

Day Kimball Cancer Fund race set for Aug. 10

PUTNAM — Day Kimball Healthcare's (DKH) annual Walk & Race for the Northeast Connecticut (NECT) Cancer Fund of DKH will be held Saturday, Aug. 10. As in previous years of the event, the Day Kimball Healthcare Walk & Race committee has selected a local cancer survivor whose story embodies the fight against cancer and the importance of supporting local, high-quality cancer care. Rich Mineo of Woodstock has been chosen as this year's Ambassador. "We're honored to have Rich Mineo as the champion of our cause and spokesperson for the NECT Cancer Fund this year," said Kristen Willis, DKH Director of Development. "As one of our most dedicated and enthusiastic supporters, Rich truly represents what our community is all about and was more than willing to step forward in support of helping others who are facing difficult times."

"The annual Walk & Race event brings the Northeast Connecticut community together to remember, celebrate, and honor those who have battled cancer and support those who are fighting their own battle now," said DKH President and CEO Anne Diamond. "It is in this way that the NECT Fund of DKH is able to change the lives of those in our community today and tomorrow."

The event course will cover a five-mile loop that begins and ends at Black Dog Bar and Grille on Park Road. Walkers will set out at 8:30 a.m. and the race will follow at 9:00 a.m. The first 250 registrants will receive a free race T-shirt and the first, second, and third place male and female finishers will each receive a cash award. Chip timing will be provided for both runners and walkers for the 5-mile trek. Back by popular demand will be the kids half-mile Fun Run scheduled for 9:15 a.m.

The Walk & Race remains one of Day Kimball Healthcare's and Northeast Connecticut's most popular and long-standing events, and is one of five fundraising activities this year that support the NECT Cancer Fund of DKH. The four other events included Guest Bartender Night held in March, Annual Wine Tasting held in May, Annual Cruisin' for Cancer Care to be held in June, and Celebrity Scoops Night to be held in August. In 2018, over $50,000 was raised through these vents in support of the Fund.

Rich Mineo, 72, of Woodstock has been chosen by the Day Kimball Healthcare Walk & Race committee as this year's Ambassador. Mineo was diagnosed with follicular b-cell lymphoma in the spring of 2016.

Mineo's diagnosis has made him a frequent visitor at DKH. After undergoing digital imaging, Mineo's lymph node was surgically removed and biopsied which confirmed he had grade one, stage three follicular b-cell lymphoma. His treatment plan consisted of two years of immunotherapy which he completed in August 2018. The most common sign of follicular lymphoma is a painless swelling in the lymph nodes of the neck, armpit or groin.

"When I felt a lump under my chin, I knew exactly what it was. I had done enough research to know that if you press on the lump and it doesn't hurt, odds are its cancer," said Mineo. "The care I received at DKH was great. I felt comfortable within the first half hour of being at the hospital. The nursing staff were kind and caring and I grew close to many of them over several visits to DKH. I always felt like I was in good hands."

Follicular lymphoma tends to behave like a chronic condition with people experiencing long periods of relatively good health. Mineo expects to need more treatment down the road. That is why supporting the NECT Cancer Fund is important to him.

"I don't want to receive my care anywhere else. Day Kimball Healthcare is a critical resource not only for me, but all of Northeast Connecticut, so it's important that it has the financial resources to remain in the community and expand its services for future generations," said Mineo. "I will do whatever I can to support DKH and other patients and families who are battling cancer. The NECT Cancer Fund of DKH benefits our community by keeping proceeds local, offering assistance to those who otherwise may not have the financial resources to obtain treatment and care."

Although Mineo was born in Scranton, Pennsylvania and has lived in several other locations before settling down in Northeast, Connecticut, he has found a home here in the Quiet Corner, where he has resided for the last 25 years. Mineo says his biggest support comes from his wife, Wanda Mineo, Vice President of the Woman's Board of Day Kimball Hospital, his daughter, son, grandsons, and friends.

In his retirement years, Mineo enjoys bicycling, league bowling and participating in tournaments, aerobics and weight training, and volunteering for Day Kimball Healthcare.

The Northeast Connecticut Cancer Fund of DKH provides financial assistance for cancer-related screening and treatment services to individuals living in Northeast Connecticut who otherwise may not have the financial resources to obtain needed medical attention. Through the generous contributions of local businesses, community members, and various events like the Walk & Race, more than $1.3 million has been raised for the Fund since its inception in 1989, all of it staying local, exclusively to help residents of Northeast Connecticut.

For more information about the Walk & Race for the NECT Cancer Fund, or to register for the event visit www.day-kimball.org/CancerFundRun or call the Day Kimball Healthcare Development Office at (860) 928-7141. The fee is $35 per participant with a family rate of $75 total for all family members in the same household. The kids Fun Run entry fee is $5.

Putnam Bank makes charitable contributions

PUTNAM — Various non-profit organizations and programs throughout Windham and New London County recently received funding from Putnam Bank and the Putnam Bank Foundation totaling over $100,000. The funds benefitted school-based mentoring programs, emergency food assistance, healthy eating programs, backpack programs, rapid re-housing for the homeless, youth sports teams, and children's programs aimed at developing a love of literacy and the arts.

These are only a few examples of where Putnam Bank and the Putnam

Bank Foundation contributed financially to help the needy, care for children and improve life in our local communities. For the last few years, the Putnam Bank Foundation has been a sponsor of the Town of Putnam Summer Al fresco and Fireworks and the River Fire Series, The Last Green Valley Walktober, Norwich Rock the Docks, and Day Kimball Healthcare. They fulfilled pledge commitments to Natchaug Hospital and the Regional YMCA.

“As a community bank we have a vested interest in making our communities better and stronger for us and future generations. We're not just in the community; we are community to the core. We have a responsibility to not only provide products and services but also to help to enhance the quality of life in the communities where we serve,” said Thomas A. Borner, Putnam Bank's President and CEO. “We see giving back to the community as part of our mission and our responsibility.”

