Nichols honors Class of 2024

BY JASON BLEAU
CORRESPONDENT

WORCESTER — Nichols College held its annual graduation ceremony on May 4, conferring diplomas to 329 students throughout the morning. The ceremony featured a few consistent themes: perseverance, service, and meaning in choosing a career path of the future.

Nichols College President William Pieczynski, who was named the ninth president of the college only days before the ceremony, welcomed students and guests and introduced two class speakers, Senior Class President Ingrid de Souza Oliveira and Class of 2024 graduate student speaker Ellis Cropper, who represented two very different generations presenting the values of the college experience to their peers.

Oliviera quoted the poem "It Couldn't be

Done" by Edgar Albert Guest which describes how many may prophesize one's failure, but perseverance is key to overcoming those doubts and finding personal success.

"As a first-generation student, I never imagined achieving as much as I have, and I believe many of you here today may be feeling the same way. Some of us may have had naysayers that told us getting our degree couldn't be done, but you did it. In some cases, our naysayers might have been ourselves, but you did it. In fact, throughout our journey we have seen our fellow classmates do what others thought couldn't be done," she said.

Oliviera praised the Class of 2024 for "embodying the spirit of engagement and involvement" which was a sentiment shared by her fellow speaker Ellis Cropper who graduated Nichols College's

Dudley sets annual Town Meeting for Monday

DUDLEY — The Town of Dudley will hold its annual spring town meeting on Monday, May 20 with a loaded warrant that will address the proposed Fiscal Year 2025 spending plan, a waterline easement on Eagle Drive, the proposed Centennial Park Plans and more.

The meeting will start off by addressing a series of financial matters in the town. The first major discussion will be the new budget which was finalized during a meeting of the Board of Selectmen on May 6. The proposed budget totals $29.1 million including $12.2 million for the Dudley Charlton Regional School District and $1.17 million for Bay Path. The warrant will also address the revolving fund, salary increases for the Treasurer/Collector and Town Clerk, the purchase of a new police vehicle, unpaid bills and payments, and employee merit pool, and dam inspections.

The second half of the warrant will see the town address a variety of other proposals, including some that have become part of significant public meetings and debate in the first few months of 2024. The Planning Board has recommended amendments to the design standards for shared driveways which must be approved at the town meeting. The town is seeking to acquire land to build on Dudley's portion of the Quinebaug Rail Trail which connects Dudley to Southbridge and Thompson, Conn. Article 14 will seek a waterline easement on Eagle Drive which would allow the town to install a public waterline that officials say is the recommended solution to ongoing PFAS contamination issues in the area. Officials held a public hearing on the matter in April which can be viewed on the Town of Dudley YouTube channel. Article 15 will see a request from the Historical Commission to utilize the town owned property on Ardlock Place known as the "Dye House Property" to construct a Centennial Park that would help celebrate Dudley's Tri-Centennial. The proposal came before selectmen

Rheault, Robbins seek Oxford selectman's seat

BY GUS STEEVES
CORRESPONDENT

OXFORD — Former Town Moderator, Selectman and School Committee member Russell Rheault faces a challenge from retired state trooper Mark Robbins in the only contest on this year's town election ballot. They seek to replace Dennis Lamarche, who is not seeking re-election.

To Rheault, the goal is to promote civility and compromise locally in a national political culture that seems to be running from it.

"I've always been good at compromise," he said. "I can disagree with someone without disrespecting them. Disagreeing with someone doesn't have to mean you dislike them. And knowing this can lead to compromise, or at the very least, agreeing to disagree so that you can move forward."

Robbins has a similar viewpoint. By email, he said, "I wholeheartedly believe that working with others and being open minded to other points of view build strong relationships, trust, and a better community. I don't know if anything in our small community will ever change, but it would be amiss if I did not try to be a part of the solution versus just a barking voice on the sidelines."

The two of them face a political climate that has become fairly polarized, but still needs to address a long list of sometimes perennial local concerns.

RUSS RHEAULT

Rheault noted one of them is affordability, with many people in the same situation he is of living on Social Security and a part-time job. He noted people don't generally want to raise taxes, but sometimes "kicking the can down the road [isn't] a good option." He was

St. Joseph students present Living Wax Museum

WEBSTER — On Friday, April 26, Ms. Kelly Bailey's fifth-grade students, with their unwavering enthusiasm and dedication, presented the Living Wax Museum at St. Joseph School.

This annual two-part project, which focuses on reading biographies, saw each student immerse themselves in the life of a fascinating figure. They not only read about their chosen person but also dressed up and spoke like them, showcasing their deep understanding of the person's birth date, childhood, and contributions to our society.

The 2024 Living Wax Museum unfolded on the lawn outside St. Joseph Basilica. Parents and fellow St. Joseph School Students were not just spectators, but active participants in this interactive learning experience. They had the unique opportunity to engage with and learn from the statuesque students, who came to life with every visitor's approach. The event was a captivating journey through the lives of famous authors, scientists, mathematicians, sports figures, and more, adding a dynamic element to their presentations.

Living wax figures included Abigail Rubin as Queen Elizabeth I, Amelia Potem as Diana Spencer, Ariana Benson as Katherine Johnson, Bella Kicilinski as Amelia Earhart, Evelyn Macko as J.K. Rowling, Gabriel Kenoung-Ung as George Takei May, Grayson Dollar as Abraham Lincoln, Jacob Manzi as Samuel Slater, James Miranda as Wilbur Wright, Lily Martin as Anna May Wong, Lukas Stock as J.R. Tolkien, Noah Ryan as Alexander Hamilton, and Sophia Surowanec as Margaret Brown. The event, always a source of joy and fun for the students, is their favorite book report of the year. It's a testament to the educational and enjoyable nature of the event.

Webster resident awarded scholarship from Society of CPA's

was awarded the MassCPAs Alliance - Silver Scholarship by the MassCPAs Educational Foundation's 2024 Scholarship Program.

Rogalski, a student at Bentley University, was one of 51 students selected to receive a scholarship. The students will be honored for their awards at MassCPAs' annual, member-wide networking event, Connect 2024, on May 8.

"The dedication and talent of these scholarship recipients is truly inspiring," said Zach Donah, CAE, president and CEO of MassCPAs. "Their commitment to the accounting profession fills us with confidence about the future of the industry in Massachusetts. We're honored to support their academic journeys and play a role in their success. We extend our sincere gratitude to this year's donors and volunteers for helping students achieve their dreams through our scholarship program."

Scholarships are funded 100 percent through donations to the MassCPAs Educational Foundation. The mission of the Foundation is to inspire and support the next generation of CPAs in Massachusetts, and since the program's inception in 2006, the Foundation has awarded over 400 scholarships to aspiring CPAs, ranging from $2,500 - $10,000 and totaling more than $1.9 million. MassCPAs scholarships are available for both undergraduate and graduate accounting students who are attending a college or university in Massachusetts or attending a college or university out-of-state with a permanent residence in Massachusetts. Scholarship funds are issued directly to the students and can be used for tuition, books, interviewing expenses or other needs. For more information about the Educational Foundation, click here.

"MassCPAs is committed to fostering a diverse and talented accounting workforce," said Allie Orlando, director of academic and career development at MassCPAs. "These scholarships address financial barriers and create opportunities for deserving students. We are deeply grateful to our individual and firm donors who share our vision. Together, we are building a stronger future for the accounting profession in Massachusetts."

Job change?

Whether retiring or changing jobs, you'll want to know your retirement account options.

- There are four potential options for your 401(k) when leaving an employer:
- Leave it in your former employer's 401(k) plan, if allowed by the plan.
  - Move it to your new employer's 401(k) plan, if you've changed employers and your new employer plan allows for it.
  - Roll the account over to an individual retirement account (IRA).
  - Cash it out, which is subject to potential tax consequences.

We can talk through your financial goals and find the option that works best for you.

PET of the WEEK

Meet :Toby , 1 year

"Lots to love" is the perfect way to describe our friend Toby. This big boy is a total goofball and is sure to make you smile. Even though he doesn't have a tail, Toby still shows how happy he is with the most adorable wiggles. He makes everyone he meets smile by leaning against them for pets and rolling onto his back for his favorite activity: belly rubs! He enjoys car rides, which often lull him to sleep.

Toby would do great in a home with teens or older children due to his size and excitement. He may do well with a dog sibling who loves to romp around and play as much as he does. Sometimes he doesn't know his own size, but he's learning. Your next best friend is waiting here, apply for adoption today!

Loki

Hello there, lovely people! My name is Loki, and I'm here to introduce you to the joy and love that I bring into every room I enter. Despite being a senior, I've still got the heart of a puppy and the energy to match!

You see, I've got a playful spirit that just won't quit. Whether it's chasing after a ball, going for a brisk walk, or curling up for some cuddles, I'm always ready for some fun and affection. Age is just a number, right?

Now, I'll admit it - I can be a bit nervous around men. But with patience, understanding, and gentle care, I know I can overcome my fears and learn to trust again. All I need is someone who's willing to take the time to earn my trust and show me that there's nothing to be afraid of.

