Sturbridge police and fire respond to Main Street crash

STURBRIDGE — On Thursday, Jan. 15 at approximately 2:44 p.m., the Sturbridge Police Department, Sturbridge Fire Department, and members of the Massachusetts State Police responded to the area of 530 Main St. in the Town of Sturbridge following a report of a serious motor vehicle crash.

Upon arrival, first responders located a single motor vehicle that had struck a utility pole. Responding officers observed that the lone occupant and operator of the vehicle was entrapped. Sturbridge Police Officers immediately began assisting members of the Sturbridge Fire Department with patient care and stabilization while extrication efforts were underway.

During the initial response, a Good Samaritan nurse who was in the area stopped and rendered aid, assisting emergency personnel with the early stabilization of the patient prior to removal from the vehicle. The Sturbridge Police Department commends this individual for their selfless actions and willingness to assist during a critical incident.

Following successful extrication, officers continued to assist Sturbridge Fire Department personnel in safely removing the patient from the vehicle. The patient was transported by ambulance to Harrington Memorial Hospital, and was subsequently airlifted by UMass LifeFlight for further medical treatment.

Chief Earl Dessert would like to thank the men and women of the Sturbridge Police and Fire Department, the Massachusetts State Police, UMass LifeFlight, and all assisting agencies for their professionalism, teamwork, and coordinated response.

“Incidents such as this demonstrate the importance of interagency cooperation and the dedication of public safety and medical professionals who serve our community each day,” he said.

This incident remains under investigation by the Sturbridge Police Department in conjunction with the Central Massachusetts Law Enforcement Council (CEMLEC) Accident Reconstruction Team.

Anyone with information related to this incident is encouraged to contact Officer Marderosian of the Sturbridge Police Department.

Pack of Paws to host greyhound adoption event

CHARLTON — Have you ever thought about adopting a Greyhound? Greyhound Options Inc, a non-profit adoption group dedicated to finding homes for retired racing Greyhounds after their racing careers are over, will be holding a Winter Social at Pack of Paws in Charlton on Saturday, Jan. 31 and the public is invited.

Greyhound Options (GO) has just entered its 30th year of operations, finding homes for more than 1,800 Greyhounds throughout Massachusetts, northern Connecticut, southern New Hampshire and Rhode Island. An all-volunteer organization, the group relies on foster families to provide a safe home for the dogs to acclimate to life after racing until a permanent home can be found. Greyhounds are known for their calm, gentle nature and are very social, fitting into almost any living situation. Widely known as “30-mile-an-hour couch potatoes”, they do not require as much exercise as people might think. They are happy with walks or a quick run in an enclosed yard.

Come see what a joy adopting a Greyhound can be or to learn more about fostering. The Winter Social is free and will be held from 12:30 to 3:30 p.m. at Pack of Paws, 26A Trolley Crossing Rd., Charlton. For more information, visit greyhoundoptions.org.

Charlton Lions join effort to combat food insecurity across Worcester County

CHARLTON — Members of The Charlton Lions Club were among more than 150 volunteers who packaged 13,002 meals in 35 minutes to help feed area residents who are patrons of local food banks.

The service project, sponsored by District 33A of Lions Clubs International, was held on Sunday, January 11 at the Boys & Girls Club of Worcester and included volunteers from Lions Clubs, Leos Clubs (high school age Lions) and other high school students. The event was a partnership with End Hunger New England.

The Charlton volunteers spent more than 35 minutes on this effort. As early arrivals, they spent at least an hour helping to carry in the cases of food and set up the packing stations before the timed packing began.

Dry ingredients for Spanish rice and minestrone soup were measured, packaged, weighed and sealed and the packets loaded into boxes to be distributed to food banks and community organizations throughout Worcester County.

“This project reflects the heart of what Lions do – bringing people together to serve our communities in meaningful ways,” said Andrew Keane, District Governor. “By working collectively across Central Massachusetts, we are making a real, measurable impact in combating food insecurities in local communities.”

