Dudley Board of Health seeking expansion

BY JASON BLEAU
CORRESPONDENT

DUDLEY — The Dudley Board of Health will explore expanding its membership through a request to voters during the fall annual town meeting in October. Health officials argue the increased numbers would allow for more perspectives and more productive discussions if members are unable to attend meetings. The board's three current members voted unanimously to support a recommendation from Health Inspector Patrick Hannon who felt increasing the membership to five would allow the board more freedom to make decisions if the full board isn't present and better address sudden health matters in the town.

"Three member boards historically have a problem with quorums. We have a particular problem that if we issue a cease-and-desist order or we close somebody down they have the right under the law to a hearing within three days and not everybody can always meet on three days' notice when you have a three-member board, but having a five-member board makes it much easier to have a quorum. It's easier to do business, you get more opinions, more input," said Hannon.

The idea was welcomed by the Board of Health with Chair Roberta Johnson, the most tenured active member of the board, explaining her support.

"I've been on this board for going on nine years and it's always been three. That's always been difficult. We generally get the agenda the night of, and we can't have a discussion because it breaks the open meeting law — I'm all for it," said Johnson.

Board expansion requires a vote of approval from the citizens of Dudley. The item is expected to be included on the warrant for the town's fall annual town meeting currently scheduled for Oct. 21. The board did not clarify how the two new members would be selected and added if the expansion is approved.

Dudley receives grant for cybersecurity, stormwater runoff improvements

BY JASON BLEAU
CORRESPONDENT

DUDLEY — The Town of Dudley will be making efforts to bolster both its cybersecurity and flooding resistance thanks to a pair of state grants. Town Administrator Jonathan Ruda announced both grant awards during a Board of Selectmen meeting in July which will bring a combined $304,300 to the town for the two separate initiatives.

The first grant comes from the Office of Grants and Research totaling $23,300 to support cybersecurity enhancements through the FY24 Municipal Local Cybersecurity Grant Program Award. Funding for the grants is provided through the State and Local Cybersecurity Grant Program of the US Department of Homeland Security's Cybersecurity and Infrastructure Security Agency (CISA) and Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) and awarded to towns and agencies by the state itself. Dudley has prioritized cybersecurity for much of the 2020s following an incident in neighboring Charlton. Ruda explained that the funding will allow the town to further enhance its protection against hacking and help lay out a response plan in the case of an incident.

"This will secure some funding to add additional security features to our network and to further develop, exercise and train to a disaster recovery plan that will help us maintain continuity of operations if we lose our network," explained Ruda.

The Town Administrator didn't delve into the finer details of the enhancements. In the past officials had provided only minor information noting that expanding too much on such plans would only compromise security rather than enhance it. Work on the system is expected to begin in August.

The second grant is a Municipal Vulnerability Preparedness Grant in the amount of $281,000 which includes $49,050 in Fiscal Year 2025 and $231,950 in Fiscal Year 2026. The money will help fund the Stormwater Retrofit Program at the Dudley Municipal Complex and will provide enhancements that will prevent standing water flooding during significant rainfall and storms.

"It proposes to get some of the stormwater runoff out of the driveway and off of West Main Street and kind of pull back on the flooding that we experience on West Main Street," explained Ruda. "It uses trees and planting and that sort of thing to help absorb the water as opposed to shooting it off onto the Main Street and cause erosion and other problems that end up clogging up our storm drains and leading to flooded out areas."

The project will add around a hundred new plants to the 1,000 square-foot paved area reducing and diverting water runoff, reducing heat retention, and breaking up the uninterrupted pavement. The grant requires no match from the town meaning no cost will fall on the taxpayers. The town is hoping to pair this with another grant they have applied for to build a new playground on the Municipal Complex property. Town officials had yet to hear back from the state about that application as of the July 22 Board of Selectmen meeting.

DA honors Auburn officers for efforts in locating missing girl

AUBURN — Several members of the Auburn Police Department, including K9 Biza, were recently honored by Worcester County District Attorney Joseph Early, Jr., for their efforts in locating a missing girl. On July 25, APD officers and dispatchers were recognized by DA Early for working together on a cold night in January to bring a missing 12-year-old home.

