Shepherd Hill students hosting Tackle the Stigma 5K to promote mental health awareness

CHARLTON — The Shepherd Hill Regional High School cheerleading program, in partnership with the Dudley-Charlton Regional School District community, is inviting residents to lace up their running shoes and help break down barriers surrounding mental health during the annual Tackle the Stigma 5K and 2.5K Walk/Run on Saturday, Sept. 27.

The event will begin at 10 a.m. at the Shepherd Hill football field and is designed to raise awareness about mental health and mental wellness while encouraging open conversations throughout the local community.

Organizers hope participants of all ages will come together to demonstrate support for those facing mental health challenges and reinforce the message that no one has to struggle alone.

"This event is very important to us as we work to raise awareness about mental health and mental wellness throughout our local community," organizers said in announcing the event.

The walk and run carries the theme, "Run toward awareness, stand up for support, and tackle the stigma one mile at a time," reflecting its focus on education, compassion and community involvement.

Mental health advocates continue to emphasize the importance of reducing the stigma surrounding anxiety, depression and other mental health conditions, which can often prevent individuals from seeking help. Community events such as Tackle the Stigma aim to create a welcoming environment where conversations about mental wellness are encouraged and support resources are highlighted.

In addition to providing an opportunity for exercise and community engagement, the event serves as a reminder that mental health is an important part of overall well-being. Organizers hope the day will inspire participants to check in with friends, family members and neighbors while promoting a culture of understanding and acceptance.

The Shepherd Hill cheerleaders have made mental health awareness a priority, using the event to unite students, families, educators and community members around a common cause. By bringing together participants from across Dudley, Charlton and surrounding communities, they hope to build momentum for ongoing conversations that extend well beyond race day.

Whether participants choose the full 5-kilometer course or the shorter 2.5-kilometer walk/run, organizers say every step represents a commitment to supporting mental wellness and reminding those who may be struggling that help is available.

Registration information and additional event details are expected to be available through Shepherd Hill Regional High School and the Dudley-Charlton Regional School District as the event approaches.

Frisbie's Dairy Barn to celebrate National Ice Cream Day with 24 hours of scooping!

STURBRIDGE — In honor of National Ice Cream Day on Sunday, July 19, Frisbie's Dairy Barn is taking on its biggest celebration yet: keeping all six locations open for 24 consecutive hours. The walk up window at 195 Charlton Rd. will hold its first ever 24 hour celebration!

From breakfast-inspired ice cream flavors, limited-edition flavors and surprises throughout the day, guests are invited to celebrate the sweetest holiday of the year anytime—morning, noon, or midnight.

"It's a celebration of everything we love about ice cream throughout the year- you may also see some seasonal favorites reappear for one day only!" said co-owner Kendra Walker. "You'll have to stop by to check out exactly what we've got going on!"

What began as a fun tradition at Frisbie's original New Britain location in 2021 has grown into an annual celebration that customers look forward to each year. Now in its sixth year, the tradition has expanded alongside the company's growth, with all Frisbie's locations participating in the 24-hour event for the first time. We will open at midnight into Sunday morning and stay open until 11:59 p.m.

"We're attempting something that nobody has done before—operating all six of our locations for 24 straight hours," said owner Paul Parks III, who came up with the idea 6 years ago. "It's a huge undertaking, but it's a celebration worthy of ice cream. National Ice Cream Day is our favorite holiday, and we can't think of a better way to celebrate with our communities."

Participating locations include New Britain, Windsor, East Lyme, West Hartford, North Attleboro, and Sturbridge.

For updates and event details, follow @FrisbiesDairyBarn on Instagram.

Recently, three members of the Charlton Fire Department completed a three-day Boat Operator Course conducted by the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers. The course provided members with the essential knowledge and hands-on skills needed to safely trailer, launch, recover, and operate the Department's boat during emergency situations. Marine 1 is frequently deployed in support of dive team operations, water rescues, searches, and other emergencies on or near the water. This training helps ensure our members are prepared to operate safely and effectively when called upon. We thank the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers for continuing to provide this valuable training and for allowing Charlton Fire Department members to attend each year. Cooper Way of Charlton graduates from Eastern Connecticut State University WILLIMANTIC, Conn. — More than 800 Eastern Connecticut State University students received undergraduate and graduate degrees in the 2025-26 academic year, culminating this past May in two commencement ceremonies at the conclusion of the spring 2026 semester.

