Budget debate turns personal

ATTEMPT TO TARGET TOWN ADMINISTRATOR’S SALARY SPARKS HEATED DISCUSSION

BY JASON BLEAU
VILLAGER CORRESPONDENT

CHARLTON – The town of Charlton has a budget in place for the next fiscal year after voting to approve a $30.1 million spending plan with $28.4 million to be raised by taxation. However, what could have been a simple vote turned into a multi-hour debate as voters considered whether or not to eliminate the Town Administrator’s salary from the budget.

It all started early in the night with Planning Board Chair Patricia Rydlak moving to amend the budget to reduce Town Administrator Robin Craver’s salary from $148,645 to only $1. In order to ensure confidence that those in attendance could vote without judgement, it was moved and approved that a secret ballot be counted, and a 194 to 144 decision approved removing the funds from the spending plan.

What then transpired was a series of votes that risked leaving the town without a budget after the meeting. Despite there being public support to amend the budget to exclude the Town Administrator salary, a 151 to 146 decision rejected the amended budget. Citizens motioned to reconsider the 2020 spending plan as presented at the start of the meeting, with only a single vote difference allowing for the reconsideration. Rydlak made her plea to remove the Town Administrator salary for a second time, although this time voters decided not to go to a secret ballot and defeated the proposal 122 to 159. In the end Charlton approved the budget as it was originally presented by a vote 167 to 88.

The display appeared to be an attempt to send a message to the Board of Selectmen about the public’s disapproval of Robin Craver during the negotiations with Valley Green Grow, an entity planning a large-scale and controversial marijuana growing operation at Charlton Orchards. The plans seemed to be to remove the salary of the Town Administrator forcing Craver to resign. Craver has been the target of frustration by Rydlak in recent months with the Board of Selectmen and Planning Boards constantly being on different sides of the argument concerning

Charlton forming sex offender bylaw committee

BY JASON BLEAU
VILLAGER CORRESPONDENT

CHARLTON – A new committee is being formed in Charlton to lead the creation of a bylaw concerning how the town handles information in regard to sex offenders.

Aptly named the Sex Offender Bylaw Committee, this new group will be tasked with forming a bylaw that specifies how the towns handles information regarding sex offenders as well as public awareness of such individuals. Board of Selectman Chair David Singer bright the concept to the table during a May 21 meeting of the board and said he wanted to see the town make a serious push in finalizing the bylaw over the next year or so.

“We did, at one point in time, have a Sex Offender Bylaw. I have researched it, and it was literally comprised of nothing more than bylaws that had already been enacted throughout other communities across the commonwealth and approved by the attorney general. It was all fine – it passed muster. We passed it at town meeting. At one point in time due to certain requests it was put back on a town meeting warrant and removed. I was never in favor of that action. I would like to see this board hopefully move on establishing a new bylaw committee,” Singer said.

The chair got his wish as selectmen overwhelmingly supported creating the new five-member committee to be comprised of two selectmen, one police official, and two citizens at large. Selectman William Borowski wholeheartedly supported the idea making the motion to form the committee and even suggested that the town exploring posting sex offender information on public access channels, something he helped spearhead during his time in Millbury.

“It is readily available both online as well as other places. I think the more visibility we can get to this the better off we are,” Borowski said.

Selectman Karen Spiewak agreed saying she has seen other communities broadcast that information on public access as well. However, Selectman Deborah Noble wanted to wait to make sure that the town was following all proper regulations in their

Voters back new public safety facility

BY JASON BLEAU
VILLAGER CORRESPONDENT

CHARLTON – While Charlton’s annual town meeting on Monday, May 20 had its share of drama, one of the larger items of the evening proved to be a positive moment for the community, as voters approved backing building a public safety facility adjacent to the current Charlton police station.

The vote approved the borrowing of $28.5 million for the project, continuing support from 2018’s annual town meeting where voters agreed to purchase a 19.3-acre parcel on Masonic Home Road as well as fund designs for the project.

an attempt to raise awareness and possibly support for the initiative which will house the fire department and police department under the same roof.

“I think it’s important for us to understand that this started 24 years ago. Multiple committees have come and gone. They’ve all agreed that we need a new fire station,” Capt. Barton told the crowd of over 360

Historical Society commemorates the tragedy of the Titanic

CHARLTON — Thanks to the magic of Hollywood, the brief but legendary life and epic tragedy of the RMS Titanic is now known to just about anyone with more than a passing interest in the doomed ocean liner. Though the stories of Jack and Rose are fiction, the surroundings and circumstances of their passage on the most celebrated ship of all time were faithfully documented on film, to the extent that this cinematic experience ranks as one of the most-watched and awarded movies ever.

And no wonder. From the moment of embarkation on her maiden voyage on April 10, 1912, the Titanic saga was and remains one of the most intriguing stories of modern history. Every aspect of her design, construction, engineering and appointment has been studied in great detail. The chronicle of her encounter with the iceberg, her sinking, the rescue of her passengers and blame for the tragedy has been debated for a century – with no end to the fascination in sight. The discovery of the ship’s wreckage by Dr. Robert Ballard more than two decades ago, and the subsequent retrieval of artifacts from its vicinity have only heightened an already intense scrutiny of everything to do with this magnificent liner.

It has been 107 years since the Titanic left Southampton, England, for New York City on its first and only voyage.

As fascinating as the tale of this great ship is, so, too, are the stories of those whose lives became intertwined with the legendary vessel.

To commemorate the loss of the Titanic and celebrate the heroism of those who sailed in her, the Charlton Historical Society will host a presentation by Lester Paquin and Lucy Allen of the Barre Historical Society on Monday evening, June 10 at 7 p.m. at The Rider Tavern in Charlton. Titled “Titanic: The Ship And Her People,” the illustrated talk is free and open to the public, and light refreshments will be served following the presentation.

An illustrated narrative of the Titanic’s final voyage will be featured, including some facts and details not commonly known. A highlight of the presentation will be profiles of several of the ship’s passengers and their circumstances. Some are well-known and others have receded into history – but all share the common bond of being at one place, at one time, that forever defined their lives and legacies.

