SOUTHBRIDGE — Worcester County Sheriff, Lew Evangelidis, and the Worcester County Sheriff's Office distributed 110 new winter coats and cold weather gear to men, women, and children at House of Destiny Church and Tradewinds Clubhouse.

On Dec. 9, the Sheriff's Office traveled to three towns, visited five charitable organizations, and delivered more than 250 coats to those most in need this holiday season. In total, the Sheriff's Office expects to deliver nearly 3,600 coats by the end of distribution.

"This winter coat partnership with Sheriff Lew is a tremendous blessing to our community in times that are so uncertain," said House of Destiny Church Executive Pastor, Rev. Rebekah Carrasco. She continued, "Last year, through this partnership, we were able to provide a mother a winter coat for her child as she was in recovery from COVID and not able to go out. We were able to give kids coats -those who would otherwise not have had a one during the winter season."

"Our organization has had the privilege each year to receive coat donations from the Webster Sheriff's Department," said Tradewinds Clubhouse Director, Samantha Aikey. "The donated coats have made

GWCF donates mobile vaccination/ clinic van to City of Worcester

WORCESTER — Last year, when funds were allocated to the Greater Worcester Community Foundation for vaccine equity programs, interim President/CEO Carolyn Stempler reached out to Dr. Matilde Castiel, MD, a GWCF board member and Worcester’s Commissioner of Health & Human Service, to determine where and how the remaining funds could be most impactful. After some thought, Castiel told her the city needed a mobile clinic van that, for the time being, could be used as a roaming Covid testing and vaccination resource.

Worcester’s Department of Health and Human Services (HHS) has coordinated the City of Worcester’s Covid-19 Vaccine Mobile Equity Clinic since January of 2021. Through this effort, they have administered over 23,000 vaccine doses to over 14,000 individuals at over 380 mobile clinics. To date, the Mobile Vaccine Team has relied on volunteer or personal vehicles to pack and transport materials.

After allocating a budget of approximately $70,000 and searching for a vehicle to meet all the needs for the city, it was determined that purchasing a fully-outfitted van would require more budget than previously thought.

Enter Vinh Ly, a personal friend of Stempler and owner of 3B Auto Inc. at 18 Canterbury St. in Worcester. Ly, a first-generation Vietnamese immigrant, was so excited to be a part of the project he found an appropriate van for $23,000 at an online auction, priced out the cabinetry and gear needed with HHS staff, and graciously donated his, and his teams, labor to make sure the project came in under budget.

“In the true spirit of what the Worcester community can do when they come together, the new mobile vaccination van/mobile clinic will help reach some of the hardest hit neighborhoods in Worcester,” said Stempler. “Showing how local governments can work with charitable organizations along with private citizens is the epitome of people helping people during the pandemic.”

The van, which includes wheelchair access, hot and cold running water, restroom facilities, cabinetry, and appropriate lighting was unveiled as part of the City of Worcester’s monthly Covid-19 Briefing held at noon Friday, Dec. 10, behind City Hall on the Worcester Common.

“With only 57 percent of Worcester’s population fully vaccinated, the mobile van will sustain HHS’s Covid-19 vaccination efforts as the Pandemic continues to evolve,” said Castiel. “We’re looking forward to bringing medical resources into the community in new ways and are so thankful to the Greater Worcester Community Foundation and the team at 3B Auto. This collaboration with Carolyn and Vin is an example of how great our community is here in Worcester, and it inspires me to see our city working together.”

While immediate plans are to use the van for Covid-related programs, the ultimate goal will be to have a mobile resource center for the city’s health care team helping with community events, emergency response, and mobile healthcare.

“We are so proud to be a part of this project that will help so many people,” said Ly. “We’re honored to be part of the Worcester community and even more proud to provide this community resource.”

The van will be delivered to Worcester’s Department of Health and Human Services in late December, with hopes of hitting the streets in early January 2022.

Board of Health nixes litter bylaw

BY JASON BLEAU
CORRESPONDENT

CHARLTON – The Charlton Board of Health has voted against supporting a proposed littering bylaw, believing the law would not actually deter litter bugs from committing their acts.

The board discussed the matter with the newly renamed Keep Charlton Beautiful Committee (formerly the Recycling Committee) where Joe Mahaney explained the details of the proposal which he has been working on in partnership with the Keep Charlton Beautiful Committee through much of the year. After noticing that littering is a problem for the town compromising its beauty and attractiveness, Mahaney and others felt putting a bylaw in place could help deter these actions more thoroughly on a town level.

“We’re talking about what we can do to control litter, and it’s an insidious problem. I don’t know if anyone has any magic formula to control it. It’s a difficult thing to do. We’ve talked to various people in town that had some experience with it and one of them was the Chief of Police Dan Dowd. He echoed the same sentiment that it’s a difficult problem. It’s tough to catch anybody littering. The bad thing about it is you know that most people don’t litter. Ninety-five percent of the people don’t litter, but those five percent do it over and over again,” said Mahaney.

Mahaney said he explored several options for enforcement with the chief, including camera monitoring and how fees are handed down. Currently, the state minimum fine for littering is $25, with a maximum of $250. Mahaney presented an idea to erect signs imposing higher fines on the town level, even up to $500, as a “scare tactic” to deter littering. If someone is caught littering and handed a citation by an officer they can choose to go before Charlton’s Health Agent, James Philbrook, who acts as the town’s hearing officer, to appeal it and, if they so choose, can take the matter to the state court which would be a costly commitment for local police with minimal if any financial return for fines or moral returns for stopping littering in the future.

Philbrook himself was complementary to Mahaney and the Keep Charlton Beautiful Committee for their hard work but indicated his doubts that the bylaw would truly solve the problem.

“I don’t think it’s the amount of the fines that’s going to deter them. I don’t care if you put $5,000 down, they’re still going to litter. People don’t even read signs. There are ‘stop littering’ signs all over Charlton – I don’t know if the $500 fine is going to deter anyone because they’re not going to pay it anyway,” said Philbrook. “They’re going to appeal it. They’re going to come before the hearing officer in the community. We’re going to hold a hearing and then they’re not going to pay it and appeal it to the court. We need to find some other way to educate the community and keep it beautiful.”

