Alton voters will decide on $18 million school budget

BY ERIN PLUMMER
mnews@salmonpress.news

ALTON — Voters will decide on a school budget of around $18 million with school officials managing declining enrollment numbers and trying to keep costs down.

Alton's school deliberative session took place on Feb. 1 at Prospect Mountain High School. The business portion of the meeting lasted less than half an hour. All proposed warrant articles will go on the warrant as is with no one making any comment.

Alton's proposed school operating budget for the coming school year is $18,096,405, an increase of around 1.8 percent from the year before. Of this amount, $4,934,204 is the net appropriation for PMHS. If the school budget fails, the default budget will be $18,046,784.

Superintendent Tim Broadrick said the biggest issue facing Alton schools is enrollment. He said enrollment has been steadily declining at PMHS, going down 23 percent in the past 10 years and more in years prior. Broadrick said Alton students will account for less than 50 percent of the population at PMHS next year. While Alton students have made up less than 52 percent of the student population, that amount will likely be closer to under 48 percent next year. He said this will impact apportionment with Barnstead taking on some more costs.

Broadrick said the board has been working to find solutions to the enrollment issue and focusing on per pupil cost. He said Alton has been spending more per pupil than the state average and the district has been working on bringing that down. He said the schools have been working with the town and engaging the community as well as putting a cap on per pupil costs. Around the 2020-2021 school year, Alton was spending a little more than 40 percent more than the state average, a number that was brought closer to 17 percent in recent years.

Gilford school deliberative session this Thursday

BY ERIN PLUMMER
mnews@salmonpress.news

GILFORD — The Gilford School District's deliberative session is this Thursday with voters deciding on a $31 million budget.

The school deliberative session will take place on Thursday, Feb. 6, at 7 p.m. at the Gilford High School Auditorium.

School officials discussed the proposed budget during the budget hearing on Jan. 16.

This year's proposed school budget is $31,318,370, an increase of 3.09 percent from last year. If the budget article fails, the default budget will be $31,171,420.

One of the biggest budget increases this year is salary adjustments. The budget has a $610,345 increase for salary adjustments for administrators, teachers, and support staff. There is also an increase of $422,647 in benefit adjustments including health, dental, and the New Hampshire Retirement System.

The budget also factors for a $282,245 increase in bond payments.

This year's proposed budget also reflects some decreases including $348,868 savings in electricity after lights in the school building were changed to LED. There was also $129,174 savings on the roof repair project at the Meadows.

Several building projects are proposed for this school year.

The largest cost is $136,424 for projects at Gilford Elementary School including redoing the cupola, café tables, flooring, and gutters.

Another $113,349 is proposed for projects at Gilford High School including new air conditioning controls, basketball hoops, a new wall panel in the art room, and new tables in the cafeteria.

Gilford Middle School will receive $92,916 in work including work on the counter tops, café tables, and basketball hoops.

The SAU office will receive around $36,495 in work including a new mower, gutters, and air conditioning control.

Work will begin on a new phase of the Meadows project with a cost of $61,526. Work will be done in the roof at Building 3 as well as on the fence and water filter.

Other warrant articles would put money aside into different capital reserve funds with money coming from the surplus fund balance.

Article 3 would put $300,000 into the School Buildings Maintenance Capital Reserve Fund.

Article 4 would put $100,000 into the School Buildings and Roof Maintenance Capital Reserve Fund. The next anticipated roof project is replacing the Gilford Middle School roof around 2038 for projected cost of around $1.7 million.

Article 5 would put $25,000 into the School Buildings Technology Infrastructure Capital Reserve Fund. One project that is coming soon is replacing the host server Web filter.

Injured hiker rescued from Mount Belknap

BY ERIN PLUMMER
mnews@salmonpress.news

GILFORD — A Belmont woman was rescued from Mount Belknap after hurting her ankle while hiking.

