

Newfound Valedictorian, Salutatorian share future goals

BY DONNA RHODES
Contributing Writer

BRISTOL — Newfound Regional High School's Valedictorian, Taylor Mooney, and Salutatorian Lillian Karkheck may have different goals for their future, but during their years in high school, they have both seen success in academics, athletics, and commitments to their community.

Mooney is from Hebron, and during her four years at NRHS, she has excelled in numerous ways. She is Class Treasurer, a member of the Yearbook committee, the math team and the Getting to Yes group, as well as the Student Athletic Leadership Team, the National Honor Society and the Rho Kappa National Social Studies Honor Society. She was also selected to attend the elite St. Paul's School in Concord last summer where, with an interest in finance, she participated in a Data Driven program that exposed her to many new things within the field of finance.

Besides her many academic accolades, Mooney is also athletic, playing on the girls' varsity soccer team and as a member of track and field. She and her family were also instrumental in developing the first NRHS gymnastics team. As a one-person team in her freshman year, edged up to two participants in her sophomore year, she enjoyed the experience to compete at the high school level but ultimately her 10 years of experience in gymnastics led her to track and field.

"I just liked 'sending' myself in gymnastics and that led me to become a pole vaulter," Mooney said. "It's an all-body thing and I enjoyed that challenge."

At a track and field event in May, she met that challenge head-on by setting a new school record of 9'1", an inch over previous the girls pole vault record.

As part of her Senior Project this year, Mooney analyzed data from a statewide Youth Behavior survey where she found there were a lot of current issues amongst people her age.

"It could be because of COVID. Surveys taken before and after COVID showed substance use went down but then depression went up," she said.

Dating violence has become another issue since the pandemic, so for her project she created posters and informed her classmates of hotline numbers for those experiencing such violence, as well as those who observed it or felt friends were at risk of being harmed.

In her after school hours, Mooney is a mentor at Bristol Elementary School where she has brought crocheted animals for the students with whom she works. It's time she enjoys with youngsters who need support, along with someone they can count on to spend one-on-one time with them, too.

After graduation from NRHS, Mooney will be off to the Florida Institute of Technology where she will enter their five-year program for Global Management and Finance and hopes to finish with a Master's degree in Financial Forensics. She said she will spend her free time doing community service

Groton Conservation Commission hosting Children's Fishing Derby Saturday

BY DONNA RHODES
Contributing Writer

GROTON – The Groton Conservation Commission is once again welcoming children ages one to 15 from any town to take part in their annual Children's Fishing Derby at Groton Town Pond on Saturday, June 3, for the fun and excitement of fishing as well as some time well spent in the great outdoors.

The annual derby was begun in 2008 by Groton Parks and Recreation but eventually taken on by the town's Conservation Commission, according to chair Slim Spafford.

"They (Parks and Rec) started it and it was very popular so we decided to continue (the derby) because it's really one of the only activities for kids that the town sponsors," Spafford explained.

The commission now makes arrangements for a private fishery to stock the pond with 100 rainbow trout each year, with an additional 100 rainbow trout added by N.H. Fish and Game, totaling 200 fish available for their young anglers.

Children will fish by age group with the event

National Forest announces closure of portion of Long Pond Road

BENTON — Due to storm damage in winter 2022/2023, the northern portion of Long Pond Road, north of the Long Pond Boat Launch access road is closed. Long Pond and the recreation site are accessible from the southern end, off High Street, via NH-25. Please see the map for reference.

Unseasonable warm temperatures and multiple major rain events resulted in culverts failing and water running down the road. Due to the speed and volume of water the roadbed was damaged, resulting in unsafe conditions for travel. To ensure public safety and to protect resources in the area, the US Forest Service has closed this portion of the road.

We sincerely appreciate your patience as we work to find long term, sustainable solutions given the increasing number of severe weather events. We realize we are not alone in dealing with the effects of climate change and are researching the best options for funding and for stormwater resiliency. We will continue to provide updates as this project moves forward.

Speare's 25th Anniversary Golf Tournament fundraiser to be held June 5

PLYMOUTH — Speare Memorial Hospital and 25th Anniversary Sponsor, Engelberth Construction, will be hosting the hospital's signature golf tournament fundraiser at Owl's Nest Resort and Golf Club. This year, sponsors from New Hampshire, Maine, Vermont, Massachusetts, and New York will play a round of golf in support of Speare's Dental Health Program. Established in response to growing concerns of local school nurses about unmet dental health needs of area children, the Dental Health Program now serves nearly 1,400 students attending 12 schools in SAU 48 and the Ashland, Lin-Wood, and Warren School Districts.

Ruth Doane, the program's dental hygienist, provides dental care at the schools, and services are either free or at a very low cost to the families. Students receive dental screenings, fluoride varnish, interim therapeutic restorations, sealants, and general oral health care education.

