MassDOT celebrates early completion of Route 20 reconstruction project

CHARLTON — In an event last week in Charlton, Massachusetts Department of Transportation (MassDOT) Interim Secretary and CEO Phillip Eng, Undersecretary and State Highway Administrator Jonathan Gulliver, and other local officials cut a ribbon to celebrate the completion of the Charlton, Oxford Route 20 Roadway Reconstruction Project. The work significantly improves safety, traffic flow, and access for drivers, bikers and pedestrians along 3.2 miles of Route 20 from Richardson's Corner Road in Charlton to the Route 12 intersection in Oxford. About 26,000 vehicles travel along this section of Route 20 each day. The project was completed one year ahead of schedule using an innovative

Sheriff swears in Southbridge resident as Academy-trained correctional officer

Officer Dante Smith of the Worcester County Sheriff's Office.

PAXTON — On Friday, Dec. 5, Worcester County Sheriff Low Evangelidis administered the Correctional Officers Oath to the 12 graduates of the Sheriff's Office 64th Basic Recruit Training Academy (B.R.T.A.) in the Zecco Auditorium at Anna Maria College. Among the graduates was Officer Dante Smith of Southbridge.

The Worcester County Sheriff's Office is dedicated to protecting the residents of Worcester County and building a workforce that reflects the diversity of the communities it serves. The graduates of B.R.T.A. #64 form a capable group of new correctional officers, bringing unique skills and experiences to the department. This class comes from eight Massachusetts towns, as well as towns in Rhode Island and Connecticut, and includes four individuals with current or prior service in the U.S. Armed Forces.

The Sheriff's Office Academy offers a paid, full-time 13-week training program designed to prepare recruits for maintaining the care, custody, and control of inmates at the Worcester County Jail & House of Correction. Training combines classroom instruction with hands-on practice.

Recruits receive instruction in key areas, including de-escalation, the duty to intervene, fire safety, defensive tactics, and first responder procedures, along with significant training on suicide prevention, mental health, and substance abuse awareness.

Training also includes daily physical fitness, weekly academic assessments, and guest instruction from various WCSO staff.

“After 13 demanding weeks, I am proud to present some of the best and brightest in corrections,” said Evangelidis. “Our Training Department is among the strongest in the state, and these graduates are ready to serve as full-time correctional officers and support our mission. Congratulations to them as they begin their careers.”

Applicants must complete a written exam, physical fitness test, background check, and psychological screening. The Sheriff has also implemented hiring policies to ensure fairness, including banning political recommendation letters and giving preference to those who have served in the military.

The Worcester County Sheriff's Office is now accepting applications for its 65th Basic Recruit Training Academy, beginning in Spring 2026. More information is available at www.WorcesterCountySheriff.com/Careers/Correctional-Officer-Academy/.

Charlton Lions bring holiday cheer to old and young

CHARLTON — The Charlton Lions Club recently brought smiles to residents of Charlton Manor when they caroled in costume and brought gift bags loaded with useful and fun items. The week of Dec. 15, they will deliver gift cards to the principals of three Charlton schools; the cards will be given to families who need a little extra help this season. Decked out in Santa, Mrs. Claus, elf and Frosty the Snowman gear or just fun

Masons Christmas Party has great turnout

Master Masons gathered for the 1st official Christmas Party of the Major General Salem Towne lodge (MGST).

SOUTHBRIDGE — On Saturday, Dec. 13, the Webster apartment's (formally Webster Masonic Lodge) dining hall area was packed with Master Masons, from the Major General Salem Towne Lodge (MGST) and the Doric Chapter of Southbridge. About 40 members, families and significant others attended and enjoyed fine food and most of all being together and the comradery. The best part of the gathering was watching the excitement of the children when they were told

Santa was coming, and they all went running to see Santa as he entered the room waving and saying HO.HO.HO. The children and adults alike started cheering and clapping as Santa enters the dining hall and Santa proceeds to sit in his chair. As Santa sat in his chair the children went running over and they jumped up and down with joy and so much excitement. He waved to everyone and started to take his gift bag out and started to call the names of children to hand out the gifts. Camera phones click as people photograph their children, and adults with Santa. Sheriff’s office partners with Amazon to combat holiday package theft

WORCESTER — Sheriff Lew Evangelidis and the Worcester County Sheriff's Office are partnering with Amazon this holiday season to help residents safeguard their deliveries from package theft. With more people shopping online than ever before, porch piracy continues to be a growing concern nationwide, especially during the busy holiday months.