Blain is Westview Employee of the Month

DAYVILLE — Almost every employee of Westview Health Care Center in the last twenty-two years will know Pomfret resident Jill Blain. Not only is she well known, she is much appreciated; and that status was affirmed by her selection as Westview’s May Employee of the Month.

As the Director of Staff Education/RN Nurse Consultant she simultaneously exhibits her great wealth of knowledge alongside her own constant curiosity for more learning. This is evident in her educational background, holding a Bachelor of Arts degree in Biology from Assumption College, a Nursing degree from Quinsigamond Community College, and a Master of Science degree from the University of Phoenix. The main concentrations of her Masters degree represent the most focused description of Blain’s interests, in that she specialized in Nursing Education, Healthcare Administration, and Nursing Research.

Blain joined the Westview team in 1997. Early in her career at the Dayville Nursing facility she took on the responsibilities of a second-shift Relief Nursing Supervisor and from this start, she not only understood the culture of Westview employees; she knew she had the ability to contribute more and more to it. Shortly after earning her Master’s degree (which included a focus in nursing education) she became adjunct faculty at Three Rivers Community College and annually leads classes of nursing students through clinical training at Westview.

Blain has professional memberships in the National League for Nursing, The American Association of Directors of Nursing Services, The National Gerontological Nursing Association, and the Sigma Theta Tau International Honor Society of Nursing.

A resident of Pomfret, with her husband Ronald, and their three children Shaina, David, and Daniel, Shelby the dog, and her four cats: Timmy, Gracie, Scotty, and Moxy. All of her children have also worked at Westview as Dietary Aides at some point, and Shaina has even continued to achieve a position as a Physical Therapy Assistant in Westview’s Therapy Department.

“I am honored and humbled by this recognition. It has been a privilege to work and grow both personally and professionally among my Westview family. I get to do what I love, love what I do, and love those I do it with,” Blaine said. “Pleasure in the job puts perfection in the work.”

“Blain is an amazing individual and leader who has dedicated her career to caring, helping and teaching others. Her ongoing pursuit of academic prowess, while an active practitioner, has provided Blain the rare and invaluable tools to lead others towards excellence in nursing care,” said Westview Administrator David Panteleakos.

Bradley Playhouse stages theatre camp

BY AMELIA MCDADE
FOR THE VILLAGER

PUTNAM — For years the Bradley Playhouse hosted a summer camp week and after taking a break in 2015 and 2016 it decided to start the camp again. This year the third annual Bradley Playhouse camp runs from June 24 to 28 —for those between the ages of 7 to 18. Elena Mercier will be in charge of running the camp activities for the second year in a row. In past years she helped as a choreographer with camp director Greg Brock.

"The Bradley reached out to me run this camp because they saw a need for a youth musical theatre program in their community. I decided to run this theatre camp and become a theatre teacher because the arts have always been one of the most fun and positive parts of my life," Mercier said. "Six years ago I began a theatre program in my home town of Canterbury because there seemed to be very little theatre in the area, and I fell in love with the work I was doing. I also love working with kids."

Campers have fun singing, dancing, and play theatre games. The kids will become educated about the audition process, learn how to improve their improvisational skills, focus on character development, and get to memorize then execute scenes from real shows.

"Besides providing young people with a passion and a creative outlet, theatre teaches and develops important life skills. Through the arts people can learn and practice positive communication, build self-esteem, develop confidence, practice collaboration, use their imagination, flex their creativity and identify how they are feeling. It is also a great way to make friends and find a community of like-minded people," said Mercier, "Theatre means a great deal to me as a tool for expressing myself, working with others, and having fun. Because of this, I know the impact that the arts can have on young people which makes me feel so fortunate to be a small part of the big difference theatre can make for children and adolescents."

On the last day campers will put on a final production that will demonstrate what the kids have learned throughout the week. Ideally, Elena would like everyone to sign up at least a week in advance for the camp. Though she would not turn anyone away who decided to join last minute. Registration forms can be found online at thebradleyplayhouse.org, along with a day-by-day breakdown of camp activities.

Family Fun Expo in Putnam

The Family Fun Expo was held on May 29, at the Putnam Lodge of Elks 575. The event was held to bring together multiple community agencies under one roof. Some of these agencies consisted of WIC, United Services, the Diaper Bank and others. The information provided by these groups enabled community members to see what was available to families that may have particular needs, and where to have some of those needs met. The agencies not only provided information to parents, but also had crafts to make and goodies available to the children. Funding for hall rental, food for the buffet and door prizes were made available by the Putnam Elks with a $2000 grant from their Gratitude Grant.

Sleep On It

That email that just IRKED you....
 The text that made you see red and hit “reply” almost before you realized you’d done it...

The stupid, hurtful or thoughtless remark someone tossed your way in a conversation that made you instantly upset...

These things require an immediate response, don’t they? Are we supposed to let someone email/text/say things like that and not react to them??

Maybe not. Maybe there is value in NOT replying right away. It goes against what our “instant” 21st century lifestyle professes, which is that fastest is best: fastest Internet speed; fastest-moving line at the grocery store; fastest roller coaster; quickest and best come-back remark. It’s all about being instantaneous.

But perhaps we need to learn to practice the pause...the deliberate rest before reacting. An angry emailed reply can’t be un-sent, and the contents can’t be un-viewed. Same for a hastily-sent text, or an equally bitter comment tossed back to the person who insulted YOU first. It’s not about not defending ourselves, or about letting things roll off our backs. It’s about waiting to react.

There’s a very convincing school of thought that counsels sleeping on any big decision before making it. That can apply to small things too. The email from a coworker or client that rubbed you the wrong way might look a little different by the next morning. Maybe there was no harm meant and you interpreted it wrong. Maybe it WAS an unfair complaint or personal remark against you, but in waiting to reply, you strengthen your position as the more even-tempered and reasonable person. Perhaps the sender of the nasty text also had time to reconsider and now has the chance to apologize. In pausing before reacting, you allow those possibilities to happen.

While reacting hastily and immediately can feel great at the time, it can’t be undone. Waiting a while – sleeping on it – can never hurt.

Never react because you think you must. Other than breathing, just about anything can wait one day.