Cooper Way of Charlton graduated with a Bachelor of Arts in English.

From first-generation college students to seasoned professionals pursuing advanced degrees, the Class of 2026 hails from nearly all of Connecticut's 169 towns, 24 U.S. states, and 28 foreign countries. The graduates range in age from 19 to 81, with 28% being the first in their families to graduate from college and 11 percent being NCAA Division III student athletes. Women make up 60% of the class, and approximately 30% of students identify as people of color.

The graduates went through the University's School of Arts and Sciences, School of Education and Professional Studies, and Graduate Division. Popular undergraduate majors included business administration, psychology, English, health sciences, and art. At the graduate level, students received advanced degrees in applied data science, management, accounting, education (early childhood, elementary, secondary), special education, and educational studies/technology.

During her keynote speech at the undergraduate commencement ceremony, Beth Regan '79, justice and chairwoman of the Mohegan Tribal Council of Elders, urged the graduates to be flexible as they enter their careers. "The universe may have other plans," she said. "When those moments are presented to you, embrace them. If you allow yourself that flexibility, you may experience the best adventure you never could have imagined."

President Karim Ismaili offered his congratulations to the Class of 2026. "What you have accomplished is no small thing," he told the graduates. "You have navigated deadlines and exams, long nights and early mornings, work, family responsibilities, leadership roles, internships, athletics, and all the unexpected realities of life."

U.S. Senator Richard Blumenthal was among the special guests. "We live in difficult, sometimes dark and daunting, times. ... We have been through tough times before. We are a resolute and resilient nation, and it is you whose service and dedication will help get us through."

During his remarks at the graduate ceremony, World Bank Executive Harold Tavares, recipient of Eastern's second annual Distinguished Public Service Award, told the graduates to lead with courage and to pave the way for others. Reminding them that they are in the minority of Americans with an advanced degree, he said, "Doors are opening for you. Be sure to hold them open for those around you. Each of you has the power - and the responsibility - to improve the human condition."

Eastern alumnus James Woulfe '09, chief of staff for the mayor of the City of Hartford, welcomed the graduates to the University's alumni family. He reminded the graduates that they are not alone on this journey. "Tonight, you become a part of the Eastern alumni family. Stay connected. Lean on one another, and lean on us."

Community Broadband Networks and Massachusetts Broadband Institute announce launch of high-speed Internet initiative in South Worcester County

SOUTHBRIDGE — Community Broadband Networks (“CBN”), funded by the Massachusetts Broadband Institute (MBI), a division of the Massachusetts Technology Collaborative (MassTech), is pleased to announce the launch of its project within the Residential Retrofit Program, bringing affordable, high-speed fiber internet service to residents across South Worcester County. The initiative formally commenced with a Go-Live event on June 17, 2026, at 60 Charlton Street in Southbridge, the first property to receive CBN service under this transformative program.

Supported by funding from the Commonwealth of Massachusetts through the American Rescue Plan Act’s Capital Projects Fund, the Residential Retrofit Program is designed to deliver reliable, gigabit-capable broadband infrastructure to underserved multi-dwelling communities. This investment represents a significant step forward in expanding digital access and ensuring that residents in historically underserved areas have the connectivity necessary to participate fully in today’s digital economy.

The June 17 Go-Live event celebrated the activation of service at the Southbridge Housing Authority property located at 60 Charlton Street. Residents had the opportunity to learn more about available service offerings, engage directly with the CBN team, and take advantage of early enrollment opportunities. The event also served as a community gathering to mark the beginning of a broader effort to modernize connectivity throughout the region.

