Local adaptive water ski leaders awarded scholarships to attend national conference

Webster Water Ski Collective is proud to announce that Ryan DesRoches, Director of Adaptive Programs and founder of the organization's Adaptive Water Ski Gazda, adaptive skier and certified adaptive ski instructor, have been selected to receive full scholarships to attend the 2026 Move United Education Conference.

awarded through a grant made possible by the VA Adaptive Sports Grant, which supports the development of adaptive sports opportunities for disabled veterans and other individuals with disabilities across the United States.

The Move United Education Conference will be held April 18–23 in Hyannis, and brings together adaptive sports professionals, volunteers, and leaders from across the U.S. and Canada. The event includes sessions on inclusive coaching, program development, nonprofit management, equipment innovation, and hands-on adaptive sports clinics.

"This is an incredible opportunity for us," said Ryan DesRoches. "As a 100 percent volunteer-run organization, we're always looking for ways to improve and grow. Being able to connect with other adaptive sports leaders and learn from their experiences will help us strengthen every part of our program — from how we support athletes with different disabilities, to how we manage and sustain our organization long-term."

DesRoches founded the adaptive water ski program six years ago after a chance encounter with a skier with cerebral palsy inspired him to make water skiing more accessible. Today, the organization supports more than 120 adaptive participants annually, including hosting one of the largest Veteran adaptive water ski events in the country, as recognized by USA Water Ski & Wake Sports.

The Webster Water Ski Collective has also expanded its reach by hosting adaptive clinics throughout Massachusetts, and in 2026 will be partnering with the Electric City Water Ski Show Team to host their first clinic in New York State. The organization values collaboration and has actively forged partnerships with other ski clubs and adaptive organizations including the Aqua Riders of Holland Show Ski Team, Team Hoyt New England and the Jack Trotter Foundation.

Cindi Gazda, a traumatic brain injury survivor, began as a participant and has since become one of the Collective's most dedicated volunteers earning her safety and instructor certifications through USA Water Ski & Wake Sports shortly after participating at her first event with the Adaptive Ski Program. DUDLEY — When recently asked 'What is your constant and immediate need?' the folks at the Webster-Dudley Food Share said, "Diapers."

With this, the Dudley Board of Health and Dudley Woman's Club teamed up to sponsor a February Diaper Drive.

The month-long initiative seeks disposable diapers of any size (no pull-ups please) to assist young families relying on support from the Food Share.

A collection bin will be located in the Dudley Town Hall lobby, 71 West Main St., through Feb. 27.

Please, if you are able, help us support young families who could use a bit of neighborly care by dropping your donation, no matter how large or small, at the Dudley Town Hall.

Care Equipment joins U-Haul dealer network to support Dudley

DUDLEY — U-Haul Co. of Massachusetts and Ohio, Inc. is pleased to announce that Care Equipment, a local rental store, signed on as a U-Haul® neighborhood dealer to serve the Dudley community.

Care Equipment at 121 W. Main St. will offer essential services like U-Haul trucks, trailers, towing equipment, and moving supplies. Normal business hours are 9 a.m.-5 p.m. Monday-Friday. Reserve

U-Haul products at this dealer location by calling (508) 213-4119 or visiting <https://www.uhaul.com/Locations/Truck-Rentals-near-Dudley-MA-01571/014264/> today. Care Equipment owner Joe Dion is proud to team with the industry leader in do-it-yourself moving and self-storage to better meet the demands of Worcester County. U-Haul has teamed with independent dealers to offer rental equipment to do-it-yourself movers since 1945. During these challenging times for small businesses, more than 22,000 dealers across the U.S. and Canada are generating supplemental income through their U-Haul affiliation. When customers rent from a U-Haul dealer, they are directly supporting an independent small business in their community. Because no financial investment is required to be a dealer, these local affiliates are not U-Haul franchises. They are simply small businesses that have committed a portion of their lot space for U-Haul equipment, and a portion of their time to help meet the mobility needs of their neighbors. Learn more about the dealer program and how to join by visiting uhaul.com/dealer. Need moving labor services with your U-Haul rental? Since 2002, Moving Help® has been the No. 1 choice of customers seeking labor for loading and unloading, packing and unpacking, home safe moving, piano moving, cleaning, and U-Box storage container services during their moves. Customers choose the number of workers, hours, and service date needed from a network of 7,800 customer-rated local and independent Moving Help Providers across the U.S. and Canada. Transparent upfront pricing is given, and payment release is subject to customer approval when the job is completed using Moving Help's patented payment code. Reserve moving labor services at MovingHelp.com.

QCC’s Commonwealth Honors program promotes research

WORCESTER

Students in Quinsigamond Community College’s Commonwealth Honors program presented their research findings at a recent Honors Colloquium Student Showcase. The Honors Colloquium is an interdisciplinary course required for students completing designated honors pathways. Designed to foster intellectual curiosity and collaboration, the course brings together faculty from multiple disciplines to explore a central theme from diverse perspectives.

Each student develops a thesis related to the semester’s theme, conducts in-depth library research and produces a research paper. The experience culminates in a poster presentation, shared both in class and at the Honors Colloquium Student Showcase, where students present their work to the broader QCC community. Many participants also take their research beyond campus, presenting at the Undergraduate Research Conference at UMass Amherst.

One section of the Honors Colloquium course, co-taught by Associate Professor of Biology Opeyemi Odewale and Professor of English John Stazinski, employed the theme “The Small Engines of Humanity: Germs, Cooties, and Diseases – Microbial Impact & Societal Transformation.”

“The Honors Colloquium is unique among classes at QCC in that the students, every single semester, become very close and end up forming a true learning community,” said Stazinski. “They’re genuinely engaged by each other’s projects and tend to keep each other on track.”

At last month’s showcase, students presented their research on how microbes influence contemporary societal challenges.

Student Luis Cruz investigated the gut-eye axis, inspired by his background in ophthalmology and future plans for graduate school and a Ph.D. His project explored early eye treatment options to prevent surgery. Another student, Emma Dattis, examined how music and social networks influence the gut microbiome, uncovering links between cultural factors and microbial health.

Other sections of the Honors Colloquium included “The World in 2050: A Certain Uncertainty,” “(Hi) stories of American Violence” and “Truths or Consequences: Examining Movements for Change.”

For more information on QCC’s Commonwealth Honors Program, visit qcc.edu/learn-qcc/commonwealth-honors-program.