If you choose to adopt me, you'll gain a loyal companion who will fill your days with endless joy, laughter, and love. I can't wait to find my forever home and become the cherished member of the family that I know I was meant to be.

Oh, and did I mention that I love going on hikes? It's true! Exploring the great outdoors is one of my favorite pastimes. However, I do need to work on my leash manners a bit. You see, I get so excited while exploring that I can be quite strong on the leash. So, I'll need someone who can handle my exuberance and help me become the best hiking buddy I can be.

So, if you're ready to open your heart and home to a sweet senior like me, please consider giving me a chance. I promise to fill your life with love, laughter, and unforgettable adventures. Let's make each day an exciting new journey together!

Worcester Polytechnic Institute students complete intensive research projects

WORCESTER — At Worcester Polytechnic Institute (WPI), all undergraduates are required to complete a research-driven, professional-level project that applies science and technology that addresses an important societal need or issue. About two-thirds of students complete a project at one of the university's 50-plus off-campus project centers, which are located around the world. A signature element of the innovative undergraduate experience at WPI, the project-based curriculum offers students the opportunity to apply their scientific and technical knowledge to develop thoughtful solutions to real problems that affect the quality of people's lives and make a difference before they graduate.

curriculum's focus on global studies brings students out of the classroom and their comfort zones and into the global community to apply their knowledge and to solve problems," said Professor Kent Rissmiller, professor of Integrative & Global Studies and associate dean of The Global School. "Students are immersed in all aspects of a different culture, from the way people live and work to the values they hold to the foods they eat - all valuable perspectives for surviving and thriving in today's global marketplace. They also learn the meaning and magic of teamwork; make a real and meaningful difference in their host community; and gain a competitive edge for any resume, or graduate or professional school application."

The following students were part of a team that completed an intensive project:

Samuel Wing, class of 2025, majoring in Aerospace Engineering from Oxford, was part of a project titled Developing an E-Commerce Plan for MW/GW ReStore

William Tyrrell, class of 2025, majoring in Electrical and Computer Engineering from Dudley, was part of a project titled Analyzing Beekeeping in Aotearoa New Zealand

Morgan Polinski, class of 2025, majoring in Biomedical Engineering from Webster, was part of a project titled Useability of Value Added Products to Reduce Seafood Waste

Juliana Fox, class of 2025, majoring in Industrial Engineering from Oxford, was part of a project

titled Determining Impact of Small-Scale Sustainability Efforts

About Worcester Polytechnic Institute

WPI, a global leader in project-based learning, is a distinctive, top-tier technological university founded in 1865 on the principle that students learn most effectively by applying the theory learned in the classroom to the practice of solving real-world problems. Recognized by the National Academy of Engineering with the 2016 Bernard M. Gordon Prize for Innovation in Engineering and Technology Education, WPI's pioneering project-based curriculum engages undergraduates in solving important scientific, technological, and societal problems throughout their education and at more than 50 project centers around the world. WPI offers more than 70 bachelor's, master's, and doctoral degree programs across 18 academic departments in science, engineering, technology, business, the social sciences, and the humanities and arts. Its faculty and students pursue groundbreaking research to meet ongoing challenges in health and biotechnology; robotics and the internet of things; advanced materials and manufacturing; cyber, data, and security systems; learning science; and more. www.wpi.edu

Internships to be offered at Auburn Historical Society and Museum

AUBURN — This summer will be the fourth year that the Auburn Historical Society will be offering an internship program for high school and college students at the Auburn Historical Museum, 41 South St. in Auburn.

Projects interns will work on include:
Categorizing and organizing historic photographs and documents to prepare for digitization.

Researching topics in the history of the Town of Auburn
Data input for our Holstrom Digital Archives

Assisting with creating and running public programs
Learning and gaining hands-on experience in the creating, care, and maintenance of an historical museum's exhibits and facilities

Each unpaid internship is tailored to the individual and their interests. It is a great opportunity for high school and college students, scouts, youth groups, and those looking to fulfill community service hours or to gain work experience.

For more information on this program, please contact Helen, internship coordinator at auburnmuseum@verizon.net.

The Auburn Historical Society and Museum is open year-round every Tuesday and Saturday from 9:30 a.m.-12:30 p.m. and offers free admission.

Belmont University announces Dean's List honorees

NASHVILLE, Tenn. — Belmont University recently released the Dean's List for the spring 2024 semester. Approximately 44 percent of the University's 7,338 undergraduate students qualified for the spring 2024 Dean's List.

"Earning a place on the Dean's List is a testament to the unwavering diligence, tenacity and commitment to scholarly distinction exhibited by Belmont's promising students," said Belmont University Provost Dr. David Gregory. "The ability to excel both inside and outside the classroom emphasizes these students' exceptional character and drive, and it is an honor for me to extend my heartfelt congratulations to each one. Whether they are contributing to the arts, pioneering groundbreaking research or championing important causes, they have consistently demonstrated the same level of passion and excellence that has brought them to this momentous academic achievement."

Dean's List eligibility is based on a minimum course load of 12 hours and a quality grade point average of 3.5 with no grade below a C.

Embracing nature's flourish: The case for No Mow May

As we wind down the month of May, a rare opportunity has presented itself, with a chance to change our relationship with our lawns and embrace the beauty of nature's unruly charm. "No Mow May" is a movement that encourages homeowners and communities to refrain from mowing their lawns for the entire month. While it may initially sound unconventional, this initiative carries several benefits for both our environment and our well-being.

No Mow May supports biodiversity. By allowing our lawns to grow freely, we create habitats and food sources for a variety of insects, birds, and small mammals. Native wildflowers, clovers, and grasses flourish, attracting pollinators such as bees and butterflies that are crucial to our ecosystem's health. Through this simple act of not mowing our lawns, we actively contribute to the preservation of local flora and fauna, helping to restore balance to our landscapes.

No Mow May presents an opportunity for us to reconnect with nature and foster a sense of wonder in our surroundings. As we witness the transformation of our lawns into vibrant meadows, we are reminded of the cyclical nature of life and the beauty found in untamed spaces. Stepping outside and immersing ourselves in these naturally evolving environments can be a source of inspiration, relaxation, and a respite from the demands of our daily lives.

Further, No Mow May holds significant environmental benefits. By refraining from mowing, we reduce our carbon footprint and conserve valuable resources.

Critics may argue that unkempt lawns present a sense of neglect or an invitation for pests. However, it is important to distinguish between neglect and intentional cultivation of natural spaces. No Mow May encourages us to redefine our perception of what a "perfect" lawn looks like, allowing for a shift in aesthetics that prioritizes the health of our ecosystems over conforming to conventional norms.

Let your lawn be a canvas for nature's masterpiece, even if just for a few weeks!

Rejoice always

A couple decades ago, during the years of communism, a certain old Romanian priest would never greet anyone with the typical "Hello" or "Good Morning." Instead, he greeted anyone he met with a radiant smile and the words "Rejoice always!" Now this may seem like an unusual way to greet someone, but it is even more incomprehensible when one learned that this priest was in terrible prison, while his son and daughter, along with two sons-in-law also suffered in prison. Even though his entire family endured horrible persecution, the priest still greeted everyone by saying, "Rejoice always!"

We hear St. Paul offer similar words - "Rejoice in the Lord always" - to the persecuted Christian believers in Philippi, even while he himself languished in a prison cell.

How can anyone in prison, someone suffering, anyone facing difficult circumstances, exhort others to "rejoice?" What is this holy joy that such people as St. Paul, and that Romanian priest radiated. "Rejoice always! Rejoice in the Lord always." Such phrases obviously imply JOY, yet in our world today too many people don't understand what brings joy. Many think joy comes with constant pleasure, and thus busy themselves with trivial and meaningless pursuits to occupy and fill their time. Others think that material success and excess will make their lives joyful, while still others say that popularity and fame are the only way for true happiness.

Think for a moment about those who you know who may reflect a deep inner, authentic joy, and tell me who they are. Over the years of my life, I have been blessed to meet a few such people - people who exemplified and exuded holy joy. I knew three dear simple old women who endured the horrors and fears of communism in Albania, yet carried an inner joy during all their years of uncertainty and suffering. Archbishop Anastasios of Albania is another model for me. I stayed close to him during numerous difficult times in East Africa and in post-communist Albania, yet I witnessed how he exuded an inner joy during the most challenging times. Then there was Bishop Gerasimos, a simple, gentle, humble retired bishop during my seminarian years who exuded joy. I developed a nice relationship with a dear nun of Mother Teresa's Missionaries of Charity and she was another great example of someone with joy. Most of these people were individuals with very little material wealth, yet all possessed a great faith that acted as the source of their true joy!

Ultimately for us followers of Jesus Christ, there is only one source of everlasting impenetrable joy - and that source is God Almighty. To know Jesus Christ in the depths of our souls, to allow Him to enter into our hearts and guide our lives, and to be filled with his Holy Spirit is the ultimate definition and experience of joy, because He is precisely the source.