The Lions of Central Massachusetts are part of Lions Club International District 33A, a network of 45 local Lions Clubs dedicated to serving the communities of Central Massachusetts. Lions focus on addressing critical community needs, including hunger, vision care, youth services, and disaster response. # EcoTarium selected for call to International Space Station

Amateur “ham” radio to connect students with astronauts as the ISS orbits 250 miles above Earth

WORCESTER — The EcoTarium Museum of Science and Nature has been selected to host a live contact with an astronaut aboard the International Space Station (ISS) through ARISS (Amateur Radio on the International Space Station) in spring 2026. In collaboration with the Central Massachusetts Amateur Radio Association (CMARA) and North High School, hundreds of students will be invited to participate in the event and related education programs, and 10 students will have the rare opportunity to speak directly with an astronaut in orbit.

“The ARISS contact is an exciting opportunity for museum visitors, and school children from across the region,” said Jason Gurtman, manager of educational programs at the EcoTarium. “By giving students the chance to speak directly with an astronaut aboard the ISS, we’re sparking wonder and affirming that there is a place for everyone in space science. This project will serve as a catalyst for curiosity, equity, and lifelong engagement with STEM learning.”

The EcoTarium’s contact with ARISS is scheduled for the week of March 9. NASA will confirm the exact date and time in late February or early March, depending on ISS orbital passes. Recent changes to ISS crew operations may affect the availability of participating astronauts, and the contact schedule remains subject to adjustment. A public community celebration will follow at the EcoTarium on Saturday, March 14, featuring hands-on activities and educational experiences focused on amateur radio and space exploration.

“What a thrill to be able to place a call to outer space using radio waves,” said EcoTarium CEO Noreen Johnson Smith. “For over 125 years, scientists have been expanding the way we use radio waves to communicate and discover distant objects in the universe. Calling the astronauts is an exciting lesson on the power of electromagnetic waves.”

This initiative advances the EcoTarium’s mission of igniting curiosity and inspiring a passion for science, technology, engineering, and math. The Museum offers year-round astronomy programming for visitors of all ages, including the new NASA-funded permanent exhibit Lift Off! Space Explorers, full-dome shows in the Alden Planetarium, newly renovated observatory, and a monthly Astrophysics Speaker Series.

“Space science and wireless communications technology are foundational to our high-tech future,” said Fred Kemmerer, ARISS technical mentor and American Radio Relay League (ARRL) New England Division director. “An ARISS contact gives young people hands-on exposure to these technologies and often sparks a lifelong interest in high-tech communications and related career paths.”

George Gumbrell, a CMARA board member and parent, emphasized the long-term impact of early exposure to amateur radio.

“If you’re interested in science and engineering,” he said, “amateur radio provides a foundation for lifelong exploration.”

Gumbrell’s son, Connor, now in high school, was introduced to amateur radio at age 5 and has since spoken directly with an astronaut aboard the ISS.

“The exposure to amateur radio and hands-on problem-solving showed me what was possible,” Connor said. “It’s why I plan to pursue electrical engineering after high school.”

Sturbridge Historical Society presents “The Notables & Notorious of the American Revolution: Curious and Infamous Characters from The Last Green Valley”

STURBRIDGE — On Thursday, Jan. 22, at 7 p.m. at The Publick House, the Sturbridge Historical Society will present Regan Miner, the Development Director for TLGV, speaking about “The Notables & Notorious of the American Revolution: Curious and Infamous Characters from the Last Green Valley.”

Not every hero held a musket. The people living in the area now known as The Last Green Valley National Heritage Corridor (TLGV) shaped and helped win the American Revolution. They fueled the passion for declaring independence, bravely signed the Declaration, supported the war effort, and were integral in the earliest days of our democracy. TLGV Heritage Corridor, which encompasses 35 towns in south central and eastern Connecticut from Brimfield to Norwich, is a region that spurred the revolutionary leadership of Samuel Huntington and Jonathan Trumbull but also spawned the traitorous Benedict Arnold. As we acknowledge the 250th anniversary of the Declaration of Independence in 2026, this talk will explore the notable and notorious figures that helped shape the region and the nation in our fight for independence.

With more than 10 years of experience in the history and nonprofit sector, Regan Miner is a public historian and a historic preservation advocate. Currently, Miner serves as the Development Director of The Last Green Valley and enjoys building partnerships to strengthen our cultural, historical, and natural resources within the National Heritage Corridor. Her previous roles included serving as the Executive Director of the Norwich Historical Society and the Executive Director of the Fort Adams Trust in Newport, Rhode Island. In addition to her position at TLGV, Miner volunteers as Chairman of the Norwich Historic District Commission, the Commission of the City Plan, America 250 Norwich Commission, and is a Corporator at the Norwich Free Academy.