“This launch represents a meaningful milestone not only for Southbridge, but for the entire region,” said James Orioli, Chief Operating Officer of Community Broadband Networks. “Our mission is to ensure that reliable, high-speed internet is both accessible and affordable for all residents. Through our partnership with MBI, we are proud to deliver critical infrastructure that will support education, workforce development, healthcare access, and overall quality of life for the communities we serve.”

cape-to-margaritaville The cast includes: Andrew St. George, Sarah Tonkin, Jonathan Martin, Abi Simpson, Billy Bolster, Gwen O’Brien, Peter Amaral, Chris Lam, Asher McCoy, Shawn Davis, Hillary Robertson, David Yutzler, Ray Petrelli, Cheri Cooper, Mari Cordero, Emma Holtz, Tiffany Betty, and Lydia Woznicki.

On a small island in the Caribbean, vacation goes and the laid-back staff of the Margaritaville bar flirt, unwind and sip drinks under the sun. When an ambitious tourist named Rachel arrives with her friend Tammy for a much-needed vacation, she finds an unexpected romance with Tully, the island bartender and musician. As paradise collides with real life, both are faced with deciding what they want beyond the sandy beaches of Margaritaville. This tropical romantic comedy has plenty to laugh at and a sweet love story – all underscored by Jimmy Buffett’s classic tunes, including “Cheeseburger in Paradise,” “Margaritaville,” “It’s Five O’Clock Somewhere,” “Fins,” “Volcano,” and many more. With a book by Emmy Award winner Greg Garcia (My Name is Earl, Raising Hope) and Emmy nominee Mike O’Malley (Survivor’s Remorse, Shameless), this hilarious, heart-warming musical is the party you’ve been waiting for!

The 60 Charlton St. deployment represents the first phase of a broader infrastructure initiative that will extend throughout South Worcester County, including communities such as Southbridge, Charlton, Sturbridge, Oxford, Webster, and surrounding areas. Construction across the project footprint is scheduled to occur through July 2026, with phased service activations continuing thereafter as each location is completed.

As part of the Residential Retrofit Program, CBN is deploying a fiber-to-the-premises network architecture within participating properties, enabling residents to access high-capacity, low-latency broadband service. The network is designed to deliver symmetrical gigabit speeds, with scalability to support future increases in demand. In addition to infrastructure improvements, the program includes a strong emphasis on digital equity, ensuring that residents have not only access to service, but also the tools and support necessary to fully benefit from connectivity.

“Through the Residential Retrofit Program, MBI is providing affordable and reliable access to help residents gain digital skills, apply for jobs and access community resources,” said MBI Director Michael Baldino. “Our partnership with CBN across South Worcester County will uplift historically marginalized communities, narrowing the digital divide and expanding economic opportunity in the region.”

The project includes enhancements to in-building infrastructure, expanded connectivity to individual residential units, and improvements to shared spaces to support reliable internet access throughout each property. These investments are intended to create a long-term, sustainable broadband solution that meets the needs of residents today while preparing communities for the future.

The Go-Live event at 60 Charlton Street marks the beginning of this broader regional deployment and underscores the shared commitment of CBN and MBI to closing the digital divide across Massachusetts.

Community members interested in learning more about the service or upcoming availability are encouraged to contact Community Broadband Networks for additional information.

About Community Broadband Networks (CBN)

Community Broadband Networks is dedicated to expanding access to reliable, affordable broadband services in underserved and unserved communities. Through strategic partnerships and investment in modern infrastructure, CBN delivers high-quality connectivity solutions that support economic development, education, and community growth.

About the Massachusetts Broadband Institute at MassTech

A division of the Massachusetts Technology Collaborative, the Massachusetts Broadband Institute (MBI) is working to extend high-speed internet access and availability across the state. To achieve this, MBI uses state and federal funding to launch infrastructure expansion programs that target areas of the state that lack high-speed internet access as well as digital equity programs that tackle barriers to internet adoption and increase availability, addressing critical issues around affordability, enhanced public Wi-Fi, the need for internet-enabled devices, and digital literacy training.

Investigation leads to Charlton man’s arrest

CHARLTON — On Wednesday, July 1, members of the Charlton Police Department assisted the Massachusetts State Police in the execution of a search warrant and an arrest warrant on Dresser Hill Road in the Town of Charlton.