OPINION

Opinion and commentary from the Quiet Corner

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Brooklyn reader defends her opinion

Kudos to the author for his recent opinion piece “Clinton Foundation misrepresented.” The CF was misrepresented. It is worse than I thought. According to Wikipedia, the Charity Navigator, a charity watchdog group (cited by the author), in March of 2015, added the Clinton Foundation to a watch list (a designation meant to warn donors that questions have been raised about an entity’s practices) after several news organizations (not just Fox News) raised questions over donations from corporations and foreign governments. Surprisingly, in late December of that year, the Charity Navigator removed the foundation from its watch list and in September of 2016, gave the CF its highest rating - 4 out of 4 stars after its customary review of the foundation’s financial records and tax statements. Methinks something was fishy there, but it is just my opinion.

Interestingly, Reuters reported in November of 2015, that the Clinton charities amended 6 years of tax returns for the 2010, 2011, 2012 and 2013 fiscal years. Also, the Clinton Health Access Initiative refiled its returns for 2012 and 2013 after Reuters discovered errors in the forms earlier that

Live life to the fullest

My mother once told me, “A wise man sometimes changes his opinion. A fool never does”.

Having reached my 80th birthday, I now understand the crucible of aging. It can be overwhelming, but only if we let it. We have experienced things that those younger than us have yet to learn.

My favorite expression is, “If you can remain calm amidst all this confusion, then you simply do not understand the situation”. So today I wonder if we elderly are being slowly seduced by modern technology. It caught up to us as we were napping. I am convinced that modern technology has taken over, but it shouldn’t rule your life.

I personally have no use for computers. Sure they can be an informative source of information if you believe everything they tell you. But let’s not forget the local library where what you read has been written down and sources are identified. Computers came of age long after I did, and they were the main reason I decided to retire when I did at age 70. I was getting slower, and computers were getting faster. Technology was growing more quickly than I could keep up with. I even threw the one I had at home out when I realized that the machine wasn’t necessary, and I could get along better without it interfering in my life any more. Did I want to use an “option” key when I am still able to make my own decisions? Furthermore, did I need a “command” key? I prefer or use the “alt & delete” key to keep me out of trouble.

Remember I grew up in a generation that wanted to squeeze the Charmin, touch the year as well. Honestly, news sources and reporting are dismal and collaborative as to the concerns of this nonprofit. Check out FBI investigations, OpenSecrets.org and countless others. Too many to mention. Form your own opinion as to the abuse, fraud and corruption of some nonprofits.

On June 21, 2017, israelnationalnews.com reported that in 2014... “in fact most of the profits went to employees and only 3 percent were donated to the various causes the foundation claims to support.” We are talking a total revenue of nearly $178 million, hmmmm.

Bottom line, I stand behind my “opinion” based on facts, not just my opinion. And, unlike the author of this disparaging and ignorant commentary, I will not mention his name. We are all entitled to opinion. Hopefully, it is based on facts.

Many would like to see this conversation disappear, but since it is on going, thanks to the Villager for an opinion shared by the other many of us.

TAMI JO WYKES

cantaloupe or orange for ripeness, even smell the flowers for freshness, not to mention trying on shoes before purchasing them.

I understand my elderly status is only temporary. You are only young once. I get it! Once we are all gone, the world will be left with a new generation that can handle an iPad, a laptop, and a texting cell phone... all at the same time. Talk about being ambidextrous!

I still remember when the person behind the counter was called a “soda jerk”. He was proud of his position and showed up at work every day after school and was happy to wait on us. His white paper cap and apron was clean. I grew up on a small farm in Woodstock. I too had a paper cap. Mine read “Whittemore Feeds”. We were proud then, and we are still proud today. This feeling can never when taken away from us. We have worked hard and have earned the right of passage. Best of all, we never had to be politically correct.

It was a simpler life back then. We will never change. Just tell it like it is. Don’t be fooled by new technology as it can and will take over your life if you let it. It may become the most dangerous thing in the world today.

Incidentally, does anyone know what the “option” key does? Never mind, I am sure it is not important. Family and friends are. Stay in touch with them. Take the time to enjoy those that mean the most to you today. Life is short. Live it to the fullest. God bless America.

A gardening story

Gardening in June is a transcendent experience. Our local nurseries offer remarkable plants to pop in to the ground. This past winter didn’t take great toll on perennial plants, and most are vigorous and lush. Days of rain made the grass so green it nearly hurts the eye, but after hours deep in the garden, I become bored with my own thoughts. I put on my headphones and listen to remarkable audiobooks that transport me to distant places. To some it may be heresy to cancel out the sound of bird song to listen to a book, but I love it.

NANCY WEISS

A friend recommended a book that references areas in southern France where I hiked last year. As my friends and I walked up and down the ancient trails of the Luberon, we occasionally came upon historic markers that memorialized the heroism, often the execution, of French resistance fighters. The book, “Madame Fourcade’s Secret War”, by Lynne Olson, documents the creation of Alliance, a secret organization run by Marie-Madeleine Fourcade, a beautiful socialite, who led the largest spy operation against Hitler in France. The story is gripping.

As I pull weeds in my pretty garden, the book leads me to admire the courage of average people as well as wonder what I would do in a similar situation. Madame Fourcade could have sat out the occupation of France in relative peace, but she stepped up and took great risks, recruited others, provided intelligence for the D Day Invasion and suffered deeply. On June 6, 1944, the details her network provided to the Allies were invaluable. Now 75 years later, her heroism resonates.

I am also listening to a book that has local connections. Historian David McCullough has written, “The Pioneers: The Historic Story of the Settlers Who Brought the American Ideal West”. It is the history of the settling of the Northwest Territory, which was so vast it eventually became five separate states. Manasseh Cutler, a driving force behind it all, was born in Killingly. His relative, Louise Cutler Pempek, showed the author the family homestead.

