Blackstone Heritage Corridor volunteer inspires cleanup participation

Northbridge resident Yvette Ayotte Kind, a Blackstone Heritage Corridor volunteer, has been working tirelessly on cleaning up her community. She volunteers regularly to pick up litter. She created a Facebook group called Northbridge Litter Brigade to share her efforts and recruit others to join her. As a result, a local business, Cutting Edge Custom Graphics, donated safety vests with Northbridge Litter Brigade printed on the back, and a local resident donated litter pickup

Douglas locals present at Asian Festival at Harvard Square

CAMBRIDGE — Joseph & Gretheline Bolandrina of Douglas assisted with the second Asian Street Food and Music Festival at Harvard Square last Sunday, May 5. The Church Street Parking lot had street food vendors, food trucks, Asian merchandise vendors, and was festively adorned with banderitas (small pennants) to reflect the colors of the Filipino flag (red, white, blue, and yellow). The month of May is celebrated as the Asian American & Pacific Islander Heritage Month. Asian culture, music, arts, contributions, and history were all on display and celebrated at Harvard Square.

The Bolandrina family were grateful to be in attendance and assist in the celebration marking 32 years of honoring the many contributions and accomplishments of Asian Americans, Pacific Islander Americans, and Native Hawaiians. In 1992, the month of May was designated by President George H. W. Bush as Asian Pacific American Heritage Month. The Asian Street Food and Music Festival organized by the Harvard Square Philippine American Alliance (HSPAA), a non-profit organization where Gretheline serves as one of the Board of Directors. The Asian Street Food and Music festival was held in partnership with the Harvard Square Business Association's 39th Annual May Fair. During the showcase, judges viewed each project and asked students about their process, challenges and final product. The teams were evaluated on how well they defined and researched their problem and developed clear objectives; how well they designed a prototype, communicated the construction process, tested their prototype, acknowledged shortcomings and discussed next steps; and how well they presented their project, used effective visual aids and responded to questions posed by the judges.

"The Innovation Showcase was a valuable experience for our students, allowing them to present their work and receive feedback from professionals industry and local educators," Rubin said. "Our student teams have put a lot of time and effort into their inventions and designs over the past several

Embracing nature's flourish: The case for No Mow May

As we wind down the month of May, a rare opportunity has presented itself, with a chance to change our relationship with our lawns and embrace the beauty of nature's unruly charm. "No Mow May" is a movement that encourages homeowners and communities to refrain from mowing their lawns for the entire month. While it may initially sound unconventional, this initiative carries several benefits for both our environment and our well-being.

No Mow May supports biodiversity. By al-lowing our lawns to grow freely, we create habitats and food sources for a variety of in- sects, birds, and small mammals. Native wildflowers, clovers, and grasses flourish, attracting pollinators such as bees and butterflies that are crucial to our ecosystem's health. Through this simple act of not mowing our lawns, we actively contribute to the preservation of local flora and fauna, helping to restore balance to our landscapes.

No Mow May presents an opportunity for us to reconnect with nature and foster a sense of wonder in our surroundings. As we witness the transformation of our lawns into vibrant meadows, we are reminded of the cyclical nature of life and the beauty found in untamed spaces. Stepping outside and immersing ourselves in these naturally evolving environments can be a source of inspiration, relaxation, and a respite from the demands of our daily lives.

Further, No Mow May holds significant environmental benefits. By refraining from mowing, we reduce our carbon footprint and conserve valuable resources.

Critics may argue that unkempt lawns present a sense of neglect or an invitation for pests. However, it is important to distinguish between neglect and intentional cultivation of natural spaces. No Mow May encourages us to redefine our perception of what a "perfect" lawn looks like, allowing for a shift in aesthetics that prioritizes the health of our ecosystems over conforming to conventional norms.

Let your lawn be a canvas for nature's masterpiece, even if just for a few weeks!