"No child is ever denied services because of their family's inability to pay. This is just one reason why this program is so valuable," says Ruth.

More than 20 area dental practices, including the tournament's Premiere Sponsor, Plymouth General Dentistry, currently collaborate with Speare's Dental Health Program to provide care for children referred from the program because of more serious dental concerns. Families who need financial help, Medicaid referrals, and assistance overcoming other dental care barriers are also served through the Dental Health Program.

"It is such an honor to partner with Speare and serve as the tournament's 25th Anniversary Sponsor in support of the Dental Health Program," says Pierre LeBlanc, president and CEO of Engelberth Construction.

More than 50 sponsors and donors are supporting this year's event and limited sponsorship opportunities are still available.

Kirkwood Gardens plant sale begins today

HOLDERNESS — Squam Lakes Natural Science Center holds its annual Kirkwood Gardens Plant Sale beginning Thursday, June 1 at Kirkwood Gardens on Route 3 in Holderness. A wide variety of perennials will be available for purchase on the bluestone terrace at Kirkwood Gardens until sold out. Come stroll through the upper and lower gardens for inspiration and find beautiful new plants for your own garden.

Kirkwood Gardens were dedicated in 1996 in honor of Grace "Sunny" Kirkwood, a landscape designer who served on the Board of Trustees from 1985 to 1991. Sunny designed the garden on the grounds of the historic Holderness Inn on Route 3 in Holderness. The gardens include both shade and sun beds planted with a wide variety of trees, shrubs, ferns, and flowers adapted to the northern New England climate. Plants that are attractive to birds, bees, and butterflies are central to the garden's design.

Some highlights of Kirkwood Gardens include a 25-by-60-foot bluestone patio on the west side of the historic Holderness Inn. It provides a scenic place for visitors to view the garden or to sit in the shade under ancient sugar maples and view the large variety of ferns, hostas, azaleas, rhododendrons, and other shade-loving plants in the upper garden.

A series of granite steps lead visitors from the shaded upper garden to the sunny, informal lower garden. Sun-loving shrubs, trees, and perennials thrive in the lower garden, where visitors may enjoy a lovely sculpture, set their clocks by the sundial, watch the hummingbirds, or view birds and butterflies as they visit a central millstone fountain.

Plymouth resident Holly Mason receives Bachelor's degree at WPI's 154th Commencement

WORCESTER, Mass. — On Saturday, May 13, Holly Mason, who majored in Industrial Engineering, was bestowed a bachelor's degree at WPI's 154th Commencement. Nearly 1,100 undergraduate degrees were awarded during the ceremony.

President Grace Wang and Board of Trustees Chair William Fitzgerald presided over the 154th Commencement exercises Saturday morning, marking the first time for both in their respective positions. In her remarks, President Wang, who officially joined WPI in early April, applauded the graduates for their dedication, persistence, passion for their field of study, and achievements. "You have earned your place among generations of exceptional WPI alumni. I hope you will take the opportunity, as they did, to push boundaries, explore unknowns, and deliver a tangible and profound impact to the world."

In his commencement address to undergraduates titled, "Don't Switch Off Your Conscience," Congressman James P. McGovern, who represents the Massachusetts second congressional district, urged graduates not to forget about the moral and ethical consequences of their work. "I ask you to stay true to yourself and the values you have learned at WPI. As citizens of the world, you have a responsibility to the greater good. To ask yourself not only what is profitable, but what is just. To ask yourself not only what is efficient, but what is equitable. And to ask yourself not only what is innovative, but what is honorable."

McGovern received an honorary doctor of humane letters degree at the event. Honorary degrees were also bestowed upon Shankar Balasubramanian, the Herchel Smith Professor of Medicinal Chemistry at Cambridge University, and John T. Mollen, former chair of WPI's Board of Trustees.

The undergraduate student speaker was Susanna Oppong, biology and biotechnology, who led the graduates in a resounding cheer, "I am here because I am resilient!" Recalling the unprecedented times the Class of 2023 has faced, Oppong said "They say resilience is born through experience and I truly believe that the resilience of our generation has come from the situations we have endured as students and how we have gathered as a community to advocate for them. We have broken through the stereotypes given to our generation and created the definition of our destiny."

Plymouth State University senior class gift will benefit students in need PLYMOUTH — Prior to Plymouth State University's (PSU) 152nd Commencement ceremony on Saturday, May 13, the class of 2023 presented a gift of nearly $3,000 to the university's Student Support Foundation (SSF). The gift will help the SSF provide short and long-term support to PSU students in need by providing emergency financial grants, maintaining the campus food pantry and distributing meal swipes collected through the "Swipe it Forward" program.