The warrant stemmed from an investigation conducted by the Portsmouth, R.I. Police Department, with assistance from several units of the Massachusetts State Police, including the Cyber Crimes Unit, the Special Tactical Operations Team, and Crime Scene Services.

As a result of the investigation, a 25-year-old Charlton man was arrested without incident at the Massachusetts State Police Barracks in Sturbridge on charges originating in Rhode Island. He was arraigned later that day in Dudley District Court. The individual also faces Massachusetts charges resulting from the execution of the search warrant.

The individual arrested in connection with this investigation is presumed innocent until proven guilty in a court of law.

Tackling the stigma starts with showing up

Mental health can be difficult to talk about, especially for young people. Too often, those who are struggling remain silent because they fear judgment, embarrassment or the possibility that others will not understand.

That is why the Tackle the Stigma 5K and 2.5K Walk/Run at Shepherd Hill Regional High School deserves broad community support.

The event, organized by the Shepherd Hill cheerleaders and the Dudley-Charlton Regional School District community, will begin at 10 a.m. Sept. 27 at the Shepherd Hill football field. Its message is simple and important: Run toward awareness, stand up for support and tackle the stigma one mile at a time.

That message matters because stigma remains one of the most stubborn barriers to mental health care. A person may recognize that something is wrong yet hesitate to speak up out of concern about how friends, classmates, co-workers or relatives will respond. Even when support is available, shame and fear can keep people from reaching for it.

Community events cannot solve every mental health challenge. They can, however, change the atmosphere in which those challenges are discussed.

When students, parents, educators, coaches and residents gather for a shared purpose, they send a public message that mental wellness is not a private failure or a source of shame. It is part of overall health, and it deserves the same seriousness and compassion as any physical condition.

The leadership shown by Shepherd Hill students is especially encouraging. Young people often understand the pressures facing their peers in ways adults do not. Academic expectations, athletics, social media, family responsibilities and uncertainty about the future can create burdens that are difficult to see from the outside.

By putting their name and energy behind this event, the cheerleaders are doing more than organizing a walk and run. They are helping create permission for honest conversations. That may be the most valuable result of all.

A student who hears classmates speak openly about mental wellness may feel less alone. A parent may recognize the importance of checking in with a child. A teacher or coach may become more attentive to changes in behavior. A friend may find the courage to ask a difficult but necessary question.

Those moments can matter greatly.

The community also has a responsibility to make sure that support for mental health does not end when the event is over. Awareness must be followed by action. Families should learn where local resources are available. Schools should continue fostering environments where students feel safe asking for help. Adults should model language that is compassionate rather than dismissive.

Most of all, people should listen.

There is a tendency to believe that the right response to someone who is struggling is to offer quick advice or reassurance. Often, the more helpful response is to give that person time, attention and the confidence that their concerns are being taken seriously.

The Tackle the Stigma event is an opportunity for Dudley, Charlton and surrounding communities to demonstrate that kind of support publicly. Participants do not need to be competitive runners. They do not need to have personal experience with a mental health condition. They only need to understand that building a healthier community requires empathy and participation.

Showing up at Shepherd Hill on Sept. 27 will not erase stigma overnight. It will, however, add another voice to the growing recognition that mental health deserves openness, respect and sustained community attention.

Every mile walked or run will carry the same message: No one should have to struggle in silence, and no one should be made to feel ashamed for asking for help.

OPINION

Debunking five common Social Security myths

Social Security is often one of the most important income sources in retirement. Yet widespread myths about how it works can lead to confusion, unnecessary worry and poor planning decisions. Here's the truth behind five of the most common misconceptions.

Myth 1: Social Security is going broke. You've probably heard this one, but the full picture is more nuanced. According to the 2026 Social Security Board of Trustees Report, if Congress does nothing, the program would need to reduce benefits starting in 2032, paying roughly 78 cents for every dollar owed.