The Lord of Fraud

To the Editor:

I've read that everyone has something that they are good at. It's just a matter of discovering what that 'something' is. We all know that Donald Trump is good at lying - more than 30,000 fact-checked, mostly or complete lies, over a four year period. That's 21 lies told each day of that four-year period, weekends and holidays included - quite a prodigious output. But Trump turns out to be a triple threat – he's good at lying, good at cheating, and good at fraud! Let's look at his uncanny proficiency at, and propensity for committing fraud:

Trump University was a fraud - A federal court approved a $25 million settlement with students who said they were duped by Donald Trump and his now-defunct Trump University. (2018)

The Trump Foundation was a fraud "A judge Thursday ordered President Donald Trump to pay $2 million to an array of charities as a fine for misusing his own charitable foundation to further his political and business interests. (2019)

The Trump Organization was found guilty of fraud - A jury in Manhattan has found former President Donald Trump's company guilty of a long-running crimi-

$1 billion for illegals in Massachusetts. No funds for farmers who were flooded in 2023. I repeat, $1 billion for illegals Republican restrictions were rejected by the Marxists in Boston. And still no financial help for our farmers.

Did you vote for fiscally irresponsible politicians who never work for you? Let's fix the potholes before we set fire to $1 billion tax dollars for criminal invaders.

Headlines: Illegals from Guatemala stole $238,000 from Home Depots all the way from Cranston, Rhode Island to Norwood, Massachusetts. They were bailed out, $1,000 cash for each Guatemalan, by a "Providence [illegal] woman.'

They also bought a new house in Cranston, for cash. They wired the mortgage company cash. Can you do that? They bought two brand new cars for cash - a Ford 150 and a Ford Lino-van for loading the stuff from Home Depot. Did I mention they paid cash for a home? While living on our hand-outs.

What happened when they were arrested three times - I repeat, three times - in Massachusetts? Their felony thefts will be reduced to misdemeanors because after all, they are poor deserving wonderful folks from Guatemala who are thieves.

When they were arrested in Boston in December of 2022, the prosecutors told the judge that they had several arrest

nal tax fraud scheme that lasted into his presidency. Fined $1.6 million, the maximum allowed. (2023)

Trump's Truth Social accountants accused of fraud - the firm was accused of "massive fraud" by the Securities and Exchange Commission for falsely signing off on regulatory filings that didn't meet accounting standards. (2024) I don't think they committed fraud for their own benefit, do you?

Trump's persona is a fraud, as Tony Schwartz has detailed. It is the product of fictional books, and a fake 'reality' TV show. He is a totally fraudulent media creation.

This is just the fraud we know about, over the last few years. I don't have the time, or enough paper, to detail his shady or illegal scams occurring before this, or his sexual abuse charges, although the Stormy Daniels campaign finance fraud case is being litigated as we speak. But practice makes perfect!

From Steven Beschloss, award-winning writer, journalist, editor and filmmaker, commenting on the new Time magazine article on Trump - "If he wins": "If you read the article you may be led to believe that Donald Trump has

They reveal a deeply untrustworthy man untethered from reality, swarming in lies, absorbed by grievance. unable to grapple with policy nuance and dependent on empty slogans to motivate himself. None of this is surprising, but when you read through the hours of interview material, you can see just how shallow his thinking is, how unreliable are his pronouncements and equivocations, how utterly ill-equipped he is to confront the complexities of our modern world—and, really, how crazy it is that serious people

The Judge released them.

The Judge must be a conservative white Christian Nationalist MAGA Nazi Republican, don't you think? Thank you to Howie Carr for being a real journalist and reporting the crimes like an old fashioned crime reporter.

Can you guess whether they showed up for their court appearances? Nope.

The "Providence woman" who bailed them out made deposits in the bank of $246,000 in cash plus other wire transfers of $50,000 each. Wow, just like Hunter Biden! Do you have this kind of happy cabbage to deposit in the bank? Or for a house? Or for a brand new Ford climate-destroying truck? Me neither.

Homeland "Sometimes" Security finally arrested them. The complaint states that their Ford truck license plate did not match the make and model of the vehicle and was "registered to a person unknown." What a surprise.

