Uxbridge principal to present at national conference

BY KIMBERLY PALMUCCI
TRIBUNE CORRESPONDENT

UXBRIDGE — Uxbridge High School Principal Michael Rubin—who was named the 2020 Massachusetts High School Principal of the Year—will be presenting as part of a panel discussion at this year’s South by Southwest Education Conference.

The conference, which is commonly referred to as SXSW-EDU, is being held virtually this year in March. The panel is sponsored by American Student Assistance, a national nonprofit “committed to helping kids know themselves, know their options, and make informed choices to achieve their education and career goals,” according to an Uxbridge district statement.

“It is always a privilege to highlight the work of our team at UHS,” Rubin said. “Even in the midst of a global pandemic, our educators are innovating and developing better ways to prepare students for their futures. We share how the balance between skills and content drives what our students and staff do in our classes to inspire and energize others.”

Entitled “Skills-based Hiring: A Paradigm Shift for Educators,” the discussion will focus on ways that schools can incorporate skill development and career readiness into traditional models, the district released.

“As employers are moving from a pedigree-based to a skills-based hiring approach, educators are stepping up to instill students with the new foundational skills needed to succeed including life skills, which are the largest barrier to students’ life readiness after high school,” Uxbridge said in its statement.

The other panelists include: Grace Suh, Vice President, Education at IBM Corporation; Jake Hirsch-Allen, North America Workforce Development and Higher Ed System Lead for LinkedIn Learning; Carlos Moreno, Executive Director, Big Picture Learning; and Pat Leonard, Vice President, Strategic Partner and Business Development, Credly. Julie Lammers, the Vice President for Government Relations and Advocacy for American Student Assistance, will serve as moderator.

“It’s been our experience that in order to drive change, it is critical to have engaged principals at the helm,” said Jean Eddy, the CEO of American Student Assistance. “And, we couldn’t be more pleased that Mike Rubin joined our SXSW-EDU panel on the Paradigm Shift to Skill-based Hiring. The skills required of the modern workforce have changed: greater digital intensity, increased business acumen, and more versatile human skills. Mike’s insight into how Uxbridge High School embraces the paradigm shift and embeds skill acquisition in the coursework sets the gold standard for other high schools.”

Rubin was named the 2020 Massachusetts High School Principal of the Year, and Uxbridge High School has developed three career pathways in advanced manufacturing/engineering, biomedical science, and information technology/media studies. The school is in the approval process for a fourth pathway in business, finance, and logistics, the district statement said. Under Rubin’s leadership, UHS has earned acclaim among the top 20 percent of high schools nationally, according to US News and World Report, and has earned acceptance into both the CAPS Network and National Consortium of

Sutton police join other departments to support local toddler battling cancer

BY KIMBERLY PALMUCCI
TRIBUNE CORRESPONDENT

SUTTON — More than 130 police cruisers, fire trucks, and more from all across the region—and even a State Police helicopter—recently gathered in Warwick, R.I. to brighten up the day of a two-year-old who is fighting cancer.

Rowan Shaw has been battling a rare form of childhood cancer; the Sutton Police Department was among the many agencies across Massachusetts and Rhode Island that joined the effort.

“The Warwick, R.I. Police Department put the call out the other day for a little tyke in their community named Rowan who is battling a rare form of childhood cancer,” Sutton police released in a statement. “WPD was looking to brighten up Rowan’s day by having a drive-by his house of all kinds of emergency vehicles.”

Hearing the call, Sutton Patrolmen Derek Desruisseaux and Chong Her, Jr. washed up a few of the department’s cruisers and headed to Warwick.

“We don’t have enough space in a post to individually thank each department that showed up, but we had police and fire representation from almost every city and town in Rhode Island as well as many from Massachusetts, some driving 2 hours to be here,” the Warwick Police Department shared on social media after the event. “We even had the Massachusetts State Police helicopter flying over the procession of vehicles. Rowan’s smile and thumbs up at the end of the procession leads us to believe he enjoyed the show.”

In a statement on the “Fight for Rowan” Facebook page—established so members of the community can follow Rowan’s fight against childhood cancer—it was confirmed that 131 cars and a helicopter attended the event.

“First responders from all over our state and all

UXBRIDGE — The artwork of several local students from Uxbridge High School has recently been selected to art award showcases across the Commonwealth.

Uxbridge High School Principal Michael Rubin announced that the artwork of students Keku Wheelock, Taylor Sanford, Margaux Lewis, and Jalyn Gingras has been recognized.

Uxbridge art students earn accolades

Wheelock, a grade 11 student, won a Regional Award for the Scholastic Art and Writing Awards, the school announced, describing the accolade as “the nation’s longest standing and most prestigious art and writing awards for scholastic achievement in the arts,” with awards selected across 27 different categories.

“In Keku’s case, the award was in the drawing category, defined as art that is composed of marks made with a manual or mechanical instrument on a two-dimensional surface,” the school announced.

Drawings include “all renderings made by an instrument on a surface” and may include formal, realistic and/or abstract imagery, the school released. Illustrations are works that “graphically depict a concept or subject.” Either drawings or drawn illustrations could be submitted to this category.

In addition, Taylor Sanford, a grade 12 student, Margaux Lewis, grade 12, and Jalyn Gingras, grade 9, had their work accepted to the Massachusetts Amazing Emerging Artists Recognitions Exhibit. This online gallery has been open for public viewings as of March 8.

“The growth of our fine art program over the past several years has been remarkable,” Rubin said. “We have educators who are completely dedicated to the craft of creativity and who inspire students from all abilities to demonstrate their ideas and inspiration.”

Uxbridge High School’s art department includes Lisa Struppa and Claire Munley, as well as Joseph Barros, who also works in the technology education department, focusing mostly on digital media, school officials added. Struppa teaches courses in textile design, drawing, and ceramics, and Munley focuses on introductory courses, drawing and painting, and digital media.

“Start growing a herb garden,” say local gardening experts

BY GUS STEEVES
CORRESPONDENT

REGION — Even though it hit 65 degrees last week, it's still too early to plant outside. But many people have food, herbs and flowers started indoors, and now is an ideal time to learn something new about gardening.

That's the energy behind a regional library collaboration to provide online programs from educators at Blackstone Valley Veggie Gardens. It began Feb. 23 and runs every Tuesday at 6:30 p.m. on Zoom through April 20.

Last week's session looked at growing herbs.

