

Emergency services reassure seniors concerning medical issues

Seniors check out the table of one of the many services who participated, as seen through a window.

TIMES CORRESPONDENT

WEBSTER – Nobody likes to call 911, seniors probably most of all.

“You come from a different generation. You used to be able to take care of yourselves,” said Shawn McKenna of the Sheriff’s Department. While some younger people overreact to minor medical issues, seniors often feel “embarrassed” to call for help of any kind, he noted.

But since many medical issues can be hard to clearly identify, McKenna urged seniors to call 911 if they experience pain, dizziness, changes in motor skills and balance, or a variety of other signs that might indicate a serious medical issue.

“Raise your hand if you have X-ray vision,” he asked. Obviously, no one did, to which he added, “I was hoping someone would. Because we’d get together and make a lot of money.”

Until that happens, emergency medical services via 911 remain the best way to get checked out, and he reminded those present a few times that “you are not a burden,” because such care is for what ambulance crews are trained.

McKenna, a Leominster firefighter and EMT spoke as part of the Sheriff’s Senior Summer Celebration event at Webster Senior Center recently. Alongside him, several dozen seniors learned about heart health during aging and the importance of humor in healing, played a couple rounds of “safety bingo,” spent time browsing tables of information on senior-related services, and dined on breakfast pastries and an Italian lunch.

From his experience, McKenna said the most common injuries EMTs see among seniors typically come from falls – head trauma, wrist and ankle sprains, and fractures. But he urged people to pay attention to a wide range of health signs, particularly those affecting the “holy triumvirate” of heart, brain and lungs, and “be very, very cautious about dizziness, especially if it’s coupled with pain.”

Town meeting OKs pot and other changes

BY GUS STEEVES
TIMES CORRESPONDENT

WEBSTER – In a vote that was among the shortest of the evening and with no debate, town meeting voters approved 90-30 amending the town’s marijuana moratorium before it expires this December.

Town Administrator Doug Willardson told the roughly 125 meeting attendees doing so would allow the town’s existing medical pot grower, Curaleaf, to also grow for the recreational market, since it already has town approval. Any other firm seeking to do so, however, would still have to go through the formal process, including getting a letter of support or non-opposition from the selectmen and Planning Board hearings. The town’s recreational zoning bylaw should be complete by the year’s end, he said.

That vote was by far the closest one of the hour-long meeting. Curiously, because of a technicality (Moderator Thomas Ralph didn’t get the Planning Board’s report beforehand), voters actually got a second bite at the apple. After Ralph read it into the record (the board voted unanimously approve the change), he called for a re-vote, and it passed 92-25.

Later, a bylaw prohibiting public consumption of marijuana “anywhere

Buildings come in pieces and parts

BY GUS STEEVES
STONEBRIDGE CORRESPONDENT

CHARLTON – How do you move a building? If it’s made of Legos or Lincoln Logs, it’s no big deal. But if it’s made of three 70-ton sections of concrete, the answer is very, very carefully.

That’s what contractors at Buffumville spent their day doing recently, as the park closed for the week to install new bathrooms. In previous generations, they’d have built them on site, but in this case the new building was made in a factory and shipped here on three big trucks.

Trucking them here was the (relatively) easy part. “A lot of thought goes into the calculations,” mostly on computers, necessary to transfer those sections to their final location, Army Corps of Engineers Safety Officer Kane Turmelle said. While watching makes it look easy, even stately, that apparent ease requires a lot of basic physics based on multiple load charts that show how much mass the crane can handle at various distances, how fast it can turn safely, how much weight it needs for balance, and other issues.

Shepherd Hill auditorium to be renamed

BY JASON BLEAU
STONEBRIDGE CORRESPONDENT

After much deliberation, the Dudley-Charlton Regional School District has made good on a request from a parent to change the name of the auditorium in Shepherd Hill Regional High School to honor a now retired teacher long associated with the school’s success.

In June Superintendent Greg Desto officially announced the renaming of the school’s auditorium, a location of numerous musical productions and even town meetings, to the Constance V. Galli Auditorium. Known to students and staff as Connie Galli, the former music teacher was present for a meeting of the School Committee where Desto revealed an official letter announcing the upcoming change was sent out on June 5. Committee members made the decision on the change during a meeting on May 23 in a unanimous decision.

“The Constance V. Galley Auditorium will be officially unveiled at a ceremony at a later date,” Desto read from a letter sent to Galli informing her of the honor. “This decision to forever link (Galli) to the Shepherd Hill Auditorium where she served so well and with distinction was spurred by a heartfelt letter written to the committee by a music parent and colleague. The committee did not make its decision lightly as befitting and honor of this magnitude.”

Desto said it is the first time in his tenure with the district that he received such a request. Normally individuals are honored posthumously for their contributions, but Galli is a rare individual who will be alive to see her name adorn a room in a building where she has spent many of her professional years teaching.

“It’s not frequent because I think people generally understand that this isn’t something that you do lightly,” Desto said. “There is, on occasion, a person who comes along who has had such an unusual impact on a particular part of the school district that this is

Dudley-Charlton requires waiver to hire Nash

BY JASON BLEAU
STONEBRIDGE CORRESPONDENT

Following questions from a previous meeting at which the Dudley Charlton Regional School Committee approved the hiring of Kristine Nash as interim superintendent of schools, it has been confirmed the district will be at the mercy of the state and the Department of Elementary and Secondary Education to keep Nash on board for the foreseeable future.

In June committee members did discuss the possibility of needing a critical shortage waiver from the DESE to employ Nash and now that requirement has been confirmed with the district sending an application for the waiver on Wednesday, June 20. Committee Chair Pauline Aucoin said the committee is fully aware of the situation as is Nash.

“The committee has been updated along the way with emails. I did speak to Dr. Nash and she is expecting to start on July 9 with or without the waiver confirmation because she still can make a little bit of salary. She understands that if we do not get the waiver that she will not be working here,” Aucoin said.

Superintendent Gregg Desto, who is exiting the district official on July 6 to lead Auburn High School as principal, gave credit to the members of the School Committee for their diligence in finding a temporary successor for his post and showed confidence that the DESE has what they need to make a decision hopefully in favor of the district’s waiver application.

“I honestly feel that (the committee) has done the best they can do and now it’s a waiting game,” Desto said. “If there’s anything that the committee needs from me in July I’ll help anyway that I can.”

The School Committee decided to make good on that offer by agreeing to keep Desto on call for the first week of July

Dudley picks KP Law as new town counsel

BY JASON BLEAU
TIMES CORRESPONDENT

DUDLEY – The Board of Selectmen has chosen new town counsel after cutting ties with the previous attorney in the early part of 2018.

In February selectmen decided to dismiss long-time town attorney Gary Brackett after over 20 years when a discrepancy came to light concerning Brackett’s handling of an application to bring the Islamic cemetery issue of 2016 to court.