But that's just one scenario. Congress could raise the combined payroll tax from 12.4% to 16.65%, which the trustees estimate would secure full benefits through 2100. Other options include eliminating the earnings cap subject to payroll tax or adjusting retirement ages. Lawmakers have tools to address this.

Myth 2: Social Security will cover all your retirement needs. Think of Social Security as a financial foundation, not the full building. According to the Social Security Administration, benefits replace only about 40 percent of pre-retirement income for a median earner. That means you'll likely need to account for most of your retirement income yourself. Building a strong personal savings strategy now can help close that gap.

Myth 3: You lose benefits permanently if you keep working. Not true. Social Security does have an "earnings test" that can temporarily reduce benefits for people who claim early and keep working. If your earnings exceed a set annual cap – which changes each year – Social Security will withhold a portion of your benefits. But once you reach full retirement age, the Social Security Administration adjusts your monthly check higher to repay those withheld amounts over time.

Myth 4: An ex-spouse's benefits come out of your own.

FINANCIAL

NIELSEN

If you were married for at least 10 years and are currently unmarried, your former spouse may be eligible to collect on your earnings record, or you may be able to collect on theirs. Divorced spouse benefits can be up to 50 percent of the other person's full retirement benefit. But those payments don't affect yours. Your monthly benefit is not reduced by anything paid to an ex-spouse or even a current spouse.

Myth 5: Social Security benefits are no longer taxed. Recent legislation caused some confusion here. The One Big Beautiful Bill Act did not eliminate taxes on Social Security benefits. If your combined income exceeds certain thresholds, you'll still owe taxes on a portion of your benefits.

The law also created a temporary deduction (available through 2028) for people 65 and older. Eligible taxpayers can deduct $6,000 per qualifying filer if their modified adjusted gross income is $75,000 or less for singles or $150,000 for couples. The deduction phases out at $175,000 for singles and $250,000 for joint filers.

The more you understand Social Security, the more control you have over your retirement outcome. Grounding your decisions in facts rather than assumptions can make a meaningful difference in your long-term financial security.

The last place you can still wander

LANTERNS ALONG MAIN STREET

By CHARLES

There are fewer and fewer places these days where you can simply wander.

Everything seems to have a purpose now. We drive to the store because we need something. We head to work because we have to. Even a walk is often measured by a smartwatch that reminds us how many steps we've taken, how fast we walked and whether our heart rate was acceptable. Somehow we've managed to turn wandering into another assignment.

But every once in a while, I find myself in an old hardware store.

Not one of the giant warehouse places where you need a map to find a box of screws. I mean the kind of hardware store with wooden floors that creak just enough to let everyone know you've arrived. The place where shovels stand in one corner, fishing lures somehow occupy another, and there's always a mysterious shelf full of oddball parts that haven't changed since the Reagan administration.

I never get through one of those stores in less than half an hour. It's impossible.

You walk in looking for a hose washer, and suddenly you're examining cast-iron hooks that would look good in the garage. Then you notice birdseed on sale. Around the corner is a display of flashlights that makes you wonder if yours still works. Before long you're comparing paintbrushes even though you haven't painted anything in years.

None of it is urgent. None of it was on the list. That's the beauty of it.

When I was younger, I thought efficiency was the goal. Get in, get out, cross another errand off the list. Now I'm beginning to appreciate places that don't rush you.

The best hardware stores aren't really selling tools. They're selling possibilities.

You start imagining projects you'll probably never tackle. Maybe this is finally the year you'll repair that loose porch step. Perhaps you'll organize the workshop. You stand there holding a packet of vegetable seeds, briefly convinced you're about to become the sort of fellow who grows prize-winning tomatoes.

Then your wife gently reminds you that the last basil plant barely survived because you kept forgetting to water it. She's usually right.

What I enjoy most, though, are the conversations. Someone asks where to find a particular bolt, and another customer answers before an employee has the chance. Advice travels up and down the aisles as naturally as if everyone were old neighbors. Nobody seems bothered by the interruption. That doesn't happen very often anymore.

In most places, people stare at their phones while waiting in line. At the hardware store, they're debating the best way to remove a stripped screw or whether oil-based stain still beats the newer products. Somehow complete strangers become temporary teammates, united by whatever stubborn home repair brought them there.