Board of Health members Pete Lancette offered similar doubts about whether a new bylaw would result in the change it would be meant to impose.

“I hear a lot of concerns about the nips and the beer bottles. If they’re caught throwing a nip or a beer bottle out while driving, I think the littering fine is the least of their worries and they’d be driving under the influence or driving with an open container,” said Lancette. “I’m concerned with bringing this to the town level as it was pointed out that these people are habitual litterers, that it’s not tracked from Charlton to Dudley to Spencer. If they’re littering here, they’re littering elsewhere. If they’re getting caught here, they’re getting caught elsewhere. If we contain that within Charlton, they’re not going to get the subsequent fines for being a habitual offender.”

In the end the Keep Charlton Beautiful Committee ultimately requested the blessing of the Board of Health to bring the matter to the Board of Selectmen to consideration on a 2022 town meeting warrant believing that Board of Health approval would help their cause. The Board of Health respectfully voted in a 2-1 decision not to support the bylaw with chair Jon Sanborn the only affirmative vote and members Lancette and Matt Gagner voting against the proposal.

Friday's Child

Hi! My name is Jessica and I love the color pink!

Jessica is a sweet and respectful, young girl who likes unicorns, anything Barbie, and her favorite color is pink. Jessica loves to color, especially with gel pens. Although described as shy at first, once she gets to know someone, she will talk about anything and everything! Jessica is aware of maintaining her appearance and loves her hair.

Legally freed for adoption, families of all constellations will be considered for Jessica, including homes with older children. A family with a trauma-informed approach will help her to thrive in her new setting. Jessica continues to have contact with her previous foster mother and she is an important, positive, life-long support for Jessica that will need to be maintained. Jessica is open to meeting new people and will benefit from a loving and patient home where she can develop a sense of safety.

Who Can Adopt?

Can you provide the guidance, love and stability that a child needs? If you're at least 18 years old, have a stable source of income, and room in your heart, you may be a perfect match to adopt a waiting child. Adoptive parents can be single, married, or partnered; experienced or not; renters or homeowners; LGBTQ singles and couples.

The process to adopt a child from foster care requires training, interviews, and home visits to determine if adoption is right for you, and if so, to help connect you with a child or sibling group that your family will be a good match for.

To learn more about adoption from foster care, call the Massachusetts Adoption Resource Exchange (MARE) at 617-964-6273 or visit www.mareinc.org. The sooner you call, the sooner a waiting child will have a permanent place to call home.

Purchase a terrarium or repurpose something hiding on a shelf in the basement, garage or shed. Even a cool glass container, cloche or bell jar turned open side down and placed on a shallow planting tray will work. Just glue a decorative doorknob or handle on the top for easy access.

Make it more festive for the holidays. Visit the ornament aisle in your favorite craft store. Create a mini terrarium from DIY Christmas orbs for holiday decoration or the perfect hostess gift.

Use closed terrariums like this when growing tropical plants. They thrive in the high humidity and moist soil.

Leave the top off or use open containers like glass vases, or mason jars for cacti and succulents. Use a cacti and succulent mix for these drought tolerant plants. They prefer the lower humidity and drier soil that open terrariums and cacti potting mix provide.

added color and interest. Some gardeners include a layer of charcoal to help absorb any odor. The key is not over-watering as the decorative stone and charcoal won't prevent waterlogged soil from killing your plants.

Consider covering the stone layer with black landscape fabric to prevent the potting mix from filtering through and covering up these items. Cover this with a layer of well-drained potting mix for tropical plants and cacti and succulent mix for drought tolerant plants. Add contours to the soil level if space allows for added interest.

Select a variety of plants of different heights, textures, and colors to create an attractive terrarium garden. Many garden centers now sell small specimens perfect for these mini gardens.

Low growing tropical plants such as baby's tears, creeping fig, moss, and ivies make excellent groundcovers. Small specimens of dracaenas, crotons, palms and podocarpus make nice upright features. Fill in the middle ground with ferns, nerve plants, polka dot plants and more.

Once assembled, terrariums are relatively easy to manage. Moisten the soil and cover. Crack the lid open if condensation builds up on the glass. Then replace the cover and monitor the soil moisture and condensation. Add additional moisture carefully. A turkey baster is an easy way to water only the plants in need of a drink.

Place your terrariums in a bright location away from direct light. Heat can build up in this covered ecosystem and cook your plants when placed in a sunny location.

Now is the perfect time to gather or purchase fun glassware, planting and decorating supplies, and, of course, plants. Then take a break from the hectic holiday season to plant up a few holiday decorations and green gifts for your loved ones.

Estate jewelry is bringing strong auction prices

Recently, estate jewelry has been bringing some of the strongest prices we've seen. In today's column I'll define exactly what estate jewelry is and share more about prices for this desirable item.

ANTIQUES, COLLECTIBLES & ESTATES
WAYNE TUISKULA

Even estate jewelry dealers' opinions differ on what estate jewelry is. However, the consensus is that estate jewelry is simply jewelry that was previously owned by someone else. There seems to mainly be agreement that costume jewelry isn't estate jewelry. It's generally believed that estate jewelry is fine jewelry crafted from precious metals like gold or platinum. Estate jewelry often includes gemstones like diamonds, opals, rubies, emeralds, jade, sapphires, etc.

Estate jewelry can be broken down further by the age of the pieces. U.S. Customs defines an antique as an item that's 100 years old or older. Therefore, jewelry made 100 or more years ago is considered antique. But what is considered vintage varies. Some consider vintage to be 50 years old or more. Others consider vintage jewelry to be 30 or even 20 years old. Some describe jewelry that isn't old enough to be antique or vintage as pre-owned.

Age is just one of the factors that determines the value of your estate jewelry. Most collectors want antique or vintage pieces as the value is typically higher for them. As with most items, the craftsmanship with older jewelry is often much better than with newer pieces.