Brackett’s termination was effective June 30, and now a new agency has been brought on board to fill the gap.

Selectmen interviewed two firms for the position in recent weeks, Mirick O’Connell and KP Law. Both organizations have a history with the town. Mirick O’Connell Attorneys at Law has served as the labor lawyer for the town through attorney Marc Terry and in May, a representative of KP Law served as attorney for the town during the spring annual town meeting. Town Administrator Greg Balukonis told selectmen on June 18 that they could “couldn’t make a wrong decision” regardless of who they picked, however it was KP Law that was recommended for the job.

“I looked at it that KP Law is municipal law experts. That’s their business. That’s all they do. Their other strong point was the attorney that they said would represent Dudley, Michele Randazzo. I have a lot of confidence in her ability. Mirick O’Connell is a known commodity. They’ve provided legal counsel services to us. They are central Massachusetts located and they’re a large diverse firm but have expertise in municipal law,” Balukonis said while advising selectmen on the candidates

Selectmen seemed to show confidence in KP Law, and specifically Attorney Randazzo, to do the job and do it well. Selectmen John Marsi said he feels Randazzo has worked well with the town in the past and would continue to be a good partner for them as needed.

Car Buying Tips

Customers ask place: How should I pay for my new car or truck?

The RIGHT answer: There are three ways to pay for your vehicle. They are to pay cash, finance the balance or lease the automobile. Each method has its pros and cons.

If you pay cash, you have the knowledge that you own your car outright. You could, in theory, cut back on insurance and you will not pay interest as you would with the other two methods. The downside of paying cash is that you are spending a large part of your liquid assets and potentially losing investment potential. The other thing is if your car gets totaled and you did cut back on your insurance you are out all that money.

If you finance, you will have a budgeted monthly payment and won't need to spend all your hard-earned cash. In fact, with today's low interest rate options, in some cases as low as 0%, it may make more sense to finance your car. You also have options with the financing that can help to protect the value of the car. Consider GAP protection to protect against a total loss. Ask us for more details on how this works. Of course, the downside of financing is that in most cases you will pay interest. Because today's cars are rather expensive many customers take on longer term notes increasing the interest expense and leaving them still owing money when they want to trade in for another. This leads us to leasing.

If you lease a car you usually get a lower monthly payment. You will also get GAP protection (at least with Ford Motor Credit Leases) at no charge and your term will be shorter allowing you to seamlessly get a new car in just a few years as your needs change. Downsides to leasing are the excess mileage or wear and tear concerns. Let us tailor a lease to your needs to help avoid these concerns.

At Place Motor we will discuss with you your situation and offer you your choices, so you can make the RIGHT choice for you. You'll experience why Place Motor is the RIGHT Place since 1923.

Handmade items, strawberry shortcake, raffle prizes and the community all coming together to support a local church. St. Roch Church in Oxford held its annual June Festival and yard sale. Jim Gonder, the church’s fund community chairman, states, “The money we make today will go to church programs including religious education, child programs, and general operating.” “We also have silent bid option, various raffle baskets that have been donated, and we have a ton on food,” says Gonder.

There were over 55 raffle items and over 10 silent auction items all donated. The church offered many mouthwatering treats for sale to benefit the great programs the church has to offer. The food was amazing and with the fried treats it brought a bit of carnival flair into the church.

Fried dough and strawberry shortcake were the highlight of the day; sweet, delicious, and stickily good. Church members cooked up hot dogs, burgers, French fries, tacos, and so much more! Many patrons came in to enjoy an inexpensive meal while supporting their local church. For those who wanted dessert on the run, there was an entire bake sale table. Packaged brownies, cookies, cakes, pies and more!

The Soul Sisters stitched up amazing handmade items. Baby blankets, scarves, plush toys, and pot holders. Something for everyone. Soul Sister member Gerda Rusnica was counting up totals for families choosing from the amazing handmade selections.

Beverly Hanson, another Soul Sister was working behind the displays crocheting new items. Charlotte Henry from Oxford picked out a big unicorn pillow and a small owl blanket.

Liz Zingarelli from North Oxford, and church member brought her friend Julie McDonough from Charlton to join in the fun and festivities. “Every year I bring one friend with me to the June festival, Liz and I are childhood friends,” says McDonough.

Sophia and Faith Renaud from Oxford picked out a stuffed animal each from the Soul Sisters collection and were happy to have something so special and to contribute to a church they love.

Dizziness, decline of balance and the like “can be a red flag something serious is going on inside,” including such things as heart attacks and strokes, he said.

While the body at any age tries to heal itself, its ability to do so decreases with age.

“Sometimes the body outsmarts itself, and can cause you to decline faster,” he noted.

For a while, he talked about the common questions people raise about what happens when 911 is called, from why EMTs, police and doctors ask so many (often redundant) questions – because they want to make sure you’re coherent and understand what’s happening – to what kinds of information you should have easily available. For the latter, McKenna urged people to make sure they have an up-to-date medication list and any key documents, including Do Not Resuscitate orders, MOLST (Medical Orders for Life-Sustaining Treatment) forms, by which you dictate in writing whether you wish to accept or refuse certain kinds of treatment, health care proxies and the like. McKenna noted emergency responders cannot just take people’s word that such things exist; the law requires them to actually see the documents.

Two points he discussed, many people take for granted, except in a crisis. He noted it’s important the house be easy to find, and the Sheriff’s Department can provide homeowners with signs bearing reflective numbers for the end of their driveways. Once inside, first responders sometimes find another hazard: hoarding. While the homeowner may be used to weaving their way around piles of stuff, it’s a serious fire risk and makes finding you in an emergency much more difficult.

“When we see something like this, it’s on a really bad call,” McKenna said, referring to a photo of a living room full of toys and junk.

Once in the ambulance, he noted EMTs maintain radio contact with the hospital in case they need further medical advice, will keep talking to you to assess whether treatment is working, and typically allow direct family members to sit up front, although a parent of a sick child can ride in back. Although many people don’t want neighbors and friends to see an ambulance taking them away, he said they routinely use stretchers, lights and sirens for safety, although patients who are coherent can sign waivers refusing care even if the EMTs recommend taking them to the hospital. Furthermore, EMTs are prohibited under the HIPPA laws from discussing patients’ personal issues with others.

The overall goal is “to get you back to your baseline, whatever your normal health is,” he said. “You’re never a burden. We’re there to serve you, to protect you.”

something that you take under consideration.”

Galli’s history with Shepherd Hill Regional High School dates back to the ‘80s with over 30 years of experience with the school. As an educator, she helped the school’s music programs gain state and nationwide recognition, an accomplishment that Desto said played a part in the School Committee’s decision.

