Cats stymied by Kingswood in season's second game

BY JOSHUA SPAULDING
Sports Editor

ANDOVER — For all but one minute and four seconds of Saturday's hockey game between Kearsage-Plymouth and Kingswood the two teams were scoreless.

But, in that 1:04 time span late in the second period, the visiting Knights scored a pair of goals and left Teddy Maloney Ice Rink on the campus of Proctor Academy with the 2-0 win.

"They didn't have the jump they had the other night (against Pembroke-Campbell), but they got it back," said Kingswood coach Mike Potenza. "The goal is always play your best at the end of the season, but they're playing decent now."

"Overall, I thought both teams played fairly defensively," said Ke-

Plymouth Historical Society presents “The History of Gym Class”

PLYMOUTH — The Plymouth Historical Society will present its first program of 2023, The History of Gym Class, on Wednesday, Jan. 11 at 7 p.m. The virtual program will be given by PSU Professor Rebecca Noel, who explores the sometimes alarming, sometimes hilarious backstory of what we now know as gym class.

Physicians worried since the Renaissance that sedentary, scholarly life makes people sick. They focused on varying concerns over time: digestive woes, melancholy, tuberculosis, spinal curvature, reproductive weakness. The problem widened along with access to education during the Enlightenment and into the 1800s. Tracing this idea from Europe to the United States, from scholars to children, and from boys’ to girls’ education, the presentation shows how these fears inspired schools to get children moving.

The program concludes with audience discussion of the relevance of this problem to our own times – like the Enlightenment, a moment in history when suddenly many more people live the sedentary lives once limited to a few scholars.

The History of Gym Class is sponsored by the New Hampshire Humanities, supported in part by the National Endowment for the Humanities. To register contact Marcia Schmidt Blaine at mblaine@plymouth.edu.

Plymouth State University students present recommendations for Gorham Paper Mill lagoon property

PLYMOUTH — Plymouth State University (PSU) students recently presented their research findings and proposed seven recommendations for how 40 acres of wastewater lagoon property at the White Mountain Paper Company (WMPC) in Gorham, New Hampshire, might be developed, should the company execute its plan to decommission the lagoon and establish a closed loop connection to a municipal treatment plant.

The 10 students enrolled in Special Topics in Law and Entrepreneurship, through a sponsored collaboration with the paper mill, presented their recommendations on Thursday, Dec. 8 before WMPC majority owner Evan Behrens, PSU President Donald L. Birx, Ph.D., Executive Councilor Joseph Kenney and other state and community representatives, including Gorham Town Manager Denise Vallee, Chuck Henderson from Senator Jeanne Shaheen's office, and Brian Bresnahan from Congresswomen Anne Kuster's office.

"The students did an excellent job in identifying thoughtful and imaginative concepts and backing their proposals up with in-depth research and business plans, and we appreciate that the students took the initiative to understand what the paper mill has historically meant to the region, and then focused their ideas in a forward-looking manner that will facilitate growth and advancement," said Behrens. "We are thrilled with the results of this collaboration with PSU and hope to accomplish more together. In the days to come, we look forward to evaluating the students' recommendations and engaging further on potential next steps. Ultimately, we are hopeful that in conjunction with the city of Berlin, the town of Gorham and the state, we will be successful in finding a sustainable plan for decommissioning the lagoons and be in a position to redevelop this land in a way that benefits the local community and New Hampshire's North Country as a whole."

Ten students enrolled in a special, one-semester course at Plymouth State University received a commendation from Governor Chris Sununu on Thursday, Dec. 8, for their research and recommendations on how to repurpose 40 acres near the White Mountain Paper Company in Gorham, currently used for wastewater lagoons. From left, PSU students Joseph Mitchell, Anton Friberg, Ethan Stuckless, Grace Burns, Austin Malool-Juneau, Jack Berrigan, Elisabeth Russell, Goldie Graulich, Tyrese James, and Eion Hamell-Kelleher.

The students proposed the following projects:

The Solar Hive, by Eion Hamell-Kelleher: The plan is to use the parcel to build a one-megawatt, four-acre solar farm, which would provide energy for the mill and the community, and revive the natural flora of the land with a field of beehives placed in and around the solar farm.

The Gorham Sporting Emporium, by Austin Malool-Juneau: The plan is to build an outdoor outfitting store that would supply the surrounding Coos County residents with their sporting needs in a 15,000-square-foot showroom, along with a seven-lane, indoor shooting range.

Picks & Kicks, by Anton Friberg and Jack Berrigan: The plan is to build an all-ages athletic facility that contains indoor basketball courts, pickleball courts, a turf soccer field and more.

Industrial Motel, by Goldie L. Graulich: The plan is to build a 48,000-square-foot building dedicated to manufacturing, with six different vendor booths for lease, with the goal of attracting Canadian companies to incubate their businesses in the North Country. The remaining acreage would be landscaped for beautification and to serve as a buffer for nearby residents.

White Mountain Adventure Center, by Elisabeth G. Russell: The plan is to build a recreation resort that will provide indoor activities like rock climbing and serve as a hub for nearby outdoor recreation such as fishing tours, guided hunting trips, hiking, cross country skiing and more.

Cascade Cabins, by Tyrese James: The plan is to build 15 lodging cabins to be rented on a nightly and monthly basis, to fill a specialty housing niche to support the local tourism industry.

The Brews & The Bees, by Grace K. Burns, Joseph D.B. Mitchell and Ethan R. Stuckless: The plan is to build a 2.5-barrel brewpub and farm-to-table restaurant and convert the remaining acreage into a pollinator garden and public permaculture park, with walking trails.

The full report can be provided upon request.

