have coming up, and Lyman Memorial — so we have to start getting those wins," Foucault said. "Figure out what we need to do, the passes we need to make, and our formations to make it into states and really dominate when we get there."

Six returning seniors have made Chavez's job a bit easier this season. Along with Foucault the returning seniors are Aliceya Labonte, Jaidyn Gillette, Ashley Burke, Alyson Morris, and Hailey Bocash. A pair of freshmen starters have made an impact including Layla Chavez, the coach's daughter, who has played well at both striker and in the midfield. Freshman Emma Brathwaite starts in the midfield. Bocash has anchored the back line. Sophomore keeper Kayleigh Lyons has been solid in goal.

"(Bocash) is our strongest center back right now and she's good with getting the ball up," Chavez said.

Maddie Stimson scored for Parish Hill in the 20th minute of the first half to put the Pirates up 1-0. Foucault tied it off an assist from Bocash in the 23rd minute of the first half. Foucault tallied again off another assist from Bocash just two minutes before the halftime whistle to give the Clippers a 2-1 lead and complete the scoring. Putnam led Parish Hill 14-12 in shots. Lyons made 11 saves for Putnam. Pirates keeper Brooke Benedict made 11 saves. Putnam led 5-3 in corner kicks.

Foucault credited her teammates with helping her prolific goal total.

"Coming into high school I never thought I'd be where I am right now," Foucault said. "So it's really cool having 97 goals. I mean I really haven't heard of many people doing that, so I'm proud of myself and I just can't thank my team more because no matter what I just couldn't do it without them."

The win over Parish Hill lifted Putnam's record to 6-4 and puts it in position to make the post-season. Coach Chavez said there's no reason the Clippers can't make a run in the Class S state tournament if they get there.

"I'm looking to make it far into states," Chavez said. "Maybe third or fourth round, that's my goal, but we've got to get there first."

The loss dropped Parish Hill's record to 4-3-2. Putnam is next scheduled to play host to Killingly on Friday, Oct. 20, with the game set to begin at 6 p.m. at St. Marie-Greenhalgh Complex.

Jonas Jeremiah Poirier, 14

THOMPSON - Jonas Jeremiah Poirier, 14, entrepreneur, gourmet, sports fanatic and fashionista, left us far too early on Saturday, September 30, 2017. Jonas was planning towards his millions from the age of ten. He used his suave personality and unbelievably charming smile on more than one occasion to coax kids (and adults alike) to buy into one of his many business schemes. While vacationing in Maine, he spent a weekend hosting a basketball camp (even though he had no more than leisurely played the sport at the time). He utilized the free basketball court and took advantage of a long rainy weekend to easily convince parents that the small fee he was charging was worth some time outdoors, and he was equally resounding to the attendees with his clipboard, whistle and terrycloth headband, that they were learning skills from the best. During sunnier weekends in Maine, he tried his hand at his own lawn mowing service. With dozens of takers with postage stamp lawns and his younger brother as his assistant working for $1.00 a lawn, it was a very profitable summer for Jonas. His work ethic continued to be unmatched. Our family wondered if Jonas secretly had invested in Frito Lay. If he wasn't concocting his own recipes, all of which contained some sort of chip, he lobbied to have most meals accompanied by a handful of Funions or a Doritos (cool ranch or spicy depending on the main dish). He considered himself a chip connoisseur. Luckily, his appetite for junk food didn't impact his athletic drive. Jonas participated in an enormous array of sports including: hockey, gymnastics, soccer, basketball, golf, running, skiing, fishing, and for the first time this past year, football. At 5' 5" and 100 lbs. we were slightly skeptical about his ability to keep up with some of his 5'10 180 (and up) counterparts. Not only did Jonas prove us wrong, he didn't miss an opportunity to use a door frame for a pull up or a push up in between bites at dinnertime. He insisted that in no time he'd grow to the size of his varsity teammates that he constantly bragged about and aspired to be like. Whether on the field, in the rink, on the course -or anywhere for that matter- Jonas's sense of style was a precedence. A walk around the block with the dog required a minimum of 20 minutes of grooming beforehand. For his weekly treks down the street to his favorite fishing spot at Little Pond, Jonas usually donned a long-sleeved button-down Polo, khaki shorts (both crisply ironed) and a pair of boat shoes. No matter what his agenda had in store, his hair was always a top priority. When mixed in a crowd of people we could quickly identify him by the perfect coif that he had groomed so that not a hair was out of place. In fact, Jonas's hair often looked maintained when he came down for breakfast in the morning. It must have been his stock of high end hair products. Jonas was adored by his family. He left his parents, Jeremiah and Melissa Poirier wondering how they could have been so lucky to be blessed with such an amazing child; 3 siblings, Megan Dickinson of Worcester and Katherine Poirier and Logan Poirier all longing to hear just one more of his stories; his grandmother, Mary Jane (Hargrove) Poirier of Worcester whose lawn has never looked better since Jonas started mowing it this past summer; his maternal grandmother, Mary (Evans) Morel of Worcester who always had his favorite root beer on hand; aunts, uncles, cousins, great-grandfather and many, many friends. A graveside service will be held at the convenience of family. Visitation was held Saturday, October 7, in Scanlon Funeral Service, 38 East Main Street in Webster, Mass. A reception to celebrate his life will be held in Thompson Middle School, 785 Riverside Drive, N. Grosvenordale. Finally, the family asks that in lieu of flowers, donations be sent to Thompson Recreation Department, 781 Riverside Drive, N. Grosvenordale, CT or to High Pointe Church Youth Ministry, 1208 Thompson Road, Thompson, CT 06277.

