Mother & daughter bond over empowerment at Harvard University Book launch

CAMBRIDGE — On a recent Saturday afternoon, mother-daughter duo Elizabeth Anacona and Ashley Rincon, both of Southbridge, with roots from Colombia, gathered with members of the Asian American community at the Harvard University Asia Center, Room S020 1730 Cambridge Street in this city. The occasion was the launch of the book “Six Filipino Women for Justice.” Bay Path Practical Nursing Academy Director, Gretheline Bolandrina, DHA, MSN Ed, RN, CRRN of Douglas, was also in attendance. Bolandrina, a board member of the Harvard Square Philippine American Alliance (www.hspaa.org) extended the invitation for the book launch to the members of PN Classes 2024 and 2025.

Both Anacona and Rincon are inspired and empowered after hearing from Professor Ed Garcia, Human rights activist, peace advocate, and writer. Not surprisingly, both mother-daughter shared their own insight after the discussion on injustice, failure, hope, success, resilience, empowerment, and peace.

Anacona stated, “It was an honor to be there. It has been a global issue with women. I am fortunate that young people are now listening to the issues. But, unfortunately in many countries young kids do not have a different view and that is all they know. But, in events like this we can open the mind of how women can be empowered. Not only to manage household work but to start owning their own business and being CEOs and empower a country.” Many big names associated with the Philippine-American community, academics, and community leaders were there to support the book launch. The introductory remarks were given by Zarrin Foster, President of the Harvard Neighbors. Professor James Robson, Victor and William Fund Director, Programs and Affiliates Coordinator for Harvard University Asia Center gave the welcome remarks.

Charlton voters approve Fire Department debt exclusion

Singer Wins Reelection by Single Vote

BY JASON BLEAU
CORRESPONDENT

CHARLTON — The town of Charlton saw an impressive turnout for its annual town election on May 4, with 1,838 voters, or roughly 17 percent of those registered, casting their ballots throughout the day. The election not only determined new town leadership in several contested elections, but also provided clarity on the future of a proposed fire department substation project that served as the lone extra question on the ballot.

Voters were presented with a debt exclusion question concerning a proposed fire department substation at the intersection of Oxford Road and Heritage Drive to replace the aging Station 2. A positive vote would allow Charlton to fund the $13.1 million project beyond the limits of Proposition 2 ½. This initiative is the latest in a series of attempts throughout the 2020s to replace Station 2, which has experienced documented space and structural issues over the years. The debt exclusion question passed easily in a vote of 1,065 to 641, finally bringing some clarity to the fire department which has worked tirelessly to gain support for a new substation. Town Administrator Andrew Golas had stated prior to the election that passage would increase the average residential home taxes by roughly $150 depending on the actual value of the home. The total project cost, which includes items not considered in the debt exclusion, will be addressed at the May 20 annual town meeting.

Voters were also tasked with deciding on new town leadership during the election, starting with the Board of Selectmen which featured one contested race. Incumbent Barbara Zurowski won another term as she was the lone candidate for her position, however the second available seat saw a contest between two familiar names, incumbent David Singer and former Selectwoman Karen Spiewak. The result was as close as mathematically possible without being a tie. One single vote determined the outcome as Singer was reelected in a decision of 867 to 866. Singer returns to the board for what he had previously announced would be his final three-year term. This will be Singer's sixth term in office, the longest tenure of any sitting member of the board. As of this report, there was no confirmation whether the results would trigger a recount.

The only other contested elections on the ballot were for repre-

Female banjo players share songs and stories at Jacob Edwards Library

SOUTHBRIDGE — The sound of the banjo, played by Rhiannon Giddens, is the first 12 seconds of Beyonce's latest hit song "Texas Hold 'Em" and the rollicking groove catches your ear and sets your feet tapping. That banjo sound has a long history in the roots and branches of American music.

Massachusetts-based roots musicians Marylou Ferrante and Paula Bradley (aka "Banjo Blue") will present stories and songs of women traditional banjo players, both well-known and obscure, highlighting their often-overlooked contributions to America's rich musical legacy on Thursday, June 13, 6:30-7:30 p.m., at the Jacob Edwards Library, 236 Main St., Southbridge. This program is free and open to the public, and is supported by a grant from the Southbridge Cultural Council, a local agency which is supported by the Massachusetts Cultural Council, a state agency.

Both Bradley and Ferrante are devoted to learning and sharing traditional American music, and their program "Banjo Pickin' Gals" explores female banjo players in song and story, with a little flatfoot dancing to boot.