When someone abides in God, he/she is connected to all that God has created, and thus, the entire world becomes a beautiful place. Even in the midst of chaos and darkness, sadness and evil, when logic tempts us to despair, our relationship with Christ gives us a different and refreshing perspective, filling us with hope and love. This is why the saints radiated joy in spite of their hardships and martyrdoms. This is why St. Paul and that Romanian priest under communism could rejoice under any and every circumstance.

These saints discovered the secret of the Christian life - that God is always with us, and that faith in Him chases away all fear, despair and hopelessness. When we abide in His love, we discover the security and comfort to rejoice even in the midst of tragedy or uncertainty.

I don't say we rejoice because of tragedy, but instead, we can rejoice in the midst of tragedy. In any and every situation, we will be able to see something positive and good. If God is with us, there is always hope and a glimmer of light.

The 300 million Orthodox Christians around the world are now journeying through Holy Week, which takes us through the darkest days of humanity, and reminds us of this unquenchable joy in the midst of tragedy. On Good Friday we travel through the passion of Christ, when everything seems dark and hopeless. Jesus is betrayed by one of his dear friends, his followers abandon him, and his closest companion denies knowing him. Christ is put on trial, condemned, ridiculed, beaten, tortured and crucified by his own people. Yet the story does not end with suffering and death. Although evil seems to prevail, God has the final say!

Our sadness and despair turn to inexpressible joy as we hear on Pascha (Easter) night (which is May 5 this year for Orthodox Christians), "Come receive the light from the unwaning light, and let us glorify him who is risen from the dead!"

From a human perspective, the situation seems hopeless. From God's point of view, victory was certain. Here is the secret of how the saints could rejoice in even the worst of situations. If we know the Risen Lord, and have His Spirit abiding within us, then we automatically have His Joy shining from our lives!

So how can we make joy a central part of our lives? Let me offer three concrete suggestions:

First, we need to allow Christ to ENTER INTO AND rule our lives. On Palm Sunday, Jesus entered Jerusalem as a king. People lined up on the streets to greet and praise him. "Hosanna to God in the highest! Blessed is He who comes in the name of the Lord." We are called to join with the crowd in praising Him, yet just like the crowd, we have a decision before us. Will our cry of "hosanna" be a sincere cry, where we ask Christ to come and dwell at the center of our lives, or will we cry out in a superficial manner like they did 2000 years ago, honoring him for a day, but rejecting, denying and even crucifying him later in our lives.

If Christ is truly our king, we need to find time throughout the entire year to commune with Him through prayer and meditation, Bible study and frequent participation in the Holy Sacraments, no matter how busy our schedule is. Excuses of being too busy simply reflect our insincerity.

A second way of being filled with joy is to never allow the anxieties and troubles of life drown out our faith and trust in God. In the same passage where St. Paul says to "Rejoice in the Lord always!" he also counsels "don't about anything, but in everything, through prayer and supplication, with thanksgiving, let your request be made known to God. And the peace of God that passes all understanding will abide richly in your heart." In other words, holy joy comes when we learn to place all our concerns and troubles in God's hands, and then to believe that he is in control!

A third way to discover joy is to be thankful for everything in our lives. An incredible example of gratitude is the Romanian priest I mentioned. When a fellow prisoner asked this priest how he could rejoice when he and his family suffered so much, he replied, "Rejoicing is easy if we follow St. Paul's lesson to 'Rejoice with those who rejoice.'" When we learn to rejoice with all those who rejoice, we have plenty of motivation for joy. For example, I sit in jail yet I rejoice with those who are free. I can't go to Church and am not able to receive Holy Communion, but I rejoice with the millions of people around the world who go to Church and receive Communion every week. I can't see my children and my grandchildren, but I rejoice with those surrounded by their loved ones. . . . When we rejoice with those who rejoice, we can find many reasons to radiate joy."

Let us seek for Jesus Christ to enter more fully into the depths of our hearts and live as our Lord and King! If Jesus abides there, guiding us every moment of every day, then we will truly discover the source of ineffable joy! We will be able to "rejoice always" and give thanks in every circumstance.

Toms are looking for love

Turkey hunting is starting to improve as toms start to find new areas to look for love. Many hens are already sitting on their eggs. More sightings of turkeys roaming fields and side roads, are a sure sign that toms are on the hunt for romance with a new lady.

Freshwater fishing for trout, and numerous other species of fish have anglers becoming more serious about their sport. Wachusett Res is providing better action for lakers, salmon and as this week's second picture shows smallmouth bass.

Local ponds and rivers are also producing some nice trout for anglers to enjoy catching. Mass. will continue to stock trout until Memorial Day in most areas, and will stock areas a bit later if the trout become available.

Deer are also having their young this month, and residents are asked not to get too close to a young deer, or attempt to pick it up if they think the fawn is abandoned. The mother is not too far away and often hides their young as they do every year.

Waterfowl are also having a very good year hatching out their young. Local geese have been spotted with a good family of goslings, and ducks also seem to be having a good hatching of their young.

Numerous ospreys in the Uxbridge area have been spotted catching fish in local ponds and carrying them off to feed their young. Ospreys were nearly wiped out locally when the DDT poison was used to kill mosquitos and other insects. Watching ospreys diving into the water at high speeds to catch fish is extremely entertaining, and they can dive down up to three feet to catch a fish.

Wildlife is in good shape locally & with the help of sportsmen's money, they should stay that way.

Ask the Assessor

BY LISA L. BERG
PRINCIPAL ASSESSOR
DUDLEY

Q: Why have I received a "Residential Data Verification Report" letter from the Assessor's Office with information containing my home's interior information and why was someone at my property to measure my home?

A: The state Department of Revenue requires every City/Town in MA to conduct cyclical inspections once every 10 years. These inspections are to ensure the Assessor's Office has accurate data for each property. Accurate data ensures accurate assessments.

Prior to COVID, the Assessor's Office would visit your home and ask to conduct an interior inspection. After COVID, we felt it best to mail a Residential Data Verification letter containing the interior information of the property instead. We ask the taxpayer to review the information and make any corrections if necessary. Such interior items examples are heating/cooling systems, bathroom count, bedroom count, flooring, finished basements, etc.

This letter states the Assessor's Office is contracted with Vision Government Solutions to conduct the exterior inspections.

At some point during the year, after receiving the letter, a data collector will come to your property to measure your house exterior as well as, pools, sheds, decks, patios, etc. to ensure our measurements are correct. They will be looking also at the condition of the home as well as adding or taking away any outbuildings that may have been added or removed.

These cyclical inspections require an inspection of each property once every ten years. Instead of conducting this over a 10-year period, we chose to do it over a 5-year period. Our first year started last year.

All contracted data collectors have "Assessors Office" magnetic signs on their car. They have badges identifying themselves and will have a letter from the Assessor's Office stating who they are. This letter contains their name, vehicle make, model and registration number. They are also registered with the Police Department.

If at any time you have questions regarding these inspections, please don't hesitate to contact my office. We will be happy to answer any and all questions or concerns you may have.

(Do you have a question for the Assessor? Please send questions to Assess1@dudleyma.gov or call us at 508-949-8006.)

Thanks to all the readers who have taken time from their busy schedule to send in their great tips for dealing with the little nuisances in life. And remember readers, your tip puts you in the running for a three course dinner for two at the Publick House! From reusing common items to adding creativity to keeping the birdbath clean, the following tips from readers are sure to make the season's hassles a little easier to handle!

A reader offers her tried and true strategy (using an unexpected household item) to safely remove ticks:

Warmer weather is right around the corner and so are the ticks! A friend told us to put toothpaste on area as soon as you discover a tick biting. You will soon see movement of the tick as they willingly escape the dreaded toothpaste. My husband and both had success with this method last summer. It really works. Good luck and stay safe!

This medley of creative reuse and recycling tips save time and money!

1. Dryer wipes: I don't use them in the dryer; I put them in plastic totes when I store clothes, Christmas items, curtains, etc. They give a pleasant smell to the clothes.

Then when I remove the wipes from the totes, I use them to clean the bathroom sink and tub and/or use them dry on a Swiffer (use two and push into holes on back) for a quick pick up.

2. Used tissue paper: I cut it up into a convenient size and use to wipe grease out of pans and as a quick way to clean the kitchen floor when food drops there,

3. Alcohol pre-moistened towels: Restaurants sometimes give these out with messy foods. Use to wipe your hands after making meatballs, meatloaf, cutting chicken up, etc. I wet the ones that have dried up. They also can be used for doing a quick kitchen counter or floor pickup.

These ideas enable one to recycle items normally discarded after one use.

This reader's tip uses copper's natural algicide properties to solve a common garden challenge:

Love birdbaths but hate potential mosquito infestation due to standing water? Toss three or four copper pennies into your birdbath, it keeps the water clean, clear, and mosquito free!