Cutler wanted the Ohio Territory to be organized around certain principles including support of public education and, most importantly, prohibition of slavery. A minister living in Massachusetts, he was not motivated by personal gain. He sounds like a delightful fellow with a bright mind, sense of humor and destiny. We can be proud he came from our area. Rufus Putnam, linked by his cousin Israel Putnam from Brooklyn, was also part of the movement to establish the territory as a place for Revolutionary War veterans to settle.

Does it count as “reading” a book when I’ve listened instead? I’m not sure, but I find it doubles or triples the number of books I enjoy. A quick look at studies on the internet point out that there is no real difference between reading and listening to books in terms of understanding and retention. I enjoy both forms and welcome the ease with which I can weed and read at the same time.

Neither Marie-Madeleine Fourcade nor Manasseh Cutler were ordinary people. They were special in certain ways and in their visions of themselves. They took citizenship seriously and acted to fight for their values. They used every skill they had in support of their causes. They put the welfare of their associates above their own.

On a June afternoon our region is glorious. The smell of roses, the soft, drooping peonies and pungent lilacs make us grateful to be alive. Read about remarkable people and feel doubly glad that they were alive once too.

Keys to more successful investing

Investing is a tool for making your money grow and allows you to achieve new milestones in life or reach financial security. The two main strategies to successful investing are: timing the market and having a long-term approach using the markets’ historical growth to achieve your goals. The main difference between the strategies is the allocated amount of time. Trying to time the market is difficult and generally focuses on short-term fluctuations in the market, whereas a long-term approach has to do with risk-adjusted returns over time.

This month we want to focus on what short-term and long-term strategies you need to consider as you develop plans, savings goals, and retirement income needs. Let’s start the month by discussing what it looks like in your investment picture.

Long-term compounding: It’s the “rolling snowball” effect. Put simply, compounding pays you earnings on your reinvested earnings. The longer you leave your money at work for you, the more exciting the numbers get. For example, imagine an investment of $10,000 at an annual rate of return of 8 percent. In 20 years, assuming no withdrawals, your $10,000 investment would grow to $46,610. In 25 years, it would grow to $68,485, a 47 percent gain over the 20-year figure. After 30 years, your account would total $100,627. (This is a hypothetical example that does not reflect the performance of any specific investment). This simple example also assumes that no taxes are paid along the way, so all money stays invested. That would be the case in a tax-deferred individual retirement account or qualified retirement plan. The compounded earnings of deferred tax dollars are the main reason experts recommend fully funding all tax-advantaged retirement accounts and plans available to you.

.....
JIM ZAHANSKY
INVESTMENT
ADVISER

Endure short-term pain for long-term gain: Riding out market volatility sounds simple, doesn’t it? But what if you’ve invested $10,000 in the stock market and the price of the stock drops like a stone one day? On paper, you’ve lost a bundle, offsetting the value of compounding you’re trying to achieve. It’s tough to stand pat.

It’s important to remember two things. First, the longer you stay with a diversified portfolio of investments, the more likely you are to reduce your risk and improve your opportunities for gain. Though past performance doesn’t guarantee future results, the long-term direction of the stock market has historically been up. Take your time horizon into account when establishing your investment game plan. For assets you’ll use soon, you may not have the time to wait out the market and should consider investments designed to protect your principal. Conversely, think long-term for goals that are many years away.

Second, during any given period of market or economic turmoil, some asset categories and some individual investments have been, historically, less volatile than others. Bond price swings, for example, have generally been less dramatic than stock prices. Though diversification alone cannot guarantee a profit or ensure against the possibility of loss, you can minimize your risk somewhat by diversifying your holdings among various classes of assets, as well as different types of assets within each class.

Asset allocation: Asset allocation is the process by which you spread your dollars over several categories of investments, usually referred to as asset classes. The three most common asset classes are stocks, bonds, and cash or cash alternatives such as money market funds.

There are two main reasons why asset allocation is important. First, the mix of asset classes you own is a large factor in determining your overall investment portfolio performance. In other words, the basic decision about how to divide your money between stocks, bonds, and cash can be more important than your subsequent choice of specific investments. Second, by dividing your investment dollars among asset classes that do not respond to the same market forces in the same way at the same time, you can help minimize the effects of market volatility while maximizing your chances of return in the long term. Ideally, if your investments in one class are performing poorly, assets in another class may be doing better. Any gains in the latter can help offset the losses in the former and help minimize their overall impact on your portfolio.

Time horizon: In choosing an asset allocation, you’ll need to consider how quickly you might need to convert an investment into cash without loss of principal. Generally speaking, the sooner you’ll need your money, the wiser it is to keep it in investments whose prices remain relatively stable.

Therefore, your investment choices should take into account how soon you’re planning to use your money. If you’ll need the money within the next one to three years, you may want to consider keeping it in a money market fund or other cash alternative whose aim is to protect your initial investment. Your rate of return may be lower than that possible with more volatile investments such as stocks, but you’ll breathe easier knowing that the principal you invested is relatively safe and quickly available, without concern over market conditions on a given day. Conversely, if you have a long time horizon you can afford to recover from any losses.

Invest well: Investing is complicated, the political and business environment is a June! At last we're having some sunshine and a few warmer days. For me, the best part is working in my garden and planting my herbs and flowers. Due to our cool, wet April and May, I started with the herbs first and put many in containers so I could move them inside in case of frost. I cook with as many as possible--- parsley, sage, rosemary, thyme, and basil. I wondered how long people had been using them to flavor their foods. When I searched for Parsley history, I certainly found some unexpected but interesting tidbits. The website the epicentre.com/spice/parsley had the following: "all the parsleys we know nowadays, bear little resemblance to their ancestors. The botanical name Petroselinum comes from the Greek word for stone, which is petro, given to parsley because it was found growing on rocky hillsides in Greece. Although the Ancient Greeks did not use parsley in cooking, it was revered as a symbol of oblivion and death and as a funeral herb.

"According to legend, parsley sprang up where the blood of the Greek hero Archemorus was spilled when he was eaten by serpents. The Greeks used the herb to fashion wreaths for graves. The Romans are said to have used it at orgies to cover up the smell of alcohol on the breath, while also aiding digestion. And there's the unflattering remark that was once made about those who looked as if at death's door: "The man's in need of parsley" (Corpses were sprinkled with parsley to deodorize them.)

