

Back to back storms create long hours for highway crews

BY ERIN PLUMMER

REGION — Area highway works crews spent long shifts cleaning up after two significant storms this past week.

A major snowstorm came through the area on Sunday night through Monday, Jan. 22-23, dumping over a foot of snow.

A few days later another significant snow even passed through on Jan. 25, dumping around five inches of snow followed by heavy rains that created slushy conditions.

Gilford and Alton’s Public Works Department reported on storm cleanup progress on their Facebook pages.

On Jan. 22 crews in Gilford started working at 10 p.m. and made two full routes. Crews were also working around cars that slid off the road.

By Sunday night DPW measured 12.5 inches of snow with many drivers reporting around 16 inches in higher elevations. Overall the Gilford area re-

GILFORD — On three different trips down the court early in the second quarter, the Kearsarge hoop boys had a chance to pull even with Gilford on Tuesday, Jan. 24.

However, the Cougars couldn’t quite get over the hump and the Golden Eagles pulled away in the second half and cruised to a 66-32 win.

“It doesn’t feel great when we don’t play hard,” said Gilford coach Rick Acquilano. “It was obvious on the floor, we just changed our energy, not really anything else.”

The Golden Eagles came out and scored the first nine points of the game, with Isaiah Reese hitting a three-pointer and a hoop, Jalen Reese hitting a bucket and Logan Grant finishing off an Isaiah Reese steal for the 9-0 lead before the Cougars hit their first basket of the game.

Jalen Reese drained another hoop and after a Kearsarge basket, Isaiah Reese hit another basket. The Cougars followed with a three-pointer and a bucket to cut the lead to 13-9. Jalen Reese drained another basket and the visitors got the final basket of the quarter to cut the lead to 15-11 after one quarter of play.

The Cougars got the first basket of the second quarter and then had two consecutive trips down the court where they could have pulled even, but they couldn’t find the bottom of the net. After Grant hit a hoop to push the lead out to four again, the Cougars cut it to two gain and once again had another chance to pull even. However, Kearsarge was unable to get over that hump and Gilford took off.

Isaiah Reese and Jalen Reese put back rebounds, Grant finished off an Isaiah Reese steal and Jalen Reese hit another hoop for the 25-15 lead for the Golden Eagles. After Kearsarge connected on two hoops, Isaiah Reese finished off his own steal for the 27-19 lead.

The Cougars hit a hoop to pull them within six points, but two free throws from Henry Sleeper and another Isaiah Reese steal and hoop gave Gilford the 31-21 lead at the halftime break.

The Golden Eagles scored 12 of the first 14 points in the third quarter to take charge. Isaiah Reese had two hoops, Jalen Reese had three baskets and Sam Cheek added a hoop as the hosts went up 43-23.

Kearsarge got another hoop, but Gilford finished out the quarter on a 10-1 run to give them a commanding lead heading to the fourth. Jalen Reese started the GILFORD — Voters will decide on a proposed new zoning amendment putting regulations on short term rentals.

The Gilford Planning Board is proposing a new section on the town ordinances regulating short term rentals. The proposed regulations will be discussed at the Deliberative session on Feb. 7 and decided by voters during town meeting voting on March 14.

A short-term rental is defined as a dwelling unit offered for rent for 30 or more days in a calendar year and is available 30 or more days to “transient occupants, lodgers, or guests.” This definition applies to properties that do not already meet the requirements

Powerhouse project offers a new perspective on a classic tale

Emily Schafritz and Amanda Wagner play the title characters in the coming Powerhouse Theater Collaborative production of "Romeo and Juliet."

BY ERIN PLUMMER
mnews@salmonpress.news

LACONIA — A local theater company is offering a new look at the story of "Romeo and Juliet" in a combined project of the classic Shakespeare play plus an original sequel.

Powerhouse Theater Collaborative is presenting the "R&J Project" two consecutive weekends in February. The project starts on Feb. 10-12 with the group's production of "Romeo and Juliet" at the Colonial Theater in Laconia at 7:30 p.m., with an additional matinee at 2 p.m. on Saturday, Feb. 12. The next weekend, they will present a staged reading of an original play, "Montague and Capulet," an unofficial sequel to "Romeo and Juliet," at the Belknap Mill on Feb. 18 at 7:30 p.m. and Feb. 19 at 2 p.m.

Bryan Haleprin and Joel Iwaskiewicz are directing the shows, with Halperin working on most of the staging. Iwaskiewicz is working more with the Shakespearean themes and language.

Halperin said he hasn't worked with Shakespeare since middle school.

"What I found is, the language is way more accessible than I thought it was," Bryan said.

He said the intention is clear, and it is even more accessible when everything comes together the right way.

"Montague and Capulet" focuses on the survivors of the original play — the doomed lovers' families, friends, and the people of Verona — dealing with the tragedy of Romeo and Juliet's deaths and focuses on the long feud between the two families.

"Tragedy has gone through this town; Verona's had some trauma," said co-producer Johanna Halperin.

The show picks up from the closing lines of Shakespeare's play, where the Prince of Verona promises that "some shall be pardoned and some punished" for their roles in the tragedy.

"Who's punished who's banished? Who bears the results of what just happened?" she said.

In "Montague and Capulet," the people of Verona will examine what happened to Romeo and Juliet, and what led everything happening. She said it was ultimately the younger people who suffered because of this old feud and the community faced a tragedy.

"Montague and Capulet" focuses on three characters who all serve as narrators of "Romeo and Juliet."

One narrator is Benvolio, who survived the events of the original play but lost his close friends, Romeo and Mercutio.

The events of the play will also be seen from the perspective of Romeo's former love Rosaline, whom Romeo abandoned quickly after meeting Juliet. The new play also introduces the character of Mercutio's sister, Valentina.

All three of these characters give narration during "Romeo and Juliet," and Bryan Halperin said the concept is that the events of the play are being seen through their eyes.

The new play was written by Jaydie Halperin, who is currently a senior at Wesleyan University. Jaydie started working on this show as a part of her senior studies at Inter-Lakes Middle High School.

The play was previously presented in the form of an online read-through from the Sandwich-based Shakespeare company Advice to the Players, and at her school. Both times, she received feedback and edited the dialogue with this input.

Each show influences the other. While "Montague and Capulet" is a direct sequel, the events from that show echo back to "Romeo and Juliet," and influence how it is presented.

"Romeo and Juliet" takes the stage at the Colonial Theater in Laconia Feb. 10-12.

Powerhouse Theater Collaborative's "R&J Project" also includes some new perspectives on "Romeo and Juliet" with some new narrators and an unofficial sequel, "Montagues and Capulets."

Bryan said they use the second show as a way to introduce a lot of ideas into the main show, such as character traits. He said with everything together it creates a richer experience for the performers.

"Our hope is that people who see 'Romeo and Juliet' will watch and come back the next week to see the parts of the story," Bryan said.

The production of "Romeo and Juliet" is also aimed at being more accessible, especially for those who might not be as familiar with Shakespeare's language. Johanna said they are presenting the show in a way that's a little more accessible while not losing any of the original play's language and events.