The presentations were held in the Ray Burton Open Laboratory space of the Lamson Library at Plymouth State University in Plymouth, New Hampshire. Following a lively period of questions and answers, Executive Councilor Joseph Kenney presented the students and their instructors, PSU Associate Professor of Business Law Chantalle Forgues, JD, LLM, MBA, and PSU Instructor of Business Lisa Perras, MBA, CHI, with an official commendation from Governor Chris Sununu for their exemplary work.

Before the fall semester began, Forgues, invited 10 students from various disciplines, including marketing, pre-law, finance, sociology and others, to participate in the semester-long course. The course is co-led by Perras, a North Country native, and falls under the Innovation and Entrepreneurship

Winter safety for older adults

Helpful tips from Pemi-Baker Hospice & Home Health

PLYMOUTH — When the temperature drops, older adults run a higher risk of health problems and injuries related to the weather, including hypothermia, frostbite, and falls in ice and snow. Like most things in life, it is better to be prepared. Here are a few precautions everyone should take, especially older adults, during the winter.

Hypothermia & Frostbite Hypothermia occurs when your body temperature drops to a dangerous level. Your body temperature can drop when you are out in the cold for an extended time because it begins to lose heat quickly. Older adults are at an increased risk of hypothermia due to changes that happen to your body with aging.

Hypothermia Warning Signs: cold skin that is pale or ashy; feeling very tired, confused and sleepy; glassy stare; feeling weak; problems walking; slowed breathing or heart rate. Call 911 if you think you or someone else has hypothermia. Shivering is not a reliable warning sign because older people tend to shiver less or not at all when their body temperature drops.

Frostbite occurs when a body part experiences damage to the skin from extreme cold. It is most likely to occur on body parts farthest away from your heart. Common places include your nose, ears, cheeks, chin, fingers, and toes. In severe cases, frostbite can result in loss of limbs. People with heart disease and other circulation problems are at a higher risk.

Frostbite Warning Signs: skin that's white or ashy or grayish-yellow; skin that feels hard or waxy; numbness. If you think you or someone else has frostbite, call for medical help immediately. If frostbite occurs, run the affected area under warm (not hot) water, or place it against warm skin. Do not rub!

Precautions to take

Stay indoors (or don't stay outside for very long).

Keep indoor temperature at 65 degrees or warmer. Stay dry because wet clothing chills your body more quickly.

Dress smart- protect your lungs from cold air. Layer up! Wearing 2 or 3 thinner layers of loose-fitting clothing is warmer than a single layer of thick clothing. Think about getting your thermals!

Essential winter wear: hats, gloves (or preferably mittens), winter coat, boots, and a scarf to cover your mouth and nose.

Injury While Shoveling Snow It's one of the evils of winter—snow shoveling. If you choose to shovel, take some precautions. Remember, when it's cold outside, your heart works double time to keep you warm. Strenuous activities like shoveling snow may put too much strain on your heart, especially if you have heart disease. Shoveling can also be dangerous if you have problems with balance or have "thin bones" (osteoporosis).

Ask your healthcare provider whether shoveling or other work in the snow is safe for you. Some healthcare providers suggest not shoveling over age 45.

Pace yourself. If you start to tire or become short of breath, take a rest break.

Push snow rather than throw or lift whenever possible. Take smaller shovelfuls and avoid using large shovels. Bend your knees and lift with your legs.

If you smoke, please do not smoke while shoveling, it will deprive your muscles of needed oxygen.

Falls It is easy to slip and fall in the winter, especially in icy and snowy conditions.

Make sure steps and walkways are clear before you walk.

Wear boots with non-skid soles or use traction cleats such as Yaktrax.

Ashland deliberative session set for Feb. 4

BY DAVID RUELL
CONTRIBUTING WRITER

ASHLAND — At their Dec. 19 meeting, the Ashland Selectmen made preparations for the 2023 Town Meeting, setting the date for the deliberative session, approving the default budget, and authorizing the Town Manager to write three warrant articles. They also authorized the sale of the old woolen mill building and the application for funds to find an alternative water source for the Town water system.

At Town Manager Fred Welch's suggestion, the selectmen voted to hold the deliberative session of the next Town Meeting at 10 a.m. on Saturday, Feb. 4, in the Ashland school cafeteria. Welch also announced that the last day to submit a petitioned warrant article will be Tuesday, Jan. 10. Any petitioned warrant article received after that date will not appear in the Town meeting warrant. The selectmen approved the default budget of $3,092,153, as presented by Finance Director Marissah Gallien, which will appear in the warrant article for the Town Budget.

The selectmen also authorized the Town Manager to prepare three warrant articles for their consideration. Two would be for previously discussed projects, the construction of a waste to energy plant, and the expansion of broadband internet service in the Town. A third proposal was presented by Police Chief Will Ulwick. He explained that other towns put the administrative fees paid for police details into a revolving fund used for police purposes. Ulwick suggested that such a fund could help fund police cruisers and equipment. The Town Manager said that he had used such funds in other towns, and suggested that the selectmen be named as the agents to expend the money in the fund.

At their Dec. 5 meeting, Welch informed the selectmen that the demolition of the white wooden portion of the old woolen mill that the town has taken for the non-payment of taxes would cost $400,000 to $500,000. He was then authorized to seek grants for the demolition. Instead of that expensive demolition, the selectmen discussed the possibility of selling the building. Welch said that he could ask the state for help in the sale. He was only interested in collecting enough on the sale to pay the back taxes. The consensus of the board was to try to sell the building, so they authorized the Town Manager to proceed with the sale process and report back to them.

Welch also asked for permission to apply for state and federal funds for water strategic planning. The Town water system now relies on one water source, the wells near the I-93 interchange. The state and others recommend that communities have an alternative water source in case something happens to their water supply. The selectmen approved applying for and using grants to find another water source.