"If you want to do something easy, no muss, no fuss, start growing a herb garden," said Kathleen Donovan, who has grown them for food, medicine and gifts for many years. Later, she added, "...If you want to be self-sufficient in the Covid and post-Covid age, you want to save your seeds."

Starting them from seed "can be tricky because herb seeds are tiny," but it's easy from cuttings taken from last year's plants.

Typically, Donovan said, that should be done "at the end of summer, once the plants are big." She showed two short videos — one with Donna Emery, the other with an unnamed male gardener — talking about how to do it. He described the ideal cuttings as being "semi-ripe," with the base "slightly woody," coming from healthy but not yet flowering plants. If you get a clean four- to six-inch cut just below a leaf joint, they can be stored in the fridge up to 12 hours before dipping them in an organic gel (Donovan later noted unpasteurized honey or cinnamon work well). They generally root in six to eight weeks, but sometimes take up to four months in a greenhouse, cold frame or under a clear plastic bag, provided they're not in direct sunlight. When the roots form, they can be potted and/or transferred to the garden, he said.

Emery noted best results require pots with a "lightweight cutting mix" of vermiculite and peat (can make it yourself, but it's also cheap by the bag). That's also how she starts from seed, a more complex process. Because "many seeds need light to germinate," it's very easy to plant them too deep; all they need is a sprinkling of soil atop them and plenty of water, she said.

They should be started indoors in a warm, well-lit area that's not in direct sunlight until the shoots come up. When outdoor conditions are good, and the plants are big enough, they can be "hardened" over three or four days in warm shade outdoors, but brought back inside at night.

"Basil is probably the easiest herb to grow," but "it can't tolerate any cold" and needs night temperatures above 40 degrees, Emery said. Donovan agreed, describing it as "a finicky annual" that comes in many varieties, but is one of the things she "must do every year."

"I don't think it's summer until I've had my caprese salad," made from tomatoes, mozzarella and basil, she said. It's also a well-known ingredient in pesto (garlic, basil and olive oil with or without pine or other nuts) and can become a tea.

Donovan summarized planting issues and uses of several well-known herbs, both annuals and perennials. One of the former is parsley, which is actually a biennial that is a "reasonably sized plant" which dies with frost; that year is best for the leaves. The second year it's "a parsley tree, almost"; that's when you get the seeds.

Also popular is cilantro, a parsley relative which is a perennial in areas warmer than New England (planting zone 6A). The plant goes to seed rapidly in heat. She noted the seed (called coriander, which she likes) "doesn't have the least flavor profile of the leaf" (which she doesn't). The leaf is a well-known part of Mexican dishes. When ground to powder, the seeds are a key ingredient in India's garam masala.

Medicinally, chamomile is good to have around. Donovan said she "take[s] it every day and it really cut down my migraines;" it also helps reduce inflammation and can make sleep come more easily. She said she only uses the dried flowers, but other sources note the leaves are also safe.

Dill provides a good example of alternative uses. Besides its leaves and seeds being good for flavoring, oil distilled from them is used in soap, she said.

For perennials, Donovan focused on the large mint family, which are "extremely hardy." She noted they're "extremely aggressive at the root, so I suggest you grow it in its own pot." One mint is lemon balm, which isn't quite as aggressive but a "very prolific spreader. ... You never know where it'll come up." Like chamomile, it has mild sedative qualities. Several species of mint grow wild in New England.

She also cited sage and oregano — a "hardy perennial, but loses flavor rather quickly;" when fresh "it's out of this world." It also "seems to do a good job on colds," and other sources note sage has antibiotic traits.

Donovan observed that most perennial herb seeds are "very small," showing a photo of dozens of them dwarfed by a dime. Herbs generally "don't have huge roots ... they're very fragile." That often makes them hard to transplant, and means they do best in "light and fluffy" soil ("far less than a quarter inch") rather than denser dirt or pure compost. Likewise, "if you plant [the seed] down too much ... before it pops up, it's going to run out of steam."

"It's good to grow herbs right with your veggies, not only because you get the benefits, but herbs also help repel pests," she noted. She listed several examples, including dill (repels aphids, squash bugs, cabbage loopers), basil (repels flies and mosquitoes, as do several lemon-scented plants), oregano ("repellant to many pests") and several mints (repels fleas and squash bugs).

When harvested, most of them can be dried simply by hanging loose bundles of them or laying them flat on a cookie sheet. But the catch is to make sure "they're bone, bone, bone dry," because storing them afterward in any container will allow mold to develop otherwise. You can also use a dehydrator on the lowest setting, but that will require frequent checking.

"I grow a lot of things I don't like [to eat]," Donovan added. "I have to grow things just to see I can do it."

People can sign up for future gardening forums by going to the websites of the Southbridge, Sturbridge, Charlton, Oxford or Sutton public libraries.

The month of April is a special month to celebrate our volunteers. The theme for National Volunteer Week, which takes place from April 18-24, is Points of Light, shining a light on the people and causes that inspire us to serve. National Volunteer Week is an opportunity to recognize and thank volunteers who utilize their time, talent, voice and resources to meet the critical needs of our community. This is a time to celebrate the impact of volunteer service in our Town.

I want to thank all of our volunteers in the Town of Uxbridge, not only at the Senior Center, but throughout the Town. Many of our volunteers are seniors, especially those who work for the Senior Work-off Program, who serve in different departments. Our volunteers serve in various capacities including answering telephone calls, filing, assisting others, working in the hot lunch program, serving on various town committees and inputting computer info, to name a few. Volunteerism empowers individuals to find their purpose, to take their passion and turn it into meaningful change. This is a time to honor the impact of all those who do good in our Town, and inspire others to make a difference. THANK YOU!

Curbside lunches will resume now that the weather conditions are improving. This nutritious lunch will be available to those who are able to come to the senior center parking lot for a drive-thru pick up. All precautions are in place to ensure for your safety. The lunches will be scheduled for the first and third Friday of each month. RSVP is required and a donation of $3.00 per meal is greatly appreciated. Check out the menu enclosed in this newsletter for more information.

Outdoor activities (weather permitting) will be scheduled this month. The activities will have a limited number of participants to ensure for everyone’s safety and those participants will meet outside and be spaced to ensure a six-foot social distance. RSVP will be required. Please check out the Activities Calendar inside this newsletter for more information.

The Senior Center, in collaboration with the Uxbridge BOH, continues to help folks with the COVID vaccination appointments. Please call the senior center for assistance and information. The Senior Center wishes to thank the Uxbridge BOH for all their hard work and dedication in helping keep our seniors safe during this unprecedented time.