The program is free and open to the public, and is generously hosted by the Publick House.

The comfort of familiar places

There is a certain reassurance that comes from places that do not change much. In Southbridge, Sturbridge and Charlton, those places are easy to name, even if everyone’s list looks a little different. A favorite diner where the menu is predictable in the best possible way. A library corner where generations have sat with the same view out the window. A stretch of road where the scenery looks nearly identical to how it did years ago, season after season.

In a world that seems to reinvent itself constantly, familiarity can feel like a quiet luxury.

Change is not inherently bad. Our towns have evolved, adapted and grown in ways that reflect new needs, new families and new ideas. Storefronts turn over, technology reshapes daily life, and expectations shift. Progress is part of any living place. But there is also something deeply valuable in continuity, in knowing that some spaces remain steady even as life around them moves quickly.

Familiar places carry a kind of emotional memory. They remember us at different stages of life, even if we don’t consciously think about it. A storefront recalls childhood errands run with a parent. A park bench brings back teenage conversations that once felt impossibly important. A library card connects past readers to present ones, all quietly sharing the same shelves.

These places ask very little of us. They don’t require explanation or adjustment. We know where to park, where to sit, what to expect. That predictability creates a sense of ease that is easy to overlook until it is gone.

Winter, especially, brings this comfort into sharper focus. When weather limits options and travel, people naturally gravitate toward what feels known and reliable. There is something grounding about walking into a space where you already understand how it works, where the rhythm is familiar and the atmosphere feels unchanged. It can be a welcome contrast to the constant updates and notifications that dominate so much of modern life. Familiar places also serve as quiet markers of time. They remind us that while our own lives may change dramatically from one year to the next, some parts of the landscape remain constant. That steadiness can be reassuring, particularly during seasons when everything else feels uncertain or in flux.

There is a temptation to measure progress only by what is new. New businesses, new developments, new initiatives. Those things matter, and they deserve attention. But there is also value in recognizing what has endured. Places that continue to serve the same purpose, in much the same way, year after year, provide a sense of grounding that cannot be replicated by novelty alone.

Small towns are uniquely positioned to offer this kind of stability. Unlike larger cities, where change can be rapid and disorienting, communities like ours often evolve more slowly. That pace allows residents to maintain a stronger connection to place, to feel rooted rather than swept along.

As new ideas and changes continue to shape the region, it is worth appreciating the quiet role familiar places play in everyday life. They offer comfort without fanfare. They hold memories without demanding attention. They remind us not only where we are, but where we have been.

Sometimes, the strongest sense of belonging does not come from what is new or exciting, but from recognizing what has remained — steady, recognizable, and quietly present — through all the changes around it.

Why Social Security matters more for women

When planning for retirement, Social Security isn't just another item on your financial checklist. For women especially, it's often the cornerstone of a secure retirement. The Social Security Administration reports that nearly 55 percent of Social Security benefit recipients are women, and for many, it's their primary source of retirement income.

Unlike investments that can lose value when the market drops, Social Security provides guaranteed income that adjusts for inflation and generally lasts as long as you live. That reliability makes it valuable for helping to address two major retirement risks: rising costs and the possibility of out-living your savings.

Life expectancy. On average, women live about five years longer than men (CDC 2023 Life Expectancy measure. That means they rely on Social Security for a longer period, making the decision of when to start benefits especially important.

Taking Social Security early reduces your monthly benefit. You can claim benefits as early as age 62, but every year you wait increases your monthly payments by two-thirds of 1%, or 8% per year, maxing out at age 70. Given women's longer life expectancy, that patience can pay off.

Building your benefit. Your Social zero or very low earnings in that calculation, it can reduce what you receive in retirement. Many women step away from work or reduce their hours to care for family members, and that trend is increasing. A 2025 University of Kansas analysis found that the share of mothers with children under age five leaving the workforce fell more in early 2025 than at any point in the past 40 years. The study also noted that rising return-to-office policies may continue to impact working mothers.