“Brick by brick she built the Shepherd Hill music program into something of a juggernaut,” Desto said. “Something that is well know truly throughout the country.”

Clearly overwhelmed by the honor, Galli told members of the committee she was grateful for the honor and that she feels this recognition caps off decades of commitment to a program she loved so much.

“I’m humbled and just so very grateful for this honor. It’s been my privilege to be able to teach in the district my whole career. I’ve truly always felt that the work that I’ve done has been valued and supported. I can’t be more grateful for that,” Galli told committee members and those present for the official announcement.

“It would be remiss of me not the acknowledge that any success I might have had did not happen in a vacuum. We have the support for the arts in our district - It’s been my privilege. It’s been a good run and this incredible honor is the proverbial icing on what was a really good cake.”

The School Committee has not announced an official date for any ceremony to commemorate the renaming of the auditorium.

New program to highlight business friendly Dudley

BY JASON BLEAU
TIMES CORRESPONDENT

DUDLEY – The Economic Development Commission has been hard at work over the last few years looking for ways to promote Dudley as a great place to live, work and set up shop. A new initiative might be the next big step in that mission as members of the EDC are planning on creating a new network program that would put the focus on properties available in Dudley and the benefits of moving businesses to the town.

On June 18 selectmen heard a proposal from Jo-Ann Szymczak, a member of the EDC, who proposed a quarterly public access program the highlight business, commercial, residential and farming opportunities in the community. It's a project Szymczak believes will help give Dudley an advantage as the town seeks ways to grow.

"We can use that to our advantage to educate our townspeople and maybe people who have an interest in moving to Dudley," Szymczak said. "First we talked about doing something monthly and that's not realistic. I thought if we did a quarterly program we could highlight properties that are actually available for commercial, residential and farming opportunities and that might bring attention to those individual parcels that are available and secondly it would give us an opportunity to invite people who are in financing. Several of the local banks offer financing terms and people don't realize they're very heavily involved in the community to finance projects."

Szymczak added the program could act as an educational opportunity to allow people an understanding of what it would take to move to Dudley and bring a business to town. The program could involve town officials close to such projects like the building inspector or zoning officials.

"The program selectmen are doing is very good where they invite people from around town who are in business. This would be to attract business from that," Szymczak said. "You have so many people on the Economic Development Committee who are technology savvy. You could take a program like this and get it up on YouTube and send the information out a number of different ways. Even a 20 or 30-minute program does bring Dudley to the forefront. I think it might bring more people to us."

Selectmen asked for information on a format as well as information what it would cost to produce the program. The conversations led Nichols College President Dr. Susan Engelkemeyer, who was at the meeting for a separate discussion, to speak in favor of the project and even offer Nichols College's services to see the project through.

"If it would be helpful we could organize a student group that might help. It could be a class project. We could do some stock videos that we could interweave into it, plus we also have a green screen room in one of our new buildings where we could actually do some of the filming," Engelkemeyer said. "We would offer either of those if it would be helpful."

Selectmen gave a warm reception to the whole idea. Selectman John Marsi was one of several to voice support for the initiative.

"I like this, and I definitely like the idea of any way other media to promote Dudley, but it can't just be on Dudley access on YouTube. It's got to be something that we tweet, that we post and is archived somewhere else. You want reach," Marsi said.

When discussing the show format Szymczak said the program would include interviews with different guests and would possibly feature rotating hosts.

Most of all the focus would not be to advertise businesses or banks, but the town as a whole using the resources available to provide a video presentation on the benefits of moving to Dudley for business or residence.

"It's about trying to create interest, and everything today links one thing to another with technology," Szymczak said. "I see this as one more opportunity for a visual and maybe to pick up to do a little bit more with it to try to attract people to Dudley and show what the opportunities are here. If I asked 'do you know any farms available' you wouldn't know unless you're a person in real estate. This will give a chance for them to highlight it."

Selectman Jonathan Ruda motioned to have Town Administrator Greg Balukonis work with the EDC and Nichols College to iron out more details on the project and return to the board with an overview of the proposal.

Art in the Yard displays heart and spirit

KIMBERLY MASCHI
TIMES CORRESPONDENT

“No amount of rain will dampen the artistic spirit,” says John Bowes, the Oxford Library Board Trustee chairman. It was the third annual Art in the Yard display at the library. The front lawn of the library is full of sculptures of metal, cloth, and wood.

“The Oxford Library wanted to find a new way to bring art into the community,” says Brittany McDougal, the library director; and so, the Art in the Yard began.

“Gloria Hall did all of the work, she contacted the artists and brought them to the board. The board and myself picked out six pieces to be displayed until Oct. 28,” says McDougal.

The pieces selected for display are all unique and intricate. Artist James Kitchen joins in the event every year to display a piece at the library.

“Libraries are my favorite place,” says Kitchen. “Free knowledge is wonderful and I am always thrilled to be at every library.”

Kitchen’s metal sculpture called Dream Catcher was perfect to accompany the Eastern Medicine Singers, a group of tribal members from all over New England who come together to sing and share their culture. From their Facebook page at Eastern Medicine Singers: Eastern Medicine Singers, an Algonquin language eastern styled drum group dedicated to preserving the eastern woodlands music. Made up of intertribal native.

The drum group opened up with a prayer song in acapella, “Thank you for the earth and sky. Thank you for the water and rock. Thank you for the trees and for today. Great spirit I thank you.”

The drum groups continued to sing to the beat of a large drum.

“The drum that we surround is the heartbeat of our nation,” explains Daryl Jamieson, member of the band. Jamieson points out certain garb that other members wear made of furs, feathers and shells.

“We dress in items of things that we catch in order to show that we provide for our family,” says Jamieson as he introduces the next song. One of the songs was for the young boys in the community that would need to pick up a feather off the ground without their hands or knees touching the earth. Accompanying the song was a wonderfully flexible dance. Songs and dancing to the beat of the drum and the soulful voices of the Eastern Medicine Singers were just one of the highlights on the yard.

Wayne Yacino, the artist behind the library’s new ornately decorated tree, was demonstrating his talents. Yacino carved out a strong masculine face from wood and showed onlookers how he chips away pieces and sands the cheeks and forehead to make the piece smooth to the touch. Yacino had many forest creatures displayed and for sale at the event. His chipmunk and cardinal had intricate details down to each feather and each strand of fur. A baby racoon clung to a stump, a crow sat a top a wooden skull, and an owl peeked out of a hole in a tree. Each piece showed the love and dedication Yacino has to his craft. Many onlookers were placing orders with Yacino for custom made pieces like walking sticks and necklaces. Yacino also made playful and fun ball and cup toys that local mother and daughter Michelle and Jane Duffy were playing. Mia Mazzella age 4 from Oxford, loved Yacino’s red cardinal. Caelynn and Caroline Harty from Oxford enjoyed looking at all the jewelry Yacino had made by hand. There were moons and cogs carved from wood and silhouettes from shells. Yacino is a man of many talents.

