PUTNAM — The Aspinock Historical Society is thrilled to announce the release of an enlightening and poignant new book, "Manhasset Village, Gone But Not Forgotten." This compelling work delves into the harrowing stories of over 100 families who lost everything when the catastrophic 1955 flood swept through Putnam.

Authors Fab Cutler and Sandra Ames have conducted extensive interviews with these affected families, providing firsthand accounts and heartfelt narratives. The book is enriched with a wealth of historical photographs and invaluable information, making it a must-read for anyone interested in the history of this resilient community.

To reserve your copy, please contact the Aspinock Historical Society at historical@aspinock.org or call (860) 963-6800, ext. 300. The book is available for $30, with an additional $5 for shipping.

But Not Forgotten " is a testament to the strength of the community in the face of adversity.

In her comments, Beckwith lauded the committee that put the event together. She thanked the Campaign Donation Relations Chairperson Pam Brown and the more than 25 volunteers who organized the festivities. She also touched on Bowen’s appreciation for the people of Woodstock and his affinity and patriotism for the United States, noting that officials opened the program on July 4, 1976, the 189th birthday of the country.

REGION — Woodstock post Karen Warinsky has launched her new book, "Dining with War," at three locations in November. The launch is 6- 8:15 p.m. Nov. 4 at Four Corners, 22 East Main St., Webster;  5-7 p.m. Nov. 15 at Tower Bookshop, 22 Chandler St., Southbridge; and 5-7 p.m. Nov. 22 at 8:30 p.m. The Pavilion Inn, 52 River Rd., Willington, Conn.

The book, published by Albert Bonniak, is a deep look at how different types of warfare operate as a backdrop to everyday life.

Warinsky says, "The idea for this project was built around the fact that I often take a meal while watching the war on TV, and also meditate on the rituals and arguments of battles that took place during dinner times (some more light-hearted than oth- ers). I often reflect on how war is connected with parents, tricky ad- vocation memories, or a date gone wrong in Seattle, the night I was almost kidnapped. This project's setting at the Jersey shore with disrupted dance mosaic are all here. Also in this book are pieces about the Civil War, Vietnam, Syria, George Floyd and our nation's current civil strife. Several poems were previously pub- lished including 'Is In the Yard,' 'Nazi Breakfast,' 'Snapshots of Your War' and 'Day: Woodstock Makes It Platonic.'"

Heritage Valley Ford makes donation to Day Kimball Health's Oncology Transportation Fund

Heritage Valley Ford’s donation aligns with the vision of local community support while addressing the critical issue of transportation barriers in Northeast Connecticut that often result in missed or delayed appointments. The Oncology Transportation Fund plays a crucial role in ensuring that patients, particularly those who are facing cancer diago- nses, have access to medical care and services that will greatly improve their health outcomes.

About Day Kimball Health

Day Kimball Health, a nonprofit community health care system comprised of Day Kimball Medical Group, Day Kimball Hospital, its eight affiliated medical practices, and healthcare centers in Deep River, Willington, Danielson, Putnam and Putnam. Its service area extends across northeastern Connecticut as well as nearby Massachusetts and Rhode Island communities. Day Kimball Health’s comprehen- sive network employs more than 1,000 staff including nearly 300 associated, highly skilled physicians, surgeons and spe- cialists. In Web site is web.daykimball.org.

Local students enroll at Lasell University

NEWTON, Mass. — Olivia Moskier of Brooklynville and Holly Johnson of Thompson became students at Lasell University this fall.

Moskier joins more than 370 new students at the University. Lasell University is an independent, non-profit liberal arts college that emphasizes a combination of professional, liberal education and social and civic responsibility in both its graduate and undergraduate pro- grams. Established in 1887, the institution is located on a 54-acre campus adjacent to a hub of pro- fessional and educational opportunities in Greater Boston. The University’s faculty practitioners offer rich industry expertise across more than 30 academic programs in areas including athletic training, business, criminal justice, health sciences, information technology, fashion, and hospital- ity management. A model for intergenerational learning, the campus includes two early learning centers and Lasell Village, the first-of-its-kind, university-sponsored continuing care retirement community with a learning mandate that has drawn international attention.

