School Committee issues response to letter from Charlton selectmen

BY JASON BLEAU CONTRIBUTING WRITER

CHARLTON — The Dudley Charlton Regional School Committee has issued a unified decision refusing to issue a letter at the request of the Charlton Select Board to condemn antisemitism and hate, adding a new chapter to the ongoing debate between the elected bodies. In June, the Select Board voted 4-1 to send a letter to the School Committee requesting that they issue a public statement condemning hate and antisemitism. The letter was the culmination of a months-long back and forth dating to early March regarding concerns brought forth by Charlton Selectman David Singer who has made several public attempts to procure an official statement from school officials. Representatives of the School Committee have consistently stated that their stance against hate and antisemitism has been made clear in the student and staff handbooks, as well as district policies. The committee acknowledged the letter from the Select Board during a meeting on July 10, and decided in a unanimous vote not to issue an official written statement. Several members of the committee and the superintendent made their own verbal responses on the record concerning the Select Board's letter and allegations contained within.

In March, Singer approached the School Committee as a private citizen requesting that the committee issue a written statement denouncing controversial material made available in a member-only page of the MTA for educators to reference when teaching about the ongoing Israel-Hamas War. Singer eventually brought this matter to the Charlton Select Board, first as a citizen and then as a selectman, condemning the committee's lack of action, the social media content of one of its members which he deemed antisemitic - and revealing that he had been made aware of unconfirmed incidents of hate within the schools. In June, the selectmen granted his request to issue a formal letter asking, but not requiring, the School Committee to issue a written statement. The School Committee officially addressed the letter for the first time in a public forum on July 10. After an extensive discussion where several members aired their frustration with the Select Board's request, the School Committee voted not to respond to the letter in any written capacity. Some members felt that the Select Board acted beyond their reach by making a request to another autonomous elected board. Members were also concerned about the accusations of antisemitism within the hallways, which school officials said there was no evidence of such activity taking place, and that the Select Board was attempting to dictate what material should be used within the schools when there is a procedure and a subcommittee that exists to address those concerns. It was also noted that Singer had only approached the Dudley-Charlton Regional School Committee and not Bay Path or the Southern Worcester County Education Collaborative (SWEC) about the MTA material. Superintendent Steven Lamarche issued a verbal statement responding to the Charlton Select Board, which he stressed was not a letter and was not intended to be issued to the selectmen in writing. He read the statement into the record, calling some of the claims "unfounded" and defending the district's policies and procedures for addressing hate and antisemitism. He also acknowledged Singer's concerns over reported incidents, which he stated had been investigated. According to Lamarche, there was no evidence that such situations had occurred between students, but that if those incidents did occur the district has a procedure in place to address them. "I ask that we not allow conjecture to distract from the real work of educating and supporting all students and staff of the Dudley Charlton Regional School District,' said Lamarche. "As a district, we are steadfast in our commitment to uphold the civil rights and liberties of all individuals. We do not and will not tolerate discrimination based on race, color, sex, gender, identity, religion, national origin, sexual orientation, disability, or homelessness. These values are not negotiable. They are the fabric or our schools and guide the work we do every day on behalf of the children and families we serve." The superintendent added that any incidents should immediately be brought to his office's attention to allow for timely action and response. He promised to ensure that any credible reports be addressed. He also repeated prior responses to Singer's concerns about the MTA material that the district's teachers are guided by their own professional judgement, and that the educators "do not blindly access or use MTA materials.' The School Committee ultimately arguing that the Superintendent's words and the district's own longstanding policies within their handbooks speak for the committee's position. Several members voiced their own deeper concerns regarding the situation, with some members asking if they should consider seeking a formal apology from Singer or asking the Select Board to redact from their letter implications that a lack of a public statement from the School Committee has led to an increase in acts of hate in the schools.

The Pearle L. Crawford Memorial Library celebrated 15 years at its current location on July 10 honoring its longevity and perseverance over the last half-decade that included the addition of new programs, a pandemic, and a budget crisis that closed its doors for a short time. Through tory, it has helped the it all the community's appreciation of The Pearle only seems to have grown.

Library Director Nicole Messier said the past year alone has shown a lot of continued support for the library which has consistently solidified itself as a place to socialize, stay informed, find a new book, access online resources, and allow children and adults alike to engage in an increasingly expansive variety of creative activities.

"It's been a wild year," said Messier. "The enthusiasm you see in this library trickles down and the community feels that so it's pretty great to be a part of it. What I love to say most is that it's all about the people here.'

