Selectmen defend against criticism over tax hikes

BY JASON BLEAU
NEWS STAFF WRITER

DUDLEY – Dudley’s highest board is defending itself and the Town Administrator in the wake of criticism for a hike on recent tax bills that has residents fuming.

Dudley’s third quarter tax bills were released just prior to the Christmas holiday, presenting a starkly different number than taxpayers were used to. The bills demanded $13.50 per $1,000 in assessed property, a $1.77 increase over the previous year, and for some taxpayers, a perceived 40 percent jump over the previous bill. As a result, several citizens took to social media condemning the Board of Selectmen on the public forum, while others took a more personal approach by calling selectmen and Town Administrator Greg Balukonis to voice their concerns. Selectmen decided to set the record straight during a meeting on Jan. 7, where Balukonis addressed the concerns directly with the following statement:

come up about the tax bills and the rate. I think there’s some misunderstanding. People have come to me and said they had a 40 percent increase. That increase represents the fact that the first two bills, the August bill and the November bill, were estimates, so they were based on last year’s tax bill and there’s no amount put in there for the override. Then the bill that comes out in December, which is due on February first, and the fourth quarter bill, which is due on May first, catch up and include all of those costs in the last two bills of the year so the actual increase was not 40 percent.”

Balukonis said a 20 percent increase is the more accurate number, and that $1.51 of the $1.77 increase per $1,000 valuation is related directly to the much-discussed Proposition 2½ override for education funding that passed both a town meeting and an election in 2018.

“It’s important to know that of that total, most of it is attributable to the override, and, for those who may wish to recall, the override was yes 57.6 percent, so that was a substantial version for implementing the will of the people by including those numbers in the budget,” Balukonis said.

Despite the increase, Dudley retains the lowest tax among local communities and had the second lowest single-family tax bills in the area behind only Spencer. Balukonis added that his intention was not to berate or “irritate” people who were surprised by the tax increase but merely to “set the record straight” as to where that increase came from consider-

Selectmen support Ducharme appointment to Board of Health

BY JASON BLEAU
NEWS STAFF WRITER

DUDLEY – The Dudley Board of Health is saying goodbye to one member and hello to a new one at the start of the new year as the Board of Selectmen recently accepted one resignation and one promotion to the board on Monday, Jan. 7.

Selectmen acknowledge the departure of J. Theodore Zajkowski, who is a multi-term member of the Board of Health. Zajkowski was reelected to the position unopposed in 2017, and was to serve until June of 2019. Zajkowski’s resignation was effective immediately, leaving a vacancy in the Board of Health that wouldn’t take long to fill, at least as far as the selectmen were concerned.

Almost immediately after accepting Zajkowski’s resignation with regrets, the Board of Selectmen interviewed Lorri Ducharme for the position. The owner of a hair salon in Webster and a resident of Dudley for more than 15-years, Ducharme told selectmen she wanted to step up to bring her dedication to public health and her experience in business to the table.

“It’s a subject within my beauty industry that’s very important to me, and I’ve advocated for higher standards of safety and practice

Callahan reflects on first 100 days

BY GUS STEEVES
TIMES CORRESPONDENT

OXFORD – In politics, a leader’s first 100 days is a time of getting feet wet and sometimes being thoroughly dunked in the issues.

For Town Manager Jennifer Callahan, on the other hand, it was “a fantastic fit, giving me the opportunity to work on things I love. ... I’m really looking forward to achieving some strategic goals that might not have been achievable in recent years.”

Callahan was formally chosen last summer, after Brian Palaia’s departure, and started last fall. Previously, she’d done a stint as Town Administrator in Millville, five terms as state representative, and several years as an administrator in the University of Massachusetts system.

She sees a significant difference between those roles. As a legislator, she noted “you’re up at 35,000 feet” and deal with several communities. But as a manager “you’re seeing the daily functions of government that have to be executed,” and people “depend on the solvency” of the system for all kinds of things. People need to be able to pay their tax bills, obtain marriage and business licenses, get septic and other designs approved, etc. Thus, she “makes decisions on a daily basis that have strong ramifications if they’re not done well,” she said.

To her, taking the helm in Oxford gives her the chance to again focus on bringing projects that can improve local quality of life “from infancy to fruition.” Two of them have already taken steps forward with state grants – an information tech grant to install a new VOIP phone system in town buildings and a MassWorks grant to do infrastructure, traffic light and related work on Harwood Street to help address issues near IPG Photonics. Several other major items are on the short-term radar, including demolition of Woodward School,

Food for fun: Local eateries donate to B&G Club

DUDLEY – Especially in a time when tax law eliminates a lot of the deductions for donations, local organizations need help. But sometimes those helpers have been doing it for some time, regardless of such changes.

Last week, two regional 99 Restaurants (in Auburn and Killingly) came together to contribute $10,696 to the Webster-Dudley Boys & Girls Club.

According to Executive Director Lemel Moore, the funds will be “put directly back into programs, not salaries.” It will be spread among a couple of the agency’s key efforts, namely by getting “a couple of cool toys for them and we’ll take it from there.”

“It’s a big deal,” agreed club board member Robert Bouchard. “It’s very much needed and very much appreciated.” He also noted he encourages board members to identify themselves when they go to 99 restaurants “and let them know they’re making a difference.”

Auburn 99’s general manager Krenar Jaupaj, who took over that store last year, said the fundraising partnership has existed for at least 10 years and is nationwide. Every October, the restaurant chain designates specific menu items from which $1 per dish gets donated, and that has accumulated $4.3 million nationwide over the years. Among other things, he noted 99 staff get involved in cooking for Club events,

Dudley seeks input on community development strategy

DUDLEY — The Town of Dudley will host a public forum to discuss its draft Community Development Strategy (“CD Strategy”) on Wednesday, Jan. 23 at 7:15 p.m. at the Dudley Municipal Complex, 71 West Main St., Room 321A, during the Planning Board meeting.

The Community Development Strategy is a short-term planning document that helps establish priority goals and projects and informs funding requests for Community Development Block Grants (CDBG) and related state and federal grants.

Dudley is currently developing a CD Strategy with the intention of applying for fiscal year 2019 CDBG funds, due March 1, with assistance from the Central Massachusetts Regional Planning Commission (CMRPC). CMRPC and Town staff have reviewed Dudley’s Master Plan and Economic Development Strategic Plan and have identified ongoing goals such as improvements to public works infrastructure, support for business development, improved streetscapes and walkability, revitalization of historic mills and other brownfields, stabilization of older housing stock, greater access for disabled residents, and enhanced services for other at-risk groups. Potential projects to help implement these goals could range from a study of water, sewer and other infrastructure or a sidewalk improvement project to a housing rehabilitation program for lower-income homeowners or a plan for full access for disabled residents.

Interested residents and other stakeholders are encouraged to attend the CD Strategy forum to offer their input. Planning Commission and Town staff will present information on the CDBG program and Dudley’s draft CD Strategy. Residents’ opinions on priority goals and projects for improvement are welcome.

Andrew Loew, Project Manager for CMRPC, said “We want to hear from Dudley residents. Are there community development issues they think need to be addressed in the next few years? Are there parts of town or populations that should be prioritized? This is their chance to let us know.” Mr. Loew noted that the draft CD Strategy will be made available for public viewing on the Town’s Web site as well.