The production of "Romeo and Juliet" has been shortened to tighten up the running time, a practice that even the Bard himself would likely have engaged in. Shakespeare's original dialogue has been kept intact, though they aim to present it in a more relatable way.

"We try to make it understandable," Johanna said.

The costumes are inspired by the show's Renaissance setting, but with a more modern twist.

"We think the story is so great, let's tell the story; let's give our actors a challenge," Johanna said.

"We really wanted to present it in a way it was accessible. We think everyone knows the basic story. We challenged the actors and the design team to make it accessible."

Nikolai Fernandez of Belmont plays Benvolio.

"It was kind of fun to have a whole other piece to dive into," Fernandez said.

He worked a lot with the performers playing Romeo and Mercutio to get their close dynamic and working on how Benvolio fits with this group.

Brendan Berube of Laconia is playing Escalus Scaglieri, the Prince of Verona, who has the unenviable task of trying to keep the feuding Montagues and Capulets in line, and who, in "Romeo and Juliet," loses two of his own kinsmen to the violence. His growing obsession with punishing someone for the bloodshed drives much of the plot of "Montague and Capulet."

He also talked about how both plays influence each other.

"Are we playing our characters as themselves, or are we playing our characters as the narrators see them?" Berube said.

(Next week's edition will feature our interview Amanda Wagner and Emily Schafritz, who play Romeo and Juliet.)

Make-A-Wish NH sponsors leadership event

The Leadership Lakes Region Class being briefed on the County Special Operations Group vehicle.

LACONIA — The non-profit group, Leadership Lakes Region, recently completed its annual Social Issues Day under the sponsorship of Make-A-Wish New Hampshire. The group of 25 area professionals met at the Belknap County Complex to hear from a variety of social issues speakers.

The day began with welcome remarks by Julie Baron President and CEO of Make-A-Wish NH. Baron is a graduate of Leadership Lakes as well as a current member of its Board. She explained her organization's mission and was followed by another graduate, Andrea Conodemetrak, a member of the 2019 Leadership class who set the tone for the day with her presentation "How to turn your Passion into Action; a guide to getting involved through volunteerism."

Detectives Steve Orton and Eric Adams of the Laconia Police then spoke about law enforcement's role in collaborating with the community to solve problems. The group also learned from Alton Detective Adam Painchaud about the Belknap County Special Operations Group and how it responds to emergency issues county-wide.

The Leadership group then recapped their individual ride-alongs with area law enforcement as part of understanding social issues at work in the Lakes Region. The discussion was chaired by Lt. Chris Noyes of LPD and County Chief Probation Parole Officer, Serene Eastman. Wrapping up the morning, were Meghan Noyes of the Child Advocacy Center, County Attorney Andrew Livernois and Detective Tony Horan of LPD. Their topic was a multi-disciplinary team approach to the problem of child abuse.

Following a lunch exercise in which class members gained a better understanding of food insecurities, Jessica Gorhan, Deputy Director of NH Hunger Solutions spoke on the subject. Next up for the group was a tour of the Belknap County Corrections Department led by Superintendent Adam Cunningham and County Sheriff Bill Wright. Becky Bryant, CEO of Lakes Region Community Services, was joined by her colleague Alyssa Tandy in explaining to the Leadership class the role their agency plays in promoting independence, dignity and opportunity for their clients. Ms. Bryant is a graduate of Leadership Lakes and current board member while Ms. Tandy is a member of the current class.

The final presentation for the Social Issues Day was by Katie Pelczar, Community Outreach Coordinator for CASA NH accompanied by her co-presenter, a CASA volunteer, Tom Goulette.

"This was a jam-packed day covering the spectrum of social issues at work in our area," said Leadership Lakes Coordinator, Jennifer McLean. She credits her graduate planners; Meghan Noyes, Carol Stone and Alyssa Raxter with putting together a diverse array of law enforcement, hunger solution, community service and children advocates to cover the far reaching subject matter. Leadership Lakes Region appreciates the strong support from Make-A-Wish NH which made the day possible.

Pros and Cons of a Family Limited Partnership

What are the downsides of using an FLP?

While there are several benefits to using an FLP, there are a few disadvantages that must be considered:

- An FLP must have at least one general partner that will have unlimited liability for the partnership's debts and obligations.
- An FLP is a business entity, so the formalities of operating a business must be observed, including holding regular meetings, keeping track of minutes, and paying the general partner appropriate compensation.
- If you want to give a limited partnership interest to a minor, additional planning may be needed to make sure that the interest is held either by a trust for the minor's benefit or in a Uniform Transfer to Minors Act account.
- The creation and management of an FLP is a sophisticated planning strategy that requires experienced professionals and continued management by involved parties.

What are the benefits of using an FLP?

This estate planning strategy is useful for the following reasons:

- An FLP can help protect accounts, properties, and businesses in the entity from your and your family's creditors, because those items are not owned by you and your family as individuals but instead are owned by the entity. If a creditor obtains a judgment against you or your family for a claim not related to the FLP, it can be difficult for the creditor to access anything that the FLP owns to satisfy that claim.
- Because of its lack of control and restrictions on selling a partnership interest, the value of the limited partnership interest that you give to a family member can be discounted, allowing you to maximize your annual gift tax exclusion and lifetime estate and gift tax exemptions.
- Transfer of partnership control can occur slowly, minimizing transfer taxes, allowing you to maintain control, and giving your family a share of the income and profits. Your family can take time to become more familiar with the business. Meanwhile, they will not be exposed to the partnership's liabilities.
- If you own real property in a different state, transferring ownership of the property to the FLP allows your loved ones to avoid an ancillary probate proceeding at your death because the entity will own the property, not you.

Could this be the best solution for you?

If you have a business or investment portfolio that you want to plan for, and pass on to the next generation while protecting your life savings, minimizing taxes, and maintaining control for as long as you want, a FLP might be good for you..