According to a statement from NH Fish and Game, 67-year-old Patricia Cole of Belmont was hiking on the Red Trail on Mount Belknap on Jan. 27 with two friends. While descending the trail around two miles from the trailhead she slipped on ice and injured her ankle. Cole tried to continue down the trail on her injured ankle, but was unable to come down on her own and the group called for help.

NH Fish and Game was notified about the incident around 12:30 p.m. and rescuers from the Gilford and Alton Fire Departments went to the scene along with members of Lakes Region Search and Rescue.

Rescuers reached Cole’s location, stabilizing her injury and putting her in a rescue litter. A side-by-side OHRV carried her down the trail and she arrived at the trailhead around 4 p.m. Cole was then transported by ambulance to Concord Hospital – Laconia for treatment.

“While Cole and her hiking partners were well prepared for the conditions including bringing a bivy sac, warm clothes, and a hike safe card, it is important to note that winter conditions including deep snow and ice are present in the mountains,” Fish and Game said in a statement. “Anyone venturing out should be equipped with micro-spikes, snowshoes, and extra layers.”

Fish and Game recognized the work of Lakes Region Search and Rescue.

“Lakes Region Search and Rescue is a highly skilled volunteer search and rescue organization whose members work hard to maintain the skills and equipment necessary to carry out rescues across the state,” Fish and Game said in their statement.

Lakes Region Search and Rescue is a non-profit organization that is accepting donations through the New Hampshire Outdoor Council at www.nhoutdoorcouncil.org.

Anyone doing outdoor recreation is also encouraged to purchase a Hike Safe Card to support Fish and Game’s search and rescue operations. Hike Safe Cards can be purchased at <http://www.wildnh.com/safe>. For more information on hiking and equipment tips from NH Fish and Game visit hikesafe.com.

if possible. My parents loved the church,” she said.

“When Tom and I decided to move back to New England after we retired, we knew we wanted to find a church and a community to belong to. We read about a few other churches, but GCC stood out to us because of the outward focus & inclusiveness of the church. It is truly a community church that welcomes everyone, and that is very important to us,” added Fullerton.

“We both look forward to getting to know more people in the church and figuring out how we want to help in the many ministries GCC supports.”

Located in Gilford at 19 Potter Hill Rd., Gilford Community Church (GCC) is an inclusive, open community that welcomes believers and doubters, seekers and skeptics, young and old. Viewable live on Facebook, Sunday service takes place at 10 a.m.

SALMON PRESS, THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 6, 2025

Slow down—technology is stealing your time

We live in a time where technology promises to make life easier, yet somehow, we have less time than ever. Every advancement, faster Internet, instant messaging, smart devices, claims to free up space in our schedules, but instead, we're drowning in notifications, endless emails, and a to-do list that never seems to go away. Life has become a constant cycle of "work, work, work," and the simplicity many of us grew up with feels like a distant memory.

Think about it: technology was supposed to cut down on the time we spend working. Instead of making things easier, it has made us always available, always connected, always doing something. The lines between work and personal time are blurred, and instead of freeing us up to enjoy life, our devices keep us tethered to obligations. We're answering emails at dinner, checking texts before bed, and scrolling through social media when we could be outside, catching up with friends, or just doing nothing for a change.

Somehow, we've been tricked into believing that productivity equals worth, that every spare moment should be filled with checking off tasks. Half the time we spend responding to "urgent" messages, organizing digital clutter, or trying to keep up with the latest trends is time wasted. The hours we lose staring at screens, overthinking schedules, and squeezing in one more thing could be spent actually living.

Remember when life was simpler? When fun wasn't something we had to "schedule," but something that just happened? As kids, we didn't check emails or try to multitask joy. We just had fun riding bikes, playing outside, having actual conversations without checking our phones every five minutes.

It's time to reclaim some of that simplicity. Give yourself permission to step away. Carve out time not just to cross things off your to-do list, but to breathe, to laugh, to enjoy. Be deliberate about setting boundaries with work and technology. Put the phone down. Close the laptop. Go outside. Call a friend instead of sending a text. Spend an afternoon doing something just because it makes you happy.