The Community Development Block Grant program is a federal grant that is administered for smaller communities by the Massachusetts Department of Housing and Community Development on a mostly competitive basis. The program’s objectives are to serve predominantly low-to-moderate income neighborhoods and populations and to prevent deteriorated conditions in the built environment.

A public hearing to discuss Dudley’s final CDBG application is currently set for Feb. 4 during the Selectmen’s meeting. Results of the grant application are expected to be announced in July.

Questions about Dudley’s CD Strategy can be directed to Andrew Loew, Central Massachusetts Regional Planning Commission, at (508) 459-3339 or Don Johnson, Dudley Town Planner, at (508) 949-8014.

Fattman sworn in for third term in state Senate

SENATOR CITES LOCAL AID, PUBLIC SAFETY, AND OPIATE CRISIS AS TOP ISSUES

SUTTON—State Senator Ryan C. Fattman (R-Sutton) was sworn in for a third two-year term in the Massachusetts State Senate representing the Worcester and Norfolk district.

Fattman, who previously served as a state representative and selectman, said he was honored to be re-elected with such a large margin in November’s election and looks forward to continuing to work on behalf of the people of southern Worcester County.

“It is an honor and privilege to work on behalf of the people in Worcester County in the State Senate,” said Fattman. “I am thrilled to continue advocating for the issues that matter most to our communities.”

The Senator outlined his priorities for the district including: public safety improvements, stemming the tide on the opiate crisis, increasing local aid and education funding, working on issues related to millennials such as college affordability, and continuing to make Massachusetts a better place to live.

“Last session I voted for a record amount of funding for our cities and towns in the Commonwealth, and voted to update how we fund our schools. We need to continue where we left off this past January and keep moving the ball forward on helping families in our district,” said Fattman. “As a father of two, I am pleased to have the opportunity to work for a better future here in Massachusetts.”

Fattman also applauded Governor Charlie Baker’s efforts to reform dangerousness hearings for criminals with violent histories. Baker, who was sworn in for a second four year term, cited the need for revised procedures in how violent criminals can be released shortly after appearing in court.

“I thank Gov. Baker for mentioning this much needed update to our judicial system in his inaugural address. Having previously filed this legislation in the Senate, I look forward to refiling this legislation and advocating for these changes this year,” said Fattman.

The Worcester and Norfolk district spans 14 towns along the Connecticut and Rhode Island border and includes Blackstone, Bellingham, Douglas, Dudley, Hopedale, Mendon, Milford, Millville, Northbridge (precincts 1 and 3), Oxford, Southbridge, Sutton, Uxbridge and Webster.

Fattman can be reached at 617-722-1420 or ryan.fattman@masenate.gov.

Pawsitively 4 Pink holds first fundraiser to help ease financial burden for women diagnosed with breast cancer

About one in eight U.S. women will develop invasive breast cancer over the course of their lifetime. In 2018 alone, over 266,000 new cases were diagnosed in American women, Massachusetts being one of the highest occurrences of this diagnosis out of all the United States.
Often given little attention, however, is the economic impact of the diagnosis on patients. Women being treated for early breast cancer lose about a quarter of their annual income. Ten percent of women lose 66 percent or more of their yearly income.
Michelle Power, the President and Founder of Pawsitively 4 Pink, started this non-profit organization after witnessing the journeys of her long time friend and business partner, her foster mother and most recently, two other family members who were diagnosed with breast cancer. She has seen the devastating effects physically, psychologically and emotionally that this disease has inflicted on these loved ones and their families. After talking with these women she would never have guessed the internal struggles they were experiencing. But behind their faces were hardship and heartache.

“A diagnosis of breast cancer infiltrates their bodies, and can win the daily battles, but we cannot let it win the war and steal what they have worked so hard for in their lives,” said Michelle Power, President and Founder of Pawsitively 4 Pink.

There are numerous side effects to this diagnosis not limited to the physical dimension, including psychological, emotional and fiscal all affecting a women’s ability to heal and become healthy.
Pawsitively 4 Pink, a non-profit organization based in Worcester, is holding its first major fundraiser to help supplement some of the financial cost that women in Worcester County who have been diagnosed with breast cancer struggle with. Without a paycheck daily bills including phone, electric, gas, and rent or mortgage payments are unable to be paid intensifying an already stress filled situation.

Researchers followed women who had paying jobs for the first year after their breast cancer diagnosis, and found that the majority missed work or had reduced hours. Women most affected by lost wages included those with lower education who received chemotherapy and had less of a social support network. They also tended to be self-employed or worked part-time.
Being diagnosed with breast cancer can be life-altering, and handling the news is often a challenge no matter what the prognosis. Couple that emotional pain with lost wages, when they are needed to cover numerous co-pays and transportation costs, as well as medical procedures that are not paid for by insurance, and it’s easy to see how a woman could begin to feel overwhelmed.

The fundraising event will be held at 6 p.m. on March 2 at the White Eagle at 116 Green St., Worcester. There will be food, drinks, raffles, silent and live auctions and music. All proceeds go toward the Pawsitively 4 Pink organization and will benefit breast cancer victims.

About Pawsitively 4 Pink
Pawsitively 4 Pink’s mission is to improve the well being of women in Worcester County who have been diagnosed with breast cancer with love and dedication. Its sole focus is to be a source of pawsitivity and empowerment for one’s spirit and recovery by supplementing the financial burdens of these women.

Music Worcester presents a night with Havana Cuba All-Stars

PERFORMANCE WILL FEATURE SOME OF CUBA’S GREATEST MUSICIANS AND FINEST DANCING COUPLES

Music Worcester is pleased to announce a joyous celebration of Cuban music and dance styles with the Havana Cuba All-Stars at Mechanics Hall on Thursday, Jan. 31 at 7:30 p.m.
In recent years, Music Worcester has paid homage to several musicians making waves through the Cuban music industry and bringing their traditional sounds and style front and center to the Worcester community. These performances include the National Symphony Orchestra of Cuba’s first U.S. tour in Fall 2012 and the Havana Lyceum Orchestra and Simone Dinnerstein’s first U.S. tour in June 2017.
This season’s performance, back by popular demand, will feature some of Cuba’s greatest musicians as they perform rhythms and melodies from the Cha Cha to the Rumba, from “Son Cubano” style to the Salsa, showcasing a wide variety of Cuban beats through fresh, contemporary lens. In their upcoming performance, the All-Stars will be backed by three of Cuba’s finest dancing couples. With the greatest dancers and musicians of Cuba working in tandem, the American encore of the Havana Cuba All-Stars’ tour will be a spirited spectacle of song and dance, exemplifying Cuba’s greatest musical traditions.
“We are very excited to have the talented musicians of the Havana Cuba All-Stars join us this season,” Music Worcester Executive Director Adrien

C. Finlay said. “The rhythms and sounds of Cuba will come alive in Worcester in an electric evening that celebrates both Cuba’s music and dance styles. Our audience can expect a night of dancing in their seats for this performance.”

Nugent named Interim Principal at Oxford High

BY KIMBERLY MASCHI
TIMES CORRESPONDENT

OXFORD — After months of uncertainty, Oxford Public Schools Superintendent Elizabeth Zielinski has announced through the district’s Web site that Dr. Kimberlee Henry will not be returning as principal at the local high school. Henry was on paid leave as of Oct. 10.

