BY GUS STEEVES
CORRESPONDENT

SOUTHBRIDGE — A handful of residents turned out to have their say at the first Housing Production Plan forum last week.

A second forum will happen Nov. 12 at the Senior Center at 10 a.m. (Spanish) and 11:30 a.m. (English). Both seek public input beyond the survey that's been circulating for months now into what Southbridge wants and needs in terms of housing.

As forum leader Emily Glaubitz, a planner from Central Mass. Regional Planning Commission, noted the goal is to identify "any changes

DA'S OFFICE VISITS TANTASQUA

As part of their busy community outreach schedule, members of Worcester County District Attorney Joseph Early's team recently visited Tantasqua Regional High School. Dating safety was one of many topics covered at the event. The DA's outreach team visits schools across the county to discuss this issue, among several others. "Having positive, healthy relationships is crucial. Hope from our outreach team visited Tantasqua High School to talk about our dating violence prevention," read a statement released by the DA's Office. "Thank you to Ms. Nguyen for having us." Students took part in several activities during the program, including writing down qualities they would want to see in healthy relationships. Members of the DA's outreach team discuss several other topics during their yearlong series of presentations. These include the dangers of drugs and alcohol for young people; avoiding distracted driving; and the importance of cybersecurity. Charlton Town Meeting approves expenditures, bylaw changes

BY JASON BLEAU
CORRESPONDENT

CHARLTON — Charlton's fall annual town meeting on Oct. 21 saw little drama as a little over 50 residents addressed the ten articles up for debate on the warrant including bylaw changes and increased investment in several departments.

The meeting lasted less than an hour, and started with the approval of funds for unpaid bills for the prior fiscal year and moved to inter- and intra-departmental transfers which were also approved. The transfers included moving $150,000 from free cash to the Other Post Employment Benefits Trust (OPEB) per the town's funding plan and utilizing $84,000 to fund a new dispatcher and a new police officer. The request for a new dispatcher had been brought to town officials by the police and fire chiefs in the weeks leading up to the special town meeting to providing enough dispatch help to manage the increased workload for both departments. Other appropriations were $26,000 for benefit costs for the dispatcher and officer positions and $750,000 for the Capital Stabilization Fund.

Another article involved several motions concerning miscellaneous capital items and the utilization of free cash. Among the approved projects in the Youth mental health First Aid training completed by Bay Path Nursing students

CHARLTON — September is National Suicide Prevention Month and Bay Path practical nursing (PN) students continue to do their share in learning. Research states that suicide is the 10th leading cause of death overall in the US and that the overall suicide rate has increased by 35 percent since 1999. The PN class of 2025 learned the signs of suicide to prevent home or work-place-based tragedy.

Some members of the PN Class of 2025 completed the Youth Mental Health First Aid (MHFA) training lead by Lynn Lynch, MBA, Director of Business Operations and MHFA Instructor of the Shrewsbury Youth and Family Services, Inc. (www.SYFS-MA.org). The six-hour curriculum, completed in one full professional development day, gives the participant a three-year certification upon completion.

Gretheline Bolandrina, DHA, MSN Ed, RN, CRRN Academy Director at Bay Path Practical Nursing Academy has been working with the Shrewsbury Youth and Family Services for the PN students MHFA training for over five years. "We are grateful to have Lynn return to Bay Path annually and the Shrewsbury Youth and Family Services for their continued provision of the MHFA training for the PN students!" said Bolandrina. "I cannot emphasize enough how important it is for our Shrewsbury Youth and Family Services for their skills and knowledge to identify and respond to signs of mental disorders and how to provide initial help and support," Bolandrina added.

MHFA trained individuals may assist someone experiencing a mental health or substance use-related crisis. In the MHFA course, the PN students learned risk factors and warning signs for mental health and addiction concerns, strategies for how to help in crisis and non-crisis situations and well as where to turn for help for both adult and youth. Topics covered include depression, mood disorders, anxiety, trauma, psychosis, and substance use disorders.

Participants learned how to apply the MHFA action plan in situations when someone is experiencing panic attacks, suicidal thoughts of behaviors, non-suicidal

Sheriff's Office distribute winter coats to community

BY KEVIN FLANDERS
STAFF WRITER

REGION — Even though temperatures have been unseasonably warm in recent weeks, it will soon be time to put on cold-weather gear again. And Worcester County Sheriff Lew Evangelidis is helping to ensure that community members stay warm this winter.

Last week, members of the Worcester County Sheriff's Office and the Worcester County Reserve Deputy Sheriff's Association held the first distribution day for their annual Winter Coat Drive.

With support from several community partners, including the Worcester Red Sox, officials on Oct. 22 distributed coats to multiple organizations.

The donations will be used to help families, youngsters, and seniors this winter.

"It is estimated that our teams distributed well over 1,500 coats today to many different organizations throughout Worcester County," read a statement released by the Sheriff's Office.

Worcester County Sheriff Lew Evangelidis (pictured fourth from right) and his team recently partnered with several community organizations to distribute coats to those in need.

By the end of the 2024 distribution drive, officials hope to hand out more than 4,000 new winter coats to those in need.

Several community volunteers and representatives from various organizations are thanked for helping members of the Sheriff's Office in distributing coats.

For Evangelidis and his team, it's critical to support initiatives that assist residents throughout the community, especially amid a challenging economy. Every coat received by a community member means one less item a family or senior has to purchase this holiday season.