Lester Paquin has extensively studied and lectured on the subject of ocean liners in general and the Titanic, Lusitania and Andrea Doria in particular. He is the administrator of the Barre Historical Society and the Chairman of Barre’s Historical Commission, and has recently prepared a program on the rescue of the Lipizzaner stallions at the end of World War II. Lucy Allen has worked for the City Manager’s Office in Worcester, and is an eminent genealogist and historical researcher who also serves as President of the Barre Museum Association.

Come to the Charlton Historical Society’s presentation on June 10 at the Historic Rider Tavern on Stafford Street and hear some fascinating stories about an incredible ship and those who sailed with her into history. And, even if you saw the movie, you will likely learn something about the Titanic and her people that you never knew before.

Sturbridge Farmer's Market

to open June 9

The Sturbridge Farmer's market is ready to launch its second season on Sunday, June 9 from 9 a.m. until 1 p.m. on the Town Common.

BY ANNIE SANDOLI
VILLAGER CORRESPONDENT

STURBRIDGE—The Sturbridge Farmer's market is ready to launch its second season on Sunday, June 9 from 9 a.m. until 1 p.m. on the Town Common, hosting a combination of new and returning vendors, tables, and entertainment acts every week until Sunday, Oct. 6.

Created last year to support local farmers and artisans, promote sustainable agriculture and buying from small businesses, encourage the town's economic development, and strengthen the community by providing a healthy outdoor activity, the event was a huge success and had more than enough support to come back for a second year, with some new additions but the same general dynamic that made it so popular.

"In general, the core tenants of the market are the same," said Kevin Filchak, the Economic Development and Tourism Coordinator for the Town of Sturbridge. "There are a lot of returning vendors, so if you found someone you liked last year, there is a better than average chance that they will be there again this year. There will also still be music every week and a community table."

The changes that have been made this year include a more orderly and regular schedule so that those who attend the market know exactly who is going to be there each week and don't have to guess whether or not their favorite vendors are there.

"Our schedule is a lot more formal this year, so we will be putting out a calendar that will show which vendors will be at that specific market and what booths will be set up," said Filchak. "You're probably going to see the produce vendors there every week because product turns over very quickly, and the artisan and craft vendors are more likely to cycle through."

Instead of a kids' table this year, the Sturbridge Farmer's Market is introducing an "Old Coots Table" modeled after a group of elderly people in the Midwest who set up a booth at a farmer's market and gave free advice. At this table, local residents with a lot of life experience will provide advice and share stories, connecting the older generations with the younger generations.

"We are just a group of elderly people dispensing free advice," said Sandra Nasto, a Sturbridge Farmer's Market volunteer who is in charge of the new table. "It's a way for a person to get an outside opinion from someone who has nothing to gain. We always listen carefully and we do the best we can from it. People have different questions, whether it's how to treat a cat, buy a car, or what to do with the rest of their life. It's not a serious thing, we are just going to help you solve some problems."

This year's returning vendors at the Sturbridge Farmer's Market include Abundance Family Farm, B-Organic, Bee Mindful Skincare, Brimfield Botanicals, Crust Bakeshop, Echo Farm, Elizabeth's Custom Bakes, Free Living Farm, Giacomo's Gourmet Foods, Hunt Road Berry Farm, Just a Nibble, Meadow Stone Farm Artisan Cheese, Organnie's, Revive Coffee Roaster, and Thompson's Maple Farm. New vendors include Agronomy Farm Vineyard, Bay State Beer, Moments to Remember, Ragged Hill Cider, Sturbridge Coffee Roasters, Taproot Threads, Twiddle T's Pottery, and Window Box Farm.

Although a list of performers has not been disclosed yet, volunteers said that there will be a lot of newer musicians who are just getting their start. Last year, local musical acts, including Dan Feeley, Sarah Huber, Haphazard Jazz The Midnight Riders, The Island Castaways, Watson & Co. Minus Watson, Kristie and Ron, Tea for Three, Jesse Ljunggren, Jared Fiske and John Hankis, and CJ the Storyteller and Musician, were featured each week during the second half of the event.

"The music is always wonderful with somebody different all the time," said Nasto. "The Sturbridge Farmer's market is a wonderful thing."

For more information on this year's Sturbridge Farmer's Market, visit the event's Facebook page or go to <https://www.town.sturbridge.ma.us/visitors/pages/sturbridge-farmers-market-0>.

release of information to the public.

"I would like to see what policies these other towns have on the books before we start putting people's names and information out there. I'd like to have some set policies in place before we just start putting people's pictures up on the internet. It's a slippery slope folks," Noble said. "I want to protect the town from any liability."

With that in mind, Singer requested that Borowski come to the next meeting with information from nearby towns on their approach to public presentation of sex offender information. Meanwhile the board appointed Singer and Selectman Noble, who had human and civil rights experience, to the committee as the first members with the intent to seek volunteers from the public and an appointee from the police department to fill the remaining three positions.

Charlton's Rob Barton named EMS Provider of the Year

WORCESTER — The EMS Provider of the Year Award honors exceptional acts and service by Central Massachusetts EMS providers both on and off duty. This year, the American Heart Association awarded Rob Barton, Charlton Fire Captain and Paramedic, the 2019 EMS Provider of the Year award.

Barton is a leader in everything he does. He coordinates EMS trainings, oversees the orientation program for new paramedics, and leads the Quality Assurance/Quality Improvement program at Charlton Fire Station to ensure proper patient care.

Outside of work, Barton donates his time to the Central MA community. In addition to providing first-aid instruction to the local little league organization, Barton was also instrumental in organizing a Stop the Bleed program at a local high school, teaching students how to stop an uncontrolled bleed in an emergency situation and empowering them to act.

Barton defines the spirit of caring and commitment to prehospital healthcare. He continuously advocates for patients, families, and the community. Barton was given his award on May 22 at the Annual Meeting of the Board of Directors for the American Heart Association chapter in Central Massachusetts.