The designer also makes a difference with estate jewelry. People will pay more for well-made pieces by companies like Cartier and Tiffany. Further, the size and weight are important factors. Larger, heavier pieces are worth at least the value of the gold they contain. Diamonds and other gemstones can have significant value. In one of our auctions several years ago, a three and a half carat diamond sold for over $30,000. Whether you have an old mine cut, Marquise cut, oval cut or any other diamond cut, the 4 Cs of diamonds still apply (color, cut, clarity and carat.)

Our November auction featured estate jewelry, gold coins and watches that brought nice results for the consignors. A newer 14-karat gold Italian 20-inch serpentine necklace sold for $650. An 18-karat jade ring brought nearly $900. A 14-karat gold with two and a half carat old mine cut diamonds and sapphire ring went for over $1,000. An 18-karat seven-inch turquoise bracelet with small diamonds reached over $2,100. A men's platinum moonstone ring with two small diamonds on the side sold for nearly $3,000. A Tiffany 18-karat white gold, platinum, emerald and diamond ring fetched over $4,000. A jeweled 18-karat gold dagger cut through all other items to reach the top auction price when it sold for over $8,000.

We will be running Session 5 of the model railroad, die-cast cars and models next month. We are now accepting quality consignments for our next multi-estate auction including estate jewelry, sterling silver, coins, art, comic books, sports cards, advertising signs and other valuable antiques and collectibles. Fire department takes center stage in Sturbridge

BY GUS STEEVES
CORRESPONDENT

STURBRIDGE — Fire department issues took center stage at the Dec. 6 selectmen's meeting, with some contention over how the deputy chief's job description was being crafted and other concerns.

Despite that, Town Administrator Jeff Bridges said, "I believe tonight we overcame some of those hurdles and we've identified some of those roles and responsibilities, and we agreed on some good things we can use going forward."

Selectman Jamie Goodwin agreed, saying, "Yes, there has been a great deal of tension and operational hurdles." But he said he feels tonight's meeting was "courteous, thoughtful and professional," and things have seen "quite a successful few months."

Their statements came in response to Taylor

Nelson and Susan Shea taking the microphone at citizens' forum. The two women expressed concern that the conflict between management and the fire union over recent months is "a major issue" from citizens' perspective. They cited the union's July vote of "no confidence" against Chief John Grasso, forced overtime, and a belief that firefighters are leaving because of the working conditions.

Selectman Ian Dunnigan, however, said, "No resignation letter we've received has specifically cited working conditions."

Bridges agreed, noting those who depart are offered exit interviews; those who have expressed reasons have cited pay, benefits and other things.

At present, Bridges said, the department probably does require overtime because it is down four people — vacancies in the deputy chief and a lieutenant's jobs plus two firefighters out for non-job-related medical reasons. The selectmen hired two new people that same night: Douglas Cutler as a full-time firefighter/paramedic and Anthony Gianfriddo as a call firefighter. According to the department's online roster, that brings its staff to 12 full-timers and six call members.

Regarding the deputy chief, Grasso brought forward a finalist (Jonathan Miller) to the board's Sept 20 meeting. The selectmen put hiring him on hold to give Bridges time to work with the union, since some firefighters threatened to resign if he was hired. In the end, he wasn't, prompting Grasso to recreate the job description with input from the union.

Grasso brought that revised description forward today, seeking rapid approval so he could start the search process anew. But the board disagreed and opted to send it (without voting on it) to the Personnel Committee.

Chair Mary Blanchard said she had "major problems" with what had been done so far because "I can't think of an instance" where the staff had input on a job description of one of their superior officers.

"I have problems with the firefighters' union trying to run everything," she said, noting she wants it to go through the town's regular process. "... If you don't have a good process, you don't have a good product."

By contrast, Goodwin said, "We've had all this process. The major stakeholders in the fire department support it, so that should have a louder than average voice in this case."

To Bridges and Grasso, the cooperation so far has been helpful, and Bridges worried that "if this is changed at the Personnel level, we start over." Bridges also noted the Personnel Committee had a "split vote to even create the job." They both hoped to advertise the job soon and bring forth a candidate early next year, but conceded to the board's wishes.

Blanchard denied Teamsters union representative James Marks opportunity to speak in that part of the meeting, but he did so during Citizens' Forum. At that point, he expressed "frustration" with the process, claiming Blanchard "hit and hit and hit" the department without giving them a chance to talk. He agreed there are issues and has been a bad relationship recently, but said, "I wish that dialogue would change."

"There are firefighters who are exhausted, working 80-90 hours a week to make sure you have an ambulance, to make sure you have a fire truck on call," Marks said, arguing the union wants to "have the right people in command to make sure, when a situation is called, they can go into that building and go home to their families."

Blanchard agreed there are problems, but didn't see them as

"major." She said she signs the payroll and "I haven't seen those hours."

In other business, the board approved Town Clerk Lynne Girouard's request to hold the Jan 24 special election in the selectmen's meeting room while she continues to seek a place for permanent use. She said the state rejected her preferred choice — Sturbridge Worship Center — for handicapped access reasons.

Additionally, they rejected the only bid they received for building the Riverlands trail project on the grounds it was too high. Its total was $104,000, but the project budget is only $75,000. Similarly, they voted to take over the Grand Trunk Trail project with the aim of reducing the cost by "several hundred thousand [dollars]." It will still need engineering, and Bridges said the three-quarter mile trail "is now tipping the scales at $1.4 million. I've paved four-lane streets for less than that."

Soprano Elaine Daiber joins NESO for "Festive Baroque and Beyond" concert at Mechanics Hall

WORCESTER — The New England Symphony Orchestra announces that soprano soloist Elaine Daiber will be a featured guest artist at their "Festive Baroque and Beyond" concert, taking place in Worcester's Mechanics Hall at 7:30 p.m. on Saturday, Dec. 18. Tickets are available through the orchestra's Web site (newenglandsymphony.org) or from the Mechanics Hall box office at 508-752-0888.