Talk about Yankee Ingenuity! From a quick fix to a creative keepsake, this reader always comes up with useful ideas:

Here's a solution I found for when the hard plastic ring on a new pump shampoo bottle cracked: Luckily, in my odds and ends drawer, I always tuck in one spare pump from a previous empty bottle just for such emergencies. I was able to remove the broken and put on the replacement in seconds! Time to watch for a new spare. This works for hand lotion or glass or kitchen cleaners too!

I recently dug into my sewing and craft basket to embellish a child's book. I simply attached a heart of craft fur to a Baby Animal book with open and peek windows. This easy addition offered a touch sense to go along with the peek and surprise to the story book. Personalize it more by writing a personal inscription.

Because I'm in the business of dispensing tips, not inventing them (although I can take credit for some), I'm counting on you readers out there to share your best helpful hints!

Do you have a tip that has worked for you? Do you have a question regarding household or garden matters? If so, why not share them with readers of Stonebridge Press newspapers? Send questions and/or hints to: Take the Hint!, C/o the Southbridge Evening News, PO Box 90; Southbridge, MA 01550. Or email KDRR@aol.com. Hints are entered into a drawing for dinner for two at the historic Publick House Inn.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Help establish an Audit Advisory Committee in Dudley

To the Editor:

Residents of Dudley will be asked to approve the creation of an Audit Advisory Committee at the Monday May 20 Town Meeting at 7 p.m. at Shepherd Hill High School.

Please come to Town meeting and help me get this passed by voting yes on this article.

The time has come for higher standards in Dudley. For greater transparency and communication.

Recently, the Town of Dudley announced that the Massachusetts Department of Revenue is conducting a financial audit of the town. This is an excellent first step. We had repeatedly told town officials that the State had numerous resources available at NO COST to the town to review financial practices and procedures of the town. Residents remained firm in the belief that there was no harm in getting a 2nd set of eyes to look at our books and practices.

But this audit is only the first step. To date... there has never been a public discussion, review or any accountability for last year's crisis. In many aspects, was swept under the rug. That's not good, transparent government. We, the residents, ordinary citizens, deserve better.

With this in mind, the time has come for Dudley to do what dozens of towns have already done across Massachusetts. It's time to create a Permanent Audit Advisory Committee.

This new committee would be responsible for hiring the Town Auditor and reviewing them every 3 years. (Our current Auditor Scanlon & Associates was hired 17 years ago, and their contract has been automatically renewed by Selectmen during this time.)

With the MA DOR now doing an audit, it's perfect timing for the creation of this committee.

If the committee is approved at Monday's 5/20 Town Meeting, they should be in place when the MA DOR Audit is completed. It's perfect. They could be the board that ensures a true public discussion occurs on any MA DOR findings and recommendations.

This audit committee does not perform the actual audits and will be made up of three resident volunteers, one independent member each appointed by Town Moderator, the FAA and BOS.

Their duties shall include

- * Responsible for selecting an independent town auditor every 3 years and the scope of services for that independent auditor.

- * Review the annual financial statements and reports prepared by the independent auditor and make recommendations with respect thereto.

- * Report to the town on findings, recommendations and corrective action taken during the preceding 12 months.

- * Make recommendations for areas of operations where expanded scope audits or reviews of the internal controls may be appropriate.

- * Review and make recommendations with respect to the Town's financial management practices and controls.

- * Ensure independence of the auditor, while enhancing accountability and proper stewardship over public funds.

- * Review and make recommendations with respect to the Town's Public Records Compliance obligations.

We need you to come to the town meeting on Monday. I need your support to pass this Warrant Article. We have faced some ferocious opposition to the formation of this committee from certain officials, and without your support, might not prevail.

Thank you for your time, consideration and I ask for your affirmative vote on this Warrant Article.

JOHN BRIARE

Irony is lost on Dudley's selectmen

To the Editor:

If you're not impressed by the competence of Dudley's selectmen, you might be amused by their irony.

They met May 6 to approve the warrant for the May 20 town meeting, which, by the way, includes another jolting tax increase sponsored by the perpetually shameless Dudley-Charlton Regional School Committee. But much of the discussion focused on a petition to create a town audit committee — something of a citizens' watchdog agency that would provide a certain level of oversight of the town's spending. The committee, would comprise three unpaid volunteers, one each appointed by the selectmen, the Finance Appropriation and Advisory Committee (FAA) and the Town Moderator. Its role would be purely advisory. Nevertheless, the very suggestion that a committee of citizens, independent of the town's administration, could review their budget decisions, seemed to strike terror in the hearts of a majority of the board.

Selectman Steven Sullivan was alarmed that an audit committee would have access to public financial records. He seemed unable to grasp the fact that virtually anyone could have access to them because, well, they are public records.

Meanwhile, Selectman Kerry Cyganiewicz, as well as Sullivan, was concerned that the committee might gain access to personal information that might be included in the public records. Nice try. Unfortunately, that horse left the barn a long time ago. Identity thieves don't need to peruse Dudley's public documents to get access to personal information that abounds on the Internet and floats aloft in cyber clouds all over the globe. And if everybody else in town hall already has access to that information what's the harm of allowing three more people, vetted by many of these officials, to have access?

And then there was Selectman Mark Landry, who opposed the idea because he said the state Department of Revenue has told him over and over again that no community needs an audit committee unless they have already had some sort of accounting problem. He said the very idea was "irresponsible" because it disrespected dedicated and competent town officials who already pay the bills and make purchasing and hiring decisions.

Russ Rheault is committed to Oxford

To the Editor:

I first met Russell Rheault in 1998, while he was delivering Meals on Wheels to my Mom and I. He volunteered to deliver meals for 10 years. Over the years, I have seen him as Moderator at town meetings, an office he held for fifteen years, I was always very impressed with how knowledgeable he was.

Russ has also served as a member of the School Committee for nine years, a member of the Board of Selectman for three years, and the Oxford Council on Aging for three years. For fourteen years he has assisted the Oxford Ecumenical Council Food Shelf.

Russ is a lifelong resident of the town of Oxford, and I have no doubt of his commitment and dedication to the people of Oxford. I support his candidacy for Selectman, and urge my fellow citizens to vote for Russ on May 21.

ROBERT J. SHEDD
OXFORD

Rheault is the leader Oxford needs

To the Editor:

As the selectman election on May 21 approaches, I find myself remembering a time when the Oxford Select Board acted with integrity and respect. We collaborated towards common goals and were aware of the impact our decisions had on the community, as well as its residents.

We need a leader who can not only bring this respect and dignity to our board, but who is also focused on what is best for our town, its schools and its citizens. As a lifelong resident, Russ Rheault is the best candidate for this position. He cares about our community, and has the experience to continue to move it forward.

I have known Russ for quite some time, as we both served on the select board together for a year in 2001-2002. We may not have always agreed, but we were able to disagree civilly, working for the greater good of our town and its residents. He was always respectful and willing to listen to other people's points of view and cared about doing the right thing for our community.

Russ has been an avid contributor to our community for decades, serving on the Oxford School Committee for nine years, and as our Town Moderator for 15 years. He has volunteered his time to the Oxford Ecumenical Council Food Shelf and Meals on Wheels, as well as serving on the Oxford Council of Aging for three years.

As a small business owner in town for 40 years, his commitment to our community is evident. His dedication and experience, combined with his ability to respectfully collaborate, are what the Oxford Select Board needs now.

Please vote for Russ Rheault at the upcoming Oxford Selectmen election on Tuesday, May 21.

HANK LAMOUNTAIN

Vote Russel Rheault for Oxford Selectman

To the Editor:

Russ Rheault is a lifelong resident who has productively served Oxford in many capacities and genuinely cares about our community. We have had many conversations about our town, and even though we have disagreed on certain things, we have always been able to find common ground and reach a solution respectfully. Russ has always been willing to take the time to consider various perspectives, work with different people, and seek win-win solutions.

I trust he will bring a sensible approach to the board and focus on the things that truly matter to our town while maintaining a courteous and respectful environment.

Please vote Russell Rheault for Oxford Selectman on Tuesday, May 21. Thank you for your consideration.