This initiative is part of a broader nationwide effort led by the National Sheriffs' Association to raise awareness about simple, proactive steps customers can take to prevent theft and help law enforcement focus on higher-priority calls during the holiday season.

“Package theft is more than an inconvenience during a season meant for celebration. It diverts valuable law enforcement resources,” said Worcester County Sheriff Lew Evangelidis. “When residents take simple steps to safeguard their deliveries, it helps us focus our efforts on the emergencies and critical calls that matter most.”

Keeping your packages safe

In partnership with Amazon, the Worcester County Sheriff's Office recommends the following strategies to help reduce the risk of package theft:

- Track Your Packages: Use Amazon's real-time Map Tracking feature on Amazon.com or the Amazon app to see exactly when a delivery will arrive.
- Choose Hidden Drop-Off Spots: Provide delivery instructions through the Amazon app or website to have packages placed in a discreet location.
- Use Pickup Locations: Amazon offers more than 25,000 secure package pickup sites nationwide, allowing customers to choose delivery to home, work, Amazon Lockers, or partner locations.

- Share Tracking: Amazon's Share Tracking tool allows you to share delivery details with trusted friends or family who can retrieve packages if you're not home.
- Check Delivery Photos: Review the confirmation photo provided by Amazon to verify where your package was placed.
- Select a Delivery Window: In areas where Same-Day Delivery is available, customers may choose a specific delivery window that best fits their schedule.

"While the vast majority of packages make it to customers without any issue, we know how frustrating it can be when criminals get in the way," said Gilad Solnik, Amazon's Director of Worldwide Security Operations. "Amazon has many features and technologies built into the delivery experience to help keep packages secure this holiday season and throughout the year."

If you experience package theft

If you believe your package has been stolen, we encourage you to take the following steps:

1. Report the theft to your local police department.
2. Contact Amazon Customer Service through the app or website for 24/7 assistance.
3. Check with neighbors to see if they received your package by mistake or noticed any suspicious activity.

The Worcester County Sheriff's Office remains committed to keeping our community safe this holiday season and year-round. By working together with residents and partners like Amazon, we can reduce theft and help ensure a happier, safer holiday season for everyone.

A pause worth protecting

The days that lead to Christmas, New Year’s, and the end of the calendar year have a rhythm all their own.

Schools wind down, offices slow, and routines loosen their grip. Even in towns where life is usually measured by meeting agendas and work schedules, this week brings a rare pause. It is not loud or dramatic, but it is meaningful.

For many families across Southbridge, Sturbridge, and Charlton, this stretch of days is shaped by long-standing traditions. Some gather around dinner tables that have seen generations come and go. Others visit churches they may only enter once or twice a year. Some mark the season quietly, perhaps with a walk, a phone call, or a memory carried alone.

What matters is not how the holiday is observed, but that the pause exists at all.

In small towns, the pace of daily life rarely slows on its own. There are roads to plow, budgets to manage, classrooms to run, and neighbors to help. Even when winter tightens its grip, responsibility continues. That makes this brief window especially valuable. It reminds us that community is not only built through work, but also through rest.

This is also a week when kindness tends to surface without much prompting. A door is held open a little longer. A check-in call is made. A meal is dropped off quietly. These gestures do not make headlines, but they are the glue that holds towns together long after decorations come down.

The close of the year naturally invites reflection. What went well. What was difficult. What was learned. In communities like ours, that reflection often centers not on grand achievements, but on people. A neighbor who stepped up. A teacher who went the extra mile. A volunteer who never asked for recognition.