While staying in the workforce builds a stronger earnings history and better benefits, that isn't realistic for everyone. Those who can't may need to plan and fund alternative sources for retirement income Protection for married women. Marriage can provide additional Social Security options. A lower-earning spouse may receive up to 50 percent of their partner's full retirement-age benefit.

If your spouse dies, you can receive the higher of your own benefit or up to 100 percent of your deceased spouse's benefit. However, if you remarry before age 60 (age 50 for disabled widows), you lose eligibility for survivor benefits from your late spouse while the new marriage lasts.

Women divorced after at least 10 years of marriage may qualify for benefits based on an ex-spouse's record. If you remarry, you forfeit spousal benefits while the new marriage continues.

A word of wisdom: Report any name changes following marriage or divorce to the Social Security Administration to ensure your earnings and benefits are correctly credited.

Navigate carefully. Given the complexity of Social Security rules, the unique retirement challenges women face and the lasting impact of claiming decisions, working with a qualified financial advisor can be invaluable. An advisor can help you navigate questions about timing, spousal benefits and how Social Security fits into your overall retirement plan.

Pinback buttons

ANTIQUES,

& ESTATES

WAYNE TUISKULA

Today's column will focus on pinback buttons. Pinback buttons are usually round metal discs with a pin attached to the back that you can wear on a shirt, jacket, etc. We often associate them with political campaigns, but they were used in advertising, political messaging, and for other purposes.

I'll start by providing some history on pinback buttons. Prior to pinbacks several variations of clothes fastener buttons were created by craftsmen to commemorate George Washington's inauguration in 1789. Mount Vernon has nine different inaugural button versions in their collection, according to their website. One has an eagle with the date March 4, 1789, when Washington was originally scheduled to be inaugurated. It was rescheduled to April 30. Another popular president's campaign advanced the use of buttons. During Lincoln's 1860 campaign tinfoyle (also known as ferrotype) photographs were made into campaign buttons. The images on thin metal sheets were reproduced and typically inserted inside of brass holders with campaign messages embossed on the brass. In 1896, the Whitehead and Hoag Company began producing brightly colored pinback buttons using a new plastic material called celluloid.

Political buttons are some of the most popular with collectors. The American Political Items Collectors group lists several subcategories of pinbacks. Some are presidential campaigns, focus on a single election year, single political parties, 3D items, local campaigns, Women's Suffrage movement, Prohibition movement, social causes, and Civil Rights.

Other types of collectible pinback buttons include comic characters, events, advertising, funny or serious sayings, entertainment, and sports.

You can buy some pinbacks for under a dollar while others can sell well into the thousands, and we've seen some good results in our auctions. A group of political pinbacks, including McKinley for president, sold for over $200. A group of 17 advertising, souvenir, Temperance Movement, circus & other pinbacks went for $330 in 2024. As you might expect, sports related pinbacks are some of the most collectibles. Twelve early 1900s tobacco premium and 1930 Cracker Jack baseball pinbacks brought over $260. Major Taylor was an African American cyclist who lived in Worcester and is in the U.S. Bicycling Hall of Fame. A pinback button labeled "Black vs. White" promoted an 1898 race between Taylor and Eddie McDuffee. It sold in one of our 2022 auctions for over $1,400.

There is also a Worcester connection to one of the most iconic pinback buttons ever made. Harvey Ball is said to have created the iconic smiley face image that became popular on buttons since the 1960s. An article in the Smithsonian Magazine said that Ball was paid $45 for what took him about 10 minutes to design the image for the State Mutual Life Assurance Company. Smiley face pinback buttons with the original State Mutual markings on the back have recently sold between $10 and $60 in online auctions. It's not a windfall but still enough to put a smile on your face.

The single-collector Civil War auction we've been working on will begin soon. We're preparing for a major auction with fine jewelry, sterling silver, art, and other antiques and collectibles that will take place after that. We also have been accepting consignments for a major sports and comic book auction that will take place in the summer. It will feature the first baseball Ted Williams signed when he signed a contract with the Boston Red Sox. Please visit our website <https://centralmassauctions.com> for links to upcoming events.

Lanterns Along Main Street

There was a time when every important message in life arrived in an envelope.

You could tell what kind of day it was going to be by the look of the mail. A thick envelope meant paperwork. A thin one with careful handwriting meant something better. Sometimes it was a birthday card. Sometimes it was a note from an old friend who had not forgotten you. Either way, it required a small ritual. You carried it inside. You sat down. You opened it slowly. You read it more than once.