"Parsley is mentioned often throughout history, and not only for its culinary and medicinal properties. The early Greeks made crowns of parsley to bestow upon the winners of the Nemea and Isthmian sports games, in the same manner that bay wreaths honored the Olympians.

"Parsley is used in the Hebrew celebration of Passover as a symbol of spring and rebirth. It is mentioned as one of the plants in the gardens of Charlemagne and Catherine de Medici. Rumor has it that Medici is responsible for popularizing parsley when she brought it back to France from its native Italy.

In medieval times parsley was surrounded by much superstition, one belief being that the long germination period for the seeds was due to them having to travel to hell and back seven times before sprouting. Superstitious farmers would refuse to transplant parsley and some were even too afraid to grow it at all."

The website <http://www.ourherbgarden.com/herb-history/parsley.html> had even more on parsley's history. "Pliny (23 – 79 AD) mentioned parsley as a cure for ailing fish and listed it as a popular flavoring for broths and sauces. He also made mention of a curled variety. In Tudor times through to recent years, parsley was thought to be a remedy for baldness... Charlemagne was said to have favored cheese flavored with parsley seeds."

I love to cook with rosemary, especially for chicken or pork. "Rosemary (botanical name Rosmarinus officinalis), also known as Garden Rosemary, is native to the Mediterranean area. A member of the mint family, it is an evergreen shrub also related to basil, marjoram, and oregano. It is usually found growing by the ocean, and its Latin name equates to 'dew of the sea.' "Usage of rosemary dates back to 500 b.c. when it was used as a culinary and medicinal herb by the ancient Greeks and Romans. It is still a popular medicinal herb today." (<https://www.thespruceeats.com/history-of-rosemary-1807655>).

One flower that I planted about mid-

May was the marigold, which adds such cheer to a gloomy day. The Burpee website contained a most interesting article. "Marigolds, native to the New World and sacred flowers of the Aztecs, journeyed across the Atlantic Ocean twice to travel 3,000 miles north of their center of origin. The lengthy journey is a testimony to the rugged durability of marigolds...The earliest use of marigolds was by the Aztec people who attributed magical, religious and medicinal properties to marigolds. The first recorded use of marigolds is in the De La Crus-Badiano Aztec Herbal of 1552. The Herbal records the use of marigolds for treatment of hiccups, being struck by lightning, or 'for one who wishes to cross a river or water safely'. The last use confirms the magical properties ascribed to marigolds. The Aztecs bred the marigold for increasingly large blooms. It is told that in the 1500's, native marigold seeds were taken from the Aztecs by early Spanish explorers to Spain. The marigolds were cultivated in Spain and grown in monastery gardens. From Spain, marigold seeds were transported to France and northern Africa. The taller marigolds, now called African-American, became naturalized in North Africa.

"In Mexico and Latin America, marigold flowers are used to decorate household altars to celebrate All Saints Day and All Souls Day. Flower heads are scattered on relatives' graves, which can account for the profusion of marigolds in cemeteries. "Marigolds are also used in Hindu religious ceremonies. An account describes the marigold being used as garlands to decorate village gods during the harvest festival. The traveler recalling the festival also noted that maize and peppers were exactly the same shade of orange-yellow as the marigold. It was as though the corn and peppers were selected or bred to match the marigold flower color. "Several hundred years after their initial journey from the Americas to Europe and Africa, marigolds were introduced to American gardeners.

This reunion of sorts did not happen until shortly after the Revolutionary War. Marigolds were just one of many plants shipped to the young country.

Around the turn of this century, sweet peas and asters were the popular flowers in the United States. Yet both of them were becoming beleaguered by disease and declining overall performance. The time was right for a new flower to make its debut. In 1915 David Burpee took over the seed company, which was founded by his father, W. Atlee Burpee. Young David felt that marigolds held promise and decided to feature them in his catalog and fund research. Since the 1920's marigold breeding has developed hundreds of new varieties." (<https://www.burpee.com/gardenadvicecenter/annuals/marigolds/marigold-history/article10006.html>).

Even if you don't have the room for a garden, take a trip to a garden center and buy a plant. Just looking at all the beautiful varieties is rejuvenating, and even a small potted plant can help make a space cheerier.

Don't forget to visit to one of the local farmer's markets for wonderful produce. We are so fortunate to have access to such fresh produce.

COLOR

Blair, a parent of a KMS student. "We had a blast, laughing, running, and dancing, it was just awesome getting blasted by the blue, yellow, purple, and pink."

Inspired by the festival of color, Holi; an Indian festival of color. Holi celebrates the arrival of spring and end of winter. It is an annual festival that has been taking place for hundreds of years. Clouds of colors dancing in the wind carry the message of love and happiness across to all who participate. In the same spirit of celebration, the color-a-thon fundraiser was created to give schools a more exciting and interactive fundraiser. If the fundraiser receives less than $7,500 the school gets 50 percent of the profits. But, if it raises more than $7,500, the school receives 70 percent of all the donations.

"I believe between the two of them, the girls raised around $500 and my kids had so much fun doing it. They said that it was so cool getting their face and hair covered in color. Their favorite part was when teachers and volunteer parents were chasing everyone around to get them even more covered in color," said Blair.

PUTNAM — Tiffany Guilmette, accounts receivable technician for Day Kimball Hospital, has been named employee of the month for April by Day Kimball Healthcare.

Guilmette began her career with Day Kimball Hospital in January 2017 in the Nutritional Services department before transitioning into her new position in the Patient Accounts department six months ago. In her current role as accounts receivable technician, Guilmette, plays an important customer service role that requires precise organizational skills. Her daily responsibilities include assisting patients in the settlement of their accounts, explaining charges, and answering related inquiries.