As another year edges toward its end, it is worth holding onto the calm this week provides. January will arrive soon enough, along with its deadlines and demands. For now, there is value in stillness, in gratitude, and in recognizing the shared humanity that binds these towns together.

However, this week is spent, may it offer a moment to breathe, to reconnect, and to carry a bit of its quiet forward into the year ahead.

Blue Christmas, Renewed Christmas?

BY DR. RB MCFEE
DRMCFEE2020@GMAIL.COM

Everyone carries a burden, and often it feels heavier during Christmas. There’s no shame in it. The shame is not letting the power and beauty of Christmas into your spirit to bring you back to the joy you once felt.

Many years ago, I was the very essence of a Blue Christmas. Even my nail polish was blue! Put differently, my “ho ho ho” was fast on the go and I was about as frustrated and angst filled as Charlie Brown when he was trying to direct the Peanuts Christmas pageant.

But unlike Charlie Brown, I knew the meaning of Christmas, or thought I did. I just couldn’t feel it, even though I knew Luke 2 by heart. So I tried different strategies to deal with Christmas. One year I didn’t even decorate, the following year I put up so many lights up – even in the bathrooms.... I decorated like Snoopy trying to win first place in the lighting category ‘most likely to cause a seizure – sunglasses recommended.’

And to make matters worse, whenever I turned on the radio it seemed the airwaves were mocking me, the song “Where are you Christmas?”

Maybe it wasn’t a taunt but instructive? Sadly I’d change the channel before I stuck around for the ending, which is full of hope and a reminder that the Power of Christmas transcends whatever pain, challenges, difficulties, losses or hurts we face.

Net result....both years were still Blue Christmases. Neither approach helped me out.

In hindsight it’s easy to see why....worldly approaches to spiritual issues. You can’t deck the halls out of a Blue Christmas; you can cover it up but can’t treat it. I wished there had been a Blue Christmas Service to attend, like the one coming up at Charlton UMC on December 20th.

How about you? Is your heart a little heavier this Christmas than in years past? Are you having difficulty feeling the deep spiritual joy that Christ’s birth used to fill you with?

You aren’t alone.

That is why over the last forty or so years, the Blue Christmas service has become more prevalent. Sometimes referred to as the longest night service, because it is traditionally held around the Winter Solstice – the darkest day, longest night of the year - it has been conducted by Catholic and Protestant churches throughout the United States.

BEYOND THE PEWS

Although each service may vary from others, the common focus on recognizing there are people hurting at this sacred time of year, and need to find a way back to the manger, the star, the silent night beauty of Christ’s birth in spite of whatever difficulties one is facing.

What often adds insult to injury is the feeling of guilt at focusing on the empty chair at the dining room table, the IV meds going into a body once robust but now ravaged, a divorce, a job loss, or whatever pain causing issue, instead of celebrating the birth of our Savior. Or the notion your Blue Christmas means you are bad or faithless Christian. Neither one is true.

Thankfully there is a way to go from Blue Christmas to a Renewed Christmas. It is an important, powerful and necessary journey if we are to find our way back to the joy in Christmas, and beyond.

Is it a simple journey from Blue Christmas to Renewed Christmas? No! But it is a worthwhile one to take.

For starters, prayer is the cell phone that connects us with the journey Guide.

Over time the transformative Power of God, Christmas, and the real meaning of this time of Light will happen.

Take a moment to envision an obscure town near Jerusalem, in the dark of night, when angels told the world, told the shepherds about the greatest event ever; an event that has changed human history and human hearts – the birth of Christ.

Take the journey the shepherds did from their fields to the manger in Bethlehem. Place yourself there – in your heart, in your mind.

And consider taking this journey with those of us who have walked the walk, prayed the prayers, and accepted the love of Christ, the whispers of the Holy Spirit, the guidance of Scriptures, and the support of others – clergy, lay leaders, and the fellowship of fellow faithful.