Up high in a tree in front of the library hangs “Word Processors” a piece by Paul Angiolillo. Handmade wooden pencils and an eraser float above and creates a perfect addition to the library. Three large arches are lined in the front of the yard and these doorways can transport you to wherever your imagination takes you.

The “Arches” and “Hot, Hot, Hot” were done by Elizabeth Keithline. The “Hot, Hot, Hot” piece is displayed high above the front entrance to the library and brings color and life to the entrance.

A unique and very interesting piece

The “Joshua Tree 1” by Joseph R. Chirchirillo is a unique metal sculpture that stands strong and brings wonder to onlookers.

The Oxford Free Public Library has this event every year, and if you weren’t able to make it not to worry! These pieces will be here until Oct. 28. Thank you to the Morin Trust in memory of George Martin for sponsoring this event.

St. Joseph School announces grants and staff changes

SUBMITTED BY DARLENE BOLIGAN
ST. JOSEPH SCHOOL BOARD SECRETARY

NORTH GROSVENORDALE — St. Joseph School is the recipient of a $25,000 grant from Spirol International of Danielson. The Charitable Donation Board of Spirol International has awarded St. Joseph the grant to purchase iPads, covers, charging stations, and accompanying electronic curriculum for grades 6, 7, and 8.

"The iPads and electronic curriculum will support the innovative learning our middle school teachers already teach," said current principal, Sharon Briere. "We are fortunate to have Spirol International support our school community and are so thankful for their donation towards differentiating our small Catholic School community. This new technology will allow our students to be better prepared for high school where they will be expected to efficiently and effectively use technology in their education."

In addition to new technology, there will be new faces at St. Joseph School when it opens for the 2018-19 school year in late August. The school congratulates Theresa Pelletier, vice-principal and 8th grade teacher, on her retirement. Mrs. Pelletier has been a member of the school community for over 30 years, and her passion, wisdom, and love for the students of St. Joseph have been at the forefront of everything she did. She will be greatly missed. Replacing her is a familiar face; Sharon Calabrese, currently the 5th grade teacher, will step in as the new vice-principal, also maintaining her current classroom. A new grade 8 and middle school math teacher will be hired in the coming weeks.

In addition to Mrs. Pelletier, St. Joseph School will be saying goodbye to beloved principal, Sharon Briere. Mrs. Briere has accepted a position as principal at St. Patrick's School in Norwich, CT. Mrs. Briere has been a member of the St. Joseph community for over 25 years and will be tremendously missed. She has been a huge promoter of and advocate for the school as its front-man, much like Steven Tyler is for her favorite band, Aerosmith. Her dedication and

Local antique news update

Thank you to all of you who asked about my column and me during my recent hiatus. All is well, and my columns will continue to run again, on a bi-weekly basis.

There has been lots of local antique news since my last column. All of the Brimfield dealers that I've spoken with told me that the May show was a good one. One dealer told me that he didn't see the usual rush when the show opened, but that there were steady crowds throughout the week. Another told me that he saw traffic jams on Route 20 for the first time in many years. Hopefully the July 10th through 15th show will be another good one. Your last chance to attend a 2018 show will be Sept. 4th through 9th.

Remember to continue to support local antique shops during the summer. The warm weather offers many buying opportunities for dealers. In turn, dealers regularly bring new inventory into their booths during the summer months.

Outdoor flea markets are also in full swing. Locally, the Grafton Flea Market and Rietta Ranch in Hubbardston offer a wide selection of antiques and newer merchandise. If you are willing to travel a little further, you can visit the Wellfleet Flea Market, Olde Hadley Flea Market, the Providence Flea in Rhode Island, the Davisville Flea Market in Warner, NH, the Hollis Flea Market in Hollis, NH and Elephant's Trunk in New Milford, CT.

There are also many more estate sales taking place during this time of year. An estate sale website (estate-sales.net) lists 19 estate sale companies in the Worcester area alone. Along with the online estate sale listings, you can find other sales listed in this newspaper and other publications.

More companies have been offering online estate sales. Sales terms such as pickup times and additional fees can vary greatly between companies offering online estate sales. Be sure to review the terms before bidding.

Live auctions are still taking place throughout the summer. You can find antique auction information on auctionzip.com and antiquesandthearts.com.

Previous columns contained information on items that would be included in our upcoming auctions. Here are some results from previous auctions. The 1826 dated leather fire buckets from a Woodstock, CT estate that were attributed to Lebaron Putnam of Sutton sold for $19,550. The 1950s and '60s baseball card collection with a 1959 Mickey Mantle card brought nearly $26,000. The NASA patches, astronaut photos and other memorabilia in our last auction rocketed to over $7,400 at our May auction.

July will be a busy month for us, with estate sales on July 7th and 8th in Spencer, July 21st in Holden and July 28th and 29th in Spencer again. We are planning a live coin auction and a live antique estates auction for the Fall. My "Evaluating your antiques" class will run again on October 15th at the Bay Path Evening School in Charlton. I'm looking forward to meeting those of you who read this column in the Winchendon Courier at the upcoming appraisal event at the Whitney

Gemini 8 Patch

Murdock House Museum. The event takes place on October 28th from 11:00 AM to 2:00 PM. See www.centralmassauctions.com for details on these and other upcoming events.

Self centered sons and daughters

We had in the past two weeks the largest sporting events on the planet. Millions of people around the globe were tuned into televisions and radios; glued to the internet and cellphone podcasts, double checking Twitter feeds during dinner to keep up with scores. Everywhere except in America. Because we are separated from the rest of the world by miles...or kilometers...of interest.

We as a nation don't seem to understand the intense sport of 'real' football. Most people don't even know the terms. A pitch, midfielder, offsides, striker...foreign words even though they are English. The game is straight forward enough. You can't use your hands, you can use your head or your feet only, or your torso. Only certain people can run past the midline on the field. Only the goalkeeper can touch the ball with their hands. And you score by getting the ball into the net past defenders and the goalkeeper.

You can't purposely trip anyone, or push them anyone out of your way with your hands, though you may block them with your entire body as long as you don't touch them with your hands. It's FOOT-ball, people.

It is a game that can be played by poor people in the streets and in fields, on grass or on asphalt or sand. It takes something round to kick and bunch of people to run and that's it.

Which is part of its appeal. It is a game of the masses. Anyone can play. No fancy equipment, no particular intense skill set. Being able to run, and learn the rules. A ball or ball-like object and a goal...that's it.

But Americans just never bought into it. We just never seemed to understand the finesse, the skills it takes to dribble between the feet, to pass with accuracy to better positioned teammate, to control the entire field while still moving at that speed. And the endurance to run for more than 90 minutes with small breaks.