Saint Joseph School student advances in Lions Peace Poster Contest

WEBSTER — A seventh-grade student at Saint Joseph School has been selected as the school's winner in the 2025 Lions Clubs International Peace Poster Contest, earning the opportunity to advance to the district level.
Sophia Surowaniec, daughter of Piotr and Kristy Surowaniec of North Grosvenordale, Conn., received the news during a visit to Saint Joseph School by Webster-Dudley Lions Club member Dr. John Kalinowski, who personally notified her that her poster was moving forward and posed for photos with the student.
This year's contest theme, "Together as One," encourages students to share their vision of peace through original artwork. The Peace Poster Contest aims to allow children in schools and youth groups everywhere to express their visions of peace through their art. Lions Club members, through local service, strive to spread joy, kindness, hope, and peace within the community.
Sophia is a repeat winner for Saint Joseph School—her 2024 entry was also selected to move on in the competition. She is also deeply involved in school leadership and service as a member of Saint Joseph School's Eagles Chapter of the National Junior Honor Society, Treasurer of the Children of Mary Sodality, a member of the Varsity Cheer Team, and an Assistant Coach for the Eagles Cheer Team.
Students develop and refine their contest ideas in art class with Saint Joseph School's Art Instructor and Fine Arts Director, Ms. Brigid Campbell, who supports students in connecting artistic choices to the message they want to communicate.
School leaders noted that the contest aligns closely with Saint Joseph School's mission of Religion, Respect, and Responsibility, giving students a meaningful way to express compassion, unity, and respect through creativity.
Congratulations to Sophia Surowaniec on this achievement.

The value of small decisions close to home

Not every important decision in Webster arrives with fanfare. Most do not come wrapped in speeches or marked by ribbon cuttings. Instead, they take place quietly, in meeting rooms on ordinary weeknights, through votes that rarely draw crowds and discussions that seldom make headlines. Yet these are the decisions that shape the texture of everyday life in town.

Local government is often judged by its largest projects, but it is sustained by its smallest actions. Routine agenda items, license approvals, budget adjustments, and policy clarifications may appear minor in isolation. Taken together, they determine how smoothly municipal services operate and how consistently rules are applied. They affect how quickly roads are repaired, how public spaces are maintained, and how accessible town services remain for residents of all ages.

In a community the size of ours, governance is necessarily close to the ground. Board members are neighbors. Department heads are familiar faces. Decisions are made not in distant offices but in rooms where residents can sit, listen, and speak. This proximity is one of the town’s greatest strengths, but it only works when the process is steady and visible.

Consistency matters. Boards that meet regularly, post clear agendas, and maintain accurate minutes build confidence over time. Residents may not agree with every outcome, but they are more likely to trust decisions that are made openly and thoughtfully. Transparency does not require perfection. It requires effort, follow-through, and a willingness to explain how and why choices are made.

Public participation plays an important role, even when it is quiet. Attending a meeting does not always mean stepping to the microphone. Sometimes it means observing, understanding how decisions unfold, and recognizing the work being done. Presence alone can reinforce accountability and remind those serving that their work is part of a larger civic fabric.

It is also worth remembering that many of the people who keep Webster, Dudley and Oxford running do so with limited resources and little recognition. Board members, committee volunteers, and municipal staff balance public responsibilities with jobs, families, and personal commitments. The decisions they make are rarely simple, and they often involve competing priorities. A functioning local government depends on patience as much as participation.

Small decisions, made carefully and consistently, are what allow a town to manage larger challenges when they arise. Long-term planning does not happen all at once. It is built gradually, through regular oversight, routine maintenance, and attention to detail. When those building blocks are in place, Webster is better prepared to respond to growth, economic pressures, and changing community needs.

In the end, the health of a town is measured not by dramatic moments but by reliability. When residents know where decisions are made, how to access information, and how to engage respectfully, trust has room to grow. Paying attention to the quieter work of local government, even occasionally, helps ensure that Webster continues to be governed with care, stability, and a strong sense of community.

Letter submission policy

Letters to the Editor must include the author’s name, address, and a daytime phone number for purposes of verification in order to be considered for publication. Only the author’s name and the town in which they reside will be published. Letters submitted without all of the required information will not be accepted.

It is the sole prerogative of the Editor to determine whether a submission satisfies our requirements and decency standards, and any submission may be rejected at any time for any reason he or she might deem appropriate.

Viewpoint

Curtis Street

BY HELEN POIRIER
AUBURN HISTORICAL SOCIETY

When entering the information in a database about the founding fathers in what was then, the South Parish of Worcester, a name popped up that was familiar, Oliver Curtis. Oliver’s family originally came from the Sudbury area of Massachusetts. They were farmers. Oliver’s parents, Ephraim and Mary [Rice], moved to Worcester on Pakachoag Hill sometime before Oliver’s brother Samuel was born in 1730, Oliver was born in 1740. The part of Worcester that they moved to eventually was annexed to create the South Parish. Not all families living in the Pakachoag area were thrilled about being taken away from Worcester, and the Curtis family was one of them. According to former town historian, John Hartwell, these families were permitted to remain tied to Worcester even though their property was in South Parish. These were prominent families and were about one fifth of the town acreage. For about 75 years petitions were sent to the General Court asking to be reunited with Worcester, and all were denied.

Oliver was active in town government starting in 1773 when he was involved with the meeting house construction. There was an absence of Oliver’s name in town affairs from April 19, 1775, when he marched on the alarm in Lexington as a private in Captain Samuel Lamson’s Company, and served 3 days. According to the “Massachusetts Soldiers and Sailors who served in the Revolutionary War,” in May of 1777 he was in Capt. Jesse Wyman’s Co, in Col. Josiah Whitney’s regiment at Point Judith and was discharged July 1777. He was also listed in Rhode Island as a sergeant in Captain Edward Richardson’s Company, in Colonel Thomas Poor’s regiment where payroll accounts had him at West Point in Sept. 1778, and King’s Ferry in November. He was finally discharged in December of 1778.

The town reports had Oliver listed 1778 – field driver, a field driver was a town officer responsible for capturing and impounding domestic farm animals roaming loose. The field driver’s role was codified in Massachusetts law (Massachusetts General Laws Part I Title VII Chapter 49 Section 240) “Duties of field driver; taking up untended animals.” In 1779, he was listed as a Fence Viewer. Their job was to make sure fences in the town were properly maintained to cut down on internal squabbling and difficulties. In 1780, Oliver was tasked to purchase beef for supplying patriot soldiers, 1781 [committee of] correspondence, and court attendee which were involved with the state constitution, and 1782- correspondence which was the network for information that each town had.

Since Curtis Street is off of Pakachoag Street it could be possible that was the area where the Curtis family had their farm thus needed a road to get to it. There was an advertisement in the Massachusetts Spy dated March 20, 1799 stating that “the house of Oliver Curtis in Ward, a farm containing about 100 acres of land; consisting of mowing, pasturing, tillage and woodland, well-watered — a house, corn house and barn will be fold with the above, or separate, as shell best suit the purchaser. Terms of payment made easy; for further particulars, enquire of Oliver Curtis.” The 1800 census had Oliver living in Sharon, so the farm must have sold.