"Every year, we have the joy of handing out these coats, which symbolize much more than just a winter jacket. They represent a community that cares," Evangelidis said. "The people who receive these jackets are grateful for the gesture from the Sheriff's Office. This is a special time of year for the Sheriff's Department, and we're excited to connect with the community members we serve."

Since the pandemic, high prices and lost jobs have combined to place a strain on residents nationwide, especially families and seniors. For Evangelidis and his team, it means a lot to help those seeking assistance in keeping their families warm this winter.

"Many community members and representatives of local organizations have supported the coat drive in various ways," read the statement released by the Sheriff's Office.

Last month, a coat drive kickoff event brought together local organizations, business owners, and other supporters. Held at Pepe's Italian Restaurant in Worcester, the event raised money and awareness for the massive community initiative.

Since the first distribution cial thanks all community members, businesses, volunteers, and local organizations who have stepped up and shown support for the annual coat drive.

"Thank you to all who have supported this initiative and joined us," read the statement issued by the Sheriff's Office.

For more information about the coat drive, or to learn about several other programs the Sheriff's Office runs to support the community, visit www.worcestercountysheriff.com.

The joy of America’s pastime

As the leaves change colors and the air turns crisp, the onset of fall brings with it the arrival of one of America’s most cherished traditions: baseball playoffs. For generations, baseball has held a special place in the hearts of Americans, to become a timeless pastime that brings happiness, unity, and a sense of belonging.

Baseball’s roots in America run deep, tracing back to the 19th century when it evolved from a simple game into a full-fledged professional sport. Over the decades, baseball has become more than just a game. From the crack of the bat to the roar of the crowd, baseball’s enduring appeal lies in its ability to evoke nostalgia and a sense of belonging. It reminds us of our history, spanning generations to connect grandparents, parents, and children through the love of the game.

During playoff season, this connection becomes even more profound. The excitement of watching your favorite team battle it out on the national stage, the suspense of each pitch, and the thrill of a game-winning home run all create moments of genuine joy and a bit of adrenaline as well!

But it’s not just the game itself that brings happiness; it’s also the sense of community and camaraderie that baseball fosters. Ballparks across the nation become gathering places for fans of all backgrounds to come together and share in the experience. Whether you’re tailgating in the parking lot, high-fiving strangers after a big play, or singing along to “Take Me Out to the Ball Game” during the seventh inning stretch, baseball erases our differences, just like that.

Baseball has seen the nation through some of its darkest days, offering a distraction and a source of comfort during times of crisis. From the Great Depression to the aftermath of 9/11, baseball has been a constant, reminding us that there is always something to look forward to and that, together, we can overcome adversity.

With that, we all have our favorite teams, so please indulge us as we take this opportunity to say, in lieu of the Red Sox...go Dodgers!

Pumpkin Possibilities: Recipes that Recycle!

Once Halloween is over, the big question remains: What to do with those perfectly fine sugar pumpkins used as porch props and party centerpieces? From whipping up a variety of pumpkin treats to prepping purée for future use, the following recipes, culled from old files and the internet, promote pumpkin repurposing!

Preparing Pumpkin: Freezing cooked, pureed pumpkin is a favored way to preserve the taste and texture of pumpkin for use in holiday recipes. Sugar or pie pumpkins are ideal candidates for freezing as the pulp is thicker and firmer. To easily prepare a pumpkin for pureeing, simply place the whole fruit in the microwave for about a minute or so to soften the skin. This will make the pumpkin much easier to peel. Cut the pumpkin in large slices, peel the skin and remove the strings and seeds. Then cut the slices into smaller pieces. Boil the pumpkin pieces until tender, then mash or process the pumpkin pulp until it forms a smooth, thick puree.

To store, freeze in Ziploc bags or frost safe containers.

Pumpkin Granola
Autumn flavors, such as pumpkin puree, maple syrup and cranberries mix with crunchy pumpkin seeds and nuts and for a seasonal taste treat you can enjoy throughout the season.

Note: This recipe differs from the one shared in this column last year at this time, and doesn’t require hours of roasting!

Ingredients:3 1/2 cups rolled oats; 2 1/2 cups puffed rice cereal (like Rice Krispies); 2 teaspoons pumpkin pie spice mix; 3/4 tsp salt; 3/4 cup brown sugar; 1/2 cup pureed pumpkin; 1/4 cup smooth applesauce; 1/4 cup maple syrup; 1 tsp vanilla extract;1 cup chopped nuts; such as walnuts pecans, pecans, etc; ½ cup pumpkin seeds; 1 cup raisins and dried cranberries

Directions: Preheat the oven to 325 degrees and line a large baking sheet with parchment paper.

In a large bowl, combine oats, puffed rice cereal. In a medium bowl, whisk together spices, salt, sugar, applesauce (smooth), pumpkin puree, maple syrup and vanilla. Whisk until very smooth.

Pour wet ingredients into dry ingredients and stir with a spatula or large spoon until mixture is evenly coated. Spread on prepared baking sheet in an even layer.

Bake for 30 minutes, then turn over the granola carefully using a large wide spatula, spreading as thin as possible. Sprinkle the nuts onto the granola, and bake for additional 15 minutes, until crisp and golden. If center isn’t fully dried, remove the edges of the cooked granola to a cooling rack and let the rest cook for another 10-15 minutes until done. Cool on pan or on a fine wire rack. Break up granola. Add dried fruit before serving.

Pumpkin Ginger Cookies
Fresh pumpkin transforms into a crisp cookie with this old fashioned recipe.