In a new statement, Zielinski writes, “After a challenging start to the school year, the High School leadership team has stabilized. I wanted to make sure that you are aware that Mr. David Nugent is no longer only acting Principal, but has been officially named as the Interim Principal and is overseeing both Oxford High School and the COFFEE Program.”

Dr. Kimberlee Henry became principal of Oxford High School in 2017. David M. Nugent came to OHS in October of 2006. Nugent was previously a special education teacher at Shrewsbury High School.

Dr. Zielinski states that OHS has begun the process of New England Association of Schools and Colleges (NEASC) Accreditation. NEASC is an accreditation that is granted through various evaluations.

In the Middle School, the students have taken the Rachel’s Challenge pledge which means that the students are to look for the best in others, “to dream big, to choose positive influences, to speak with kindness, and to start their chain reaction.” On Jan. 17, the Middle School will be showing a documentary on students and screen time called, “Screenagers.”

A newly formed Strategic Planning Committee will be reaching out to residents in Oxford with questionnaires, surveys, and focus groups. The A.M. Chaffee school will continue with its acts of kindness. Clara Barton school will continue with the good news call of the day with Principal Quinn.

Abigail Hesselton of Oxford receives Hofstra University Excellence Award

HEMPSTEAD, N.Y. — Abigail Hesselton, a senior at Hofstra University majoring in Music education, was recently honored at the University’s inaugural Academic Excellence Awards, presented by Hofstra College of Liberal Arts and Sciences (HCLAS).

Abigail was one of 42 award recipients from 23 departments and a variety of interdisciplinary programs. Nominated by their chairpersons and professors for outstanding achievement, each student received a certificate and a $100 gift.

“These students are distinguished not only by their grade point averages, but by their extraordinary accomplishments in and out of the classroom,” said HCLAS Dean Benjamin Rifkin. “They have presented at national scholarly conferences, co-authored papers accepted for publication in scholarly journals, and performed on stages at Hofstra and elsewhere. They have served leadership positions on campus, engaged with community organizations, mentored their fellow students and participated in a broad range of student organizations. They are truly stars of the liberal arts at Hofstra.”

Abby, a member of Hofstra’s Honors College, is a singer who performs in two of Hofstra’s major vocal ensembles, the Chorale and the Chamber Choir, and the Common Hour Concert Series. The Music Department Chair Phil Stoecker writes that Abby is “an exceptional student, extraordinary musician and a wonderful young woman, she stands head and shoulders above her peers

... and she is certainly deserving of an HCLAS award for excellence.”

Hofstra University is a nationally ranked and recognized private university in Hempstead, N.Y. that is the only school to ever host three consecutive presidential debates (2008, 2012 and 2016). Our campus is a leafy oasis just a quick train ride away from New York City and all its cultural, recreational and professional opportunities. We offer small classes and personal attention, with the resources, technology and facilities of a large university. Students can choose from more than 160 undergraduate program options and 165 graduate program options in the liberal arts and sciences, education, health professions and human services, the Peter S. Kalikow School of Government, Public Policy and International Affairs, the Fred DeMatteis School of Engineering and Applied Science, the Frank G. Zarb School of Business, the Lawrence Herbert School of Communication, the Maurice A. Deane School of Law, the Hofstra Northwell School of Graduate Nursing and Physician Assistant Studies, and the Donald and Barbara Zucker School of Medicine at Hofstra/Northwell. Hofstra University is a dynamic community of more than 11,000 students from around the world who are dedicated to civic engagement, academic excellence and becoming leaders in their communities and their careers.

ing the public backlash. “it’s important to know that we haven’t stepped out of line,” Balukonis said.

Several selectmen showed clear frustration with both the misconceptions and how taxpayers chose to voice their concerns, especially with the use of social media. Selectman Steve Sullivan said he did hear several complaints and found some to be “ironic,” especially those who called for a recall of the Board of Selectmen.

“We have roughly 6,600 voters, I believe, in town — somewhere in that ballpark. I think the override generated about a 1,200. If they want to recall us so badly and the people out there want these jobs so badly, the last municipal election had 301 actual people vote. So, if you want to start talking about recalling, I’m not trying to irritate anyone, but they need to get their facts in order,” Sullivan said.

He also confirmed that he was forwarded correspondence accusing the town of financial mismanagement, especially in regard to the recent approval of more funding for the Dudley Fire Station project. Sullivan explained that if citizens would pay attention and show up to meetings they would find many of their concerns have been addressed and the facts have been laid out in public forum.

“I found it very ironic that the person who posted that was on a board in town which almost directly impacts or hinders what we can do in town because we have no expansion of municipal services. I can’t remember the last time we expanded. So, I would think one house should be in order before another house gets a stone thrown at it. That’s how I feel,” Sullivan said.

Selectman Jonathan Ruda also cleared the air, saying the Board of Selectmen has gone out if its way over the last nine years to make sure everything they do and every expenditure has been discussed openly before the public. He added that he feels the complaints have been generated from a small group of citizens who ignore the facts.

“We get to where we defend ourselves against a very small minority of people who have an ideology that they already feel they have the truth and they are impervious to the facts when they come out. The people who voted for the override, which resulted in the increase of our taxes, are the ones we are representing right now. At some point, we have to disconnect and realize that no matter how much of the information is out there and no matter how much we talk about it, it’s not going to make a difference. If there’s a void of information, we are very happy to provide any additional information required. What I don’t want to spend a lot of time doing is to try to defend facts with non-facts,” Ruda said.

Other selectmen agreed, noting that Facebook and other outlets have become a haven for those to spread commentary and theories on the fly, often with no supporting information or a disregard for what has been discussed in open meetings. Selectmen noted that there is another forum citizens can choose to utilize if they wish and that is at any of the board’s regular meetings where citizen comments are more than welcome.

Making a resolution that will last

With New Year's Day now in our rear-view mirror, we, like many of you out there, are thinking about resolutions. We could debate that September is actually the start of a new year given the clean slate of grades to start a new school year, but a new year is a new year, and not all of us are still in school.

More than half of all resolutions end in failure, but we like the fact that generally, we, as people, seek to improve ourselves and our lives. One reason resolutions fail is that a person just hasn't chosen the right one, something that has meaning. Many people fail before the end of January.

A resolution isn't the right one for you if it's too vague, if it's someone else's expectations for you, or if you have no plan.

The acronym SMART (specific, measurable, achievable, relevant and time bound) can be used to help facilitate your success. If you make a specific goal of losing a certain amount of weight, your goal will be easier to obtain. If you set a time limit (baby steps) by saying 'I will lose one pound each week,' your plan becomes more effective. As a side note on the 'baby steps' concept, if you haven't seen the comedy "What About Bob?" starring Bill Murray, you must.

We all like to see progress and to see it fast. One way is to make something measurable. If you want to scale back on something, say using social media, you can use the 'see how much time you've spent on Facebook' setting to watch your usage go down. Or if you've set out to watch as many old classic movies or read as many John Grisham novels as you can this year, you can make a check list, and as you finish each one, check it off the list. Or bring an empty book case into your house, as you finish a book, pop it on the shelf.