All journeys start with the first steps so why not join us in a safe, warm, encouraging ecumenical Blue Christmas service Saturday, Dec. 20 at 6:30 p.m., hosted by Charlton City UMC on 74 Stafford Street.

Praying that you have a Renewed Christmas this year, and beyond.

AI in personal finance: The promise and the limits

Your smartphone buzzes with an alert: Your budgeting app has spotted an unusual spending pattern and suggests transferring $50 from your savings account to your checking account. Later that day, a robo-advisor automatically rebalances your investment portfolio. Welcome to the age of artificial intelligence (AI) in personal finance, where technology is reshaping how we manage money.

What AI can do for your wallet. From tracking every latte to forecasting next month's bills, AI-powered tools are making financial management more accessible than ever. Some apps categorize transactions automatically, while other platforms offer conversational financial advice through text messages. These tools can monitor your credit score, suggest budget adjustments, and even negotiate lower bills on services like cable and internet.

The investing landscape has transformed as well. Robo-advisors use algorithms to build diversified portfolios, automatically rebalance holdings and apply strategies to minimize tax bills. Educational tools powered by AI can explain complex concepts through interactive games and simple question-and-answer formats, making financial literacy more accessible.

Where AI falls short. Here's what the algorithms can't do: understand what truly matters to you.

AI doesn't know whether you value sustainable investing over maximum returns. It can't weigh the emotional complexity of saving for a child's education versus retiring early. When sudden illness strikes or a job change upends your plans, AI lacks the context and empathy to guide you through those human moments.

Technology can crunch numbers brilliantly, but it can't offer wisdom. It can't replace human judgment, experience, or ethical reasoning. Robo-advisors' predetermined algorithms may not suit investors with complex financial needs like estate planning or comprehensive tax planning.

The human touch still matters. This is where human financial advisors remain indispensable. They provide what technology can't:

- Long-term perspective: Help you maintain focus when markets get volatile, and emotions run high
- Goal coordination: Balance competing priorities, help partners merge their financial visions and remind you of goals you've tucked away and didn't know still mattered

- Accountability: Keep you on track with your financial strategy through life's inevitable changes
- Emotional support: Offer reassurance and wisdom during major financial decisions

Research validates it: Those who regularly work with a financial advisor and have a financial strategy are more likely to feel optimistic about their financial future than those who manage finances on their own, according to 2025 research from Edward Jones and Morning Consult.

Find the right balance. The future likely lies in a hybrid approach: combining data-driven AI insights with the human wisdom of a financial advisor who understands your values, priorities, and life's inevitable curveballs. Think of AI as a powerful calculator and your financial advisor as the mathematician who knows which equations to use.

As these technologies evolve, the key is treating AI as a tool, not a guide.

Stay curious about what technology can do for your finances. Stay critical of its limitations. And remember: What matters most in your financial life is something only you can define.

a cart and does not notice. Someone else reaches for the same loaf of bread. A register freezes, and the line grinds to a halt. In summer, these moments might cause irritation. In winter, they are met with sighs and shrugs.

We have all been on the other side of it.

There is also a rhythm to winter errands that I did not notice when I was younger. The list is shorter, but the trip feels longer. The conversations are fewer, but they linger. The goal is not speed. The goal is completion without aggravation.

At this stage of life, I find myself more aware of how small interactions set the tone for the day. A cashier who takes an extra moment to ask how you are holding up. A stranger who helps reach an item on a high shelf. Someone holding the door while cold air rushes in behind them.

None of this is remarkable, and that is precisely the point.

We spend a lot of time talking about community as if it only exists at meetings or events or organized gatherings. But most of it happens quietly, in places like grocery stores, pharmacies, and hardware aisles, where people are just trying to get through the day.

Winter makes those moments unavoidable.

You cannot rush past them as easily. You are bundled up, slowed down, forced to share space. You notice things you might otherwise miss, like how many people shop alone, or how often someone pauses to reread a label because they are no longer certain what they came in for.

I see a bit of myself in that.