Ingredients: ½ cup of butter, softened;1 cup granulated sugar; plus more for rolling the cookies; ½ cup fresh pumpkin puree; 1 egg; 1 teaspoon vanilla extract; 2 cups all-purpose flour; 2 teaspoons baking soda; 2 teaspoons cinnamon; 1 1/2 teaspoons ground ginger; 1 teaspoon ground cloves; 1/2 teaspoon salt

Directions: In a large bowl beat the butter and sugar together until creamy and smooth. Add the pumpkin, molasses, egg, and vanilla extract, mix until well combined.

Meanwhile, in a medium bowl, whisk together flour, baking soda, spices, and salt. Add dry ingredients to wet ingredients and mix until combined. Refrigerate dough for at least an hour.

To bake, preheat oven to 350° F. Line a baking sheet with a parchment paper. Roll spoon sized balls of dough in granulated sugar until well coated and place on prepared baking sheet, about two inches apart. Bake for 10–12 minutes, or until cookies look cracked and set at the edges. The cookies will still be soft. Let the cookies cool on the baking sheet for a few minutes after removing them from the oven, then transfer to a wire rack to cool completely. Makes about three dozen cookies.

Pumpkin Latte
Leftover pumpkin elevates a simple cup of Joe to holiday gourmet status!

Ingredients: two cups whole or 1% milk; two tablespoons pumpkin puree; two tablespoons granulated sugar; two tablespoons pure vanilla; ½ teaspoon pumpkin pie spice (or substitute 1/4 tsp cinnamon, 1/8 tsp cloves, 1/8 tsp nutmeg, and a scant pinch of ground ginger); 3/4 cup of strong, brewed coffee (or substitute one half cup espresso).

Directions: Place coffee and milk in a small crockpot. Mix in the pumpkin, vanilla and spices. Cover and cook on high for an hour or two. When ready, whisk again to mix. Ladle into mugs and top with whipped cream and shaved cinnamon if desired.

This recipe will serve two people.

Donor-advised funds: A smart way to give

FINANCIAL FOCUS
TREVOR NIELSEN

You can find several ways to make charitable gifts — but if you’re looking for a method that can provide multiple tax benefits, along with an efficient platform for giving year after year, you might want to consider a donor-advised fund.

Once you open a donor-advised fund (DAF), you can contribute many types of assets, including cash, publicly traded stocks, bonds, CDs or non-cash items such as closely held business interests, art or collectibles. You can then decide how to invest the money, possibly following a strategy suggested by the DAF sponsor organization you’ve selected. The next step involves choosing which charities to support, how often to provide support (such as once a year) and how much to give each time. You’re essentially free to direct the money to any charities you like, provided they’re IRS-approved charitable organizations.

Immediate tax deduction – A few years ago, changes in tax laws resulted in a vastly increased standard deduction, which, in turn, led to far fewer people itemizing on their tax returns and having less incentive, at least from a tax standpoint, to contribute to charities. But if you don’t typically give enough each year to itemize deductions, you could combine several years’ worth of giving into one contribution to a DAF and take a larger deduction in that tax year. And you can claim that deduction, even though the DAF may distribute funds to charities over several years.

Tax-free growth of earnings – Once you contribute an asset to a DAF, any earnings growth is not taxable to you, the DAF or the charitable groups that receive grants from the DAF.

Avoidance of capital gains taxes – When you donate appreciated stocks or other investments — or for that matter, virtually any appreciated asset — to a DAF, you can avoid paying the capital gains taxes that would otherwise be due if you were to simply sell the asset and then donate the proceeds to charitable organizations. Plus, by receiving the appreciated asset, rather than the proceeds from a sale, the charitable groups can gain more from your contribution. And you can also take a tax deduction for your donation.

While these potential tax benefits can certainly make a DAF an attractive method of charitable giving, you should be aware of some potential tradeoffs. Once you contribute assets to a DAF, that gift is irrevocable, and you can’t access the money for any reason other than charitable giving. Also, your investment options are limited to what’s available in the DAF program you’ve chosen. And DAFs can incur administrative costs in addition to the fees charged on the underlying investments.

You may want to consult with your financial professional about other potential benefits and tradeoffs of DAFs and whether a DAF can help you with your charitable giving goals. Also, different DAF sponsors offer different features, so you will want to do some comparisons. And because DAFs can have such significant implications for your tax situation, you should consult with your tax professional before taking action.

If a DAF is appropriate for your situation, though, consider it carefully — it might be a good way to support your charitable giving efforts for years to come.

A winter season of colorful Amaryllis blooms

This winter, brighten your mood and surroundings by planting and growing a few amaryllis. Your thoughts may turn to red when considering this plant but now you can find a variety of colors and flower shapes. Select the color that best suits your mood and indoor décor.

Fill your home with these beauties for the holidays. Then keep the blossoms coming all winter long. Plant several different types of amaryllis bulbs, from the southern and northern hemispheres, and you'll get a long-lasting, colorful display.

Most amaryllis bulbs grown in the U.S. are imported from Holland, and their natural bloom time is January through March. Exactly when the flowers will open is impossible to predict. The best strategy is to choose several different varieties and plant them three to four weeks apart during November, December, and January so you'll always have flowers coming into bloom.

Kick off the holiday season with amaryllis bulbs imported from growers in the southern hemisphere. As we enter autumn, it's springtime in South America, and these bulbs are eager to begin to bloom. Pot them up before early November for flowers in December.