Nurse educators learn about experiences of English language learners

LINCOLN, R.I. — Bay Path Practical Nursing Academy faculty, in photo from left, Dr. Ana Olivar of Rutland, Dr. Gretheline Bolandrina of Douglas, and Dr. Adelina Healy of Dudley all completed the workshop for Nurse Educators presented by: Practical Nurse Education Committee of the Massachusetts Rhode Island League for Nursing (MARILN) on Friday, May 10, 2024, at the Kirkbrae Country Club, 197 Old River Rd., Lincoln, R.I. The Experiences of English Language Learners: The Nurse Educator's Role in Facilitating Learning's main speaker was

JoAnne Mulready-Shick, EdD, RN, CNE, ANEF. As described by MARILN, "Dr. JoAnn Mulready-Shick is currently a Clinical Associate Lecturer in the RN-BSN Program at UMass Boston where she was a Clinical Professor and Undergraduate Program Director for sixteen years, and previously, dean and faculty at Roxbury Community College for sixteen years. She also has served as a visiting professor at Framingham State in their MSN Nurse Educator Track and as a Nurse Scientist for the VA Boston Healthcare System from 2019-2022. Dr. Mulready-Shick is a certified nurse educator, and a Fellow in the Academy of Nursing Education. Currently she is an NLN Research Grant Reviewer and has served on NLN's Nominating, Constituent League Leadership, and CNE Test Writing Committees. For MARILN, she has served in numerous roles, including the Faculty Awards, Strategic Planning, Mini-Workshop Committees, and the Board, serving as President from 2019-2021. Her current passion lies in mentoring students and novice nursing faculty at all levels. She co-created MARILN's Mentoring Program and has been a MARILN Mentor for the past three years. JoAnn has published in Nurse Educator, Nursing Education Perspectives, and the Journal of Nursing Education. Her nursing education research and scholarship has centered on student success, faculty development, and clinical education innovation." The workshop learning objectives included to examine the evidence related to students who identify as English Language Learners, engage in reflection and self-awareness exercises, dialogue about programmatic and class concerns, articulate strategies to enhance instructional practices, professional development, and self-care incorporating diversity, equity.

On Saturday, May 4, representatives of local town government and the Veterans' Council of Webster and Dudley proudly participated in this year's annual Little League Parade. The Little Leaguers were escorted onto the ballfield where they were greeted by many happy and proud parents and friends who were eager to enjoy their first game of the season. This was a special day for the veterans as well as it is the beginning of the Memorial Day events that are taking place throughout the entire month of May. Thank you to all who came out to support the children for the Dudley Little League. Have a safe and happy summer! REGION — The Webster/Dudley Veterans Council and its members recently recognized three of their own for their dedication to serving veterans.

Randolph Snow, Ronald Prest, and Andrew Kozlowski were each acknowledged for their service.

"Their years of continuous service to helping veterans, whether it was holding office, placing flags on veterans' graves, performing Military Honors for our deceased brother and sister veterans, or any task bestowed upon them, they carried out those duties without hesitation," read a statement released by the organization. "Their selflessness and honor, alongside with their fellow veteran members of the Council, is exemplary and makes all Americans proud."

Remember the Auburn Historical Society when you're cleaning

AUBURN — This is the time of year when many of us do Spring Cleaning, and maybe even consider downsizing.

The Auburn Historical Society and Museum may be interested in items concerning Auburn's past. Documents, pictures, memorabilia especially of businesses that have closed would be a wonderful contribution to the museum, for future exhibits. That old matchbook that's been sitting in the drawer, an engraved souvenir glass from a reunion, program from a town event are just examples of items that would be welcomed. Any Auburn related photographs you find can be scanned and returned to you. We can add them to the Holstrom Archives.

Consider dropping the items off any Tuesday or Saturday morning from 9:30 a.m. - 12:30 p.m. to the Auburn Historical Society's Museum at 41 South St.

OBITUARIES

Mary Wedda, 92

WEBSTER – Mary (Macuga) Wedda, 92, died Wednesday, April 24, 2024 in Care One, Millbury after a short illness. Her husband of 35 years, Edward J. Wedda, died in 2001.

She leaves nieces and nephews including her caregivers Frank A. Czechowski, Jr. and his wife Kathleen and their children Frank A. Czechowski III, Joseph Czechowski, Melissa Czechowski and Kimberly Czechowski; and great-nieces and nephews. She was preceded in death by 4 brothers, Joseph, William, Stephen and “Butch” Macuga and by 2 sisters, Victoria Czechowski and Frances Robson.

She was born at home on December 3, 1931, the youngest of the 7 children of Albert and Mary (Schmidt) Macuga and graduated from Douglas High School. She lived in Webster for over 60 years.

Mrs. Wedda was an assembler at the former Webster Shoe Company for many years before retiring.

She was a communicant of Saint Joseph Basilica. She loved and cared for Frank and Kathleen’s children and especially their 9 grandchildren.

Her funeral was held on Saturday, April 27, from the Sitkowski, Malboeuf & Hickey Funeral Home, 340 School Street, with a Mass at 11:00 AM in Saint Joseph Basilica, 53 Whitcomb Street. Burial was in Saint Joseph Garden of Peace. Visitation was held from 9:00 to 10:30 AM in the funeral home Saturday before the Mass.

Norman H. Desrosiers, Jr., 83

DUDLEY – Norman H. Desrosiers, Jr., 83, passed away on Wednesday, May 8, 2024 at Notre Dame Health Care in Worcester after a period of declining health. He leaves his wife of 41 years, Barbara

A. (Vesho) Desrosiers; a daughter-in-law, Brenda Desrosiers of Auburn; 2 grandchildren, Tyler and Emily; a sister, Suzanne Lessard of Berlin; 2 sisters-in-law, Constance Bailey of Westborough and Susan McDonald of Webster; and nephews and nieces. He was preceded in death by his son Michael Desrosiers in 2012, by his sister Jeanne M. Wheeler in 1999, and by his roommate Norman Gagne in January. He was born on February 13, 1941 in Worcester, the son of Norman H. Desrosiers, Sr. and Laurette (Berube) Desrosiers and attended Worcester Boys’ Trade School. He moved to Dudley in 1982. In his youth, he was an altar boy at the former Saint Joseph Church, now Holy Family Parish, on Hamilton Street. He was a Navy veteran of the Vietnam War.

A maintenance technician, Mr. Desrosiers was the manager of the welding department at PRECO Company in Auburn. He then set up the shop at James Monroe Wire & Cable in Franklin before retiring in 2006. He gave his all to his work. Norman was a devoted family man and loving husband. He always thought of others before himself. He enjoyed hunting and fishing trips to Maine with his friend Fred Brunelle for many years. The funeral was held at 11:00 AM on Tuesday, May 14, in Saints Constantine & Helen Greek Orthodox Church, 37 Lake Parkway, Webster. Visitation was from 10:00 to 11:00 AM in the church prior to the service. Burial was in Mount Zion Cemetery, Webster, with the military honors provided by the Webster-Dudley Veterans Council. Arrangements are under the direction of Sitkowski, Malboeuf & Hickey Funeral Home, 340 School Street, Webster. REST IN PEACE

We’re all “built differently”

Whenever we see individuals excelling in their fields, people who are highly skilled—whether in athletics, business, stock trading, acting, writing, culinary arts, scientific research, medicine, education, or trades—we often dismiss their success with a wave of the hand and a remark: “Well, they’re just built differently.”

Of course, in certain cases, that might hold some truth. For instance, I once had the privilege of getting to know an Olympic Gold Medal-winning swimmer, the fastest man in the world at the time. I assumed

POSITIVELY

his success mainly stemmed from his meticulous diet, rigorous supplement regimen, and relentless training routine.

I was surprised to learn I was only partially correct. Indeed, he was built differently in many ways, possessing the physical and mental attributes that few can claim.

While it’s good to recognize the greatness in others and to admire their natural advantages, the core of their success often lies in relentless perseverance and an unwavering commitment to their goals.

Consider how there may have been others with the raw talent of Tom Brady, but without his extraordinary work ethic and dedication, they never reached similar heights.

I can’t help but think that sometimes, when people remark, “They’re just built differently,” they are perilously close to crafting excuses for their lack of success. This mindset undermines their potential and creates a barrier to personal achievement by attributing success solely to inherent qualities rather than effort and determination.

If, by “built differently,” you mean athletes who meticulously analyze game footage to improve their tactics, who spend extra hours practicing beyond team sessions, and who focus on both mental and physical conditioning, then yes, they’re built differently.

If it refers to a businessperson who relentlessly networks and fosters relationships, always the first to arrive and the last to leave the office, continuously scouting new market trends and innovations to stay ahead—yes, they’re built differently.

If you’re talking about artists or writers who commit to daily practice, constantly seek feedback, find new inspirations, and balance their intuitive gifts with a rigorous work ethic to hone their craft—indeed, they’re built differently.

Or perhaps you mean the entrepreneur who is a perpetual learner, not deterred by failure but using it as a stepping stone, managing to keep their passion ignited, driving innovation, and inspiring others. Then, absolutely, they are built differently.

Sometimes, people are simply willing to do whatever it takes to reach the next level. They’re what you might call go-getters.

Many times, their only natural gifts are drive and desire and their willingness to put their ego aside and continue to learn.

But does that mean they’re built differently because they possess the drive that others lack?

Perhaps, but it’s not always so clear-cut.

Many behaviors, choices, addictions, and habits can severely undermine motivation. I’m sure we’ve all experienced this in our way. While I generally consider myself a motivated go-getter, I’ve learned that engaging in certain behaviors zaps my willpower.

These actions trigger what feels like a chemical imbalance that leaves me struggling to get out of bed, moping around with a bitter attitude, and wondering what the point of it all is.

For me, specific behaviors can devastatingly

PUBLIC NOTICE

Pursuant to Executive Order 11988 (Floodplain Management) and 11990 (Wetlands) and Federal Emergency Management Agency’s (FEMA) implementing regulations at Title 44 of the Code of Federal Regulations Part 9, FEMA hereby provides final notice of its decision to provide Hazard Mitigation Grant Program funding for an action located in a floodplain and wetland Funding would be provided through the Massachusetts Emergency Management Agency to the Town of Dudley to improve three culverts across Potash Brook.