“I first got to know Tiffany as a patron of the cafeteria. She always greeted me with a warm smile and was quite proficient in her short order skills. Last May she transferred to my department and in a short period of time, she excelled in her new role and felt comfortable in her daily functions. She is caring, positive, and openhearted towards her fellow man. Tiffany demonstrates kindness and respect for all patients as she gives them directions throughout the hospital. She always comes to work with a smile, possessing a ‘can do’ attitude, and a sense of accomplishment in having achieved the departmental goals set forth in her position,” said Guilmette’s supervisor, Elizabeth Hatzell, Credit and Collections Supervisor for Day Kimball Hospital.

“I feel absolutely honored. It was completely unexpected. It feels amazing to be able to join past and present employee of the month recipients,” Guilmette said. “I like working with the public. I also enjoy the interactions that I have with patients as well as hospital employees.”

Guilmette was born at Day Kimball Hospital and grew up in South Killingly. She currently resides in Moosup with her four children, Kyle, Marcus, Connor, and Christopher.

bed and you’re sweating, and they became more and more frequent, and here I went 33 years without a nightmare and now all of a sudden here they are.”

Wanting to get to the bottom of the issue, he visited his physician. At the recommendation of his doctor, Hayes visited a psychiatrist, he said it was the first time he cried in 33 years.

“I cried that day, first time in 33 years, not because of emotion but because I was going to lose my job, that’s the way it was, you didn’t let that stuff go because if you did, you weren’t strong enough, you weren’t emotionally stable, they took your gun and they took your job,” Hayes said.

In order to qualify, individuals must have had the PTSD come as a direct result of a qualifying event that occurred in the line of duty, and not due to any intervening factor or other source of stress. The bill further protects officers by prohibiting law enforcement agencies from disciplining or penalizing officers who seek mental health services. Any new fire service member, or law enforcement or parole officer who are hired on or after January 1, 2020 will receive resilience and self-care technique training as a result of this bill.

“There are police officers and first responders in this state that have this stuff locked up inside of them and they are afraid to let it go,” Hayes said. “These people are our heroes, they have to know that its ok to talk about it, that its ok to get help.”

The bill does include a provision for the Labor Committee to examine the feasibility of expanding the coverage via a study to include emergency medical personnel and the Department of Corrections employees.

Lawmakers from both sides of the aisle applauded the passage of this bill and it taking the first steps to address issues of mental health, but also emphasized the importance of following up next session to amend the current language in SB-164 to account for those individuals who were not included in the original form of the bill.

The bill received unanimous support in both the House and Senate, it will now head to the Governor’s desk for his signature

East Catholic edges Killingly for state D-III golf title

BY CHARLIE LENTZ
VILLAGER EDITOR

HARWINTON — East Catholic of Manchester exacted a measure of revenge against Killingly High at the Division III State Golf Championships on Tuesday, June 4, at Fairview Farm Golf Course. One year to the day since losing to Killingly in last season’s state championship tournament, the Eagles edged the Redmen by four strokes in the team competition to capture the state crown.

Last year Killingly won a three-hole playoff to edge East Catholic in the D-III Championships at Tallwood Country Club in Hebron. On Tuesday Killingly was shooting for its third state title over the last four state championship tournaments but it was not to be.

East Catholic posted a team score of 315 to win this year’s state D-III crown at Fairview Farm on June 4. Killingly finished in second place in the team competition with a score of 319.

The top four scorers from each team are counted for the team competition. Killingly High’s scorers were Nolan Marcoux, who finished tied for fourth place in a field of 95 players from around the state with a score of 77, five over par on the par-72 course; Jack Aitken, tied for 10th, 79 (+7); Chris Lackner, 13th, 80 (+8); and Luke Desaulnier, tied for 18th, 83 (+11).

Somers knocks Tourtellotte girls from tourney

Tourtellotte Memorial's softball team shared some hugs after a season-ending loss to Somers High on May 30.

BY CHARLIE LENTZ
VILLAGER EDITOR

THOMPSON — For senior shortstop Lauren Ramos the defeat was tough enough but losing the camaraderie of her teammates will be just as hard. Somers High ended Tourtellotte Memorial's season by a score of 15-0 in the second round of the Class S state softball tournament. High school graduation and summertime will scatter the Tigers their separate ways — but the remarkable turnaround they made from last season will be their bond forever.

"We all came together and we're all super close and that's what makes this loss so hard. It's because we were like a family," Ramos said. "We all came together at the hardest times."

The loss completed eighth-seeded Tourtellotte's season with a record of 15-8. The wheels came off early against ninth-seeded Somers on May 30 at Tourtellotte Memorial. The Spartans sent 13 batters to the plate in the top of the first inning and nine of them crossed home plate.

"We've been struggling hitting for the last couple of weeks and to get down that big, early, it really put us behind the eight ball. They're a quality team. They took advantage of every slight mistake we made, got some extra bases, and we just couldn't stem the tide in that first inning," said coach Paul Faucher, his first season. "All year long we've done a great job of minimizing damage, holding them to one, two runs, maybe three — but they just unloaded on us in the first and it was too much to recover from."

Somers added three runs in the third inning, two in the fifth, and scored one run in the top of the sixth. The game was stopped after six innings via the mercy rule. Tourtellotte managed just four hits and couldn't string any of them together for run production.

"They were better than us today, that's all. We struggled hitting. We got some decent hits but we hit them right at them. And they made some plays on us. But that's the game," Faucher said.

Emily Reynolds earned the win, going six innings, striking out four, walking one, hitting one batter, and allowing no runs on four hits. Alyssa Milliken went 5-for-5 with two RBIs for Somers (16-6). The Spartans amassed 16 hits.

"They're well coached. They're all aggressive. They look to take the extra base. They hit well. They hit well to all fields. They're balanced up and down the order. They found a lot of holes today. They just beat us," Faucher said.

Ninth-seeded Somers advanced all the way to the Class S championship game and was scheduled to face No.-7 seed Coginchaugh in the title game on June 7.

Senior right-hander Amanda Bogoslofski took the complete-game loss against the Spartans, striking out two, walking five, and allowing 16 hits. Bogoslofski went 1-for-3 with a double at the plate. Jolie Wilber finished 1-for-3, Kaleigh Somers went 1-for-2, and Lindsey Houghton went 1-for-2 for the Tigers.