Take time away from your phone

Most weeks, our Editorial column spins off of a subject we curious about. While the subject of cell phone and screen addiction comes up often, this week, our perspective on the issue noticeably shifted after receiving a wise tip. A national news story broke, relaying that many younger people are switching to flip phones as a way to curb mental illness and burnout. There are several tips as far as screen time and how to manage it. The first one is to ignore your phone, don't even look at it, until 30 minutes after you wake up. In that time, sit down, have your morning coffee, and read a book. When you start to scroll on your phone just after waking up, you put yourself into what's called a passive scrolling phase, which can derail your entire day and ward off productivity. A few days of following this new advice, and there is a noticeable sense of comfort and relaxation that can carry you throughout your day. It's like taking 30 minutes every morning to get back to the basics and recall simpler times. Most people feel like they are in control of their phone use, but are you? How can you determine if you have a phone addiction, or are just part of the modern era grind? We've said it before, and we'll say it again — nothing beats the days of watching "Jeopardy!" uninterrupted, without the pressure of responding to a ding from your phone. In 2011, only 35 percent of the population owned smartphones; today, 81 percent do. It is our main form of communication, so much so that now there is a term called nomophobia, or the fear of going without your phone. Excessive cell phone use is a huge problem for many. As far as addiction goes, some experts say the dopamine connection the phone offers can be linked to something akin to a drug addiction. The triggering of that chemical in your brain, reinforces compulsive behavior. When we can't predict when we will receive a text or a "like" on social media, we check our phones more often. Adolescents are more vulnerable to this problem than any other age group. Excessive use in that age group is such an issue that most teenagers never turn off their phones. Experts say that the younger a child has access to a phone, the sooner the problems begin. Problematic cell phone use is linked to low self-esteem, low impulse control, depression and anxiety. Signs you may have a phone addiction could be that you reach for your phone if you're bored, you feel anxious or upset if you can't get to your phone, you wake throughout the night to check it, or your phone has caused you to get into an accident. Other signs could be that you spend most of your waking hours on your phone, and that it interferes with personal relationships or work. When trying to focus on work, or any task, you are significantly disrupted, and your concentration is thrown off. Ways to break the addiction in order to fix your relationships, your health and other responsibilities include figuring out if there is a larger issue as to why you're using your phone so much. Are you avoiding something else bigger? Resolving the larger issue at hand, could cause a decrease in phone use. Change your settings to remove notifications and other alerts, set your screen to dark mode at night, keep your phone out of sight and never charge it in your bedroom. After a certain time, set your phone up so that only emergency contacts can get through to you, everyone else can wait. Try replacing games on your phone with real in person games or develop a hobby you've been wanting to try. Too much cell phone use can develop into a loss of control. There have been some experiments where people have gone two days without their phones. Some people choose to give up their phones all together, while others make significant changes to reduce use. The potential risk of depression, insomnia and lack of productivity just isn't worth it. Think back to pre-cell phone times. While there are safety benefits to having a phone, we don't need to be connected 24/7, and we don't need to respond or answer our phones just because they ding. Your responsibility is to yourself, and it is revelatory how much you can get done if you just unplug. Take a breather, shut your phone completely off for 15 minutes and see how you feel. If you do try this trick, send us an email, and let us know what you find. If you are willing to take it one step further, and switch to a flip phone temporarily, let us know how that goes. Flip phones are very affordable and often come without a plan, and can be purchased at most stores.

PMHS budget cuts will not boost enrollment

To the Editor:

I am an Alton homeowner (with a mortgage), and also a local public education employee. I love this town and my job, but I'm concerned and confused about the superintendent's strategy for boosting enrollment at Prospect Mountain. It seems to me that his recommended program and positional budget cuts will cause potential new families to become less drawn towards our regional school. Moreover, how is giving taxpayers a miniscule and most-likely temporary break going to help increase a long-term, sustainable number of students at PMHS?

Could there be ulterior motives involved (beyond covering the cost of utility bills and higher Barnstead taxes)? Rejecting the proposed budget in March might be a wiser immediate choice, allowing the school board to rethink a better solution.

Please protect our reputation as a quality small district.

Please remain characteristically discerning New Hampshire voters.

Please demand transparency from administrators.

Don't miss your opportunity to be heard

To the Editor:

One of the great things about local government in the Granite State is the practice known as a deliberative session. Sessions are held each year by both our town government and school board. The Budget Committee and Board of Selectmen for the town and Board of Education for the school district work over a period of several months to develop budgets. These are finalized as a series of Warrant Articles, covering the full range of proposed expenditures, along with changes in existing regulations and, on occasion, new regulations or ordinances.

This year's deliberative sessions for Alton will be held soon. The school session is scheduled for Saturday, Feb. 4 at 1 p.m., and the town government session is scheduled for Tuesday, Feb. 7 at 6 p.m. Both will be held at the Prospect Mountain High School auditorium. Snow dates (always a good idea in New Hampshire) are Monday, Feb. 6 at 7 p.m. for the school and Wednesday, Feb. 8 at 6 p.m. for the town.

The good news about these meetings is that they represent democracy at its best. Each Warrant article is presented individually with a full description of purpose and cost. Town articles also provide an estimate of actual property tax impact. Residents are encouraged to ask questions and voice their support or opposition. Articles can also be amended. Each Article is then voted upon, and, if approved, moves on to the town election in March. Articles not approved are removed from further consideration.

The sad news is that, in a town of almost 6,000 people, very few attend, rarely more than 20. Thus, the vast majority of residents miss one of their best opportunities to learn about and participate in town government. Please consider attending. The parking is convenient, the sound system is good, the seats are comfortable, and the subject matter is important. Hope to see you there.

Timber Wolves get a measure of revenge on Bears

BY JOSHUA SPAULDING
Sports Editor

ALTON — Just before the holiday break, the Prospect Mountain hoop boys traveled to Bristol to take on Newfound and dropped a 46-45 decision to the Bears. Newfound made the trip to Alton on Friday, Jan. 27, and the Timber Wolves returned the favor, picking up the 46-38 victory. "We had a great first quarter," said coach Tom Bourdeau. "Newfound got their only lead late in the fourth quarter at 38-37, but they would not score again. "We had a terrible night at the free throw line, but when Newfound had to foul late, Nate Leavitt came through big, going four-for-four from the line to finish the scoring," the Timber Wolf coach noted. Prospect started strong with a 16-6 lead after one quarter, but Newfound cut into the lead a bit in the second, outscoring the Timber Wolves 15-9 for the half-time score of 25-21 in favor of the host Timber Wolves. The final two quarters were pretty even, with Prospect outscoring Newfound 9-7 in the third and 12-10 in the fourth for the 46-38 win. After the Bears took the lead early in the fourth, Nate Archambault scored the next five points with two hoops and a free throw to send the Timber Wolves back to the lead and they never looked back. Dillon Miller earned MVP honors for the game with six points and eight rebounds, while TJ Locke had 13 points, Archambault added 12 points and Leavitt had 11. Will Bassett had a big game off the bench for Prospect, pulling down four rebounds, blocking two shots and putting in a couple of points. The Timber Wolves will be back in action today, Feb. 2, at home against St. Thomas, then Friday, Feb. 3, at home against Somersworth in a makeup game from last week and will be hosting Belmont on Tuesday, Feb. 7, all with 6 p.m. starts. Sports Editor Joshua Spaulding can be reached at 279-4516, ext. 155 or josh@salmonpress.news.

Cougars pull away for win over Gilford girls

Olivia Keenan rises toward the basket during action against Kearsarge last Tuesday afternoon.

BY JOSHUA SPAULDING
Sports Editor

GILFORD — The Gilford girls’ basketball team held the line with visiting Kearsarge on Tuesday, Jan. 24, but the Cougars couldn’t be held down long, as they outscored the Golden Eagles 16-6 in the second quarter and pulled away for the 47-32 win.

After the Cougars scored the first hoop of the game, Millie Caldon answered for the Gilford girls. The visitors got another hoop but Caldon answered again to tie the game at four. However, Kearsarge drained a three for the final basket of the first quarter and Kearsarge had a 7-4 lead after one.