The selectmen also granted permission to Eversource to remove two pine trees at the wastewater treatment plant that could pose a hazard to the main electric transmission lines. They authorized the Town Manager and the Finance Director to sign off on the town audit. They discussed work being done at the Booster Clubhouse, and approved two tax abatements of $250 and $170.84. They ended their meeting with a non-public session, which apparently included a discussion of the police cruiser warranty.

Alpine Bears looking to be solid D3 contenders

BY JOSHUA SPAULDING
Sports Editor

BRISTOL — The Newfound alpine ski team welcomes a new coach and some new racers and will be looking to be strong contenders in Division III in the new season.

“We are looking forward to having both a solid girls’ and boys’ team this season and will be strong contenders in Division III,” said coach Bill Karkheck, who in his fourth year leading the team is joined by Andy MacDonald. “Andy brings years of technical and race experience to the hill and we’re looking forward to working with him.”

The girls’ team is returning senior Lily Karkheck and junior Mika Austin while the boys return seniors Jack Ehmann and Trevor Sanschagrinn and juniors Broderick Edwards and Beckett Van Lenten.

The girls will welcome sophomore Elle MacDonald and freshmen Addie Alpers and Ceili Irving to the slopes while the boys will welcome sophomore Caleb Anair and freshman Cameron Ehmann.

“All of these racers have a strong commitment to the team and we will see that in the results this season,” Karkheck said. “We are really excited to have a full girls’ team for group scoring and looking forward to Elle, Ceili and Addie, as they all had been seasoned racers in the middle school program.”

The team spent three weeks of dryland training in the “Ski Boot Camp” and was set to be on snow for the first time as a team at Ragged Mountain last week.

“Our home mountain Ragged Mountain in Danbury is hosting us once again as our weekly practice site,” Karkheck said. “The race crew there has been very helpful to our program and we look forward to being back.”

Additionally, the team is once again hoping to have its Winter Wonderland fundraising raffle after the holiday break, which has prizes donated by many local businesses. Last year the team raised funds to purchase team jackets.

The Bears will race at Bretton Woods, Gunstock, Sunapee and Waterville Valley for their seven meets, with the State Meet taking place at Gunstock in the second week of February.

The team was slated to open the season after deadline Dec. 21, at Bretton Woods.

Together, we build promising futures

BY DEB NARO
Contributor

I believe we share the belief that every child deserves the best chance for a successful future. Unfortunately, too many children in our own neighborhoods aren't getting the opportunity to reach their full potential. You can help change that. When you give a gift to CADY through our "Together We Build Promising Futures" Annual Appeal Campaign, you give the gift of brighter lives to the children who need it most.

U.S. Surgeon General Vivek Murthy stated, "Mental health challenges in children, adolescents, and young adults are real and widespread. Even before the pandemic, an alarming number of young people struggled with feelings of helplessness, depression, and thoughts of suicide—and rates have increased over the past decade...the pandemic's effect on their mental health has been devastating."

Our kids are in crisis and as a child-centered non-profit we are very worried. The most recent Central NH Youth Risk Behavior Survey results demonstrate that our children experience greater sadness, hopelessness, and rates of suicidal ideation than statewide averages. Misuse of alcohol, high-potency marijuana, vaping products, and prescription drugs has increased significantly. The lack of treatment and the lack of mental health services for children in New Hampshire makes prevention a more urgent goal.

In an effort to counter this trend, we have introduced several new services and programs this year which are described on our website. We have also opened a new office in Bristol to provide compassionate connections for even more children. These prevention and early intervention services will foster resiliency and transform lives.

CADY believes every child deserves a promising future. That's why we're doing whatever it takes—every day—to help local children, especially those hardest to reach and most vulnerable. We, as trusted adults, need to work together to protect the precious years of childhood from the harms of social isolation, mental health crises, substance misuse, and addiction.

We cannot do this critical work without you. Your gift will provide children and youth with mentoring, resiliency-building programs, connections to trusted adults, and vital social-emotional services to help them learn, grow, and thrive. No gift is too small to make a difference.

To donate to CADY, visit our website at cadyinc.org and click "Donate." Thank you for your generosity—we are truly honored and grateful for your support. We send you our warmest holiday wishes for good health, love, peace, and joy.

Uncle Steve Band, LinCross Roast Beef support Community Services

The Uncle Steve Band, with guest guitarist Paul Hubert, performed at LinCross Roast Beef & More in Bristol last Sunday evening as a benefit for Bristol Community Services, which provides assistance for residents of the Newfound area. The event was also shown live on the Uncle Steve Band Facebook page, where viewers could donate to BCS online. For those who missed the event, it's never too late to contribute to the community nonprofit organization, however. Bristol Community Services accepts monetary donations to support their services year round at their location on Pleasant Street in downtown Bristol and welcomes customers to their thrift shop and food pantry on Mondays, Wednesdays and Saturdays until 2 p.m.

Letters to the Editor

A soldier's night before Christmas

To the Editor:

'Twas the night before Christmas, he lived all alone in a one room bedroom house made of plaster and stone.

I had come down the chimney with presents to give, and to see just who was at home did live.

I looked all about, a strange sight I did see; no tinsel, no presents, not even a tree.

No stocking by the mantle, just boots filled with sand; on the wall hung pictures of a far distant land.

With metals and badges, awards of all kinds, a sober thought came through my mind.

For this house was different, it was dark and dreary. I found the home of a soldier, once I could see clearly. The soldier lay sleeping, silent, alone, curled up on the floor in this one-bedroom home. The face was so gentle, the room in such disorder, not how I pictured a United States soldier.

Was this the hero of whom I'd just read? Curled up in a poncho, the floor for a bed? I realized that families I saw this night owed their lives to these soldiers who were willing to fight.