Brighten the holiday season with the pure white, fully double flowers of Alaska amaryllis (longfield-gardens.com). The white blossoms with lime green throat combine nicely with winter greens. Plant the bulbs in the fall and enjoy the blossoms throughout the holiday season.

as Evergreen, which is always quick to break out of dormancy. Its flowers have narrow, lime/chartreuse petals on 20-inch plants adding a freshness to any room. Enjoy the impressive display as each bulb produces two to three stems with four to six blooms each.

Add a bit of fun and flare with the eight-inch flowers of Dancing Queen. You'll enjoy the showy layers of ruffled snow-white petals highlighted with brush strokes of red.

If you are a fan of the popular color pink, there is an amaryllis for you. Pink Surprise Amaryllis has enormous hot pink flowers with a silky sheen and a touch of white at the tip. It is a stand-out and perfect as a centerpiece on the dining room table or as a colorful welcome when displayed on a table by your front entrance.

For those who prefer something a bit more subtle, check out Terra Cotta Star. The soft watercolor hues of salmon, rose, buttercream and pistachio along with its dark veins add an artistic flare to each blossom.

Showcase and enjoy your colorful amaryllis by displaying it on a mantle, kitchen counter, or entryway table. Then watch the amazing show as the first sprout appears, followed by buds and finally, its spectacular trumpet-shaped blooms. Or cut a few flowers to enjoy as long-lasting cut flowers.

Order these and other amaryllis varieties early for the greatest selection. Selecting an assortment of colors, flower shapes and bloom times provides months of beauty and enjoyment.

POSITIVELY SPEAKING

Well, I know I said last week that my spooky season series was done, but with many requests for one more, I said, why not? I couldn't resist sharing just one more story for Halloween. And this one might be the strangest yet. It's the tale of a place where the mysterious meets the unexplained—where eerie lights dance across the horizon, and science and folklore collide. I'm talking about the Marfa Lights.

In a remote stretch of West Texas desert near the small town of Marfa, strange, glowing orbs have illuminated the night sky for centuries.

According to local history, the first recorded sighting was in 1883, when a rancher named Robert Ellison noticed lights flickering in the distance, initially thinking they were Apache campfires. But as he traveled closer, the lights seemed to move farther away, as if intentionally evading him.

Interestingly, Native American tribes in the area, including the Apache, were aware of these lights long before settlers arrived, referring to them as "fallen stars" and interpreting them as celestial or supernatural phenomena.

The Marfa Lights, which appear as bright orange, red, or blue orbs, have been seen shifting, darting, and splitting apart only to rejoin moments later. Some say they float, while others claim they hover above the ground, weaving in and out of view.

During World War II, the Marfa Lights caught the attention of pilots stationed at the nearby Midland Army Air Field. Intrigued, these pilots attempted to locate the source of the lights, thinking it might be a natural or man-made structure. Despite multiple attempts, they never found the origin. It was as though the lights were aware of the pilots' presence, evading discovery every time they tried to pinpoint their source.

What causes these lights?

Some say they are cars from a nearby interstate, Route 67, but that doesn't explain how they've been observed long before the automobile.

Some theories range from the scientific, like reflections or naturally occurring gases, to the supernatural, with legends suggesting they're spirits or entities keeping watch over the land. But one thing's for certain—the lights behave in ways that defy easy explanation, especially in encounters that seem almost personal.

Consider the story of a film crew that arrived in Marfa hoping to capture the lights on camera. After setting up equipment for hours, the crew finally spotted the lights flickering in the distance. But as they moved in, strange things began to happen. Cameras shut down inexplicably, and batteries drained without reason. Some crew members reported feeling as though the lights were watching them, reacting to their every movement. No matter how they tried, they couldn't get a clear shot—the lights would appear just out of reach, then disappear, only to reappear elsewhere. By the time they left, the crew was convinced that the Marfa Lights weren't just a natural phenomenon, but something else—something almost... aware.

Another tale comes from a local rancher who encountered the lights late one night while driving home. As he traveled down the dark, empty road, he noticed glowing orbs trailing behind his truck. At first, he thought they were headlights, but the lights behaved strangely, veering off into the desert only to reappear closer to him, moving in sync with his truck. He described it as if the lights were "following" him, curious yet keeping their distance. Finally, as he neared home, the lights suddenly broke away and vanished into the mountains. Shaken, the rancher was left wondering—were the Marfa Lights watching him, guiding him, or simply toying with him?

To this day, the Marfa Lights remain a mystery. Scientists have tried to pin them down as reflections, atmospheric gases, or mirages caused by temperature inversions. Yet no explanation fully accounts for their behavior, nor for the strange interactions people report. And the stories continue to pile up, from locals who've seen the lights their entire lives to travelers who stumble upon them unexpectedly.

As Halloween draws near, and we gather around to share tales of the unknown, remember that some mysteries are closer than we think. They flicker on the horizon, waiting to be seen—but not necessarily to be understood.

Happy Halloween, and may all your mysteries be as strange as the Marfa Lights.

Trunk or Treat offers spooky fun!

BY BRO. JIMMY FALZONE
QUINEBAUG MASONIC LODGE

SOUTHBRIDGE — Saturday, Oct. 26 was a beautiful fall day for the Trunk or Treat event held at the Quinebaug Masonic Lodge in Southbridge.

Every year, the Quinebaug Masonic Lodge Community Outreach Program holds this fun event for the children in the community. Children and adults alike dressed up in their costumes to retrieve treats from the row of cars all decorated and decked out in the parking lot of the Quinebaug Masonic lodge in Southbridge. Passing cars beeped their horns as they drove by to witness all the children and decked out cars.