Pick a goal that is achievable. By taking a leap that is too big, you might find yourself in over your head and likely frustrated. Having a goal of saving more money than you can, will leave you hopeless, however if you can put away $50.00 per month, then you're on to something.

Choose a resolution that is relevant. Doing something for the right reasons is key. A relevant goal is a lasting goal. If you want to do more research on your family's ancestry, so that your family will have the information for years to come, then what you're doing has meaning to not only you but to the people you care about. Choosing to bring others in on your goal is never a bad idea either. We all need a coach at times.

Using a timeline for your goals should be realistic. Knocking off small goals along the way will lead you to your larger goals and will also give you a chance to create your new habit.

Learning something new is one of the most refreshing things about being alive. Being able to continually grow and morph into the best versions of ourselves is what life is all about. The more you enjoy, the more meaning you get out of life.

As the poet T.S. Eliot wrote, "For last year's words belong to last year's language, and next year's words await another voice."

Do-It-Yourself Tips for Health and Well Being

The answer to common maladies isn't always in a medicine cabinet. In fact, treating everyday ailments or symptoms of aging is often a matter of common sense. From mental maneuvers to manual massage, the following self-help tips are geared toward effectively promoting good health and well being!

- Improve Memory: What's your memory grade? If you're a flunky when it comes to remembering, it may be time to get your brain back in shape with some mental gymnastics. No matter what your age, experts say exercising your brain really may make the difference between using it and losing it. Activities such as doing crossword puzzles, playing word games or cards, strengthens the receptors between brain cells in memory transmission areas. If you sense memory loss occurring, use mental helps such as calendars, calculators, list making, and group discussions to exercise your memory receptors. And relax. According to the experts, worrying about what you're going to forget can actually cause a mental block! *
- Effortless Memory Boost: Too tired to exercise your brain to boost memory? Dab on your favorite perfume! Believe it or not, medical studies show memory skills are enhanced while people are wearing a fragrance. The theory is that because the part of the brain that stores memory is located near the part that senses smell, the memory is boosted when you sniff a fragrance. Now, if you can only remember where you put the cologne... *
- Laughter is the Best Medicine: Groucho Marx once declared "A clown is like an aspirin, only he works twice as fast!" And health officials worldwide have proved laughter really may be the best medicine. According to University of Maryland Hospital studies, the benefits of laughing include improved coordination of brain functions, memory improvement, reduction in stress and depression, pain relief and stronger internal muscles. One UM doctor even claims twenty seconds of hearty laughter gives the heart the same workout as three minutes of hard rowing. So enjoy a daily dose of laughter, it's free, fun and contagious! *
- Stress Busters: It's 2 p.m., you've got a pile of unfinished work, you've yet to each lunch and the phone keeps ringing! If the high tech and high stress world has got you chewing your acrylic nails off, try these easy office stress busters: At the first sign of stress, massage therapists suggest simply massaging the palm of one hand by making a circular motion with the thumb of the other. Or, when you're stressed out, reach for a steaming mug of decaf or other hot beverage and cup your hands around the mug. Bring your warm hands to your closed eyes for a few seconds and take a deep breath to induce calm. And here's a good excuse to snack on the job: Carbohydrates stimulate serotonin in the brain, so reach for a bagel, crackers or pretzels to help calm down fast. *
- The Buzz on Caffeine: If you love your coffee, you now have another excuse to drink high octane java! A ten year study by the University of Bristol revealed coffee drinkers really may be better thinkers. The report said a cup of coffee can help in the performance of tasks, requiring sustained attention. It further helped enhance a person's ability to perform these tasks, during low alertness situations such as at night or when a person has a cold. *
- Hearing Help: Are you saying "Huh?"

TAKE THE HINT
KAREN TRAINOR

- more than you used to? Well before you run out to by a hearing aid, you might want to consider a pair of sneakers instead! Believe it or not, researchers at Miami University in Ohio report aerobically fit people heard sounds at lower volumes than their sedentary counterparts. In fact, the researchers went as far as to declare that a fit person at age 40 can have the hearing of a 20 year old! The concept is that aerobic exercises such as walking, enrich the blood with oxygen and improve blood flow to the ears, which improves hearing function. For a proper hearing "fitness" routine, the experts suggest working your way up to walking 30-60 minutes, five or six days per week. For an optimum hearing boost, add strength training, as those who are aerobically and muscularly fit had the best hearing! *
- Eye Test: Babyboomers may be soon discovering their eyes aren't as sharp as they used to be! Here is a quick vision test to gauge whether or not it's time to have those glasses upgraded: A person with good vision should be able to read the numbers and letters on a license plate 80 feet away. If not, it's time to get a vision check up. If you work at the computer all day, this simple "eye break" exercises tired eye muscles. Hold a pencil one foot away from your eyes, focus on an object behind the pencil for several seconds, then blink and focus directly on the pencil for a moment or two. This helps relaxes and revitalize eyes. At home, relieve eye strain by cutting two thin slices of raw red potato. Keep them on your closed eyelids for 20 minutes. *
- Sweet Slumber: Are you always tired? Is your nightly slumber less than satisfying? If so, it might be time to reset your sleep clock to ensure your daily dose of rest! If your body clock is set to a different time than your schedule, you'll feel tired. Experts say when you're in your 20s and 30s, your body is typically set to stay up late and sleep late. On the other hand, it's common for people in their 60s and 70s to fall asleep at before 8 p.m. and wake up before the birds. Here's how to get back to a normal sleep rhythm by resetting your sleep clock: Bright electric light can shift your body clock, according to a past study published in the Journal of Investigative Medicine. If you want to stay up later, sit under a bright light bulb for one to two hours before your current bedtime. This will slowly shift your body clock to a later bedtime. In the morning, block out bright light until you've been up for an hour or two. If you want to go to bed and get up earlier, dim the lights in the bedroom after 9 p.m. and pull up shades to allow the morning sun to stream in. *
- Stall Senility: If forgetfulness has you fretting about a future with Alzheimer's, here are some facts that may actually help you stall or prevent the disease. While searching for the cause for Alzheimer's disease, researchers found some interesting clues. Middle-aged people with high cholesterol or high blood pressure have a 50 percent greater risk for developing Alzheimer's later in life. Studies also reveal patients may have low levels of vitamin B-12, A, C and beta-carotene, and high concentrations of aluminum and mercury. Most revealing is that a recent study of people genetically predisposed to developing Alzheimer's disease, showed those who consumed the most fat on average, as well as the most calories, were more likely to develop the disease compared as to people who followed low-fat, low-calorie diets. So take your vitamins and eat healthy to up your odds of avoiding Alzheimer's!

Chief's Corner

CHIEF'S CORNER
STEVE WOJNAR

This past week, there were some technical glitches that caused disruption of 911 calling services. There was some malfunction of the system which caused issues with both cell phone and landline-based calls. The issue has been corrected. I just wanted to take this opportunity to provide some information for people on calling to report emergencies.

Our 911 call center is in Webster as part of the South Worcester County Regional Communications Center. Any 911 call made from either town, on a traditional land-based phone, should be automatically received in the center. This should be true no matter if you use standard telephone lines or Internet-based phone services (such as Spectrum or others). Last year, the call center started also receiving 911 cell phone calls.