Soon around the world, the children would play, and grownups would celebrate a bright Christmas day. They all enjoyed freedom, each month of the year, because of the soldiers, like the one lying here. I couldn't help but wonder how many lay alone on a cold Christmas Eve in a land far from home.

The very thought brought a tear to my eye. I dropped to my knees and started to cry.

The soldier awakened and I heard a rough voice: "Santa, don't cry, this life is my choice. I fight for freedom, I don't ask for more. My life is my God, my country, my Corps."

This soldier rolled over and drifted off to sleep. I couldn't control it; I continued to weep. I kept watch for hours, so silent and still, and we both shivered from the cold night's chill. I did not want to leave on that cold, dark night this guardian of honor so willing to fight.

Then the soldier rolled over, with a voice soft and pure, whispered, "Carry on, Santa, it's Christmas Day, all is secure."

One look at my watch, and I knew he was right. "Merry Christmas, my friend, and to all a good night."

— Anonymous

May we all not forget what our service members have given us, and at what cost; some gave all and all gave some. This is why we should be thankful and always remember freedom is not as free as we think. May the Lord bless all our service members and their families this Christmas and New Year.

Beware of the 1035 scam

To the Editor:

Life insurance scams. Here is how they work, and it took me over 20 years to discover it.

A life insurance representative showed up at my door and said "Because you have a paid-up policy, you must sign a 1035 form at no cost to you." No cost? It eventually snookered me out of $10,000.

I had no reason to suspect foul play. After all, he had the records of my 20 years of payments, and was (supposedly) looking out for my best interests. I have since learned that Form 1035 gives the company the right to issue a new policy, draining the annual payments from the original. By year 2004, drawing was complete, but I was not notified and a computer did the canceling. I made the discovery by accident in year 2020.

I contacted the company both by letter and by phone. "Nothing can be done" was their answer. Their attitude was so cavalier that I suspect someone inside the company had thought it up, resulting in a raise or promotion.

So, if someone shows up asking you to sign a 1035 form, call the police.

Probably hundreds of people, maybe even thousands, are walking around not knowing the rug has been pulled out from under them. Dirty, rotten insurance representative. I was informed that the representative no longer works for the company, and cannot be traced.

Martha Hazelton remembers early Plymouth

BY PRISCILLA JONES KLEINPETER
Plymouth Historical Society

Martha Hazelton was a young girl in 1852 who attended school in the old schoolhouse that was located just north of the Tyler House (which later became the Plymouth Inn). The schoolhouse stood east of Rose Lawn about two rods and was facing on Main Street. It was a one-story building very similar in style to the old Daniel Webster Courthouse, which had been moved to South Main Street and used as a wheelwright shop by Hiram Farnum. The schoolhouse floors on each side were inclined down to the middle where the large stove was set. The girls sat on the south side of the room and the boys were on the north, facing each other. As a young girl, Martha admired and looked up to the older girls such as Dora Keniston, Abbie Burnham, Charlotte Dearborn, Ellen Green, and Mary Houston. In 1854 a new school building on South Main Street was completed and Henry Blair, later a State Senator, taught there.

In 1850, when Martha was just five years old, the first train came to Plymouth village, and she stood out in front of her home watching the steam engine puffing its way to the station at the Pemigewasset House. She remembered being frightened that the railroad cars would run all around the street, but her father assured his young daughter that they would stay on the track. The house the Hazeltons lived in at the time was said to be the first framed house built in Plymouth. The attic was reportedly used as a storehouse for powder and shot during the American Revolution. It was a two-story, square building much like the houses built by the Ward family on Ward's Hill. Several years later the Hazelton house burned.

Ellen Rogers, the daughter of Nathaniel Peabody Rogers, told

Martha that her grandfather, Dr. John Rogers first lived in the house later owned by the Kenistons next to the Tyler House and that his son John's store was located in a brown house near Depot Hill. Ole Cyrus Keniston did have a house there, later the site of Clifford-Nichol Printing Company for many years.

Charlotte Rogers, the daughter of John and Nancy (Russell) Rogers, was a beautiful young woman of considerable musical talent. She married William Jewett Tucker in 1870 in the family home at 50 Highland Street, later known as the Emerson House. [It is now the home of Attorney Gerry Boyle.] Charlotte and William had two daughters, Alice and Margaret. Charlotte died in Andover, Massachusetts in 1882. William remarried in 1887, and in 1893, he became President of Dartmouth College.

SAU and School

Board Meeting

The Ashland and InterLakes School Boards met together as the SAU 2 Board (with some of the InterLakes members attending remotely) in the Ashland School Cafeteria on a snowy evening on December 16. After a long non-public session, the SAU Board held a very brief public hearing on the 2023-24 SAU budget. (There was only one member of the public present.) The SAU Board then voted with one abstention to adopt the proposed budget and then voted unanimously to add $41,000 for "recognition of service" to that budget. After the SAU Board adjourned, the Ashland School Board met briefly to adopt its proposed 2023-24 budget, amended to reflect the revised SAU budget. The Ashland school budget will now go to the Budget Committee and the voters.

Holderness

Fran Taylor 968-3846

On Tuesday, Dec. 20, a transportation staffer from Lakes Region Planning Commission viewed the missing segment of the walkway between the entrance to Holderness Harbor and the Marketplace parking lot. This last piece of sidewalk is used by many during the spring, summer and fall. It would be great to have it completed rather than having the travelers walk in the street.

The Squam Lakes Association is applying for federal funds to construct an EV charging station at its Route 3 headquarters.

Residents are welcome to attend the Christmas Eve Service at the Community Church at 5 p.m. with no service on Sunday.

The NH DOT has been requested to perform a Safety Audit on the section of Route 175 known as Hard Hack Corner. As many know, this has sharp curves with no guard rails or other safety markings.