OSV launches new event for Father’s Day

BY ANNIE SANDOLI
VILLAGER CORRESPONDENT

STURBRIDGE—Old Sturbridge Village has announced that it will be hosting a new event for Father’s Day this year. Baseball, Brews, & BBQ will take place on Sunday, June 16 from 9:30 a.m. until 5 p.m. with free admission for all dads.

The event will focus on the history of baseball and brewing, teaching guests about early American sports games and the history of brewing and other 19th century beverages.

“Before this year, we did just a Father’s Day brunch and let all dads into the village for free to enjoy the museum with their families, but it’s special this year because this is a brand new event,” said Sarah Blackwell, the media contact for Old Sturbridge Village.

Father’s Day visitors will not only learn about the history behind two of America’s most popular pastimes, but will also be given the opportunity to take part in early American baseball games and try a variety of different beers from local breweries by building flights or enjoying full pours. The everyday demonstrations of blacksmithing, printing, coopering, hearth cooking, and shoe-making will be going on throughout the day as well.

“There will be a baseball game on the common with baseballs and bats from the 19th century,” said Blackwell. “The extra Father’s Day activities will take place on the Town Common, but the entire village will be open as normal too.”

Live music will take place throughout the day, including performances by local musical artists Chuck & Mud &

the Mudchuckkers, a well-known neo-folk group, Jeff Warner, who plays traditional American music of the 19th century and has performed all across the United States and in the UK, and members of Full Gael, a group of Celtic musicians.

For an additional charge, the Oliver Wright Tavern will be hosting a Father’s Day BBQ Brunch with seatings from 10 a.m. until 1:30 p.m. The brunch is $34 for adults, $12 for children ages four to 12, and free for children under the age of three. Reservations made prior to the day of the event are required and those who attend the brunch get a 25 percent discount on admission to the village.

OSV’s other upcoming event is Wool Days, which will be taking place on Memorial Day weekend, May 25-27, and will teach guests about how New Englanders reared sheep for their wool in the 1830s, as well as how natural dyes were used to produce a variety of colors and what kids of wool different animals produce, and allow them to try hand-carding the wool.

“As we head into the nicer weather, it’s time for the sheep to get their heavy coats off,” said Blackwell. “Costumed interpreters will bring the sheep out into the common area and visitors will see 19th century shearing practices that were used in those days and the wool textile process. The other thing that is exciting is the chance to see our spring lambs, which is always really cute.”

For more information on Baseball Brews, & BBQ and Wool Days or to purchase tickets, go to <https://www.osv.org>. To make a reservation for the Father’s Day BBQ Brunch, call 508-347-0397.

Herbs in the Garden

As you plan this year’s garden, remember that few outdoor plantings are as charming as the common herb garden. With a renewed interest in growing herbs, more and more people are enjoying the benefits of the healing plants, whether plucked straight from the ground or from a windowsill pot. Offering a visual delight, plus the promise of medicinal magic, rediscovering the humble herb is a simple summer pleasure. Read on for a review of the practical plants.

Chamomile: Chamomile is a versatile herb that can be brewed into a tea to soothe such maladies as an upset stomach, indigestion, anxiety and sleeplessness. The fragrant herb has even been touted as a nightmare deterrent! The hardy, low-growing plant is easy to cultivate in a backyard garden. Chamomile has been dubbed the “herb of humility” because it seemed to thrive when walked on, and in England has actually been planted as a fragrant lawn.

Fun fact: In the old days chamomile was called the “Plant’s Physician.” If a plant was sickly, the cure was often to scatter a few chamomile sprigs in the garden bed.

Peppermint: Peppermint, the source of menthol, has long been utilized by generations of practical households. It’s claim to fame is that peppermint relieves a tummy ache, alleviates the chills, and lessens symptoms of fever and the flu. A few strong cups of peppermint tea has even been credited with curing a headache. The Romans crowned themselves with Peppermint branches and ancient Greeks believed peppermint could clear the voice and cure hiccups. In ancient times peppermint was considered the symbol of hospitality

Peppermint Poultice: Make a paste of crushed peppermint leaves and almond oil. Rub onto skin to alleviate muscle aches or migraine.

Catnip: While herbalists recommend catnip tea for upset stomach, nervous headache and promoting perspiration to cool a fever, it’s often fun to grow catnip purely for your pet’s pleasure. Folklore dictates catnip grown near or around your home attracts good luck. While catnip is best known for the euphoric response it induces in cats, not all cats are effected by it and some don’t react to catnip until they are older than three months.

Catnip Tea: Add one teaspoon of loose dried catnip to one cup of boiling water. Make sure the mixture is steeped only and not allowed to boil. Strain and serve. Try it with lemon or sweetened with honey.

Lemon Balm: Lemon Balm infuses the garden air with a citrusy fragrance. Medicinally, lemon balm has been placed directly onto insect bites or sores, made into teas for bronchial problems, colds, or drank simply to relieve tension. Today, the essential oil of Lemon Balm is commonly used in aromatherapy to treat depression. Rich in legend, it’s been claimed soaking the leaves of the balm in vine for a few hours will influence love!

Lemon Balm Vinaigrette: Combine three tablespoons light olive oil, one teaspoon finely crumbled lemon balm, 1/8 teaspoon salt, 1/16 teaspoon pepper and two tablespoons rice wine vinegar. Use as a salad or vegetable dressing.

Rosemary: Rosemary folklore boasts a long history. It is said rosemary was the original incense and burning a twig of the cleansing herb would rid the area of all negativity. Rosemary was burned in shrines in Ancient Greece to drive away evil spirits and illnesses. Greeks students of that time also wore garlands of rosemary in their hair to improve their memory. In addition, it was long claimed a necklace made from rosemary preserves ones youth. Rosemary is now a common herb to use in drawer sachets and hair rinses.

TAKE THE HINT

KAREN TRAINOR

Rosemary-Lemon Meat Rub: Mix together 1 ½ teaspoon grated lemon peel; one teaspoon dried crushed rosemary leaves; two minced garlic cloves; and one quarter teaspoon each salt, ground pepper and dried thyme leaves. Rub on tender cuts of meat to add flavor before cooking or grilling.