Last season Tourtellotte finished the season with a record of 7-13 and failed to qualify for the state tournament. This year the team captured the regular season title in Division 4 of the Eastern Connecticut Conference and earned the eighth seed among all Class S teams in the state tournament. Coach Faucher gathered his Tigers in left field for one last team meeting after the loss. High school graduation and summertime will send them in different destinations —out in left field they shared one last team hug celebrating what they accomplished together.

"Like I told them just now, not much was probably expected of them this year but they proved them wrong. We won our division. We won some close games, grinding it out, showed them that we can play up here," Faucher said. "We're proud of these kids. They just worked every single day to improve — to lay it on the line for themselves and their teammates."

Gamer went 3-for-5 with five RBIs for the 19th-seeded Panthers. Matt Blume picked up the win for East Windsor, striking out three, allowing four hits, and walking for over five and one-third innings.

Mason Barber took the loss for 14th-seeded Tourtellotte, going one-third of an inning, striking out one and allowing two earned runs. Jack Merrill went three and one-third innings for the Tigers, striking out two.

VILLAGER EDITOR

DAYVILLE—Killingly High's 4-2 loss to Valley Regional in the opening round of the Class M state baseball tournament was a big reminder that little things matter: a routine grounder, an infield popup — the Redmen muffed both of those chances and Valley Regional plated three unearned runs en route to ousting the Redmen from the state tourney.

The loss on an overcast afternoon could not cloud Killingly's turnaround from last season, when it failed to qualify for the state tourney in 2018 with a record of 7-13. Killingly finished this season with an overall mark of 12-11 and earned the right to host a state playoff at Ben Desaulnier Field at Owen Bell Park on May 29.

"I was definitely proud of them to earn a home game compared with where we were the first two seasons. They worked hard," said coach Todd Meadows, in his third season. "They just got beat by a better team. They played better than us today."

Valley Regional took a 1-0 lead in the top of the second inning with the help of an infield error. The Warriors loaded the bases with two outs in the second frame and Killingly sophomore left-hander Bo Yaworski induced a routine grounder in hopes of escaping unscathed — but it was misplayed and the Warriors plated one run. Yaworski then struck out Nate Robida with the bases full but the damage was done and Valley Regional led by one run. The Redmen were without shortstop

Chris Jax, who broke his arm one week earlier in an Eastern Connecticut Conference tournament game against St. Bernard.

"We lost our shortstop in the ECC tournament. He's definitely a big loss. Chris had a good year for us," Meadows said. "But you know our mentality is next man up, you've got to keep pushing."

A pair of Killingly errors in the top of the sixth inning (including a dropped popup in the infield) allowed three runs to score, two unearned, and Valley Regional took a 4-0 lead.

"Once we got down four it was going to be difficult but we still had a chance. We still made it interesting in the seventh," Meadows said.

Through six innings the 16th-seeded Redmen managed just three hits and no runs against Warriors freshman left-hander James Marsden. Killingly loaded the bases with two outs in second inning but could not score.

"That's how baseball is. A couple weeks ago we got those key hits," said Meadows. "It's baseball. Their pitcher pitched well. He's a freshman. He did a good job. We just couldn't come up with the big hit."

Marsden wilted in the bottom of the seventh when he walked one batter and Killingly nicked him for a pair of hits and two runs. Chris Sparaco relieved Marsden with two outs and faced one batter with a man on base, inducing a popup for the final out to get the save for 17th-seeded Valley Regional (12-9).

"These guys have been fighting back all year. We put up two in the last inning. We had a couple opportunities have a tie game," Meadows said. "We just didn't come through but they didn't quit."

Marsden picked up the win, going six and two-thirds innings, striking out nine, walking three, allowing five hits and two earned runs. Josh Ross and Sparaco each went 2-for-4 for the Warriors.

Yaworski took the complete-game loss. He went seven innings, struck out eight, walked three, allowed six hits and four runs, one earned. Killingly's Ethan Preston went 2-for-2 with an RBI-double and a walk. Yaworski went 1-for-3 with a walk. Castor Ward finished 1-for-4. Pinch hitter Jacob Nurse singled in his only at-bat and scored one run and Austin Dionne notched an RBI-groundout for Killingly.

Although the Redmen did not advance in the Class M playoffs, Killingly senior center fielder Tyler Cournoyer said they earned their turnaround season and a berth in the state tourney.

"I'm really proud. We worked all off-season for this. It didn't end up the way we wanted it to but at the end of the day we put the program in a better spot than we did last year," Cournoyer said. "For us (seniors) I think it's a good spot to leave the team in. I'm just hoping that those underclassmen carry that forward and continue to get better every season — and fight to get better every year."