KILLINGLY — New York City’s GIANT Room visited the Killingly Public Library on Saturday, Oct. 28 to offer children and their families a unique and unforgettable experience.

The GIANT Room is a one-of-a-kind innovation hub located in New York City. The GIANT Room offers a diverse range of programs and content that merge design, art, engineering, coding, technology, math, science, and literacy. Founded by two highly qualified Ph.D.’s in Education, Dr. Azadeh Jamalian and Dr. Jessica Mezei, this organization aims to empower young minds to pursue their wildest dreams.

The Connecticut State Library partnered with Azadeh (Azi) Jamalian, Founder and CEO of the GIANT Room, to bring a set of professional workshops to libraries. Librarians were brought together to receive training on ways to implement creative STEM-based family programs to energize community building, and promote learning and engagement. To be selected for an in-person event facilitated by The GIANT Room, all potential libraries were required to submit a written application that explained why their library should be chosen. When Claudette Stockwell, Director of the Killingly Public Library submitted her application, she never imagined that her community would be selected.

Stockwell and her team had the opportunity to witness the GIANT methodology in action at Saturday’s event. This is just the beginning of future collaborations. Funding was made possible by the Connecticut State Library and Library Services and Technology Act (LSTA) provided through the Institute of Museum and Library Services (IMLS). This opportunity will include monthly online meetings, resources, and ongoing support to ensure success for future programs.

NEW YORK CITY'S GIANT ROOM VISITED KILLINGLY PUBLIC LIBRARY
Opinion and commentary from the Quick Quiver

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Raymond Wood has won my vote for District 5 Killingly Town Council

To the Editor:

Mr. Wood and I have served on the Killingly Board of Education and have worked side-by-side on his job effectively, professionally, and ethically. Mr. Wood has proven once again to be the one who needs to be in the driver’s seat of our town affairs. His two-decade tenure on the board and his election to the top position is a testament to his dedication and commitment to our town. We must remember this all starts with local elections and the people of our community need more leaders like Mr. Wood to guide us. Mr. Wood is a true leader in our town. He has not only represented the Killingly BOE but he has also represented our whole community.

I would like to voice my support for Mr. Wood for another term. I am convinced that he is the best candidate for this position and will continue to do his job with excellence.

I urge all voters to support Mr. Wood in the upcoming election and make sure their voice is heard.

Signed,

Vote for concrete results over unproven promises

To the Editor:

As a former resident and selectman of Thompson, I am writing in support of Mr. Marcoux’s candidacy for Killington’s selectman position.

I have known Mr. Marcoux for many years and have seen his dedication and commitment to the community. He brings a vast knowledge of public safety, finances, and personal responsibility over the “greater good.” He is a very strong candidate, and I urge Mr. Wood to vote for him.

I am prepared to make a firm promise to the Killington community: Under my leadership, Killington will continue to host large sporting events and maintain safety for our community. My campaign will be based on concrete results, not on unproven promises.

Narcissistic deception

To the Editor:

I listen to the WNN discussion last week regarding the mental health at Killingly High School. I recently learned of a student who turned his town that was hot for Stj Jq and passed away.

One of the significant actions is combining our schools. In the context of these actions, it is evident that the students of our community should be aware that any town can make the neglect of the students has been working hard to help the students of our community.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Killingly deserves better

To the Editor:

I would like to add to what your editorial stated last week about the impact of bad leadership. One of the things that we are not used to is good leadership. We are out of the habit of demanding good leadership and we are not prepared to pay the price.

I am appalled at the way the town is running. Things are not working the way they should. The public is not getting the service they need and they are not getting the value for their money.