Lavender: Dating back several thousand years, lavender has served as a valuable herbal staple in both the kitchen and the sickroom. Romans are credited for the spread of lavender throughout Europe, taking it with them everywhere they went in order to have local supplies of lavender oil which they used extensively in bath water and soap as well as in many other ways. Most lavenders are originally natives of the Mediterranean countries. Today, lavender is used in rubbing oils to soothe sore joints, and an infusion of lavender has long been used as a cold compress to treat severe headaches. The lovely scent of lavender makes it a popular herb in sachets, perfumes and many aromatherapy and craft projects.

Fun fact: In the middle ages, sprinkling lavender water on a person’s head was thought to keep them chaste!

Thyme: Thyme is a magical herb, as popular for its flavor as for its healing properties. Historically, thyme was employed as a medicinal weapon to combat European plaques, and as recently as WWI, thyme essential oil was used as an antiseptic. And a hot cup of tea infused with thyme has even been touted as an effective hangover cure!

Sleepy Thyme: Thyme has also been used to treat nightmares. It has been said a few sprigs of the herb placed beneath a pillow can ensure a good night’s sleep.

Sage: Sage traces its history back to the ancients who touted the herb for a cure-all for such maladies as epilepsy and warts. For generations, sage has been used for coughs, fevers and as a health tonic. Native Americans used sage in salves to treat various skin conditions and they frequently used sturdy springs of sage as a toothbrush. Today, sage’s antiseptic and astringent properties make it a popular herb for treating skin sores and irritations. Sage is also said to help in the healing of bruises and proper blood circulation.

Sage Honey: Add two teaspoons of fresh sage to one quart of honey. Warm over low heat. Place in a covered canning jar and store for at least two weeks to infuse flavor.

NOTE: Use herbs at your own risk and only under proper direction. Herbs should not be used under some circumstances, so consult a professional before consuming or applying herbs.

Take the hassle out of daily watering

MYERS

Proper watering is key to gardening success, but untangling and dragging heavy hoses across the yard, smashing delicate flowers and young vegetable plants along the way is a common occurrence in many yards. If this describes your escapades when watering garden beds and planters, it may be time to look for some time-saving solutions that reduce the hassle of hand watering.

Protect edging plants, especially those at the corner of the bed with hose guides. You can make your own from colorful wine bottles inverted over a section of rebar anchored in the ground. Or invest in some functional or decorative hose guides available for sale.

Connecting and disconnecting the hose to the faucet, inadequate length of hoses, and nozzles can be a source of aggravation. Washers disappear, connections loosen, and leaks occur. Invest in quick-connectors that allow you to make all these connections with a simple click.

Clear the hose clutter off patios, decks and walks while keeping them easily accessible for daily watering. A hose reel allows you to easily wind up the hose out of sight near the faucet. These are often mounted on the wall or are unsightly and bulky devices with wheels that can still be a bit unwieldy. Evaluate the design and ease of use before investing.

An automatic reel that retracts the hose quickly and easily or a lightweight portable model may be just the solution. Irrigation equipment like the G.F. Italia Portable Reel Nozzle Hose available at gardeners.com is lightweight enough, allowing you to carry 50 feet of hose that unravels just the length you need as you water various garden beds or containers on the deck.

Coil hoses are designed to expand when filled with water then retract into a small size for clean, easy storage and portability. You eliminate the need to unwind and rewind long lengths of hoses every time you water. Look for hoses made of long-lasting, kink-free materials that have superior coil memory for years of easy watering.

Make moving long stretches of hoses easier with featherweight and lightweight slim products. A featherweight hose can weigh as little as two and a half pounds, making it easier to move through the garden and back onto the reel or storage container.

Combine the convenience of storage and lightweight portability. You'll minimize the need for maintaining hoses at every faucet while retaining the convenience. Look for products that allow you to easily move your hose where it's needed. Expandable hoses allow you to easily move your hose from faucet to faucet for watering around the yard or pack it in your RV when traveling.

Make proper watering

a more convenient part of garden and container maintenance by investing in quality hoses, connectors and storage options. If it's easy, you are more likely to water plants as needed and then store the hoses conveniently out of sight after each watering.

Melinda Myers has written more than 20 gardening books, including Small Space Gardening. She hosts The Great Courses "How to Grow Anything" DVD series and the Melinda's Garden Moment TV & radio segments. Transitioning away from turkeys Wild turkey hunting ended May 25 in Massachusetts, and by all the feedback to this writer, it seemed to be a great season. Reports of at least two 25-pound birds harvested in the local area by hunters, and many birds in the 20-pound-plus class provided some great memories for young and old, not to forget the great eating. Numerous local sportsmen brought along some first time turkey hunters, and helped them bag their first bird by calling and setting them up in one of their hunting spots.

Numerous young hunters were also invited to go along on their first hunt. They are now hooked on hunting! Thanks to all of those sportsmen that took time out of their daily schedule to introduce these youngsters to the thrill of turkey hunting.

Fluke fishing in Massachusetts and Rhode Island is heating up with numerous reports of some large fluke like the one in this week's photo, courtesy of Red Top Bait & Tackle shop.

Seabass are the hot topic for this week. This year, Massachusetts has a daily bag limit of five fish from May 18-

Sept. 8, while Rhode Island does not allow any seabass fishing until June 24. This seabass regulation in Rhode Island does not sit well with many anglers. With the seabass population at an all time high, it does not make any sense. Summer flounder fishing in Massachusetts now has a special shore fishing regulation allowing them a reduced size to 17 inches, with a two daily limit. Regular regulations are six 19-inch fish per day!

Haddock fishing has been very good for anglers on head boats and private charters on the Gulf of Maine. The haddock population has rebounded big time and is providing some great fishing on the North Shore. Cod fishing still remains closed for recreational anglers despite their numerous catches made while fishing for haddock & Pollock.

Striper fishing is heating up all along the coast of Mass.

& Rhode Island. It will not be long before someone reels in a 50-pound striper like the one in this week's photo taken in 2017.