Our Medical Transportation Program is up and running. Please feel free to contact the senior center if you need transportation for a medical appointment or to get to a local COVID vaccination site. Please contact Donna Oncay, Transportation Coordinator, to book your ride. Our vehicles are equipped with plexiglass barriers for your safety and all vehicles are properly sanitized after each run for your safety.

A special THANK YOU to State Rep. Mike Soter for distributing Easter lunches to Uxbridge residents during his RISE UP INITIATIVE on March 28th. This event was well received and sincerely appreciated during these difficult times.

Amanda Keith welcomed into Alpha Lambda Delta National Honor Society

SPRINGFIELD — Amanda Keith, of Douglas, was among over 30 students from the Western New England University College of Business inducted into Alpha Lambda Delta National Honor Society in a virtual ceremony held on March 5. Keith is working toward a BSBA in Human Resource Management.
Alpha Lambda Delta recognizes the best and brightest members of the nation's first-year college students. The mission of the Society is to encourage superior academic achievement, to promote intelligent living and a high standard of learning, and to assist students in recognizing and developing meaningful goals in society. Students in Alpha Lambda Delta must have a grade point average of at least 3.5 after their first semester of full-time enrollment.

University President Dr. Robert E. Johnson, Interim Provost Dr. Curt Hamakawa, and Vice President for Student Affairs Kerri Jarzabski joined with the Deans of the College of Arts and Sciences, College of Business, and College of Engineering in awarding certificates to new inductees, who recited the Alpha Lambda Delta pledge:
“I pledge myself to accept membership in Alpha Lambda Delta with the understanding that in doing so I accept the responsibility of maintaining its standards of Service, of Industry and of Integrity. I shall do all in my power to maintain high scholarship throughout my life and to use my education always, for the benefit of the Community, my Nation, and the World in which we live. In this spirit I accept the membership into Alpha Lambda Delta.”

Alpha Lambda Delta first-year honor society was founded in 1924 at the University of Illinois and has over 280 chapters in the United States.
Having just celebrated its Centennial, Western New England University is a private, independent, coeducational institution. Located on an attractive 215-acre suburban campus in Springfield, Massachusetts, Western New England serves 3,690 students, including 2,486 full-time undergraduate students. Undergraduate, graduate, and professional programs are offered through Colleges of Arts and Sciences, Business, Engineering, Pharmacy and Health Sciences, and the School of Law.

Worcester business leaders fund new scholarship at Nichols College

DUDLEY — A new scholarship at Nichols College to benefit transfer students from Quinsigamond Community College has been created through contributions from two long-term Worcester business and community leaders.
R. Joseph Salois, owner and president of Atlas Distributing Inc., and Robert Vaudreuil, retired president and CEO of The Protector Group, have committed to sponsor the Nichols Connect Scholarship, which will assist QCC graduates who pursue a Nichols degree.
“As the scholarship's name implies, this effort will connect our institutions in a meaningful way and enhance our longstanding partnership with QCC through the Affordable Business and Leadership Education initiative,” said Bill Boffi, Nichols College vice president for enrollment. “We are grateful to Joe Salois and Bob Vaudreuil for strengthening our bridge to Worcester and extending Nichols' exceptional educational opportunities to its students.”

Students enrolled in a minimum of six credits at Nichols are eligible for the Nichols Connect Scholarship. Award amounts will vary based on status as a resident student, undergraduate evening or commuter student, or student in the Affordable Business and Leadership Education initiative.
“From my experience as a non-traditional student, I understand the motivation of students who want to take their education to the next level and the importance of a scholarship that offers them the means to reach it,” said Salois, a 1998 graduate and past trustee of Nichols College.
Vaudreuil, a 1977 graduate of Nichols College and former chair of its Board of Trustees, added, “I see this scholarship as a win for QCC, for Nichols, and for the Worcester business community which will continue to be strengthened by the opportunities and educational resources provided by this partnership.”

For more information on the Nichols Connect Scholarship, please call the Nichols College Enrollment Office at 508-213-2038.
About Nichols College
Nichols College is a college of choice for business and leadership education as a result of its distinctive career-focused and leadership-based approaches to learning, both in and out of the classroom, and through impactful research and professional education. Students thrive in a learning and living environment that is supported by an experiential business curriculum and a strong liberal arts foundation aimed at transforming them into tomorrow's leaders. Nichols offers master's degrees in business, leadership, accounting, and counterterrorism, as well as a range of certificate programs, to promote career advancement for today's professionals.

Friday’s Child

Mariyah Age 9

Hi! My name is Mariyah and I have a contagious laugh!

Mariyah is a playful girl of African American, Hispanic, and Caucasian descent. Those who know Mariyah best would say she is helpful, bright and very caring. She has strong communication skills and is a great advocate for herself. Mariyah has a wide variety of interests which include arts and crafts projects, dance classes, puzzles, and reading. In school, she is very social and has made quite a few friends.

Mariyah is legally freed for adoption and would do well in a one or two parent family. If there are other children in the home, it is recommended that they are high school aged or older. Mariyah would do best in a home where there is previous parenting experience. The placement should also have a predictable and consistent schedule for Mariyah but also maintain flexibility. Interested families should be open to maintaining visits and contact with Mariyah’s birth parents and siblings.

Who Can Adopt?

Can you provide the guidance, love and stability that a child needs? If you’re at least 18 years old, have a stable source of income, and room in your heart, you may be a perfect match to adopt a waiting child. Adoptive parents can be single, married, or partnered; experienced or not; renters or homeowners; LGBTQ singles and couples.

The process to adopt a child from foster care requires training, interviews, and home visits to determine if adoption is right for you, and if so, to help connect you with a child or sibling group that your family will be a good match for.

To learn more about adoption from foster care, call the Massachusetts Adoption Resource Exchange (MARE) at 617-964-6273 or visit www.ma-reinc.org. The sooner you call, the sooner a waiting child will have a permanent place to call home.

Secondary STEM Schools.

Most recently, UHS’ work for innovating during the pandemic earned the school recognition as part of the “Canopy Project,” a national network of about 220 programs and schools that have developed new ways of learning during the COVID-19 pandemic.

“The model being implemented at UHS of partnerships and collaborations, and looking at the essential skills for success, has had a direct impact not only on the entire Uxbridge district and our community, but the region as a whole,” said Uxbridge Superintendent of Schools Dr. Frank Tiano. “This work is the future of where schools will be, and Uxbridge continues to be at the forefront.”