The honorees all received the District

Attorney's Team Excellence and Merit Award (TEAM Award) for their participation in the Jan. 31 search.

"These officers and dispatchers worked together to swiftly put an end to this family's worst nightmare," Early told guests. "With temperatures below freezing and uncertainty about how long this child had been exposed to the elements already, everyone knew they had to work quickly. Thankfully, Auburn Police were able to coordinate an effective search that led K9 Biza on the right track to follow the scent and bring this child home."

At about 10:30 p.m. on Jan. 31, a mother called the Auburn Police Department reporting that her child had left home on foot sometime after 8:30 p.m. The temperature was about 30 degrees, and the child was not believed to be wearing a winter jacket, only a hooded sweatshirt.

Auburn officers on both the evening shift and the midnight shift quickly launched a multifaceted effort to locate the child. This included searching the immediate

Hi! My name is Aaminah
 Aaminah loves to sing, dance, go to her gymnastic classes, color, play outside and watch movies. She will soon be joining a local Girl Scout troop and is so excited about it. In school she receives some assistance in writing and reading as well as support services for her social and emotional needs. She has been described as sweet with a vivid imagination but can so be very impulsive and will freely say what is on her mind. She currently has an incentive plan for daily and evening activities which has been set by her program.

Aaminah
 Age 9
 Registration # 8076

Aaminah has 4 siblings with whom she is very close and will need a family that can commit to keeping her in contact with them on a regular bases by phone, virtually and in-person. The ideal family for her should be trauma informed, patient, and supportive. Aaminah will also need a 2 parent family with no other children in the home or much older children. Aaminah's new family must be trauma informed, patient, supportive, able to set and adhere to these limits as well as being loving and understanding. It is suggested that a family for Aminah would be one that would be a visitor to her on a regular basis, preferably weekly, until such time as Aaminah feels that she can trust and becomes bonded to this family.

WORCESTER — This summer, Cornerstone Bank, a community bank with locations throughout Central Massachusetts, is hosting nine college students in its internship program. The goal is to provide them with hands-on experience that complements their studies and allows them to explore career opportunities and begin to build a professional network.

“We are committed to providing these bright students with solid work experience that integrates what they learn in the classroom with real-life experiences in a professional setting,” said Cornerstone Bank CEO Todd Tallman. “They gain valuable skills, work on meaningful projects and make professional connections. We also benefit from their enthusiasm and perspectives, so it’s a win-win situation.”

This year’s group of interns includes: Investment Services Intern Jack Gaudette from Sturbridge attends Elon University in North Carolina.

Retail Intern Zach Hebert from Dudley attends Nichols College in Dudley.

Commercial Lending Intern Collin Heenan from Holden attends Worcester State University.

Community Relations Intern Reese Levansavich from Auburn attends Saint Anselm College in New Hampshire.

Investment Services Intern Will Pieczynski from Fiskdale attends Villanova University in Pennsylvania.

Community Relations Intern Kevin Skagerlind from Holden attends the University of Massachusetts Amherst.

Learning and Development Intern

Bella Smith from Sutton attends Assumption University in Worcester.

The Cornerstone interns attend an orientation on their first day before joining their respective departments and have regular check-ins to ensure they are getting what they want out of their experiences. The students also have opportunities to engage in community support efforts, attend Cornerstone Bank events and network with each other.

“At the end of the summer, we ask them to reflect on their time with us and provide feedback,” said Tallman. “This allows us to continue to refine the internship program to make sure we are providing truly valuable experiences.”

Cornerstone’s internship program started in 2021 and is open to both high school and college students. It offers both part-time and full-time internships, with most students choosing to intern for 38 hours per week. Each intern goes through an interview process so that they can be placed into the department that best aligns with their goals and interests. All interns are paid and are eligible to get school credit upon completion of the program.