"We've had a Baby Boomer Comedy Show before in January of 2017 at the Stephen Brewer Theater at Old Sturbridge Village, and it was really successful," said Mary O'Coin, UWSSC Executive Director. "This year, Overlook offered the space to us complimentary and, with the help of our main sponsors, that really helps us to cover the cost of bringing in the comedians. We are giving free tickets to the residents there, which is a community that doesn't always get to participate, and still have an extra 200 tickets to sell."

Although they normally tour and do corporate events and conferences separately, McInnis and Rader started getting together regularly to do the Baby Boomer show after they met through a comedian friend six years ago, and haven't stopped since. They now do the show in theaters all over the country and offer it to nonprofits at a lesser price to support their causes.

"We wanted to do a show together, but I didn't want to go back to the clubs, so we decided we wanted to do something for theaters and events," said McGinnis. "We are both baby boomers and our audiences are mostly baby boomers and we talked about who we wanted to have in the audience and went from there. We also like to help out organizations, because not only is it a fun night for everyone, but it gets their name out there and associated with a nice event."

McInnis said that despite the title of the show, it is not just for baby boomers and people of all ages are encouraged to attend the completely family-friendly event.

"It is both clean and funny standup comedy," she said. "We talk about lots of topics that relate to everyone and it's not something that only baby boomers are going to get."

All the proceeds from the Baby Boomer Comedy Show will go directly towards the programs that UWSSC supports, including the American Red Cross of Central & Western MA, Big Brothers Big Sisters of Central MA, The Bridge of Central Ma, Inc., The CASA Project Inc., Catholic Charities, Community Legal Aid, Girl Scouts of Central & Western MA, Literacy Volunteers of South Central MA, MASS 2-1-1, Mohegan Council of Boy Scouts, New Hope, Old Sturbridge Village, Pathways for Change, Inc, St. Luke's Guesthouse, Tri-Community YMCA, and Tri-Valley, Inc.

"We hope that we make the money that we forecast so that we can give it right back to the public," said O'Coin. "People want to do something fun rather than just dealing with the sadness that comes with the vulnerable populations, and this event is really generational and a great opportunity for all members of the family to come enjoy it."

Tickets for the Baby Boomer Comedy Show are $25 in advance and $30 at the door. In accordance with the rules of the Overlook Performing Arts Center, alcohol will not be served at this event.

For more information, to purchase tickets for the show, or to donate to United Way, go to www.unitedwaysssc.org to call 508-765-5491.

What’s at stake when you take a seat?

Proponents of physical activity say that sitting is the new smoking, but how true is that statement, and what are the justifications behind it?

In modern times, with the onslaught of technology more people are spending their working hours sitting at a desk, or sitting behind a machine that is doing all of the physical labor. While there are still several occupations that allow a person to move about, the days of hard manual labor, long hours on a farm, and using hand held tools to build most things are over.

Today’s society is physically lazier than ever, and that is not necessarily the fault of the individual; it is simply how things have unfolded as technology advanced. With this news of the downfalls of leading a sedentary lifestyle chirping about, some companies have invested in stand-up desks to try to offset any negative consequences to sitting in a chair all day long.

One study shows that sitting for too long can increase heart failure and will shorten life expectancy; however, there has been little evidence to prove that a stand up desk could improve such ailments. The study showed that the amount of calories you burn by standing as opposed to sitting equals out to a handful of potato chips; however, over time, those calories do add up. One study showed that standing for longer than four hours showed an increased propensity for enlarged veins. The idea is to find the balance between your standing and sitting time. One suggestion to boost more movement in the office is to move a printer or fax machine far enough away so you have to walk to it, to get in a few more steps throughout the day.

The most disturbing fact discovered was that students sit, on average, for more than seven hours per day. That makes sense when you think about the hours in a school day, drive time, doing homework, sitting down for dinner, and of course, screen time with cell phones or in front of the television. That means that children and teens today are sitting for more than 85 percent of the time during waking hours.

A different study that actually equated sitting to smoking showed that sitting as little as two hours in a row increases the risk for heart disease. Individuals apparently who sit for less than three hours per day are said to have a longer life expectancy.

Proven is the fact that sitting too long can cause orthopedic dysfunction, and also can impact a child’s ability to process information. Children who are at standing desks burn up to 25 percent more calories during the school day than their sitting counterparts and were more engaged in classroom activities. Obese children who used standing desks increased calorie burn by up to 25 to 35 percent, and fidgeting can actually impact calories burned as well. Children are meant to move and if given the opportunity that’s exactly what they’ll do.

Interesting regarding children, and really, no surprise, is the fact that they are happier when not restricted to a chair and classroom behavior improves when students are able to actively learn and tend to be more creative.

When you are in a standing position, your complex motor skills are at their best, and you prevent back and neck pain, pelvic floor dysfunction, knee and hip disorders and reduces cell aging.

We think it would be interesting to place a step tracker on a typical student at the start of a school day and record their steps at the end of the day over the period of a week. Those results may shock many.

OPINION

VIEWS AND COMMENTARY FROM CHARLTON, CHARLTON CITY, CHARLTON DEPOT AND BEYOND

Living in the present with your family

As a young entrepreneur and CEO, I found myself planning for and living my life inside my head, as I worked to anticipate and capitalize on the future. Success in life requires all of us to plan and look forward. However, my problem as a young man and business leader was my reluctance to leave the office and the future behind, as I would arrive at home to live in the present. I was always looking ahead and planning for success to come, and in the process, I missed out on too many of life’s impromptu and cherished moments.

I feel fortunate. I do not have many regrets, but I do regret the vast amount of time I spent away ... even when I was home.

I’m not alone.

I hear it from others. We seem to arrive at a point in our lives where we understand what we have missed, and why. With that realization often comes a commitment to do better, and that’s good ... but we can never retrieve lost time. The family events, recitals, games and other happenings can never be revisited. I didn’t miss much. My body was present, but my mind was absent. I was often physically with my family and mentally at work. It is a common problem with breadwinners and is compounded by the two career households.

Our children and mates need us mentally and emotionally present. Most of us know what to do to live a life in the now, but it’s not that simple. Career pressures, financial demands and professional goals, pull and tug us away from home and family. We just must make the conscious decision to be present.