Alex Robert Ancil, 68

ALACHUA, FLORIDA -- Alex Robert Ancil, 68, of Alachua, Florida passed away peacefully October 3, at the North Florida Regional Medical Center, in Gainesville, Florida. Alex is survived by his wife of 39 years, Pauline (Guertin) Ancil of Alachua, Florida. He is also survived by his brother, Roy Ancil (and Lynne) of Brimfield, Massachusetts; his sister, Donna (Nielsen) Noel (and David) of Charlton, Massachusetts; his brother Richard Nielsen, Jr. (and Debra) of North Woodstock, and his sister, Nancy (Nielsen) Robidoux of Southbridge, Massachusetts. Alex was born in Southbridge, Massachusetts, the son of Eleanor (Ancil) Nielsen and Richard Nielsen, Sr. After serving in the National Guard, Alex worked as a machinist, most recently at Southbridge Tool & Manufacturing, in Dudley, Mass., prior to his retirement. During his retirement, Alex enjoyed exploring Florida with his wife. Please visit his memorial page at www.williamstomasfuneralhome.com.

Christopher S. Bell, 68

NORWICH - Christopher "Chris" S. Bell, 68, of East Town St., died Monday, October 2, 2017 at the William W. Backus Hospital. He was the loving husband of Paula (Rosenberg) Bell for 36 years. Born in Arlington, Virginia on April 8, 1949, he was the son of the late Walter E. Bell, Jr. and Bettie (Weeks) Bell Kerouack. Before retiring, Chris was a self-employed antique dealer or as he liked to say, "a purveyor of fine junk." He enjoyed collecting "parts of stuff" preferably in multiples to use in his assemblages. While a lover of most music his favorite genre was jazz. Chris could often be seen (or heard) in community theater performances in eastern and southeastern Connecticut. His rich and melodic voice as well as his flair for drama (or comedy) made him a welcome addition to many casts. In addition to his wife Paula, Chris is survived by his brother, Michael A. Bell and his wife Carla of Gaston, SC; his brother in-laws, Warren Rosenberg of Woodstock and Joel