This Trunk or Treat event is just one of the many community outreach program events the lodge has held this year. Many lodge members and their families along with friends volunteered their time and resources for this fun event for the children. A special thank you, shout out to Nichols College for donating the big green wild and wacky floppy inflatable tube man on display in the Quinebuag Lodge parking lot for this event. If you would like additional information about Freemasonry, go to www.massfreemasonry.org and read about this great fraternity and to find a lodge nearest you.

TOWN OF SOUTHBRIDGE PUBLIC DISCLOSURE OF TAX VALUATION
The Town of Southbridge Assessor’s Office has been conducting the Fiscal Year 2025 Revaluation as required by Massachusetts State Law. This update of values ensures that all properties have been assessed at full and fair market value as of January 1, 2024. The Assessor has received preliminary certification from the Massachusetts Department of Revenue. The Public Review period will be available to the public from November 1, 2024 to November 8, 2024.
The revaluation requires the verification, analysis, and use of arms-length sales from calendar year 2023. Sales from the year 2022 were used to value property when the numbers of 2023 sales were insufficient for analysis. Market trends indicate that different property types may change in value more or less than other property types. Overall, real and personal property values increased 11%. Individual parcel valuation changes may vary due to data updates and corrections, new construction, and the effect of market trends for different types of properties.

The preliminary assessed values for Fiscal Year 2025 will be available at the Jacob Edwards Library during normal business hours as well as the Town of Southbridge Website. The valuation information will also be available online at <https://www.ci.southbridge.ma.us/>. You may also contact the Assessor’s Office located in the Southbridge Town Hall at 41 Elm Street by phone or in person with any questions or concerns.

Born in Woonsocket, R.I., to immigrant parents, the late Albert and Donald (St. Germain) Comtois, Moe joined the U.S. Army at aged 21 and honorably served for two years during the Korean War, earning the Army of Occupation Medal (Germany.) Moe traveled much of Europe and always spoke fondly of its natural beauty. He also served in North Africa, Austria, Italy, and Switzerland. During his enlistment, he learned Italian and spoke it fluently throughout his life, and while visiting St. Peter’s Basilica in Rome, he was touched by Pope Pious XII.

In August 1951, Moe married Claire R. Bourdon and they raised five children in Southbridge, MA. He leaves behind Susan Reilly of Worcester, MA; Marc Comtois of Oxford, MA; Carol Childress and her husband Barnet, of Sturbridge, MA; his two sons, Steven Comtois and David Comtois, pre-deceased Moe in 1980 and 2019, respectively. Moe leaves behind his step-daughter Gretchen and her husband Michael Clark of Putnam, CT, and step-son Timothy Gagne of Granby, CT. Moe also leaves behind numerous grandchildren, great-grandchildren, nieces, and nephews, who he dearly loved. Moe also leaves behind his only living sibling, Madeleine Schotter, of Woonsocket, R.I. Moe was predeceased by his brother, Marcel, and sisters, Jeannine, Claudette, and Marguerite.

For most of Moe’s working life, he enjoyed working as Water Treatment Plant Operator for the Southbridge Water Supply and was responsible for taking measurements of snow and rain that were phoned in for local weather forecasts; patrolling, hiking, and posting the thousands of acres of the water supply property; and he successfully completed numerous training courses related to public drinking water supplies. He also served as a Special Police Officer for the Town of Southbridge.

Most recently residing in Stafford, CT, throughout his life, Moe enjoyed deep sea and fresh water fishing, digging for quahogs in RI, holding huge yard sales, throwing clambakes, painting cars, and he especially loved spending time with all his children, grandchildren, and great grandchildren.

Following a family Celebration of Life, Moe will be laid to rest with his sons, Steven and David, and his former wife, Claire, in the Old Notre Dame Cemetery, Southbridge, MA. John E. Worrell Charlton - John Worrell, a long-time resident of Brimfield, recently of Charlton, died October 18th at Harrington Hospital, Southbridge. Born in 1933, John was raised on a farm in central Indiana, and remained a farm boy at heart all his life. He loved to roam the woods and fields of his childhood home and his home of 51 years in Brimfield, and fields, forests, and deserts around the world, looking for birds, mushrooms and other wild edibles, animals, and archaeological evidences of past human activities. He wore many hats over his life: minister, college professor, archaeologist, museum researcher, activist for civil rights in the US, working with the campaigns of Cesar Chavez and Martin Luther King, and then in the Middle East, particularly Palestine.

John graduated from Milligan College in Tennessee, and worked as youth minister in his home church in Indiana while earning advanced degrees from Butler University, and then a PhD in Near Eastern Studies from Claremont University in California, while working as a minister of social action in a church there. He taught at Phillips University, Oklahoma, Hartford Theological Seminary, Connecticut, and Holy Cross College, Massachusetts. While teaching he worked in archaeology in Israel and Palestine, for a few years as director of an archaeological expedition to Tel el-Hesi in Israel. Then he turned his archaeological expertise to American archaeology as archaeologist, then Director of Research at Old Sturbridge Village in Massachusetts. Upon retirement he devoted his energies to human rights in the Middle East, including two years on the ground with Palestinians, and peacekeeping missions to Palestine with Christian Peacemaker Teams, and to Iraq with Voices in the Wilderness. Throughout all, John was a loving family man. He leaves his four children: Brad Worrell and Catharine of New York City, Bret Worrell of Millbury, Babette Worrell of Worcester, and Lilly Glass Akoto of Vancouver, Washington. He greatly enjoyed his four grandchildren and two great grandchildren, walking, birding, gardening, and always teaching. His life companion of 50 years, Linda Ammons, and lifelong friends, Sandy and Kent McCallum will miss him deeply. He also leaves his brother Phil Worrell of Johnson City, Tennessee, and his sister, Mary Ann Plahitko of Danville, Indiana, many nieces and nephews, and a host of grand-nephews and nieces, and great-grand-nieces and nephews.