If the weather turns sour, or, if you're not a skier, check out the schedule at the PSU Ice Arena. This beautiful facility has public skating daily, excluding Christmas Day. Small charge with rentals available. There are memberships available for the public for use of the college pool at the PSU Field House. Go to athletics.plymouth.edu/facilities.

A reminder that the ice isn't safe just yet. If you have dogs and go anywhere near lakes or ponds, suggest you keep them leashed.

A reminder that the New Hampshire Homeowner Assistance Fund is there to help folks who are behind in paying their mortgage, property charges or utilities because of COVID-19. Check out to see if you're eligible on the town Homepage. There is also a separate fund for renters.

The Transfer Station will be open on Dec. 26 thanks to a request by our Manager Scott Davis who realizes that there's a big demand for disposal of holiday trash and that typically, the station would be closed that day, causing quite an inconvenience for town residents. Thank you, Scott and Cory!

Passing assets through a trust: What to know

As the year winds down, your thoughts might drift to the future. And, as part of that future, you may be thinking of where your financial assets will end up. You've worked hard to accumulate them, and you'll certainly need some of them to support your retirement, but what about the rest? What's the best way to pass them on to your loved ones?

There's no single path for everyone to follow. But you might consider establishing a trust, which offers some key benefits. For example, your estate can avoid the time-consuming, and highly public, process of probate. Plus, you can be highly specific about how your assets will be distributed. To establish a trust, you will need to work with a qualified estate-planning attorney. And while you'll discuss many issues, here are three key questions that will certainly need to be addressed:

Who will serve as trustee of the trust? As the grantor, or creator, of your trust, you will pick the trustee – the individual or corporate entity that will manage the trust's assets and carry out the purpose of the trust. You could choose a trusted loved one, but this individual might not have the knowledge or experience to manage the responsibilities of a trustee. As an alternative, you could choose a corporate fiduciary, such as a bank or trust company. These entities are typically regulated by outside agencies and provide significant public matter expertise. Of course, they charge for their services and often have account minimums.

When are distributions made? As the grantor, you can choose when assets will be distributed to the beneficiaries you've named. You could decide to keep the assets in the trust until a beneficiary reaches the age of majority; note that the age of majority is not the same in all states. Or you could choose to "phase in" the distributions at particular ages – e.g., 30, 35, 40 – or after a certain number of years. You could even hold assets in the trust for the lifetimes of the beneficiaries. These types of choices will depend on several factors, such as your feelings for how responsible a beneficiary might be in managing money. For what purposes can the trust assets be used? In addition to choosing when your trust should make distributions, you can decide how these assets should be used. You could designate some broad categories, such as health, education, maintenance and support. A beneficiary's request for distributions in these areas is usually granted. But you could also structure the trust to provide mandatory income, perhaps once a year, or include a provision that provides incentives, such as distributing certain amounts of money once the beneficiary has achieved a milestone, such as finishing a degree or purchasing a first home.

One final note: Although you clearly have great control over what your trust can accomplish, its effectiveness will also depend, to a great extent, on its asset level. With this in mind, you'll want to pay close attention to your investment decisions throughout your life and your withdrawal strategy during retirement. The better your choices in these areas, the more options you'll have with your trust – and the greater the potential benefits for your beneficiaries.

Development for the state of New Hampshire. Harnois will present a summary of 2022 tourism outcomes for the state, as well as information about 2023 trends, predictions, and state marketing strategies.

Guest speaker Michele Cota, executive director of Discover New England, will cover international travel trends and collective efforts to protect and grow New England's market share.

"The Chamber's mission is to fuel the economic engine of our region, and travel and tourism is an important part of the economy here and across the state," noted Matty Leighton, CNHCC's executive director. "We're thrilled to bring together business owners and professionals in Central NH and beyond to help them prepare for a successful 2023 season."

Registration for the event is open now at www.centralnh.org. Both CNHCC members and non-members are welcome to attend.

Sponsors include Modern Woodmen of America, Owl's Nest Resort, and Lakes Region Community College, Coca-Cola Beverages Northeast, MedCheck Urgent Care, Town of Waterville Valley, Waterville Valley Recreation Department, and Workfl Consulting. CNHCC member

Kerry Keating of Modern Woodmen of America sees the value of sponsorship. "The opportunity to sponsor the CNHCC Travel & Tourism Seminar makes perfect sense for us because it will help us connect us with influential people and businesses from a variety of industries across the state."

For information about the 2023 Travel & Tourism Seminar, sponsorship opportunities, or the Central NH Chamber of Commerce, contact Matty Leighton, CNHCC executive director, at (603) 969-7271 or director@centralnh.org.

Manager

as an officer, then sergeant and finally Chief of Police. He was also on the Ashland Fire Department where he became their chief, served on the town's Board of Selectmen and was a member of their Budget Committee.

When he decided to retire from his career in emergency services, he moved on to work 28 years in Risk and Health Management with New Hampshire Municipality Association's Property Liability Trust and Health Trust. In that role he assisted communities in obtaining the proper property, casualty and medical coverage along with working as a municipal consultant for town, city, school and county government operations throughout New Hampshire.

Upon his retirement from that career, Weden used his vast experience in public safety to return part time to municipal government as Plymouth's Town Emergency Manager, Code Enforcement Officer and Building Inspector. And then the town began their search for a new Town Manager.

"Being involved in municipal government for an entire career, the passion in me came alive once again to come back to working full-time for the town," Weden said.

The recruitment process for that position was one he calls "rigorous and thorough." After the Board of Selectmen read through the many applications they received, the field was narrowed first to six, then to three people they felt were most suitable. Those three were then asked to prepare a one-hour presentation to the board, spend another hour answering questions from town department leaders and then one final hour meeting privately with selectmen for the final phase of their decision making process.