Bay Path LPN Ruth "DeeDee" Betz: A legacy of compassion and service

Bay Path Practical Nursing Academy is proud to announce that its annual Community Service Award has been fittingly named in honor of Ruth "DeeDee" Betz, LPN, a distinguished alumna from the PN Class of 2015 and a past dedicated staff member and PN Secretary. The program, represented by Gretheline Bolandrina, DHA, MSN Ed, RN, CRRN, Academy Director, along with DeeDee's familv and friends celebrated DeeDee's impactful life and contributions at a special "Celebration of Life Party" Saturday, July 12, from 4-8 p.m. at the Tatnuck Post, located at 570 Mill St., Worcester. The Ruth "DeeDee"

WORCESTER — The Betz Community Service her passion for influ-Award, established by the Bay Path Practical Nursing Academy, recognizes individuals who demonstrate significant contributions to the community through their time, actions, talents, and unwavering dedication to volunteerism. Ruth "DeeDee" Betz, LPN, embodies these ideals, serving as a powerful role model for compassion, service, and a commitment to making the world a better place.

As a staff member, DeeDee provided invaluable assistance to both students and alumni. Her appointment as UNICEF Club Advisor further encing future nurses and advocating for children's well-being. "We are proud of her and value her time, practice, and experience," said Dr. Bolandrina.

DeeDee's journey of selfless service began not long after her 2015 graduation. Her tireless volunteerism quickly garnered national recognition, including the prestigious 2019 Community Impact Award from the American Red Cross. Her exceptional dedication shone brightly during the COVID-19 pandemic when she volunteered at Worcester shelters and the DCU Center field hospital, providing crucial care to those in need. This invaluable work earned > her recognition from the City of Worcester, with a heartfelt letter of gratitude signed by Mayor Joseph M. Petty and City Manager Edward M. Augustus, Jr.

"It's just a huge honor to represent LPNs in the area and give back to those in our community who are in need," Betz remarked. "I am very happy to be an LPN and enjoy what I do. I have to share the recognition with the Bay Path Community."

Inspired by her nursing school experiences, particularly serlearning vice opportunities at Harrington Hospital and the encouragement students. DeeDee's Celebration of Life Party welcomed adults and children alike. Attendees were encouraged to dress in bright, cheery colors for an evening filled with music, dancing, and plenty of food. There was an activity table for younger guests and a Bunco game for those wishing to join in the fun dice game.

DeeDee's philosophy is simple and powerful: "We give back because we can. We don't do this for the awards, although it's nice to be appreciated. We do it because we are nurses, we care, that's what we do!'

Her legacy of compassion and community engagement continues to inspire the entire Bay Path Practical Nursing community.

Auburn and the American Revolutionary War- part 5: Privates Daniel Dodge, Robert Fitts, & Abel Partridge

BY HELEN POIRIER AUBURN HISTORICAL SOCIETY

AUBURN — Just prior to the publication of a previous article on Colonel Jonah Goulding a Minuteman Burial Marker was installed and dedicated to the four men who fought in the Revolutionary War for the town and are interred at the West Auburn Burial Ground. Jonah got most of the attention being an officer and an important family name in town, but the other Patriots were just as important to the war effort. Besides Jonah, Privates Daniel Dodge and Robert Fitts answered the alarm on April 19, 1775. Private Abel Partridge joined a few years later.

Daniel Dodge was born on Dec. 14, 1760, in Dudley, and died Aug. 21, 1827 in (Ward) Auburn. He married Elizabeth and married Isaac Willard, and Polly, Parsons on Jan. 26, 1785, in Ward. Elizabeth was born in Palmer July 27, 1765. She died March 5, 1834, in Auburn. They had one child named Betsey, who was born Nov. 27, 1790, in Auburn. She married John Gates Barnard and had 5 children. Betsy died April 23, 1875, in Auburn.

As for Daniel's military record, he was listed in Captain Peter Coburn Company and served with the 11th Massachusetts Bay Provincial Regiment (1775) and served for eight months. This regiment served in the Siege of Boston until it was disbanded. Capt. Coburn commanded a Dracut Company and led them to Lexington on April 19, 1775. Daniel subsequently enlisted on June 26, 1778, for one year starting Jan. 1, in Captain Samuel Lamb's Company, under Colonel Nathaniel Wade's Regiment, and served in Rhode Island.

In 1785 Daniel served the town as a hogreever, He answered calls about hogs that were getting into people's gardens. Daniel's family descendants seemed to have stayed in Auburn well into the 1920s.

Robert Fitts was born in Sutton on March 27, 1757. According to the family story, he lived much of his early life with his uncle Abraham Fitts who was one of the founding families of this town. When Robert was a teenager, he became his uncle's substitute in the Revolutionary War. He was a private in Capt. John Crowl's company of minutemen who marched with Col. Ebenezer Learned's regiment out of Oxford. He marched on the alarm of April 19, 1775, and served 10 days. It also seems that he appeared on a list of field officers on the return of Capt. William Campbell's company dated Oct. 7, 1775.