Ice safety tips

Naturally, warmer temperatures in the afternoon means the lakes, ponds and rivers will start to melt; however, the cooler mornings could be deceptive as to how thick the ice actually is. More people fall through ice this time of year than in any other.

We wanted to offer some awareness, and a reminder of what to do should you find yourself or anyone else in this unfortunate situation, albeit, completely unavoidable.

First, remember to stay calm. Try not to let the shock of the freezing water take over, it'll take your breath away and is painful, which is frightening. At this time, you will have roughly ten minutes before you get too cold to pull yourself out. Experts say to leave your winter clothes on and let them act as a buoy. These clothes tend to hold onto warm air and can help you float.

Next, turn back toward the direction in which you came and use solid ice to try to pull yourself out. The ice is likely thicker where you were just standing, meaning chances are it is strong enough to hold you while you pull yourself out. If you find that your clothes have trapped too much water, lift yourself up part way and lean on your elbows while the water drains out. You then want to extend your arms flat on the ice and start to shimmy yourself back onto the surface. Remember the two words "kick and pull."

If you do find yourself in a situation where ice could be an issue, carry an ice pick. Avid fishermen have been known to carry screwdrivers or nails on them just in case, as they make for better claws then gloved or bare hands.

Remember to stay flat when you are back on the surface, and don't stand up too soon, as you may cause the ice to crack again. Begin to roll away from the spot where you fell through to keep your weight distributed across the ice.

Once you are in the clear, get into dry clothes and a warm place immediately. Hypothermia kicks in roughly after 30 minutes of being submerged in ice water. Seek medical attention as your body may go into shock as the cold blood from your extremities can reach your heart, causing a heart attack.

If you are with someone who falls through the ice, do not get too close as you may be the next one to fall through. Instead yell instructions to them, on what to do, to get to safety and remain encouraging.

Reaching out to the victim without stepping onto the ice is best if at all possible. Use anything you can such as a pole, ladder or anything else that you can extend to them. If you can't reach the victim this way, try throwing them a rope or anything that you might be able to use to pull them to safety.

If none of the above are options, try to find something to float on so that you can reach the victim yourself. If a floating device is not available, do not walk upright to the victim, try instead to lay flat and roll out to the edge.

Whatever situation you are in, it will require fast action and quick thinking. The best advice is to be prepared with the proper knowledge and equipment if you do plan on spending time on the ice.

OPINION

Opinion and commentary from the Blackstone Valley and beyond

BEVERLY GUDANOWSKI UXBRIDGE

Brace yourselves. In January 2021, our Congress - ever ready to help the American people - took action! For their first action, they banned the words "Father, Mother, Sister, Brother, Husband, Wife, daughter, son, she, he" in any legislation. They also banned any word with the word "man" in it.

Wait, what? This is the first action they took in 2021? And we pay them for this?

In January, Congressional Rep. Emanuel Cleaver, (a pastor of what church I do not know, nor can even imagine), concluded the opening prayer for the 117th Congress with "Amen and Awomen". Let us pray that he was joking because "amen" has nothing whatsoever to do with men or women, unless they utter the word. "Amen" [from ancient Greek/Hebrew] means "truly" or "it is so." I don't know about you, but I take my "amens" very seriously. I don't joke about them.

Now, finally, after two months in session, they pass a Covid Relief bill, at a cost of $1.9 trillion American tax dollars. Do you know that only 9 percent of this money actually goes to Covid relief and one percent for vaccines? We are in dire need of infrastructure repair, but did they designate the other 90 percent of the money to go to our roads, buildings, and power supply? No, 90 percent of the Covid Relief money goes to museums, libraries, felons such as the Marathon Bomber, mismanaged union pension funds, and state governments. Did you know that this "Covid Relief" "will cost each man, woman and child $5,000? So, you just paid $5,000 to get $1,400 "from the government." And, oh, by the way, the $478 billion in last year's Covid Relief legislation?

Unspent. But I digress. Banning words is a slippery slope. Soon, you find yourself tripping over your own rules. Congressman Jim McGovern's website and his emails announce he is the "Congressman" for the 2nd District of Massachusetts. I have emailed McGovern's office pointing out that he should now be known as the "Congress person" or "Congress-human." I have yet to receive an answer.

Or, when you ban words, you find yourself in bad company: Communist China bans words. It is forbidden to say Winnie the Pooh because some people compare Xi Zinping, the President of China for LIFE, to Winnie. They banned the words "Dalai Lama" because he is a symbol of an Independent Tibet. They banned Soviet jokes because such humor makes fun of Communism. And Communism is not funny.

Also banned is "Go Hong Kong" because this slogan supports the pro-Democracy protests in Hong Kong. They banned the "great firewall of China" because even discussing Chinese censorship is forbidden.

Iran has banned speaking English altogether. The Venezuelan government banned "independence." In 2019, the United Nations created the first investigation into atrocities committed by the Venezuelan government. I have heard no outcome from the U.N., have you? In the mail, I just received a genuine Venezuelan "dollar", the Bolivar. Want to guess what it is worth? Ten cents.

In Somalia, the Al-Qaeda terrorist group - which has killed over 4,000 Somalis in the last decade - banned plastic bags. I am so relieved, aren't you?

In 2019, the Cuban government banned the annual gay "Conga" parade due to "unrest." Some of our Congressional representatives love Cuba. Why, our own Rep. Jim McGovern has been going to Cuba since 1979 and most recently in 2019. I did not hear him condemn the Communist Cuban Government for cancellation of the Conga. Maybe I missed it.

Like Iran, let's just ban that pesky English language. Too many words like "free speech, Constitution, the First Amendment, an independent judiciary, Patriot, independence, freedom of thought, freedom to have kooky thoughts, freedom of religion, One nation under God, the Star Spangled Banner, one person one vote, U.S. citizen, George Washington, the right to bear arms, the right to petition the government for redress, the right to be politically incorrect...Mom and apple pie." You get the idea. These pesky words set some people's hair on fire.

The good thing is that we still have our U.S. Constitution and the First Amendment protection of speech so we can still say politically incorrect words such as "I protest against the politicians in Washington who install guns and fences to protect themselves, but refuse to protect the American people along our southern order with guns and fences." Such words remain protected under our U.S. Constitution. And no one can stop me or you from saying them. Not yet.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Unify or divide: That's the question

To the Editor:

As snow melts in March, so our liberties, 'guaranteed' by the Bill of Rights and US Constitution, disappear with hardly a word of protest. Nothing about the Jan. 6 breach of the Capitol can be condoned. But we should ask if anyone is watching or caring enough to express righteous, public anger at what is happening today?