The town has a large amount of money to spend and yet we are not getting the results we need. I would like to see the town shift its priorities. We need to focus on the things that are important and not on the things that are not. We need to make sure that we are getting the best value for our money.

I would like to see the town council work together and make decisions that are in the best interest of the town. They need to make sure that they are taking the time to listen to the people and understand their needs. They need to be willing to make hard decisions and to be willing to take responsibility for those decisions.

The town needs to be honest with itself and with the public. It needs to be clear about its priorities and it needs to be clear about its budget. It needs to be transparent and it needs to be accountable.

I would like to see the town council take a hard look at its priorities and make sure that it is spending its money wisely. It needs to be willing to make tough choices and to be willing to take responsibility for those choices.

To the Editor:
I was surprised to find that the students at Woodstock High School have not been afforded the opportunity to learn about the history of the school and its development. This is an issue that previous administrations have failed to address.

Woodstock has a rich history, and it is important that our students understand the challenges and successes that have contributed to its current state.

In the past, Woodstock has faced many challenges, including financial difficulties and enrollment declines. However, through the determination and hard work of our teachers and staff, the school has persevered and continued to provide a quality education for its students.

I urge the administration to consider the importance of educating our students about the history of Woodstock High School. This will not only provide them with a deeper understanding of the school's past but also inspire them to strive for excellence in their own academic and personal endeavors.

Thank you for considering this important issue.

Sincerely,
[Your Name]

to the Editor—Killingly taxpayers are being robbed! Congressional legislation has been passed to subsidize (ROB) members, led by ROB Chair, Marcia Dauphinais. A couple of the thousands of Killingly taxpayers’ dol- lars to Robbers of Banks (ROB) members, out of hating presence in Killingly High- school. In July of this year, ROB Chair Norm Ferron went on WSN Radio to tell parents that this year was “just a drop in the buck- et.” ROB members, led by ROB Chair, have been making as much as $100,000 in dollars and bankroll their attorney by hating the taxpayers for as many as a dozen years, which to date, were denied. Vote “yes” against the undefensible by taking money out of your pocket to fund this embarrassment of people, hang them, and against what they stand for and against what they stand for, because they certainly are not either the best or the brightest,» Jamaal Dauphinais were also there. It was fun and hope you are not circling those privileges.

Dear Editor,

I am writing this letter as one of the Woodstock Registry of Voters. On Tuesday, November 7th, the polls open at 6 a.m. and close at 8 p.m., do not wear political clothing or place images when you go to vote, you will be asked to leave. For Woodstock residents, voting will happen at the Woodstock Middle School. You must be a registered voter in Woodstock to vote. Go to https://ct.elections. ct.gov/home/news/woodstock-ct-regist ered-voters/ for more information. When you come to vote you will be directed to the proper line according to your district. Yes, there will be a person inside who can help you figure out which line you belong in, there will then be an attendant who will give you your ballot and walk you to the doors. When you are done voting your ballot will be collected and you will be stepping out via a different side of the building. Also, traffic will be one-way for the day. Our volunteers will be waiting for you to help shape the future of our town.

When you vote, you have agency, you take ownership of your town’s direction and you get a voice in the democratic community at the local level. Woodstock Middle School will be open on Tuesday between 6 a.m. and 8 p.m. to register new voters or to change your registration. Please call the Clerk’s Office. A sample ballot is posted on the Town’s Website. All ballots are available at our libraries.

Respectfully submitted,
L. B. DEMPSEY, Woodstock

Richardson runs wild, helping Woodstock Academy football overpower Bethel

BY DEAN P. ST. LAURENT
SPORTS CORRESPONDENT

Woodstock — Woodstock Academy football (3-4) received the second half kickoff up 21-3 looking to put the game further out of reach for visiting Bethel High School with a score on the opening kickoff of the third quarter. Unfortunately, that is not how it went for the Centaurs. On the third play of the drive, a miscue on the handoff between Teddy Richardson and Eric Mathewson, the Centaurs fumbled and Bethel defenders jumped on the loose ball. This led to a Bethel touchdown drive to cut into the deficit for the visitors, 21-9.