"During that time, residents were even allowed to join in and ask any questions they had [for the candidates]," he said.

Weden praised the town for their open and transparent method of recruitment, along with their collaboration with department heads for the process. Believing in those very same concepts of open, transparent and honest leadership, he was very pleased when he was ultimately offered the position.

Over the course of his first two months as Town Manager Weden took time to meet with not only department heads but the town's many community partners, such as business owners, medical and mental health facilities, schools and Plymouth State University. As a Plymouth resident for 39 years, as well as local former public safety officer, he is familiar with most of them but said he wanted to get a better grasp of their individual functions and particular needs. Since Plymouth is a "hub" community for its neighboring towns, Weden said the path to success is met when all partners understand each other, work together and provide support whenever it is needed, especially within the town departments.

"I'm actually the facilitator between them and the Board of Selectmen," said Weden. "I want to make sure we're all doing the best we can with the financial resources we have available."

Another of his tasks since he began his role as Town Manager was to update the town's Web site. On the home page, www.plymouth-nh.org, visitors will now see that Plymouth is aimed at "Bridging the Lakes Region and the White Mountains" and in their own new role as "The Eco-tourism Center of New Hampshire," there is a statement on the town's "Missions, Vision and Values." In addition, there are photos as well as recommendations for entertainment, dining and places to where people can explore the natural beauty of the area.

Weden now posts his own monthly reports on the Town Manager page as well to keep residents and taxpayers apprised of what is happening in their town government.

As a personal thank you for the support he received in his quest for the job, he also posted the following message:

"I want to thank the Town of Plymouth's Selectboard for selecting me and I am very excited for the opportunity to serve as Plymouth's Town Manager. I have always respected the Plymouth community and think it has a very promising future. I look forward to continuing to be a part of it."

In keeping with his pledge for transparency and open communications, Weden said that he answers all phone calls as soon as possible and is happy to speak with the public about any issues or concerns they may have. He can be reached during the town business hours at (603) 536-1731 or by email at townmanager@plymouth-nh.org.

Cluster. In keeping with PSU's pioneering Cluster Learning Model, the course draws upon the expertise of community partners and resources from other disciplines such as economics, accounting, land use and French-Canadian culture.

"The most rewarding part of this project was to have a real-world experience, when it comes to learning," said student Grace Burns, who presented Thursday. "Traditional classroom learning, on its own, can get a bit dull, but PSU's Cluster Learning Model makes learning interesting and engaging for students and prepares us better for our careers."

Students began their research by visiting the paper mill facility and the nearby wastewater treatment lagoons, in the fall. Over the next three months, they assessed zoning regulations and area property values, studied the history of the region and the impact of the historic mill on the local economy and solicited comments on Facebook, surveyed residents with canvassing and held a public meeting outside the mill on Nov. 13.

White Mountain Paper Company Background

Behrens Investment Group acquired the mill assets of the former Gorham Paper and Tissue Mill out of bankruptcy on Dec. 31, 2020, preserving more than 70 jobs in the community and sparing the mill from liquidation and permanent closure. White Mountain Paper crafted a strategic plan focused on implementing key initiatives relating to energy efficiency and environmental sustainability. These strategic initiatives will allow WMPC to be one of the most environmentally responsible paper mills in the country, while remaining competitive, reducing economic volatility, and allowing for future growth.

The city of Berlin, in collaboration with WMPC, has been awarded $100,000 from the American Rescue Plan Act (ARPA) to fund preliminary engineering work to explore the feasibility and initial costing of the proposed closed-loop system. This funding was pursued at the recommendation of former New Hampshire Department of Resources and Economic Development Commissioner George Bald, who acts as an advisor to WMPC, and with support of the New Hampshire Department of Environmental Services.

ty game" with the staff that evening she instead found a crowd of people waiting to applaud her. Accustomed to many fun, and even spur of the moment activities at TTCC, she was a bit confused to find the lights off when she first got to the gym, however.

"I was wondering what kind of game we were going to play in the dark," she laughed as the lights came on and she realized what was happening.

Surrounded by her family, who awaited her in the gym that evening, Dion then stood back and listened as she was praised for all she has done for not just the recreation center, but the town itself over the past 25 years.

Beth Dever, a former director for BRAC and longtime supporter of Dion, welcomed everyone as she took a moment to look back on Dion's long time commitment to Bristol recreation, beginning in her middle school years. While she participated in youth sports and activities at the center in those early days, Dion went on to become a much larger part of recreation in the community through coaching and other activities. When the opening for a new director became available in the late 1990s, she applied, she was hired and the rest is history.

"You have changed the world because you have touched so many lives" was written on a poster filled with a photo collage of Dion depicting the many years of adventures she has had at TTCC. All those who attended the celebration that night were invited to sign the poster, adding their best wishes and thanks for all she has done.

BRAC Chair Doug Williams and Vice-Chair Rick Alpers both then took turns praising Dion for her dedication and commitment to TTCC for all these years. In that time they recalled that she has overseen or taken a major role in the annual Santa's Village, which just wrapped up last weekend, sports programs, summer camps, the annual Fall Apple Festival, the N.H. Marathon, both youth, teen and adult recreation activities, holiday celebrations, Old Home Day activities, craft fairs, countless fundraisers and almost anything else that has taken place in Bristol over the past two-plus decades. Besides all that, under Dion's leadership the center now oversees the Newfound Every Child is Ours food program as well as Operation Warm, bringing warm winter coats to local children.

"Some call her Mrs. Bristol," Alpers said with a smile.

While Dion was surprised by the celebration, when it came her time to address the crowd she was quick to add that over the years she has always had the best staff possible to help in all the center has provided for the community and looks forward to their positive contributions and great teamwork continuing in the years ahead.