Any 911 cell call made within our area should be directed to our local call center. It is important to know, however, this may not always occur. Cell calls generally go through the nearest available tower. Depending on that location, it is possible these cell calls can initially be directed to a regional dispatch center run by the Massachusetts State Police. In some cases, due to our proximity to the State of Connecticut, the call may be received by a regional center in that state. It is important for people to know they may not be speaking with local authorities initially. There is no need to worry, as your call will be transferred to the proper community or agency by these regional centers. Please understand, this can take a few minutes to complete. That can be stressful, particularly in an emergency. You may experience a few brief moments of silence during the transfer process. Don't assume the call was dropped and hang up right away. Wait for a response. If you hear nothing within a short time, or if you are in a poor service area, there is the possibility of "dropped" calls. If this problem occurs, try again to ensure the local emergency department has received your report.

To avoid potential problems, and to prepare yourself in the event of future loss of 911 service, you should make note of and program your cell phone with the local emergency number for your community. Here in Dudley, our business line of 508-943-4411 Option "0" should be added to your contacts under whatever title deemed appropriate (police, emergency, etc.). All emergency services (police, fire, ambulance, etc.) can be accessed in this way. This will ring directly to our dispatch center and assistance can be provided to you much faster.

You can still call 911 from your cell phone for emergency purposes. Many cell phones, even those which have been disconnected or are no longer in service, can call 911 should the need arise. It is important for people to be aware of how these calls are handled when they are made. It is also important to make a follow-up call if there is any possibility your initial call may have been lost. It is better to make several calls and know your message was received than to take a chance that your only call did not arrive to its intended destination.

Thanks again for your questions and comments. Please send them to me at the Dudley Police Department, 71 West Main St., Dudley, MA 01571 or email at swojnar@dudleypolice.com. What's keeping you from protecting your family's future?

FINANCIAL FOCUS

DENNIS ANTONOPOULOS

Think about your loved ones. What will their future be like? Can you picture them living in your house many years from now? Can you picture your children going to college? Can you picture your spouse or partner enjoying a comfortable retirement? These are all pleasant visions – but what if you weren't in these pictures? If you were no longer around, you'd leave a gaping hole in the lives of your survivors. The emotional element would be tough enough, but the financial aspect – the permanent loss of your income – could be devastating to all the hopes you've had for your family members. Fortunately, you can help prevent this "worst-case" scenario from happening – if you have sufficient life insurance.

Unfortunately, a lot of people don't – even when they recognize the need. LIMRA and Life Happens, two organizations that provide education on life insurance, report the following:

Only four in 10 Americans own an individual life insurance policy – although 85 percent say that most people need life insurance.

More than one-third of all households report that they would feel an adverse financial impact within one month of losing a primary wage earner's income, while nearly half would feel an impact in just six months.

What's keeping people from providing adequate insurance for their families? Here's a sampling of the most common reasons: "I just don't want to think about it." Let's face it – like almost everybody, you probably don't like to think about death. And consequently, you may well be inclined to postpone thinking about life insurance. But if you can just envision what your loved ones' lives would be like without you, in terms of their financial situation, you will find it easier to address your insurance needs in a calmer, more analytical manner.

"I have other financial priorities." You will always have financial obligations – mortgage or rent payments, car payments, credit card bills, student loans, etc. You can't ignore these expenses, but ask yourself this: Do any of them really take priority over the future happiness and welfare of your loved ones? Since the answer to this question is obviously "no," you will likely conclude that maintaining adequate life insurance is one of the most important financial moves you can make.

"I can't afford life insurance." If you think life insurance is prohibitively expensive, you're not alone. In fact, 80% of consumers think life insurance costs more than it does, according to LIMRA and Life Happens, while nearly half of the "millennial" generation estimates the cost at five times more than the actual amount. In reality, some types of life insurance, such as term insurance, is highly affordable.

"I don't know how much insurance I'll need." To determine an appropriate level of coverage, you'll need to consider a variety of factors, such as the number and age of your dependents, size of your mortgage, spousal income, amount of employer-provided insurance, and so on. A financial professional can help you calculate the amount of protection you need.

As you can see, none of the reasons listed above should really keep you from adding life insurance to your overall financial strategy. So, take action soon to help ensure that your wishes for your family's future will become reality.

Bay Path completes season sweep with win over Indians

NORTH BROOKFIELD — The Bay Path Regional girls' varsity basketball team is rolling, and they picked up an eighth victory of the season after defeating North Brookfield High, 51-29, on Wednesday, Jan. 9. The Minutemen also defeated the Indians, 51-33, back on Dec. 27 to complete the season sweep. Bay Path led at the half, 17-13, but turned it on late to win by 22 points and improve to 8-1 in the process. The loss set North Brookfield back to 3-5.

Worcester Tech gets hot in third quarter to take down Minutemen

CHARLTON — The Worcester Tech boys' varsity basketball team is perennially near the top of the Colonial Athletic League and, in turn, normally makes a deep run in its Central Mass. District Tournament. And Bay Path Regional hopes to make a big splash in the league and in postseason play this winter after opening the season with a record of 8-1.

And the Minutemen handled themselves well when hosting the Eagles on Monday, Jan. 14. Bay Path held a 27-21 halftime lead and ultimately won two quarters and tied another. But the Minutemen lost the third quarter by 16 points (26-10) and fell just short, 57-51.

"Worcester Tech is one of the top teams in Division 4. Most likely they're going to be a semifinalist in the Districts. This is the kind of game that can measure exactly where we're at," said Bay Path head coach Al Greenough.

And Greenough believes that his team, now 8-2, passed the eye test with Worcester Tech, who improved to 8-1 with the win.

"Worcester Tech is up here," Greenough said, putting his hand to eye level, "and as far as I'm concerned after watching this game tonight that we're right there with them."

The game was tied, 14-14, after the opening eight-minute quarter. Then, in the second, the Minutemen's Cory Cotton came off the bench after picking up some early foul trouble to provide an offensive spark. Cotton closed the half on a personal 8-0 run — via a steal and layup, plus a pair of 3-pointers — to put Bay Path up, 27-21, at the break.

The Minutemen then held a 37-36 lead as the third quarter clock inched closer to zero. That is where the Eagles made their move.

"I thought we battled them all game as hard as we could with our lack of size. We did everything that we could defensively to try to take some things away and I thought the kids did a good job of carrying through with the game plan and keeping them in check, for the most part," said Greenough.

The "for the most part" indicated the final 1:36 of the third quarter when Worcester Tech's Jose Bonilla — who was scoreless up until that point — finished off a layup and then canned three 3-pointers, including the final one from NBA distance to beat the buzzer and give the Eagles a 47-37 lead with a period to play.

Worcester Tech's 26-point quarter was more than the 21 points they scored in the first and second quarters combined.

"That was basically the difference in the game," Greenough said of Bonilla's 11-point outburst.

Bay Path never gave up and cut the deficit down to two points, 51-49, when Jamie Rodriguez (14 points) made a 3-pointer with 1:07 to play, but they could get no closer. The Eagles scored six of the final eight points to put the game away.

Cotton scored 17 points for the Minutemen and teammate Joe Starr added 10 more, but the team could never fully control Worcester Tech's top players, as Brandon Hamilton finished with a double-double (17 points, 20 rebounds) and Jason Latorre chipped in 12 points. Overall the Eagles outrebounded Bay Path by a sizable 49-21 margin.