Rosenberg and his wife Beverly Burke of Brooklyn; his sister-in-law, Barbara Bell of Bombala, Australia; his nieces and nephews: Beth Peck, Samantha Truong, Bruce Bell, Sean Garland-Bell, Tim Garland-Bell, Jenny Bell-Knight, Jeff Knight, Matt Bell, Carrie Bell, Cara Rosenberg-Ramos, Salomon Ramos, Allie Rosenberg, Bailey Rosenberg, Connor Rosenberg, many great and great-great nieces and nephews, cousins Peggie Weeks and Carol Weeks as well as friends, fellow actors, and "purveyors of both fine junk and antique objects." Chris was predeceased by his brother, Wayne Bell. Relatives and friends are invited to attend a memorial service for Chris at 11:00 a.m. on Sunday, October 8, 2017 at the Temple Beth Israel, 39 Killingly Dr., Danielson, CT 06239. Guests are invited to wear bright colors to his memorial. Interment will be private as requested by the family. Gilman Funeral Home & Crematory has been entrusted with his arrangements. Memorial donations may be made in Chris Bell's name to Temple Beth Israel Preservation Society, c/o Rosa Goldblatt, 63 Sherwood Dr., Norwich, CT 06360. Marissa L. Rocks, 24

DAYVILLE - Marissa L. Rocks, 24, of Dayville, passed away unexpectedly on Saturday, September 30. She was born in Worcester, Massachusetts on August 4, 1993, daughter of Melissa L. Gilbert of Plainfield, and Todd R. Rocks Sr. of Hopedale, Massachusetts. Marissa was a certified home health aide, worked at Staples Distribution Center in Putnam and was currently a student at CCRI. She was a 2011 graduate of Killingly High School, a former Killingly cheerleader and field hockey player. Marissa also had a love for all animals, especially her cats Ollie and Ozzie. Besides her parents she is survived by her loving brother TJ Rocks of Dayville, her step-father, Paul Morrison of Plainfield, step-sister, Kailyn Peltier of Brooklyn, and her step-brother Drew Morrison of Dayville, her maternal grandmother Edith Gilbert of Uxbridge, Massachusetts, paternal grandparents Robert and Merilyn Rocks of Hopedale, Massachusetts, great grandmother Priscilla Rondeau of Mendon, Massachusetts, boyfriend Shane Beaudreau of Rogers, Uncle Leon Gilbert Jr. and wife Carol of Dighton, Massachusetts, Uncle Andre Gilbert and partner Pam Baribeault of Oxford, Massachusetts, Auntie Darlene Till and husband James of S. Carolina, her one and only nephew Emmett Peltier, also of Brooklyn, numerous cousins, family members, lifelong friend Emma Mullaly and many other loving friends. Calling hours were held on Saturday, October 7, which were followed by a Celebration of Life Service in Tillinghast Funeral Home, in Danielson. tillinghastfh.com

Joyce A. Hewitt, 67

BROOKLYN - Joyce A. Hewitt, 67, of Brooklyn, decided on October 4, during her recent stay at Backus Hospital, to leave behind her current life of pain and suffering. Her all-embracing family and friends surrounded her before and during her departure with all of the same love and compassion she had showered on them throughout their shared lives together, with hugs and kisses at all times. All agreed this era was unquestionably too short a period, especially for her kids and grandchildren, to whom she devoted her entire existence and they were her source of pleasure. She will forever be loved and immensely missed by all that had the pleasure of knowing this loving lady. Joyce was born on December 14, 1949, in Putnam, to the late Rene Joseph and Rita Caron Methot. She grew up in Danielson, attending the Killingly school system and the Willimantic School of Beauty. She was employed at Danielson Curtain for 19 years and Staples for 20. She enjoyed shopping and hanging with her friends. A sister, Lisa Krankoski of Punta Gorda, Florida, predeceased her. She leaves her companion, Brian Lebeau and a dear friend, Enola Carlen. She also leaves a sister Donna and her husband Fred Trudo of Kennebunkport, Maine; a brother Gary Methot and wife Sueann Methot of Jackson, New Hampshire; another sister, Lori Moran of Brooklyn; son Brian Hewitt and wife Becky of Moosup; daughter Pam Bouten and husband Paul of Woodstock. Joyce is also survived by her precious grandchildren, Danielle, Nicholas, Justin, Jared, Addie and Gavin, with many nieces and nephews. A funeral service was held on Monday, October 9, at Tillinghast Funeral Home in Danielson. Burial followed in Quasset Cemetery, 67 East Quasset Road, Woodstock. tillinghastfh.com