EDITORIAL

*Beyond memes and headlines
 — the imperative
 of informed voting*

In an age where social media dominates the landscape of information dissemination, it's too easy to fall into the trap of making decisions based on quick headlines and catchy memes. However, the upcoming election is of such paramount importance that it demands a deeper level of engagement from every voter. The stakes have never been higher, with one candidate making unprecedented claims that, if elected, no one will ever have to vote again because they'll have it "fixed real good." On the other side, a candidate is fiercely advocating for the preservation of American freedoms. This is a critical moment in our history, and we must take it seriously.

The rhetoric of patriotism and freedom has been used by both sides, often skewed and manipulated to serve political agendas. However, we must look beyond these slogans and closely examine what the candidates are truly saying. The promise of never having to vote again is a direct threat to the core of our democracy. Imagine if the Democratic nominee made such a statement—there would be widespread outrage. Yet, when the Republican candidate makes this claim, it is somehow normalized. This normalization is dangerous and undermines the very foundation of our democratic process.

Democracy is built on the right to vote. It is the cornerstone of our political system and the means through which we, the people, hold our leaders accountable. Any suggestion that this right could be taken away should be met with fierce resistance. It is not just a political issue; it is an existential threat to the values upon which our nation was founded. When a candidate threatens to erode this right, it is a call to action for all citizens to rise above party lines and defend the principles of democracy.

In this election, more than ever, we must be vigilant and well-informed. It is not enough to rely on snippets of information from social media. We must delve into the policies and promises of each candidate, understanding their implications for our future. We must listen to what they say and, more importantly, believe them. Their words and actions are a reflection of their intentions, and we must take them at face value.

The narrative that one side is the sole defender of patriotism and freedom is a distortion. In reality, the fight to maintain government out of our personal decisions and to preserve our freedoms is being waged by those who are committed to upholding democratic values. The threat to our democracy is real and immediate. If we are to preserve the freedoms we hold dear, we must act now.

For those who are still uncertain about the gravity of the situation, I urge you to do your research. Look beyond the memes and headlines. Seek out reliable sources of information and educate yourself on the stakes of this election. Understand that democracy is a fragile system that requires our active participation and protection.

This election is a defining moment in our history. The choice we make will determine the future of our democracy. We cannot afford to be complacent or misinformed. We must take the candidates at their word, understand the implications of their promises, and vote to protect our democratic rights. This is not just another election. Do not be fooled by party lines or catchy slogans. Believe in the power of your vote and use it to safeguard the principles of freedom and democracy.

Lay aside all cares and worries

Why worry about anything? Instead, seek first the kingdom of God and His righteousness, and all your worries will be taken care of by Your Father in Heaven!

By FR. LUKE
 A. VERONIS
 SAINTS
 GREEK
 WEBSTER

These words of Jesus offer an important lesson that reminds us not to worry too much or not to put ourselves in the place of God by thinking that we have to solve all our own problems. Christ tells us that the answer to this problem of worrying - "seek first the kingdom of God and his righteousness, and all these other things will be taken care of."

Let us look at this problem of worrying. Many of us worry about things we cannot control. We worry about the future, when the future may still be a long way off. We worry about what others will do or think, even though we can't control how others behave. We worry about little details or insignificant points in life. We worry about the world and all its problems. We worry about too many things that are out of our control. People even become sick, developing ulcers, high blood pressure or stress because of too much worrying.

Christ tells us, "Stop worrying. Don't forget that you have a loving father in heaven who knows all your problems and difficult situations better than you yourself know them. Turn to him and allow God to take care of you. Look around and see how wonderfully God takes care of the birds and animals of nature. Don't you think God is more concerned with human beings than with animals?"

The prophet Isaiah gives a beautiful image when he says, "God carved each of us in the palm of his hand." God is a master craftsman who takes great care to create a masterpiece with each human being he gives life. We know that a great craftsman does not create a masterpiece and then simply cast it aside. Instead, he takes great care, showing it to others with pride. This is what God does with all of us. We are his masterpiece. When he sees his masterpiece in need, he knows better than we ourselves how to take care of us! And he will - in his time and in his way. But we must be patient and believe.