The First Amendment to the Constitution states, "Congress shall make no law... abridging the freedom of speech, or of the press, of the right of the people peaceably to assemble, and to petition the Government for a redress of grievances." Today, elected representatives in Congress perpetrate a greater assault on our freedoms than was achieved by the Jan. 6 mob.

Today, freedom of speech is curtailed in 'hallowed hall' and by social media with power to silence opposing voices. Further, TV/print media so completely skew news factual perspectives on what's-actually-happening is hard to discern. Plus being human, we tend to believe what is constantly drummed into our heads as 'truth'. Unless anger exerts itself when we engage in independent thought, followed by legitimate (peaceful) protest, freedom of speech is lost.

Today, freedom of the press is curtailed in innumerable ways. The latest, prime example involves removal of Dr. Seuss books in the name of wokeness. 'Woke' (originally meaning well-informed and up-to-date) now translates to emphasis on racial or social discrimination and injustice. That single-minded perspective is poisoning our thinking to the point where logic and common sense do not exist! Attempts at equality become so distorted, through this all-encompassing prism, that meaningful discourse is stifled. Add constant 'cancel culture' to the mix (canceling or withdrawing support for all things objectionable or offensive), and what history remains which allows future generations to avoid past mistakes? This is not 'progressive' behavior but 'regressive' reminders of Nazi book banning/ burning days and McCarthy-like blacklists of those with differing opinions.

Today, Washington, D.C. is an armed camp of National Guard troops, layers of fencing and razor wire. Prominently displayed, does actionable intelligence warrant this continuing show of force at taxpayer expense? Or does it support a narrative fellow citizens are lawless, untrustworthy individuals to be shunned? Or perhaps this optic serves to discourage a Constitutional right of 'peaceable assembly' and limits opportunities for expression of legitimate anger?

Today, "For the People Act" (HR-1) has passed the House and is pending in the Senate. Its Intent is innocuous sounding- cleaner, fairer elections- but nothing could be farther from truth. If adopted, some of its general framework promises: restrictions on campaign finance; extreme expansion of voting rules/roles and how Congressional districts are redrawn (without consent of State Legislatures with Constitutional authority over such issues); adding D.C. as a state. One Congressman stated, "If we don't see sweeping reforms contained in this bill passed, we are [exp]ective] as a nation." If 'We, the People' allow it, he is correct!

Today, hypocrisy, represented by do-as-I-say-not-as-I-do directives and double-standards, runs rampant. Have we been brainwashed into turning a blind eye to realities facing America when otherwise sound policies are being systematically dismantled over political partisanship? The border issue has caused humanitarian child/ migrant 'challenges' with attendant security, social, health, economic and education problems. Energy independence is hurt by no Key Stone pipeline. Middle East peace accords are threatened by Iran. Due to COVID: children are still out-of-school with many still unemployed, and more untargeted relief money printed adding to unfathomable national debt. 'Identity' (race) is the foremost qualification for federal appointments not resumes citing applicable knowledge and experience. Is anyone angry this is SOP for 'governing' the 'land of the free'?

St. Augustine suggested change requires three elements. Hope; anger so that what must not be, cannot be (on many subjects); and courage so that what can be, will be (on those same subjects)... if we act appropriately and responsibly. Unify or divide that's the question. Hope is my answer; what's yours?

Financial checklist for new(er) parents

FINANCIAL FOCUS

DARREN PARENT

If you're a brand-new parent, or even if you've been one for a little while, you're no doubt filled with the many joys your child brings you. But as caught up as you are with the feelings and experiences of today, you also need to think about the future - specifically, the financial issues that accompany a growing family. What are some of the key moves you need to make?

Here's "checklist" to consider: Establish a budget. If you're going to meet the additional expenses of a child, plus make progress toward other objectives, such as paying down debts, you'll need to know where your money is going. Setting a budget, and sticking to it, may seem difficult, but once you've gotten into the habit, it will become easier - and for many people, following a budget actually gives them more of a sense of control over their finances. Over time, expenses related to your children will change, so you'll need to adjust your budget accordingly - for example, once a child is in school full-time, child-care expenses may drop, which could allow you to boost your savings.

Protect against the unexpected. If something were to happen to you, how would your child, or children, be affected? Even a family with two working parents can face serious financial difficulties if one of the parents were to die prematurely, or even just drop out of the workforce temporarily due to illness or injury. To help ensure your family could still stay in your home and your children could still afford to pursue higher education, you'll want to create an appropriate protection strategy involving both life and disability insurance. Your employer may offer both, but the coverage provided may not be sufficient for your needs, so you may need to purchase your own policies. And here's another protection-related idea: Try to build an emergency fund containing three to six months' worth of living expenses, with the money held in a low-risk, liquid account. Without such a fund, you might have to tap into your longer-term investments to pay unexpected costs, such as a major car repair.

Prepare for high cost of higher education. You may already be thinking about sending your child to college. And it is indeed a good idea to start planning early because college is expensive, and it's getting more so every year. However, you can prepare for these expenses through a college-savings vehicle, such as a 529 plan. A financial professional can help you pick the investment, or investment strategy, that's appropriate for your needs. But whatever route you decide to follow, you won't want to wait until your child is close to college age.

Keep long-term goals in mind. Even while planning for the costs associated with raising a child, including saving for college, you can't forget your other long-term goals. It isn't selfish to build resources for your own retirement - in fact, you'll ultimately be helping your family greatly by taking steps to maintain your financial independence throughout your life. So, during your working years, try to consistently contribute as much as you can afford to your IRA and your 401(k) or other employer-sponsored retirement plan.

Having a child is obviously a life-changing event, and one with considerable financial challenges - but they can be manageable if you make the right moves at the right times.

What is behind local gas prices?

To the Editor:

I have lived in this town my entire life, and never have seen gasoline prices like this. It seems most of the gas station owners have gotten together and agreed to charge a certain dollar amount at all the stations throughout town. There are only a few owners who own most of the stations.

Gas prices in our town are higher than they are on Route 146, and everyone knows highway prices are typically much more than local prices. It's pretty sad when a small group of owners get together to control these prices. I for one now drive out of town (and not too far) to save 10 to 15 cents a gallon on gas. Hopefully, more people realize this and do the same.