I suspect that's one reason these stores have survived when so many small businesses haven't. They offer something that can't be delivered to your front porch in two days. They offer human nature.

Of course, I rarely leave with only what I intended to buy. Somehow a five-dollar errand becomes a small bag full of things that "might come in handy someday." My garage is living proof that someday hasn't arrived yet. Still, I don't regret it.

Those little detours through the aisles remind me that not every minute needs to be optimized. Not every trip needs to be timed. Sometimes it's enough simply to wander, discover something unexpected, exchange a few words with a stranger and head home feeling like the afternoon was well spent. That's getting harder to find.

So if you happen to disappear for a while on a Saturday morning, don't worry if you haven't traveled very far. You might just be wandering through the last place where nobody expects you to be in a hurry.

And honestly, I think we could all use a little more of that.

Drought conditions prompt water restrictions

SOUTHBRIDGE/CHARLTON — The Massachusetts Drought Task for issues a Level -2 Significant Drought status for Worcester County. The Town of Southbridge now has to require that all Southbridge and Charlton water customers refrain from all outside water use except for handheld watering between the hours of 5 and 9 p.m. Please turn off all outside sprinkler systems.

This declaration from the State also applies to homes with private wells.

Certain water uses are not subject to restrictions such as production of food and fiber, health and safety reasons, maintenance of livestock, and core functions of a business (for example irrigation for a nursery).

For the general public's information, Currently the Southbridge Water Departments reservoir system is at 100.1 percent of total capacity. This is within our historical average for this time of year.

The declaration is a county wide declaration, and not due to any current water storage shortfalls within the Southbridge Water Department. This declaration is part of new laws and regulations put forth by the State legislature, and enforcement went into effect in April of 2025.

To be clear, the Southbridge Water department is not experiencing any water storage shortages currently.

The declaration of Level- 2 significant drought will remain in effect until the State Drought Task Force deems that the conditions within Worcester Country have returned to acceptable levels.

More information can be found at <https://www.mass.gov/orgs/drought-management-task-force>

Please feel free to contact the Southbridge Water Department at 508-764-3207 if you have any questions or concerns.

He is survived by his wife Susan Perry, his children Marc Perry and wife Deb of Monson, MA, Crystal Palomino and husband Dan of Saint Petersburg, FL, and Brian Kerns and wife Stephanie of Nampa, ID. His grandchildren Kassandra Perry, Devaney Kerns, Kassidy Collins, Kyler Kerns, Kaetlynn Kerns, JK Kerns, and Briana Palomino (RIP). His siblings Louise Perry of Southbridge, Paul Perry and wife Diane of Dudley, MA, Jeanne Lynskey and husband Paul of Hampton, NH, and many nieces and nephews as well as his beloved dogs Charlie and Hank.

A celebration of life will be planned by his family at a later date. In lieu of flowers, donations can be made in his memory to Pinellas County Humane Society. https://humanesocietytampabay.org/

Bay Path celebrates 59 CTI graduates, expands workforce training programs

CHARLTON — Bay Path Regional Vocational Technical High School proudly celebrated the graduation of 59 students from its Career Technical Initiative (CTI) program last evening, marking a significant milestone in the program's continued growth and impact.

The CTI program, launched in 2024, provides adult learners with access to high-quality, hands-on technical training designed to meet regional workforce demands. Last night's graduates represent a diverse group of individuals who demonstrated dedication, perseverance, and a strong commitment to building new career pathways. Many balanced work, family, and personal responsibilities while completing rigorous 200-hour training programs that prepare them for immediate employment in high-demand industries.

"This graduating class represents the heart of what the CTI program is all about—opportunity, access, and workforce readiness," said Marci Komssi, Program Coordinator. "We are incredibly proud of these 59 graduates and the determination they demonstrated throughout the program."

The success of the CTI program is made possible through continued state investment and workforce development partnerships. As part of the Commonwealth's commitment to economic recovery and growth, $24.2 million was awarded to 23 organizations throughout Massachusetts to train 2,490 individuals. These strategic investments, led by the Massachusetts Workforce Skills Cabinet, are designed to expand access to career pathway programs and better position residents to fill critical workforce needs across the state.