Paula Bradley, a West Virginia-born multi-instrumentalist (banjo, guitar, banjo uke, harmonica and piano), has been involved in roots music for many years as a performer and an instructor. Known for her strong, spirited vocals as well as her clogging, she has toured (on banjo) with old-time darlings "Uncle Earl"; with old-time powerhouse Bruce Molsky (on guitar and banjo uke); and recorded and toured with Tony Trischka and Bruce as part of the acoustic roots trio "Jawbone." She was a founding member of the acclaimed old-time trio "The Rhythm Rats" as well as the popular New England honky tonk combo "Girl

Howdy." In addition to "Banjo Blue," she performs in the old-time duet "Moonshine Holler" and leads her own honkytonk band "Miss Paula & The Twangbusters."

Marylou Ferrante is a multi-instrumentalist who performs old blues, old time, country and folk music on guitar, mandolin, dulcimer and banjo with vocals. Her performances are filled with storytelling and history; she covers solo blues artists from the Delta to East Coast Piedmont (such as Charlie Patton, Son House, Robert Johnson and Memphis Minnie); mandolin greats like Charlie McCoy and Yank Rachell; and, old time and country artists such as The Carter Family, Cousin Emmy, and Elizabeth Cotten. Her numerous performances include opening for Maria Muldaur. Her passionate expression of old songs comes from a love of the music and their arrangements, as well as what she says is an appreciation for "the history of these folks and the difficult circumstances they endured."

Touch-a-Truck coming to Brimfield

BRIMFIELD — Trucks of all sorts will be rolling into Brimfield on June 1 not for construction, but for the town's first Touch-a-Truck event to be held at the Brimfield Winery. The morning will consist of over 20 different vehicles including fire trucks, tow vehicles, police cars and even a helicopter converging in town for the day. Attendees of all ages will be able to climb on, in, and around the many different vehicles as well as meet the crews and drivers. Children and adults alike will be able to look up close at the many different pieces of equipment and ask plenty of questions of the drivers and operators.

Held on the 13th anniversary of the tornado that came through the area in 2011, it is being organized by the Friends of the Brimfield Library and the Brimfield Fire department. The day is planned in honor of Toto the Tornado Kitten, a tiny cat who was found in the storm's debris and whose subsequent books and travels raised more than $78,000 for local animal shelters. Toto passed away last November and his legacy is being celebrated by the community with this special Touch-a-Truck event. A special table will be on display that is being donated to the Brimfield Library in Toto's honor and donations will be accepted by the Friends of the Library for funding future activities.

The event is free for all; however, attendees are encouraged to bring a bag or can of pet food to be distributed to local animal shelters. Snacks will be provided by the Sturbridge Coffee house. This is one of many community events sponsored by the Brimfield Winery. The event runs from 10 a.m.-noon at the Brimfield Winery, 35 Main St. Anyone interested in participating by bringing a truck are welcome to contact the event organizers at toto2024event@gmail.com.

School Committee confirms 2025 budget request

DUDLEY/CHARLTON — The Dudley Charlton Regional School Committee has made its budget proposal official, as both Dudley and Charlton voters prepare for their respective annual town meetings, both on May 20.

In March, the School Committee decided to send a level service budget to both communities proposing a $59.8 million spending plan and a $2.4 million increase over the current year split between the two towns. Charlton subsequently approved a budget for consideration in April while Dudley was set to finalize their spending plan in the first week of May. However, during a meeting of the School Committee on April 24, Superintendent Steve Lamarche revealed that new state numbers had come in allowing the School Committee to propose more accurate estimates and thus a more realistic budget. The result did not change the overall budget number, which remains at $59.8 million, but did provide more precise tax levies for both towns with Charlton's proposed total share at $18.5 million and Dudley's at $12.2 million. That's an increase of $248,088 for Charlton and $1.3 million for Dudley for a total added assessment of $1.5 million between the two towns.

"This does not change the overall budget. We used the most favorable numbers for fiscal year 2025, it therefore does change the assessments," said Lamarche, who explained that district representatives have been working closely with both towns and were patiently waiting for the House of Representatives to set its numbers over the last month to provide clarity as to what the district would receive from the state. "We feel very confident working with our towns that we do have a plan for Fiscal Year 2025 going into Town Meetings."

The School Committee unanimously approved the amended budget which will be included in the spending plans for both towns at their respective May 20 annual town meetings. Both towns need to approve their spending plans for the education budget to be confirmed for Fiscal Year 2025.