Preparations for spring fishing

Now is the time to start planning your spring fishing trips, weather it will be salt-water or freshwater. Making sure all of your fishing gear is ready, and what type of bait you will be using, cuts the cost of your fishing trips. Freshwater anglers are finding live bait is becoming very expensive, and there is a way to cut the cost dramatically. Catching shiners only requires a little bit of research to locate a body of water that still has a good population of shiners. Purchasing a small shiner trap at a local bait & tackle shop, will run you around $12. A piece of light rope will need to be attached to the trap, and a small amount of bread placed into the trap before lowering it into the water.

You should place the trap a foot or two from the bottom of the pond or river, and secure the rope to something solid so that you can easily pull the trap up. After a couple of days, you need to check the trap for any shiners. If the trap is empty, you should find another spot. It may take a few try's before you locate them, but once you do you will have plenty of live bait to fish with. If you can locate a place to store them, you will need to build a small box with wire on all four sides, that you can keep them in. Running water like a brook or small stream is ideal, but you will need to place it out of the way, from other fishermen.

Locating worms and Nightcrawlers is another way to save money. They are easy to catch after a day of rain in the springtime, after the frost leaves the ground. All that is needed is a small pail and a flashlight. After dark, you need to find a good lawn or golf course to pick your nightcrawlers on. Be sure to ask for permission before going on private property, and be sure to bring the youngsters along. They will have

a great time trying to catch them. The trick is not to shine the flashlight directly onto the crawlers or they will quickly retract themselves back into their hole. After picking a couple hundred crawlers, you need to properly store them. A small refrigerator like they use for college is ideal. Locate a couple of Styrofoam boxes that will fit into the refrigerator.

There are many small refrigerators at yard sales that can be purchased cheap. Using a few sheets of damp newspaper on the bottom of the box, you will need to add a few inches of good top soil. Be sure not to get the soil too wet. Place the nightcrawlers on top of the soil and cover them with a piece of an old ragbag , slightly moistened. Set the temperature at 45 degrees, and check them regularly. Adding a few used coffee grounds to the mix works very well.

With trout season starting any day now, many anglers prefer to practice catch & release. Trout need to be handled very carefully if they are going to be released. Try to keep the trout in the water after they have been netted. Anglers that handle the trout that are going to be released, often do not realize that handling them removes the slime coat of the trout leaving them vulnerable to fungus and disease. Saltwater fish like haddock suffer high mortality after being handled and then released. Catch and release of stripers, has fishermen questioning the practice.

Studies have shown a high mortality after releasing big fish. They are often fought and played with until they are exhausted. Reviving the stripers to be released, has proved to still have a high mortality, especially if the angler has a period of photo shoots before releasing the fish! Allowing anglers to catch and keep a big striper makes more sense than catching and releasing numerous fish which some will die, until he catches and retains his legal striper. It looks as though the same regulations on all species of saltwater fish will remain the same as last year, in Mass. & Rhode Island. Circle hooks may be required for both commercial and recreational anglers fishing for stripers in both Mass. & Rhode Island!

Charter boats are hoping for a good season this year, after strict regulations from last year on limited patrons per trip. Unfortunately, some charter boats went out of business, and will not be reopening. The Clipper Fleet in Salisbury sold their boats and will not return. It had a great family business for many years, and was run by the Grady family, originally from Millville. Many local anglers including this writer, fished many years with Captain Joe Grady. Unfortunately, many of his patrons decided it was not worth the expense and time to fish, because of the limits placed on legal size fish, and daily bag limits.

Catching numerous limits of haddock which needed to be released because of their size, and a complete shutdown of cod and wolffish left little for anglers to retain for the dinner table. We do have great memories of the good times, as this week's two picture show. First picture shows a huge wolffish taken aboard the Clipper Fleet and the second picture shows some local boys that caught some huge cod aboard the "Challenger " which was also part of the Clipper fleet. Only one cod is allowed in the daily bag limit this year, and the season is short. Haddock limits have been relaxed somewhat and there populations are higher than in previous years.

Blooming Signs of Spring: Part II

Last week's column reviewed two flowering signs of spring: Forsythia and Pussywillows. Expanding on that theme, this column with highlight two more favorites, crocus and my all-time favorite – lilacs! Read on for more on these nostalgic favorites:

Crocus
Crocus, dubbed "the little princess of the garden," has a long heritage in New England, as the favored flower is among the first to be brought to North America by settlers. Popping up in gardens in mid-March, the sight of crocus bulbs are cause for celebration by winter weary Easterners. In fact, the crocus has been known to bloom while snow is still on the ground, offering a visual promise of the upcoming season. The humble flowers, boasting an array of hues from pale yellow to deep purple, open their cup shaped blooms fully only on sunny days. Perhaps the popularity of the humble flower is attributed to its easy going nature. Requiring only a light alkaline soil and plenty of sunlight, and it will reward the eye with many colorful, low growing flowers that multiply each spring.

Crocus in Mythology: The crocus famously appears in a legendary Greek tragedy of Crocus (Krocos) and Smilax. According to the legend a young mortal named Crocus headed into the Athens forest in pursuit of the nymph Smilax. Catching her attention, Smilax is smitten but only briefly, by the handsome Crocus. Soon she becomes bored and spawns his amorous advances. When crocus persists in pursuing the beauty against her wishes, the gods transforms him into a saffron Crocus flower, its orange stigmas symbolizing his undying passion for her.

Planting Crocus: Spring crocus bulbs are best planted in the fall when the soil is below 60 degrees, but well before the first hard frost. Plant pointy side up about four inches apart. For the best visual affect plant in clumps of about a dozen bulbs. Water well and cover with a few inches of mulch for cold weather insulation. Since moles and mice are also attracted to crocus, those who have such pests in the garden are advised to plant in buried wire cages or other devices designed to repel the hungry critters.

Lilacs
Fragrant clusters of lilacs adorned colonial yards and gardens of early America. Lilacs were grown both for their beauty and their medicinal properties. In fact, in the late 18th century, both Thomas Jefferson and George Washington wrote about their lilac plants. The species is so hardy that early lilac bushes, in a testament of survival, have continued to thrive in colonial homesteads, long after the homes were abandoned or destroyed. Lilacs have been known to survive hundreds of years, making them a true heirloom flower. The Governor Wentworth Estate in Portsmouth, NH boasts the oldest surviving lilac bushes, said to have been planted circa 1750. While there are many strains of the flower, the most nostalgic is the common lavender hued lilac (Syringa Vulgaris), which was brought to America in the mid 1700s from eastern Europe.