The visitors hit a free throw and a basket to push the lead to 10-4 to start the second quarter before Ryan Guyer drained a three-pointer for the Golden Eagles to cut the lead to just three. However, Kearsarge then went on a 10-0 run that increased the lead to 20-7.

A Megan Hughes three-pointer got the Golden Eagles back on the board, but the Cougars hit their own three-pointer to close out the first half with a 23-10 lead.

An Olivia Keenan three-pointer started the second half for Gilford, but the visitors came right back with a hoop and a free throw to keep the lead at 13. After a Vanessa Flanders basket, Kearsarge converted a free throw.

Caldon finished off a Keenan steal to cut the lead to 10, but Kearsarge came charging back and scored the next 10 points on five consecutive baskets to push the lead to 37-17. Caldon hit a hoop and a free throw to close the gap a little and a Flanders three-pointer at the buzzer cut Kearsarge’s lead to 37-23 heading to the fourth quarter.

The Cougars got the first basket of the fourth quarter before Keenan and Caldon connected on back-to-back baskets for the Golden Eagles. Kearsarge responded by connecting on four-straight baskets to again push the lead to 20 at 47-27.

Guyer and Keenan hit consecutive baskets and Keenan added a free throw for the final point of the game and Kearsarge had the 47-32 win.

Caldon finished the game with 11 points to lead the Golden Eagles, while Keenan added eight points.

The teams will have a rematch today, Feb. 2, at 4:30 p.m. in Sutton and Gilford continues with a game at Inter-Lakes on Friday, Feb. 3, at 6:30 p.m. and will be hosting Concord Christian on Wednesday, Feb 8, at 6 p.m.

Country legend Randy Travis to appear at The Colonial LACONIA — Country Music Icon Randy Travis returns to the stage Sunday, Aug. 27 at 7 p.m. After suffering a near-fatal stroke in 2013, Randy continues to make improvements and is ready to share his story and get close to the fans once again. This special evening brings Randy and Mary Travis front and center to share stories and songs about the career of a Country Music Hall of Famer, and the health struggles and challenges that have faced them over the last 10 years. The ‘Live On Stage’ Interview will be hosted by CMA Winning Radio Personality Kevin Richards.

The iconic songs of Randy Travis will be performed by New England’s Nashville Bound Duo, Martin and Kelly! Ryan Kelly and Jilly Martin were instrumental in bringing this show to New Hampshire. After hearing of the success of the ‘Up Close & Personal’ Randy Travis show in Glens Falls, N.Y., they rallied for the Country Music fans of New England to get the chance to enjoy the same experience with this beloved legend. The Travis’ quickly agreed to join Richards back in Upstate New York (Aug. 26), and add New Hampshire (Aug. 27) to the Northeast visit to get close to more fans.

In addition to the stories and songs, the crowd will unite their voices in a piano-bar style sing along to start the show with CMA Winning Radio Personality Richie Phillips.

Richards hosted this show in Glens Falls, N.Y. in 2022 to two sold-out crowds and heart warming reviews. Cathy Dede, Of The Chronicle, raved about the Randy Travis event: “One Of The Great Glens Falls Events Of All Time! Kevin emceed the Q&A format that led to the Travis’ story unfolding in a moving, engaging, entertaining way. Grown men cried, we hooted and hollered. The love was huge- and wide!” Richards says “If you are a fan of Traditional Country Music, this is your chance to see the man who ‘made’ our genre in the mid-80s., realizing many of us never thought we’d ever be in his presence again (after the stroke in 2013). This will be a once-in-a-lifetime experience- an inspiring, magical journey for the ‘real’ fan of Country Music!”

Martin and Kelly, who have performed and written with some of Nashville’s finest, are honored to share the stage: “Words can’t describe what an honor it is to be a part of this show with the one and only Randy Travis! We couldn’t be more thrilled to share the stage with such a country music legend at one of our favorite venues, in Ryan’s home state!”

WFOM presents innovative Merz Trio

WOLFEBORO — The Wolfeboro Friends of Music presents the Merz piano trio, top prize award winners at the Naumburg, Concert Artist Guild, Fischhoff and Chesapeake Competitions, will perform a chamber music recital at the First Congregational Church, 115 S. Main St., on Sunday, Feb. 19 at 2 p.m.

The trio is passionately committed to reshaping the narrative of classical music through vibrantly dynamic programming and wide-ranging interdisciplinary collaboration. Their programming style juxtaposes classical standards, new music and their own arrangements of familiar and forgotten works. Rafael de Acha in All About the Arts wrote “the trio’s playing is impeccably elegant, earmarked by unmannered musicianship and sui generis stylistic versatility.” Their recoding of Brahms Piano Trio # 1 in B Major is truly uplifting.

Critics have praised the trio as “entrancing,” and “riveting” with “stunning virtuosity and ensemble work.” Known for fresh and surprising interpretations, the trio is famous for sometimes mixing classic trio scores with extra-musical effects to enhance the audience’s appreciation, such as spoken texts from classical literature, suggestive dance movements or relevant artist renditions. They have collaborated on stage with ballerinas, chefs, and actors.

The Merz Trio was formed in January 2017, when Dionne and Yang were members of Ensemble Connect, a fellowship program in New York City run jointly by Carnegie Hall and the Juilliard School. Cellist Yang has performed as concerto soloist with major orchestras and has garnered top prizes at numerous competitions. Pianist Dionne holds graduate degrees from the Yale School of Music where he currently teaches chamber music. He has been the recipient of numerous awards and has performed in Britain, Holland, Paris, and Portugal.

Violinist Coleridge is an Australian particularly interested in combining her experience as a musician with that of an actress and theatrical director. A frequent chamber and solo musician, she has appeared in major concert venues such as the Royal Albert Hall, Wigmore Hall and the Purcell Room, and recently completed a recital tour of Holland with her duo partner, pianist Lee Dionne. The Trio is currently represented by Concert Artists Guild and makes its home in Boston.

The concert is sponsored by Paul Zimmerman, YFI Custom Homes, Taylor Community, and Edward Jones - Kevin Lawlor Financial Advisor. Tickets are $25 each, and may be purchased at J. Clifton Avery Insurance or Black’s Paper Store. Middle School and Elementary students can attend free when accompanied by an adult, as are High School Students with their school ID.

The Holocaust: Our Duty to Remember, 6-7 p.m.

After almost two generations, we arrived at the point where memory becomes history, and our memories are already dimming and in need of a refresher.

This presentation provides historical context of the events in Nazi Germany, the reasons behind the Nazi regime's rise to power, and it sheds light on the background against which the "Night of the Broken Glass", and later the Holocaust, took place. The talk is organized around dispelling four common myths which, if allowed to stand uncorrected, would make it all-too-easy to dismiss the events of the 1930s and 1940s as irrelevant for today's world. The talk will cover how the Nazi regime came about, and the reasons for its atrocious deeds. In particular, it will take a close look at how common, "normal" people were induced to contribute to the industrialized murder as which we must understand the Holocaust today. Presented by Mick Gronka.