But, more than anything, Greenough appreciated his team's effort, an effort that has won them a come-from-behind game in the recent past.

"They're a bunch of kids that work extremely hard and they work from the opening tip until the last buzzer. It's like our last game, down 12 points with a minute to go and we came back and won the game," Greenough said of beating Abby Kelley Foster.

Cotton hit four 3-pointers in the final minute for the Minutemen versus the Bears, and then Rodriguez made a jumper with a second to spare to win it.

Even though they lost to the Eagles, Greenough believes that his team is strong and will only get better after playing a top opponent so tough.

"Tonight will give them confidence that we can compete with these teams," he said of playing against the other top programs in the league in the form of Assabet Valley and the Advanced Math and Science Academy.

Bay Path's Cory Cotton handles the ball and simultaneously separates himself from Worcester Tech defender Jose Bonilla.

Perry helps shoot red-hot Pirates past Bartlett

WEBSTER — Any opponent of the Oxford High girls' varsity basketball team knows to focus in on Pirates' senior Gina Parmenter, who became a coveted 1,000-point scorer in her junior season. But a secondary scorer to Parmenter has emerged in the form of junior Micaela Perry.

In Oxford's 56-24 win versus Bartlett High on Thursday, Jan. 10, the two combined to score 33 points — Perry netted a game-high 17, Parmenter provided 16 — as they held big leads after the first quarter (15-3), at halftime (33-9) and through three periods of play (47-17).

Perry did the bulk of her work from the corners — on either side — as she knocked down five 3-pointers and added one two-point basket.

"She's a pure shooter and she has a quick release," Oxford head coach Joe Pietrzak said of Perry. "She has my blessing any time to put that ball up and she does a good job.

"When you have a player like Gina [Parmenter] out there it opens up the doors for some other kids — you still have to make the shot, though — and she's as pure a shooter as we have," added Pietrzak.

Perry, who admitted that she has had "a couple of rough games" in the recent past, saw a 3-pointer fall in the first quarter and she never looked back from there.

"I just had a lot of confidence today," said Perry.

Perry is appreciative of the fact that Parmenter can get her the ball when she's open in the corners.

"She obviously can score the ball, but she also works very well with our forwards and getting us open off the pick-and-roll," said Perry.

A prime example of both Parmenter and Perry excelling came in the second quarter when Parmenter assisted on Perry's two-point basket and then stole the ball away from Bartlett, dribbled down the court and finished off a layup. On the next possession, Parmenter drained a 3-pointer to open up a 22-3 lead on the Indians.

Later in the second quarter, Parmenter (left corner) and Perry (right corner) drilled back-to-back 3's to make it a 28-7 game.

"I think we're starting to play well, I really do," said Pietrzak. "I think we're coming into a good stretch here."

The Pirates opened the season 0-3, but have now rattled off seven consecutive victories to improve to 7-3.

"It's the longest streak I think probably in the last 10 years at Oxford in a row," said Pietrzak after losing contests to quality opponents in Millbury, Leicester and Hudson High. "What we're doing better now is we're playing better defensively. [Bartlett head coach] Anthony [Pukalo has] got a lot of good shooters over there and I thought we did a good job of disrupting them."

Pietrzak singled out the stellar defensive play of senior Felicity Steiger on Bartlett freshman sharpshooter Camden Heenan, who finished with five points.

The Pirates also outrebounded the Indians, 51-36. In the pregame talk, Pietrzak noted to his team that they won the battle of the boards with Bartlett the last time around, 47-27, during Oxford's 55-32 victory on Dec. 27.

"If you do that tonight, good things are going to happen for us," Pietrzak remembered telling his team of trying to win the rebounding game.

In addition to Perry, Parmenter and Steiger (7 rebounds), sophomore Chloe Davis (8 points, 9 rebounds), freshman Olivia Clarkson (10 rebounds), senior Erin Caissie (8 rebounds) and junior Hannah Volpe (8 rebounds) had standout games for the Pirates. The Indians, meanwhile, slipped to 2-8 with the loss.

"This is the best 2-8 team I've ever coached in my life," explained Pukalo. "We just ran into an absolute buzz-saw tonight. Joe [Pietrzak] is one of the most underrated coaches in the area — this is the hottest team in the area."

Pukalo was proud of his team's effort throughout the contest — and during the entire season.

"We had [undefeated] Millbury in here on Tuesday night and we had them on the ropes. It was a six-point game in the third quarter. We played fantastic, inspired basketball. The effort never droops because these girls fight and fight," concluded Pukalo.

Senior Allison Grzembksi scored a team-high 10 points and pulled down 8 rebounds for Bartlett, while sophomore Gabriela Piwowarczyk corralled a team-best 10 boards.

Time to get out on the ice

TRUE

Start your engines! Ice augers, that is. Ice fishing has finally arrived, and anglers are wasting no time to do a little bit of ice fishing.

As always, extreme caution needs to be practiced when navigating new ice. Because of the deadline for this column, no reports of fishing from local anglers this week, but I am sure there will be a lot of news next week.

Reports from Maine: ice fishing anglers have bob houses and other fishing gear being set up on frozen lakes. Hopefully, the ice will hang around for a while, giving anglers a few weeks of good ice fishing. Cape ponds have a coating of ice on them, but may need a few more days of cold weather to make them safe. Remember to wear ice creepers on your shoe or boots to avoid a nasty fall that could send you to the hospital and end your ice fishing expeditions for the year.

This week's two pictures show a local angler with his prize winning broodstock salmon caught a number of years ago at Wallom lake in Douglas, and the second picture shows a farther and son team ice fishing at Linwood Pond a few years ago. Unfortunately, no broodstock salmon are available to Mass. Fish & Wildlife again this year. It sure was a great opportunity for anglers to enjoy the experience of landing such a great fish through the ice. Pike fishing in Rhode Island and in lakes in the Western part of Mass. should start to produce some great fish.

The last segment of the Canada goose season in Massachusetts opened this past Tuesday, Feb. 15, and will end on Feb. 15. The late season allows for a liberal daily bag limit of 15 birds. Because of the extreme cold weather and frozen lakes this past week, many geese will be visiting local rivers to feed and have water. Hunting areas around water require a good bird dog for retrieving downed birds, but can be hazardous for them also. Dogs falling through thin ice can often put the dog in a dangerous condition. I like to have my lab fitted with a good vest that is buoyant and also keeps his body warm when swimming in the frigid water. No goose is worth the life of my dog, as I have told numerous stories of my hunting experiences in past columns that could have very well cost myself and my dog our lives.

Hunting from a canoe or small water craft at this time of year is also dangerous and common sense and caution needs to be practiced on every hunt. Wearing life preserves at all times when in water craft while hunting this time of year can save your life. I have tipped over my canoe while hunting waterfowl in my younger years and if it happened to me today it would more than likely cost me my life. I no longer have a canoe or small boat to hunt from and I prefer to keep both feet on dry ground. Goose hunting can be a lot of fun but common sense needs to be practiced every minute while out in the great outdoors at this time of year.

If you own a good rabbit dog, this is the time of year to enjoy the baying of the hounds as they trails the scent of the elusive rabbit. There populations have increased these past few years, and if you can find a bit of cover along fields and swamps that are open to hunting, you may just be able to harvest a few of these tasty rabbits. The bare ground is just what you need to hunt rabbits this time of year. Rabbit stew was a favorite dish of mine back in the good old days.