Remember, God loves us more than we can even imagine. The Bible is filled with images describing God's unconditional love for humanity. "For God so loved the world that he gave his only begotten son that whoever believes in him will not perish but will have eternal life" (Jn 3:16). The image of the cross is the best symbol of God's love for us. His outstretched arms are reaching out to each of us, saying, "I love you." If God loves us so much, why do we forget that he will take care of our daily needs.

St. Peter emphasizes this love in his first letter when he writes, "Cast all your anxieties on God, because he cares for you" (1 Pet 5:7). To cast one's anxieties on God means to believe that God is near us, taking an interest in our lives. Do not think of God as someone who lives far away, uninterested in our daily affairs. Instead he is as a loving and caring father who looks over his child with the most tender concern. Think of the example of a young child. The young child turns to his parents for every little concern. Many times the child even thinks that his father can do everything in the world. God has revealed to us that he is our father, even more loving and careful than the greatest of earthly fathers. Just as an earthly father takes care of his children, even more so our heavenly father will take care of us.

We must turn to God with such childlike faith for our daily worries and problems. But at the same time, we must be responsible children who think, plan and act. St. Augustine wrote, "We must work as if everything depended on us, but we must trust as if everything depended on God." The secret of casting one's anxieties on the Lord is to be like children in simplicity and faith, while at the same time we plan and work as mature adults.

A second and similar problem for many of us is that we put ourselves in the place of God. When we forget to cast our anxieties on God, we begin to think that we have to take care of our anxieties ourselves. We try to do the work of God. A sincere Christian is a person who knows what he can do and does it. But he also has humility to know what he cannot do. And what he cannot do, he leaves in the capable hands of the almighty God, trusting in His goodness and care!

For both of these problems, worrying and trying to do the work of God, Jesus tells us that the solution is to 'seek first the kingdom of God.' Let the main concern of our life be God and striving to journey down the path that leads to His kingdom. Let us put Christ at the forefront of our lives, and strive to live according to His ways. If we focus on what is most important, and are in constant communion with Him, then God will take care of the other details of our lives.

Remember the story of Jesus visiting the home of the sisters Martha and Mary. Mary was sitting at the feet of Jesus listening to all his words, while Martha was busy serving and doing much work. Finally, when Martha got frustrated that her sister wasn't helping, she asked Jesus to tell her sister to get up and help serve. But Jesus answered, "Martha, Martha, you are worried and anxious about many things, but one thing is needful, and Mary has chosen the better part."

How many of us are like Martha who forget about the "one thing needful?" We are so busy with daily concerns, that we forget what is most important in life. We allow our little worries to make us forget that our life is in the care of God; we forget about the center of life, which should be our communion and union with God.

God tells us that if we focus on what is most important in life - the kingdom of God - than we will see life from a different perspective. We will learn to trust more in God, we will learn to turn over all our concerns in prayer to God, and we will learn to be at peace with whatever situations or problems we face in life. Think of the example of the saints. How many of them worried about what they would eat, or drink, or wear? Of course, they faced unimaginable difficulties and problems, yet they believed that God was in control of all. As Saint Paul told the Christians in Philippi, "Do not be anxious about anything, but in everything, through prayer and supplication, with thanksgiving, let your requests be made known to God, and the peace of God which surpasses all understanding, will guard your hearts and minds through Christ Jesus."

So let us lay aside our worries and anxieties, whether about our daily concerns, or even about our uncertain future. Instead, seek first the kingdom of God and His righteousness and all other things will be taken care of!

Consistency

Pursuing a dream can be very challenging. If you're like most people, unless you have financial backing, you're probably juggling a day job, a night job, taking care of a family, and then pursuing your dream.

Once you decide to pursue your dream, it's often easy to get started because, at this early stage, you have all the motivation. You're convinced of success and can see a future where your hard work pays off in a big way. You picture the people you'll help, the industry you'll revolutionize, and the competitors you'll surpass. This vision fuels your enthusiasm and propels you forward with energy and optimism.