Boston-based soprano, Elaine Daiber, has been heralded for her "spectacular vocalism" (Hudson Housatonic Arts), which has garnered much acclaim on the operatic, concert, and recital stages. This season, Elaine looks forward to engagements with Cambridge's Coro Dante as the soprano soloist in Vivaldi's "Gloria", as the soprano soloist with The New England Symphony, and in recital with JJ Penna in a performance of Messiaen's rarely heard "Harawi". Most recently, Elaine was at The Yellow Barn Chamber Music Festival where she appeared in recital with famed pianist Gil Kalish, and also performed works by György Ligeti, Earl Kim, Claude Vivier, and György Kurtág. Last season, Elaine participated in a concert of Bach arias and duets with Emmanuel Music, a production of Poulenc's "La voix humaine" in Boston's Jordan Hall with pianist JJ Penna, and in a concert of new works by women composers with NYFOS Next. Other engagements have seen the versatile soprano in a variety of performances with The Tanglewood Music Center, The Bard Music Festival, The New York Festival of Song, The Boston Symphony Orchestra Prelude Series, The Orchestra Now and the Albany Symphony, among others. Elaine holds degrees from Oberlin Conservatory, Bard College, and New England Conservatory. www.elainedaiber.com.

Also appearing with the orchestra will be the Worcester Children's Chorus. Mechanics Hall composer in residence Leonard Ciampa has composed a new piece especially for this concert by the NESO, Worcester Children's Chorus, and Elaine Daiber. NESO Music Director Roderick MacDonald will give a free pre-concert talk for ticket holders at 6:30 p.m.

New England Symphony Orchestra continues to operate as a volunteer-led, non-profit professional symphony orchestra serving the people of New England. This season's strategic plan includes a three-concert series at Mechanics Hall, streaming performances as part of the NESO At Home series, and more. For information about volunteering or sponsorship, call 603-438-8920.

An epidemic of ‘experts’

“Ignorance more frequently begets confidence than does knowledge.” — Charles Darwin

It seems as though in today’s society, everyone is an expert. It’s one thing to have a specific belief system or an educated opinion on a certain topic, (with the operative word here being educated) this to include all topics. However, it seems as though critical thinking has all but flown right out of the window. Common sense is used less and less with people making outlandish assumptions, believing misinformation and falling into line with outright absurdities. Social media doesn’t help. Unfortunately, some people will read a meme and take it as face value. Some people even think JFK, Jr. is coming back to life.

With that, let us make one thing clear. None of us are experts — unless, well, we are. It turns out there’s a name for this phenomenon, called the Dunning-Kruger effect. This is defined as a cognitive bias in which people think they are smarter and more capable than they are. So much so that people don’t recognize their own incompetence.

The Dunning-Kruger effect takes place when a person begins speaking at length about a topic they know nothing about, yet claims everyone else is uninformed and wrong. For an example, if a student fails a test, yet believes they should have received an A. They are incapable of seeing their own faults.

David Dunning, an American social psychologist who along with Justin Kruger discovered the phenomenon, described it as such: “Instead, the incompetent are often blessed with an inappropriate confidence, buoyed by something that feels to them like knowledge. The trouble with ignorance is that it can feel just like expertise.”

The cause of this effect, as described by Dunning, is that people are too incompetent to realize how incompetent they are. These individuals will fail to recognize the skill and expertise of others.

Also mentioned by Dunning is what’s called metacognition. This is the ability to look within and evaluate yourself honestly. Oftentimes, those who suffer from this syndrome hear a small amount of knowledge on a topic, and then think they are experts.

No one person is an expert at everything. Dunning pointed out that everyone has areas in which they are incompetent. Oftentimes, if a person is an expert in one area, they mistakenly think they are an expert in all areas. Dunning did point out that those individuals who are genuine experts in any given field, are more likely to see their own flaws in other areas, and are able to accept the knowledge and expertise in others who truly possess it.

If your car breaks down, you will not bring it to the dentist. If you have a toothache, you will not go see a florist. Further, with the divide in our country politically, let us remember, that politics has zero to do with anyone’s skill set. Our healthcare workers are being harassed daily by those who believe they are experts. There are doctors, nurses and healthcare providers who are both Republicans and Democrats or Independents. Car repair is car repair, healthcare is healthcare, creating a fine dining menu and becoming a top-rated chef is simply about food and creativity. We need to stop politicizing anything other than politics.

Common sense and critical thinking needs to find its way back into our society. Common sense is defined as the sound and prudent judgement based on a simple perception of the situation or fact.

As far as the political divide that has taken hold in this country. It’s ridiculous. There is no need for anyone, on either side, to be filled with so much anger, because their candidate lost, or because someone disagrees with your way of thinking. The beauty of our country is that we can all think differently and still respect one another, and still have the ability to laugh over beers and pizza on a Friday night. The angry political signs still strewn about on either side, are tacky, immature and unintelligent. We can do better.

OPINION

Viewpoints and commentary from the Tri-Community and beyond

QCC Southbridge site leader offers end of the year thoughts

While I’ve lived in the area for a number of years, this year has been an extremely rewarding one as I’ve had to opportunity to reach out directly to the people of southwest Worcester County in my role as the Quinsigamond Community College at Southbridge Site Leader.

One of our biggest challenges was to reintroduce the community to QCC at Southbridge in our new location, inside Southbridge High School. Many members of the community may have been under the impression that we had left Southbridge; but in fact, we made a strategic move to better serve our younger students with the introduction of QCC’s Early College Program at this location. With Early College, current Southbridge High School students can attend college classes at QCC in their own high school, during the school day. This program is paid for through grants at no costs to the eligible students. Our new site fits well inside the high school and it will hopefully allow more high school students to realize that furthering their education is a very attainable goal.

Education is an important pathway to a better future for yourself and your family. Besides the high school students, there are many different groups within our community who we serve. I especially enjoy helping first generation college students, to include low income individuals and single parents; as that was my own pathway.

Like many other people, I grew up within a poor family in Great Brook Valley in Worcester. We didn’t have high educational aspirations, we hoped to achieve a “fourth year” education. The freshmen year of high school was considered a “first year” education and a “fourth year” education was a high school graduate.

In 1976, my oldest brother was asked a simple question, “Where are you going to college next year?” I don’t believe that college was anything anyone in my family had ever seriously considered. That simple question led my brother to be the first Latino to ever graduate from Burncoat High School in 1977, not the first to attend, but the first to graduate. That eventually led him to graduating from Worcester State College, and he is currently a Software Engineer for Fidelity Investments.