Celebrate Take Your Child to the [Gilman] Library Day with music and magic ALTON — Feb. 4 is National "Take Your Child to the Library Day" (TYCLD). The Gilman Library invites you to celebrate "Take Your Child to the [Gilman] Library Day" with Music and Magic! TYCLD is celebrated annually on the first Saturday in February.

Since its foundation in 2011, Libraries in the US, Canada, and around the world, have participated in this international initiative by hosting free, family-friendly, fun events designed to help your child discover the magic of your local library. The Gilman Library, at 100 Main St., Alton, will be open for our regular Saturday hours from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. on Feb. 4.

As a special treat, the Gilman Library is pleased to present "The Everywhere Man Music & Magic Show" from 10:30-11:30 a.m. Also known as Philip Reilly, "The Everywhere Man" is no stranger to the Gilman Library. Last year he regularly entertained children and their families in The Whimsy Corner at the Gilman Library, with singing, guitar music, and reading. Now he returns with all of that and MAGIC!

We invite you to come and explore the Gilman Library. Children will find books, CDs, DVDs, games, and puzzles to borrow, plus a huge variety of colorful, noisy, and intriguing interactive educational toys in the Whimsy Corner. There are contests, guessing games, and riddles with free prizes, plus free bookmarks, stickers, take-home craft kits, and lollipops blooming on our lollipop tree. These and other surprises await your child in the Whimsy Corner, at the Gilman Library, in Alton.

Full motion flight simulator now at Laconia Airport

GILFORD — A Redbird Full Motion Flight Simulator recently “landed” at the Laconia Airport’s Laconia Flight Academy, a branch of Skybright Aviation. This innovative technology simulator provides pilots and pilot candidates with a cost-effective, state-of-the-art trainer.
The simulator enables students to undergo an immersive training experience while reducing the time and cost to earn a pilot’s license or advanced certification. Laconia Flight Academy now has the Lakes Region’s only Redbird full motion simulator.

Lee Avery, owner of the Flight Academy and Skybright Aviation, said, “Redbird is a great addition to the tools we have to help customers reach their aviation goals.”
He added that the simulator training hours can be counted towards a portion of the FAA requirements for beginning and advanced certifications. Redbird’s video package enables the user to “fly” anywhere in the World to experience a variety of airspace environments.
“The sophistication and technology of these simulators can reduce the cost of earning a pilot license while, at the same time, providing valuable experience not easily replicated in an actual aircraft,” said Pilot Karen Mitchell, one of the Redbird instructors.
Avery’s new simulator features a fully enclosed cockpit with 200 degree wrap-around visuals. He invites beginners, experienced pilots and the curious to come to Laconia Flight Academy and check out the Redbird. Call 603-528-6818 or visit the Web site, www.laconiaflightacademy.com, to schedule a visit to learn more, take the controls and experience flight without leaving the ground.

Jenni
I’m Jenni and I bet you want my number, or the one for the shelter to come adopt me! I am most comfortable around the people I know and would probably do best with adults only. There is potential for me to share a home with a male dog, of course we’d have to meet first. A low traffic home able to help me build my confidence with new people would be best!

Buck
Are you looking for an active companion? Buck is craving an outdoor adventure buddy to help keep busy. With proper introductions and management, he could do well living with other dogs. He has not previously lived with small animals. Buck is very treat motivated which will be very beneficial while continuing training!

Worcester Polytechnic Institute announces Fall 2022 Dean's List

WORCESTER, Mass. — A total of 2,069 undergraduate students achieved the criteria required for Worcester Polytechnic Institute's (WPI) fall 2022 Dean's List. The criteria for the WPI Dean's List differs from that of most other universities as WPI does not compute a grade point average (GPA). Instead, WPI defines the Dean's List by the amount of work completed at the A level in courses and projects.

"WPI's academic programs are rigorous and require a level of independence beyond what is required in traditional courses. WPI students work on open-ended problems for communities around the world. The problems are important and the impact is real" said dean of undergraduate studies Arthur C. Heinricher. "Some of this nation's best and brightest students come to WPI to study engineering and science and business and the humanities. Those named to the Dean's List have excelled in all of their work, and we are exceptionally proud of these outstanding students."

The following students were named to the Dean's List for fall 2022:

Randolph Dyer of Alton, a member of the class of 2023 majoring in Computer Science (BS)

Ayden Duncan of Laconia, majoring in Robotics Engineering (BS), class of 2024

Aidan Eldridge of Laconia, majoring in IE, class of 2025

About Worcester Polytechnic Institute

WPI, a global leader in project-based learning, is a distinctive, top-tier technological university founded in 1865 on the principle that students learn most effectively by applying the theory learned in the classroom to the practice of solving real-world problems. Recognized by the National Academy of Engineering with the 2016 Bernard M. Gordon Prize for Innovation in Engineering and Technology Education, WPI's pioneering project-based curriculum engages undergraduates in solving important scientific, technological, and societal problems throughout their education and at more than 50 project centers around the world. WPI offers more than 70 bachelor's, master's, and doctoral degree programs across 18 academic departments in science, engineering, technology, business, the social sciences, and the humanities and arts. Its faculty and students pursue groundbreaking research to meet ongoing challenges in health and biotechnology; robotics and the internet of things; advanced materials and manufacturing; cyber, data, and security systems; learning science; and more. www.wpi.edu

The Colonial welcomes The High Kings July 27

LACONIA — The Colonial Theatre - Laconia will present The High Kings on Thursday, July 27 at 8 p.m. The High Kings are Finbarr Clancy, Darren Holden, Brian Dunphy Paul O’ Brien.

The High Kings formed in June 2007 when Brian, Darren, Finbarr and former member Martin Furey were asked to join a brand-new Irish ballad group by David Kavanagh after he had noticed a gap in the market for a band specializing in traditional Irish music. Tickets go on sale Friday, Jan. 20 at 10 a.m. at ColonialLaconia.com or by calling 1-800-657-8774.

Widely regarded as the standard-bearer for their genre The High Kings continue to surprise and delight and “The High Kings XV TOUR” together with 15 newly reimagined tracks is just the beginning of their electrifying plans for 2023.

Tickets for The High Kings at the Colonial Theatre of Laconia on Thursday, July 27 at 8pm are $39-$69 and go on sale Friday at 10am at ColonialLaconia.com or by calling 1-800-657-8774.

It didn’t take long during their first studio rehearsal for them to realize that the way their individual voices blended together, that they were on to something special. The High Kings play 13 instruments between them creating the unique sound and atmosphere that they still showcase to this day. This was confirmed when their self-titled debut album reached number 2 on the world Billboard Music chart. In March 2009, The High Kings played five consecutive sold out shows to a packed audience in Dublin’s Olympia Theatre.

The High Kings continue to set the bar extremely high for Irish Folk bands across the world and are widely regarded to be at the forefront of the genre. In 2019 after a 12 year journey The High Kings continue to perform in sell out venues across the globe to their ever-growing army of loyal fans that span generations.