But once you've laid the foundations, you may see flaws. Things may go differently than planned. You'll undoubtedly encounter many roadblocks. You might feel you've tried so hard for so long that you need a break.

Days turn to weeks and weeks into months, but suddenly, you remember your dream, get a burst of inspiration, and go at it again. You start getting some results, but there's still a long way to go. You work your socks off for a while, doing those 16-hour days and making sacrifices, but then life gets in the way. Family obligations may arise, your day job demands more time, and you may put your dream on hold again, still unwilling to let it go.

Maybe you have a friend, acquaintance, or even family member who pursued their dream, and you're in awe of how far they have gotten.

Out of frustration, you pick up the phone and give them a call, all while wondering how on earth they've managed to make it all work.

Luckily, they answered your call and gave you 30 minutes of their time. They ask you a series of questions, and you give them all the answers, detailing the ups and downs and the starts and stops.

Suddenly, you hear their Aha moment. They have an answer, and as you eagerly await, they say, "My friend, it seems you've got a consistency problem," and it hits you like a bolt of lightning. Consistency!

The word reverberates as you think of all the times you started and stopped.

Your friend says that they, too, had the same problem, and one day decided to work on their dream every single day, even if it was just half an hour or one small task. They never took a break; they just kept churning.

It's not about large bursts of effort but small, persistent, daily efforts. You set tiny goals that you know are achievable, and you keep doing them daily. You realize that consistency is one of the most potent ingredients for turning your dreams into reality.

As the days turn into weeks and the weeks into months, you start to see progress. Your business begins to grow steadily. The challenges stay, but your consistent efforts help you navigate them better. You find that consistency builds momentum, and momentum keeps you moving forward.

What are some things that will make you inconsistent? Drugs and alcohol are certainly significant factors. While some people claim substances like marijuana or alcohol make them more productive, over time, they often find the opposite to be true. When they quit, their productivity usually improves significantly.

Other things that can lead to inconsistency include procrastination, which creates a cycle of stress and rushed work, and lack of sleep, which severely impacts focus and energy levels.

Poor time management without a clear plan or schedule can lead to distractions and overwhelm. A negative mindset, filled with self-doubt and pessimism, can sap motivation.

Unhealthy relationships can drain your energy and focus, pulling you away from productive habits. Constant distractions from social media, emails, or a noisy environment can also break your flow and hinder consistent progress.

Ultimately, you learn that consistency is not just a habit; it's a powerful force that transforms aspirations into achievements. It's the difference between those who succeed and those who don't.

Dedicate yourself to your dream every single day. Let consistency be the engine that propels you toward your goals and turns your aspirations into reality.

Poor flowering and fruiting in the vegetable garden

Another summer of above-normal summer temperatures in much of the country may be taking its toll on your vegetable gardens. Temperature extremes can interfere with flowering and fruit set, resulting in poor flowering, blossom drop, and a lack of or misshapen fruit on tomatoes, peppers, squash, and more.

The impact of temperature on plants depends on the stage of the plant's development. Plants ready to flower or developing fruit during times of optimum temperatures will be fine but plants that are ready to flower or develop fruit during more extreme temperatures experience problems.

Tomatoes thrive in warm, sunny conditions but when daytime temperatures rise above 90 degrees Fahrenheit and night temperatures remain above 70 degrees Fahrenheit blossom drop and poor fruit development may occur. This combined with low humidity and the pollen is not viable. In hot and humid conditions, the pollen is too sticky and doesn't move from the male to the female part of the flower. Without pollination, the flowers won't be fertilized, and fruit will not develop.

On the other hand, when night temperatures are below the optimum of 59 to 68 degrees Fahrenheit, less viable pollen is produced so fewer fruit will form. Cooler temperatures below 55 degrees Fahrenheit can result in misshapen fruit and cat-facing. Fortunately, this malformed fruit is still tasty and safe to eat.