The Homeland Security complaint says that "Despite arrests in numerous states, the target subjects repeated the same pattern of conduct with little regard for the consequences." They know their felonies will be reduced by Marxists to misdemeanors, they will get bail and disappear until the last few good ICE agents find them and deport them. ICE AIR, one way ticket to Hell.

Did you know that crime is down a

We must change our ridiculous Right to Shelter law before we end up with a $26 billion dollar deficit like California. "The Right to Shelter law is hereby amended to state that any assistance under this law shall require a five year residency in the state and proof of U.S. citizenship.

Trump the Trojan Horse

To the Editor: The obit hasn't been written yet, the death has occurred, and the autopsy is pending: The Republican Party is no longer. Don't be confused; at best, "Trump" is the titular name of a political party that is actually running against the Democratic Party in 2024. He is the official 'anointed,' 'Trojan horse' for Christian Nationalism (CN), a political movement in its own right that "is about power." At least, "Power in the 'right' hands." (Time)

A study, "Make America Christian Again" (Sociology of Religion, 2018), suggests that "Christian nationalism remains strongly and positively associated with voting for Trump." "While support for Trump has been linked to several other potential factors like class-based anxieties, sexism, anti-black animus, xenophobia, and Islamophobia," Christian nationalism shaped the voting choices of Americans who viewed a "Trump presidency as a defense of the country's perceived Christian heritage and a step toward the restoration of a distinctly Christian future." Don't imagine that CN plays by 'Christianity's rules.' The ideology is "particularly conservative and an ethnocentric expression of Christianity." (Time, Whitehead) Cultural assumptions include comfort with authoritarian control and who will be considered a true American. CN is also a leading predictor that the January 6th riots were justified and "true American patriots may have to resort to physical violence to save the U.S." "Comfort with violence is a natural byproduct of CN's obsession with power." (Time, Whitehead)

Some see Trump as a "tool"-used by God in this particular moment in history that will be dispensed with when he is no longer serving God's purposes. (Jamieson 2016) Trump's assigned CN directive is straightforward: "The purpose of government is to preserve and protect the Christian understanding of civilization, otherwise known as Christendom." (Schaetzel) operates as a unique and independent ideology that can influence political actions by calling forth a defense of mythological narratives about America's distinctively Christian heritage and future." "The genius of the founding fathers is they understood that Christianity could not only stand on its own but would thrive without being written into the laws and founding documents of the country. In fact, it was likely their own faith that led them to this conclusion. Many of the founding fathers—Washington, Jefferson, Franklin, Madison, and Monroe—practiced a faith called Deism. Deism is a philosophical belief in human reason as a reliable means of solving social and political problems. Deists believe in a supreme being who created the universe to operate solely by natural laws—and, after creation, is absent from the world. This belief in reason over dogma helped guide the founders toward a system of government that respected faiths like Christianity while purposely isolating both from encroaching on one another not to dilute the overall purpose and objectives of either." (CAP, Rathod) The founding fathers, "had no intention to found the country according to Christian doctrines." (CAP, Rathod) Anecdotally, in response to a petition wanting Christian nation recognition, Washington stated, "...the path of true piety is so plain as to require but little political direction." "This perspective accounted for the absence of any regulation respecting religion in the Constitution." (Wald)