Annette L. Szostakowski, 97

WEBSTER, MASS. - Annette L. (Dansereau) Szostakowski, 97, died Tuesday, October 3, at home. Her husband, Michael F. Szostakowski, died in 1963. She leaves a son, Michael A. Szostakowski and his wife Pamela A. Szostakowski of Nahant; three grandchildren, Justin P. Szostakowski of Oxford, Mass., Lori A. Szostakowski of Danielson, and Jon M. Szostakowski of Danvers, Mass.; three great-grandchildren, Ryan, Reese and Christina; a sister, Natalie Rana of Florida; and many nieces, nephews. She was preceded in death by her son, Paul F. Szostakowski who died on May 27, 2017.

She was born and raised in Webster, a daughter of Arthur and Josephine (Barbour) Dansereau. Mrs. Szostakowski was a piece worker at Sandlerette Shoe. She then worked as a tour guide at Cranston Print Works until retirement. She was a member of Sacred Heart of Jesus Church. She made many quilts, besides knitting she enjoyed crocheting playing cards and swimming at the YMCA. Her funeral will be held Saturday, October 14, at 10:00 AM in Scanlon Funeral Service, 38 East Main Street, Webster. Burial will be in Sacred Heart Cemetery. A calling period will take place from 9:15 until the time of the service. Donations in her name may be made to Dog Orphans Inc., 90 Webster Street, Douglas, MA 01516. www.scanlonfs.com

David J. Rys, 61

OXFORD, MASSACHUSETTS - David J. Rys, 61, of Beverly Street, passed away peacefully at home on Wednesday, October 4, 2017, after a battle with cancer. He is survived by his wife of 35 years, Susan G. (Barrie) Rys of Oxford, Mass.; two daughters, Katie L. Anderson and her husband Randy, and Sarah J. Ruppard and her husband Timothy, all of Wethersfield; two sisters, Patricia O'Donnell of Charlton and Maryellen Pugh of Flagstaff, Arizona; a brother, Michael Rys of Windsor; four grandchildren, Dylan Ruppard, Maysen Sandlin, Rylee Ruppard, and Samuel Sandlin, all of Wethersfield; several nieces, nephews, aunts, uncles, cousins; and many close friends. He was born in Springfield, son of the late Henry S. and Dorothy M.A. (Olszta) Rys, was raised in Somers, and lived in Woodstock, for 24 years, before moving to Oxford, Mass. 5 years ago. He graduated from Marianapolis Preparatory School in Thompson in 1973.

Mr. Rys was a tooling engineer at Essilor International/Gentex Optics in Dudley for 20 years. He enjoyed working on his cars, riding his Harley, NASCAR, traveling, camping, and was an avid Patriots fan. His family was the center of his life, and his greatest joy was spending time with his grandchildren. The family would like to thank the Esophageal Support Group at Dana Farber in Milford. They would also like to extend a special thank you to Dr. Christopher Siedler and his staff at the Cancer Center at Harrington in Southbridge, Mass. for their exceptional care and friendship during his illness. A funeral was held on Monday, October 9, 2017, at Zion Lutheran Church in Oxford. Burial will be private at a later date at West Cemetery in Somers, CT. Calling hours were Sunday, October 8, at Paradis-Givner Funeral Home, Oxford. In lieu of flowers, memorial contributions may be made to the Cancer Center at Harrington, 55 Sayles St., Southbridge, MA 01550. paradisfuneralhome.com