The school committee also continued discussions concerning school fees which has been a consistent debate dating back to the fall and winter of 2023. The district's Budget and Finance Subcommittee examined three possible fee increases: pre-school, athletics, and high school student parking. The School Committee decided not to make a motion on athletic fees and parking fees increases but did approve increasing pre-kindergarten and preschool fees by $200 annually. Superintendent Lamarche shared his thoughts on the increase.

"This recommendation comes forward with the belief that the fiscal year 2025 budget is within reach through our two communities. The pre-kindergarten and preschool fee increase is warranted and continues to fall within reasonableness for participation in said program from the Dudley-Charlton Regional School District," said the Superintendent.

The preschool fee increase is the first since 2018 and will bring the two-half-days-per-week plan from $1,000 to $1,200 annually and the four-half-day-per-week plan from $2,200 to $2,400 per year.

CHPT presents program on landscaping boundaries

CHARLTON — You are invited to attend a presentation titled "Landscape Border Boundaries-The Power of Planting for Wildlife and Wellbeing" covering ways to enhance the boundaries of your yard while contributing to wildlife habitat, protecting pollinators, and providing some fresh fruit for snacking. It will be held in Dexter Hall of the Charlton Public Library on Friday, May 17 at 7 p.m. This is a free, one hour event that is designed to ramp up your creativity with ideas that can benefit the environment and your own well-being.

The Charlton Heritage Preservation Trust (CHPT) is pleased to feature Nate Fournier and Lucy Smith, co-owners of Reimagined Roots. Their mission is to revolutionize the American lawn for a more resilient future by creating beautiful, functional ecosystems full of food, medicine, and native plants. Nate Fournier, a native of Charlton, has a background in engineering and re-dedicated himself to designing and building sustainable ecosystems after having spent time abroad studying permaculture design. Lucy Smith studied economics and has been around the world learning about permaculture and understanding indigenous wisdom relating to feeding people with native plants.

William Blasius, president of the CHPT Board of Trustees, says, "I am excited to be able to bring this unique program to Charlton."

the Ecology department.

"I started off working in crop protection," he said. "That required a lot of time observing the wildlife around blueberry farms and corn fields. One of the things that I picked up on quickly was the concentration and diversity of life at border transitions. Most of the plots that I had staked out were surrounded by woods. But it was at the edges that were the most productive for gathering wildlife data. It's a great feeling to be able to combine my field work experiences with Reimagined Roots' practical knowledge of landscape design, installation, and maintenance for this program."

"We hope that people take away from this presentation the understanding that if everyone dedicated 10 percent of their lawns to a more natural state, we could make a huge difference," says Smith.

That difference will be in the form of mitigating biodiversity loss, buffering climate change and improving human well-being.

Charlton Heritage Preservation Trust owns 19 conservation properties in town, totaling over 200 acres of natural land open to the public. CHPT works with landowners, developers and the town to balance healthy economic growth with conservation of important natural resources and historically significant places. They rely on donations of land and funds to make new conservation projects and educational events possible. CHPT relies on the volunteer help of their members and friends to preserve their conservation areas for the public benefit.

You can find out more about the work of Charlton Heritage Preservation Trust, including information about their properties and the May 17 Reimagined Roots program at the Charlton Public Library, at their Website, <https://www.charltontrust.org/>.

Fashion flashbacks — The timeless appeal of retro trends

In the ever-evolving world of fashion, one thing remains constant: the cyclical nature of trends. From bell-bottoms to neon windbreakers, retro styles from past decades have made a triumphant return to the forefront of fashion, appealing to a new generation of style enthusiasts.

What is it about retro fashion that continues to captivate our imagination? Perhaps it's the allure of bygone eras, where style was synonymous with individuality and self-expression. From the glamorous silhouettes of the 1950s to the rebellious spirit of the 1990s, each decade offers its own unique aesthetic, ripe for reinterpretation in the modern age.

Social media has played a significant role in the resurgence of retro trends, providing a platform for fashion enthusiasts to share their love of vintage-inspired looks and connect with like-minded individuals around the globe.

Beyond the allure of aesthetics lies a deeper appreciation for the sustainability aspect of embracing retro fashion. As the fashion industry grapples with issues of environmental impact and overconsumption, repurposing and reimagining clothing from past decades offers a more eco-conscious alternative to fast fashion. By breathing new life into vintage pieces through upcycling and thrifting, we not only reduce waste but also celebrate the craftsmanship and history of fashion.

The resurgence of retro trends has sparked a renewed sense of creativity and individuality in the way we approach style. From mixing and matching vintage finds with contemporary pieces to putting a modern twist on classic looks, the possibilities are endless. Retro fashion allows us to express our personalities and tell our own unique stories through the clothes we wear, bridging the gap between past and present with each outfit choice.