I remember having this conversation with Arlene at a swim meet. I was there in the bleachers physically present but taking calls on my mobile phone. We were driving home, and she said, “Why don’t you just stay at work next time? You really aren’t here.”

“What do you mean?” I responded. “The kids need me here!”

She shrugged. “I agree, so why not be here next time and not on your phone?”

I acted offended but knew she was right. Later that night, I confessed that I needed her help. I asked her to remind me as I start drifting away and she said, “Okay, then leave your mobile phone and laptop in your car.”

POSITIVELY SPEAKING

BY GARY W. MOORE

It was always a struggle. I was tugged in every direction, but I began working hard to be mentally where I was physically, and I became a happier guy.

Today’s professional demands are tough.

Young professionals travel for work today more than any other time in history. Competition is tough and career performance is essential to success. However, the same is true for having a successful marriage and raising happy, successful children.

When we make the decision to marry, that is an incredible commitment that is more important than your career. When you bring a child into the world, compound that commitment by ten. Your family needs you present.

Ask a teacher which kids have enough parent time and involvement and they will tell you. The kids without that close parental connection act out in negative ways in response to what they are missing at home. Your children and your significant other need and deserve your time and attention. Kids equate love with time. Make sure they understand and feel that love from you.

So, what now? Breathe.

I have found that by taking a moment to focus on my breathing, it brings me to my most basic function and helps me clear my mind. Once breathing has my attention, I look around, fully realize where I am and change my focus to remaining there.

The adage that says, “On their death bed, no one wishes they spent more time at work.” Always be the best you can be in your career ... but make the same effort with your family.

Reflections for graduation season

This week, I realized it has been a year since I graduated with my Master’s degree.

An entire year. That’s so crazy to me. It feels like just yesterday when I woke up at 4 a.m. to curl my hair and try to figure out how to bobby pin my graduation cap on my head without looking completely ridiculous, spent the whole morning so preoccupied with keeping my mom and dad away from each other that it actually made me sweat from nervousness, and was so excited that I couldn’t even think about eating the breakfast the school provided for us.

I remember walking into Harvard Yard with the other people in my Journalism program and thinking, “How did I even do this? I would never even think about doing it again.” After all the excitement of graduation day, I received a piece of paper with my name on it and a bunch of other words written in Latin that now sits under my bed with absolutely no use, updated my resume to say that I’m more than just a “degree candidate,” made a LinkedIn account that definitely screamed “lack of real world experience” to recruiters, and said my prayers for an income that could actually allow me to pay for the piece of paper mentioned above.

This past year was my first year out of school...ever. I went from homeschooling, to a community college, to a university, and finally to graduate school with no breaks and no time off, not even summers. It has been very weird to listen to other people talk about finals, but not actually have any to worry about. It has been scary to be in the work force instead of just working part time and focusing on studying. It has been stressful to have my student loans thrown at me full-force despite my entry-level income and lack of financial knowledge.

But if I had to do it all over again, I wouldn’t change a thing, and I really hope everyone graduating this year will feel exactly the same way a year from now.

Because I went to school early,

MIND OF A CURIOUS GIRL
ANNIE SANDOLI

going to graduate school was really the closest thing to an undergraduate experience that I will ever have. It was my first time living away from home in a new place, my first experience with parties and spending time with people from all over the world, and the first time I really felt truly and intensely intimidated by how intelligent everyone around me was. I started to realize just how small East Brookfield actually is, and I began to crave more and more new adventures.

As I look back on my experiences with graduate school a year later, I recognize that my classes taught me how to follow AP style guidelines, how to get people to open up to me in interviews, and how to cut a 1,500-word article down to 800 words and still convey the same message. What I am most thankful for, however, is that it forced me into the real world head-on.

Moving away from home was an introduction to paying rent and bills that I had never even thought about before. Meeting new people taught me lessons about trust and being straightforward. Having classmates that were smarter than me pushed me to explore new ideas and think about the world in a different light. My capstone project forced me to cover real stories and confidently talk to people on the street. Being lonely showed me that I can be my own friend when I’m in a new and strange place and no one else is around. Getting a random part-time job turned into discovering a passion for bookselling I never knew I had.

When I think about school, test scores and grades don’t even come to mind anymore. It’s the people, the experiences, the growth, the tears, the anger, the doubts, the successes, the failures, the self-discovery, and the passions. I hope that every student receiving their very own piece of paper this year will look back on their experiences and think, “I would never even think about doing it again, but I’m so unbelievably happy I did.”

Vacation and retirement: Different goals require different investment strategies

FINANCIAL FOCUS
JEFF BURDICK

To achieve any of your financial objectives, you need to save and invest – that much is clear. But just how you save and invest may differ from goal to goal. Let’s look at two common goals to see the differences in your savings and investment strategies.

The first goal we’ll consider is a dream vacation – one lasting a couple of weeks or more, possibly to an exotic locale. So, for the investments you’ve designated to fund this vacation, you need two key attributes: liquidity and low risk. The liquidity requirement is pretty self-explanatory – you want to be able to get to your vacation funds exactly when you need them, and you don’t want to be slapped with some type of early withdrawal or tax penalty.

The low-risk part of your vacation strategy means you want investments that won’t drop in value just when you need to sell them to use the proceeds for your trip. However, you need to be aware that those types of stable-value investment vehicles likely will not offer much growth potential. As you may know, the investments with the greatest possible rewards are also those that carry the highest degrees of risk. Yet, by starting to invest early enough in more conservative investments, and putting away money regularly, you may be able to compensate for the lack of growth opportunities.

Now, let’s turn to your other goal – retirement. When you are saving for retirement, your primary objective is pretty simple: to accumulate as much money as you can. Consequently, you will need a reasonable percentage of your portfolio devoted to growth-oriented investments. But what’s a reasonable percentage? There’s no one-size-fits-all solution – the amount of growth investments in your portfolio should be based on several factors, including your age, risk tolerance and projected retirement lifestyle.