2021 saw the release of “Home from Home,” their brand-new 11 track album. Recorded live at Concert Deck in Dublin, “Home from Home” is a journey through classic folk songs, old and new.

The idea behind this album was to bring our fans on a journey across the world, to some of the places we call home when we tour, via some of the classic folk songs that have inspired us along the way.

First opened in 1914, the Colonial Theatre was designed by George I. Griffin. Original owner Benjamin Piscopo was from Italy, and the theatre featured a fire curtain depicting Venice as seen from the water. The theatre hosted a variety of stage productions and photoplays. By the early 1930s the Colonial had pivoted to show motion pictures. In 1983, the theatre was divided up into 5 separate movie screens. In August of 2002, the theatre closed after 87 years of operation.

On June 15, 2015, the City of Laconia announced a partnership with the Belknap Economic Development Council (BEDC) to purchase, renovate, and reopen the Colonial. 609 Main Street LLC was created to conduct the capital campaign for the renovation. The restoration of the Colonial in March of 2016 and concluded in early 2021.

Lakes Region Community Developers awarded $20,000 from Rural LISC & Clayton Homes

LACONIA — Lakes Region Community Developers (LRCD) is proud to announce they were recently awarded a $20,000 grant from Rural LISC and Clayton Homes to support LRCD’s healthy housing initiative in their scattered site rental units in Laconia.

The grant will support LRCD’s ongoing efforts to ensure these units meet healthy housing standards. This initiative is focused on 33 of LRCD’s multi-family buildings in Laconia, most of which are 50-100 years old. Together, these buildings contain a total of 80 affordable apartments.

With this grant from Rural LISC and Clayton Homes, LRCD can continue to invest in the improvement of these buildings; something they’ve been focused on for the last ten years. Despite significant renovations in many of these units, there are still improvements to be made in order for LRCD to meet their own high standards. During the past two years, LRCD began to systematically conduct lead testing and abatement to ensure all of their units are Certified Lead Safe. They also began performing energy audits in these older buildings to identify additional energy efficiency improvements to save their tenants money on their utility bills.

LRCD Executive Director, Carmen Lorentz says, “We are so grateful for the support of Rural LISC and Clayton Homes. This grant helps us achieve our vision where everyone in the Lakes Region lives in a home that supports good physical, financial, and mental health.”

About Lakes Region Community Developers

Cast of “Romeo & Juliet” brings action to the stage along with romance

LACONIA — Tickets are on sale now for Powerhouse Theatre Collaborative’s “Romeo & Juliet” Feb. 10-12 at the Colonial Theatre, sponsored by Franklin Savings Bank. This classic will feature Powerhouse’s first stage fighting, and the expertise of professional fight choreographer Jenry Towle.

Says Towle, “What I love most about teaching stage combat is offering performers tools to show emotion and character where words and normal physical action aren’t able to. When a character resorts to physical harm, or the use of weapons, it can give a very nuanced insight into their true intentions and thoughts. The cast of ‘R&J’ quite literally leapt into training, and have already created a support network for each other to keep everyone safe - while getting to do some really cool swordplay!”

A staged reading of the sequel, “Montague and Capulet,” written by Jaydie Halperin, will be performed at the Belknap Mill on Feb. 18 & 19 with the same actors from Romeo and Juliet.

Whereas “Romeo and Juliet” ends in tragedy, “Montague and Capulet” give hope for a better future.

The performance is sponsored by Irwin Automotive Group. Tickets for this production can be purchased via powerhousenh.org or at the door.

The end of an era Local Hospital Auxiliary dissolves

LACONIA — For more than 128 years, the Lakes Region General Hospital Auxiliary supported Lakes Region General Hospital and Concord Hospital-Laconia (CH-L) through its volunteer activities and fundraising efforts to benefit patients, staff, and the community. Sadly, like many auxiliary organizations across the country, the Auxiliary’s long history of service has ended.

A rich history
In 1893, the Laconia Hospital Association legally formed, as did the Ladies Hospital Auxiliary. Together, they set out to open the original hospital in Laconia.

Auxiliary volunteers hit the ground running to raise much-needed funds, hosting a charity ball, knocking on community members’ doors, and creating a system of bands dedicated to the pursuit of specific items. The first band, composed of 10 women, pledged five cents of their own money every week to help defray the cost of dishware. They were aptly named the China Band. Other bands formed, the Linen, Curtain, and Nightgown Bands. In 1897, the Town of Laconia proudly opened the Cottage Hospital on Court Street.

It was not long before the community realized they needed a bigger hospital. With help from the community, auxiliary, and a generous donation of land from the Reverend Jeremiah Jewett, the Laconia Hospital opened its doors at its present location in 1908. In 1967, the hospital was renamed Lakes Region General Hospital (LRGH) and the Ladies Hospital Auxiliary incorporated to become the LRGH Auxiliary, welcoming men to their ranks.

The end of an era
At its peak, the LRGH Auxiliary had more than 100 members proudly raising funds on behalf of the local community hospital. In 2021, LRGHealthcare was acquired by Concord Hospital, and the LRGH Auxiliary adapted once again and became the Concord Hospital-Laconia (CH-L) Auxiliary. However, the Covid-19 pandemic had a profound impact on volunteerism, including the closure of the Auxiliary Gift Shop, which greatly reduced the ability to raise funds. Also, like many other volunteer organizations across the U.S., auxiliary membership dwindled. With too few members to fulfill its mission and sustain fundraising activities, the CH-L Auxiliary made the difficult decision to dissolve as of Dec. 31.

“While it is the end of an era, I am grateful for the many wonderful memories and people I have worked with over the years,” said former Auxiliary President Paulette Adams. “It has been a privilege to support our local hospital and make a difference for the thousands of people who have come through our hospital’s doors for care.”

Former Auxiliary President and Gift Shop Manager Sue Dalton added, “I joined the Auxiliary because I wanted to be part of an organization that gave back to the community. I am honored to have been a member and served in leadership roles for this special organization. I also wish to extend my sincere and heartfelt appreciation to the community for the many decades of support and patronage in the gift shop and at the annual Auxiliary craft fair, thank you for being a special part of our story.”

Making a difference
Proceeds from Auxiliary fundraising efforts have supported the hospital in the form of annual gifts for the purchase of new medical equipment, technology, and furnishings. Over its lifetime, the Auxiliary has raised hundreds of thousands of dollars in support of patient care items such as hospital beds, Staxi-wheelchairs, blanket warmers, body scanners, and so much more. A Crisis Clothing Closet within the emergency room, as well as annual scholarships for students pursuing careers in the medical field. The Auxiliary also made sizable donations to numerous capital campaigns and sponsored philanthropic events such as the Tanger Breast Cancer Walk and the Red Dress Gala.

The Auxiliary’s final contributions to Concord Hospital-Laconia include $30,000 towards the replacement of an echocardiogram machine, $10,000 for continuing education for Mammography Technicians, and $1000 donation to the Employee Helping Hand Fund to assist employees of CH-L.