The 1810 census showed that Oliver and his wife were living Dudley. Oliver died in 1815 in Pelham at the age of 75 after a short illness. His last will had his wife as executor and inherited everything until his son turned 21. His son, Ephraim, married and moved to Otselic New York and daughter Betsy married Joseph Beebe of Sutton and had 5 children. Eventually the family moved to Chenango, New York. By 1850, all the original families in the Pakachoag area that were part of Worcester sold off their land and moved away.

What should you do with your tax refund?

FINANCIAL FOCUS
DENNIS ANTONOPOULOS

It’s almost time for people to begin receiving their tax refunds. If you get one, what will you do with it?

The answer will depend somewhat on the size of your refund. Last year, the average was $3,167, according to the Internal Revenue Service’s Filing Season Statistics report.

Whatever the size of your refund, you’ll want to maximize its benefit. Here are some suggestions:

Contribute to your IRA. If you receive $3,167, it could go a long way toward funding your IRA for the year, but any amount would help. You have until April 15 to contribute for the 2025 tax year, but if you’ve already “maxed out” contributions, you could use your refund for 2026, when the annual contribution limit for an IRA is $7,500, or $8,600 if you’re 50 or older. Beginning early toward fully funding your IRA can help reduce the pressure of coming up with large amounts later.

Build an emergency fund. Your tax refund could help you start or expand an emergency fund. It’s a good idea to keep three to six months’ worth of living expenses in such a fund, with the money kept in a liquid, low-risk account, separate from the funds you use for your daily expenses. You might need to draw on this fund for unexpected expenses, such as a major home or car repair or a large medical bill. Without an emergency fund in place, you might be tempted to dip into your IRA or other retirement accounts to pay for these types of costs, and that could be expensive, resulting in taxes, penalties and lost opportunities for growth.

Contribute to a 529 plan. If you have children or grandchildren and want to support their education, you might consider investing in a 529 education savings plan. Earnings and withdrawals are federally tax free, provided the money is used for qualified education expenses. Your 529 plan may provide state tax benefits, too. (It’s possible, though, that 529 withdrawals could affect financial aid packages, depending on who owns the account.) A 529 plan can be used to help pay for college, accredited trade school programs, some K-12 expenses and even some student loans.

Pay down debts. You may wish you could reduce your debt load. Your tax refund could offer you that chance. But which debts should you tackle first? You could follow the “snowball” method by paying off the smallest of your loans or debts as quickly as possible. Or you could choose the “avalanche” route by making minimum payments on all debts and using extra funds – such as your tax refund – to pay off those with the highest interest rates. Either method could help you save money in the long term.

Prepare for other tax obligations. Your refund can also be set aside in a separate savings account to pay estimated quarterly taxes or personal property or real estate taxes.

It’s not often that you receive a financial windfall such as a tax refund — so think carefully about how you can maximize its benefits.

Auction news and goodbye earned $6.7 million. A draft of the United States Constitution with notes by founding father Rufus King was the highest selling piece, bringing $7.3 million.

A more contemporary item set an auction record in November. Auction records for sports memorabilia and comic books are frequently being broken, and a rare Superman 1939 first issue comic book has done it again. The comic book was discovered by three brothers who were cleaning out their mother’s attic, according to an AP article. The copy graded a 9.0 out of 10, remarkable for an issue that old. It went up, up, and away, fetching over $9 million.

I’ve greatly enjoyed the 10-plus years I’ve been writing this column. It’s been wonderful meeting many of you who’ve invited me to appraise items at local appraisal events, asked me to lecture about antiques, have consigned items with me, or have taken the time to email me about articles I’ve written. Our workload has been increasing every year, leading me to take a hiatus from writing. Please keep my contact information in case you may need help in the future. Once again, thank you to everyone who has read this column and thank you for your support.

Our single-collector Civil War auction starts next week. The following sale will include fine jewelry, sterling silver, art, and other antiques and collectibles. We’ll be running a major sale with sports cards and memorabilia in the summer. We are accepting consignments for our next two sales. Please visit our website <https://centralmassauctions.com> for links to upcoming events.

ANTIQUES, COLLECTIBLES & ESTATES
WAYNE TUISKULA

It’s been a few weeks since I shared the latest auction news, and plenty has taken place since then.

Beginning with local news, a Western Massachusetts historical society recently consigned a piece of furniture for auction that generated significant funds for the group. I’ve noted in previous columns that most antique furniture has dropped in value over the years. This piece was certainly an exception. The Swift River Valley Historical Society’s website describes themselves as “the leading resource in preserving the artifacts, stories and records of the lost towns of the Quabbin Valley.” It is the historical society for the towns of Dana, Enfield, Greenwich, and Prescott. The Commonwealth of Massachusetts took residents’ properties in those four towns by eminent domain, and everyone had to relocate by April 28, 1938. The land was flooded several months later to create the Quabbin Reservoir, which provides water to the Eastern part of the state. The Swift River Valley Historical Society had a cabinet from 1677 that had been donated by Annie Frances Ballard, according to the Greenfield Recorder. Ballard was a descendant of one of the cabinet’s original owners. The cabinet door was crafted with two sevens for 1677 and a heart with the initials of Symon and Rebeckah Horne. They were an Andover, MA, couple who commissioned the cabinet after the birth of their first son. It was kept in a temperature-controlled room, but the historical society could no longer secure and insure it. It sailed past the auction estimate of $600,000 to $800,000, selling for $1,636,000 earlier this month. According to the Greenfield Recorder, the historical society will use the funds to make their “building accessible for people with disabilities, and mak[e] the facility more user-friendly for archivists and historians.”

An auction of memorabilia related to our nation’s history also took place earlier this month, with two George Washington paintings selling very well. A 1783 painting depicting Washington as a general by Charles Peale Polk brought $577,850, while a Gilbert Stuart portrait of Washington went for $2.8 million, according to Artnet News. A printed copy of the Declaration of Independence from 1776 sold for $5.6 million, and a printed copy of the Emancipation Proclamation signed by Abraham Lincoln

Where thumbtacks and neighbors meet

LANTERNS ALONG MAIN STREET
By CHARLES

There is a corkboard inside our local post office that I pass every time I mail a letter. It is cluttered in the best possible way. Thumbtacks hold up handwritten notes, curling flyers and business cards that have seen better days. Guitar lessons. Snow plowing services. A lost cat notice that has been there long enough to feel like part of the décor. Community dinners. Yard sales scheduled and then rescheduled with a pen scribble in the margin.