Life isn't just about being productive. It's about being present. The world won't fall apart if you take a break. And when you do, you might just realize how much time you've been wasting trying to keep up with a pace that was never meant to be sustainable in the first place.

NOTES FROM WINDY HOLLOW

Watching

At around sunrise this morning, I looked out my bedroom window to see a whole mess of deer tracks in the new snow. They were coming over the stone wall and up to the house to pick anything green that may be left over on my broccoli plants. I knew that's what would happen after the first appreciable snowfall. It's an annual event.

I scoped out the rest of what I could see out back and it was trackless. Then I went out to the front of the house to clean off and move my car. There I saw many more sets of tracks out there. The deeries are certainly roaming around looking for any food that's not hidden under the snow. Late in the afternoon I glanced out back again and there were lots more tracks where there wasn't any this morning.

Looking outside, it looks very winter like. It's all white, but that's pretty deceptive. It's a pretty thin coating that could disappear in a day. Luckily, it's been cold. Hopefully cold enough to interfere with the life cycles of ticks and other invasive species hiding in the grass and trees.

There is lots of nice ice on the lakes and ponds. The only frozen water airport in the lower 48 states in Alton Bay is back in business after a few years off. Pond hockey and ice racing should be back again too, along with all kinds of bob houses. It's nice that at least the cold is back.

I once went down south during the winter season and it was so different from what I was used to, vegetation all died off and cold. There was no skiing or skating, nothing to hamper hiking about. The major issue on the roads was black ice. I watched a couple of vehicles proving Newton's laws of motion as they slid off the sides. Now the news tells me that they got eight inches of snow the other day in Florida. We only got five up here, and we want it!

When I grew up, there were always mountains of snow. Never a shortage on that account. There was a year in the late seventies that we had not much snow all winter, but other than that one, everyone had plenty of winter play time.

I've always loved this regularly varying pallet of things to play. The only marginal one I can think of is mud season. When I was a boy, it may have been fun damming up imaginary rivers and slopping up mounds of mud, but these days I don't find that to be much fun. One year I remember needing to make a roadway out of lots of planks as our drive ceased to be passable. Everybody got good at knowing where their tires were at all times. A good talent to have. Don't want to slip off a plank.

For me, that has to be the worst season of the year. Lots of places only have four seasons. We have five. Here we have what they call frost, where the ground freezes down deep under the ground during the winter. In the spring, when everything thaws and melts up on top, the frozen layer below the ground seals any water from passing through. Leaving everything top-side to squander in the muck.

I'm watching the lack of snow and the cold temperatures knowing that this foretells of a severe mud season. The only savior would be having no snow to melt. We usually get clobbered in late March though. Just in time to close the ski season down. The conditions can be spectacular but all the skiers that would come up from down south are looking at trees budding and no longer thinking much about shushing down slopes. If we do get a deep frost, sapping should be good.

Today was a nice day. I went for a walk with a friend out around the ice runway and watched the planes taking off and landing. Cars and trucks, snowmobiles and gators cruised around the area. Scores of humans and their dogs wandered the scene, taking pictures and checking out the bob houses with their tip ups. Are you catching anything other than a winter tan and some fresh air?

There's still enough weeks left in this winter season for it to totally transform into some totally unexpected surprise. I'll enjoy watching it as it develops.

POINT OF LAW

Is your estate plan current and properly funded?

BY ATTORNEY ORA SCHWARTZBERG
Plymouth

Life can change rapidly, sometimes without your noticing. Your Will, Trust or "No Plan" might have been perfect back then, but laws, people and relationships can evolve, in ways that matter.

People die and people are born. Laws change frequently.

Another thing to take into consideration is how your assets have grown or changed in form. Some of these events could cause you to want to make changes to your estate plan, whether it be, "ever so small" or major reconstructions.

SCHWARTZBERG LAW
EXPERIENCE THAT MATTERS
SINCE 1985

Most estate plans include the following primary documents: Revocable Living Trust, Pour-over Will, Financial Power of Attorney, Health Care Directives and HIPAA authorizations.