My brother’s success led me to increase my educational goals and attain a college degree, but I had my own challenges and dropped out of college my first time around. I didn’t have a degree when I became a single parent and had the same struggle that many single parent households face. By exploring the many opportunities afforded within my community, I managed to earn an Associate’s Degree from QCC at age 29, a Bachelor’s from Worcester State University, and finally an MBA from Anna Maria College.

The American Dream is to have the next generation do better than the generation before. In my case, my daughter earned a degree from QCC, her Master’s from Nichols College, and her law degree from Penn State Dickinson Law. Her educational goals were not a high school diploma or a bachelor’s degree.

It all started with a simple question in 1976, “Where are you going to college next year?”

So now I’ll ask you, “Where are you going to college next year?”

Use your words

When I was a boy, my parents always told me, “Toby, you’re so smart and handsome!” I didn’t know any better, so I believed I was smart and handsome. When I started attending school, I heard something different. I heard whispers from my teachers to my parents about how they thought I had a learning disability.

Around that time, my parents started telling me, “Toby, you’re smart, handsome, and you’re a late bloomer.” They were putting a positive spin on the situation.

I took to heart what they said, whenever I didn’t do well in school, which was often, my parents would worriedly look over my report card, and I’d reassure them, “Don’t worry, I’m just a late bloomer, I’ll get good grades someday!” which turned out to be true. A decade or more later, I started earning excellent grades while studying acting in college. To take my business to the next level, I recently graduated from a UCLA coding Bootcamp with almost all A’s. I grew up with the expectation that one day I’d get good grades, and it came to pass.

What if instead of telling me that I was a late bloomer, my parents said, “you’re dumber than a box of rocks.” If they did, every time I got a bad grade, I’d say, “of course! I’m dumber than a box of rocks; I’ll never get good grades. I’m an idiot!”

Some of you may have gone through life feeling like a loser because that’s what you were told at home. I think we’re all born to win in our own way. It’s never too late to change what you’re telling yourself.

I learned in college that it doesn’t matter what other people say or think about you. What matters is what you think and say about yourself.

When I became an actor, I was surrounded by people who were more talented than me. I had never acted before, and it took me a few years to get the hang of it. I remember hearing how some people in my classes thought I was a terrible actor. It was a massive blow to my ego, but rather than telling myself, “I’m a terrible actor, I’ll never get better.” I told myself, “I will become a talented actor; they don’t determine how good of an actor I will become - I do.” No matter how insecure I felt, I kept telling myself, “I will become a talented actor!” For all the roles that I’ve booked on TV, Film and the Stage, I’ve never received a bad review.

I used to hear a former co-worker tell herself, “I’m so stupid!” whenever she did something wrong. Interestingly, I never heard her say, “I’m so intelligent!!” when she did something right.

POSITIVELY SPEAKING

If you call attention to your mistakes by telling yourself that you’re stupid, more stupid mistakes will follow.

I had a close friend who sarcastically told himself dozens of times a day, “I hate my life!” coincidentally, he was depressed and suicidal. His life seemed great; he had a great family and personality; why did he hate his life? Is there a connection between how he felt and what he told himself?

When you create a negative narrative about yourself, you’re putting yourself into prison. It’s a trap, and you’ll become ensnared by your words.

I know people use their words to describe how they feel, but what if we used our words to change how we feel? What if you used your words to change the direction of your life?

Next time you feel insecure, tell yourself, “I’m talented, I’m secure, I’m valuable, I have everything I need to succeed!” Next time you feel like a failure, tell yourself, “Tomorrow will be better; my future is bright, I am a champion, I will accomplish my dreams!”

As you move forward, don’t use your words to imprison yourself. Use them to set yourself free! Use them to set into motion the type of life you always wanted.

What are your financial resolutions for 2022?

FINANCIAL FOCUS
JEFF BURDICK

As you know, 2021 was full of challenges. We were still feeling the effects of the COVID-19 pandemic when supply chains shut down and inflation heated up. So, if you’re like many people, you might not be sorry to see the year come to a close. But now it’s time to look ahead to a brighter 2022. And on a personal level, you may want to set some New Year’s resolutions. You might resolve to improve your health and diet, and possibly learn some new skills, but why not make some financial resolutions, too?

Here are a few ideas to consider:

Prepare for the unexpected. If you haven’t already created an emergency fund, now may be a good time to start. Ideally, you’d like to have three to six months’ worth of living expenses in this fund, with the money kept in a low-risk, liquid account. (If you’re retired, you may want your emergency fund to contain up to a year’s worth of living expenses.) Once you’ve got this fund established, you may be able to avoid dipping into long-term investments to pay for short-term needs, such as costly home or auto repairs or large medical bills.

Boost your retirement savings. The pandemic caused many us to reevaluate our ability to eventually enjoy the retirement lifestyles we’ve envisioned. In fact, 33 percent of those planning to retire soon said they started to contribute even more to their retirement savings during the pandemic, according to a study from Age Wave and Edward Jones. This year, if you can afford it, increase your contributions to your IRA and your 401(k) or other employer-sponsored retirement plan.

Reduce your debt load. The less debt you carry, the more money you’ll have available to support your lifestyle today and save and invest for tomorrow. So, this year, resolve to cut down on your existing debts and avoid taking on new ones whenever possible. You can motivate yourself by measuring your progress – at the beginning of 2022, record your total debts and then compare this figure to your debt load at the start of 2023. If the numbers have dropped, you’ll know you were making the right moves.

Don’t overreact to the headlines. A lot can happen during a year. Consider inflation – it shot up in 2021, but it may well subside in 2022. If you changed your investment strategy last year to accommodate the rise in inflation, would you then have to modify it again when prices fall? And inflation is just one event. What about changes in interest rates? How about new legislation coming out of Washington? And don’t forget extreme weather events, such as wildfires and floods. Any or all of these occurrences can affect the financial markets in the short term, but it just doesn’t make sense for you to keep changing the way you invest in response to the news of the day. Instead, stick with a strategy that’s appropriate for your goals, risk tolerance and time horizon. You may need to adjust this strategy over time, in response to changes in your own life, but don’t let your decisions be dictated by external events.