PETS OF THE WEEK

Jenni

I'm Jenni and I bet you want my number, or the one for the shelter to come adopt me! I am most comfortable around the people I know and would probably do best with adults only. There is potential for me to share a home with a male dog, of course we'd have to meet first. A low traffic home able to help me build my confidence with new people would be best!

Gypsy

Gypsy is such a wonderful girl! She would do well in a home without other animals, but that's ok because she has a personality that can fill any home. She does require routine doctor visits and medications to regulate a skin allergy, but she takes her medicine great with her breakfast. Could Gypsy be your next best friend?

Friday, Dec. 24
4 p.m. — Christmas Eve Candle light Service with Pastor Jeff Robie

Sunday, Dec. 25
There will be no Christmas Sunday Service

Please join us Friday, Dec. 24, Christmas Eve, for a special candlelight service led by our interim pastor, Jeff Robie, to celebrate the birth of our Lord Jesus Christ. Christmas Eve we think about that very special night so long ago when a bright star shone in the sky along with an angel that frightened the shepherds. And the good news given to those shepherds was for us, too. When we sing the Christmas carols this Christmas Eve, may we join the angels' song and so many others who are praising and thanking God for sending us Jesus. He is the best gift ever given and the REASON for the season.

Tuesday morning and evening Bible Study sessions will resume on Tuesday, Jan. 3. The Tuesday afternoon meeting of the Ladies Guild will also resume on Tuesday, Jan. 3.

We welcome everyone to join us for Sunday worship and share in our joyful journey with Jesus Christ this Christmas Season and into the new year. Our Services and Bible studies are all available on Zoom. If you are unable to be with us in person, tithes and offerings may be sent to PO Box 328, Campton, NH 03223. Our Church is a member of the National Association of Congregational Christian Churches.

Merry Christmas!

Christian Science Society, Plymouth

This past Sunday, we had a joyful time after the service singing carols and Christmas hymns together, accompanied by our organist, Dr. Robert Swift. Even those attending by zoom were able to take part!

We are always happy to have you at our all our Sunday services. They are held at 10 a.m. each week. This week's Bible lesson will be read here in Plymouth and in all Christian Science churches around the world on Sunday. It includes the story of the birth of Jesus and his continued healing work. The lesson's first section begins with the passage from I Thessalonians: "For what is our hope, or joy, or crown of rejoicing? Are not even ye in the presence of our Lord Jesus Christ at his coming?"

We have a Sunday school which takes place during the church service where children and young people learn Bible-based lessons which help them in all areas of their lives – at school, with friends, and at home and in community.

We have a 6 p.m. Wednesday evening meeting where there are short readings from the Bible and from the Christian Science textbook. There's also time for sharing with one another gratitude for healing experiences in our lives, as well as thoughts and insights from Bible study and prayer. We love to have visitors.

You can visit our church website www.cs-plymouth-nh.org to learn about joining online services, both Sundays and Wednesdays, on Zoom.

At jsh-online.com you'll find a wealth of articles and audio offerings which are new each week, including ones for children and teens. This week's Sentinel Watch podcast includes several people sharing their experiences related to the holidays "Greater gifts from God."

You can read these articles and much more in our reading room in the church building. It's open on Mondays from noon to 2 p.m. You can browse, read, borrow all books and resources, and there are free magazines to take home.

There are also the "new kids on the block", some old favorites with new owners, such as Georges Seafood and Thai Smile and brand-new eateries, such as Yamas in Plymouth, serving up Greek food and drinks. The menu will be diverse and delicious, and a sure crowd-pleaser.

Entertainment during the evening's buffet and auction starts with Dave Lockwood, celebrated singer, songwriter, and musician from New Hampshire. Dave will play during the open bar cocktail hour. Later as the silent auction and raffle occurs, you can don your dancing shoes and move to the lively tunes of the Dueling Pianos of arsarge-Plymouth coach Justin Garzia. "They were skating three lines and we had two lines with a couple of extras."

Will Danais and Parker Aucoin had early bids in the zone for the Knights and the Cats got a shot from Landon Custance that was blocked. Nate Cloos had a good defensive play for the Knights on Magnus Nordhausen and Lincoln Munson had a pair of chances for the Cats that Kingswood keeper Wyatt Brown stopped.

K-P got the first power play of the game with 12:16 to go in the first period, with Danais and Grayson Gilpatrick doing a nice job killing off the penalty, while Shaw Swinerton and Cam Kean had strong shorthand play. Gunnar Benedict came back with a couple of chances for the Cats, but the Knights were able to kill off the power play.

Brennan Johnson had a bid go wide for the Cats and Danais had a shot stopped by K-P keeper Owen Garzia. Swinerton sent a shot wide of the net and Jackson O'Keefe and Ethan Mosher had chances that Garzia stopped. The Cats got some chances from Nordhausen and Aiden Chicoine while Danais made a good defensive stop on Custance to close out the first period with no score.

The teams exchanged early chances in the second period, with Chris Rubbe and Munson getting chances for the Cats and Aucoin sending a shot wide for the Knights. Danais also had a big go wide, with O'Keefe getting to the rebound, but Garzia made a big save to keep the puck out of the net.

Charlie Cushing, Nordhausen, Benedict and Rubbe continued the K-P pressure and Johnson also had a couple of chances that were stopped by Brown.

Mosher, Swinerton and Ben Libby sent the puck high at the other end of the ice. Evan Harrington had a nice defensive stop on Baily Veasey and Libby had a bid denied by Garzia.

With 3:21 to go in the period, Danais got in close, with Garzia making the save, but Devin McEvoy was there to put the rebound home for his first varsity goal. Danais and James Rogers picked up the assists on the tally.