Whether you're channeling the glamour of Old Hollywood or the laid-back vibes of the '90s grunge scene, remember that style knows no bounds and creativity knows no limits. So, dig into your grandmother's closet, scour thrift stores for hidden gems, and embark on your own fashion flashback journey. The past is calling, and it's time to make it your own.

OPINION

TO THE EDITOR

Your vote matters

To the Editor:

This is to all those residents of Charlton who didn't think their vote would count. The recent election between two candidates for the Select Board was within one vote. In other words, if you didn't vote, and your favorite candidate lost, it was your fault.

I've seen this happen a number of times over the years in local elections, and if you care about your town and how it is run, you must get yourself out there and cast your vote. I believe most people do care and then simply forget or assume your candidate will win, or "life gets in the way" and so they don't vote. Don't allow this to happen to you — it only takes ten minutes, and then there will be no regrets.

Should life be all work and no play?

Life seems busier than ever, and it's not slowing down. Despite technological advances, our workload doesn't seem to lighten. Business owners might find AI tools helpful, yet often, they handle these tasks themselves instead of hiring additional help. With rising inflation and economic pressures, what was a full-time job for one person has now become just an hour's task a day for many CEOs. As technology simplifies processes, the burden of multiple tasks increasingly falls on just a few shoulders.

While staying busy can be rewarding, the overwhelming pile of tasks can make you feel perpetually behind. Catching up seems possible only with extra help, maybe even an assistant. The expectations placed on many of us often surpass what one person can manage. I might even need a Teslbot to handle my household chores—come on, Elon, I'm drowning in responsibilities here!

What happens when a loved one falls ill? Suddenly, you're forced to reprioritize to take care of them. If it's a severe illness, the time it demands can feel overwhelming. In such situations, lowering your expectations about what you can accomplish becomes necessary.

But should life be all work and no play? The concept of work-life balance is frequently discussed, and for many years, for me it was nonexistent. My life was like a seesaw stuck to the ground, burdened by an overload of work without any relief. Is this truly fulfilling? I guess it depends on what you find fulfilling.

A friend of mine used to watch me exhaust myself and would eventually ask, "Why? What's the point?" To me, the sense of accomplishment was all the fulfillment I needed.

There was a time after my acting career when I didn't need to work and wasn't worried about finances, but I found that period somewhat empty.

But I digress. Let's ask the question again. Should life be all work and no play?

This reminds me of an old U2 T-shirt. It read, "Smell the flowers while you can." Once, as I was walking by, an older gentleman shouted, "Ain't that the truth!" while pointing at my shirt.

"While you can..." The implications of that phrase are vast. What does it mean? Will the flowers vanish one day? Will we no longer be around to enjoy their scent? At this point, nothing would surprise me.

The weight of "while you can" hit home a couple days ago when a dear friend of mine passed away unexpectedly. It's a stark reminder.

er. We never truly know the future. Finding balance is essential. It doesn't have to be just vegging out on the couch watching reality TV although occasionally that's what is needed. Ultimately, it's going to look different for each of us. It's a personal journey to discover what that balance means.

Reflecting on a quote by Jim Rohn, whom I often cite and had the fortune to meet as a boy, might offer some guidance.

He said, "Something my parents taught me, that they practiced all their life, and now I practice. Don't miss anything. Don't miss the game, don't miss the concert, don't miss the performance, don't miss the show. Don't miss the conversation, don't miss the sermon, don't miss the class...don't miss anything. Go look, see, learn, try, taste. Let that flavor of life be part of your lifestyle."

Why pursue balance? It's about personal enrichment and development, about becoming a person of value. True, thriving in our workplace demands education, hard work, determination, and dedication. But what about beyond the office?

Consider the value added to your life when you're not only accomplished at work but also knowledgeable in the arts, skilled in playing chess, experienced in gardening, or have read the greatest book upon that which western civilization was founded upon. You've set down the path of enriching your whole self, making you a more rounded and insightful individual, and what is that truly worth?

Can we quantify it? No, but consider this: being a cultured individual stimulates fresh thoughts, inspires new actions, and fosters new ways of being and can help you get out of a rut. This not only adds layers of value to your personality, but also introduces a much-needed balance. What's it worth? I'd say it's priceless.

Planting Pointers

After a long season of browsing through seed catalogs and plot planners, outside planting time is almost here! (I can still hear Dick Lamoreaux's mantra of "no planting until after Memorial Day!" ringing in my ears.) It's no wonder the backyard gardener is dreaming of lush gardens and neatly planted garden rows. While we are still a few weeks away from safely sowing seeds or transplanting seedlings, now is the perfect time to ponder planting strategies for the prospect of sunny days digging in the soil.