“I told my coaches, you understand what we have to do here, we have to coach because it was not hard to see what was happening momentum wise,” expressed Woodstock head coach Sean Saucier. “We did and then we came back, our quarterback Teddy executed that drive, first down, first down, first down, went down the field and that let everyone take a sigh of relief.”

Woodstock was able to brace the momentum swing on their next drive when they drove down the field led by Richardson, on eight plays and capped it with a 1-yard QB sneak touchdown by their signal-caller to give the Centaurs a 28-9 lead. Woodstock ended up using this drive to take back momentum and ran away with a 41-24 win over Bethel on Saturday, Oct. 28 on Senior Day.

“They are a great group of kids and I enjoy them immensely,” stated Saucier on his team’s win on Senior Day. “For them to win today in an alliance game, an unfamiliar opponent is really nice.”

Senior Teddy Richardson and Eric Mathewson led the way for Woodstock. Richardson accounted for five total touchdowns; four on the ground and one through the air. There were 159 yards through the air and 107 yards on the ground. Mathewson added 79 yards rushing and a touchdown.

Richardson looked a little out of sync throwing the football against Bethel, but when a big play needed to be made, the senior quarterback used his legs.

“I don’t think it was his best day to be honest with you, but he is a great athlete and he got the job done until little things,” expressed Saucier. “Teddy Richardson and Eric Mathewson led the way for Woodstock. Richardson accounted for five total touchdowns; four on the ground and one through the air. There were 159 yards through the air and 107 yards on the ground. Mathewson added 79 yards rushing and a touchdown.”

Woodstock got on the board first in this contest, on a 9-yard rush from Richardson and following the touchdown, the Centaurs surprised Bethel with a successful onside kick to retain possession. Woodstock used the momentum and drove down the field to score again, as they led 14-0 early. It made a huge impact to get out to a quick start.

Putnam Middle School eighth grader TJ Espinosa won the Boys QVJC cross-country championship in thrilling fashion last Wednesday, crossing the line less than one second ahead of Canterbury’s Lucas Hecker.

“My winning mindset helped me push through the finish line,” said Espinosa, whose time of 12:24.5 bested Hecker by 0.78 seconds. “I was tired but happy. I kept a positive attitude and kept running to the finish.”

On the girls’ side, Putnam’s Abby Daniels came in second place, crossing the finish line in 14:47.1.

Woodstock Academy’s Teddy Richardson slips through the cracks and makes his way toward the end zone as the Bethel defense attempts to tackle him.

The pros and cons of rising interest rates, and our take on what may come next

This year interest rates have risen to levels that haven’t been seen in more than 15 years. The 10-year Treasury yield has jumped to almost 4.7 percent, up from under 1.5 percent in 2020. The ripple effect from this large move has sent interest rates higher on all types of borrowing: home loans, credit cards, auto loans, student loans, and even credit card interest rates.

The most obvious reason is we are no longer in a recession. In April, the US government provided a massive amount of money overnight. It provided direct payments to individuals and households, as part of the $2 trillion stimulus package. As a result, the US economy bounced back and started to grow at a robust pace. Consumer spending has picked up and the economy has begun to re-open.

The Federal Reserve responded to the strong economic recovery by raising interest rates. The Fed raised the interest rate by 0.25% in its July meeting, the first rate hike since 2015. The Fed’s goal is to keep inflation close to 2 percent, so investors are hopeful that the Federal Reserve will continue to raise interest rates one or two more times this year.

Federal deficits impact interest rates, too. As the US government continues to spend trillions of dollars to try to keep the economy strong, interest rates are also affected by changes in the government’s monetary policy. The US government sells debt to fund its operations and demand comes from investors.