Temperature extremes also impact pepper productivity. When temperatures climb to 95 degrees or higher, the pollen is sterile and flowers may drop. Small fruit may also fall from the plant during such hot spells. Pepper plants also experience poor fruit set when night temperatures drop below 60 degrees or rise above 75 degrees.

Flowering in squash and cucumber plants is also influenced by temperature and other environmental factors. These plants typically produce separate male and female flowers. The male flowers usually appear first, and it is not until both the male and female flowers are present that pollination, fertilization, and fruit production can occur.

The research found cool temperatures, bright sunlight, and shorter days encourage female flower production while male flowers are more prolific during warmer temperatures, less sunlight, and close spacing. Flowering on squash and cucumbers is also impacted by nitrogen fertilization. Too much can prevent female flower formation while insufficient amounts can reduce the number of male flowers.

In addition, rainy weather or improperly applied pesticides that prevent bee activity and pollination can also result in malformed cucumbers.

These aren't the only vegetables impacted by temperature extremes. Eggplants, a close relative of tomatoes and peppers, do not set fruit until night temperatures are above 55 degrees. Beans stop flowering or the flowers die when temperatures rise above 85 degrees.

The simplest solution is to wait for optimum temperatures and proper humidity levels to return. Once this happens, the plants will begin producing fruit. Be sure to harvest regularly to keep the plants producing.

If poor productivity caused by weather is a yearly problem, consider planting varieties better suited to these extremes, adjust the planting times, and if needed, find a more suitable growing location.

When the harvest is delayed, extend the season with the help of row covers. These fabrics allow sunlight, air, and water through while trapping heat around the plants. Loosely cover the plants and anchor the edges with stones, boards, or landscape staples when frost is forecasted. You can leave the fabric in place for the remainder of the year. Just lift it to harvest and secure the fabric when done.

If this summer's weather leaves you disappointed with the harvest, remember there is always next year.

The Peach Harvest is In!

Nothing says mid-summer like a sweet, juicy peach, and here in New England, the long awaited peach crop is in! In celebration of the sweet harvest, this week's column offers the following "peach primer."

TAKE THE HINT

KAREN TRAINOR

Perfect Peaches: Using three of your senses will confirm when a peach is perfect to eat:

See: Ripe peaches should have reddish and yellow hues. Peaches that show any tinge of green are not yet ripe. Also, a fully developed peach at its peak of ripeness should be round; typically, oblong peaches aren't yet ripe.

Smell: Take a sniff. You should be able to smell a sweet, familiar scent when a peach is fully ripe.

Touch: Peaches should be slightly soft to the touch, with a little give. Hard peaches are not ripe.

Rev up Ripening: If the peach is hard, you can accelerate ripening by placing it in a brown paper bag for a day or two. If you have multiple peaches, do not pile peaches in the bag, rather spread them out so they do not touch.

Or, perch peaches on a kitchen windowsill to speed up ripening.

Ripened peaches will keep their flavor for up to five days in the vegetable crisper drawer of the refrigerator.

Have too many ripe peaches? Try freezing them. Cut unbruised fruit up and freeze on a cookie sheet. Once frozen, place the chunks into a plastic freezer bag. These sweet morsels can be used for smoothies, fruit salad, cobblers, and more as they should stay fresh up to six weeks when properly frozen. Try this quick and easy Peach Yogurt recipe using peach chunks straight from the freezer (from JustATaste.com):

Ingredients: Four cups frozen peach chunks; 3 tablespoons honey; ½ cup plain yogurt; one tablespoon fresh lemon juice.

Directions: Place the frozen peaches, honey, yogurt and lemon juice into the bowl of a food processor. Process until creamy, about 5 minutes.

Serve the frozen yogurt immediately or transfer it to an airtight container and store it in the freezer for up to 1 month.

Want frozen peaches to keep their flavor longer? Peaches can last up to one year in the freezer, according to the National Center of Home Preservation if you follow this process:

1. Wash, peel, and remove pits from peaches.

Place peaches into a freezer-safe container, leaving at least 1/2 inch of headspace.