The following tips are geared toward helping you get the most out of your early gardening chores.

If you start your seeds indoors in flats, here's an easy way to gauge spacing seeds in large flats: Cut a piece of one-inch chicken mesh wire the size of the flat. Simply lay it on the soil and plant a seed inside each hole for instant one-inch spacing. For two or three inch spacing, simply skip the correct number of holes.

If you have leftover seeds, you can quickly and easily test their viability by dropping them in a container of water. The good seeds will sink to the bottom, while the bad ones will float.

To up the odds this year's leftover seeds will sprout again next year, store them in the refrigerator in a tightly closed jar with a packet of silica gel. The gel packets can be recycled from vitamin bottles, electronic and shoe boxes, etc.

If you're germinating seeds, don't spend your hard earned money on a plant heat mat. A heating pad can do the job at a fraction of the cost. Just be sure to cover it in plastic to prevent any water spills.

Here's a helpful tip for storing, and sowing, seeds. Simply put seeds in a clean, empty spice, seasoning or Parmesan cheese shaker. If you have tiny seeds, add little cornstarch to keep them from clumping together. When it's time to plant, just shake them evenly over the soil.

Believe it or not, you might want to consider planting a chrysanthemum plant in the vegetable garden this year. The beautiful chrysan-

Term vs. perm: Which is right for you?

NIELSEN

If you've been thinking about life insurance, especially if you have family, loved ones, or anyone who depends on you financially, you might be curious about the different kinds of policies available. Which type is right for you?

Essentially, you can look at two main categories of life insurance: term and permanent.

Term insurance is a pay-as-you-go option that covers a specific amount of time, usually 20 years or fewer. Term insurance benefits are paid to your beneficiaries free of federal income taxes if you pass away during the coverage period, but there's no opportunity to build cash value.

Permanent insurance, such as whole life or universal life, offers coverage for as long as you pay the premiums, and in addition to providing a tax-free death benefit, also offers a chance to build equity, or cash value, on a tax-deferred basis.

When determining which type of insurance is appropriate for your needs, you'll want to consider these factors:

Cost – Term insurance is generally affordable for most people, which is why it may be particularly suitable for parents and young adults who may be at the beginning of their careers. Permanent insurance is typically more expensive, largely because it is meant to last for one's lifetime and some of the premiums go toward building cash value in the policy and paying for other features. Generally, the younger and healthier you are when you purchase permanent insurance, the lower your rates will be.

Length of time insurance is needed – If you think you will only need life insurance for a certain period — perhaps until your children are grown — you might lean toward term insurance. If you feel the need for life insurance for other goals throughout your lifetime, for whatever reason — you might have a special needs child, or perhaps you want to use your policy to help pay for retirement, or you wish to include the policy as part of your legacy and estate plans — you may want to consider some type of permanent insurance.

Investment preferences – You may have heard the phrase "buy term and invest the difference." Essentially, this just means that an investor could purchase low-cost term insurance, and then invest the money that was saved by not getting permanent insurance. This can be a valuable strategy in some situations, but people often don't actually invest the difference. A permanent insurance policy, through the payment of premiums, may result in a steady buildup of cash value or continued contributions to the policy's investment components. For many people, this discipline is helpful.

Future insurability – If you have health issues, it could become difficult to get permanent insurance after you've reached the end of a term insurance policy. (Some term insurance policies do offer the opportunity to convert to permanent coverage, usually without the need for a medical exam.) You could avoid this potential problem by purchasing permanent insurance when you are still young and healthy.

Ultimately, you will need to weigh the various factors involved in the permanent-versus-term decision. You also might benefit from consulting a financial professional, who can evaluate which type of insurance is most appropriate for your situation. But whether it's term or permanent, make sure you have the coverage you need to protect yourself and your loved ones.

From tautog to turkeys

Stripers are biting very well up and down the coast, but you need to use the correct bait. The Providence River remained absent from Menhaden last weekend, at least for a couple of local anglers. When they tried trolling umbrella rigs, action picked up, with a pair of anglers landing seven stripers last Saturday. They returned the following day and did even better retaining their two fish in a matter of a couple of hours. If you want to catch stripers, the Providence River is the place to go now!