These aren’t the only financial resolutions you can make – but following them may help you develop positive habits that can help you face the future with confidence.

Deer season winding down

The final three weeks of the Massachusetts deer season opened for primitive arms hunters this past Monday, ending on Dec. 31. There are still a lot of deer in local covers. Shotgun hunters reported a lot of sightings during the shotgun season, but were unable to get a good shot. Hopefully, a few inches of snow will give the hunters some great tracking conditions, providing the hunters with an opportunity to harvest a deer before the final day of hunting.

Most of the deer that were harvested during the shotgun deer season were in good shape, and had a good amount of fat that was observed during the skinning process. The large acorn crop should help many forms of wildlife survive the upcoming winter months. This past week, a package of venison steaks were dropped off at my home, which were quickly pan fried with a few onions and peppers the next day. A special thanks to the person that was kind enough to share some of his venison.

This week's weather was expected to stay warm, which is not good news for ice fishing. Shoreline anglers are still catching some impressive trout at local lakes and ponds. Anglers that have not winterized their boats, are continuing to enjoy some good fishing for trout. Cape ponds are also producing some good late fall or early trout fishing. It is worth the trip to the Cape to enjoy some great trout fishing, if the warm weather continues. Hamblin Pond is this writer's favorite pond to fish for trout, and often produces some 18-plus-inch rainbow trout. This Kettle pond is a shallow sediment-filled body of water, formed by retreating glaciers or draining floodwaters in years past. There are numerous Kettle Ponds on the Cape. Mass. Fish and Wildlife has implemented a new Recreational Permitting System for hunting and fishing licenses. The new system has been a bit of a pain for many first-time, users but they have managed to go through the process. You need to set up an account with a new MassFishHunt permitting system. You will also notice that all license and permitting fees have increased and will continue to rise every year, for the next few years. You will also need an e-mail address and password to log onto the new site.

This year, overall transaction fees will stay the same or decrease for most online customers. The previous online system charged an administration fee of $1.34 per license and a 3 percent convenience fee on the total transaction. The new online system will charge an administrative fee of $1.45 per license and 2 percent convenience fee on the total transaction. It sounds like I am reading my electric bill or gas bill! It is what it is!

Canada goose season opened this past Monday in the Central District, with a daily bag limit of two birds. The season will run through Jan. 1. The late and final Goose season will open on Jan. 15 – Feb. 1, with a five-bird daily limit.

This past week, a few of the Uxbridge Rod & Gun Club members observed a few trout poachers at their club pond. When they were confronted, they quickly left the area, but not until the damage was done. The culprits were extremely brazen, ignoring our shouting to leave the area. A family of others were feeding on recently stocked trout at the club pond as they do every year, and when they have depleted the trout population, they move on to neighboring Rod & Gun Clubs, to feed on their trout.

With trout costing $3 a pound or more from trout hatcheries, many anglers become a bit upset with the poachers, but there is not much they can do as very few trappers are left to keep their populations down. Even if we could find a trapper, the trapping season for mink and River Otter ended December 15, 2021. Someone must have sent the other a copy of the Massachusetts trapping season, as they seem to show up after trapping season?

The club will also be holding another Founders Day Prime Rib supper on the third Saturday of January, 2022. Be sure to get your tickets early as ticket sales are limited to 80 reservations. It was a sell out last year and is expected to sell out early. The supper is also open to the public.

Ode to Cranberries: A Festive Fruit Beyond the Holiday Table

New England cranberries are not just for the holidays anymore. The tart fruit, hailed as the "king of antioxidants," are enjoying a surge of popularity as fans of the bouncy berries are finding new and delicious ways to work the wee wonders into a daily diet. From stalling a urinary tract infection, to preventing peptic ulcers, cranberries have been credited with an array of health helping benefits. Ongoing research also shows the fruit holds promise in the fight against such illnesses as cancer, heart and gum diseases and more. Add the fact the berries are touted as a powerful antioxidant and are high on the list of 20 anti aging foods and its no wonder the bowl of cranberry sauce could be the most important dish on the holiday table this year!

Humble Beginnings: Cranberries are native to New England, and the Northeast has long been credited with producing top quality bumper crops of the bright berries. Today, cranberries are grown commercially throughout the northern United States, but it was the early Native Americans who first unleashed the impressive properties of the humble, bitter berry.

The Indians used cranberries to make a poultice which proved an effective means to draw out the poison of arrow wounds. The dark, red juice of the fruit also provided an attractive dye for precious blankets and fabrics. In addition, cranberries mixed with dried venison and fat and dried in the sun formed staple food that could withstand the rigors of travel, providing Native Americans with a valuable food source when they were hunting.

The wild cranberry got its name from the early settlers, who dubbed the round fruit the "cranberry" for its pink blossoms that resemble the head of a crane. The Pilgrims adopted the Indian's uses of the fruit and expanded its use in cooking to include meat sauces, tarts, jams and nogs. As the early New England settlements expanded, new applications for the berries were discovered including their role in relieving stomach disorders, gall bladder pain, as well as treating blood and liver ailments. The fruit, a rich source of vitamin C, was also credited with preventing scurvy in 17th century seafaring crew members.

Cranberry Cures Can the common cranberry cures what ails you? Medical studies prove the fruit, until recently overlooked as a health benefit in modern times, is packed with healing properties. Cranberries are perhaps best known for their role in preventing urinary tract infections. A bottle of cranberry juice is often prescribed as a first response approach to an impending infection. According to medical studies, the cranberries secret weapons are proanthocyanidins, nutrients which prevent certain bacteria from sticking to the lining of the bladder, thus preventing an infection. Research reveals the same anti stick properties might help stall bacteria from adhering to teeth and gums, slowing or preventing cavity growth. The same components may prevent stomach ulcers by stopping H. Pylori from sticking to stomach cells. Better yet, according to Ocean Spray Cranberries, Inc., the fruit may benefit the heart, as medical studies show cranberries can inhibit oxidation of low-density cholesterol, which is thought to be one way cholesterol becomes sticky, allowing it to attach to the blood vessel wall. In addition, early laboratory studies suggest cranberry juice cocktail may be as effective as red wine in benefiting heart health. The impressive healing properties of cranberries include the powerful antioxidants, plentiful in the little red berries. These compounds, which include flavonoids and vitamins, are credited with boosting the immune system and reducing free radicals, which can lead to a healthier body. Current studies indicate a daily dose of ten ounces of cranberry juice can effectively achieve the bacteria blocking benefits to help prevent such health problems as urinary tract infections, gum disease and ulcers.