These days, most of our messages arrive silently. They pop onto a screen and vanish with the swipe of a finger. Efficient, yes. Convenient, absolutely. But I sometimes wonder what we lost when we stopped holding words in our hands.

I was reminded of this last week, when I found a small stack of old letters tucked inside a desk drawer. They were not famous letters. No historic figures. No dramatic confessions. They were simple notes from people who mattered to me at different points in life. A thank-you card from a neighbor after we helped move a couch. A short letter from a relative who has since passed. A postcard sent from a vacation years ago, the handwriting slightly crooked, the ink faded around the edges.

What struck me was not the content alone. It was the care. Someone took time to sit down, choose a pen, and shape each word. Someone thought enough of me to place a stamp in the corner and walk it to a mailbox. That effort carried meaning all its own.

In our Massachusetts towns, we still see glimpses of that slower rhythm. You notice it when someone holds the door at the post office and waits, rather than rushing past. You see it when neighbors exchange Christmas cards that arrive days after the holiday, yet feel no less warm. You hear it when someone says, "I wanted to tell you this in person," and means it.

We live in a world that rewards speed. Faster replies. Faster news. Faster everything. There is nothing wrong with progress. I appreciate being able to check in on family with a quick message or send a photo across the state in seconds. But speed should not replace intention.

There is something grounding about slowing down long enough to put thoughts on paper. When you write a letter, you tend to choose words more carefully. You pause. You reconsider. You often soften your tone because you know the message cannot be edited after it is sent. That alone might improve a few conversations in modern life.

I am not suggesting we abandon technology or return to quill pens and candlelight. I am suggesting we remember that human connection benefits from effort. A handwritten note does not need to be long. It does not need perfect grammar. It needs sincerity.

Imagine what would happen if more of us sent a simple card to a teacher who made a difference, a neighbor who checked in during a tough week, or a family member who rarely hears how much they matter. Those envelopes would carry more than paper.

They would carry recognition.

Our small towns have always thrived on these quiet gestures. The casserole dropped off without being asked. The wave to a familiar face at the grocery store. The short conversation at the hardware counter that turns into advice about life rather than screws. These are the lanterns along our main streets. They do not blaze. They glow steadily, guiding us back to one another.

This week, I plan to write a few notes and send them the old-fashioned way. No special occasion. No dramatic reason. Simply a reminder to people I appreciate that they are seen and valued.

If you are looking for a simple way to make the world around you feel a little warmer, consider doing the same. Write one letter. Address one envelope. Drop it in the mailbox and walk away knowing you have sent something more lasting than a notification.

In a fast-moving world, choosing to slow down, even briefly, can feel quietly revolutionary. And sometimes, the smallest acts carry the brightest light.

WPI students complete intensive research projects

WORCESTER — At Worcester Polytechnic Institute (WPI), all undergraduates are required to complete a research-driven, professional-level project that applies science and technology to addresses an important societal need or issue.

Known as the Interactive Qualifying Project (IQP), this project is a core part of the innovative undergraduate experience at WPI. Centered around project-based learning, this hands-on approach offers students opportunities to help develop thoughtful solutions to open-ended problems. These real-world problems affect the quality of life for people in the communities where students work, giving students a chance to make a difference in the world before they graduate. All WPI undergraduates are required to complete an IQP, usually in their junior year, through which they apply science and technology to address an important societal need or issue.

About two-thirds of WPI students complete their IQP at one of the university's 50+ off-campus project centers located in more than 30 countries around the world.

"The WPI project-based curriculum's focus on global studies brings students out of the classroom and their comfort zones and into the global community to apply their knowledge and to solve problems," said Professor Kent Rissmiller, professor of International & Global Studies and associate dean of The Global School. "Students are immersed in all aspects of a different culture from the way people live and work to the values they hold to the foods they eat, all valuable perspectives for surviving and thriving in today's global marketplace. They also learn the meaning and magic of teamwork; make a real and meaningful difference in their host community; and gain a competitive edge for any resume, or graduate or professional school application."