The action is located at three sites near New Boston Road and MA Route 12 in Dudley, MA. The project is to replace all three undersized water crossings with larger, open-bottom, concrete culverts. The openings of the improved culverts would be 10-21 feet wide and 5-6 feet tall to accommodate the unrestricted flow of a 1% annual chance storm. Construction at one culvert will cause minor encroachment on open wetlands. Work would include the removal of a pile of vegetative debris from the waterway approximately 90 feet upstream from one culvert.

The project is within a mapped special flood hazard area (1% or greater annual chance of flooding), and one site overlaps a known emergent freshwater wetland area. The proposed action would alleviate the restriction of floodwaters at the crossings. This is expected to reduce water surface elevation during a 1% annual chance storm between the culverts and to increase water surface elevation by up to ½ foot for a stretch of approximately 80 feet between the lowest culvert outlet and the confluence of Potash Brook with the French River. This minor increase is not expected to impact any development, and flood levels in the French River would not be measurably affected. Due to the project’s proximity to mapped wetlands, direct disturbance of wetlands is expected during construction. Wetland delineation will be required as part of the permitting process to assess the extent of disturbance. A map of the area of available upon request.

The project must be in a floodplain and wetland because the culverts must be located near water to function. Alternative culvert configurations were considered but did not change the project’s effects on the floodplain and wetlands. The “no action” alternative was also considered but failed to alleviate the risk of flood damage to the structures that the proposed action addresses. Grant conditions will also require compliance with all federal, state and local laws, including coordination with the local floodplain administrator.

Map requests and comments about this project and potential floodplain and wetland impacts should be submitted within 15 days of the date of this

Latest antiques and collectibles auction news

Before I discuss the latest auction news, I'd like to thank Dotti Durst and everyone from the Learning in Retirement group who attended my presentation on downsizing hosted at Quinebaug Valley Community College in Danielson, Conn. last week.

ANTIQUES, COLLECTIBLES & ESTATES
WAYNE TUISKULA

Now diving into recent auctions news, a piece of history from a tragic event from over 100 years ago recently set an auction record. John Jacob Astor IV was the great grandson of John Astor, the fur trader that founded the family fortune, according to Britannica. Astor IV was on the board of several corporations and founded several restaurants including the Astoria, which later became the Waldorf Astoria. He was the wealthiest man aboard the Titanic when the ill-fated ship sank in 1912. Astor IV perished when the ship hit an iceberg. When his body was recovered, he had a Waltham 14-karat gold "pocket watch, diamond ring, gold and diamond cufflinks, 225 pounds in English notes, and $2,440," according to CBS. Astor IV was in his 40s and had married an 18-year-old woman in 1911. The couple went on an extended honeymoon in Europe and Egypt while waiting for gossip about their marriage to die down. They were on their way back to New York when the Titanic sank. Astor IV reportedly asked if he could join his wife on a lifeboat because of her "delicate condition." When he was told that he needed to wait for women and children first, he is said to have thrown his gloves to his wife and lit a cigarette while the ship sank. Astor IV's watch sold for $1.46 million last month, an auction record for any object from the Titanic.

Some rare collectibles are now being offered in an online auction that ends on June 1st, according to Fox News. A wide variety of collectibles are already reaching impressive figures with three weeks of bidding remaining. A 1986 Nintendo NES Entertainment System unopened in the box is at $17,000. An engraved silver and gold-plated belt buckle worn by Harry Houdini has already reached $27,000. A painting by Bob Ross, who taught painting on his "Joy of Painting" television show, has a current bid of $45,000.

Other pieces from that sale are expected to bring even more. In 1953, Marilyn Monroe appeared on the cover of the first issue of Playboy magazine. The highest graded copy at a 9.6 out of 10 is expected to sell for half a million dollars. A jersey that Mickey Mantle wore during his 1957 MVP season is expected to bring in the millions. A high-grade Michael Jordan rookie card sold for over $1 million in 2022. A newer but rarer Michael Jordan card surpassed that mark. Only one 2003-2004 Upper Deck Logoman (NBA logo) patch card with a Michael Jordan signature was ever printed. It's expected to sell for between $3 million and $5 million. It's been over 20 years since Michael Jordan played in the NBA and he's still setting records.

Our sports memorabilia, sports cards, and comic books online auction begins soon. There is still time to consign coins, art, gold jewelry, sterling silver, historical items, advertising signs, and other antiques for our summer online auction. Please visit our website <https://centralmassauctions.com> for links to upcoming events.

Gardening helps grow healthy, happy kids

Corona Tools — Courtesy

Research has shown that gardening and spending time in nature is beneficial to kids, including but not limited to better vision, increased focus, and a stronger immune system.

Gardeners know and research is proving that gardening, even viewing a garden, as well as spending time in nature is good for the mind, body, and spirit. It improves strength and flexibility, lowers blood pressure, and elevates our moods.

This is also true for the youngsters in our lives.

Recent studies found that school-aged children who participate in outdoor activities have better vision than those who spend most of their time indoors. Children who engage in nature and gardening are more focused, score better on exams, and are less likely to develop or exhibit symptoms of ADHD. And kids who play outside and get a bit dirty also have stronger immune systems.

Help get the kids in your life involved in gardening. There are a variety of ways to get youngsters involved no matter how much space or time you have.

Consider giving each child their own garden space or a container garden to design, plant, and tend. Containers are a great option when planting space and time are limited. And just about anything can be grown in a pot. An old 5-gallon bucket or washtub with holes drilled into the bottom, recycled nursery pots, or a colorful raised planter make great gardens. Provide them with some kid-sized tools and equipment. The tools' smaller scale will be easier for them to handle and having their own tools that match yours makes gardening even more special. Consider investing in a set of kids' gardening tools including hand tools, long-handled tools, and even a wheelbarrow like those at Corona Tools USA (coronatools.com).

Keep in mind the goal is for kids to have fun and develop an interest in gardening. You may need to bite your tongue when their combinations are rather unique, or plants are spaced improperly. Provide some guidance but be prepared to let them experiment and learn from their failures as well as successes.

Kids like to water even at an early age. The biggest challenge is getting the water to the plant but that will come with time, practice, and a few water-soaked outfits. Your efforts will be rewarded when your child takes over watering your container gardens.

You may notice kids often find bugs and worms more interesting than plants. Use this as a gateway into gardening. Get kids involved in worm composting or hunting for earthworms in the compost pile. They will have fun on the worm hunt while helping you turn your compost pile.

Use the "Pluck, Drop and Stomp" method to manage garden pests. Point out the bad guys and the damage they do. Be sure they know to watch for the good guys and leave them be to help the garden grow. Then have the children pluck the bad bugs off the plant, drop them to the ground, and stomp on them.

This eco-friendly pest management strategy also burns some of that excess energy.

Include lots of color in the garden and containers. Michigan State University surveyed kids before creating their children's garden. They found kids were much more excited and likely to participate when a garden is filled with color.

And as the flowers are maturing and your family is overrun with vegetables, consider sharing the harvest and a few bouquets of flowers. Giving helps children grow into caring, well-rounded adults. And food pantries in your community are always in need of fresh produce. Most of the food-insecure people in our communities are kids and seniors who greatly benefit from fresh nutritious vegetables.

Be sure to end the growing season with a harvest party. Use your home-grown produce to prepare a picnic or fancy dinner for family and friends. Then use some of those beautiful flowers you grew to decorate the table.

impact my motivation, plunge me into depression, and rob me of the desire to engage with life.

It's easy to make excuses, succumb to bitterness, feel tired, angry, or depressed, and convince yourself that you don't have what it takes, but at the end of the day, being 'built differently' can be a choice.

The fundamental difference between someone who is seen as 'built differently' and someone who is caught up making excuses often lies in their mentality.

Ultimately, being 'built different' means choosing to be different. It means choosing the harder path, the one less traveled, and the one that leads to genuine, hard-earned success.

The next time you admire someone who seems effortlessly successful, remember that we all possess unique capabilities. Each of us has the potential to excel in ways that are distinctly our own. We're all built differently, and embracing that fact allows us to unlock our own paths to greatness.

One Book, One Community presents author Geraldine Brooks

WEBSTER — The Gladys E. Kelly Public Library's "One Book, One Community" event on June 6th is hosting Pulitzer Prize-winning author Geraldine Brooks. Due to overwhelming interest and support for this event, registration is now closed for Community Room seating. The Library will offer a very limited number of overflow seats for walk-in guests on a first come, first served basis. Walk-in attendees will be able to watch a livestream of the event in the Library Lobby. All attendees will be welcome to participate in the Q&A and purchase copies of the author's books to have them signed after the moderated talk. For those looking to enjoy this program from the comfort of their own home, the event will be livestreamed on YouTube available only at the time of the event. The link to the livestream can be found on social media and on the Library's website.