The US government has been spending far more than it generates in revenue. The resulting deficit could hit $2 trillion for the fiscal year ending September 30, estimates the Committee for a Responsible Federal Budget. That’s almost twice 2020’s deficit. The government raises money by selling Treasury bills and bonds. Four years ago, after a year of fiscal spending, the US Treasury was in $338 billion in debt and outstanding as of September 2020, which is now up by about $17 trillion since then.

In the Studio

“I茁Studio” features artist interviews, stories from and about artists, and insightful conversations with curators and art enthusiasts from near and far. This week, we sit down with the renowned curator of international visual arts, Lee McRae, to discuss her passion for art, her vision for the future of the arts, and her experiences as a practitioner in the field.

AC: What inspired you to pursue a career in the arts?

LMcR: I’ve always been fascinated by art and its power to inspire and challenge people. I’ve had the privilege of working with some of the most talented artists in the world, and I’ve learned so much from them. It’s a field that truly speaks to me.

AC: What’s your favorite art form or medium to work with?

LMcR: I love working with a variety of mediums, but I especially enjoy working with photography and video art. I love the way these mediums can capture a moment in time and convey a story.

AC: What challenges have you faced in your career as a curator?

LMcR: The most significant challenge has been to ensure that art is accessible to everyone. Art should be something that people can enjoy, but in many cases it can be exclusionary. I’ve worked hard to ensure that the artworks that I select are inclusive and appeal to a wide range of people.

AC: What advice do you have for aspiring artists?

LMcR: My advice is to be true to yourself and your vision. Don’t be afraid to take risks and try new things. And most importantly, don’t give up. Success in the arts can be challenging, but it’s worth it if you’re passionate about what you do.

AC: What’s next for you?

LMcR: I’m excited about my upcoming exhibition in New York City. It will feature works from some of my favorite artists, and I’m confident that it will be a showcase of their incredible talent.

AC: Thank you so much for your time, Lee McRae. I really enjoyed our conversation.

LMcR: Thank you, I’m glad we had the opportunity to speak. It’s been a pleasure.

Killingly holds Halloween Spooktacular celebration

DANIELSON — The town of Killingly ushered in a new annual tradition on Oct. 28 with an afternoon-long Halloween celebration along Main Street. The town held its yearly Main Street Trick-or-Treat early in the afternoon allowing local youngsters to visit Main Street businesses in costume to get their first dose of holiday candy. Trick-or-Treaters could then move over to David Park for a stationary Halloween party complete with food, halloween decorations, music, a bonfire, and more as they counted the evening hours when the town’s first Spooktacular Lights & Sounds parade hit the streets. The day proved to be a delightful, family friendly way to embrace the holiday spirit.

Westfield Church provided plenty of fun during Killingly Halloween celebration with facepainting, a bounce house, food, and more.

The staff of Key Bank was in full costume as they passed out candy to locals on Main Street.

The Mandalay Salon & Spa channeled one of the year’s biggest films “Barbie” with a photo-op opportunity for visitors.

Putnam celebrates Halloween with Main Street Trick-or-Treat

Putnam’s Main Street area was filled with ghosts, goblins, superheroes, cartoon characters, and all other kinds of costumed trick-or-treaters who visited local businesses in search of their first treats of the holiday week-end. With Halloween on the horizon Putnam’s Main Street Trick-or-Treat on Oct. 28 saw hundreds of youngsters visit downtown throughout the early afternoon kicking off a day full of holiday-themed events throughout the Quiet Corner.

The Putnam Police Department not only helped keep trick-or-treaters safe during the Main Street event, but also handed out candy as well.

Cancer screening saves lives.

Screening for lung cancer can save lives but the benefits of lung cancer screening are not always clear. Research shows that screening certain people at higher risk may help decrease their chance of dying from lung cancer.

If you currently smoke or have smoked in the last 15 years, are 50 to 80 years old and in fairly good health, you might benefit from screening for lung cancer with a yearly low dose CT scan (LDCT). Visit www.cancer.org to talk to a health care provider about your risk of lung cancer, and about the potential benefits, limitations, and harms of getting tested for early lung cancer.