We've heard soccer called a 'sissy' game.

Really? American football is played once a week, with huge stops, between the actual plays which last a few seconds each. The players are padded, the runs are seconds long. Yes, there is pretty heavy duty body contact, but very little time endurance. And lots and lots of breaks (for TV commercials if nothing else).

Basketball does have more running, and is pretty physical. But also has more 'rest' time between plays and more timeouts. And is split up into four quarters with rest in between.

We won't even talk about baseball, interminable with only short bursts of running at all.

So why this innate prejudice about soccer? Why do Americans turn up their collective noses at it?

Maybe it's because we haven't fielded a good, competitive team. We have had really good players at times, but if they are good enough, they play for another, better team somewhere else. They are snatched up immediately by a pro team in England, Ireland, elsewhere. America is not the home of a soccer franchise to entice a great player.

And because we, the "America is the Greatest" self centered group we are, can't abide thinking we aren't the best at something, instead downgrade the sport itself. We, being the innate bullies we are tear down what we are actually jealous of; make fun of what intimidates us.

We can't measure up. How dare they.

We, this editor at least, has thoroughly enjoyed the games. We are secretly rooting for one or two teams (sorry, not telling which ones), and as the games wound down one of our picks was still there! Hurrah!

Would we root for America if we had a team in the running? Probably, but against the powerhouses that play in the European and South American leagues? We cannot fathom a USA making it very far. Not until Americans realize how serious this sport is, how athletic the players need to be, how intense the games actually are. And we don't see that happening any time soon. It is one very large blind spot indicative of our own America First idiocy. Especially this week, the week of the Fourth of July, full of hope and promise for our country, our own selfishness is so apparent and so strangely skewed.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Mr. Postmaster-

All too often we find ourselves so busy in our everyday tasks that we often overlook those who help make our lives easier. We would all like to acknowledge the workers of the Webster branch of the U.S. Post Office for all their good work. In particular, the counter staff of Rebekah, Keith, Betsy, and Alison has consistently handled all of our postal needs with expediency and expertise while always doing so in a very courteous and friendly fashion.

We hope you are aware of all the fine work they do, and we would like you to know that we all feel extremely lucky to have them. Please convey to them how very appreciative we are for all of their efforts on our behalf.

Joseph: appreciate thoughts and prayers

To the Editor,

After major, life-saving surgery, an amputation, and extensive rehab, it is time to thank so many for their prayers and well-wishes.

First, a huge thank you to Bill Lepage and his crew for building an incredibly professional handicapped ramp in short notice.

Additional thanks to the staffs at Nichols College and the Dudley Municipal Complex for the gorgeous uplifting and long lasting floral arrangements...during rehab, I had more staff visiting my room to admire the flowers than those who were in to help my rehabbing.

Finally, my vascular surgeon said that I beat the devil to the back door... BY TWO DAYS.

I have no doubt that those two days were earned for me by the prayers of so many.

Prayers DO work..Thank you.

Bernard: thanks for help on trips

To the editor:

I am writing to thank a group of people who I was a part of recently.

On Sunday June 24th, I went with my parents on a bus trip with Bernadette Circle Daughters of Isabella Group #709 to Lake George in New York State from here in Webster. I would like to thank the group for the trip and to let everyone know that people with disabilities can take these type of trips.

My mother is in a wheelchair for transports trips due to her health conditions including diabetes and heart issues, and also a few years ago there was a passenger who had a service dog with her on a trip to the Newport Playhouse as well.

That's it for now.

What are responsibilities when bitting an animal?

Recently, our department sought public assistance, through social media, to locate a vehicle that struck a dog. We thank the public for their assistance in identifying the party involved. As a result, I was asked to explain the legal responsibilities of a driver when they are involved in hitting a dog or cat.

Massachusetts General Law Chapter 272 Section 80H pertains to these situations. It states in part, "The operator of a motor vehicle that strikes and injures or kills a dog or cat shall forthwith report such an accident to the owner or custodian of said dog or cat or to a police officer in the town wherein such accident has occurred."

This means a driver has the obligation to try and locate the owner of the animal or notify the police soon after the incident. If this does not occur, the driver is subject to a fine of not more than $50.

These are not wild animals. The owners are owed the respect of being notified about the death of their pet. In some cases, it may not be safe to immediately stop and try to find a pet's owner. This is why there is the provision for notifying police. When the police are contacted, the operator is identified and attempts can be made to find the owner.

There are always sad cases. Owners have lost a pet and drivers feel bad even if the situation is unavoidable. Operators must drive safely and may have no choice but to strike an animal. This is especially true if it would be necessary to enter the path of an approaching vehicle. To avoid these instances, please be sure to contain your pet as best you can. Even the most obedient dog can be difficult to control if chasing a rabbit, person, or something else which happens onto their territory. Please remember to remain attentive to your pets and leash or confine them. It can limit these unfortunate instances.

Thanks again for your questions and comments. Please send them to me at the Dudley Police Department, 71 West Main St., Dudley, MA 01571 or email at swojnar@dudleypolice.com.

Opinions expressed in this weekly column are those of Chief Wojnar only and unless clearly noted, do not reflect the ideas or opinions of any other organization or citizen.

Ending a life

Over the past several months, in the local community, I have been made aware of several people who have chosen to take their lives in suicide. The news of these events has greatly troubled all of us, especially because some of the people have been young and in the "prime" of their lives. There is shock, disbelief and incredible pain that those who commit suicide leave behind. For family members and friends who lose someone to suicide, the grief never fully ends. There are always unresolved feelings to deal with and so many unanswered questions.

In light of these circumstances, I felt it was important to address the current situation from a faith-perspective. Suicide is related to a crisis of hope in our society. In order to understand this better, I would like to first speak about hope and how it works in human life.

The New Illustrated Webster's Dictionary and Thesaurus defines hope as "to desire with expectation of fulfillment." The Catechism of The Catholic Church defines hope as "the theological virtue by which we desire and expect from God both eternal life and the grace we need to attain it." Hope is integrally related to love and faith. Without love and faith, hope is hard to find.

There are many individual reasons why some persons come to the decision to end their lives. Some of them may include addiction, mental health difficulties, social isolation, relationship problems, financial stress, unemployment or work problems, grief and chronic or terminal illness, among others. Clearly, when someone makes this decision their mental faculties are in some way compromised. States of extreme emotion, depression or other conditions contribute to this compromised thinking.

This is why the Church commends those who have committed suicide to the mercy of God. God, and only God, sees someone's life in totality and understands completely why they do what they do. God loves all those He has created and takes into account the condition they are in. Though taking one's life or the life of another willfully is wrong, only God can judge the true culpability of the one who commits the act.