TRUE

Wild Turkey hunters are limiting out with their season limit of two birds early this year. There is very little competition by other hunters, making the hunts productive. Tautog fishing remained very good this past week, with reports of some larger fish. Crabs seem to be the top bait again this year, but the trick of cutting crabs in half revealing the inners of the crab is working well. Haddock fishing on the North Shore remains strong!

The Uxbridge Rod & Gun Club will hold their annual Kids trout fishing derby this Saturday May 11, starting at 8 a.m. Breakfast will be served at 7 a.m.

Boost the beauty and comfort of your outdoor spaces

MYERS

Add some comfort and beauty to your outdoor spaces this year. Look for options that fit your lifestyle, budget, and schedule. Even simple changes can make a positive impact on the time you spend relaxing and entertaining on your patio, deck, or other outdoor spaces.

Freshen up the look and comfort of these areas with some new furniture. Look for comfortable pieces made of durable materials guaranteed to provide years of enjoyment. If this is not within your budget, consider refurbishing something you already have, are gifted from a friend, or find in a thrift shop. Adding a bit of paint, new cushions, or even colorful pillows can transform older pieces into something special.

Add some shade. A strategically placed umbrella can provide needed relief from the sun. Make sure it is stable and secure, especially in windy locations. Consider shade sails not only for the shade they provide but also for their aesthetic appeal. Make sure it is securely anchored and supported, properly managed during harsh weather, and made of fire-retardant fabric if this is a concern in your location. Pergolas are more permanent structures. Train deciduous vines up and over this structure for added shade in the summer. Then enjoy the warming sunlight when the vines drop their leaves during the cooler months of the year.

Create some privacy with strategically placed plantings and containers. Tall grasses, narrow upright shrubs, and vine-covered trellises can help block unwanted views while creating a private space outdoors. Consider the views you want to keep and those you want to block. Screen unsightly views and areas where neighbors can see into your space. You may only need a vine-covered trellis, several hanging baskets, a couple of pots, or a section of fencing rather than a long hedge or length of fencing.

Soften the look of fencing with some wall-mounted planters, a few potted plants or shrubs, and in-ground plantings if space allows. Use a diverse selection of plants when creating a living screen. This provides more seasonal interest and makes it easier to replace that one failed plant in a mature hedge of evergreens like arborvitae.

Water is another way to add a bit of serenity to your space. A wall-mounted fountain, small container of water plants, or container fountain will add noise-blocking sound and a sense of serenity to any space.

To control pesky mosquitoes in water features (or in any standing water), add a mosquito control like Mosquito Dunks and Bits (SummitResponsibleSolutions.com) that contains a naturally occurring bacterium called Bacillus thuringiensis israelensis to the water. This active ingredient kills mosquito larvae, preventing them from transforming into biting adults. Mosquito Bits quickly knock down the mosquito larval population, while the Mosquito Dunks provide 30 days of control. They both are safe for pets, fish, wildlife, and children.

Extend the time you can spend outdoors by adding a heat source for those chilly days and nights and a fan to keep air moving and the space cooler on hot days. Adding a fan also provides some relief from mosquitoes. These weak fliers can't fight the breeze which will keep you out of their reach and much more comfortable.

Include lighting so you can enjoy your outdoor space in the evening. Consider a string of lights overhead, rail lights around the deck, or strategically placed illuminated plant containers. Create a more intimate experience with a few votive candles displayed in unique holders like old punch cups.

Light a few citronella candles for a bit of ambiance and mosquito control when enjoying your outdoor space in the evening. Citronella oil and the scented candles have some mosquito-repelling properties. Scatter lots of candles throughout the space when entertaining. Position the candles within a few feet of yourself and your guests for some short-term relief from these pests.

Start with a list of improvements you want to make. Then get busy researching the various options so you will be ready to boost the comfort and enjoyment of your patio, deck and other outdoor spaces this year.

Bay Path nursing student qualifies for National Technical Honor Society

CHARLTON — Bay Path Practical Academy student Regina Njuguna of Worcester will be inducted into the National Technical Honor Society (NTHS) in an in-person ceremony to be held Sunday, May 12 at the Douglas Orchard and Farms (36 Locust Street, Douglas, MA 01516). This will mark the ninth annual induction ceremony for the academy.

Regina Njuguna

Njuguna has been a direct care staff working with Venture Community Services, Spencer, for the last three years. Regina believes that nurses play a pivotal role in delivering health care, especially to the elderly and other community members that are most vulnerable.

"Nurses are enablers, they nurture environments that enable doctors to effectively diagnose and administer treatment plans where needed, thus acting as a vital support of the healthcare system," she says.