The Library opened up the event for 'optional registration for advanced seating' on May 6, and after only three days, registrations had reached capacity! Geraldine Brooks, author of March and Horse, is the third New York Times bestselling author hosted by the Library. In 2022, the One Book, One Community event featured Christina Baker Kline, author of Orphan Train, with 43 attendees. In 2023, author of The Dog Stars, Peter Heller, attracted 54 guests.

The Library will be closing early on June 6 to the general public at 5 p.m. to prepare for this event. Attendees are encouraged to park in the St. Louis Church parking lot, Negus Street lot, and at the Town Hall. Pre-registered guests may take their seats by entering through the Community Room side door. Walk-in guests may line up at the Library's main entrance. All are encouraged to arrive by 6 p.m. or earlier.

The Library is grateful to be able to host Geraldine Brooks, with funding and support from the Friends of the Gladys E. Kelly Public Library, the Janet Malsr Humanities Trust, the Massachusetts Cultural Council, and the Webster Cultural Council.

Allie Provost recognized at Western New England University's Distinguished Golden Bear Awards

SPRINGFIELD — Allie Provost of Dudley received the Excellence in Media and Arts Award at the prestigious Distinguished Golden Bear Awards Ceremony on May 2 in River's Memorial Hall. The Excellence in Media and Arts Award recognizes the individual with notable contributions to student media or arts with a significant positive impact on student awareness or experience. The award was presented by Assistant Vice President for Student Affairs and Dean of Students, Jessica Hill.

Organized by the Office of Student Involvement and Connections, the Distinguished Golden Bear Awards ceremony is a hallmark event that acknowledges a year of leadership, community service, and student programming by over 70 active clubs and organizations on campus. The award ceremony not only celebrates individual and collective achievements but also underscores Western New England University's commitment to fostering leadership, diversity, and community engagement among its student body.

Provost is working toward a BSBA in Marketing.

Western New England University (WNE) is a private, nationally ranked, comprehensive institution with a focus on preparing work-ready and world-ready graduates. Founded in 1919 in Springfield, Massachusetts as a division of Northeastern College, WNE's 215-acre suburban campus serves more than 3,700 students, including over 2,500 full-time undergraduates. More than 47,000 alumni have earned degrees through its 90+ undergraduate, graduate, and professional programs at Colleges of Arts and Sciences, Business, Engineering, and Pharmacy and Health Sciences, and School of Law. Students come from 39 U.S. states and territories and 23 countries. Of 45,104 living alumni, 30% remain within the region, residing in the four Western Massachusetts counties and northern Connecticut.

WNE is classified among nationally ranked universities in US News and World Report, and among the Top 100 Undergraduate Engineering programs, and in the Doctoral/Professional Universities category in the Carnegie Classification of Institutions of Higher Education.

'Afternoon of Brass' Concert Series returns to Boston, Worcester Memorial Day Weekend

WORCESTER — Building on critically acclaimed shows since 2019, the team at Northbridge Brass Endeavors is proud to present the Afternoon of Brass #3 concert series. Concert goes and volunteer musicians will experience an unforgettable afternoon filled with the rich sounds of brass music. Three afternoon concerts are planned: May 24 and May 25 at the Old South Church in Boston and May 26 at Mechanics Hall in Worcester. New for this year is a call for volunteer singers and brass players who will join forces with the professional brass onstage at Mechanics Hall.

Featuring WGBH/WCRB's Brian McCreath as emcee, Lawrence Isaacson as resident conductor, Stephen Bulla as guest conductor and selected Boston Symphony Orchestra and Pops brass players, the concert series will be nothing less than ... spectacular! Don't miss out on this exciting opportunity to experience the power and beauty of brass music live in person either as a participant or spectator.

Paying homage to the spirit of the Memorial Day holiday, the program begins with "Taps" and "Retreat" (Butterfield) arranged for "The President's Own" United States Marine Band brass by former USMC arranger Thomas Knox. The program includes some of the most demanding works ever written and arranged for brass including: "Festive Overture" (Shostakovich), "Polovtsian Dances from Prince Igor" (Borodin), "Arrival of the Queen of Sheba" (Handel), "Grand March from Tannhäuser" (Wagner) and "Pictures at an Exhibition" (Mussorgsky). While all concerts feature "Adventures on Earth from E.T." (Williams), "Elsa's Procession to the Cathedral" (Wagner) and "Gathering of the Armies on the River Scheldt" (Wagner), only the final concert at Mechanics Hall will feature the volunteer musicians onstage with the professional brass ensemble.

Volunteer singers will add operatic glory to "Adventures on Earth." Guest conductor Stephen Bulla leads the musical adventure with his unique arrangement for brass, chorus and piano. Volunteer brass players will add reinforced power to "Elsa's Procession to the Cathedral" and "Gathering of the Armies on the River Scheldt" under the direction of producer, conductor, and trombonist Patrick Smith. "We've got about a hundred volunteers so far and we have room for another hundred," said Smith who added "to register and receive more information just complete the Interest & Availability form at our website." Volunteer musicians must be at least 13 years of age.

For tickets and more information go to Afternoon of Brass #3: Memorial Weekend Spectacular. There is no option for cash at the door. Tickets must be purchased in advance online. Discounted tickets are available to active-duty military and veterans, first responders, dependent family members, as well as EBT, WIC, and CC cardholders, and residents of towns

Coast Guard offers boating safety checks

REGION — Get your free 2024 Vessel Safety Check and enter to win a Safe Boating Award at the Memorial Beach Boat Ramp Saturday, June 15 at Nipmuc Cove, Webster Lake, and the Wallum Lake Boat Ramp Saturday, June 22 at Douglas State Forest.

Bring any type of watercraft from kayaks, canoes, PWCs, sailboats, cabin cruisers, to ski & pontoon boats for a stern check of equipment for compliance to federal and state safety regulations. Vessels can be inspected on a trailer as well as afloat.

Trailered vessels, not having Webster access sticker and not launching, can be examined at the entrance gate to Memorial Beach. Personal Watercraft, not allowed to launch at the Wallum Lake Ramp on weekends, can also be examined at the gate. Both locations can accommodate boats arriving by water. The stations will be active from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. at both the locations, with the following Sundays as rain-dates if needed.

Vessel Examiners are qualified and experienced to answer any boating related questions or concerns along with being trained to spot any potential problems. They will award your vessel with a 2024 VSC decal if it meets Auxiliary standards on items such as: registration & hull numbering, life jackets, fire extinguishers, expiration dates on flares (if required), working navigation lights, overall vessel condition, etc. A VSC is conducted only with your consent; no reports are filed with any law enforcement agency. There are no citations, legal obligations, or penalties on violations or potential problems found. A VSC decal might result in a boat insurance discount and will indicate to law enforcement on the water that your vessel complies with safety regulations. The Examiner will give the vessel owner options and information on correcting any issues. Often a quick trip to the nearest boating supply vendor is all that is necessary to obtain missing safety items and easily pass a re-inspection, sometimes on the same day.

Coast Guard Auxiliary Vessel Examiners will be around the local lakes at various, un-scheduled times during the boating season; they are few in number and not readily available inland. Cannot make it to the station... schedule a VSC online at the link below, or you can connect with a Tri-State Examiner by call or text to (508) 864-0782.

Best to take advantage of this scheduled opportunity and start your boating season with a visit to our station, a 2024 VSC Decal, and a chance to win one of several great rewards.

As a reward for getting a VSC from one of our Tri-State Examiners or at one of our two stations this year, you will be entered to win one of several gift certificates from local marinas, venues, and restaurants. One entry for each vessel examined, winners will be determined and contacted following a drawing on September 24 at our flotilla meeting. It is a WIN for knowing that your boat is equipped properly, and a possible WIN for dinner, or boating equipment & services.

Safe Boating Supporters for this reward program are: Hazard Marine, Lakeview Marine, Indian Ranch. Restaurants: Point Breeze, Eighty Ates Bistro, Waterfront Mary's, & Saloon No. 6 in Webster.

Lakeside Kids Event at Memorial Beach

Thursday, June 6, 4 – 7 p.m.

Sponsored by Lakeview Marine this event has been planned to introduce the kids of our community to the fun that can be had on and around the water! Learn the many ways to enjoy our beautiful lakes - sign up for swim lessons, try out a kayak, learn fishing casting techniques, "Touch a Boat" get up close to recreational & public safety boats from the police and fire departments. The Coast Guard Auxiliary Tri-State Flotilla will have a boating safety tent with information, handouts, and CG coloring books for kids.

The posted activities are subject to change based on weather conditions and vendor availability.

Friday's Child

Marie
Age 13

Hi! My name is Marie and I love dancing!

Marie, whose pronouns are she, he, they/them, is kind, engaging, and resilient. Marie's foster family and teachers describe them as friendly, playful, and affectionate. Marie loves dancing and will dance for hours in the afternoon but is shy to show off their dance moves. They also enjoy going on daily walks for fresh air. Marie's favorite restaurants include Chinese buffets and McDonalds and their favorite meal consist of fried chicken sandwiches with coke products.