Building on this momentum, Bay Path is expanding its program offerings to reach even more adult learners. For the first time, the school will offer a 200-hour Building Maintenance program in a five-week hybrid summer format, running from June 29 through July 31. This program is offered in partnership with MassHire, with applications opening this week.

Looking ahead to Fall 2026, Bay Path will offer nine CTI programs, further increasing access to career training opportunities. These programs include:

- Building Maintenance
- HVAC
- Culinary
- Manufacturing
- Auto Collision
- Auto Technology
- Diesel Mechanic

- Welding
- Electrical

Since its inception, the CTI program has continued to expand in both enrollment and program diversity, attracting students from local communities as well as across the region. The program remains a critical component of Bay Path's efforts to support workforce development and provide meaningful career pathways for adult learners.

For more information about the CTI program or to apply for upcoming opportunities, please contact Marci Komssi at mkomssi@bay-path.net.

QCC professor gives voice to formerly incarcerated in new documentary

WORCESTER — What is it like to get out of prison and start over? QCC Professor of Criminal Justice Kristy Glover spent her sabbatical researching this question and creating “Voices of Justice,” a documentary film that she produced, filmed and edited herself.

“Voice of Justice” features accounts from three men who have firsthand experience with the justice system. The documentary highlights how multiple support systems are critical for re-entry, the period of time when individuals are transitioning out of incarceration. Support from family members, community organizations and probation officers, along with raising awareness to reduce stigma, were all mentioned as ways to reduce recidivism and influence personal and professional growth.

“There are so many things that we expect of individuals when they’re just getting released. They have to get a job, pay their monthly supervision fees and find a place to live,” Glover said.

Glover witnessed the re-entry process during her time as a parole officer for the state of Georgia, but the connection is also personal. Her grandfather encountered challenges when he was released from prison, which left a lasting impression on the family, including Glover’s mother, who also joined law enforcement, eventually becoming a police captain.

In the documentary, Glover interviews Mario Rivera, who spoke about his own re-entry experience vice and includes multiple certifications upon successful completion. In “Voices of Justice,” Rivera shared that during the program, he realized education was a vital part of his path to a new future. After his release, he enrolled at QCC and in the Liberal Arts for Returning Citizens (LARC) program at Clark University.

“The culinary program has had a significant impact on hundreds of incarcerated individuals,” said Worcester County Sheriff Lew Evangelidis. “We are proud to have helped Mario build a successful path forward after incarceration.”

Anthony Bryant, who also appeared in “Voices of Justice,” has seen multiple sides of the criminal justice system. Before he was incarcerated, he held roles as a corrections officer, a deputy sheriff and a highway patrolman.

“Law enforcement is not just a job; it’s your identity. And losing that role can produce deep internal shame,” Bryant shared.

Bryant, however, drew on his law enforcement training to stay calm and focused during his incarceration, using that discipline as a foundation for working to improve his life. As his release date approached, he didn’t receive any re-entry preparation from the prison, so he got ready by reading self-help books and journaling.

After his sentence, Bryant relied on employment assistance programs, but he was often steered into manual labor positions that didn’t reflect his skills, making it difficult to rebuild his professional career.

In addition to family and community programs, both Bryant and Rivera said that a strong relationship with a probation or parole officer can make a positive difference. They noted that the stigma of having a criminal record can be detrimental to progress, but even one person who sees past their mistakes can be instrumental. They hope others can offer the same grace to those who are going through re-entry.

“People change when their dignity is restored, responsibility is entrusted gradually and their story is allowed to mean something more than their worst decision,” Bryant remarked. “It’s a mindset shift that many people and legislators don’t understand.”

Rivera and Bryant have also taken it upon themselves to help others with similar experiences. Bryant has become an ethics trainer for law enforcement and other public service organizations. Rivera has stayed connected with Legendary Legacies to educate others and advocate for those in the re-entry process.