There was a time when errands were something to get through as quickly as possible so I could get back to the next obligation. Now, they feel more like markers in the day. A reason to step outside. A reminder that life still moves forward, even when the days are short and the weather discourages enthusiasm.

By the time I load the bags into the car and wrestle the cart back into place, I am usually ready to go home. Ready for warmth, for quiet, for the comfort of familiar routines. But I am also aware that I have just participated in something small and shared.

We all did.

Winter will keep testing our patience. The lines will stay slow. The aisles will stay crowded. The errands will keep taking longer than planned. But there is something grounding in knowing that everyone around you is navigating the same small inconveniences.

It is not grand. It is not poetic. It is simply life in winter, Massachusetts style, carried out one errand at a time.

And somehow, that feels like enough.

T.L.C. Home Services honors cancer patients at annual Festival of Giving Trees

SOUTHBRIDGE — T.L.C. Home Services, LLC proudly participated in the annual Festival of Giving Trees, held Dec. 4–7 at the LaSalle Reception Center. This cherished community event showcases beautifully decorated Christmas trees donated by local businesses and organizations, with proceeds supporting cancer research and local cancer-related programs through the Silent Spring Institute and other charitable initiatives. This year marks T.L.C. Home Services’ second tree donation on behalf of Cleaning for a Reason, a non-profit organization dedicated to providing free home cleanings to cancer patients across the United States and Canada. Every ornament, ribbon, and gift was carefully selected to honor the impact of the mission on patients and families. “Participating in the Festival is a deeply valued tradition for our company,” said owner Tammie Chenevert. “We are honored to stand alongside Cleaning for a Reason, supporting a mission that brings hope, comfort, and care to families facing cancer. This event beautifully reflects how our community comes together to make a meaningful difference.” Community members attending the Festival enjoyed festive displays, purchased raffle tickets, and helped raise funds for cancer research and local support programs. T.L.C. Home Services’ second decorated tree on behalf of Cleaning for a Reason added a special, heartfelt touch to the event, highlighting the company’s ongoing dedication to supporting families facing cancer. Since joining Cleaning for a Reason in 2022, T.L.C. Home Services has provided free cleanings to 40 local cancer patients, totaling $15,926 in donated services. The company was recognized as one of the Top 100 Partners in the program for 2023 and 2024, serving among the highest number of patients nationwide.

Eversource employee leads Auburn winter coat drive to support local families

AUBURN — Families in need across Worcester County are warmer this holiday season thanks to a successful winter coat and clothing drive organized by Eversource Gas Operations Field Supervisor Michael St. Pierre at the Auburn work center on Westec Drive.

On his own accord, St. Pierre launched the coat drive among employees at the Auburn center as a way to give back to the communities that Eversource serves.

“Growing up as one of six children, my parents faced difficult decisions regarding essential needs like utilities, groceries, or clothing,” commented Michael St. Pierre. “These personal experiences drive my commitment to assisting those less fortunate.”

Under Mike’s leadership, employees collected a wide variety of winter essentials, including:

- 71 winter coats
- 35 pairs of warm socks
- 30 pairs of gloves
- 22 winter hats
- Seven pairs of ski pants
- Six pairs of children’s boots
- Three scarves

A longtime supporter of local law enforcement, St. Pierre noted that he was aware of the Worcester County Sheriff’s Office Annual Winter Coat Drive and felt that partnering with the Sheriff’s Office was the natural choice. The Sheriff’s Office’s existing distribution network ensures that donated items reach families who need them most.