To commemorate this year's class gift, the newly formed PSU Future Alumni Board (FAB) planted a beautiful evergreen tree, which they dubbed the "Senior Class Giving Tree." The tree will stand as a symbol of community and to encourage future classes to carry on the tradition of giving back to the PSU community. The Class of 2023 is the first to be recognized with a granite plaque at the base of the tree.

Graduating senior and SSF President, Alyssa Griffin offered remarks to those who gathered for the pre-commencement tree planting ceremony.

"I hope that, like me, you'll plan on coming back to campus often and that you will give back to the community that has shaped us into the people we are today," said Griffin. "I hope when you do come back to visit, this tree reminds you of what it means to come together as a community and collectively make a difference. May we all continue to live by the PSU motto, 'Ut Prosim,

That may I serve."

The Giving Tree is meant to stand as a reminder to students and PSU alumni that no matter where they go after they graduate, PSU is always 'home.' The tree will stand tall and continue to grow on the PSU campus as future PSU students create their own ways to give back.

Plymouth resident Sycamore Herlihy named to WPI's Dean's List

WORCESTER, Mass. — Worcester Polytechnic Institute (WPI) has announced that Sycamore Herlihy, a member of the class of 2024 majoring in Mathematical Sciences, was named to the university's Dean's List for academic excellence for the spring 2023 semester.

A total of 2,054 undergraduate students achieved the criteria required for WPI's spring 2023 Dean's List. The criteria for the WPI Dean's List differs from that of most other universities as WPI does not compute a grade point average (GPA). Instead, WPI defines the Dean's List by the amount of work completed at the A level in courses and projects.

"WPI's academic programs are rigorous and require a level of independence beyond what is required in traditional courses. WPI students work on open-ended problems for communities around the world. The problems are important and the impact is real" said Professor Arthur C. Heinricher. "Some of this nation's best and brightest students come to WPI to study engineering and science and business and the humanities. Those named to the Dean's List have excelled in all of their work, and we are exceptionally proud of these outstanding students."

About Worcester Polytechnic Institute

WPI, a global leader in project-based learning, is a distinctive, top-tier technological university founded in 1865 on the principle that students learn most effectively by applying the theory learned in the classroom to the practice of solving real-world problems. Recognized by the National Academy of Engineering with the 2016 Bernard M. Gordon Prize for Innovation in Engineering and Technology Education, WPI's pioneering project-based curriculum engages undergraduates in solving important scientific, technological, and societal problems throughout their education and at more than 50 project centers around the world. WPI offers more than 70 bachelor's, master's, and doctoral degree programs across 18 academic departments in science, engineering, technology, business, the social sciences, and the humanities and arts. Its faculty and students pursue groundbreaking research to meet ongoing challenges in health and biotechnology; robotics and the internet of things; advanced materials and manufacturing; cyber, data, and security systems; learning science; and more. www.wpi.edu

Springfield College recognizes Dean's List students

SPRINGFIELD, Mass. — Springfield College recognizes the following local students for being named to the Dean's List for academic excellence for the 2023 spring semester:

Andrew Hazelton from Holderness. Hazelton has a primary major of Health Science.

Timothy Templeton from Plymouth. Templeton has a primary major of Health Science.

Life-saving Naloxone

BY EMILY SHANAHAN
Contributor

Naloxone is a medicine that rapidly reverses an opioid overdose. It is an opioid antagonist. This means that it attaches to opioid receptors and reverses and blocks the effects of other opioids. Naloxone can quickly restore normal breathing to a person if their breathing has slowed or stopped because of an opioid overdose. Naloxone has no effect on someone who does not have opioids in their system, and it is not a treatment for opioid use disorder. Examples of opioids include heroin, fentanyl, oxycodone (OxyContin®), hydrocodone (Vicodin®), codeine, and morphine.

Naloxone should be given to any person who shows signs of an opioid overdose or when an overdose is suspected. Naloxone can be given as a nasal spray or it can be injected into the muscle, under the skin, or into the veins. All systems used by first responders deliver the stated dose of naloxone and can be highly effective in reversing an opioid overdose.

Families with loved ones who struggle with opioid addiction should have naloxone nearby; ask their family members to carry it; and let friends know where it is. People should still call 911 immediately in the event of an overdose. Signs of an opioid overdose include unconsciousness, very small pupils, slow or shallow breathing, vomiting, an inability to speak, faint heartbeat, limp arms and legs, pale skin and purple lips and fingernails.

Naloxone is being used more by police officers, emergency medical technicians, and non-emergency first responders than before. In most states, people who are at risk or who know someone at risk for an opioid overdose can be trained on how to give naloxone. Families can ask their pharmacists or health care provider how to use the devices.