Gifts of service
Some former members of the Auxiliary will continue to serve at CH-L within the hospital’s Volunteer Program.

“Our Auxiliary has made a difference in the lives of generations of patients and their families through their gifts of service, and CH-L will always remember and be grateful for everything they have done for the hospital,” said Heidi Smith, CH-L Community Affairs Coordinator, and liaison to the Auxiliary. “I am thankful that I will continue to have the opportunity to work with some of the Auxiliary members, who are continuing on as volunteers at the hospital.”

From Led Zeppelin to ballet, the Colonial announces unique slate of upcoming shows

LACONIA — The Colonial Theatre - Laconia will present Get the Led Out on Thursday, April 6 at 8 p.m., Safe Haven Ballet: Beauty and the Beast on Saturday, April 15 at 4:30 p.m., and Tusk on Saturday, Oct. 7 at 8 p.m. Tickets go on sale Friday at 10am at ColonialLaconia.com or by calling 1-800-657-8774.

Dubbed by the media as "The American Led Zeppelin," Get The Led Out offers a strong focus on the early years. They also touch on the deeper cuts that were seldom, if ever heard in concert. GTLO also include a special "acoustic set" with Zep favorites such as "Tangerine" and "Hey Hey What Can I Do."

Safe Haven Ballet will grace the Colonial Theatre with its production of Beauty & The Beast, for one spellbinding performance only. This production features choreography from Columbia City Ballet's Director, William Starrett and music composed by Thomas Semanski.

No fancy tricks, no gimmicks, just five musicians recreating the music of Fleetwood Mac to perfection with note for note renditions that no other Fleetwood Mac tribute on the touring scene today can come close to duplicating.

Tickets for Get the Led Out, Safe Haven Ballet: Beauty and the Beast, and Tusk at the Colonial Theatre of Laconia go on sale Friday at 10am at ColonialLaconia.com or by calling 1-800-657-8774.

Get the Led Out (Thursday, April 6 at 8 p.m.)

GTLO has amassed a strong national touring history, having performed at major club and PAC venues across the country. GTLO's approach to their performance of this hallowed catalog is not unlike a classical performance.

"Led Zeppelin are sort of the classical composers of the rock era," says lead vocalist Paul Sinclair. "I believe 100 years from now they will be looked at as the Bach or Beethoven of our time. As cliché as it sounds, their music is timeless."

From the bombastic and epic, to the folksy and mystical, Get The Led Out (GTLO) have captured the essence of the recorded music of Led Zeppelin and brought it to the concert stage. The Philadelphia-based group consists of six veteran musicians intent on delivering Led Zeppelin live, like you've never heard before. Utilizing the multi-instrumentalists at their disposal, GTLO re-create the songs in all their depth and glory with the studio overdubs that Zeppelin themselves never performed. When you hear three guitars on the album...GTLO delivers three guitarists on stage. No wigs or fake English accents, GTLO brings what the audience wants...a high energy Zeppelin concert with an honest, heart-thumping intensity.

A GTLO concert mimics the "light and shade" that are the embodiment of "The Mighty Zep." Whether it's the passion and fury with which they deliver the blues-soaked, groove-driven rock anthems, it's their attention to detail and nuance that makes a Get The Led Out performance a truly awe-inspiring event!

Safe Haven Ballet: "Beauty and the Beast" (Saturday, April 15 at 4:30 p.m.)

A love story perfect for all ages, Beauty & The Beast is a captivating fairytale that blends magic with artistry. The Beasts' character is created to come off artistically elegant with a touch of menace, and Belle from the original fairytale leads this dramatic performance emerging as the merchant's daughter chosen by the Beast to be his bride. The dancers of Safe Haven Ballet couple beautiful lines and riveting stage presence to tell a beautiful tale where love conquers all. Choreographer William Starrett says, "My goal has always been to allow the audience to discover the art of ballet and love it as much as I do. To see how amazing the ballet is."

This classic story mixed with despair, travail, patience and glory is fitting for the whole family.

Tickets are $40 Seniors and Children and are $45 for adults and go on sale Friday at 10am at ColonialLaconia.com com or by calling 1-800-657-8774.

Tusk (Saturday, Oct. 7 at 8 p.m.)

Tusk covers all the great hits of Fleetwood Mac, which has featured the talents of Mick Fleetwood, Christine and John McVie, Lindsey Buckingham, Stevie Nicks and others over the years. The five seasoned, well-respected musicians comprising Tusk have been making music together in various combinations and styles, in original outfits and in cover bands, for over twenty-five years. It seemed only fitting that they should come together to form the Ultimate Fleetwood Mac Tribute and pay homage to a group that dominated the charts during the band members' formative years. Authentic-sounding and always respectful, Tusk leaves no stone unturned in replicating the sounds of one of the world's best-loved, top-selling bands.

Tickets range from $29-$49 and go on sale Friday at 10am at ColonialLaconia.com or by calling 1-800-657-8774.

First opened in 1914, the Colonial Theatre was designed by George I. Griffin. Original owner Benjamin Piscopo was from Italy, and the theatre featured a fire curtain depicting Venice as seen from the water. The theatre hosted a variety of stage productions and photoplays. By the early 1930s the Colonial had pivoted to show motion pictures. In 1983, the theatre was divided up into 5 separate movie screens. In August of 2002, the theatre closed after 87 years of operation.

On June 15, 2015, the City of Laconia announced a partnership with the Belknap Economic Development Council (BEDC) to purchase, renovate, and reopen the Colonial. 609 Main Street LLC was created to conduct the capital campaign for the renovation. The restoration of the Colonial began in March of 2016 and concluded in early 2021.

The newly reopened Colonial Theatre has a seating capacity of 750 and plays host to a wide range of performances, including music, theatre, comedy, and civic events. The Colonial Theatre is managed by Spectacle Management and is home to the Powerhouse Theatre Collaborative. This non-point source of pollution to the Merry-meeting River was identified by F.B. Environmental Associates and published in the Merry-meeting River and Lake Watershed Management Plan in 2019. Conceptual design was completed by Horsley Witten Engineering with the final design and cost estimate completed by Weston & Sampson Engineering Inc. under the direction of civil engineer, Eric Reitter.

In 2018, it was estimated that stormwater runoff from South Shore Road and the Town Beach Parking Lot contributed 1843.12 pounds a year suspended solids, 5.89 pounds a year phosceived around 15 inches on average.

The Department of Public Works also had to work around its six-wheel truck being broken and out of service since Jan. 20. Both leaf springs were fixed and the truck was back out by Sunday afternoon. Another truck was taken for repairs for power train issues.

“Not ideal to have broken trucks in the middle of a winter storm but luckily, we have a great mechanic team to save the day!” read Gilford DPWs’s Facebook post. “We are using a few smaller pickup trucks to help out on routes where we can.

By Jan. 24 spent a 26-hour shift cleaning up the roads, took a “cat nap,” and came back at 5 p.m. Highway crews worked to create as much room as possible ahead of the second storm.