Last minute antique and collectibles holiday gifts

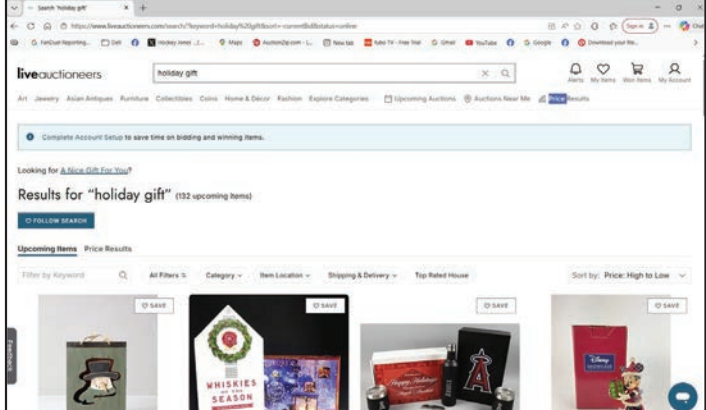

ANTIQUES, COLLECTIBLES & ESTATES

WAYNE TUISKULA

If you typically are shopping at the mall on Christmas Eve or ordering one day delivery for gifts on Amazon on Dec. 23, you still may have time to buy that special gift for the collector in your life.

We run our auctions on LiveAuctioneers, so I’ll start by discussing their platform. There are over 5,000 auction houses running auctions on liveauctioneers.com. No matter what you are looking for, you can probably find it there. As an example,

I searched “oil lamp” and found 233 auction listings currently running. You can narrow your search to a 20-mile radius from your location or expand it to search around the world. Many auction houses allow local pick up so you can get the item right away. You can also search for auctions that are ending soon. You will want to check the auction house’s shipping policy. Some auctioneers may ship in-house quickly after an auction, and others may contract outside shippers, and it can take longer.

Other online auction options include HiBid. Their website also touts having thousands of auctioneers on their hibid.com platform. Invaluable is United Kingdom based with their website claiming “over 5,000 premier auction houses and dealers globally.” If you search invaluable.com you will find many United States auction houses based there.

With time running out before the holidays you may want to attend a live local auction. You can find both live and online auctions on auc-tionzip.com. You can search for auctions in your area by entering your zip code in the search bar. The default is 30 miles but can be expanded further. You can also search by date and narrow your results down to auctions in New England and even to individual New England states.

If you want to purchase something online right away TIAS (The Internet Antique Shop) tias.com has been in business since 1995. I used to sell on there when they first went online. Ruby Lane (rubylane.com) offers antiques from around 1,500 dealers, according to their website. They were formed in 1998. Also, check individual sellers shipping policies with these sites.

You may also find that gift you’ve been looking for online locally on Facebook Marketplace. I did the same “oil lamp” search and found hundreds of listings throughout New England. There are also Facebook groups for people selling antiques locally and you can also search on Craigslist.

An estate sale is another option. Estate sales may be listed in newspapers along with the websites estatesales.net and estatesales.org. Serious buyers get there early, sometimes the day before the sale to sign lists to be one of the first admitted into the sale.

Of course, there are plenty of local antique shops where you can search for gifts. You can walk in and buy a gift and make sure you still have plenty of time to wrap it for the holidays. Happy Holidays!

The single-collector Civil War auction is starting soon. Following that, we’ll have a major auction with fine jewelry, sterling silver, art, and other antiques and collectibles. There is still time to consign items for that sale. Please visit our website <https://centralmassauctions.com> for links to upcoming events.

Contact us to consign items or for auction information at: Wayne Tuiskula Auctioneer/Appraiser Central Mass Auctions for Antique, Collectibles Auctions and Appraisal Services info@centralmassauctions.com or (508-612-6111).

The Worcester County Sheriff’s Office and Worcester County Reserve Deputy Sheriff’s Association Annual Winter Coat Drive raises funds to purchase and then distribute roughly 4,000 winter coats each year to individuals in need across the county.

“Our distribution locations include women’s shelters, veteran organizations, senior centers, religious institutions, schools, and more,” explained Worcester County Sheriff Lew Evangelidis. “We’ve been doing the coat drive for well over a decade, but we were impressed by what Mike and his colleagues were able to pull off. This is what the holiday season is all about.”

The Sheriff emphasized that the impact of the coat drive extends beyond physical warmth.

“For us as a law enforcement agency, the coat drive creates a meaningful opportunity to build trust and bridge gaps between the community and law enforcement,” Evangelidis added.