Though there are always individual and unique personal reasons and circumstances that lead someone to commit suicide, our society's current condition often encourages despair. A general attitude of selfishness present in society, a lack of faith and charity exercised towards one another and frequent great adversities often leave people feeling disappointed and unable to cope well. These conditions encourage some, who are already struggling with things, to allow hopelessness to take over.

Having faith is not simply a nice thing to have. I would argue that it is absolutely essential for life. Faith enables the one who has it to hope when all seems dark and impossible. Faith helps one to see that one is never alone and when others fail us there is always Another who holds us in love, with constant, total reliability and care. Faith gives us the strength to endure the trials of this world and leads us beyond them to the next where there is no suffering or pain.

Encouraging faith is encouraging hope. It is fighting against the despair and hopelessness that are present in our society. Let us remember our responsibility to support those who have lost loved ones to suicide and to pray for suicide victims and their families. In this way love, which is the opposite of fear and despair, may manifest itself more readily in our times.

Turning the corner, Sturbridge Post 109 tops East Side for another win

WORCESTER — The Sturbridge Post 109 American Legion baseball team, behind a 13-hit attack that featured a pair of triples, rallied from a three-run deficit to defeat East Side Legion Post 201, 11-8, on Wednesday, June 27 at Worcester Academy's Gaskill Field.

With the win Post 109 improved to 5-10; Post 201 dropped to 4-8 with the loss.

"We really should be 8-7," Sturbridge manager Jim Rosseel said. "We lost three very winnable games earlier in the season. In two of those losses we were winning late in the game and we just couldn't hang on. We're a young team, but we're getting better with every game we play. These kids are getting a lot of valuable Legion experience and it will only make them better as the season goes on and down the road as well."

Sturbridge led 1-0 after a half-inning and then trailed, 4-1, as the game headed into the third. Post 109 scored a pair of runs in the top of the third, though, to cut the deficit to one run, 4-3.

Jared Langevin led off the inning with a single to center field and Curtis Koebke followed with a walk. Langevin scored later in the inning on an East Side error to make it a 4-2 game, and then Koebke came home on a wild pitch to make it 4-3.

"They pitched around Curtis tonight," Rosseel said of his No. 3 hitter, who walked in three of his five plate appearances but did single to right field in the seventh inning. "They wanted nothing to do with Curtis."

Sturbridge went ahead for good in the top of the fourth inning.

With one out Mick Sullivan singled to center field and then went to second on a wild pitch. Sullivan tied the game, 4-4, coming home when Langevin (three hits, triple, RBI) lashed a single to left field. After Koebke grounded out to short for the second out of the inning, Pat Wilbur hit a booming triple to center field, scoring Langevin to give Post 109 a 5-4 lead.

The triple was Wilbur's only hit of the game and it came after two frustrating at-bats earlier on.

"I fixed what I was doing wrong in my first two at-bats and I made a good swing on the ball," said Wilbur, who will be a senior at Shepherd Hill Regional when school starts up again in late August. "I wasn't getting my feet wide enough the first two times I went to the plate."

"I hit a fastball that came in right over the plate," said Wilbur about the offering East Side starter Dylan Fenuccio threw to him. "It was a good pitch to hit. I felt OK when I made contact but I was worried that it was right at him, but then it carried and went over his head."

Wilbur scored to give Sturbridge a 6-4 lead when Post 109's next batter, Avery Wetherbee (four hits, two RBI's), singled to right field.

East Side cut the Sturbridge lead to 6-5 with a run in the bottom of the fourth, but Post 109 got the run back in the top of the fifth, with Colin Eliason scoring to make it 7-5. Eliason reached base when he was hit by a pitch, went to second on a wild pitch and then scored on a Post 201 error.

Sturbridge pushed its lead to 11-5 with a four-run sixth inning, two runs scoring on wild pitches, one run scoring on an RBI single to center field by Dominic Brown (two hits, RBI) and one run scoring on a sacrifice fly to center field by Hayden Wildes.

East Side made things interesting however, scoring three runs in the bottom of the sixth to cut the Post 109 lead to 11-8.

Rosseel brought Wilbur on in the bottom of the seventh to close the game out and Wilbur worked into some trouble, walking two of the first three batters he faced. Wilbur then pitched out of the trouble, ending the game with a strike-out and a fly ball out to right field.

"Pat had a big day for us," Rosseel said. "He was really throwing some heat there at the end. He's our ace and our closer when it works out that we can use him as our closer."

Dominic Brown of Sturbridge keeps a late throw in front of him on a toss to home plate.

Sturbridge's Jared Langevin fields a throw from the catcher at second base.

Jared Langevin of Sturbridge slides into to third base all the way from first on a hit by Curtis Koebke.

Cherry Valley Post 443 squeaks past Framingham, improves to even 6-6

Chris Kustigian of Cherry Valley fields and throws the ball back in from the outfield.

BY DEAN P. ST. LAURENT
SPORTS CORRESPONDENT

FRAMINGHAM — Late inning run support and clutch defensive plays helped the Cherry Valley Post 443 American Legion baseball team squeak out a close 4-3 win over Framingham Post 74 on Wednesday, June 27 at Bowditch Field.

Moments before Joel Erickson powered a fastball past the opposing Framingham batter for strike three, which resulted in the end of the game, Erickson started the double play that saved a run for Cherry Valley.

It was a dribbler to Erickson and he fielded the ball cleanly and sent a bullet throw to catcher Michael Bordeaux for the force out at home and, quickly focusing on the runner to first, Bordeaux sent a perfect throw to the bag for the unconventional 1-2-3 double play.

“I can’t believe it, bottom of the seventh bases loaded and no outs and we got out of it without giving up a run,” expressed Cherry Valley manager Jim Stephens excitedly. “We had a big double play, it was excellent.”

Many defensive plays at the end of the game are what helped Cherry Valley hold on for the win. Another game-deciding play came in the sixth when a relay throw from left field got to Bordeaux just in time for him to stretch and tag the Framingham runner out at the plate trying to tie the game at 4-4.

“They’re really gelling,” Stephens explained. “We got that kid at the plate in the sixth inning and then in the seventh with the bases loaded no outs and we got out of it, are you kidding me. They’re playing good and are confident, they have it in themselves right now. They can beat just about anybody.”

Although it was the defense that secured the win for Post 443 late, if it wasn’t for the four runs scored on the offensive end, the defensive plays wouldn’t be in discussion.

Cherry Valley was able to take advantage of an errant throw by Framingham’s shortstop on a hard grounder by Cam Hart in the top of the third, which scored both Tyrus Garvin and Evan Fritze.

Post 443 wasn’t done there, though, and got the bats going again in the top of the fifth, recording three of their seven hits in the inning. This resulted in two more runs scoring and giving them a comfortable 4-0 lead.