Most people walk past it without stopping. They are in a hurry to drop mail, grab a package and get back to their day. But every now and then, someone pauses. They lean in. They read. Sometimes they smile. Sometimes they pull out a phone to take a picture of a phone number written in blue ink.

That board is not fancy. It is not digital. It does not send notifications. Yet it quietly does its job, connecting neighbors in a way that feels very Massachusetts.

I grew up in a time when community news traveled slowly and personally. You heard things at the counter of the general store, in the pews at church or while waiting for your coffee to cool. Today, information moves faster than ever, yet it often feels less human. We scroll past announcements without really seeing them. We click “interested” on events we never attend. We collect more information but fewer connections.

That corkboard is a small act of resistance to that trend. It says: here is a place where real people leave messages for other real people. It is imperfect. It is slightly crooked. It smells faintly of paper and tape. And it works.

You see similar boards in libraries, town halls and coffee shops across our region. They are community living rooms in miniature. Each note represents someone taking a chance that a neighbor might need what they are offering or offering what they need.

There is something brave about pinning up a piece of paper with your phone number on it. It is a quiet statement that says, “I am part of this place, and I am willing to be found.”

It made me think about how often we hide behind screens. We text instead of talk. We email instead of knock on doors. None of that is wrong, but it does change the texture of community life. A handwritten sign taped to a window or pinned to a board carries a different weight. You can see the handwriting. You can tell if the person was in a hurry or took their time. You can sense effort.

I watched an older woman stop at the post office board last week. She read carefully, adjusting her glasses, nodding slightly at a few notices. Then she pulled out a small stack of papers and added one of her own. I did not see what it said, but I saw the care she took in placing it just right, smoothing the corners before stepping back to admire her work.

That moment felt important. It was not loud. It was not broadcast to hundreds of followers. It was one neighbor speaking quietly to another through paper and thumbtacks.

We often talk about keeping Main Street alive. We focus on storefronts, parking spaces and foot traffic. Those things matter. But so do these smaller, almost invisible threads that tie us together. Bulletin boards. Flyers. Handwritten notes. Conversations that start because someone stopped long enough to read.

Next time you pass one of these boards, take a moment. Read a few notices. You might find something useful. You might learn something new. Or you might simply be reminded that community is not built by algorithms. It is built by ordinary people sharing space and information in ordinary ways.

Sometimes the lanterns along Main Street are not hanging from poles or glowing in windows. Sometimes they are pieces of paper, quietly lit by the simple hope that someone else is paying attention.

Cornerstone Bank renews support for Literacy Volunteers of Greater Worcester to expand ESOL and workforce readiness programs

WORCESTER — Cornerstone Bank has committed $4,000 in continued support to Literacy Volunteers of Greater Worcester (LVGW) to help expand its English as a Second Language (ESOL) and Workforce Readiness Program for New Americans, strengthening access to English language education and employment pathways for immigrants, refugees and migrants in the greater Worcester community.

The 2025 contribution builds on Cornerstone Bank’s prior support of $3,000 in both 2023 and 2024 and will help LVGW expand class offerings, recruit and train volunteer tutors and provide individualized career and employment assistance. College presidents kick off coast-to-coast Super Bowl showdown WORCESTER — With excitement building for Super Bowl LX, the presidents of Quinsigamond Community College (QCC) and North Seattle College (NSC) are bringing some friendly competition of their own to the field.

The two institutions have announced a lighthearted wager tied to their respective hometown NFL teams. If the New England Patriots prevail, North Seattle College President Dr. Rachel Solemsaas will don QCC apparel and New England football gear, posting a celebratory photo on social media. If the Seattle Seahawks take home the victory, QCC President Dr. Luis Pedraja will do the same in NSC colors and Seahawks gear.

Building on a long friendship that grew from work with the American Association of Community Colleges, the presidents’ bet is meant to spotlight the pride and passion that students, alumni and community members feel for both institutions and their local communities.

“The Patriots are a great team, and we respect New England very much. That said, the Tree Frogs of North Seattle College must align with our hometown heroes, the Seattle Seahawks, in the big game,” said Solemsaas. “I’m sure my good friend, President Dr. Luis Pedraja and the amazing faculty, staff and students at Quinsigamond Community College will understand that this is Seattle’s year. The memory of 2015 is a heavy burden that we’ve been carrying around for 11 years. But now it is payback time.”

QCC is getting into the Super Bowl spirit this week with an on-campus tailgate party and a Patriots apparel donation drive for students.

“As Super Bowl Sunday approaches, our campuses are buzzing—QCC Wyverns and North Seattle Tree Frogs alike—cheering on our favorite teams with all the enthusiasm our faculty, staff and students can muster. And while I am good friends with Dr. Solemsaas, even friendship can’t stop a little spirited coast-to-coast rivalry,” said Pedraja. “Here in New England, we are absolutely convinced the Patriots are ready to repeat their 2015 magic...and yes, we fully believe they’re going to win! Consider this our playful warning that bragging rights are already warming up on the sidelines. Here’s to a great game, and a friendly rivalry that brings our campuses even closer, no matter which mascot hops or soars away victorious.”

Follow QCC’s Facebook or Instagram (quinsigcc) and NSC’s Facebook or Instagram (north_seattle_college) for updates and some pre-Super Bowl hype videos.

MAJOR GENERAL SALEM TOWNE MASONIC LODGE
SOUTHBRIDGE

SOUTHBRIDGE — On Saturday, Jan. 31, brethren from all around the 24th Masonic District, and dignitaries from the Grand Lodge of Masons in Massachusetts from Boston gathered at the Major General Salem Towne Masonic Lodge, Webster Masonic Apartments.

Many of these men traveled from long distances to witness and congratulate 3 young men who were raised to the Sublime Degree of Master Mason. They are Brothers Harmon Hirtz of Charlton, Brother Brendan Shunaman of Southbridge and Brother Aidan McCann of Charlton. These men, along with other men, have followed this path and joined this great fraternity because of “Who We Are.” We’re men, each trying to be the best version of ourselves. We find it’s easier to do that when we’re with other men who share the same values. We’re there for our brothers no matter what life may bring, and our brothers are there for us. We help others, not just because it’s the right thing to do, but also because it helps us grow. We value Honor and Integrity. We believe there’s always more to learn. As Freemasons we thrive to make good men even better.