Cranberry Recipes The tart, bright taste of cranberries is always a crowd pleaser, whether the fresh fruit is cooked in a sauce, or served up a la mode at the end of a holiday meal. The following recipes are holiday worthy, but are versatile enough to be served up any time of year.

Apple Cranberry Crisp Too busy with the hustle and bustle of the holidays to whip up a fresh, cranberry dessert? This crock pot version cuts the effort, not the flavor of this cold weather favorite. Ingredients: Three apples; one cup cranberries; three quarters cup brown sugar; one third cup rolled oats (quick cooking); one quarter teaspoon salt; one teaspoon cinnamon; one third cup butter, softened. Directions: Peel, core and slice apples. Place apple slices and cranberries in cup. Mix remaining ingredients in separate bowl and sprinkle over top of apple and cranberries. Place a few paper towels over the top of the crock pot, then place an object (such as a wooden spoon) across the top of the pot and set lid on top. This allows the steam to escape. Turn slow cooker on high and cook for about 2 hours. Serves 4.

Cranberry Walnut Relish A step up from ordinary relish, this sweet condiment is festive and fancy enough to serve at the yuletide table. Ingredients: 12 ounces fresh cranberries; 3/4 cup white sugar; 1 (12 ounce) jar orange marmalade; 3/4 cup chopped walnuts; 1 tablespoon lemon juice; Directions: Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Pour cranberries into a shallow 1.5 qt oven proof baking dish. Sprinkle with sugar, cover with tinfoil and bake for 30-35 minutes. Remove from oven and evenly distribute walnuts into the dish. Recover and bake another ten minutes. Stir in marmalade and lemon juice and combine well. Allow dish to cool at room temperature, then cover and refrigerate for several hours before serving.

The coat drive is held in partnership with St. Francis Community Health Foundation, Central Massachusetts Agency on Aging, and The WooSox Foundation. Since launching on Nov. 10, the coat drive has raised $61,000 through grants and donations- including a $20,000 grant from St. Francis Community Health Foundation.

“This year’s coat drive is bigger and more impactful than ever before due to generosity of our community partners and donors who’ve stepped up and helped us buy and distribute more than 3,000 brand new winter coats throughout Worcester County,” stated Worcester County Sheriff, Lew Evangelidis. “These challenging times have only strengthen our commitment to helping those may be struggling and are in need of a new, warm winter coat.”

This marks the second year new winter coats were purchased for the coat drive due to the constraints imposed by the COVID-19 pandemic.

Additional deliveries were made to the Webster-Dudley Food Share, Reconciliation House, and Catholic Charities of Milford.

Minutemen — improving as game wears on — march past Southbridge

BY NICK ETHIER
SPORTS EDITOR

CHARLTON — When Bay Path Regional hosted a varsity boys' basketball game on Friday, Dec. 10 for the first time in close to two years — it came against Southbridge High — head coach Al Greenough knew that in the early going the quality of play may not be superb.

"For not having played in a couple of years, I kind of expected that it was going to be a lot rusty. There's only so much in two weeks you can get in for the first game," he said. "I was proud of the guys because they battled through the first half...but in the third quarter they pulled away. They got the lead and in the fourth quarter they took care of the basketball late in the game."

The Minutemen trailed after the first quarter, 14-12, and held a slim lead of 28-25 at the half. But Bay Path outscored the Pioneers in the second half, 40-33, to emerge with a 68-58 victory.

Dylan Cotton, a senior for the Minutemen, scored a game-high 30 points, with 20 of those coming in the second half. In fact, Cotton got better by the quarter. He scored three points in the first quarter, seven in the second, eight in the third and 12 in the fourth.

"He's been around on varsity for four years and he's our go-to guy when we need a basket, and he did that tonight. Every time we really needed one, he delivered," Greenough said of Cotton before mentioning how he, like the team, improved in the second half. "He really struggled in the beginning. I think he was rushing his shot. He settled down as the game went on and we did a better job of moving the ball, getting openings for him to shoot. As a result, he had better looks at the basket and he started making more."

As much as it looked like Bay Path may run away with the victory in the third quarter when they grabbed as much as a nine-point lead, Southbridge hung tough. Five late points from Angel Morales gave the Pioneers life, as they only trailed by a 40-36 margin heading into the final frame.

But too many "hiccups," according to head coach Victor Colon, did Southbridge in. He noted that "turnovers," "not rotating," and "not finishing at the basket" as the key elements that didn't allow for the comeback to be completed.

Cotton also had something to do with Bay Path maintaining the lead, as his 3-pointer with 6:07 to play put the Minutemen ahead, 48-38, for their first double-digit advantage of the night.

"We knew Cotton was going to go and just shoot. A lot of the times they went to the high post and everybody collapsed. I had to call a timeout to adjust that, and they still did it. Once they collapsed into the high post, that wing is wide open. That's where he got the majority of his points," explained Colon. "We knew he'd be a lethal shooter."

In addition to Cotton, seven other Minutemen registered at least three points and Corey Scovil pulled down double-digit rebounding totals to aid in a total team effort.

"Wearing these masks, it's a very difficult situation — breathing on the court, and so on and so forth — so I knew going into this year we're going to have to rely on the whole team to get it done. The good news is this is one of the deepest teams I've had in years. I was proud of the whole team effort tonight," said Greenough.

Similar to Bay Path, the Pioneers also had contributions all around the floor. Morales and Kevin Loftus both scored 12 points, while Sam Ortiz added 10 more. A total of 12 players either scored or grabbed a rebound, which is familiar for a Colon-coached club.