It is important that all your real estate, bank and investment accounts, are either owned by your Trust or name your Trust as a beneficiary. Retirement Accounts cannot be owned by your Trust but they can name your Trust as the beneficiary.

Once all these primary documents have been signed by you, it is your responsibility to make sure your Trust is properly funded, and that it continues to be properly funded, for the rest of your life.

The purpose of having a properly funded trust is to avoid the expense and inconvenience for your heirs to have to probate your estate.

Letters to the Editor

We need your input!

To the Editor:

Attention all Alton residents! The Friends of Alton, NH Parks & Recreation needs your help and advice. We are working with the Alton Parks & Recreation Department to help support fundraising efforts to improve the health and quality of life of all Alton residents and visitors. Our current project focus is on our parks/playgrounds.

We are very interested in hearing your thoughts such as what playground improvements are important to you and your friends and family. Whether that is enhanced playground equipment for all ages, including fitness equipment and paths for seniors or some other desire, your input is highly valued.

We are currently conducting a community online survey to gather information that will make it easier for us to meet the needs of the community, plan our next steps and have a successful fundraising effort. The survey can be found by following the link on either the Town website, Alton's Gilman Library webpage (in person assistance available by library staff), our website friendsofaltonnhparksrec.org, or on posts found on our town's Facebook pages. The deadline to complete the survey is Feb. 21... so please don't delay.

Thank you for your attention to this small but important opportunity.

Scene One Entertainment acquires Gilford Cinema 8

SCHENECTADY, N.Y. — Scene One Entertainment announced it has acquired Gilford Cinema 8, an eight-screen theater formerly operated by Your Neighborhood Theatre. This will be the first theater for the New York-based Scene One to operate in New Hampshire.

The theater, first opened in the 1990s, will feature first-run Hollywood and independent films. The first day of operation under Scene One will be Friday, Jan. 31.

"We are thrilled to bring Gilford Cinema 8 under the Scene One banner," said Joe Masher, owner and CEO, Scene One Entertainment. "When I was first approached about this theater, it checked off many boxes on what we look for in building successful theater locations in communities. It is our hope that this springboards into more opportunities in New Hampshire and throughout New England."

Masher added, "I'm excited to bring some independent films to this area of the Granite State. In addition to the wide releases 'Dog Man' and 'Companion,' Oscar-nominated hits 'The Brutalist' and 'September 5' will be featured starting Jan. 31. The theater will also work closely with the community and bring in several special events."

Scene One Gilford Cinemas will host the company's "Super Tuesday" program, where tickets all day every Tuesday are $7 for regular features! The company will also honor Gift Cards from Your Neighborhood Theatre, and the cinema's popular loyalty program will continue under Scene One.

Scene One also has changed the cinema's beverage offerings to Coca-Cola® products. In the coming weeks guests can also look forward to a switch to Real Butter served on the theatre's fresh, hot popcorn.

Knightwolves come up short in battle with Oyster River-Portsmouth

BY JOSHUA SPAULDING
Sports Editor

WOLFEBORO — The Kingswood-Prospect Mountain girls' hockey team put up a good battle against a very strong Oyster River-Portsmouth team on Saturday at the Pop Whalen Arena, but the visitors were able to score two goals in the final minute of play to pull away for the 5-1 win.

The visitors pulled ahead early, scoring in the first three minutes of the game. The Knightwolves came back with some chances, with Paityn Glidden sending a shot wide and Jenny Baldwin and Jenna Sykes getting in close. Baldwin had another bid denied and Kingswood-Prospect goalie Aliyah Arsenault was able to make three big saves to keep the game at just 1-0.

The Knightwolves went on the power play with 5:30 to go in the first period. Baldwin had a bid in close, as did Emma Ouellette, but the visitors held tight on defense. Arsenault saved a shorthanded bid before the penalty was killed off. Arsenault made another save as Oyster River-Portsmouth attacked.

Aliyah Arsenault was stellar in net for the Kingswood-Prospect Mountain girls on Saturday night against Oyster River-Portsmouth.