Major General Salem Towne Masonic Lodge was chartered in 1859. What we do know is that after 167 years, the Major General Salem Towne Masonic Lodge and Freemasonry have continued to grow and make good men better. This is because we value our old traditions, and we think this is what attracts this younger generation of men. These men want to see and learn how it used to be and what it is like to value honor and integrity. If you would like more information about Freemasonry and to find a lodge nearest you, visit our website at www.massfreemasonry.org

WORCESTER – Grade 6 students from All Saints Academy recently visited the Ancient Civilizations galleries at the Worcester Art Museum, where they explored artwork from Mesopotamia, Egypt, Greece, Rome, and beyond. In addition to touring the galleries, students participated in a hands-on studio workshop focused on Egyptian cartouches. A cartouche is an oval shape that encloses a pharaoh’s name in hieroglyphs and symbolizes protection and eternity. Reserved for royalty, cartouches often displayed both a ruler’s birth name and throne name and later became essential to historians in deciphering hieroglyphs, including those found on the Rosetta Stone.

This immersive experience brought classroom learning to life by allowing students to see firsthand the artifacts, symbols, and artistic techniques they have been studying. Concepts discussed in class—such as the role of writing in ancient societies, the significance of art in expressing power and belief, and the daily lives of ancient peoples—became more meaningful as students observed authentic works of art up close. Creating their own cartouches helped students better understand the importance of names, symbolism, and written language in ancient Egypt while reinforcing lessons on hieroglyphs and historical interpretation.

During the visit, students also stopped by the Center for Nonviolent Solutions, where they were excited to view artwork created by 7th grade students from All Saints Academy on display. The pieces were submitted in the fall as part of a project that asked students to respond to the question, “What does peace look like in your community?” Seeing student artwork displayed in a museum setting made the experience especially meaningful, inspiring students to connect history, art, and their own voices in powerful ways.

All Saints Academy comes together to honor local veterans

WEBSTER — The All Saints Academy community came together to honor local veterans with a special breakfast and ceremony this past Veterans Day.

In the school gym, decorated by Grades 4 and 5 with handmade cross table decorations symbolizing gratitude for veterans' bravery, courage, and service, we gathered to honor local veterans from our community as well as veterans invited by our students. A Veterans Wall, thoughtfully created by Grade 6, displayed meaningful acrostic poems that reflected students' appreciation and respect for those who have served our country.

The morning began with a warm welcome to our honored guests, followed by the Pledge of Allegiance. Students in Kindergarten through Grade 3 proudly recited poems expressing thankfulness and admiration for our veterans. Grades 7 and 8 played an important role throughout the event by assisting with serving food and engaging the veterans in friendly, respectful conversation.

The veterans were extremely appreciative of the morning and expressed gratitude for the opportunity to share their experiences. They were especially touched by our commitment to teaching students the importance of honoring and understanding the sacrifices made throughout their military careers. Students greatly enjoyed listening to the veterans' stories and learning firsthand about their service, making the celebration both meaningful and memorable for everyone involved. Through this special event, we wanted our veterans to know that they are remembered, valued, and appreciated not only on Veterans Day, but every day.

New $750,000 historic preservation grant program launches in Central Massachusetts

WORCESTER — A new regional grant program will support the preservation and rehabilitation of historic properties across Central Massachusetts, helping communities protect significant buildings while strengthening local economies and downtowns.

The Central Massachusetts Heritage Circuit Subgrant Program will make up to $616,000 available through competitive subgrants to preserve historic properties listed on, or eligible for listing on, the National Register of Historic Places. Eligible activities include planning, design, and construction work that meets the Secretary of the Interior’s Standards for the Treatment of Historic Properties.

The Central Massachusetts Heritage Circuit Subgrant Program is funded by the Historic Preservation Fund, administered by the National Park Service, U.S. Department of the Interior, under the Paul Bruhn Historic Revitalization Grant Program. Funding for this program is provided through congressional appropriations to support the preservation of historic and cultural resources nationwide.

The program is administered by the Central Massachusetts Regional Planning Commission (CMRPC) in partnership with the Montachusett Regional Planning Commission (MRPC). Montachusett Enterprise Center (MEC), MRPC’s affiliated nonprofit organization, serves as the fiscal sponsor and grantee of record for the federal award. The Architectural Heritage Foundation (AHF) will provide preservation technical expertise to support program design and implementation.

Funding recommendations will be informed by a Project Selection Committee operating under formal conflict-of-interest procedures. Final award decisions will be made by the fiscal sponsor in accordance with federal requirements.

The program will serve communities throughout Central Massachusetts, including municipalities in the CMRPC and Montachusett regions, with a focus on historic commercial districts, civic buildings, and other significant properties that contribute to local identity and long-term economic vitality.

“This program is designed to help communities address real preservation needs while keeping historic buildings in active use,” said Janet A. Pierce, CMRPC Executive Director. “By combining federal investment with regional planning and preservation expertise, we are supporting projects that will deliver lasting public benefit.”

Subgrants will be awarded through a transparent, competitive process. Additional information on eligibility, application materials, and program timelines will be released later this year.

This project is funded in part by the Historic Preservation Fund, administered by the National Park Service, U.S. Department of the Interior. The contents and opinions expressed in this press release do not necessarily reflect the views or policies of the U.S. Department of the Interior or the National Park Service, nor does the mention of trade names or organizations imply endorsement by the U.S. Government.

Founded by the Legislature in 1963, CMRPC provides a variety of services to its constituencies and brings a regional perspective to planning and development. One of 13 Regional Planning Agencies in Massachusetts, CMRPC serves the City of Worcester and 39 surrounding communities in the southern two-thirds of Worcester County. CMRPC’s programs include Transportation, Regional Collaboration and Community Planning, and Geographic Information Systems.

OBITUARIES

Diane W. (Kijek) Gajewski, 76

Thompson, CT- Diane passed away peacefully in her home on January 29, 2026, after a long battle with Alzheimer’s Disease. She is survived by her husband, Leonard; son, Keith and his wife, Kimberly; mother, Wanda Kijek; sister, Frances Brandin and her husband, Martin; sister-in-law, Nancy Kijek; brother-in-law, Thomas Gajewski; niece, Ashley Brandin Lobosco and her husband, Thomas; son-in-law, Richard Nolin, and grandchildren, Theodore Gajewski, Cara Nolin, and William Nolin. She was pre-deceased by her father, Edward Kijek; daughter, Kimberly Nolin; and brother, Jeffrey Kijek.

Diane was born and raised in Dudley and was a graduate of St. Joseph School and Bartlett High School in Webster. After marrying Leonard, the two moved to Honolulu, HI while her husband served in the Navy. When they returned to central Massachusetts, Diane worked for many years in administration at St. Vincent Hospital and upon retirement helped her family greatly with appointments, baby-sitting, and serving as a caregiver to her mother. She loved reading novels, traveling, and always enjoyed a “refreshing” dip in her pool.