Hunting on a Saturday morning with the late Bob Campo and Buster Bromley, it was not hard to harvest a few rabbits for a good stew. My son, Ralph Jr., also enjoyed rabbit hunting back in the day, at age 12. He shot his first two rabbits on Thanksgiving morning off of Sutton Street in Uxbridge in front of my first real good beagle called Joe. I purchased the beagle as a pup from the late John Bolanzo of Douglas. The dog won numerous trophy's and ribbons in field trials at the Blackstone Valley Beagle Club and The Whitinsville Fish & Game Club. Ah, yes, the good old days .

Don't forget the upcoming Sportsmen's shows. The Marlboro Fly Fishing Show is this weekend, Jan. 18, 19, and 20, and the New England Fishing and Outdoor Expo open their doors on Jan. 25-27 . The Springfield show will open their doors on Feb. 22-24.

The Rhode Island saltwater fishing show is March 22-24 this year. More on these shows next week.

Preserving antique furniture and silver

Those of you who regularly watch PBS' "Antiques Roadshow" have seen antiques that have lost much of their value after being cleaned. If you are unsure whether to clean an antique, don't. While some antiques can be cleaned, others like coins should never be. This column will offer some guidelines on caring for antique furniture and silver, but the best advice is to consult with a professional before you clean or restore antiques.

If you have a valuable piece of Period furniture or another family heirloom the American Institute for Conservation of Historic and Artistic Works (AIC) offers some great suggestions for preserving your pieces. To preserve antique furniture keep it out of direct sunlight. Damage from visible and ultraviolet light is "cumulative and irreversible." Humidity also affects furniture. The AIC recommends that furniture not be stored in basements or attics and kept away from heating vents and fire places. High humidity can promote mold growth and insect activity in the wood. Changes in humidity can produce shrinkage and cracking.

"It was once thought that furniture needed to be 'fed' with various mixtures of oils and other materials to keep it from drying out," according to the AIC.

It has now been determined that some furniture oils will produce a gummy surface on furniture. Other furniture polishes contain non-drying oils that attract dirt and grime. Silicone polishes leave a film and may interfere with later preservation. For clear-varnished furniture a lightly applied, good paste wax is recommended. AIC notes that "it may not be appropriate to wax furniture that is gilded, painted or lacquered, or furniture that has unstable veneers or flaking finish." Stripping and refinishing used to be considered standard practice, but no longer is. The original finish is important to the piece and can't be recovered once it is removed. They recommend contacting a conservator if you are unsure about what to do.

The Victoria and Albert Museum Web site states that silver tarnishes from car emissions and other pollutants. A wide variety of other factors tarnish silver. Wood, wool, leather, textiles, rubber bands, newspaper, adhesives and even vegetables and egg all emit sulphurous and acidic gases. To help prevent tarnish James Robinson of James Robinson Inc in New York recommended enclosing silver in airtight zip lock plastic bags in his appearance on the Martha Stewart show. He advised against using rubber bands to keep flatware pieces together. Cloth silver protectors help protect from tarnish. Robinson advised that silver that is used regularly can be washed with mild soap and water.

To remove dirt from silver the Victoria and Albert Museum uses solvents on cotton swabs. To remove tarnish, they use a chemical cleaning solution with cotton wool and wash it with de-ionised water. Overcleaning silver can remove hallmarks. They note that when "used carefully these treatments can improve the appearance of silver objects, while retaining signs of wear, which are evidence of past use."

I have seen many pieces of silverplate that appear to have been polished with abrasive cleansers. The thin layer of silver has been worn off exposing the plate beneath. Sometimes, it may be best to leave your silver alone for a while and work on New Year's resolutions instead.

We are planning an online estate auction in Swampscott. We are still accepting consignments and making pickups for our next live February 28th. I'll be teaching my "Evaluating your Antiques" class on March 12 at the Bay Path Evening School in Charlton. Please see www.centralmassauctions.com for details on these and other upcoming events.

Things to remember on Martin Luther King, Jr. Day

ANNIE

"Darkness cannot drive out darkness; only light can do that. Hate cannot drive out hate; only love can do that." -MLK Jr.

With Martin Luther King Jr. Day coming up on Jan. 21, I wrote down things I try to keep in my thoughts each year, hoping that other people will not simply see it as a Monday holiday, but a celebration of how far we have come and a realization of how far we have to go.

First, questioning the status quo is not only important, but it's necessary. The laws of the 1950s in the Southern United States reveal that just because something is legal does not mean it is right. Jim Crow laws mandated racial segregation in many states by creating separate public facilities, schools, and transportation vehicles for black Americans and white Americans. The idea, upheld by the U.S. Supreme Court in 1896, was based on the idea that these facilities would be "separate but equal," with the problem being that they were always separate and never equal. After Rosa Parks refused to give up her seat to a white man in 1955 when the whites-only section was filled, Dr. King became the leader in the Montgomery Bus Boycott, which led to the ending of racial segregation on all Montgomery public buses in 1956. When following the law was not the right thing to do, King refused to follow it, creating a change to further human rights.

Second, nonviolence is often much more brave than violent retaliation. King and the rest of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference organized nonviolent protests throughout the south to fight for desegregation, voting and labor rights, and other civil rights. It was never about doing nothing, but rather about turning nonviolence into an action that allowed them to openly confront legal racism through marches, sit-ins, and other forms of protest. The SCLC hoped that its efforts would increase media coverage of civil rights protests and the violence and harassment that partakers suffered, and it did. The efforts of Dr. King, especially the Selma demonstrations, changed public opinion about the Civil Rights Movement dramatically by the early 1960s and led to the passage of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 and the Voting Rights Act of 1965.

Third, change is inevitable, so we have to learn to move with it. Maybe the world isn't like it was the day you were born, and it shouldn't be. Every single day, people change, circumstances change, and our entire world changes, little by little. Dr. King was a facilitator of change, but he also had his moments of difficulty, especially during his jail time in Birmingham and prior to the March on Washington, and had to learn to put aside his own fears and doubts in order to follow his vision of equality.

Fourth, ideas do not die with people. Dr. King's assassination in 1968 did not end his legacy or the idea that every single human, regardless of race, deserves human rights and to be treated equally. We can see this now in the Black Lives Matter movement and the fight against racist tendencies in America's war on drugs. Equality is not just an important part of American society, it is the base of it. Celebrating MLK Jr. is part of celebrating the idea of human rights for everyone, regardless of skin color.

Finally, many people were injured and some even died during the Civil Rights Movement. Martin Luther King, Jr. Day was established to celebrate a man who took charge and made sacrifices during the civil rights movement, but he is not the only one who did so. It is a day we can take to stop and remember how many lives were lost or never the same again because of police force. It is a day to not take our freedoms for granted, but remember how many people fought for what was right and how many things we still need to fight for.

Instead of thinking of MLK Jr. Day as just another day off from work, I hope we can all think about who it is celebrated for, why his efforts were needed in the first place, and how we can continue to guarantee equality and human rights in this country. After all, it is every single citizen's responsibility to make sure America remains a free and equal place for all people.

building a dog park, updating the open space plan, addressing several blighted properties, and creating “wayfinding and branding” signage for downtown.