“I am profoundly grateful for the opportunity to collaborate with Eversource and the Worcester County Sheriff’s Office to support individuals facing hardship during this challenging time,” commented St. Pierre. “This initiative has been among the most satisfying experiences of my career.”

On Dec. 3, Evangelidis and members of his team visited the Auburn work center to collect the donations and personally thank Eversource employees for their efforts.

The donated items from the Auburn center will be distributed through the Fitchburg Community Support Center, one of three centers operated by the Sheriff’s Office that assist individuals reentering society after incarceration, and generally support the greater community.

From our family to Yours...

...all the Best this Holiday Season!

Bartlett dominates Southbridge in 105th Thanksgiving Day matchup

WEBSTER — Bartlett High School delivered a decisive performance in the 105th Thanksgiving Day football game, defeating Southbridge 50–6 at Memorial Field. The Indians controlled the contest from start to finish, piling up 338 rushing yards and forcing multiple turnovers to improve to 7–4 on the season while winning their third consecutive Thanksgiving Day match-up, while the visiting Pioneers dropped to 2–9.

Senior Lawrence Smith led the way for Bartlett, rushing 15 times for 214 yards and four touchdowns. Smith was named the recipient of the Vincent Sabatinelli Trophy as the game’s Most Valuable Player for the second consecutive year. He also contributed through the air, completing two two-point conversions to Kenny Arpin.

Bartlett opened the scoring in the first quarter on a nine-yard touchdown run by Smith, followed by a two-point conversion. The Indians extended their lead in the second quarter with three additional touchdowns, including a 44-yard run by Jaesean Atkins and another long scoring run by Smith. Southbridge answered with a 70-yard kickoff return for a touchdown by Alex Bermudez Miranda, however, Bartlett took an imposing 30–6 lead into half-time.

The ground game remained dominant in the second half. Arpin had an 8 yard touchdown run in the third quarter while Smith added a 24-yard touchdown run in the fourth quarter. Arpin capped the scoring with a 57-yard interception return on the final play of the game. Arpin also rushed for 29 yards and a touchdown, while Atkins finished with 55 yards and a score on three carries.

Defensively, Bartlett limited Southbridge to 90 yards of total yards, forced 5 turnovers and consistently won the battle at the line of scrimmage. Aiden Turner led the Indians with 5.5 total tackles, while Xavier Butler recorded five tackles, a sack, a tackle for loss, and two forced fumbles. Kenny Arpin added two interceptions, including the game-ending pick-six.

Bartlett’s balanced attack and disciplined defensive effort allowed the Indians to pull away early and maintain control throughout the rivalry match-up. The victory closed the regular season on a high note for Bartlett in one of central Massachusetts’ longest-running Thanksgiving football traditions.

Christmas sweaters, fourteen members of The Charlton Lions Club arrived on Sunday afternoon, December 7, with gift bags labeled for men or women. The Lions led residents in singing a host of fun Christmas songs as well as traditional carols.

"It was great to see the joy on residents' faces and watch them all sing along with the carols they knew by heart," said Club President Dana Gould. The sound may not have always been worthy of recording, but it was strong and heartfelt.

After the "concert," club members distributed large bags of gifts and candy.

"Socks – just what I need!" exclaimed one resident as she pulled items out of her bag. Gifts also included gloves, candy and toiletries.

In time for Christmas, a representative of the Club will bring $750 in gift cards to principals at Charlton Elementary, Charlton Middle, and Heritage schools. Principals will then choose families among their students to receive the cards based on need.

The caroling and gifts to needy families are annual projects for The Charlton Lions. Lions Clubs International is the largest service organization in the world, and the Charlton Club embodies the international motto, "We serve."

The Club meets the second and fourth Wednesdays of every month, September through June, at 6:30 p.m. at The Overlook. Club members come from many backgrounds – professionals, business people, homemakers and retirees. If you would like to learn more about membership in the Charlton Club, please contact Membership Chair Jennie Frisella at 508-434-2527.