QCC receives grant from Greater Worcester Community Foundation

WORCESTER — Quinsigamond Community College has received a $12,500 grant from the Greater Worcester Community Foundation (GWCF). QCC will use the funds for its Bridges to College program, a support program to prepare students for college-level math and English courses.

“I’m excited that the college has the opportunity to deliver more Bridges to College classes to prepare students for success in college-level math and English. The success rates in credit classes for students who participated in a Bridges to College program are compelling,” said Dean of College & Career Pathways Carol King.

According to King, after taking the math Bridges to College class, 93 percent of students passed a college-level math class. Of the students who participated in an English Bridges to College class and subsequently enrolled at the college, 88 percent passed ENG 101 or 102.

The Bridges to College program provides non-credit programming in English and math for students considering college. The program includes support from a case manager, who offers guidance with higher education processes such as interacting with professors and reading a syllabus. Case managers also connect students to resources such as tutoring, counseling and the college’s food pantry.

“Students considering this program should know that they will be fully supported and gain the skills and confidence to succeed at QCC and beyond. Our staff takes the time to get to know the students and make them feel comfortable,” said Director of Mentoring and Special Programs Kalan Lewis.

“As a new college student, it can be intimidating to ask for help and get connected with all the support services. Bridges to College offers a sense of belonging through building a relationship with students and making them feel comfortable in a college setting,” Lewis continued.

Wales Community Pantry launches new initiative

WALES —“Since December of 2023 we have seen the need for our services grow by an astounding 70 percent and the growth has not abated. Nor do we expect it to,” notes Ann Davidson, Director of the Wales Community Pantry.

Thanks to a grant from The Food Bank of Western Massachusetts the Wales Community Pantry, located at 85 Main Street in Wales, hopes to be able to provide a consistent supply of fresh milk, dairy items, and bread to its patrons. The Pantry regularly serves 172 households from the communities of Holland, Brimfield and Wales and, according to Ann Davidson, “our numbers are growing weekly. She said, “the Pantry routinely provides nutritious food to seniors, veterans, the disabled, and the working poor and we turn no one who is hungry away.”

Currently the Wales Community Pantry’s major source of milk and bread is through donations of salvaged food from local grocery stores.

“Salvaged commodities,” Davidson said, “are those which are within a day or two of expiring, and although we are profoundly grateful for these donations, they are inconsistent.”

WCP estimates it will cost about $1,000 per month to provide a steady supply of items such as fresh milk, bread, cheese, and butter, groceries, which are not regularly available generosity, which is tax deductible, each business that contributes will be heavily promoted through local social media during the month of their sponsorship. The Facebook arm of the WCP, which is Pantry Wales, currently has 516 followers. All of its postings are shared on the Brimfield, Holland, Wales, Fiskdale, and Sturbridge community pages, resulting in an outreach of over 23,000 people. Additionally, once the program is up and running, WCP will send out press releases to local news outlets to highlight the generosity of our monthly sponsor.

The Wales Community Pantry depends wholly on grants and donations for its funding. During its food drives the most donated item is boxed macaroni and cheese, which requires milk and butter to prepare. Sadly, these basic items are too often luxuries for WCP patrons, and the mac and cheese boxes get pushed to the back of the cupboard. The Sponsor the Fridge for a Month drive hopes to remedy this. If $1,000 a month is too much for a single business, Davidson noted, the WCP would be more than delighted to have two businesses act as dual sponsors.

“The truth is,” Davidson said, “we appreciate any and all support.”

If your business wishes to join this initiative you may contact the Wales Community Pantry at 413-245-0055 or via email at walescommunitypantry@gmail.com.

Council hears from landlord on plans

CORRESPONDENT

SOUTHBRIDGE — One of the town's more recent large property owners took center stage at the last Town Council meeting, as White Paper Strategies' Chris Morgan laid out his thoughts on rental property management.

He said his firm targets “distressed buildings” others tend to avoid “to bring unoccupied units [back] onto the market.” The overall goal is to provide “good tenants in, good tenants out, and a good experience for everybody from the beginning,” he said, noting his target tenants “gainfully employed and safe” with good background checks and no prior evictions, he claimed.

“If you're a bad landlord, it's not a surprise you get bad tenants,” Morgan said. “It's a two-way street.”

The firm currently owns more than 300 properties in Central Mass. Among them are 124 residential and commercial units in Southbridge at five locations – 37 Central, 295, 344 and 395 Main, and four buildings at the corner of Oliver and Hamilton – with its office at 395 Main, he said.

To describe his redevelopment concept, Morgan showed a few photos of a site in Worcester he said had 14 percent occupancy when he bought it and visibly needed repairs. “The buildings we acquired [here] were not even close to that,” he said, meaning in worse condition (although he noted the Oliver property was in good shape). He described most of his buildings as “so under duress that they can't even have 100 percent occupancy” due to various code violations when he buys them. Some of them have been condemned, but can't be demolished because they're historical, he noted.