The visitors were able to up the lead to 2-0 with a shot from the point. The Knightwolves took a penalty with 1:05 to go and Riley Lamparter and Sykes had good clears while Arsenault made a save to close out the first period with the visitors up 2-0.

Arsenault did a nice job killing off the penalty early in the second period, as the Knightwolves killed off the advantage, with Avery Gilpatrick getting a shorthanded bid that was stopped. Cassidy Libby had a shot go wide and the Knightwolves got the power play chance with 12:44 to go.

Jenny Baldwin sent a shot on net that was de-

Oyster River-Portsmouth was able to up the lead to 3-0 with 9:25 to go in the second period. Arsenault made another save and then Adelle Harrington, Gilpatrick and Libby helped their goalie kill off a penalty.

was killed off. Sykes had a bid blocked and another saved and the game went to the third with the visitors up 3-0.

Kingswood-Prospect took a penalty early in the third period and again it was Arsenault holding down the fort. Another penalty gave the visitors a five-on-three advantage for almost a minute and the Knightwolves did a good job killing off both penalties.

The hosts pressured offensively as well, as Aucoin and Baldwin had chances that missed the mark. Lamparter had a good clear from the defensive zone and the visitors sent a couple of shots wide of the net.

With 5:57 to go in the game, the Knightwolves got some good pressure in front of the net and it paid off, as Ouellette put the puck in the net on assists from Rowan Donovan-Lavolette and Harrington.

The highlight of the game for the Knightwolves had to come with 1:05 to go, as Arsenault stoned an Oyster River-Portsmouth penalty shot to keep the deficit at two. However, the visitors scored with 47 seconds to go and then added an empty net goal with 24 seconds left for the 5-1 win.

DURHAM — The Gilford swim team competed at the University of New Hampshire for the third time, heading to Durham on Sunday, Jan. 26. The meet featured 23 other teams and more than 250 swimmers. With no relays, all athletes were allowed to compete in three individual events instead of the normal two events.

The 200-yard freestyle started the day and Audrey Bondaz finished in 3:33.13 and Bailey Juurlink Gagne finished in a tie of 3:33.59.

In the 50-yard freestyle sprint with more than 190 swimmers, Bondaz, Guinevere Freeman, Natalie Clay, Alyssa McKenna and Elise Graton all competed in the event, with Clay, Freeman and Graton all putting in personal best times. Graton's time of 28.97 qualified her for the state swim meet in February. Nate Correia also swam the 50 free and also achieved a personal best with a time of 28.1.

The 100-yard freestyle were next for the Eagles, with Freeman, McKenna, Juurlink Gagne, Clay and Graton all swimming for Gilford. Graton dropped almost three seconds off her personal best for a time of 1:04.34 and Correia saw a drop of more than one second for a new personal best of 1:06.61.

In the 100 back, every Eagle that competed dropped time from their seed time. McKenna, Bondaz and Juurlink Gagne all dropped from three to five seconds from their times while Correia swam a time of 1:28.13.

BUDGET

For the past two years, PMHS has offered open enrollment to students from other communities with the sending school districts billed for tuition. Broadrick said there are 19 students attending PMHS from communities other than Alton and Barnstead. The district billed other school districts around $165,000 for open enrollment tuition and has received around $66,000 of that money.

Legislation passed 15 years ago allowed districts to have open enrollment, though Broadrick said no one has tried to run a program until recently. A case is going through the state Supreme Court where another school district challenged being required to pay tuition for an open enrollment. Broadrick said the district is waiting to hear the results of that case to get further clarification on the requirements for school districts.

Enrollment has been steadier at Alton Central School, which has seen a four percent decline in the past 10 years. Broadrick said with the declining enrollment they are trying to find efficiencies without taking drastic measures. The district has been looking at any positions that have been vacated due to retirements or resignations and determine if the position should be refilled or if personnel should be moved around.