The Knights were given a power play less than a minute later and 16 seconds into the power play, Danais ripped a shot from the point that had eyes for the twine, with Austin Emerson and Swinerton picking up the helpers for the 2-0 lead. Rogers had a bid in close that was denied and Cloos sent a shot off the post, but the game went to the third with Kingswood up by the 2-0 score.

Chicoine and Cole Rozum had chances for the Cats to open the third, but Brown was there to make the saves. Danais came back with a bid that went wide and then Libby and Danais had chances stopped by Garzia.

Kearsarge-Plymouth got a five-minute power play chance with 10:42 to go, but the Knight defense was solid, with Cloos and Emerson turning in strong play. Cushing did have a chance, but Brown made the save.

With 7:40 to go, K-P took a penalty, negating the rest of the power play, with both teams skating four to a side. Swinerton had a bid denied by Garzia and Cloos made a good defensive play on Chicoine as both penalties were killed off.

Aucoin had a bid denied by Garzia and Brown held off bids from Munson, Johnson and the Cats to secure the 2-0 win.

"When someone's having an off day, we have enough bodies we can easily plug someone else in," Potenza said. "If we continue to improve like this, I can't wait until opening day at the (newly-renovated) Pop Whalen."

Potenza said the coaches could see that Brown was dialed in during warmups and that translated into the game.

"We could see the way he was during warmups, he was relaxed," Potenza said. "And he's getting a lot of help from the defense, we're getting sticks in the way, bodies in the way and covering people in front of the net."

"We had that one lapse on the first goal where they beat us to the puck in the corner," said Garzia. "And that power play goal, there wasn't much you could do about that."

Garzia noted that starting against two strong teams (an overtime loss to Hollis-Brookline-Derryfield in the opener) should help the Cats build going forward.

"Hopefully we'll build on those tight games so far," the K-P coach said. "Hopefully we'll keep building to a couple of wins and get back to .500."

Kearsarge-Plymouth will be in action at John Stark-Hopkinton on Friday, Dec. 23, at 6 p.m. in the final regular season game of 2022. The Cats will then compete in the Brady Sullivan Christmas Tourney in Laconia, playing Belmont-Gilford at 9:45 a.m. and Pembroke-Campbell at 1 p.m. on Tuesday, Dec. 27, and Spaulding at 3 p.m. on Wednesday, Dec. 28. The tournament wraps up on Thursday, Dec. 29.

Kingswood will be in action in the Peter Hall Holiday Tourney at Ham Arena in Conway, playing Berlin-Gorham on Monday, Dec. 26, at 4 p.m. and Dover at 9:30 a.m. on Tuesday, Dec. 27.

At the corner of Main and Highland Streets (where Fox Block is located) was a large dwelling house and the attached store of Mr. Benjamin Baker Dearborn. His family lived in the house until the dwelling and the store burned in the first of several disastrous fires at that location.

Martha recalled that there was a boarding house west of the Holmes Academy where the Dodge and Greenleaf families lived for about a year after arriving in the village. Mrs. Dodge claimed that during that first year only one person paid a call on her and that was Mrs. James McQuستن.

When Martha's grandmother wanted to travel to Concord, she would begin at eight a.m. and would ride the stagecoach all day until four-thirty p.m. Mr. Marden was the stagecoach driver and he often told of picking up a passenger in Franklin who always insisted on sitting up top with him so they could converse as they traveled along. The passenger was none other than ole Daniel Webster, the famous barrister.

Martha recalled seeing the Quaker poet John Greenleaf Whittier in the village when he would come to visit his friend and fellow abolitionist, Peabody Rogers. Mr. Rogers and his abolitionist friends were not held in high esteem by many of the residents, who disagreed with his ideas about abolishing slavery.

Martha was the daughter of Charles Hazelton and Hannah

Dearborn Sargent, who married in 1843. They lived on his family's homestead in Plymouth. The original family name was spelled Hasetline but was changed during the time Charles was growing up. Martha was the oldest child, born in 1845. Her brother Charles Edward only lived two years before he died in 1848. A month before young Charles' death, another boy child was born and he too was named Charles, Charles William Hazelton. Two more sons were born after Charles William, Henry Ward in 1851 and Arthur Sargent in 1855. Martha graduated from the Normal School in 1871, and was a student at Mt. Holyoke. She was a pretty child and a fine-looking woman. She lived a long life, but she never married.

Accidents While Driving Adults 65 and older are involved in more car crashes per mile driven than those in nearly all other age groups. Winter is an especially important time to be vigilant when driving because road conditions and weather may not be optimal. "Winterize" your car before the bad weather hits! This means having the antifreeze, tires, and windshield wipers checked and changed if necessary.

Remember your cell phone when you drive in bad weather, and always let someone know where you are going and when you should be expected back.

Stock your car with basic emergency supplies such as: first aid kit, blankets, extra warm clothes, booster cables, windshield scraper, shovel, rock salt or a bag of sand or cat litter (in case your wheels get stuck), Water and dried food (nuts, granola bars), flashlight.

With a little preparation, we hope that you and your family stay safe and warm this winter. Happy Holidays from the team at Pemi-Baker Hospice & Home Health!

 Coning

The goals of Rolfing® SI and Rolf® Movement Education:

- Align the body so the force of gravity does not weigh you down, helping increase the mobility of joints, and to lengthen and balance fascial tone.
- Teach a new way of moving, standing and sitting which supports the new length and alignment.
- Help our movements become less painful, easier, and better coordinated.

Brainspotting is a fixed eye position technique. By finding and holding one relevant fixed eye position, or brainspot, in relation to the felt sense of an issue, you access the deeper parts of the limbic system and self-regulatory parts of the brain where patterns are stored from old events, traumas, and injuries. This helps release stored patterns from your body & "rewire" the nervous system. Sessions are in person or via Zoom.

Ear Coning is a safe and painless way to remove ear wax for better hearing and sinus relief.