Naloxone works to reverse opioid overdose in the body for only 30 to 90 minutes. But many opioids remain in the body longer than that. Because of this, it is possible for a person to still experience the effects of an overdose after a dose of naloxone wears off. Also, some opioids are stronger and might require multiple doses of naloxone. Therefore, one of the most important steps to take is to call 911 so the individual can receive immediate medical attention.

People who are given naloxone should be observed constantly until emergency care arrives. They should be monitored for another two hours after the last dose of naloxone is given to make sure breathing does not slow or stop.

People with physical dependence on opioids may have withdrawal symptoms within minutes after they are given naloxone. Withdrawal symptoms might include headaches, changes in blood pressure, rapid heart rate, sweating, nausea, vomiting, and tremors. While this is uncomfortable, it is usually not life threatening. The risk of death for someone overdosing on opioids is worse than the risk of having a bad reaction to naloxone. Clinicians in emergency room settings are being trained to offer patients immediate relief and referral to treatment for opioid use disorder with effective medications after an opioid overdose is reversed.

Side effects from naloxone are rare, but people might have allergic reactions to the medicine. Overall, naloxone is a safe medicine. But it only reverses an overdose in people with opioids in their systems and will not reverse overdoses from other drugs like cocaine or methamphetamine.

Naloxone is not a solution to opioid addiction, nor is it a treatment for it. But having naloxone in your house is a safety matter. If your child had a life-threatening allergy, you would have an EpiPen on hand. If your child has diabetes, you will always have insulin or glucagon at the ready. Similarly, if your child is addicted to heroin or opioids, it's important to have naloxone available. We hope you never have to use it but wouldn't want you to be without it.

For FREE Naloxone, contact CADY at 603-536-9793 or The Doorway at 603-934-8905. If you, or someone you know, struggles with substance misuse or addiction, please call 2-1-1 or the Doorway at (603-934-8905) for help. You can also connect with Plymouth Area Recovery Connection (PARC), our local recovery center, located at Whole Village Family Resource Center in Plymouth at info@parcnh.org or 603-238-3555. One-man parade

Nine-year-old Karl of Bristol had hoped to wave his flag beside the Memorial Day parade, but when he learned it regretfully had to be cancelled this year, he instead took a walk through the downtown business district to show his national pride. "It's Memorial Day. I love America!" he proclaimed.

Bills like SB272 place our state's future in jeopardy

To the Editor:

I am appalled by the most recent letter to the Editor from my state representative, John Sellers. Mr. Sellers won his election (by four votes) and now represents the towns of Hebron, Bridgewater, Bristol, Alexandria, Grafton, Canaan, Enfield, Orange, Dorchester, and Groton in the New Hampshire House.

Mr. Sellers "strongly" urges parents to remove their children from "government public schools." He urges parents to homeschool their children, saying it doesn't take much time and the older ones can help the younger ones. He also advises parents to take advantage of the (so-called) Education Freedom accounts which send our school tax dollars to families who apply for these health freedom grants. What better way to dismantle public education in New Hampshire than taking our tax dollars and paying those funds out to families who are dissatisfied with public education and wish to home school or send their kids to private or religious schools?

What has led Mr. Sellers, who until this year served on the Newfound School District budget committee, to these rash statements? Simply, it is because of the failure of the New Hampshire House to pass SB272, the Parental Rights bill. Had this bill passed, teachers, guidance counselors, paraprofessionals, the school nurse, and administrators would be required to report to parents anything told to them by a child in confidence (or not).

Parents would have the right to inspect any class materials (and opt their child out), exempt their children from immunizations and opt out of health or sex education. And very importantly, teachers would be required to disclose changes to a student's gender identity absent "clear and convincing" evidence that sharing the information could lead to abuse. (NH Bulletin) LGBTQ youth are at a much higher risk of abuse and suffer significantly more mental health challenges as evidenced by hours of testimony from the LGBTQ community at legislative public hearings.

Additionally, teachers could be sued by parents for not fulfilling requests for information about their child.

New Hampshire's public school districts and the day-to-day work of teachers paraprofessionals, and yes, even parent volunteers, all help to educate our children.

Bills like SB272 and last session's "divisive concepts" bill make it more difficult for teachers to teach, as they need to spend more time worrying about being sued by a few disgruntled parents. Additionally, education freedom accounts take needed funding away from public schools.

I support public education. Without a well-informed and educated citizenry, the future of our state, country and the planet is in jeopardy.

Private and religious home schooling with public state funds?

To the Editor:

As lifelong educators in state-supported public higher education, we found it very shocking that State Rep., District 18, John Sellers would take the position to "Get your Kids out of Public Education." Such an extreme position is irresponsible for a newly elected representative where the overwhelming majority of the children of his constituents attend public school.