“I’m taking accountability in my own life for the things that I’ve done,” Rivera said. “Some people might not be receptive to my situation, but I take it as motivation to do better.”

“Voices of Justice” can be viewed at youtube.com/watch?v=odTT-0Stx3Tg.

BHS Class of 1986 seeks community’s help locating classmates for 40th reunion

REGION — As the Bartlett High School Class of 1986 prepares to celebrate its 40th reunion on Sept. 26, organizers are asking the community for assistance in locating classmates who have not yet been reached through social media or via text.

To make the process simple, the reunion committee has created a short contact-information form and is encouraging residents, friends, and former classmates to help spread the word. If you know someone on the “missing classmates” list, organizers ask that you text them the link to the form so they can update their information.

Contact Info Form: <https://tinyurl.com/BHS1986-40Years>

If it’s easier, you may also complete the form on a classmate’s behalf—so long as you have their current contact details. Organizers emphasize that any help tracking them down is truly appreciated, as personal connections often succeed where digital outreach falls short.

A list of classmates the committee is hoping to locate appears below. With the community’s support, they hope every member of the Class of ’86 will have the opportunity to join this milestone celebration.

Hitchcock's Summer Concert Series rocks Brimfield Town Common on Wednesday evenings

BRIMFIELD — The Hitchcock Summer Concert Series sponsored by Country Bank will take place on Wednesdays, 6 to 8 p.m., July 1 through Aug. 19 on the Brimfield Town Common. In the case of rain, concerts will move to Thursday. A food truck will be on site at each event. Picnics are also welcome; chairs and blankets are encouraged.

The series kicks off on July 1 with Woodshed, bringing Acoustic Folk, Country & Americana. Members Jason Wood of Brimfield, along with A.J. Kiernan, Karen Gallant, and Mike St. Germain are four musical friends who found each other through a love of music and mutual admiration, and are known for their signature three-part harmony. BT's Smokehouse will be on site.

July 8 brings The Island Castaways whose love of Buffet-style escapism infuses the pride they take in creating a relaxing atmosphere where there are many smiles, laughter and dancing, and lasting good time memories that create the ultimate Trop Rock experience. The featured food truck will be Flippin' the Bird BBQ.

After a weeklong hiatus for July's Brimfield Flea Market, The New England Digital Accordion Orchestra returns on July 22. Conducted by Sam Falcetti, the nation's first digital accordion orchestra features about 20 musicians from across New England. Using state-of-the-art Roland digital accordions, the group replicates the sounds of various instruments like flutes, trumpets, and a rhythm section to showcase an impressive range of genres including Big Band, Broadway, Ethnic, Country, and Rock. BT's Smokehouse will return on this evening.

July 29 is all about polka with the return of The Eddie Forman Orchestra, also known as "E.F.O.," is a western Massachusetts polka band that has been performing before audiences since 1968. Eddie Forman started the band while he was still in high school, and has been creating and recreating music ever since, garnering one of the largest polka followings in the New England area. Off The Hook will be the evening's featured food truck.

August 5th brings the Brimfield debut of The Willies - a popular, community-focused classic rock and Americana band based out of Belchertown. The band performs across the Western Mass region, playing high-energy hits from the 1950s through the 1980s, modern country, and rock standards. Flippin' the Bird BBQ returns for this concert.

Long-time series favorite CobbleStone Road of Connecticut returns on August 12th with high-energy country. Well-known throughout the region for playing modern and classic country hits from the 1990s to today, their energetic style mixes classic country with rock and blues. Smashing Patties will have their concert series debut this evening.

The series closes out on August 19th with Hard Knox, a Westfield, Massachusetts-based party rock and cover band known for their high-energy shows and "forgotten classics" setlist. Instead of regular cover tunes, they play unique, underappreciated gems from the '70s and '80s, making them a fixture in the Western Mass and Northern Connecticut music scenes. BT's Smokehouse will return to bookend this year's food truck lineup.

In addition to Presenting Sponsor Country Bank, this program is supported in part by a grant from the Brimfield Cultural Council, a local agency which is supported by the Mass Cultural Council.