Furthermore, this percentage may need to change over time. When you’re just starting out in your career, you may be able to afford to take on the greater risk that comes with having a higher percentage of your portfolio in growth investments. But as you get closer to retirement, you might want to begin shifting some dollars toward more conservative vehicles – you don’t want to be over-exposed to the volatility of the financial markets just when you need to start selling investments to help fund your retirement.

Nonetheless, you won’t want to give up all growth investments, even during your retirement years. You could spend two or three decades as a retiree, and over that time, inflation could take a big toll on your purchasing power. To counter this effect, you will need to own some investments that have the potential at least to equal, and ideally outpace, the cost of living.

The examples of taking that extensive vacation and enjoying a long retirement illustrate the importance of recognizing that you will have many goals in life – and you’ll need to prioritize and plan for them, sometimes following significantly different investment strategies. When you do, you’ll give yourself a better chance of reaching your destinations.

Valley Green Grow. In March Rydlak led the Planning Board in a vote of no confidence in both the selectmen and Craver and had attempted a citizen’s petition to seek Craver’s dismissal.

This all came to a head at the town meeting, leading to mixed reactions from the public, some saying citizens were trying to make a point and others feeling the town was being held hostage for the sake of a personnel matter. During proceedings, resident Stephen Coleman, Jr. spoke to his fellow citizens, saying that preventing the budget from passing to spite the Town Administrator was not the way to go, but that he felt the Board of Selectmen heard the concerns loud and clear. “The Board of Selectmen has been sent a message of what some of us believe needs to happen. This is a leadership issue with (the Board of Selectmen). The town meeting tonight should pass a budget so government can move forward and anyone in this audience that feels that their vote wasn’t heard should reach out to their elected officials and make their point known, but this is not the forum to do that. This is a personnel matter. There are contractual obligations in place. We need a budget, but I hope the selectmen were listening tonight,” said Coleman. Another resident, Luca Stevens, provided one of the more passionate speeches of the evening after Rydlak made her second attempt to remove the Town Administrator salary from the budget. After earlier warning of the difficulties the town would face without a Town Administrator Stevens said he felt disgusted that the budget was being utilized to make a political statement. “It’s just going through the same thing over and over again, and I’m ashamed to be here tonight with this politicizing of the budget that pays our police officers, that pays our firefighters,” Stevens said. “We should just be here to pass a budget so these people can get paid at the end of the day, not politicize it. I think it’s a shame that it’s being brought to that.” The meeting also included some debate over whether or not fear mongering was in play to try and sway the public away from voting to remove the Town Administrator salary. Town Counsel James Cosgrove provided warnings to the town meeting early in the debate explaining that the Constitution of the Untied States defends the rights of town employees to due process.

He explained that the Board of Selectmen is the authority for such action and that town meetings were not the place for citizens to take that stand. He also defended himself saying it’s his job to warn the town of potential consequences to any vote or actions. The lengthy discussion caused the town meeting to run to its 11 p.m. cutoff time leaving ten of the 28 articles still to be discussed including a proposed bylaw that would ban recreational marijuana in the town which failed at a ballot vote during the town election. The town meeting will reconvene on June 12.

DUDLEY — The Shepherd Hill Regional varsity softball team made a seamless transition from batting practice to its game with Mid-Wach A rival Algonquin Regional on Wednesday, May 22, clubbing three home runs — including two no-doubters off the bat of junior Kiley Wong-Li — and producing many more loud outs in an 8-2 cakewalk past the Tomahawks.

With the win the Rams, who qualified for postseason play on Tuesday, May 21 with an 11-4 win over Westborough High, improved to 11-5 overall and 5-2 in the Mid-Wach A. Algonquin, which lost for the 12th time in its last 13 games, is now 4-13 overall and 1-7 in league play.

In addition to Wong-Li's two round-trippers after which she was walked in her next at-bat both times, senior Cayley Fagan also homered and 11 of the Rams' outs in the game came on fly balls to the outfield.

Naraylee Baez, Algonquin's senior center fielder, made four spectacular catches, going up and over the center-field fence to steal a home run off the bat of Shepherd Hill's Kelly Cournoyer. Baez almost repeated the feat on Fagan's home run, but she dropped the ball after landing over the fence for a second time. Angela Ke, the Tomahawks' freshman left fielder, also made four great grabs in the outfield while right fielder Sabrina Greenwood, a sophomore, had three putouts.

"We were dialed in at the plate today," Shepherd Hill head coach John Snyder said. "I think qualifying for Districts was a big relief for the team as a whole. That was one of our goals coming into the season. I think getting in took a lot of pressure off of the girls. I think a lot of the girls were putting some undo pressure on themselves to get to that point."

"This team has been together, a lot of the girls, for 3-4 years, so it was important to them to make Districts this year," added Snyder. "As coaches we didn't set a priority on that, but it's been clear all season that making Districts was important to this team."

In addition to her two home runs and three RBI, Wong-Li went the distance in the circle. Pitching for just the second time all season and fourth time in her high school career, the right-hander allowed nine hits. She walked four and struck out three.

"Kiley was fantastic today, both hitting and pitching," Snyder said. "I don't ask her to pitch very often, but when I do she comes through and she did today. This was our fourth game in four days and we're in a stretch where we're going to play five games in six days, so I've had to juggle our pitching a little bit."

Shepherd Hill then played Westborough for a second time on Friday, May 24, and then finished the season with games after press time against Millbury High, Shrewsbury High and Blackstone Valley Tech.

"Those three games to end the season are all against very good teams," Snyder said. "They will be a good prep for Districts."

Although she's been successful when asked to take the ball, Wong-Li admitted she's more comfortable playing first base.

"I don't really like pitching, I'd rather play first, but I'll do whatever my team needs me to do to help us win," said Wong-Li, who was as happy as anyone to see her two hits sail over the left-field fence. "I haven't been hitting very well this season. I got a new swing over the winter and it's finally kicking in. I'm starting to feel more comfortable up there. I feel like, especially today, I'm seeing the ball very well right now."