A true representative would reflect the majority who rely on civic education and not private schools disguising their goal Christian-based education reflecting some "Parental Rights." It is a tribute to the representatives that SB272 did not pass, upholding the principle that religious education is not to be funded by the state. This has been the history of our democratic secular nation that, in fact, Private Schools are just that, private, and not funded by public taxes. The First Amendment is understood by lawyers and laypersons to contain a "non-establishment" clause interpreted historically as religion being separated from the state. Private schools devoted to religious education should not be disguised under the rubric of "Parental Rights," when in practice they serve to undermine the majority civil goal of public education. It is, thus, fitting that this bill was not passed, and it is a tribute the wisdom of the General Court and thus the People, as in "We the People." Public education, with its long-established secular base, lies at the foundation of our democracy and civil society. Public education is to be funded by the Public Treasury; Private education is not. It is unfortunate that this principle has already been compromised by the "Education Freedom Account" in which each home-schooled child is entitled to receive $4,800 per child. Imagine how these funds might be used to enrich and better serve the children in NH's public schools. It is tragic and ironic that those who favor close scrutiny of public tax funds could even think that siphoning them off for private education with a questionable curriculum might be a good idea. This is not to mention what qualifications and certification might exist for "teachers" in private education in the areas of science, history, global studies, computer studies, civics, technology, and literature?

We, unelected candidates from District 18, express our collective gratitude to the thousands of voters who supported our respective candidacies for State Representative and Senator- including both local and state-wide supporters. We want to let them know that we will build upon what we have learned and gained personally from our respective candidacies, especially from the valuable conversations we have had with the citizens of the region and state.

Sincerely,
Carolyn Fluehr-Lobban

All of this will take place at Squam Lakes Association. You can learn more and sign up on their Squam Community Rowing Facebook page.
Our Noon Book Group will be reading "And Then All Hell Broke Loose - Two Decades in the Middle East" by Richard Engel. Discussion will take place on June 21 in the Library Friend's Room. Books are available at the circulation desk.
Observers at Walter's

Basin are becoming quite adept at observing boats going through the channel at more that "headway" speed. Headway speed is 6 mph or the slowest speed to travel and still maintain steerage. The reason has to do with preventing damage to the boats, buildings and shoreline along that narrow passage.
A reminder that the Library has passes to the Aviation Museum of NH, Castle in the Clouds, Currier Museum of Art, McAuliffe-Shepard Discovery Center, NH Historical Society and the Squam Lakes Natural Science Center.

Bobcats stuff Saints in semifinal battle

JOSHUA SPAULDING

Chance Twomey had a big win at number two singles during the Division III semifinals on Monday.

Charlie Cushing picked up wins in singles and doubles in Plymouth's semifinal win Monday afternoon.

PLYMOUTH — As Leo Ebner, the top seed in the Plymouth boys' tennis ladder, was engaged in a hard-fought battle in the singles portion of Monday's Division III semifinal match with St. Thomas, he kept looking down the court during breaks in the action, shouting words of encouragement to teammates Charlie Cushing, Chance Twomey and Jack Swanson as they did battle in their own singles matches.

While Ebner did not prevail in his singles match, all of his teammates did, demonstrating the depth that won the Bobcats a championship last season and that propelled them to an undefeated regular season and sent them back to this year's finals. It also demonstrated the kind of player that Ebner is, earning the respect of his coach and his teammates for being the ultimate team player.

"Number one is a tough spot to be in," said coach Tony DiNardo, who watched his team pick up a 7-2 win over the Saints in the Memorial Day semifinal tilt. "Hats off to Leo, the score is secondary to his continuous improvement and the team."

"All the kids have bought in to it, it's about the team," DiNardo continued.

The first match off the court was at number four singles, where Swanson got Plymouth an early lead with an 8-4 win. Twomey got the 8-2 win in the second spot and then Cushing got an 8-2 win in the third spot to give the Bobcats a 3-0 lead.

After Ebner dropped an 8-5 decision at number one, Spencer Inwood at number five and Max Levin at number six came out and both earned 8-1 wins, clinching the win for the Bobcats before doubles had finished off.

Cushing and Swanson got the 8-1 win at number two singles and Levin and Inwood won by an 8-1 score at number three, while Twomey and Ebner dropped an 8-3 decision in a well-fought, back and forth battle at number one doubles.

"They push each other in practice," DiNardo said. "It's not just the six kids you saw out there today, it's seven, eight, nine through 12 that makes them all better."

"The point we wanted to get to, and we have, was to be more strategic," the Bobcat coach added. "They just give us everything."

The Division III championship took place after deadline on Wednesday in Concord against Kearsarge, a rematch of last year's championship match.

Bobcat tennis girls upended in quarterfinals

RC GREENWOOD

Sophia Inwood returns a shot during the Division III quarterfinals on Friday afternoon.