Eligibility for induction to the NTHS is based on a minimum 3.0 grade point average, faculty recommendation, character, leadership, and involvement in extracurricular activities and clubs. These characteristics reflect the member attributes of the National Technical Honor Society which are skill, honesty, service, responsibility, scholarship, citizenship and leadership.

Gretheline Bollandrina, DHA, MSN Ed, RN, CRRN, Academy Director stated, "practical nursing students always look forward to the NTHS induction ceremony each year. Making it through nursing school is a big achievement, being inducted to the NTHS crowns it all."

About Bay Path Practical Nursing Academy: Bay Path offers a 40-week, (10 month), full time, Monday through Friday, evening program. The program begins mid-August and is completed in late June. Graduates receive a Practical Nursing Certificate and are eligible to take the NCLEX-PN licensure exam. For more information, visit www.bay-path.net.

About NTHS The National Technical Honor Society is an educational non-profit that exists to honor, recognize, and empower students and teachers in Career & Technical Education. Tum To HONORS page A14

Want more visual impact for cash output in the garden? If you're planting Azaleas, consider the fact that white azaleas bloom longer than any other color of the plant. ***

Here's an old farmers tip: If you plant your lettuce near tall growing vegetables, the big plants will give off shade, allowing the lettuce to keep its cool and prevent bitter leaves. ***

Did you know planting pennyroyal in the garden naturally deters mosquitoes? When evening falls, simply break off some leaves and scatter them on the porch or ground where people sit. ***

If you have backyard pets and flies are a problem, try planting yarrow to deter the collection of flies. Tansy also works to discourage mosquitoes. ***

Bay Path PN students receive Worcester Women's Leadership Conference scholarships

CHARLTON — Two Bay Path Practical Nursing Academy students — Victoria Boateng of Gardner and Vanessa Gachagua of Southbridge were winners in this year's prestigious 2024 Worcester Regional Chamber of Commerce and Worcester Women's Leadership Committee (WWLC) scholarship. Elizabeth Anacona also of Southbridge joined them. Anacona is a member of the community of interest and a staunch supporter of practical nursing education. Stefanie Silva, Programs and Events Coordinator for Worcester Regional Chamber of Commerce reached out to the nursing students and Anacona with a congratulatory email with the admission to this year's event. "A special thanks to our sponsors," stated Silva. The $250 value event that all three enjoyed the wonderful opportunity to participate in the conference." The Worcester Women's Leadership Conference was held Thursday, May 2 at the DCU Center Ballroom in Worcester. BOOK LAUNCH

The newly published book, "Six Filipino Women for Justice" edited by Asuncion David Maramba featured former senator Leila de Lima by Rosario A. Garcellano, the former vice president Leni Robredo by Ed Garcia, the journalist Maria Ressa by Dulce Festin-Baybay, Sen. Risa Hontiveros by Rafael A.S.G. Ongpin, the former associate justice of the Supreme Court Conchita Carpio Morales by Maria Olivia H. Tripón, and the activist nun Sr. Mary John Mananzan by Neni Sta. Romana Cruz. There is a closing essay by Vergel O. Santos.

Rincon shared, "It was such a great experience. I loved how it was about empowering women. Filipino women are strong women. Thirty-seven percent of Filipino women are under the age of twenty-five. It is hard to get out of the circle of repeated generations. Women are known to cook, clean, and just do the household stuff. But the 6 Filipino women are a great inspiration to women all around the world not just in the Philippines."

The publishers, San Anselmo Publications, Inc. posted: "Six Filipino Women for Justice" explores resilience and the quest for equity. The authors craft an insightful anthology that casts light on six Filipino women at the forefront of challenging and navigating through the Philippines' flawed judicial landscape. The anthology navigates the stark realities of the Philippines-from the dire conditions of its prisons to the entrenched corruption that spans the governmental spectrum. Each story is a testament to the power of conviction and the impact of standing firmly for justice amidst overwhelming opposition. With narratives that inspire and a call to action that resonates, the book not only pays homage to its subjects but also mobilizes a collective belief in the transformative potential of justice."

Rincon concludes, "I know in Colombia women are just known to have kids, cook, and clean and the men provide. But women should be able to be a president, be CEOs, and even get paid equally as men. This generation is changing that view little by little."

Bolandrina was glad to have joined the launch and discussion immediately following the program.