Lilac Legends: Legend has it lilac drives away evil wherever it is planted or strewn. It is said that lilac bushes were planted on the homestead by colonists in an effort to protect the inhabitants from bad forces.

Immigrants from Europe brought tales of lilac folklore from the "old country" to America, including the belief that finding a white lilac blossom with five petals is a sign good fortune would follow. Meanwhile, in certain sections of England it was considered bad luck to bring blooming Lilacs into the house and all white Lilacs were especially banned from display inside the home.

Growing Lilacs: New England is the perfect climate to grow lilacs, as it is very cold hardy, requiring a frost to prompt bud blooming. For optimum blooms, a lilac bush should be planted in areas that receive full sun (at least six hours per day). Lilacs like a slightly alkaline soil. Spread roots out vertically and cover with topsoil. A newly planted lilac bush should be kept well watered. Add a loose mulch above the roots to help with water absorption. Keep in mind different varieties of lilacs bloom at different times. When lilac flowers have finished blooming, prune the dead flowers back to just above where new buds are forming. Be prudent with pruning, as over cutting can result in a decrease of blooms next year.

Expand your planting space

Courtesy — Gardeners Supply Company
Some raised beds have built-in water reservoirs to extend the time between watering.

When your plant list is longer than the available gardening space it is time to expand your planting options. Create new gardening space by adding raised bed gardens, elevated planters, and containers wherever space allows.

Convert the end of the drive or edge of the patio into raised bed gardens. Just use a raised bed liner to contain the soil. Raising the garden makes planting, maintaining and harvesting easier on the back and knees. It also allows you to create the perfect soil foundation by filling your raised bed with a quality planting mix.

Long lasting cedar is a traditional choice for raised beds. Now you can also find them made of a wood and plastic composite or metal and in a variety of shapes and sizes. Finding one to complement your gardening style and space is much easier these days.

Reduce time spent watering with a self-watering metal raised bed (gardeners.com) or similar product. Self-watering raised beds have built-in water reservoirs to extend the time between watering. Or use a raised bed drip or soaker hose irrigation system to easily apply water right to the soil where it is needed.

Elevated gardens are just containers on legs. They are perfect for patios, balconies and other hard surfaces. Use them to define space, create privacy and of course grow ornamental and edible plants. Those on wheels can easily be moved out of the way when guests arrive. Or wheel them into the gathering, so everyone can harvest and dress up their meals with garden-fresh herbs and veggies.

Just pull up a chair and start planting or weeding your elevated garden. Grow vines in those with built-in trellises and extend the season by protecting plantings with frost and insect covers. Select elevated planters with a shelf below to conveniently store gardening tools and accessories.

Even small space gardeners can expand their planting space with the help of containers. You'll find plenty of attractive options to fit your front steps, patio, balcony or deck.

Railing planters and window boxes don't take up floor space yet dress up any outdoor area. Grow herbs in planters located near the kitchen and flowers wherever additional color is needed. Add a few pollinator-friendly plants to attract butterflies and hummingbirds to watch and enjoy.

Extend your time outdoors with outdoor lighting. Or look for multi-functional options like solar illuminated planters. Powered by the sun and with a flip of a switch, you can choose a single or multi-changing light color display.

Don't let the thought of frequent watering stop you from growing in containers and elevated gardens. Self-watering options are available in a variety of shapes and sizes including the classic, yet curvy self-watering Valencia window box.

Once you select your raised bed, elevated garden, or container, you will need to fill it with a planting or potting mix. Figure out exactly how much is needed with a soil calculator. Just plug the size and shape into the form. It tells you how many cubic yards or cubic feet of soil are needed for raised beds and the number of quarts for containers and elevated gardens.

Expanding the garden doesn't have to mean a lot more work. Selecting the right option that provides convenience and ease of care can help you grow more flowers and garden-fresh produce this season.

OBITUARIES

John A. Brothers, 73

UXBRIDGE- John A. Brothers, 73, passed away suddenly at Milford Hospital after being stricken ill at home. He passed peacefully aside his loving wife of 49 years, Diane M. (LeBlanc) Brothers.

He is also survived by his son Christopher J. Brothers of Millbury, his beloved granddaughter, Brielle Brothers; siblings, Gladys Aubin, Donald Brothers, William Brothers, David Brothers, Judy Brothers; several nieces and nephews, and many great friends. He was predeceased by 2 brothers, Gerald and Charles Brothers.

Born in Whitinsville on April 14, 1947 he was son of the late Romeo and Harriet (Ackerman) Brothers and grew up in Northbridge. He was educated in the Northbridge School System and has worked many years as a truck driver for numerous area companies. He was still actively working. John was an avid golfer and a member of the Harwich Port Golf Club. He enjoyed traveling with his wife, vacationing at their home on the Cape, and spending lots of time at the beach. He was also an antique car enthusiast and had owned a 1975 Chevy Corvette, as well as a 1939 Chevy street rod.

John truly enjoyed all the friendships he nurtured over the years. He was known to be the guy to call if you needed something fixed. He took great pleasure and pride in his work. Most of all he loved his family, he adored his granddaughter and went to her softball, basketball, and soccer games. He was an amazing husband, father, and grandfather and will be sorely missed by his family and friends.

John's calling hours will be held on Tues, March 16th from 4-7 pm in Tancrrell-Jackman Funeral Home, 35 Snowling Rd., Uxbridge. Robert J. Colton, 61

DOUGLAS- Robert J. Colton, 61, passed unexpectedly at home in Largo, FL on Sun. March 7, 2021. He leaves behind his mother, Joan R. Colton, and two brothers, Steven and David Colton, all residents of Douglas.

Bob grew up in Douglas and lived there most of his life until moving to Florida a few years ago. He will be forever remembered for his ready smile, perseverance, and "heart of gold". He was genuinely kind and always willing to help others in need.

According to his family's wishes burial will be private.

Cecile T. DuQuesnay, 86,

Cecile T. (Boulanger) DuQuesnay, 86, of Alton Bay, NH and formerly of Cass City, MI went to be with the Lord February 27, 2021 with family by her side.

Born in Northbridge, MA on August 3, 1934, she was the only daughter of the late Doria and Mignonne (Bernier) Boulanger of Linwood, MA.