Pour water or syrup over the peaches to cover. To make a syrup, dissolve sugar in lukewarm water and mix until clear. You can use anywhere from 10% to 50% sugar in your syrup. Place the peach-filled container labeled with the date into the freezer.

Nutrition: A medium peach has 0.5 grams of fat, 0 grams of cholesterol and sodium, 15 grams of carbohydrate, 13 grams of sugar, 2 grams of fiber and 1 gram of protein.

Peaches are also an antioxidant, diuretic, expectorant, and a laxative. Studies show the potassium in peaches, coupled with the fiber of the fruit, can help lower blood pressure.

Peaches are considered a super fruit. they contain anti-inflammatory antioxidants, therefore, peaches can be an effective treatment for skin inflammations, such as allergies.

P e a c h e s ' Past: As noted previously in this column, peaches were first grown in China, traced as far back as 551 BC. Peaches are a member of the same family as the rose, which accounts for its sweet fragrance. But early peaches, which were tiny and tart with a larger pit and lots of fuzz, barely resembled today's plump, juicy fruits. Despite its shortcomings, the historic peach earned its place in early Chinese folklore, as it was considered to bring luck and immortality. In fact, today, the Chinese still consider peaches are proper birthday gifts.

Strains of early peaches attracted favor and the tasty fruit traveled from China through Europe and finally to the "New World," gaining legions of fans along the way. The Romans fondly dubbed peaches "Persian Apples," for the country that first introduced the sweet fruit to the west. Louis XIV of France was so fond of peaches that he once awarded a pension to the man who provided him with peaches from Montreuil, a suburb of Paris.

While Spanish explorers brought the peach to America, Native Americans are credited with spreading their cultivation. Eventually, Georgia was named the Peach State, for its abundant peach crops, which flourished in the warm, southern climate.

June Waldron

CHARLTON – June Waldron died Saturday, July 20th at her home in Charlton, MA. June was born in Oxford on June 20th, 1925, and lived most of her life in Oxford before moving to Chatham, MA and then to Charlton. She was predeceased by her parents, Arthur I. and Jessie A. (Mulvey) Gardner, her first husband, James R. Officer, who died in 1954, and her second husband, James F. Waldron, who died in 2012.

She is survived by her four children, Kathleen (David) Casavant of Oxford, Susan Donovan of Webster, Peggy (John) Prouty of Charlton, and Timothy (Nancy) Waldron of Orleans. She leaves 8 grandchildren, Katharine Casavant, James Casavant, Nathan Prouty, Martha Prouty, Seth Prouty, Shannon (Waldron) Hubbard, Michael Waldron, and Kali Waldron. In addition, she leaves 11 great grandchildren, all of whom she adored. As an only child, June took great pleasure in watching her family grow.

June was a graduate of Oxford High School and Boston University. She began her long teaching career at North Brookfield High School and then spent over 30 years as a teacher at her alma mater, Oxford High, beginning as an English teacher, then moving over to the business department, of which she later became the head. She was loved and respected by her students, and she loved and respected them in return. She maintained contact with many of them over the years and was always so proud of their accomplishments. Soon after retiring in 1985, she and Jim fulfilled a life-long dream, moving to West Chatham, MA, where she lived until 2014.

June's greatest love besides her family was Howgate Cottage in Wells Beach, Maine, where she spent many happy years walking the beach, watching the waves, and basking in the sun followed by cocktails on the back porch and watching the sunset. She loved the off seasons, noting the changes in the landscape and weather. She loved to travel and had special memories of her trip to Ireland, as she was fiercely proud of her Irish heritage. She enjoyed playing cards, especially around the dining room table at Howgate with the Waldron clan. An avid reader, she always had a book (or in recent years her Kindle) close by, passing on this love of books to her children.

June made a lasting impression on all who knew her for her kindness and concern for others, often putting their needs before her own. Throughout her long life, she touched many people, leaving a lasting impression on so many. She will be missed not only by her family but also all who knew her.