She stated, "it is wonderful to have the opportunity to reflect on the nature of justice. The book launch was both inspirational and insightful. I am proud of my Filipino heritage, even prouder that I can participate in honoring the legacy of Filipino heroes. Maramba's work is recognized as a tribute to the spirit of defiance and hope. Hope is a remarkable thing."

sentatives of local school districts. Both the Dudley-Charlton Regional School Committee and the Southern Worcester County Regional Vocational School District Committee had multiple candidates for available seats, each featuring an incumbent and a newcomer. Incumbent Nicole Enberg ran for reelection for a one-year seat on the Dudley-Charlton Regional School Committee defeating challenger Anthony Aube in a vote of 852 to 702 to earn another term. A three-year seat on the committee was won by incumbent Jeanne Renaud Costello who was unopposed for the position. The Southern Worcester County Regional Vocational School District Committee saw incumbent Donald Montville defeat challenger Jay Sweet receiving 1,142 votes to Sweet's 442.

The rest of the ballot featured uncontested elections. Brett Moore was unchallenged in a reelection bid for Assessor. Willia S Bond, Jr. won an uncontested election for Cemetery Commissioner. Patricia Ann Rydlak was uncontested for seats on both the Planning Board and Recreation Commission. Frances M. Mower, Stefan D. Sage, and Lance Russell Morin all won uncontested seats as Library Trustees. Seats on the Board of Health, Recreation Commission, and Water & Sewer Commission were decided by write-in votes. Diane Doherty earned the most votes for a one-year Recreation Commission seat, Stephen Zeveska was victorious as a write-in candidate for the Board of Health, and Paul Gagner was the top vote-getter as a write-in for both available seats on the Water & Sewer Commission.

The Hitchcock "Grow With Us" Plant Sale was established in 2020. Previously a fundraiser for the now retired Brimfield Ambulance Fund, Hitchcock was happy to inherit this popular annual event. It is held annually in early to mid-May on the lawn.

Bee and bat houses are generously made to order as a fundraiser for Hitchcock by volunteer Bob Clark. Mason bees are non-aggressive, solitary pollinators that nest in holes in wood already made by other insects or birds. They are ideal pollinators for gardeners. The bee houses are made to attract as many mason bees as possible with holes drilled to mimic the holes that the bees find attractive. Bats pollinate plants and cut down on mosquito populations and other bugs.

The Farmers Market will also be open during the sale from 9 a.m. - 1 p.m. Now in its eighteenth year, the market opened in April and will run through to the end of October. The market offers homemade goods and locally grown seasonal plants, produce, meat, baked goods, maple products, ice cream, eggs, crafts, soap, and more. It is open every Saturday through October, rain or shine, with the exception of Brimfield Flea Market weeks in May, July, and September.

Market founder Linda Fuchs of Flourish Farm offers pre-cut and living microgreens along with cold-tolerant herb and vegetable starter plants. Fuchs is especially proud of the access to fresh foods provided by the market.

"These small family businesses return year after year because they care about our community and can provide local products and bring these special money saving programs to town," Fuchs said.

Participating vendors Flourish Farms and Hunt Road Berry Farm accept SNAP/HIP benefits along with WIC & Senior Coupons which usually come out in July.

Linda will be joined by Lee from Turnabout Farm with baked goods, bread, jams, pickles, and dog treats, John from Thompson's Maple Farm with ice cream and maple goods, Sue from Rocky Ridge Beef with honey, eggs, pork, and beef, and Chelsea and Dan of Dabbler's Notch with their handcrafted wool & wood products. Charlotte of C&C Crafts and Peggy of AP Lavender Essentials will also be selling their hand-sewn products (weather-permitting). The market also welcomed new vendor Alise of Girlies Cakes who offers gourmet cupcakes mini macarons and several gluten free desserts.

Joining the market later in the season will be Jim of Hunt Road Berry Farm with a variety of fresh produce Fresh flowers from Dragonfly Farms are also offered on select market days at the Hunt Road Berry Farm booth.

Asked what she loves most about the small but mighty market nearing two decades in operation, founder and Flourish Farm owner Linda Fuchs points to the community that has formed between small business owners and customers: "It's the sharing of knowledge and wonderful conversations. I love the social aspect of being at the market and how we learn from each other."

Following the Plant Sale, Hitchcock will host the annual Town-Wide Tag Sale on June 8th, for which registration is currently open. Stay tuned for more details on that and its annual Summer Concert Series. Registration for Hitchcock's Summer Days program, a weekly program including arts & crafts and sports & games for kids is soon to open, along with the return of tennis lessons. Classes and workshops for all ages will continue through the spring and summer seasons in fitness, arts & crafts, music, and enrichment.

Hitchcock Academy is a community center located at 2 Brookfield Road in Brimfield serving the community with educational, recreational, and cultural programming. More information can be found at www.hitchcockacademy.org