Increasing health-care costs and premiums have been an ongoing issue for the district. Health premiums across PMHS and ACS are projected to increase around 10 to 12 percent, which Broadrick said is normal. Inflation has been another ongoing issue.

Voters will decide on an article to put $120,000 into the Boiler Capital Reserve Fund. Broadrick said the district has been doing an ongoing project to replace the five boiler rooms in ACS. One has been done so far and money appropriated this year will do the second one.

Another article will put $150,000 into the Special Education Capital Reserve Fund. Broadrick and School Board chair Anne Pierce said the state has been changing how it funds special education and more costs have been put on school districts.

Pierce also honored outgoing board member Carol Locke. Pierce said Locke has been in the board since 2020 and served on several committees. She will continue to be part of the Literacy Committee even when she's off the board.

Alton Bay resident Evan McCracken named to WPI Dean's List

WORCESTER, Mass. — Worcester Polytechnic Institute (WPI) has announced that Evan McCracken, a member of the class of 2027 majoring in Mechanical Engineering, was named to the university's Dean's List for academic excellence for the fall 2024 semester.

The criteria for the WPI Dean's List differ from that of most other universities as WPI does not compute a grade point average (GPA). Instead, WPI students are named to the Dean's List based on the amount of work completed at the A level in courses and hands-on projects. A total of 2,393 undergraduate students achieved these criteria for WPI's fall 2024 Dean's List.

"WPI's academic programs are rigorous and require a level of independence beyond what is required in traditional courses. WPI students work on real-world, open-ended problems on campus and in communities around the globe. Far from being simple academic exercises, the projects students complete have genuine and lasting impacts in our partner communities," said Provost Andrew Sears. "Some of this nation's best and brightest students come to WPI to study engineering, science, business, and the humanities. Those named to the Dean's List have excelled in all of their work, and we are exceptionally proud of these outstanding students."

About Worcester Polytechnic Institute

WPI is a top-tier STEM-focused research university and a recognized pioneer and global leader in project-based learning. Founded in 1865 on the principle that students learn most effectively by applying the theory learned in the classroom to the practice of solving real-world problems,

WPI's continued mission is to transform lives, turn knowledge into action to confront global challenges, and revolutionize STEM through distinctive and inclusive education, projects, and research. WPI's project-based curriculum engages undergraduates in solving important scientific, technological, and societal problems throughout their education and at more than 50 project centers around the world. Today WPI offers more than 70 Bachelor's, Master's, and doctoral degree programs across 18 academic departments in science, engineering, technology, business, the social sciences, and the humanities and arts. To help address ongoing challenges, improve lives, and help create a more sustainable world, WPI faculty and students pursue groundbreaking research in such areas as the life sciences, smart technologies, materials and manufacturing, and global initiatives.

A generous donor company, Watson-Marlow Fluid Technologies of Wilmington, Mass.) has awarded WinnAero several thousand dollars for the express purpose of attracting more young students, especially young women, to study STEM applications in aviation and aerospace. WinnAero's plan to implement the grant requirements is to offer from partial up to full tuition scholarships for girls Middle and High School aged to attend their one week summer day camps called ACE Academies.

Midshipman Soleil Lamar, a proud ACE Academy graduate and now enrolled at the US Naval Academy as an Engineering student. Midshipman Lamar is from the US Commonwealth Territory of the Northern Mariana Islands in the Pacific and found WinnAero's ACE Academies while researching STEM summer camps a few years ago.

The camps will run in the second and third weeks of July and are held at the Laconia Airport under the sponsorship of the Laconia Airport Authority and the FAA. A full schedule of activities and the themes for the individual sessions are available at the Web site, www.winn-aero.org, along with contact information for more details.

WinnAero Education Director, Dan Caron, said "This generous grant enables us to offer a unique STEM-learning experience to young women similar to what we did for Midshipman Lamar a few years ago. We are deeply grateful for Watson-Marlow's corporate vision to increase the number of women pursuing STEM-related aviation and aerospace careers."

He added that the individual amounts awarded will depend upon how many young women apply so interested girls should download an application soon.