Diane had a deep faith and devoted much of her time, talent, and treasure to St. Joseph Parish and School in Webster. She was a member of several organizations in the Parish and served on many committees as well as being a CCD Teacher and Lector.

A funeral mass will be held for Diane on Thursday, February 19, 2026, at 11am at St. Joseph Basilica, 53 Whitcomb Street, Webster, MA. A private burial will be held at the family’s convenience. Donations in her memory may be made to Saint Joseph School, 47 Whitcomb Street, Webster, MA 01570.

Kurt E. Trimby, 40

BROOKFIELD - Kurt E. Trimby, 40, of Brookfield, passed away after a courageous battle with cancer. He leaves behind his beloved wife, Lorell; his parents, Cheryl and John; his siblings, Kimberly and her husband Andrew, Keith and his wife Joanna. He is also survived by his cherished nieces and nephews, Maddy, Matt, McKenna, Millie, Layla, and Silas, along with many loving aunts, uncles, and friends. Kurt spent most of his life working in kitchens, where he found his true passion in cooking. In his later years, he worked at Flexcon, where he formed many meaningful friendships that he deeply valued. Kurt was a true car enthusiast who loved sharing his knowledge and passion for automobiles with anyone who would listen. He was also an avid fisherman and was rarely without his fishing pole, always ready to cast a line into any lake he passed on his travels. Kurt will be truly missed by all who knew and loved him. He fought his illness with incredible strength and determination, enduring trials, chemotherapy, and radiation in the hope that his journey might one day help others facing this terrible disease. A calling hour will be held on Sunday, February 22, 2026 from 10:00AM

William Francis Herra, 66

William Francis Herra, 66, of Webster passed away peacefully on January 1, 2026, after his battle with small cell lung cancer reached its final conclusion.

He is survived by his beloved wife Laurie A. Herra of Webster; their son William J. Herra & spouse Gillian Hohne of Millbury; sister Charlene & husband Louis Martelli of Portland, TN; brother Brian & wife Diane of Huntington, TN; brother John & wife Patricia of Plymouth; parents-in-law Geroge H. Reid, Jr. & wife Lorraine of Brockton; brother-in-law James Anusevitch & wife Karen of Rochester, NH; sister-in-law Michelle & husband Michael Musto of Taunton; sister-in-law Theresa McDonald of San Diego, CA; and dog Teddy. He will always be remembered as the fun uncle by his many nieces and nephews. Bill was predeceased by parents John Herra & Anita Gracey; sister Karen Whalen; brother Charles; mother-in-law Anna Nutt; sisters-in-law Janet & Kimberly Reid; brother-in-law Thomas Reid; and one of the best dogs ever, Buddy.

Bill was born in Lowell, MA as one of John J. Herra & Anita F. Gracey’s six children together. He spent his early years in Lowell before moving to Somerville. He graduated top of his class from Somerville Technical Trade High School in 1977 receiving the Director’s Outstanding Tradesmen Award for the Painting & Decorating Department. He married his childhood sweetheart Laurie in 1981. She gave birth to their son in 1984. In 1991 they moved to Thompson, CT where they resided until moving back to Massachusetts in 2008.

Over the years Bill enjoyed volunteering at many different organizations. While his son attended St. Joseph’s elementary and middle school in North Grosvenordale, CT he volunteered as one of the “lunch ladies” for many years. He also chaperoned field trips and all the kids always wanted to be in his group. He was a great coach for all who had the pleasure of playing on the various baseball teams he helped coach over the years. In more recent years he also volunteered for the Webster Dudley Food Share and Meals on Wheels. For the past five years he had been serving on the Board of Commissioners for the Webster Housing Authority as a Federal Resident Commissioner.

Bill was a wonderful husband and great father. He was truly a lover of life and was always quick with a joke. He was a fierce friend to all who had the pleasure of calling him one. He would’ve given you the shirt off his back if you needed it. He loved music and going to concerts; especially all the Ozzfests over the years with his son, niece Sarah Lawson, and son’s friend Craig Lefler. He often reminisced of the summers spent on bike rides with his son and son’s friends Joseph & Jason Manzi. He enjoyed golf, disc golf, and anything involving being in the great outdoors. He took much pride in his flower gardens outside his apartment at Golden Heights. He loved to garden and share his tomatoes with some of the neighbors. He received great joy from making food for the people in his life. He loved to entertain and always looked forward to the annual Fourth of July cookouts he and Laurie put on for many years at their house in Thompson. Bill was a lifelong Red Sox and Patriots fan. He and Laurie frequented Polar Park to see the WooSox play.

There will be no services at this time as Bill did not want any. Please do something nice for someone in your life, or even a complete stranger, as helping others was truly a passion of Bill’s. Perhaps volunteer at your local soup kitchen, donate to your local food bank, or donate to his favorite charity, St. Jude Children’s Research Hospital. Our family would like to thank all of the staff at Umass Memorial Medical Center – University Campus and Preferred Transitions of Milford, MA, who handled his hospice care, for their kindness and exceptional care throughout Bill’s battle.

Let’s all toss on some good tunes and just remember all the great times we had together with Bill as that is truly what he would have wanted us to do.

to the long distance running events, Alexis Benito Torres achieved his personal best time in the 1,000 meter event while Abigail Ciara-Paulino achieved her best personal time in the 600 meter run. Finally, in the boys’ and girls’ shot-put, Johan Vanlamoen Lopez and Annabelle Reed both recorded their personal best shot-put throws during competition.

Area reps co-sponsor comprehensive energy reform bill to lower costs for Massachusetts ratepayers

WILL GENERATE SAVINGS OF ABOUT $147 MILLION IN FIRST YEAR AND $2.38 BILLION OVER 10 YEARS

BOSTON — State Representatives Paul K. Frost (R-Auburn), Donald R. Berthiaume, Jr. (R- Spencer), Joseph D. McKenna (R-Sutton) and John J. Marsi (R-Charlton) are co-sponsoring comprehensive energy reform legislation put forth by Republican State Legislators to provide financial relief to Massachusetts ratepayers who are struggling to pay high energy bills. The proposal would generate energy bill savings of about $147 million in the first year and $2.38 billion over 10 years for Massachusetts residents and businesses.

House Docket 5554, An Act addressing energy costs, transparency, and sustainability, was recently filed by Representative Frost, Representative Berthiaume, Representative McKenna and Representative Marsi along with their Republican colleagues. It contains a series of reforms to address rising energy costs in Massachusetts including proposals to restructure the Mass Save program, allow older homeowners and renters to factor in a portion of their utility bills to determine their eligibility for the Senior Circuit Breaker tax credit, and provide more cost transparency for consumers.