A funeral Mass was held at 12 noon on Monday, July 29, 2024, at St. Roch's Church, 332 Main St., Oxford. Burial followed at North Cemetery in Oxford. Calling hours were Monday from 10:00-11:30 a.m. at the funeral home, prior to the Mass.

In lieu of flowers, memorial contributions may be made to the American Cancer Society, P.O. Box 6704, Hagerstown, MD 21741.

Summer meeting for P.E.O. Sisterhood and Chapter R, Worcester

PAXTON — Members of P.E.O. (Philanthropic Education Organization), Chapter R Worcester, an organization that is helping women reach for the stars met at the home of Pamela Thomas-Nielsen to go over upcoming activities for the summer. In attendance was Gretheline Ramos Bolandrina, DHA, MSN Ed, RN, CRRN of Dudley. Bolandrina is the Academy Director for Bay Path Practical Nursing Academy in Charlton.

The P.E.O. began as a bond of friendship among seven young women in Mount Pleasant, Iowa, and is now one of the oldest women's organizations in North America. According to the P.E.O. Web site, <https://www.peointernational.org/>, "since its inception in 1869, the nonprofit has helped more than 105,000 women pursue educational goals by providing more than $321 million in grants, scholarships, awards, and loans."

P.E.O. has 6,000 chapters across the United States and Canada. Bolandrina said she initially did not know much about P.E.O., other than her students and alumni receiving grants.

"I am continuously amazed at what P.E.O. does," she said, thanking the other members of Chapter R, Worcester.

Chapter R nominated Bay Path Practical Nursing students and alumni for the Program for Continuing Education (PCE) and helped with the process of grant applications and approvals.

"I came across information on P.E.O. back in 2018 when I was researching scholarships for my nursing students," said Bolandrina.

The P.E.O. sisterhood has brought together women in the United States and Canada who are enthusiastic change-makers helping women's advancement through education, support, and motivation.

"I am inspired every time I attend meetings and socials," said Bolandrina, who has been inducted to Chapter R in November 2021.

"I look forward to seeing Chapter R's growth!" she exclaimed.

Chapters hold fundraisers throughout the year to support the organization's scholarship programs, as well as the stewardship of Cottey College, a nationally ranked, fully accredited, independent, liberal arts and sciences college in Nevada, Mo. The women's college has been owned and supported by the P.E.O. since 1927. The fundraisers are as varied as the chapters that hold them.

"It is a very special kind of friendship and sisterhood," said Bolandrina.

Chapter R has a nut sale as a fundraiser that Bolandrina participates in. The fundraisers help support the national organization and help local women like Bay Path Practical Nursing Academy students and alumni.

Membership is by invitation only. Philanthropy is the goal of P.E.O. However, friendship is its cornerstone. The P.E.O. has a long legacy of sisterhood.

area around the home; checking addresses of the child's friends; and utilizing social media to seek information.

Meanwhile, K9 Biza was deployed as part of the search, tracking the child's scent along a nearly two-mile path before eventually finding evidence of where the child had been present. This led officers to closely search the surrounding area and ultimately locate the child, just before 1 a.m.

After a precautionary medical evaluation at the hospital, the child was returned home. "This call spanned two shifts and showed an unbelievable amount of coordination," said Auburn Police Chief Todd Lemon. "This was an incredible show of teamwork, and we are proud to recognize all of these members of the Auburn Police Department." The officers and dispatchers receiving the TEAM Award include Sergeant Mike Tarcini, Detective Tyler Bresse, Officer Brandyn Geldart, Officer Randy Hawley, Officer Matt Laskes, Officers Dave Ljunggren and K9 Biza, Officer John McLaughlin, Officer

Jordan Ryan, Dispatcher Alex Cortese, Dispatcher Carrie Girardin, Dispatcher Madison Hamill, Dispatcher Brianna Parker, and Dispatcher Luke Snay.

The TEAM Award was created by Early in 2019 to recognize public safety employees who go above and beyond the call of duty. If you would like to nominate a first responder or public safety official for the award, contact the Worcester County District Attorney's Office at 508-755-8601.