Cleanup hitter Nate Shoemaker started the scoring in the fifth when he muscled a line drive to left-center, which scored Fritze, who singled earlier in the inning. Jason Panient kept it going when he singled to left field, which scored Hart.

“Early in the year we were kind of weak down the bottom of the order, but having the Oxford kids they came in and filled some holes,” explained Stephens of Bordeaux, Panient and Erickson joining the team after their run to the high school State Championship game. “There is just more comfort having them in the lineup, they have more confidence.”

Aidan Gilman and Erickson combined for seven solid innings on the mound. Gilman went four full, giving up no runs. He also struck out four opposing batters. Erickson pitched three innings and gave up three runs on five hits and he struck out four. Despite giving up three runs in his first inning of work, he bounced back with some clutch pitching to help Post 443 even its record to 6-6 at the season’s midpoint. Framingham is also 6-6.

Aidan Gilman of Cherry Valley delivers a pitch to the plate.

Evan Fritze of Cherry Valley makes it safely back to first base on a pickoff throw.

Questions to ask your financial advisor

You should always be able to ask as many questions as you'd like when working with your financial advisor. So, before you have your annual review, think carefully about what you'd like to ask. Here are a few suggestions:

Are my goals still realistic? When you first began working with your financial advisor, you may well have articulated a number of financial goals. For example, you might have said that you wanted to pay for most of your children's college educations, or that you wanted to retire at a certain age, or that you wanted to travel for two months each year during your retirement. In fact, you could have many different goals for which you're saving and investing. When you meet with your financial advisor, you'll certainly want to ask if you're still on track toward meeting these goals. If you are, you can continue with the financial strategies you've been following; but if you aren't, you may need to adjust them.

Am I taking on too much – or too little – risk? The financial markets always fluctuate, and these movements will affect the value of your investment portfolio. If you watch the markets closely every day and track their impact on your investments, you may find yourself fretting considerably over your investments' value and wondering if you are taking on too much investment risk for your comfort level. Conversely, if you think that during an extended period of market gains your own portfolio appears to be lagging, you might feel that you should be investing more aggressively, which entails greater risk. In any case, it's important that you know your own risk tolerance and use it as a guideline for making investment choices – so it's definitely an issue to discuss with your financial advisor.

How will changes in my life affect my investment strategy? Your life is not static. Over time, you may experience any number of major events, such as marriage, children, new jobs and so on. When you meet with your financial advisor, you will want to discuss these types of changes, because they can affect your long-term goals and, consequently, your investment decisions.

How are external forces affecting my investment portfolio? Generally speaking, you will want to create an investment strategy that's based on your goals, risk tolerance and time horizon. And, as mentioned above, you may need to adjust your strategy based on changes in your life. But should you also make changes based on outside forces, such as interest rate movements, political events, new legislation or news affecting industries in which you have invested substantially? Try not to make long-term investment decisions based on short-term news. Yet, talk with your financial advisor to make sure your investment portfolio is not out of alignment with relevant external factors.

By making these and other inquiries, you can help yourself stay informed on your overall investment picture and what moves, if any, you should make to keep advancing toward your goals. A financial advisor is there to provide you with valuable expertise – so take full advantage of it.

RANDAZZO

“Attorney Randazzo has done a great job. I was really impressed with her going in. We’ve had a long term standing with our labor attorney Marc Terry (of Mirick O’Connell) and I’d like to see us keep that,” Marsi said. “Michele Randazzo is also very good at that as well. We’d have a backup situation with that.”

With those comments in mind Marsi made a motion that would include both entities as Dudley’s legal advisors for the foreseeable future with Attorney Randazzo and KP Law as town counsel and Attorney Terry representing Mirick O’Connell as the labor attorney for the town.

When discussing a contract Selectman Paul Joseph recommended selectmen break from the norm and approve a two-year contract rather than the traditional practice of reapproving a contract every year. However, Joseph also recommended selectmen include a reviewable option after one year.

The Board of Selectmen approved all these recommendations effectively signing KP Law to represent the town through June 30, 2020 with an option to review Attorney Randazzo after the first year. The vote was unanimous with Selectman Joseph abstaining due to his absence from recent meetings on the subject for health reasons.

until his first day in Auburn on July 6, however after that the district hopes to have the waiver accepted and Nash on full time. Despite this, committee member Catherine Kabala insisted the committee be prepared for a worst-case scenario if the waiver is denied.

“I don’t think this is just a one-week plan. I think we have to address that,” Kabala said. “We have to be prepared for that failure.”

Kabala had mentioned during a meeting on June 20 that a critical shortage waiver would be required from the DESE as Nash is seeking to collect her full retirement pension while returning to work as the leader of the district. If the waiver is denied, the school committee has implied an internal search would likely take place. A special meeting was scheduled for July 2 to discuss the possible backup plans if the waiver is denied. That meeting occurred after press time.

TOWN MEETINGS

consumption of tobacco is prohibited” also passed, 95-15.

All of the warrant’s other votes received less than 20 noes, and several actually had questions. Most notable among those were the new bylaws to address vacant and “nuisance” properties. Willardson said landlords of such properties must register them within 45 days of being vacant for 45 days and secure them or face up to $300 a day in fines.

One woman asked how that would affect houses going through probate sales, and Willardson said they’d be protected as long as the owner/agent simply let the town know.

Similarly, a woman asked how the town would treat “defective weather protection” on houses, and Willardson replied the town would see that as a problem. But he acknowledged “not every nuisance can be cleaned up within 10 days,” and used two examples: overgrown weeds can, but a collapsed roof usually can’t. In the latter case, owners won’t be fined if they report to Code Enforcement that they’ve started the process within the 10 day period.

Several other articles sought to repurpose the remaining balances of completed water and sewer projects to fund new ones. By doing that, the town doesn’t have to borrow as much, Willardson said. All were approved, including upgrading the SCADA computer system, repairing various water lines, and covering a $119,000 deficit for the completed Rawson Road water project.

A similar process was used to fund replacing fire Engine #5 and Ladder #2 with a new truck that can combine both functions. Willardson said the engine is 23 years old, while the ladder truck is 35 years old, and National Fire Protection Administration guidelines recommend retiring such vehicles after 25 years. To do that, the town’s capital plan calls for replacing a fire vehicle every 3.5 years.

Willardson said the town looked at refurbishing Engine #5, but found “that won’t meet NFPA standards,” would cost about 35 percent of buying new, and would only extend the truck’s life by about seven years. He got bids from three manufacturers, with E-1 being the lowest at about $600,000. A third of that cost is in the fiscal 2019 capital budget, about $193,000 is coming from Free Cash, and town meeting approved the rest by transferring from completed capital projects.