Frost commented, “Massachusetts residents and small businesses are getting crushed by some of the highest energy costs in our nation. Everyone is struggling to heat and power their homes. Businesses, especially small businesses, face difficult challenges as well and are forced to decide whether to pass those increased energy expenses onto their customers or cut elsewhere to get by. Our bill provides both short-term and long-term savings and relief for everyone.”

“Massachusetts has some of the best schools, colleges, hospitals, businesses, sports teams, and tourism in the country. It also has some of the highest costs of living in the country forcing people to leave at alarming rates because they simply cannot afford to live here,” McKenna added. “We must do everything in our power as legislators to pursue policies that will lower costs that consumers are paying for life necessities like heating their home or business.”

Marsi said, “I talk to constituents, residents, and businesses every day about the high cost of electricity and gas, where some must make heartbreaking decisions about what to spend their hard-earned money on. People with fixed incomes such as our seniors can’t sustain these out of control increases on their monthly bills. We need to do everything possible to drive legislation to ensure people can afford to power and heat their homes and businesses.”

“The ever-increasing upward trend regarding the cost of energy in the Commonwealth is unsustainable and out of reach for the average middle class family,” Berthiaume said. “This meaningful legislation will seek to mitigate the high energy costs that users pay and give families some much needed breathing room when it comes to their energy bills”

Their bill seeks to provide immediate short-term relief for Massachusetts ratepayers by requiring 50 percent of Alternative Compliance Payments (ACPs) made pursuant to the Renewable Portfolio Standard to be returned to utility customers in each of the next three years. These ACPs are currently deposited in a custodial fund overseen by the Massachusetts Clean Energy Center for use in clean energy projects. This change alone will return approximately $66-$69 million per year to ratepayers, and between $198 million and $207 million over three years.

Additional first-year savings of $78 million will be realized through basic service and energy contract changes contained in the bill, including language giving electric distribution companies the flexibility to procure default service supply through procurements of varying lengths and in combination with other companies, as well as provisions extending the contract period from 1 year to 1 ½ years and allowing electric distribution companies to collectively procure its energy supply (gas, electric, transmission, transportation or any combination thereof) together. Along with the ACP changes, this is expected to produce about $147 million in combined savings for ratepayers in each of the first three years of implementation.

The bill also includes several proposed changes to the Mass Save program, which is an energy efficiency initiative funded by Massachusetts ratepayers through a monthly surcharge on their gas and electric bills. The program’s three-year budget for 2025-2027 is currently set at $4.5 billion.

Their bill caps Mass Save administrative spending at 10% of the total funds allocated for the program. It also limits spending on the program’s next three-year plan (running from 2028-2030) by prohibiting the budget from exceeding the cost of the 2022-2024 plan, plus 6.25%. As the 2022-2024 plan was funded at $4 billion, the 2028-2030 plan cannot increase by more than $250 million. This means that by 2030, the combined annual savings from the ACP returns, basic service changes, and the Mass Save spending reduction will produce an estimated $396 million in ratepayer savings per year, or approximately $2.38 billion in savings over 10 years.

It updates the Senior Circuit Breaker tax credit for homeowners and renters who are 65 or older by allowing 50 percent of their utility costs to be calculated into their income used to determine their eligibility for the credit.

Their legislation directs the Massachusetts Secretary of Energy and Environmental Affairs, in consultation with the Massachusetts Clean Energy Center, to develop and implement the framework of a regional compact among the New England states for the purposes of research and development regarding nuclear fusion energy and establishes a Fusion Research Council to provide additional guidance. Fusion energy, although some years off from being able to supply the power grid, has the potential benefits of traditional nuclear power but without the radioactive waste.

The bill prohibits third-party competitive electric suppliers from using predatory practices to enroll customers at an artificially low rate that will increase dramatically in a short period of time. It also limits automatic contract renewals to those instances where the customer provided expressed written consent at the time of their initial enrollment.

The bill also seeks to create a special commission to analyze natural gas costs in the Commonwealth and recommend measures to contain and reduce those costs for residential and commercial consumers.

QCC receives $148,000 for program to support adults with disabilities

W O R C E S T E R — Quinsigamond Community College has received a $148,993 grant from the Commonwealth of Massachusetts to support its Massachusetts Inclusive Postsecondary Education (MAIPSE) program. MAIPSE programs provide adults with significant disabilities, ages 18 to 22, with integrated access to higher education.

QCC’s MAIPSE program provides resources to students, including textbooks, laptops and peer support. Peer mentors assist with classroom navigation, social engagement and completing coursework assignments. The funding also supports presentations and speakers on topics such as neurodiversity.

“This investment benefits students in the program, but also the campus community because we are all receiving education about disabilities,” said Director of Student Accessibility Services & Assistive Technology Kristen Proctor. “Community colleges are perfect for MAIPSE because having all students belonging and learning together parallels the mission of QCC and embeds inclusion into the fabric of the college.”

After partnering with seven local schools for referrals, the MAIPSE program has grown to more than 20 students, with signs of continued growth and demand, according to Proctor.

“ S o m e t i m e s , you don’t know when you have assumptions and biases about students who have more significant disabilities. This program helps people understand that the limitations we put on people might not be needed,” said Student Accessibility Services Coordinator Cassandra Estey.

Many students in the MAIPSE program have been in self-contained classrooms throughout the majority of their lives. Being in a QCC classroom offers an integrated setting and room for growth. Staff who work with MAIPSE students have noticed an increase in their communication skills, especially when interacting with non-disabled adults in the community. Estey noted that these interactions can improve the communication skills of non-disabled adults as well, especially those coming directly from high school.

Estey has witnessed several students find success after the MAIPSE program, by enrolling at QCC as fully matriculated students or going on to obtain employment in areas they might not have considered before completing the program. One such student gained employment at Assabet Valley Collaborative after gaining interest and skills from a psychology course.

For more information on QCC’s MAIPSE program, visit www.QCC.edu/support/specialized-support/student-accessibility-services.

Samaritan’s Purse celebrates 12.2 million Operation Christmas Child shoebox gifts

REGION — Samaritan’s Purse is celebrating a successful season after collecting 12.2 million Operation Christmas Child shoebox gifts in 2025, sharing the love of Jesus with children in need around the world.

The milestone reflects the generosity of millions of shoebox packers helping to fill shoebox gifts with toys, school supplies and personal care items. Across the U.S., the project collected 10.9 million shoebox gifts in 2025. Combined with those collected from partnering countries, the ministry is now sending over 12.2 million shoebox gifts to children worldwide, including those whose lives were turned upside down by Hurricane Melissa, a category 5 storm that recently struck Jamaica.

“Each shoebox gift is an opportunity to remind boys and girls around the world that God loves them,” said Franklin Graham, president of Samaritan’s Purse. “We are so thankful for the generosity of every person who packed a shoebox. These gifts are bringing joy and the hope of the Gospel to children in need.”