Callahan sees the latter as part of the Complete Streets program, which she hopes to use to beautify downtown and make it more usable for both pedestrians and car traffic. Done right, they can “give it that nice small-town feel, rather than widening it into a thoroughfare,” and encourage people to spend time downtown.

Town buildings themselves are also priority, since she noted they’ve seen “deferred maintenance” for years. Part of that involved hiring a new facilities person recently, but will also require funding from grants and elsewhere to work on the library, community center and high school. She noted the community center saw renovation of the third floor (where the school department is), but not the lower two, where several “very successful programs ... hit five major areas of our town,” including youth and seniors.

“We can integrate all those things in a major rehab of the community center It’s a gem that needs resources,” she said, noting she will start working with Faberman Design to plan that project soon.

The funds can come from a trust fund and Community Development Block Grants, she added.

Around Thanksgiving, the school experienced “seven to eight hours of flooding” when an internal water main broke, but staff didn’t know until the next morning. That could be seen as a symbol of one of Callahan’s key goals – “re-establishing a relationship with the school department” after a few years of poor communication, staff turnover, fiscal issues and turmoil. She noted she came in not long after Superintendent Elizabeth Zielinski started, and they’ve made a point of meeting frequently, updating at each other’s boards, and generally “trying to set a different tone,” she said.

One such effort, however, didn’t pan out. For some time, Callahan and Zielinski were trying to convince the School Committee to support a shared facilities director, but the committee chose not to.

Despite that, “if I can continue the solid communication skills ... we’ll build on those successes,” she said. They’ll need it – one of the key issues here (and in most towns) is pushing to fix the Chapter 70 school funding formula. Callahan said she believes the Legislature recognizes it’s “a much greater priority than even Chapter 90,” which funds roads (and is also severely underfunded).

Internally, Callahan said she’s working on several finance-related issues, particularly reconciling the town’s accounting data – which “more than doubled our free cash number” – and transitioning to a new software system. Also critical is beefing up the town’s stabilization fund for the next economic downturn; she’d like to see it be more than $1 million.

“Technology will always come and go, but this town, as big as it is, has always been a little behind the radar,” she observed.

In one key area, it’s not technology but people that matter more – the Building Department. To her, enforcement both solves problems and is a “revenue generator.” But the current incumbent of that job is part-time, and she feels the town should have a full-timer for every 8000 residents. (Since Oxford has almost 14,000, that would be a full-timer and a part-timer.) Elsewhere, she noted, she’s planning for several retirements of “long-serving” staff members later this year.

“The outpouring of support was really humbling,” during her first 100 days, Callahan said, pointing to a tack-board full of cards thanking her for various things, including bringing blankets to cold election workers.

“As a manager, we’re all human. I’m sure I’ll make my share of mistakes, but also feel my share of gratitude and appreciation and connect with people on those levels,” she added. “... I’m looking forward to a long tenure here.”

within the industry. I’m very interested in taking that to the next level and expanding my horizons,” Ducharme told selectmen. “I’m happy to give back to a town that I love, and that I grew up in.”

Ducharme was praised by members of the Board of Selectmen, including John Marsi, who said he knows from personal experience that Ducharme is a worthy selection for the position and a capable and dedicated individual to help manage public health in the town.

“I’ve known Lorri for a long time. One of the things that’s always impressed me about Lorri when she opened her shop is how much she’s gone public on sanitation and autoclaves. Everybody gets their nails done and not all places are created equal. I learned a lot just from watching what she has posted, and I think that’s exactly what we need,” Marsi said.

Ducharme received unanimous support from the Board of Selectmen, and now needs to be approved by the Board of Health to begin serving. Should she receive approval, Ducharme will serve out the remainder of Zajkowski’s term, and would need to run for official election to the board on June 10, the date of the 2019 municipal election in Dudley.

B&G CLUB

judging the Youth of the Year, and other things.

Killingly shift supervisor Cynthia Briere agreed, saying her restaurant is “really big on fundraisers” and likes the fact they “know where [the money] is going.” She was involved with the Worcester Boys & Girls Club as a student at Anna Maria College, mostly refereeing and doing other things related to their basketball program.

Moore said 99’s philanthropy focuses on youth development agencies, and “Massachusetts has one of the stronger partnerships.” This donation “beat last year’s total by $250, give or take.”

Each club is independent and has a different approach to programming, he added. Here, they’re trying to include more than just sports. Its signature effort is the “Passport to Manhood” and its sister program “Smart Girls,” both of which try to promote good teen behavior by having “all those unfortunate conversations some parents don’t want to have,” he said.

Bouchard, who’s been on the board eight years, said he feels the club’s programming is “the best it’s ever been” and “very structured.” It serves an average of 150-160 kids per day.

“We used to be more of a place where kids grabbed a basketball and ran around,” he recalled. “It’s making a difference in the community.”

Moore said the club is also looking “to partner with other eateries as well.”

OBITUARIES

Corilda M. Johnson, 94

OXFORD – Corilda M. (LeBlanc) Johnson, 94, of Shady Lane, died peacefully on Saturday, January 12, 2019, at St. Vincent Hospital in Worcester, surrounded by her family. She was predeceased by her husband of 68 years, Ernest T. Johnson who died in 2011. She is survived by two daughters, Carolyn A. Zabarsky of Oxford, and Janice M. Poole and her husband William of Dudley; a brother, Edmund LeBlanc of Ashland; five grandchildren, Dawn Poole, Bryant Poole, Jason Zabarsky and his wife Anh-Dao, Marni Zabarsky, and Tara Cushing; seven great-grandchildren, Jason Jr., Eric, Mia, Jordyn, Dakotah, Joseph, and Vincent; and many nephews and nieces. She was predeceased by three brothers, William of Cochituate, George of Worcester, and Roland of Florida; two sisters, Emma and Leona, both of Worcester; and her son-in-law, Robert Zabarsky. She was born in Woonsocket, RI, daughter of the late Peter LeBlanc and Clara M. (Lafond) LeBlanc-Ferron, and lived in Worcester before moving to Oxford in 1956. She graduated from South High School in Worcester.

Mrs. Johnson worked at the David

Clark Company in Worcester for 14 years, retiring in 1970. She stitched various garments for the company including full pressure high altitude suits used in space missions. She was an accomplished seamstress and dressmaker, sewing everything from custom window treatments to doll clothing, to everything in between. She enjoyed knitting and crocheting (especially afghans), and loved to go out dancing with her husband every Saturday night. Most of all, she enjoyed spending time with her family.

The family would like to express their heartfelt thanks to the staff at St. Vincent Hospital for the exceptional care given to Corilda. They would also like to thank Corilda's home health aide Tammy, for the compassionate and wonderful care given to her over the past years.

A funeral service will be held privately. Burial will be private at North Cemetery in Oxford. There are no calling hours. In lieu of flowers, memorial contributions may be made to St. Jude Children's Research Hospital, 501 St. Jude Place, Memphis, TN 38105-1942; or to the American Macular Degeneration Foundation, P.O. Box 515, Northampton, MA 01061-0515. Paradis-Givner Funeral Home in Oxford is directing the arrangements. paradisfuneralhome.com

Never selfish, to others so kind
These are the memories you've left behind

Sadly missed, never forgotten, always in our hearts...