"The idea of Christian Nationalism is not so much about the nuts and bolts of Christianity; it's about the idea of 'we want to go back to the way things were seventy years ago when white Christian people basically dominated every facet of American life and society. And if you're a white Christian, you look at the future where white people are not going to be the majority, where Christianity is rapidly declining, you long for an era when you were in a privileged position in American life." (Burger) "This brand of religious nationalism appears to be unmoored from traditional Christian ideals and morality, and also tends toward authoritarian figures and righteous indignation." (Gorski) In fact, (Torba/Isker), "Christianity and Judaism are distinct, incompatible, and irreconcilable religions" - no Judeo-Christian principles here. Ok, let's go there, and as you might imagine: (Torba/ Isker) "All mankind need to believe in Jesus or they will perish in their sins, Jews included." To be explicit, Christian nationalism is not Christianity. Instead, it is a political movement about power and control—sense a theme here? And what political movement does our 'dictator for the day' want to imbue his administration with? Well, Project 2025 by Heritage, of course. According to Posobiec, the goal of all of this is to 'replace democracy with a Christo-fascist regime," The Christian Nationalist manifesto that spells this out is none other than Project 2025 by Heritage. (Watkins) Their goal is simple, "America is a white, Christian nation; the founders intended for Christianity to be our national religion, and CNs everywhere feel it is their responsibility as Christians to compel everyone to live by the truths of the Bible." Get it; there is no other way to live unless it is by their bible, certainly not yours or none at all. One is not allowed to think for themselves when god knows the way. The language of their bible becomes the language of our government, the latest Christo-fascist regime. Their "bible is god's infallible law, and so it should be the basis for all laws." (Watkins)

There will be no 'we the people.' Referendums, elections, and judicial decisions don't matter, only god's word.

'They will deny anything that conflicts with their interpretation of god's law. They are already governing that way in many red states; it's how they will govern nationally if they win in November." (Watkins) The Greeks created their Trojan horse "using a sacred creature and type of wood to appeal to their target's basic interests," ensuring the lost war for the Trojans who couldn't see beyond the facade. Trump was chosen for the same reason: to deceive the masses and deliver a win for Christian nationalism. Your vote for the Heritage Project 2025 Trojan horse loses the 'war' to preserve and protect 250 years of democracy for all Americans.

al of appropriate aid to our staunchest, democratic ally in the Middle East only emboldens every opposition group in the area. Will our allies forsake us someday if/when another 9/11 arrives here?

Hamas is no 'benign' entity but a terrorist organization eternally sworn to wipe Israel off the world map, i.e., "From the river to the sea." Since 1948, they have represented an intractable enemy against which the Jewish State always has had to defend itself, and who (unprovoked) broke a cease fire while innocents slept. On Oct. 7, Hamas finally crossed an invisible red line and Israel vowed "no more."

The international community, including the U.S., was rightly horrified and condemned Hamas' actions in starkest terms seven months ago, pledging "100 percent support" for Israel's stated aim. Even Arab nations favored defeat of the terrorist organization to ensure future stability in the region, but inexplicably refuse to accept Palestinian refugees! Now, Israel is willing to "go it alone" to achieve its goal (survival) while our current leaders lack stalwart decision-making capability. Iran, Russia, China and some here applaud Nazi-like, anti-Semitic protestors who are not about peace, 'Free Palestine', 'Save Palestinians,' release hostages (dead or alive), or free (protest) speech. At its core, student and outside agitator rhetoric is anti-American! Like Hamas, if allowed to continue with impunity this cancer will spread sucking ever more tax dollars to curtail lawlessness. Faithless, feckless leaders need to be rejected soon before we, too, are totally abandoned to inhabit a 'shell' of a country filled with more illegal immigration, inflation, eroding commerce, property and foundational values!

Waterfowl are also having a very good year hatching out their young. Local geese have been spotted with a good family of goslings, and ducks also seem to be having a good hatching of their young.

Numerous ospreys in the Uxbridge area have been spotted catching fish in local ponds and carrying them off to feed their young. Ospreys were nearly wiped out locally when the DDT poison was used to kill mosquitos and other insects. Watching ospreys diving into the water at high speeds to catch fish is extremely entertaining, and they can dive down up to three feet to catch a fish.

Wildlife is in good shape locally & with the help of sportsmen's money, they should stay that way.

Warmer weather is right around the corner and so are the ticks! A friend told us to put toothpaste on area as soon as you discover a tick biting. You will soon see movement of the tick as they willingly escape the dreaded toothpaste. My husband and both had success with this method last summer. It really works. Good luck and stay safe!

This medley of creative reuse and recycling tips save time and money!

1. Dryer wipes: I don't use them in the dryer, I put them in plastic totes when I store clothes, Christmas items, curtains, etc. They give a pleasant smell to the clothes.