Among other things, he said he wants to “protect the historical uniqueness” of Southbridge and restore kinds of retail that aren't available online to Main Street.

While councilors were generally receptive to his presentation, there were some questions. George Chenier expressed concern that development might “create a vacuum and put the disadvantaged out on the street” and wants to ensure there's a plan for seniors and low income people. He pointed to the fact Lebanon Hill Apartments (aka TAG) sold not long ago for $7.1 million and is again on the market, after rent hikes on its senior residents. He also cited another recent large purchase where “numerous” callers told him they'd received rent hikes of “$1000 above what they were paying.”

Morgan said he sets rents based on the HUD fair market value, meaning 40 percent of the regional median income. Some are Section 8, and rents are $1100 for one bedroom, $1300 for two and $1600 for three.

“We want to add units, not make them more expensive,” he claimed, later noting he'd like to make some of the second-floor downtown commercial spaces residential.

He said they have evicted a few people, mostly at the Whitford building because they found “illegal paraphernalia,” but generally try to avoid doing so. In some cases, they've let tenants' leases run out and didn't renew them. But if the tenant's good, he said they move them into a different apartment while renovating theirs.

To Steve Kelly, “the more housing you have out on the market, the price will stabilize.” But our town has seen “no new construction,” which he argued “has a lot to do with over-regulation.”

By coincidence, this presentation happened the same week as the first Housing Production Plan forum; see related story for details.

After Morgan spoke, the council got a mouthful from resident Zach Lavergne about the schools. Specifically, he ripped into the relatively recent contract with High Road Schools to run the “substantially separate” program at the Academy and elementary schools for kids with “Social-emotional behavioral difficulties.”

Lavergne said HRS requires students to be scanned by metal detectors, take off shoes, and lock up phones and backpacks to go to class, describing that as “an unjust policy that our general education students are not subjected to [and] disability-based discrimination.”

Noting three of his four kids have disabilities and that he works in the mental health field, he decried that as a “flagrant violation of their civil rights” and potentially puts kids into “the school to prison pipeline.”

The council generally didn't comment on Lavergne's statement, but Kelly later thanked him during Councilors' Forum. He said the receivership has been “extremely frustrating for us as councilors.” Noting he's a defense attorney, he agreed with Lavergne's “prison pipeline” reference. Without a high school education, “your chances of winding up in the criminal justice system are exponentially higher,” he said.

In other business, the council approved a few grants, including one that will hire a two-year staff person to promote weatherization and related energy efficiency, and another that will fund buying a new airport mower. A third was an “Expression of Interest” for a second-round Municipal Vulnerability grant to analyze the condition of public and private dams and levees around town.

Additionally, Manager Jack Jovan said the town's electricity aggregation program bids came in, with the low bidder being Direct Energy at about 13 cents/kWh. The town also received grants for a few ongoing projects, including $50,000 for a Mill Street brownfield study, $226,549 for four energy projects at various buildings, and the state's Municipal Pavement Program agreement, by which the state will repave more than three miles each of Route 169 and 198 at no cost to the town.

Housing

you'd like to see in this town” and to define “an appropriate range of housing options” that work for Southbridge.

This is the town's first such plan, aimed at setting a “numerical target goal” of construction that specifically meets the state's definition of affordable housing over the next five years. Generally, that means rents that are deed-restricted and/or subsidized to be no more than 30 percent of the tenant's income, based on the area median income. Exactly what the region is was somewhat unclear, but other sources have defined it as the county. Glaubitz said tenants can qualify if they make up to 80 percent of the median income ($117,300), with “low income” defined as 50 percent of that, and “extremely low” as 30 percent.

Glaubitz showed some data slides regarding Southbridge conditions. The 2022 median income was $55,182, but median single-family home cost was $325,000. Among those figures were that about 60 percent of our housing stock is multi-family, 44 percent was built before 1950 and the same percentage is owner-occupied, and the average rent is $1679. Median income for renters is $35,564, but for owners is $94,092; 17.9 percent live below the poverty level (several people thought that figure was too low).

“Median household income really hasn't changed that much in the last 12 years,” but house prices have more than doubled, Glaubitz observed.

By those criteria, Southbridge's current housing stock sits at 4.9 percent “affordable” – 385 units – with the state goal of 10 percent, meaning the town needs to add 402 units. She noted that does not take into account Section 8 homes or any unsubsidized low-rent housing that already exists, but it can include subsidized housing of both public and private ownership.

Resident Mike Segarra noted Southbridge was told years ago it would “get a new high rise every year” to address housing needs, but that hasn't happened. (He was referring to the Quinebaug Plaza building, a publicly-owned apartment complex run by the town's Housing Authority.)

Several participants agreed a key method of addressing housing needs would be to build more public housing. Other suggestions included restoring the ability to do rent control (which would require overturning a state constitutional amendment from the 1990s), allowing more “accessory dwelling units” (aka “in-law apartments” that state law recently made a “by-right” use in single family districts), or changing tax law to increase rates on commercial apartment buildings and vacancies.

Regarding the latter, Sue Starkey said the law should require landlords to use their income to maintain their properties, not just pocket it. Often, the town can't get issues fixed because they can't find the landlords, who own properties through LLCs and other shell companies.

CMRPC's Joe Sziabowski said that'd have “a whole Board of Health angle to that,” and landlords could either comply with state subsidized-housing rules or build “good housing that doesn't necessarily comply.”