The following students completed projects in the fall of 2025:

Julia Philbrook of Uxbridge, class of 2027, majoring in Biomedical Engineering, completed a project titled "An HRV Biofeedback Educational Application in Iceland."

Connor Daniel of Charlton, class of 2027, majoring in Computer Science, completed a project titled "Legacies of Albanian Emigration."

About Worcester Polytechnic Institute
Worcester Polytechnic Institute (WPI) is a top-tier, STEM-focused university with an R1 research classification and global leadership in project-based learning. Founded in 1865, WPI's distinctive approach integrates classroom theory with real-world practice, preparing students to tackle critical challenges through inclusive education, impactful projects, and interdisciplinary research. With more than 70 bachelor's, master's, and doctoral degree programs across 18 academic departments and over 50 global project centers, WPI advances knowledge and innovation in fields such as life sciences, smart technologies, advanced materials and manufacturing, and global innovation. # Courage theme of Faith in Film Series at Charlton Federated Church

CHARLTON — Courage is the theme of the latest Faith in Film series at the Federated Church of Charlton (FCC). On the third Friday of each month at 6:30 p.m. the public is invited to view and discuss movies at no charge. Each showing includes free refreshments and a handout with pertinent and interesting information, key concepts and discussion questions about each film.

The Faith in Film Series this winter and spring includes the following:

Feb. 20 – “Selma” (2014) – This historical drama depicts the 1965 Selma to Montgomery voting rights marches and the courage of the black clergy, including the Rev. Martin Luther King, Jr., at the heart of that struggle. Directed by Ava DuVernay and written by Paul Webb, the film was nominated for two Academy Awards and four Golden Globe Awards.

March 20 – “Mrs. Miniver” (1942) – This film portrays the courage of ordinary people as it tells the story of one English woman’s struggle to protect her family during World War II. Directed by William Wyler and starring Greer Garson, Walter Pidgeon and Theresa Wright, the film was a critical and a commercial success, becoming the highest-grossing film of 1942 and winning six Academy Awards. In 2006, the film was ranked number 40 on the American Film Institute’s list of most inspirational movies and was placed on the National Film Registry by the Library of Congress in 2009.

April 17 – “Finding Nemo” (2003) – Created by Pixar Animation Studios for Walt Disney Pictures, this animated movie depicts an epic search for a kidnapped son by his father, both are clownfish and they are aided by a dizzy, forgetful regal blue tang fish named Dory. Featuring the voices of Albert Brooks, Ellen DeGeneres, Alexander Gould, Willem Dafoe, and Geoffrey Rush it was directed by Andrew Stanton, who co-wrote it with Bob Peterson, and David Reynolds. Finding Nemo was the first film to win an Oscar in the category of Best Animated Feature.

May 15 – “The General” (1926) – This silent comedy featuring Buster Keaton who also co-directed it with Clyde Brickman is based upon an actual locomotive chase that took place during the Civil War. While the film was not a commercial success when it was first released, it is now recognized as one of the greatest films ever made.

June 19 – “Drums Along the Mohawk” (1939) – This is the first color film directed by John Ford. It tells the story of the fight for American Independence along the Mohawk River in upstate New York. Based on a very popular novel of the same name, it stars Henry Fonda, Colette Colbert, John Carradine, and Oscar-winner Edna May Oliver. This film will be a perfect way for us to celebrate our nation’s 250th anniversary a few weeks later.

“While all different in tone, each of these films explore what it means to be courageous and how that attribute displays itself in actions,” said James David Moran, curator of the Faith in Film Series.

He further commented, “This program explores the concept of faith in all its forms from believing in God, religion, institutions, intellectual concepts, and people. Our aim is to share important works of cinema, engage in a lively conversation, and have fun.”

Faith in Film screenings take place in the Fellowship Hall of the Church at 64 Main St. in Charlton. For further information please call the Church at 508-248-5550 or email Pastor Shannan Hudgins at pastor@fed-church.org.

Performance dates are Feb. 27 & 28 and March 6 & 7 at 7:30 p.m. and March 8 at 2 p.m. The performances are held at Fellowship Hall of Elm Street Congregational Church, 61 Elm St. in Southbridge. Entrance is on Park Street (around the corner). Directed by Jordan Miller. Produced by Stephen Jean.