Lastly, voters approved rezoning an unused part of St. Joseph’s Cemetery to business use. The Planning Board rejected the proposal this spring because it originally called for a change to an industrial zone; this time, it went to Business-5 (a non-sewered zone), which Willardson said is open to “any business activity not classified as industrial.” Rev. In the “best case scenario,” the crane they used can carry 300 tons (600,000 pounds), but at the length and radius they need to do this project, it can handle less than half that, he said. That’s still 115 tons, about 40 percent more than they need.

“The Corps has strict regulations on cranes and this contractor seems pretty good,” he said as he watched workers from Central Mass Crane Service of Leicester do their work. That went without any noticeable hitches, although it took a lot longer to finesse the last inch or two into proper alignment than it did to hook it up and swing 70 tons from truck to location.

According to Corps

Project Manager Tim Russell, the bathroom replacement has been in the Corps capital budget “for probably 10 years,” and actually in the planning stages for about two. It became necessary particularly after flooding in 2005 and 2011 inundated the already old and too-small bathrooms, which were at a location somewhat closer to lake level than the new ones will be.

“About every five years, [the water] gets to the height it’ll flood those [old] bathrooms,” he said.

Russell said the old ones were the park’s originals, dating to 1960, when Buffumville opened as a flood control facility after the devastation of the Flood of 1955. They were essentially big outhouses; only in the 1990s were they renovated to become flushing facilities.

Since then, the park’s popularity has dramatically outgrown those facilities. Russell estimated 60,000-70,000 people use it annually.

“That’s a busy weekend here, so to get these up and running before then is huge,” Turmelle added.

Summer has officially arrived and that means a new season of tricks and tips to save time, money and hassles. Thanks to the readers who took time out from their busy warm weather activities to share their favorite hints and strategies to make life a little easier!

This crafty reader recycles blooms in this DIY trick that celebrates the season!

Happy summer! I have a wreath (porch outdoor) that I just loved the flowers too much to totally give up. While in my garden closet I found a beautiful little wall basket and knew just the flowers to recycle to it to make a new hanging decoration for my porch. I took wire cutters removing stems of hydrangea, pansies, roses, ivy and daisies I wanted to keep (swished them in a small bucket of water with laundry detergent), rinsed and arranged them in the wall basket (steel not wicker), wove a few into the metal mess front, added my flamingo flip flops as a summer touch and a bow!

A clever reader offers an ingenious “tick tip” and more:

Tick season is here. Having suffered through two attacks of Lyme disease, I have developed a sure-fire method to preserve and date those I may discover - and there have been many. As soon as I find a tick, I grab a roll of Scotch tape (I keep one handy in the bathroom, also in other rooms) and rip off a 2” piece. Stick it onto the tick, then fold it over to seal the tick in. Then I tape it to the appropriate day on my calendar. Once that little bugger is sealed in, it cannot escape; it is preserved and dated.

Here’s another trick: When you seem to have reached the bottom of a plastic tube or pump-bottle of lotion, do not toss it. Use kitchen shears or an Xacto knife to carefully cut around the container at 1 1/2” above the cap for “standing” tubes, or 2” above the base for bottles. There is always a surprising amount of lotion hiding in there. Slide the top of the tube or bottle down over the base to preserve until it is used up. Voila!

A trio of culinary tips from a creative cook cuts kitchen chores down to size:

You will get more juice from a lemon if you warm it in the oven first (good use for your ice tea).

Want your blueberry muffins to come out of your tin easily? They will slide right out of tin pans if the hot pan is first placed on a wet towel.

Your hand grater will clean up quickly if you rub salad oil on it before using it.

A hint to store off-season clothing the eco-friendly way:

Here is a hint for you. The warm weather is finally here!

Time to put away your cold weather items. Here’s a way to protect your coats and jackets. Do not use plastic bags (the type from dry cleaners). Instead use clean, old pillow case Cut a small hole in the center of the sewn side and sip it over the hanger. It will keep your items fresh and stain free.

We WILL BEAT ANY COMPETITOR'S BEST DEAL!

If you can dream it, you can drive it!

Whether we give you more for your trade or charge you less for your new car,

OUR BOTTOM LINE PRICE WILL BE THE BEST BY FAR!

WE'LL PURCHASE YOUR VEHICLE - EVEN IF YOU DON'T PURCHASE OURS!

WHAT OUR CUSTOMERS ARE SAYING:

"VERY COURTEOUS"

I bought a 2017 Pacifica this week, it wasn't the first car we bought with Imperial and it won't be the last. We moved further away and we still take the drive to Imperial. We had to wait a few weeks after the initial test drive before purchasing and Jim Burke was very courteous in following up with me and was patiently waiting. He and Marc M helped us find the perfect car for our family. They even gave us lunch at the diner! The finance manager was very helpful in getting the service warranties we wanted while staying in budget.

Friday's Child

Hi! Our names are Jonathan and Violette and we want to be adopted together!

Jonathan and Violette are siblings of Caucasian descent who are looking to be adopted together! Those who know Jonathan best describe him as energetic and kind. He likes to be active outside, especially going for walks, playing in the sandbox, riding his bike and watering the garden. Jonathan also likes to build with Legos and watch movies, and enjoys pretend play. He particularly likes to play "policeman" and "school bus" driver. Jonathan is starting to like to play sports and has recently tried basketball and soccer.

Jonathan is doing very well at his current program, and has made great gains in following directions and communicating his thoughts and feelings. He has built strong relationships with all of the staff and likes to tell them that he loves them. He also gets along well with his peers. He is in a separate classroom with a high teacher-to-student ratio. His teachers say that he is doing "amazing" in this setting and he has started to spend time in a mainstream classroom. Violette is described as a happy child who likes to please the adults in her life. She is engaging and funny but also enjoys playing independently. Her favorite activity is coloring and drawing, as well as building with blocks and playing with dolls. She also likes to go outside to play at the playground. She especially enjoys playing in the sandbox and at the water table. Violette is currently attending preschool, where she receives extra supports to help her follow directions.

Jonathan and Violette are very much looking forward to finding a supportive and patient family where they can live together again. An ideal family structure for them is an experienced two-parent family, either with no other children in the home or with children older than they are. Jonathan and Violette are ready for adoption and visit with their biological parents twice a year.

Who Can Adopt?

Can you provide the guidance, love and stability that a child needs? If you're at least 18 years old, have a stable source of income, and room in your heart, you may be a perfect match to adopt a waiting child. Adoptive parents can be single, married, or partnered; experienced or not; renters or homeowners; LGBTQ singles and couples.

The process to adopt a child from foster care requires training, interviews, and home visits to determine if adoption is right for you, and if so, to help connect you with a child or sibling group that your family will be a good match for.

To learn more about adoption from foster care, call the Massachusetts Adoption Resource Exchange (MARE) at 617-6273 or visit www.mareinc.org. The sooner you call, the sooner a waiting child will have "a permanent place to call HOME."