BY JOSHUA SPAULDING

PLYMOUTH — After an 11-3 regular season that saw them earn the fourth seed in Division III, the Plymouth tennis girls saw their season come to a heartbreaking end in the quarterfinal round against fifth-seeded Trinity on Friday afternoon.

"I cannot say enough about the season we had," said coach Diane DiNardo. "The girls should be very proud of themselves."

"A wonderful, hard-working group of girls," she continued.

The top two in the Plymouth lineup, seniors Jenna Benoit and Sophia Inwood, both dropped 8-3 decisions against Trinity in the quarterfinal match, but Emma Smith came through with an 8-4 win in the third spot. Senior Rhiannon Harris played a long match, coming up just short by a 9-7 score.

Abey Gordon in the fifth spot dropped an 8-3 decision, but senior Samantha Sanborn in the sixth spot gave the Bobcats a chance heading to doubles with her 8-2 win. The Bobcats trailed 4-2 heading to doubles, needing a sweep to keep the season alive.

"We knew we had a lot of work to do going into doubles," DiNardo said.

Benoit and Inwood played a great match in the top spot and got an 8-2 win and Harris and Sanborn followed with a win by an 8-4 score in the second spot. Gordon and Kerry Tole dropped an 8-2 decision in the third doubles spot and Trinity took the 5-4 win to advance on to face top-seeded Littleton in the semifinals.

"The seniors provided a lot of leadership and motivation all year long," DiNardo stated. "They will be missed next year, but we have a lot of underclassmen working hard already preparing for next season."

er. It was a great event, filled with hard work and enthusiastic participation. To all the volunteers (you know who you are) who gave of their time and energy - thank you! Whether you were hauling and lifting or helping people, your cheerful spirit created an incredible atmosphere throughout the day. We would also like to thank those who donated items to the sale. Your generosity and thoughtfulness played a key role in the success of the sale. The diverse array of goods provided something for everyone, and your contributions helped us raise fund for our church. And thank you too for all the attendees who visited our sale. We hope you found just the item you were looking for and maybe treasures you didn't know you needed. This annual fundraiser is a reminder that the people of our congregation work together and have a positive impact on our church and the lives of those we serve.

Christian Science Society, Plymouth

Everyone is most welcome to our Sunday services which we hold each week at 10 a.m.

in our Emerson Street building. The Bible lesson sermon this coming Sunday begins with these comforting words from Exodus: "Many, oh Lord my God, are thy wonderful works which thou has done and thy thoughts which are to us-ward." This lesson, which can be studied during the week, including in our Reading Room study area, is one that churches around the world will be reading this coming Sunday.
Our Sunday School is now meeting in their beautiful new space. Here students learn how the truths and lessons in the Bible can help with their everyday lives. It's held at the same time as the church service.
We also have a Wednesday meetings at 6 p.m. each week. It begins with short readings from the Bible and from the Christian Science textbook with thoughts to help meet personal and world needs. Then there is time for sharing with one another gratitude for healing experiences in our lives, as well as thoughts and insights from our spiritual study and prayer. We'd love to have you join us.

Please visit our website at www.cs-plymouth-nh.org if you would like to join in our services by Zoom.
At jsh-online.com you'll find a wealth of articles and audio offerings which are new each week. This week there is an interview on the Sentinal Watch podcast "How does God see you?" It is full of healing ideas for this important topic.
The Reading Room in our church building is open Monday noon to 2 p.m. There is a comfortable quiet space to sit in the new downstairs area, as well a lending library. The award-winning Christian Science Monitor is available to read. We welcome all to browse, and borrow all books and resources and to enjoy the study area.

through beach cleanup in Florida where she has enjoyed vacationing over the years.

“I plan on coming back to live in New Hampshire after I graduate, though,” she said.

Principal Paul Hoiriis is proud of Mooney’s accomplishments, and said, “I have to say that Taylor has really developed great relationships with the adults in the building and earned the respect of all of her teachers.”

Lillian Karkheck of Bridgewater is also worthy of the role of Salutatorian for the Class of 2023.

She was a member of the NRHS Varsity Math Team, the Yearbook Committee and was inducted into the National Honor Society while, like Mooney, she was involved in athletics at the same time.

Throughout her four years at NRHS, Karkheck was Captain of the Girls Varsity Soccer team while also playing a role in the Ski Team along with Track and Field in the spring. Soccer was her passion though and over the years that helped her decide what her future goal would be.

She began playing soccer in sixth grade as one of the students who helped to eventually bring a girls soccer team to Newfound Regional School District.

“Our program (in Middle School) was able to start it all off and I felt I was a part of something bigger,” she said.

By helping in the development of girls soccer team through middle and then high school, Karkheck felt she could help to provide an opportunity for younger kids to take part in the sport as well.