The cast includes Patrick Bracken (Robin), Tey Ferron (Dr. Hamilton), Vivian Eliza Nichols (Angel), Katie Walsh (Morgan), Stephen Clarke (Jamie), Greg Glanville (Cameron), Mary Tisdell (Devin) and Asher McCoy (Blake).

Robin is a disillusioned author who reluctantly takes a job teaching remedial English to a group of adult students. Bitter from past trauma and career setbacks, Robin initially struggles to connect with these diverse students, each of whom carries their own burdens. As the story unfolds, the classroom becomes a space for unexpected growth, where Robin and the students challenge each other’s assumptions and learn to confront their insecurities. Through humor, conflict, and shared vulnerability, "Remedial" explores themes of resilience, empathy, and the transformative power of understanding and human connection.

own perceptions of death. It's not a bereavement session – just an open conversation about a topic that we often find taboo. You are welcome to share as much or as little as you wish. The group meets monthly on the third Thursday of the month from 6-7:30 pm in Dexter Hall. Questions? Email kwalker4@mac.com. # From Uganda to Jamaica

Visiting priest connects with Saint Joseph students

WEBSTER — Saint Joseph School recently welcomed Fr. James Kandole Saturday, a Catholic priest serving in Jamaica, for a two-day visit on Tuesday, Dec. 2, and Wednesday, Dec. 3. Fr. Saturday is a longtime friend of Rev. Richard Polek, pastor of Saint Joseph Parish, and the two met through Food for the Poor, an international relief and development organization that supports communities in need through emergency aid and long-term assistance, including housing and other basic necessities.

Fr. Saturday began his visit by joining the school community for its Advent Prayer Service on Tuesday morning. Afterward, he spent the day in the school's classrooms, meeting students and staff across every grade level. Teachers noted how naturally he connected with younger children—at times sitting on the floor with them to talk about their interests and questions. In the Pre-K 3 classroom, Fr. Saturday used a small Nativity set as a hands-on way to discuss the birth of Jesus, helping students reflect on the meaning of the season in an age-appropriate, engaging way.

Later that afternoon, students in Grades 5–8 gathered in the parish center for an energetic question-and-answer session. Students asked everything from his favorite foods—such as matoke (green bananas) and Jamaica's well-known jerk chicken—to thoughtful questions about his childhood in Uganda, his decision to become a priest, his favorite Bible verse, and his guiding purpose in life.

Saint Joseph School National Junior Honor Society member Axel Kapitulik (Grade 8) presents a $500 check to Fr. James Kandole Saturday. The donation will support Fr. Saturday's ministry and help fund repairs to his church following Hurricane Melissa, a Category 5 hurricane that struck Jamaica in October 2025.

Fr. James Kandole Saturday sits with Saint Joseph School's PreK three-year-old students during his classroom visit, speaking about the Nativity and the birth of Jesus as the children listen attentively.

Fr. Saturday emphasized a consistent theme throughout the discussion: his hope is to help others "fall in love with God," encouraging students to live with humility, perseverance, and trust in God.

Middle school students were especially interested in Fr. Saturday's reflections on his ministry in Jamaica and his community's experience during Hurricane Melissa, a Category 5 storm that struck Jamaica in 2025. He spoke candidly about the fear and uncertainty of the hurricane, the practical steps people took to find safety, and the lasting emotional impact of the destruction—

while also sharing a message of faith and resilience in the aftermath.

Fr. Saturday returned on Wednesday for a final gathering with the entire student body. Beth Boudreau, Principal of Saint Joseph School, presented him with a school gift bag and Saint Joseph School items as a token of appreciation. During the assembly, the Saint Joseph School National Junior Honor Society (NJHS)—advised by Mrs. Karen Lefebvre—presented Fr. Saturday with a $500 donation to support his church's work.

NJHS is a national student organization that recognizes middle school students for scholarship, leadership, service, character, and citizenship. At Saint Joseph School, members commit to service throughout the year and organize regular fundraisers to support a variety of charitable causes—both local and beyond. The donation to Fr. Saturday's ministry is one example of how NJHS students at Saint Joseph School put their values into action through planned giving and ongoing service initiatives.

The assembly concluded with the school community singing "Sto Lat" and taking a group photo with Fr. Saturday. Staff and students expressed gratitude for his visit and shared hope that he will return to Saint Joseph School again in the future.