For many children, a shoebox gift is the first gift they have ever received. Each one is a tangible expression of God’s love, offering hope to children facing war, poverty, disease and disaster. Since 1993, Operation Christmas Child has collected and delivered more than 244 million gift-filled shoeboxes to children in more than 170 countries and territories.

While local drop-off locations are closed until National Collection Week, Nov. 16 – 23, anyone can participate year-round by packing a shoebox gift online at samaritanspursec.org/buildonline. These shoebox gifts built online go to the hardest-to-reach areas in the world—whether deep jungles, city slums, or steep mountainsides.

Information about ways to get involved year-round can also be found at samaritanspursec.org/occ.

Operation Christmas Child, a project of Samaritan’s Purse, seeks to demonstrate God’s love in a tangible way to children in need around the world and, together with the local church worldwide, to share the Good News of Jesus Christ. Since 1993, Operation Christmas Child has collected and delivered more than 244 million gift-filled shoeboxes to children in more than 170 countries and territories.

Bay Path nurse and educator honored at UMass Chan Medical School's 38th Annual MLK Jr. Tribute

Elizabeth Mirkuaa

WORCESTER — UMass Chan Medical School held its 38th annual tribute to the Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., Jan. 26, celebrating the intersection of healthcare, service, and social justice. The virtual ceremony was highlighted by the recognition of Elizabeth Mirkuaa Lartey, an alumna and dedicated Bay Path Practical Nursing Academy educator, and UMass Chan doctoral student, as a recipient of the 2026 Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. Student Service Recognition Award. Lartey, a resident of Worcester and a second-year Doctor of Nursing Practice

(DNP) student at the Tan Chingfen Graduate School of Nursing, was selected from a record-breaking pool of nominees. The award recognizes students whose community-focused projects and clinical dedication significantly advance health equity and justice in the Worcester area. “Elizabeth’s work truly stood out for its dedication, impact, and commitment to health equity,” the Service Subcommittee noted during the selection process. “Her efforts honor the enduring legacy of Dr. King by advancing justice through service to others.”

A career rooted in community and care

Lartey’s recognition comes as she balances a rigorous academic load with a deep commitment to the nursing profession. She currently serves as a Med/Surg Charge Nurse at UMass Memorial Medical Center and has been a vital mentor to the next generation of healthcare workers when she worked as an Adjunct Faculty member at Bay Path Practical Nursing Academy. With a professional history spanning long-term care at Life Care Center of Auburn to specimen analysis at Quest Diagnostics, Lartey has consistently focused on patient education and therapeutic communication. Her current academic work, where she maintains a 3.83 GPA, focuses on the Family Nurse Practitioner specialization to further serve the diverse needs of Massachusetts families.

Ceremony highlights

The event featured a keynote address by Jennifer Bradford, MD, assistant professor of family medicine and community health, who spoke on the importance of mission-aligned impact. Following the keynote, Dean Terence R. Flotte presented the service awards, emphasizing the school’s commitment to Dr. King’s vision of a «Beloved Community.»

The annual tribute remains a cornerstone of the UMass Chan calendar, reinforcing the institution’s mission to prioritize underserved populations and foster a culture of inclusive excellence in medicine.

Cornerstone Bank supports South Worcester families with donation to Jeremiah’s Inn

WORCESTER — Cornerstone Bank has donated $5,000 to Jeremiah’s Inn to support the ongoing operations of its Nutrition Center, one of the largest food pantries in Central Massachusetts. This contribution builds on the bank’s history of giving to the organization, including previous donations of $5,000 in 2023 and 2024 for the Nutrition Center and additional support for the organization’s recovery program and food drives.

This year’s donation will help Jeremiah’s Inn meet the growing demand for nutritious food among low-income residents in South Worcester, where food insecurity has reached unprecedented levels.

In 2024, Jeremiah’s Inn served more than 32,000 individuals, a 30 percent increase from the previous year and a 167 percent increase over the past two years. At the same time, the Worcester County Food Bank reduced food distributions to the pantry by 30 percent, creating a critical gap between supply and demand. Cornerstone Bank’s continued support ensures that children, seniors and families who rely on the Nutrition Center have access to essential meals and resources.

“Supporting our neighbors in times of need is a core part of our mission,” said Cornerstone Bank CEO Todd Tallman. “We are proud to continue our partnership with Jeremiah’s Inn and help ensure local families have access to the food they need to grow and thrive.”

The Groundhog Day verdict is in!

CORNELIA’S PREDICTION AT ECOTARIUM COMES AS NO SURPRISE

WORCESTER — Monday morning at the EcoTarium, Worcester’s very own weather-predicting groundhog, Cornelia, emerged from her burrow and carefully looked around her habitat, sniffing at lettuce and other treats. Mayor Joe Petty watched Cornelia carefully and then delivered the official Groundhog Day proclamation before a crowd of teachers, students, and community leaders.

“Today, Cornelia has emerged from hibernation to search the ground at the EcoTarium for her shadow, as, like her ancestors before her, Cornelia has acquired the fascinating ability to predict the arrival of spring with 50 percent accuracy,” said Petty with a smile. “I hereby decree that, on this sunny day, Cornelia did in fact see her shadow and thus proclaimed six more weeks of winter weather for the City of Worcester, Massachusetts. I urge all citizens to join in the Groundhog Day celebration across the City, and to keep your hats and mittens close at hand.”

The crowd let out a loud moan at the news of more winter.

“No matter the weather, we always embrace the fun of this time-honored tradition,” said Noreen Smith, EcoTarium President & CEO. “This really is Cornelia’s day to shine. While most groundhogs were still asleep, Cornelia was hard at work analyzing the conditions and making her forecast.”

Guests were treated to a close-up experience with Cornelia, as her dedicated keeper shared fascinating insights into her daily care: “Cornelia is still shaking off her winter sleepiness, as at the EcoTarium, Cornelia does not fully hibernate, although she does slow down between October and March, eating less and sleeping for most of the day. She managed to wake up to enjoy breakfast with all of us this morning. She enjoyed a spread of greens and vegetables. After eating, she quickly made herself comfortable again in her toasty nest!”

ALL WE KNOW IS LOCAL ~ StonebridgePress.com

WITH KIDS, PROVIDING GREAT CARE IS MORE THAN PROVIDING GREAT MEDICINE.

Because you can’t impress a child with credentials. Because children don’t really care that your research is helping change the world. Because a kid doesn’t care how many degrees you have. Because they mostly just think that hospitals are scary places, our first step in the healing process is to cure the fear. And that’s another reason we’re the only pediatric hospital of its kind in the region.