ROUTE 20 continued from page A1 year ahead of schedule,” said Gov. Maura Healey. “Safety is always our top priority, and this project is a great example of what can happen when we work together with impacted families and community members. When we invest in transportation, our team at MassDOT delivers results that make a real impact in people’s lives.”

“Today's ribbon cutting for the Reconstruction of Route 20 is not just another major road project but one that marks a new day for the towns of Charlton and Oxford that demonstrates to everyone that safety is our top priority. Under the Healey-Driscoll Administration, not only are we investing in rebuilding our infrastructure but we are investing in the public we serve by delivering meaningful projects that enhance safety, quality of life and local businesses,” said Interim MassDOT Secretary & MBTA General Manager and CEO Phillip Eng. “I can't be more proud of the MassDOT workforce and our District 3 team for their commitment to the local community and the families that have been the voice advocating for these critical improvements so we can better serve the public and future generations.”

“This project reflects what can be achieved when communities, families, and public officials come together around a shared commitment to safety,” said Undersecretary and State Highway Administrator Jonathan Gulliver. “I’m grateful to the Brodeur family, our elected officials, and our MassDOT team, as well as our contractor DW White, for helping bring this project to completion a year ahead of schedule.”

The Charlton, Oxford Route 20 Roadway Reconstruction Project includes widening and resurfacing of the roadway, adding full shoulders, and installing a continuous median to separate opposing traffic and eliminate unsafe left-turns. Drivers will now use intersections with traffic signals at Route 12, Route 56, Richardson Corner Road to make left turns. A new roundabout at Oxbow Road and emergency pull-off areas were included to increase safety.

Additionally, the project included replacing the bridges over the Little River and French River. MassDOT built 13 retaining walls, installed four culverts, supported 8.5 miles of upgraded utilities, and implemented extensive stormwater-treatment improvements. Multimodal access was also expanded with a shared-use path along the westbound side of Route 20 and a new sidewalk along the eastbound side of Route 20 increasing safety for bikers and pedestrians.

The corridor improvements were funded through an 80/20 federal-to-state split, with a total project cost of $107.7 million. Although planned as a four-year effort, the project reached full beneficial use in October 2025 -- a full year ahead of schedule. Additionally, a $2.8 million MassWorks Infrastructure Program grant supported the extension of the Route 20 sewer main and was coordinated as part of the project construction.

“Having represented Charlton throughout my time in Congress, and Oxford for many of those years, I know just how critical an artery Route 20 is for residents, commuters, and commerce throughout central Massachusetts. I am pleased that with the partnership of the federal government and a substantial infusion of federal dollars, this much-needed reconstruction has finally come to fruition,” said Congressman Richard E. Neal. “This project represents a transformational investment in public safety, one that will improve traffic flow and expand safe access for drivers, bikers, and pedestrians alike. I applaud MassDOT for their stick-to-itiveness, delivering a project that will make an immediate and lasting difference in the lives of the people of two terrific communities.”

State Sen. Ryan C. Fattman (Worcester and Hampden District) said, "Today's ribbon cutting marks a decade of partnership and dedication paying off for Central MA, specifically for Charlton and Oxford. Route 20's reconstruction is an important investment and commitment to safety, economic opportunity, and growth for the community. I'm proud to represent this vital area of Central MA and celebrate this completed project that will beneficially serve for decades to come."

State Rep. Paul K. Frost (7th Worcester District) commented, “We have all come a long way since our first meeting at MassDOT District 3 Headquarters in 2015, after a tragic head-on accident happened at the curve on Route 20 in North Oxford. The families of victims of the road—including Lisa Brodeur, who lost her husband years before, and her son, now deceased, who was left with severe brain damage—were outside demanding action. We worked together and set a plan in motion for short-term, intermediate-term, and long-term safety improvements. The project had local, state and federal partners and was expedited and finished early. It not only addressed head-on collisions at the curve but also improved other areas of the Route 20 corridor where accidents had been occurring at high frequency. I’m happy we are here now, with the project completed as promised. I thank MassDOT and especially District 3 for their dedication and commitment to see this through and to address the many concerns brought up along the way.”