“A few good coaches made me want to play soccer. It was out of my comfort zone at first, but I began to feel brave to be out there and now I want to influence others to do the same,” she said.

Since she entered high school she has become a coach for the Tapple-Thompson Community Center’s girls soccer program in hopes of encouraging other young girls to “step outside the box” and be involved as well.

In the fall, Karkheck will be off to St. Anselm’s College in Salem, where she will be majoring in Pre-Med with the goal of one day becoming a pediatrician.

“I’ve always wanted to help people and in my upper years in school I realized I just love kids and this is what I want to do in the future- help kids,” Karkheck said. “I mentor a ‘little kid’ at Bristol Elementary every week who’s a little ball of fire and I love it! I think work should be something you love, not just what you do every day and I love children.”

Principal Hoiriis praised her by saying, “I would call Lillian the Silent Servant. She does so much community service, but not just at the school. She’s always pitching in to help and that’s a trait I really appreciate about her!”

With no doubt that these young women will be successful in the future, he went on to say, “I couldn’t be more proud of these two, not only for their accomplishments, but for their impact on the entire school. We’ve all benefited from them.”

Graduation Day for these two outstanding young ladies and their worthy peers from the Class of 2023 will take place at Newfound Regional High School at 9 a.m. on June 10.

Plymouth resident Holly Mason completes intensive research project

WORCESTER, Mass. — Holly Mason, a member of the class of 2023 majoring in Industrial Engineering at Worcester Polytechnic Institute (WPI), recently completed a senior thesis that is required of all graduating seniors as part of the university’s distinctive project-based educational experience. The project, Process Improvement at Saint-Gobain, was Holly’s Major Qualifying Project (MQP), one that is usually team-based and often focuses on very specific issues or needs of an organization that has partnered with the university to sponsor the student’s work.

“It’s inspiring to see the creativity and skills that our students bring to these projects, as well as the professionalism with which they present their research,” says Arne Gericke, interim dean of undergraduate studies and director of the Office of Undergraduate Research. “Their experience managing a major project like this-including identifying a problem and researching all of the implications and possible solutions while also managing team dynamics over an extended period of several months-sets them up well for success not only in their first jobs after graduation but throughout their careers.”

A signature element of the innovative undergraduate experience at WPI, project-based learning offers students the opportunity to apply their scientific and technical knowledge to real problems that affect the quality of people’s lives-an experience that changes the student and their world.

In addition to providing tangible work experience that proves valuable to employers, MQPs often lead to publications in peer-reviewed journals, presentations at regional and national conferences, patents, and entrepreneurial ventures. Others become useful innovations and products for their corporate sponsors.

Prior to their MQP, students complete an Interactive Qualifying Project (IQP), usually in their junior year, with a team of other students across disciplines; the projects may or may not relate to the students’ fields of study and are sponsored by organizations across the globe to give students real-world experience addressing problems that lie at the intersection of science and society. Approximately 85% of WPI students complete a project at one of the university’s 50+ off-campus project centers located in more than 30 countries around the world.

About Worcester Polytechnic Institute

WPI, a global leader in project-based learning, is a distinctive, top-tier technological university founded in 1865 on the principle that students learn most effectively by applying the theory learned in the classroom to the practice of solving real-world problems. Recognized by the National Academy of Engineering with the 2016 Bernard M. Gordon Prize for Innovation in Engineering and Technology Education, WPI’s pioneering project-based curriculum engages undergraduates in solving important scientific, technological, and societal problems throughout their education and at more than 50 project centers around the world. WPI offers more than 70 bachelor’s, master’s, and doctoral degree programs across 18 academic departments in science, engineering, technology, business, the social sciences, and the humanities and arts. Its faculty and students pursue groundbreaking research to meet ongoing challenges in health and biotechnology; robotics and the internet of things; advanced materials and manufacturing; cyber, data, and security systems; learning science; and more. www.wpi.edu

Fire

Lake for the report of a building fire. Located in a close-knit residential area, it was toned out quickly as a First Alarm, bringing crews from several surrounding towns to their aid.

Bristol’s Deputy Chief, Chris Dolloff, said he happened to be driving by the area with his family when he saw the smoke rising and raced to the scene where crews from BFD met him.

As they began to battle the fire, Dolloff said his wife helped console the property owner and the department helped rescue three cats from her home and get them to safety.

He said that upon arrival he and his fellow firefighters found a 20-by-30-foot garage and a vehicle well involved. Heat and flames from the fire were affecting two homes on each side of the garage and wires were also down in the area, creating an additional hazard.

Among the other responding fire companies were Alexandria, Bridgewater, Danbury, Franklin, Hebron, New Hampton and Sanborn-ton. Plymouth, Meredith Fire, and Meredith EMS provided coverage to Bristol.