Kenneth Merrill Stetson. 91

Kenneth Merrill Stetson of West Hartford, Connecticut and Chatham, MA died peacefully on May 22, 2019 surrounded by his family. He was 91 years old. He was born March 20, 1928 at his family home on Wolf Den Road in Brooklyn, Connecticut, the son of Kenneth Gallup and Miriam (Cornell) Stetson. Ken attended Brooklyn Grammar School and graduated from Killingly High School in 1946. He then enrolled at the University of Connecticut, where he earned both bachelor's (1950) and master's (1962) degrees. He also received a Certificate of Advanced Graduate Study in 1963 from the University of Hartford. Through the R.O.T.C. program at the University of Connecticut, he was commissioned a Second Lieutenant in the United States Air Force. He served on active duty for three years in Texas, New York, and Massachusetts, and subsequently served in the United States Air Force Reserves for twenty years. He retired as a Lieutenant Colonel and the Commander of the 59th Aerial Port Squadron at Westover Air Force Base in Chicopee, Massachusetts. Ken devoted his career as a science teacher and guidance counselor to the children of West Hartford, where he was employed by the Board of Education for four decades. He began teaching in 1950, and retired in 1991 from Sedgwick Middle School. He was beloved by students and faculty alike. Speaking about the heart of his work with characteristic humility, he reflected, "One of the nicest things I remember was a note I received from a student who simply wrote, 'Thank you for being there'". Ken's warmth and his wise and gentle presence provided guidance and strength to many. In an article about his career published in this paper, he was described as leaving behind a legacy of love. With the exception of his service on active duty with the U.S. Air Force, he lived in West Hartford from 1950 to 2019. He and his family enjoyed many summers at their home in Chatham, MA, which they shared with his three grandchildren, extended family, and friends. Whether boating on Nantucket Sound, sailing on Pleasant Bay, hiking and exploring by land or by sea the history and geology of the Cape, he especially loved time outdoors. An avid traveler and outdoorsman, Ken hiked and camped throughout the country as a young man. Later in life he traveled the world with his family, determined to impart to them his love of nature and history. "It's a great big beautiful world we live in," he was fond of observing. No matter how far he traveled, Ken never forgot the rural beauty of his hometown of Brooklyn, where he returned annually to walk through the woods and fields and along the stone walls of his childhood, often in the company of one or many family members to share his stories and humor. His love for the land and for wildlife resulted in his conservation of much of his forestland and farmland in eastern Connecticut. He captured many of his reflections on his boyhood home in his book, Small Town, Small Talk. Ken joined Emanuel Lutheran Church in Hartford in 1955, where his father-in-law was a minister, and over the years he served on various committees and groups there, including the Church Council. He was a member of several professional organizations and clubs, including the West Hartford Squires. He was the beloved husband for sixty-four years of Karin (Sandberg) Stetson, cherished father of Anne and David and of David's wife, Claudia, and treasured grandfather of Eleanor, Caroline, Sarah, and Sarah's husband, Joel. He also leaves his sister, Miriam Schings and her husband, Alfred, and many nieces and nephews. Ken was predeceased by his brother, Clayton. A memorial service to celebrate Ken's life will be held on Saturday, June 15 at 11 am at Emanuel Lutheran Church, 311 Capitol Avenue, in Hartford. # Great gifts for dear old dad Father's Day is right around the corner, and the time has come once again to begin searching for a gift for dear old dad. Father's Day gift shoppers have long since abandoned the notion that a new necktie is what dad really wants, but finding a gift that expresses your love and appreciation for the old man can still prove somewhat challenging.

Oftentimes, the best gifts are the ones that fulfill a need or want, and Father's Day gifts are no exception. The following are a handful of Father's Day gift ideas for dads whose hobbies run the gamut.

THE SPORTS NUT

Dads who can't get enough of their favorite teams would no doubt appreciate some new gear or even tickets to see their favorite teams play. If you opt to buy tickets to a ballgame, make it a family affair, as dad would no doubt appreciate an afternoon at the ballpark with his kids and/or grandkids. For a father who no longer lives in the market where his teams play, consider purchasing a streaming service or television package that allows the old man to see his favorite team no matter where he's living.

THE MOVIE MOGUL

get enough of the silver screen, and a streaming service that allows dad to watch many of his favorite movies on demand from the comforts of home might make the perfect gifts for film-loving fathers. Services like Netflix and Amazon Prime offer hundreds of titles, and monthly or yearly subscriptions cost relatively little money.

THE OUTDOORSMAN

Fathers who love the great outdoors might appreciate some new camping gear, a new fishing pole or even some comfortable hiking boots. When shopping for the outdoorsman in your life, consider which outdoor activity is his favorite (i.e., boating, fishing, kayaking, etc.) and try to find the latest useful gadget or newest product made for such enthusiasts. If you don't share the same passion for the great outdoors and are hesitant to buy something you're unsure about, a gift certificate to an outdoorsman or sporting goods store will suffice.

THE DOTING GRANDFATHER

Some men simply want to spend more time with family, especially grandfathers who never tire of afternoons with their grandchildren. If dad has retired and moved away, a trip to see his grandkids might make the ideal gift this Father's Day. Arrange the dates with mom so you are not surprising dad with a trip at a time when he already has plans, and make sure to schedule some fun activities for those days when dad is in town.

Father's Day is a time each year when dads are told how much they are loved and appreciated. This year, a gift that implies both those sentiments is sure to make dad smile.

Unique ways to honor Dad this Father's Day

Father's Day is a day many families look forward to. Though its history might not go back as far as many religious or government-designated holidays, Father's Day is rife with tradition in many households.

Father's Day is celebrated on the third Sunday in June in both the United States and Canada and also in the United Kingdom. While Father's Day might trace its origins to the United States, the holiday is celebrated across the globe, including in Argentina, Greece, India, Singapore, and New Zealand.

Fathers often receive gifts from their spouses and children on Father's Day. What to give the dad who seemingly has it all leaves many people scratching their heads in the weeks preceding Father's Day. People who find themselves in such situations can think outside the box and look for ways to honor their fathers this year. The following are some unique ways to honor Dad this Father's Day.

TRAVEL

Dad may be pleasantly surprised by a stroll down Memory Lane. Plan a day trip or weekend excursion to Dad's hometown, visiting all his old haunts, including the house he grew up in, and allow him to serve as tour guide. This can be a great way for Dad to share stories and for his family to learn a little more about the old man. Other great places to visit include Dad's college campus or his ancestral homeland.

HIGHLIGHT REEL

In the months preceding Father's Day, do some covert digging through family photo albums to create a "This Is Your Life" highlight reel for Dad. Go back as far as possible, even looking through Dad's baby photos if you can find them. This might require a collaborative effort, requiring the whole family to work together, but that can make for an enjoyable way for families to spend time together and see how Dad became the man he is today. Present the finished product at a family dinner on Father's Day.

MAKE A LIST

Another unique way to honor Dad is to compile a list of the many ways you are and will always be grateful for having him as a father. Adults honoring their fathers can cite specific examples they recall from childhood and young adulthood when Dad went above and beyond or served as a sounding board or shoulder to cry on. This is a great way to honor Dad and let him know all those sacrifices and special moments are still appreciated and will never be forgotten.

Father's Day is a chance to honor Dad, and the way you choose to do so can be as unique as the man himself.