Then when I remove the wipes from the totes, I use them to clean the bathroom sink and tub and/or use them dry on a Swiffer (use two and push into holes on back) for a quick pick up.

2. Used tissue paper: I cut it up into a convenient size and use to wipe grease out of pans and as a quick way to clean the kitchen floor when food drops

3. Alcohol pre-moistened towels: Restaurants sometimes give these out with messy foods. Use to wipe your hands after making meatballs, meatloaf, cutting chicken up, etc. I wet the ones that have dried up. They also can be used for doing a quick kitchen counter or floor pickup.

These ideas enable one to recycle items normally discarded after one use.

Here's a solution I found for when the hard plastic ring on a new pump shampoo bottle cracked: Luckily, in my odds and ends drawer, I always tuck in one spare pump from a previous empty bottle just for such emergencies. I was able to remove the broken and put on the replacement in seconds! Time to watch for a new spare. This works for hand lotion or glass or kitchen cleaners too!

I recently dug into my sewing and craft basket to embellish a child's book. I simply attached a heart of activities have better vision than those who spend most of their time indoors. Children who engage in nature and gardening are more focused, score bet-ter on exams, and are less likely to develop or exhibit symptoms of ADHD. And kids who play outside and get a bit dirty also have stronger immune systems.

Help get the kids in your life involved in gardening. There are a variety of ways to get youngsters involved no matter how much space or time you have. Consider giving each child their own garden space or a container garden to design, plant, and tend. Containers are a great option when planting space and time are limited. And just about anything can be grown in a pot. An old 5-gallon bucket or washtub with holes drilled into the bottom, recycled nursery pots, or a colorful raised planter make great gardens.

Provide them with some kidsized tools and equipment. The tools' smaller scale will be easier for them to handle and having their own tools that match yours makes gardening even more special. Consider investing in a set of kids' garden-ing tools including hand tools, long-handled tools, and even a wheelbarrow like those at Corona Tools USA (coro-

You may need to bite your tongue when their combinations are rather unique, or plants are spaced improperly. gardens.

You may notice kids often find bugs and worms more interesting than plants. Use this as a gateway into gardening. Get kids involved in worm composting or hunting for earthworms the compost pile. They will have fun on the worm hunt while helping you turn your compost

Use the "Pluck, Drop and Stomp" method to manage garden pests. Point out the bad guys and the damage they do. Be sure they know to watch for the good guys and leave them be to help the garden grow. Then have the children pluck the bad bugs off the plant, drop them to the ground, and stomp on them. This eco-friendly pest management strategy also burns some of that excess energy. Include lots of color in the garden and containers. Michigan State University surveyed kids before creating their children's garden. They found kids were much more excited and likely to participate when a garden is filled with color. And as the flowers are maturing and your family is overrun with vegetables, consider sharing the harvest and a few bouquets of flowers. Giving helps children grow into caring, well-rounded adults. And food pantries in your community are always in need of fresh produce. Most of the food-insecure people in our communities are kids and seniors who greatly benefit from fresh nutritious vegetables.

Be sure to end the growing season with a harvest party. Use your homegrown produce to prepare a picnic or fancy dinner for family and friends. Then use some of those beautiful flowers you grew to decorate the table.

Metacomet Land Trust, a conservation nonprofit, will host a free program on how humans can learn to coexist with coyotes now present in the region. Wildlife biologist Meghan Crawford will offer her perspective as a "Community Engagement Biologist" who has watched and learned from wild animals who might live in and around the back yards of suburban Massachusetts.

The program is part of the Land Trust's annual meeting on June Thursday, 13 at the Upton Community Center, 130 Milford St., Route 140 in Upton. The public is invited. The general meeting will begin at 6:30 p.m., followed at 7 p.m. by the program.