With a large cloud of black smoke billowing up from the scene, many people rushed to see what was burning but Dolloff said neighbors and other members of the public stepped up to assist the firefighters.

“They began helping the occupants of the homes and kept people back away from the scene, so I want to give a big shout out to them for doing that,” he said.

Dolloff also sends thanks to all the responders that day. Despite being a holiday weekend, he reported that there was a great turnout of both career and call firefighters from Bristol.

“We can’t do what we do without our Mutual Aid partners either. A big thank you to them for their response and teamwork!” he said.

The fire was declared under control at 7:31 p.m. and after checking the other homes and structures in the area to be sure there was no further extension, the last crews cleared the scene at 8:46 p.m.. There were no injuries reported, although one firefighter was evaluated for heat related issues but signed off on any treatment.

While the garage and vehicle were lost to the fire, the two homes received only minimal damage, most being on the exterior, and were still habitable.

“I credit that to our extensive training and dedication here,” Dolloff said.

The exact cause of the fire was still under investigation on Tuesday morning but the deputy said they are confident it was accidental.

Saturday’s fire was the second one of the week in that neighborhood. A dryer fire at 24 Lake St. also prompted a first alarm response, but luckily that response kept damage to the home at a minimum as well.

starting at 9 a.m. when those ages one to six will be able to try their luck for 45 minutes. Next up at 10 a.m. the seven to 10 age group gets their 45 minute turn to test their luck, then the 11-15 year-olds can fish from 11-11:45 a.m. Each child is limited to five fish during the derby.

A weigh-in station will be set up for the catches to be registered at the end of each 45-minute segment of the event and the child in that age group with the highest total weight of fish will be presented with a trophy. In addition, should any child, during the derby only, catch a specially tagged trout, they will receive a cash prize of $50.

ball Officials Association, as referees make notes during and after games, make nominations and call school officials, including coaches and athletic directors to make sure the person they are picking is a deserving winner. Roland Burke was on hand from the association to present the award to Twomey.

Plymouth boys’ basketball coach Ben Cronin had nothing but praise for Twomey and the way he has handled himself on the court and in the school.

“I can’t think of a more deserving candidate of this award than Chance,” Cronin said. “I am so proud of him and know this is a small snapshot of what he is capable of.”

Cronin noted that he has had the pleasure of witnessing Twomey’s growth over the last three years.

“I’ve gotten to know Chance over the last three years, and it has been a pleasure to watch him grow into the young man he is today,” Cronin said. “Chance is a natural-born leader and is going to do some great things in the future.”

The Bobcat coach also saw some of the same things in Twomey that the officials saw over the course of the season.

“The board commented on how impressed they were with Chance’s reputation and how genuinely thoughtful he is,” Cronin noted.

Twomey’s sportsmanship is not something that just happens on the basketball court.

“For a kid to earn an award like that, that type of attitude and behavior, there’s no question it transfers sport to sport,” said Plymouth boys’ tennis coach Tony DiNardo. “That’s exactly the case with Chance.”

DiNardo noted, that no matter the situation, whether in a win or a loss in any of his sports, Twomey is the same kid.

“It doesn’t matter, winning or losing, basketball or tennis, he’s the same,” DiNardo said. “He’s the same high-performing, high-quality individual.

“The character and talent with Chance, that’s what really stands out to me,” the Bobcat tennis coach added. “Kids like that don’t come around every year.”

DiNardo pointed out that he is lucky to have a couple of kids at the top of his lineup that exemplify those characteristics.

Friends of Minot-Sleeper Library raffling quilt

BRISTOL — Enter for a chance to win a stunning queen-size quilt in the Friends of the Minot-Sleeper Library's exciting summer raffle! This remarkable quilt serves as a tribute to the 10th anniversary of our library expansion, completed back in 2013. It's a true labor of love, crafted over several months by talented community members under the guidance of Karen Monahan, a skilled quilter and Bristol resident. The quilt beautifully captures the essence of our Summer Reading theme: All Together Now.

Don't miss the chance to admire this exquisite quilt, as it will be proudly displayed at the library throughout the summer. The lucky winner will be drawn during Bristol Old Home Day on Saturday, Aug. 26.

By participating in this raffle, you not only stand a chance to win this marvelous quilt but also support an incredible cause. All proceeds from the raffle go directly towards funding library events and programming. The Friends group is a non-profit 501(c)(3) organization dedicated to enriching our community through the power of books and knowledge.

Join us in celebrating our library's achievements and contributing to its continued success. Tickets are $5 each or five for $20, and can be purchased at Minot-Sleeper Library, 35 Pleasant St., Bristol.

Good luck in the raffle and thank you for being a valued member of our community!