Cecile is survived by her son Steven DuQuesnay (Suzanne) of Woonsocket, RI and her daughter Denise Bent of Alton Bay, NH, with whom she lived. She also leaves behind her grandchildren Kyle DuQuesnay (Nicole), Brenda DuQuesnay, Russell Bent (Kymmy), Amy Wilkewicz (Christopher), and Scott DuQuesnay, as well as her great-grandchildren Hailey and Christopher Bent, and Garrett and Noah DuQuesnay. Cecile leaves her lifelong friend/sister-in-law Mary Boulanger of Millville, MA, many nieces, nephews, great nieces, great nephews and many beloved friends.

Cecile was predeceased by her son Brian DuQuesnay of Cass City, MI and her infant son Kevin DuQuesnay of Northbridge, MA as well as her six brothers Gerard, Adelard, Bernard, Edward, Wilfred, and Emile.

She graduated Northbridge High School in Northbridge, MA in 1952. Cecile worked at General Electric in Ashland, MA for many decades. After retiring, she moved to MI to be near her son Brian and family, later moving to NH to be near her son and daughter.

Cecile was steadfast in her faith and praying often was her daily routine. Kind and thoughtful, she supported the Wounded Warriors and other Veteran organizations. She was an avid reader and enjoyed jigsaw puzzles, cribbage, scrabble, and bowling. She especially loved having weekend lunches outside on her porch with her daughter, and watching the birds stop by, which was a favorite hobby of hers. She also had quite the green thumb.

Also known for having a cheerful and friendly way about her, Cecile (known as C.C.) had many wonderful friends whom she loved dearly.

Celebration of life will be at a future date. In lieu of flowers, her family suggests a donation in Cecile's name be made to Gilman Library at 100 Main St, Alton NH 03809 or Landmark Baptist Church at 103 Chichester Rd, Loudon, NH 03307.

Cecile's family would like to thank the ICU staff at Concord Hospital in NH for the care and compassion shown to Cecile and to her family. A special thank you for their gentle and caring ways in guiding Cecile to be comfortable and at peace, while also showing patience, kindness and privacy to those by her side.

Her family and friends will miss her immensely.

Is hope the anchor of our soul?

One of my first business lessons came after explaining my sales plan to my father. He asked for the details and at the end I said, "I hope it all works." Dad smiled and said, "that's fine, but hope isn't a plan."

Dad was right. Hope isn't a plan but is an essential part of living a happy life. Hope is the foundation to making your dreams come true. So, what is hope and why is it important?

Having hope is wanting an outcome that makes your life better in some way. We all hope for a better life. Not only can hope help make a difficult present situation more bearable but it can also eventually improve our lives. Envisioning a better future motivates us to take the steps to make it happen.

Hope alone isn't enough, but hope inspires belief and action. As my dad said, hope isn't a plan, but having hope for a better outcome is the beginning of a happier life.

I also believe that hope is where your body and soul begin to conspire to make your hope become your reality. Hope is more than just looking at the bright side of issues. Hope is where dreams are born, and our desires begin to take root.

A life without hope is a sad life. As a history buff, I've read numerous accounts of Jewish life in Nazi internment camps. Almost every retelling of their time in captivity mentions that it was only hope that drove them to remain alive. I cannot imagine living a hopeless life.

While writing this, Arlene asked me what the difference was between hope and optimism. I believe hope is wishing for a better outcome and optimism is believing a better outcome will happen. I believe hope is the beginning that inspires optimism, which creates the plan to make our hopes our reality.

POSITIVELY

MOORE

Hope, Optimism, Plan and Execute = H.O.P.E.

Hope for a better outcome, creates optimism that tells you that one is available, followed by the plan to achieve what you hope for, finally followed by executing the plan to make it so. As I said, it all begins with hope.

I hope to beat cancer and extend my life to spend more time with my family. My hope has driven me to seek out a world-leading expert at a world-renown cancer center to have access to cutting edge information and treatment. My hope and optimism created the beginning of the plan that brought me to Dr. Kasi and the Holden Comprehensive Cancer Center at the University of Iowa Hospitals. There, Dr. Kasi created the plan to extend my life and together we are now executing our plan.

Beware of those who will try to steal your hope. We all have naysayers in our lives, so we must be strong enough to cling to our hope. I've run across several in the medical profession who have tried to extinguish my flame of hope. So far, I've proven them all wrong and defied the odds. And why not? Someday, someone will be the first to beat stage four gastric cancer. Why not me? And if not, I can certainly go the distance and continue to surpass their predictions. No one has the right to steal your hope and shame on those who may try.

Now to you ... what is it you hope for? Longer life? Better health? Higher income? A new career? Regardless of where hope leads you, life is more enjoyable and fruitful with hope. Without it, you have accepted status quo and have no dreams of a brighter future.

Hope brings beauty into our lives. Never give up your hope. Hope is the seeds of greatness living within you waiting to be planted and nurtured. Your dreams can become your reality beginning with hope.

I hope for more time with family. I hope for more time to write to you.

I believe hope is the anchor of our soul.

What do you hope for?

Emerson College announces Dean's List honorees

BOSTON — The following students have been named to Emerson College's Dean's List for the Fall 2020 semester. The requirement to make Dean's List is a grade point average of 3.7 or higher for that semester.

Crescent Huang of Douglas
Joseph DuBois of Uxbridge

About Emerson College
Based in Boston, Massachusetts, opposite the historic Boston Common and in the heart of the city's Theatre District, Emerson College educates individuals who will solve problems and change the world through engaged leadership in communication and the arts, a mission informed by liberal learning. The College has 3,780 undergraduates and 670 graduate students from across the United States and 50 countries. Supported by state-of-the-art facilities and a renowned faculty, students participate in more than 90 student organizations and performance groups.

Emerson is known for its experiential learning programs in Los Angeles, Washington, D.C., the Netherlands, London, China, and the Czech Republic as well as its new Global Portals, with the first program launching this fall in Paris. The College has an active network of 51,000 alumni who hold leadership positions in communication and the arts. For more information, visit emerson.edu.

Local students named to UConn Dean's List

STORRS, Conn. — The University of Connecticut congratulates the following students on being named to the Dean's List for the fall semester of 2020.

Mary Foley of Douglas
Lindsey Sawtelle of Grafton
Annka Haerle of Sutton
Hannah Ayers of Uxbridge
Grace Lemire of Uxbridge

At the end of each semester the Dean of each school and college names to the Dean's List those students who (1) were registered for at least 12 credits calculable for grade points, (2) received no grade below "C", including the actual letter grade awarded in any course under the Pass/Fail option, (3) earned at least 3.0 times as many grade points as the number of calculable credits recorded by the Registrar, and (4) were in at least the upper quartile of their school or college.