On Jan. 22, crews in Alton were out for a long day with slippery weather. The significant changes in temperature made plowing gravel roads especially difficult phorus and 15 pounds a year nitrogen to the Merry-meeting River because the capacity of the existing drainage system was insufficient to control the increasing amount of stormwater carrying solids and the nutrients, phosphorus and nitrogen. This site contributed the greatest amount of non-point source pollution to the Merry-meeting River in the entire watershed area. The existing crossroad culvert was constantly being filled with solids and water was diverted into the intersection with some stormwater crossing Merry-meeting Road and emptying into the driveway to the Powder Mill State Fish Hatchery. Other stormwater severely eroded the bank at the southwest due to surface thawing.

By the evening crews had scraped and treated the paved and gravel roads, though advised lingering snow showers could make conditions slippery again.

Crews in Alton came in at midnight ahead of the next storm on Jan. 25, which gave them a chance to rest before another projected 18-24 hours of snow removal.

By Jan. 25 crews had worked all day and used around 96 tons of salt on the roads. Staff enjoyed a family style meal before going out and plowing and treating roads.

After a night of heavy snow, rain started around 11 p.m. and crews went into a holding pattern until the rain let up.

“This is the 3rd all nighter storm of the season which is very demanding and stressful for the crew,” read Alton Public Works’ Facebook post. “These guys and gals do a awesome job and work well as a team.”

By Thursday, the heavy rain resulted in heavy slush on the roads.

end of South Shore Road diverting the water into the Merry-meeting River. At no point did the existing system have check dams, sediment forebays or retention ponds which would slow the speed of the stormwater and allow for settling of solids and infiltration into the ground.

Remediation of this site required removal of the existing cross road culvert with repositioning and replacement by two larger diameter cross road culverts. Each of these new cross road culverts would empty into a large bioretention pond located on land owned by New Hampshire Fish and Game at the southwest side of South Shore Road. Along both sides of South Shore Road beginning east of the entrance to the Town Beach and Beach parking lot vegetated swales would be installed which would capture the stormwater and direct it to the 4050 cubic foot bioretention pond. At critical points each of these swales were equipped with sediment forebays to slow runoff and allow infiltration. Each side of the Beach parking lot was also equipped with run with a free throw, then Grant hit a hoop, Brendan Baldi sank a pair of free throws and a three-pointer and after a Kearsarge free throw, Cheek hit two from the line for the 53-26 lead heading to the final eight minutes.

swales which were lined with riprap to slow the velocity of the runoff. Three driveway culverts were installed to allow water in the swales to move freely under the thresholds to driveways. And the parking lot driveway was paved in order to prevent erosion of gravel from the steep slope of the driveway. Once the construction was complete, trees and shrubs planted, and the entire area hydroseeded with a NH wildlife seed mixture, the top 10 inches of South Shore Road was removed, ground up, relayed and rolled and then a two coat mixture of asphalt was used to resurface this section of South Shore Road.

Upon completion and during a rainstorm, the Engineers returned to inspect the site and examine the efficacy of pollutant removal. The final analysis, based on modeling, estimated the new system will remove 1658.81 pounds a year suspended solids, 3.83 pounds a year phosphorus and 9.75 pounds a year nitrogen from the river. This exceeded the original estimated pollutant load reduction by 396.81 pounds a year solids, 0.81 pounds a year phosphorus and 7.99 pounds a year nitrogen.

The changing climate in New Hampshire over the past three decades has been characterized by storms of greater intensity and greater total water volume causing many roadside drainage systems to be overwhelmed. Unfortunately, this stormwater allows road surface oils and roadside nutrients and suspended solids to be diverted into our rivers, lakes and streams. Phosphorus is a particularly important nutrient since it is naturally not found in freshwater in high concentrations. The surface water of Merry-meeting lake has only 4-5 parts per billion (ug/L) phosphorus. Because phosphorus is an essential mineral for the growth of all living things, any significant increase in freshwater leads to increase growth, especially algae and cyanobacteria. The upper reaches of the Merry-meeting River have been declared as impaired due to frequent cyanobacteria blooms caused by increased phosphorus in the water. Some of this phosphorus comes from the waste water from the Powder Mill State Fish Hatchery and some of it comes from non-point sources like the one described above. Over the past two years the Hatchery has implemented a number of new strategies for treatment their wastewater and currently they have removed over half of all the phosphorus entering the River compared to just three years ago. Reduced algae and cyanobacteria and increase water transparency are signs the River is responding to these mitigation efforts.

The total cost of this South Shore Road project was $195,618.00 with $93,325 coming from the United States Environmental Protection Agency via a grant administered by the New Hampshire Department of Environmental Services and $102,309 coming from the Town. The Town’s share includes over $17,000 in volunteer labor, equipment operation and maintenance costs and gifts from resident vendors. Enhancing the quality of the water around us is an important and complex issue; in our case Federal, State, and Town Governments came together with local volunteers to accomplish something meaningful for the environment.

Gilford Youth Center welcomes Scott Hodsdon as Full-Time Director

Scott Hodsdon in action as a coach.

GILFORD — For years, Scott Hodsdon wore two hats, serving as Director of Children and Youth Programs at Gilford Community Church (GCC) and Director of Gilford Youth Center (GYC). The continued growth of GYC, however, has led Hodsdon to move into a full time role, a transition that excites him.

"Our goal of the Youth Center has always been to meet the needs of the community, and we will continue to do that," he said. "The need for even just a space for other organizations is up, so our doors are open a lot more and more often than they used to be."

Lynne Baron, GYC Board of Director Chair, said they are "thrilled" to welcome Hodsdon into a full-time position.

"Since the inception of the center in 2009, Scott has generated a number of extremely successful programs serving the Gilford community and beyond," she said. "We look forward to our continued work with Scott and increasing GYC's programs and outreach."

In looking to the future, though, Hodsdon said he cannot help but reflect on his past 16-and-a-half years at GCC and the support he has received during that time from kids, parents, and members.

"Without that support, I wouldn't have been able to do what I have done there and for the kids to have the life changing opportunities that they have had—and for that I am very fortunate," he said.

As for his philosophy behind youth programming, Hodsdon cited his intent to teach young people that they have the ability to make a difference for others in the community.

"They can make their community better by the acts that they do," he said.

For Hodsdon, 'community' is the most important part of his philosophy, a belief he was able to enact at GCC where he talked with kids about community, faith, and family.

"The hope is that kids could take what they learned at Sunday School and bring it back into the community," he said.

Regarding the connection between the two organizations, GCC Pastor Michael Graham said the church helped to found GYC, which is located next door. Aside from sharing staff and a community engagement philosophy, though, he said the organizations are distinct entities.

"The Youth Center is open and accessible to everyone in the surrounding communities—young and old," he said. "It is not a program of the church, but we do share a deep commitment to serving the community...We will miss Scott as director of our youth programs at the church, but we are excited that we can continue to partner with him on shared community initiatives."