The home runs were Wong-Li's first two of the season. She is currently batting about .375 with 11 RBI. Wong-Li dropped her bat and shook her head when she was given an unintentional-intentional walk following her first home run.

"I was surprised she walked me the first time. It was only one home run at that point; I didn't think she needed to walk me there," Wong-Li said. "But, after the second home run I went up there knowing she wasn't going to give me anything to hit."

Shepherd Hill, which took a 2-1 lead in the bottom of the first inning on Wong-Li's first home run of the game, added six more runs in the fourth — three on Wong-Li's second homer and Fagan's blast as well — to take command of the game, going ahead 8-2 at that point.

Shepherd Hill junior Parker Filo-Loos paced the Rams' attack with three hits and an RBI, while Carly Snyder added two hits and Sam Zannotti had an RBI single that drove in a pair of runs. Fagan also drove in two runs.

Shepherd Hill's Emma Lanpher sprints toward home plate for a Rams' run.

Bay Path lacrosse programs enjoy inaugural seasons

SOUTHBRIDGE — Although both teams have gone through their trials and tribulations in their first season of existence, the Bay Path Regional boys' and girls' varsity lacrosse programs have deemed it a successful spring.

"They wanted to start lacrosse and we had 53 girls come out," explained head coach Tammy Legere before her squad was supposed to take on St. Peter-Marian High at Southbridge High on Tuesday, May 21 — the Minutemen and Pioneers are a co-op program — before the game was postponed due to no officials showing up.

Bay Path still honored the team's lone senior, Alexxus Afriyie, with a showering of gifts.

Legere explained that the players and coaches alike have been learning the sport together throughout the season.

"We all learned the same day," said Legere, who has a 17-year coaching background in soccer. "I just thought it'd be fun to try something different. It's fun — it's fast, it's different and the girls are enjoying learning the game."

The Minutemen have just one victory to show for their efforts, a decision over Nashoba Tech, but their game-to-game improvement has been instrumental.

"There's been a lot of improvement. If you compare the first game against a team and the second game against a team, it's improved," said Legere.

Case in point was versus Nashoba Tech, when they lost the first time around and then won in the next meeting.

With the strong numbers in the varsity and junior varsity teams, as well as the amount of fun the team is having, Legere envisions lacrosse being a mainstay at the school.

"I think it's here to stay, it's not going anywhere," she concluded.

While the Minutemen were waiting for referees to potentially show, Bay Path's boys' varsity team hosted Monty Tech on a nearby field. The team led, 5-1, at the half, and held on late for a 10-8 victory.

Head coach Matt Fall, much like Legere, noted that his team has been improving throughout the season.

"You can't take the win or loss as improvement or not; at the end of the day if we can cut them in half from last time then we've improved," he said. "We showed that improvement and that's exactly what we're looking for as a coaching staff."

Bay Path lost to Monty Tech the first time around, 6-5, before winning this one.

"We've been able to ride our seniors pretty hard. Today, in a tight game, some senior leadership really came through, and hopefully that transfers over to the program in the future," said Fall.

The Minutemen saw themselves in an 8-8 tie as the clock was winding down, but Jackson Philon potted a goal with 4:06 to play after receiving a nifty feed from Ryan Vigeant. Vigeant then put the game away on a goal with 2:13 to go.

Vigeant and Nicolas Hamilton each scored three goals for Bay Path, while Jason Dufresne scored twice. Jack Cicero and Philon also scored, and Dean Maestro made 14 saves.

The victory improved the Minutemen's record to 3-11.

CHARLTON AMERICAN LEGION POST 391 meets every fourth Monday of the month at 7 p.m. in the Charlton Grange Hall. All veterans are welcome. We'd love to see you. We sponsor Boy Scout Troop 165, as well as three Boys Staters & assist young men interested in attending the State Police summer school. We also assist the Charlton Little League financially, as well as other things such as veteran's wakes & funerals. There's plenty we can still do to help our community.

"A CARING PLACE" MEMORY CAFÉ: A Memory Café is a place where people living with a cognitive related illness or injury such as; Parkinson's, Dementia, Alzheimer's, PTSD, autism and any other related illness or injury can go with their loved ones (often their caregivers), and spend quality time together away from the negativity and stigma that often accompanies this. A Memory Café is a safe, judge free and fun place for people to go where they can be themselves and enjoy the company of loved ones and never have to worry about what others are thinking. We will never ask for a diagnosis and anyone from any town or city and any age are welcome. We only ask that all guests have a caregiver with them and that the guest has a cognitive related illness or injury. Staff is not responsible for the personal care of any guest. We are accepting to any level of ability and always welcome new people. Our Memory Café is run on donations and sponsors. Light refreshments are often served. Our atmosphere is geared toward fun yet comfortable and always safe. Our Café often hosts singers, dancers and performers who will help bring back old memories and days gone by. Our Café also hosts fun interactive activities but never educational events; we feel this should be a fun time spent together. Please see the upcoming scheduled events coming to our Memory Café over the next few months. Signups are encouraged. We are open the first Wednesday of each month from 3-5 p.m.

WOMEN'S BASKETBALL: Please come join us for a fun evening of exercise and basketball at the Heritage School gym in Charlton. Pre-register your child by calling Karen Distefano at (508) 867-2232 or e-mailing union61cfce@tantaqua.org.

FENCING: Fencing is a sport of combat that originally started as practice for dueling with swords. Since that time, it has grown into a modern sport while maintaining those virtues that made it great: honor, valor, and grace. Bring a water bottle, sneakers and comfortable clothing. Youth and adult classes with Andy Bloch at Hitchcock Academy. Fee: $99.

AMERICAN SIGN LANGUAGE (ASL): American Sign Language is a visual language using hands, facial and body expressions. Learn about deaf culture and mostly come and have fun. Laughter guaranteed. Six classes on Thursdays at Hitchcock Academy from 7:15-8:15 p.m. with instructor May Marques, Rehabilitation Counselor for the Deaf, Massachusetts Rehabilitation Commission. Session A — Beginners Part I — goes until March 7 (no class Feb. 21). Session B — Beginners Part II — goes from March 14-April 25.