In a recent issue of MassWildlife Crawford not only describes in detail the life and habits of our Eastern Coyotes, now prevalent around the Commonwealth, but she also tackles the issues which arise when coyotes arrive in residential areas. Her talk will include the reasons coyotes can frequent backvards and local parks as well as offer some suggestions on "hazing" individual animals so they learn to avoid people. Crawford says that she hears at least weekly from residents around the state asking for advice about coyotes near their homes, family and

"While every covote conversation (with a resident) has unique circumstances, many can be boiled down to a single question: How am I supposed to live with coyotes?" Crawford writes. In addition to her background in wildlife management, Crawford has more than 10 years of experience increasing the public's understanding of the natural world as a science educator in museums, zoos, and environmental education centers.

Mosczynski, president of the nonprofit conservation organization, said, "We invite the public to bring friends and family to this program. Metacomet is hoping the presentation will give us a unique perspective on our environment and one that will also help us better understand our role in it."

Did you know:

· It's not your imagination: state officials estimate that the coyote population is now between 9,500 and 11,500 statewide.

Eastern Coyotes have long legs and thick winter fur that makes them appear larger than they truly are. This is due to having 8-25 percent of their DNA from wolves.

dent as he honorably served during the Korean War, after which he furthered his education at Calvin College where he ran cross country. Tom's first job was working with his father for the family business Koopman Lumber. Tom's work ethic was evident throughout his career as a professional truck driver, where he spent over 45 years hauling automobiles with Anchor Motor Freight. During this time Tom was honored with the prestigious Million Mile safe driving award, a true reflection of his commitment and skill. He was a proud member of the Teamsters Union. After retirement, Tom continued driving for several more years with Tri-State Transportation and Holland Express, Co. Tom was a lifelong member of the Christian Reformed Church and a charter member of Fairlawn Christian Reformed Church which he helped build and served in various roles including deacon, elder, and catechism teacher. He, alongside his wife Joan, were Youth Group leaders for many years. His volunteer work extended beyond the church walls participating in numerous mission trips, helping to build Whitinsville Christian School and serving on the Whitinsville Retirement Society Board. Tom's life followed the examples set by his Savior, Jesus Christ. He was humble, generous, understanding, and always ready to lend a hand at a moment's notice. In a tense situation Tom remained calm and often shared a sense of reason or moment of laughter to ease any situation. Tom had a special ability to connect with others. A stranger was just a friend Tom hadn't met yet. Simply described, Tom was special.

Tom's zest for life extended to his many interests. In the early 1960s, he raced with his cousins and friends as the 4 Flying Dutchmen, at Westborough Speedway. It was here he was introduced to his future wife, Joan. A longtime Harley Davidson enthusiast, Tom was known for his adventurous spirit. Road trips with Joan to Sturgis. Newfoundland, and Michigan. With his daughter Crystal and friends Lanny and Sarah Hanscom to Vermont, upstate New York and Cape Cod. Then with his grandson Cody Mississippi, Michigan, and Washington DC for Rolling Thunder. Well into his 80's, Tom could be found packing his full dresser and heading for a weekend campout with the boys during Laconia Bike Week; never worrying about keeping up with the pack. Only in recent years did he trade two wheels for three. He would regularly deliver fresh veggies to family and friends from the back of his trike. His internal compass was as legendary as his morals, always knowing his location and the right direction to turn.

Traveling with family was another joy for Tom. Family vacations when the kids were young to Cape Cod and Florida and in later years, making memories with Joan during trips to Costa Rica, Hawaii, Greece and on an African safari. A hard worker, whose hands were never idle and work ethic unwavering, Tom spent his off-road hours tending to his garden, cutting firewood, or beautifying the yard with Joan. He cherished gatherings at the homestead with friends and family for pig roasts to celebrate birthdays, weddings, and retirements as well as their annual Christmas Eve Open House. He found pleasure in playing a round of golf, swimming, surfing and skiing. Tom fulfilled his lifelong dreams of learning to fly an airplane and skydiving.

Visitation with his family will be held on Thursday, May 23, from 4-7pm at Fairlawn Christian Reformed Church, 305 Goldthwaite Rd, Whitinsville, MA. Tom's funeral will be held at Fairlawn CRC at 12 Noon on Friday, May 24 with Pastor Joel Vande Werken officiating.