Starkey also later noted housing availability can expand by increasing any local limits on how many unrelated people can live together. She dubbed that a “golden girls” apartment, after the famous TV series.

According to the town zoning bylaws, Sec 10, the limit is somewhat vague. A “boarding house” is limited to four unrelated people, but other kinds of homes seem to fall under this definition – “Family: Any number of persons related to one another by blood, marriage, or adoption, all residing together as a single integral housekeeping unit; or not more than three unrelated persons residing together as a single, integral housekeeping unit.” The “not more than three” has been struck through on the Web site as a proposed change, but that has not yet gone to public hearing or Town Council for approval.

To Karen Salides, two key issues are that “we just had an influx of immigrants last year” and that there's been a “decline in the younger age groups while the baby boomer group is increasing.” In Southbridge, the median age has risen from 35.8 to 38.9 since 2000, but nearby towns have risen even more. There, median age is now in the low 40s.

The two forums are just part of a year-long planning process. The survey is still open in both paper and online versions; a draft of survey results to date is on the town's Web site. Early next year, Glaubitz plans to submit the plan to the Planning Board and Town Council for approval, after which it goes to the state.

More details, including the survey, are available at <https://southbridge.civilspace.io/en/projects/housing-production-plan>.

different motions were $200,000 for structural repairs to the historic #2 Schoolhouse, $250,000 for the townwide radio system project, $50,000 for improvements at the Town Hall, $80,000 for technology upgrades, $10,000 for design plans for the library generator, and $50,000 for the Fire Pond/Cistern Pipe and Screen Replacement project.

The article also approved $285,000 from free cash replacement firearms and the replacement of several cruisers in the police department. The motion was worded to include leases as the Police Department explores a new hybrid purchasing model involving leasing some vehicles while continuing to purchase cruisers. Other allocations included $75,000 for the Fire Station Alerting System for Station 1 and $407,500 from free cash for several DPW investments including three vehicles and repairs to the salt shed roof as well as $550,000 from retained earnings for two sewer projects, the North Main Street Pump Station upgrades and the Plant Head Works Project. Closing out the financial items in the warrant were a request to replace Fire Department Engine 2 which was tabled until the Annual Town Meeting in May and $700,000 moved from free cash to the Stabilization Fund.

The remaining articles of the night involved proposed bylaw changes, starting with an amendment to Chapter 115, the numbering of buildings. The change was proposed by the Building Commissioner to amend the bylaw to allow the Board of Selectmen to approve policies determining the schema for assigning numbers to buildings and properties. The approval at town meeting now allows the town's highest elected board to establish a numbering system for new buildings or house number changes to better assist emergency officials in locating or identifying homes without the confusion from redundant numbers and sub-letters or repetitive number schemes of roadways with similar names. Articles 8 and 9 were Zoning Bylaw revisions, the first seeking to change 98 Northside Road to an agriculture and rural residential lot. With Article 8's approval, Article 9 then removed 98 Northside Rd., along with 92 and 106 Northside Rd. from the wireless telecommunication overlay district. The final article of the night was a Zoning Bylaw amendment for the Subdivision Proposals section that fixes a clerical error in the floodplain overlay district.

traditions that make the season truly special,” said Rhys Simmons, Director of Interpretation at Old Sturbridge Village. “Our goal is to transport you back in time with an experience that delights all the senses. Picture twinkling lights adorning the trees, the enticing aromas and flavors of mulled cider and freshly baked gingerbread, and the familiar sounds of holiday carols echoing all around.”

This year's Christmas by Candlelight will feature an array of live entertainment, including historical performances and readings of Christmas tales for children. New this year is “Upon a Midnight Clear – An Acoustic New England Christmas,” a musical journey showcasing local artists reinterpreting classic carols.

In addition to the festivities, guests can explore the origins of classic traditions such as nutcrackers and gingerbread, along with a remarkable miniature nativity scene featuring more than 600 pieces. The Richardson House will showcase Italian Christmas customs. There will also be plenty of opportunities for holiday shopping at the Miner Grant Store and the Ox & Yoke Mercantile.

“This event has become a tradition for so many guests year after year, and many families look forward to it as the highlight of their holiday season,” continued Simmons. “We invite everyone to experience the joy of the season, relish in classic traditions, and create new memories with loved ones this winter at Christmas by Candlelight.”

Christmas by Candlelight is made possible by our generous sponsors: Cornerstone Bank, Country Bank, G&F Precision Molding, and Southbridge Credit Union. For more information on tickets and full event details, visit the Old Sturbridge Village website.

Jumpin’ Juba to perform at Jacob Edwards Library

SOUTHBRIDGE — JUMPIN’ JUBA, a Boston-based blues and roots music group, will perform a concert at the Jacob Edwards Memorial Library on Thursday, Nov. 14 at 6:30 p.m.

JUMPIN’ JUBA has played over one thousand shows in Massachusetts since its formation in 1998. The group is led by Steve Hurl, whose finger-style electric guitar skills, blues-inflected vocals, songwriting and arranging give the band much of its flavor.

The hour-long show at Jacob Edwards Library will feature both classic American blues and country, early rock & roll, and occasional Latin and Caribbean grooves. More info about the band and links to video clips can be found at www.stevehurl.com bassist Dave Lockertetz and Jumpin’ Juba’s longtime drummer Brian Flan.

Jacob Edwards Library is located at 236 Main St., Southbridge, MA 01550. Their phone number is 508-764-5426.

The concert is funded by a grant from the Southbridge Cultural Council, which is part of the Massachusetts Cultural Council.