"That's the way I like to play," he said of playing all the substitutes and then giving more time to the top producers. "Angel Morales, he sprained his ankle in practice [two days prior] so he iced it, iced it, iced it — he was determined to play — I didn't go to him in the first quarter and I don't even think in the second quarter. At halftime I asked, 'are you sure you want to do it?' and he said, 'put me in.' He went in there and he did work."

Colon isn't overly concerned about losing the first game of the season, either.

"I saw a lot of good things — obviously a lot of bad things — but it's just lessons. Tomorrow we go and hit practice again," he said.

Strong defensive showing propels Warriors past Northbridge

Tantasqua's Angelina Reno drive around Northbridge's Liz Quimby.

BY NICK ETHIER
SPORTS EDITOR

NORTHBRIDGE — The Tantasqua Regional girls' varsity basketball team is at its best when it can set up a pressure defense, hoping to produce turnovers. But the Warriors can only get into that formation following made baskets, which they struggled to do at Veterans Memorial Field House versus Northbridge High on Monday, Dec. 13.

Tantasqua did score enough, however, and played stellar 'D' en route to winning a 35-30 decision.

"We want to run up and down the court and we want to press. We can only do that if we get the ball in the basket," explained first-year head coach Tony Giuggio, who came from Minnechaug Regional in Western Mass. "These kids have never played that way before and they're still learning it. It's a process."

But the pressure defense was effective when it was able to be implemented.

"We saw glimpses of it. When we scored and pressed, we can kind of go on those runs," Giuggio said.

The latter half of the third quarter was when Tantasqua played its best, as they turned a 20-16 deficit — thanks to the Rams opening the quarter with seven straight points — into a 30-24 lead thanks to a 14-4 run.

"I give Tantasqua credit. They haven't played in two years and they came out with intensity, especially on the offensive boards that we did not match," said Northbridge head coach Matt Gauthier, whose team was out-rebounded by a 51-30 margin. "Out of those 51, I bet 25 or 26 were offensive rebounds."

Despite the loss, Gauthier did appreciate his team's never quit mentality.

"I liked that they battled, they didn't give up," he said. "Down nine, that's nothing in basketball. I liked that we fought back."

The Rams cut the deficit down to 33-30 in the final minutes, but the Warriors' Dayna Lorenz — who led her team with 12 points — calmly connected on a pair of free throws with 22 seconds to play. Her teammate, Kelsie Wotten, added 7 points and 10 rebounds.

"We think we can be really good," Giuggio said of team expectations. "We're in Division 3 this year. We think we can go a long way, get to the State Tournament and do some damage if we get to that point."

On the Northbridge side, Abby Fraser led the way with 15 points, and Molly Gahan contributed 7 points and 9 boards.

The Rams are now 2-1 following a two-game victory in the Marlborough Tip-Off Classic.

Auburn ice hockey hangs tough, but ultimately falls in season-opening loss to Nashoba

Auburn's Dillon Winkelmann controls the puck over the blue line and into Nashoba's defensive zone.

BY NICK ETHIER
SPORTS EDITOR

AUBURN — With Auburn High having not competed in winter season athletics during the 2020-2021 season due to COVID-19, it had been quite a while since the Rockets took to the ice for a game.

"This is like starting a whole new program," explained head coach Glen Bombard. "We didn't have any hockey last year. It's like starting from scratch."

Additionally, Auburn had three tryout dates and just five practices before hosting Nashoba Regional at the Horgan Arena on Thursday, Dec. 9 for a first round matchup in the Dana Willard Memorial Tournament. The Rockets — who co-op with Millbury High, Shepherd Hill Regional and Tantasqua Regional — played well in spurts but committed too many turnovers in a 4-2 loss.

"I was expecting more. I thought we had a good week of practice and a good week of prep," explained Bombard. "It came down to four key, big mistakes. That second one in the second period with 20 seconds left when we pinched, that was a tough one."

Bombard spoke of a goal off the stick of the Wolves' Billy Johns, which made it a 2-0 game at the second intermission. Johns broke down the left wing uncontested and fired off a wrist shot that got underneath the arm of Rockets' goalie Nate Brown. Kameron Pierce and Joseph Quinn were credited with the assists.

That trio struck first for Nashoba just two minutes into the game when Pierce scored, and Pierce and Quinn grabbed assists.

Auburn righted the ship in the third period when it took just one minute and one second to slice the deficit in half. On the power play, Dillon Winkelmann snapped the puck from the slot, and it got up and over goalie Jack Peterson (18 saves) for the goal.

Then, just over three minutes later, the Rockets tied the score thanks to a strong individual effort from Braden Rich. Rich stole the puck in the offensive zone, and it slipped down to Jack Gaudette. From there, Gaudette sent the puck back up to Rich, who turned and shot into the net.

"It was hard work. If you do that all the time — you know as well as I do — you're going to get good results," said Bombard.

Auburn's Nolan White stick-handles the puck through Nashoba's defense.

Although Auburn had all the momentum, it only took four minutes for the Wolves to regain their two-goal advantage.

"We didn't work hard every minute; we didn't play 45 minutes," said Bombard. "Then we go out and make two more mistakes. We'll learn and put it behind us."

On the winning goal, Nashoba's Marcus DiBello was the beneficiary of a nice pass from Joseph Scanlon. Adam Balewicz had the secondary assist.

Then, with 6:45 to go, the Wolves put the game away when Quinn scored off a rebound. Scanlon and Johns added assists.

Despite the four goals against, Bombard was pleased with Brown's play in between the pipes. Brown finished with 18 saves, including a break-away stop against Johns that kept the game tied at 2-2 for the time being.

"I thought he played well. The goals they got were all good goals," the coach said.

Despite the season-opening setback, Bombard is optimistic for the games ahead.

"There's a lot of good signs. For the first game, it's just the mistakes. I think we'll be all right in the long run. We have to grow and get to know each other; and we'll go from there," he concluded.

Update: Nashoba went on to win the Dana Willard Tournament on Saturday, Dec. 11, defeating Worcester 6-3 in the championship game. Auburn won its consolation game versus East Longmeadow, 7-1.