Executive MBA program. Cropper, who comes from a family of lifelong learners, spoke about the value of continuing to embrace education in life and how the students of Nichols should strive to help the world around them.

"For me to stop learning is to stop living, so continue your own learning. Don't let it stop today," Cropper said, later urging the students to see ways to make a difference in the world. "The best days of my life are when I made a positive difference in the life of another. So, I challenge you to consider 'how can I help another.' The research on happiness is clear: to experience enjoyment, satisfaction, and purpose seek ways to serve another."

The ceremony featured a special address from Commencement Speaker Ralph Crowley, Jr., President and Chief Executive Officer of Polar Beverages. He is the fourth generation of the Crowley family to lead the company, which was founded in 1882 by his great-grandfather and has since become a staple of the Worcester community. Crowley said the company has succeeded because of its ability to hire the right people who, in turn, hire even more great employees to help build a winning culture. He said creating these positive relationships, working as a team, and understanding that things can't be accomplished alone are his keys to business success and elements of life that Nichols has taught students simply by being on campus.

"Some of the most important lessons you've learned already are from your fellow students here at Nichols just by living, studying, playing sports, watching sports, I hope you keep those friendships and cherish them," said Crowley, who later gave the students words of advice on seeking the right job for their futures. "Time is your most valuable and precious asset. Once it's gone it can't be regained. Do not waste time on a job you do not love. Your occupation is more than financial stability. It should provide you with personal satisfaction, even an identity, a chance to grow, a sense of purpose. Most of all, my message to you is business is fun and enjoy it."

Before the graduates took the stage, Crowley was presented with an Honorary Doctorate in Business Administration alongside Amy Pitter, former Chief Executive Officer of the Massachusetts Society of Certified Public Accountants. Then it was time for the students to be honored, each receiving their respective degrees as they were greeted by representatives of the Nichols College staff, administration, and Board of Directors.

Closing out the ceremony, President William Pieczynski wished the graduates well commending them for their dedication to their education and recognizing that many began their college experience in 2020 as the school was returning to limited in-person learning during the first year of the COVID-19 pandemic. President Pieczynski leaned on the school's popular mascot, the bison, to give his assessment of the Class of 2024.

"You're all here today as a testament to your grit. Grit is a trait we like to think is embodied in our namesake, the bison. Bison has endured for over tens of thousands of years. They're loyal, extremely smart, and pragmatic. They're resourceful and dedicated to the pursuit of success. You, the Nichols Bison, have not only survived, but thrived in the face of unprecedented challenges, challenges that have deterred others," said Pieczynski, who urged the graduates to remember those who helped them along the way and be humble and thankful for all who assisted them in their journey to success.

Ellis Cropper who graduated Nichols College's Executive MBA program, served as one of two student speakers during the graduation ceremony.

earlier this year but was tabled as the board decided the public needed to have a say on the use of the land at the town meeting.

Article 16 proposes a Solicitor Bylaw supported by the Dudley Police Department. The bylaw will permit the police to enforce the policy by defining the term soliciting and requiring a license for any solicitation or canvassing in the town. It would also limit the hours when solicitation would be deemed appropriate in Dudley and clarify any exceptions to the rule as well as establish penalties for those who fail to comply. The Police Department is also proposing a noise bylaw which would define and regulate any unnecessary, excessive, or "annoying" noise deemed to be disruptive and will include details on enforcement and penalties.

The final seven articles on the warrant are all citizen petitions which could change several aspects of Dudley's taxation and elected offices. Article 18 is a petition to impose term limits that would prevent any individual from holding public positions for more than two terms and limit working in any one department in Dudley to fifteen years. Article 19 will seek to have the town clear all streets, private or public, of snow and sand during the winter months. Later articles will seek to reduce the real estate taxes on primary homes by 50 percent for those aged 65 and older; reduce the town real estate taxes by 20 percent, require that any vote to override Proposition 2 1/2 require a vote of 75 percent of all registered voters, and vote to install a Permanent Audit Committee into the town bylaws. Another bylaw would require that only registered citizens of the United States of America presenting photo identification can vote in town elections and seeks the removal of all calculating machines, require in-person voting, and that all votes be tallied the same day they are cast.

Dudley's annual town meeting will be held on May 20 at 7 p.m. in the Connie Vancogalli Auditorium in the Shepherd Hill Regional High School at 68 Dudley Oxford Rd. A copy of the warrant is available on the Town of Dudley Web site.

specifically referring to his previous tenure as selectmen, when Oxford built the high school; at that time Oxford got 80 percent state reimbursement, but if it had not approved the work that year, reimbursement would've fallen to 50 percent, he recalled. He added that similar luck benefited Oxford during the police station project, when bids went out during the 2008 recession and came back low enough the town could also afford to furnish it.

Today, Rheault said, "the schools definitely need help." But he feels there's "always been a sort of us vs them attitude between the schools and the departments" that is "not good." The town as a whole needs to "help the students of today who are the Oxford of tomorrow" have the same kinds of opportunities he had. Specifically, he cited the fact Oxford Middle School opened while he was in 8th grade, giving him exposure to his first darkroom. That opened the door to his career in photography, he said.

At the same time, though, "the roads definitely need help," he added. "We're all paying that hidden tax of front-end alignment and tires being ruined." He supported both of the efforts a couple years ago to fund roadwork over several years; both passed at Town Meeting but were soundly defeated at the polls.

Over the next 10 years, Rheault said he'd like to see Oxford "keep a lot of the character it has now" while expanding business. Specifically, he'd like to see another restaurant plus other enterprises that don't "cause a lot of [extra] traffic." He also noted there might be some areas the town could look at regionalizing to buy equipment and maybe even improve the schools.

Many things can be done without high cost. "Sometimes, low-tech works. You don't have to throw a lot of money at a problem to make it better," Rheault said. "...I've always been good at problem-solving. If I don't have the idea, I'll go to someone else."

MARK ROBBINS

Robbins seems to come from a similar mindset, saying his campaign promise is to "listen, be open to and be honest with everyone who wishes to contact me with any issues. We all deserved to be informed and valued."

To him, "everyone should be willing to serve their community in one way or another." Before throwing his hat in the political ring, he did so for 21 years as a state trooper, retiring in 2015, with 12 years in the Marines before that. Since then, he's worked in corporate and executive security, including for "some high-profile clients during a national election," he wrote.

Specifically, he said he chose to run this year because he sees the town government "not wanting or being open" to the citizens.

"Our government officials need to remember that they work for the public, and the public doesn't always get what they want," he wrote. "There's some things that just can't happen, but the public still needs to be treated with respect and decorum."

To him, that concept fuels running for office, where the elected people "work for us" but citizens get "an unwelcome feeling in our town hall."

He admits he has no elected or appointed experience, quipping, "My experience in politics is simply sitting on my couch yelling at my TV." But he argues his police and military background taught him how to lead people, set goals and teach various kinds of skills while earning his people's respect "because of the way that I treated them, the way I responded to them, the way I listened to their complaints."

"Our society is not uneducated, and they understand more than people believe," he wrote. "What does it cost to give someone 5 minutes to vent or explain their opinions. I am not naive enough to believe that I alone can change the world. I just want to make my little part of it a better place for everyone around me."

Besides them, the ballot is uncontested, all of the candidates up for re-election. David Grenier seeks to return to the Bay Path School Committee, Palmina Griffin to the Oxford School Committee, Wayne McFarland to the Housing Authority, and Harry Williams as Library Trustee. This year's two remaining candidates, both for Oxford School Committee, were technically appointed to fill vacant seats, but are now seeking their first election to those seats - Todd Proctor (three years) and Leah Filipkowski (one year).

Master Masons host recognition night for veterans and first responders

BY BRO. JIMMY FALZONE
QUINEBAUG MASONIC LODGE

SOUTHBRIDGE — On Monday night, May 6, family and friends and guests gathered at Quinebaug Masonic Lodge in Southbridge to honor their Veterans and First Responders. The lodge was packed with Brethren in all kinds, past and present uniforms to represent their branch of service. There were individuals from the Army, Marines, Navy, Coast Guard, Airforce, National Guard, along with Firefighters, Paramedics, Emergency Response personnel. Special guests included representatives from the Boy Scouts of America, Charlton Troop 165, and Charlton Troop 338. These young men are Americas future, there motto is duty to country and duty to citizenship. Wow what a sight to see, all these brethren and guests showing their pride in some type of uniform or article of clothing to represent their service.

The best part of the evening was watching the Color Guards march into the room to a standing ovation holding the flag of their branch of service. A roll call of names was read of 32 Master Masons veterans and 1st responders.

Their branch of service and ages ranging from 90 years young to 37 years of age all are active members of the Quinebaug

Masonic Lodge. We are proud to continue this tradition for our veterans and 1st responders of our lodge. If you would like more information about Freemasonry, go to www.massfreemasonry.org and find a lodge nearest you.