When Robert married Phebe Patch on August 25, 1778, in Oxford he had only the clothes on his back as the family story continues. Phebe was born in May 2,1759 in Wenham MA and she died in 1842. Her parents were Andrew and Anna Dodge. Robert and Phebe raised 11 children. Robert died in 1831. His tombstone reads: "The sweet remembrance of the just, shall flourish when they sleep in the dust.'

Abel Partridge was born in 1765 in Medfield, the son of Abel & Hannah [Cheyney]. He died Oct. 28, 1826, in Ward. In 1801 he married Sarah Stearnes of Medfield. They had two daughters, Betsey, who was born in 1802 born in 1804. According to the 1810 census 4 people were living in his house, one adult female over 44 and two female children under 10, The family doesn't seem to be in the 1820 town census.

Private Partridge enlisted for the town of Ward, June 25, 1779, in Capt. Cole's Company, Colonel Denn's regiment, for nine months. From Feb. 20 Dec. 31, 1780, he was part of Capt. Wade's Company, Colonel Michael Jackson's 8th regiment. Continental Army. In a descriptive list dated Jan. 7, 1781; Capt. Abner Wade's company., Col. Michael Jackson's 8th regiment it listed Abel as 17 years old, five feet seven inches. Complexion light; hair light; residence of Ward, enlisted February 20 by Lieut. Bancroft at West Point enlistment during the war.

He participated in Shays Rebellion as a Lieutenant in Captain Jonah Goulding's company of Regulators. Though there was a warrant issued for him, he somehow managed to avoid arrest until the collapse of the rebellion. In 1787, special town meetings were held to address the General Court, The Governor and Council and Major-General Lincoln of Worcester on the behalf of all the men convicted of treason and sentenced to hang for their part in the rebellion. Abel did petition the General Court for a pardon on Feb. 7, 1787, and was released on bail in March. Abel had to pay a fine of 100 pounds to the state, and "recognize in 300 pounds to keep the peace for five years." So, he had to behave or lose his money.

It also seemed that Abel had his pension under an act of the House of Representatives on March 18, 1818, but it had been suspended in May of 1820. He had Mr. John Quincy Adams bring to the House of Representative a petition from Abel for a continuation of the pension granted him under the act of the 18th of March 1818. The petition was sent to the Committee on Revolutionary Pensions. His annual allowance was $96, and he had received $181 by 1820. No record was found as to whether he got his pension reinstated. Abel remained in Auburn until his death in 1826.

Future articles will look at the Revolutionary War soldiers buried in the Center Burial Ground next to the First Congregational Church. This article is possible made by the Auburn Historical Society & Museum, 41 South Street. The museum is open Tuesday and Saturday mornings 9:30 a.m.-12:30 p.m., and may be reached at auburnmuseum@verizon.net or 508-832-6856, www.auburnhistoricalmuseum.org or follow us on Facebook at Auburn Historical.

Local YA author to visit The Pearle

DUDLEY — On Thursday, July 31 from 6-7 p.m., join us in welcoming Dudley author, Maggie Montville, for her first book launch celebration. She will be reading an excerpt from her novel, "The Sideshow." Refreshments will be served, and copies of the book will be available for purchase.

"The Sideshow" is a genre bender incorporating history, mystery, and suspense into a story filled with dynamic characters and clever tie-ins to the poetry of Edgar Allen Poe and other "easter eggs" referencing well-known pieces of literature. The setting of the book is a 1920s traveling circus, and the plot contains multiple twists and turns guaranteed to keep the reader on the edge of their seat.

Maggie Montville is an up-and-coming author who has just released her debut novel, "The Sideshow." When Maggie is not writing, she enjoys acting in local theater productions, singing, and performing as a character actress at children's parties across New England.

This program is free and open to the public. Registration is not required. This program is funded by the Hugh W. & Harriet K. Crawford Endowment Fund for the Pearle L. Crawford Memorial Library. & he Hu

Hhaving a pet might just save your life

There's nothing like coming home to someone who's actually happy to see you. Not out of obligation, not because they want something, just pure, tail-wagging joy that you exist. That's what a dog gives you. That's what any pet can give you, really. They don't need you to have your life figured out. They just want to be near you.

Lately, we have been thinking a lot about how much pets do for us. Without fanfare, especially when life's been heavy.

If you have ever gone through a hard time, grief, illness or heartbreak, you know what I mean. There's this moment when the people fade out a bit. They get busy, they don't know what to say, they pull away. But the dog? The cat? They stay. They sit right beside you when you're too tired to talk. They follow you from room to room like your little emotional support shadow. They just know.

Having a pet means someone's always keeping watch. Someone's listening to the silence with you. Someone's there when the world doesn't make sense.

They remind you to take a walk. To go outside and to get up. To feed them, which sometimes is the only reason you feed yourself. They force you into a rhythm when everything feels offbeat. Plus, they make you laugh, even when you think you forgot how. There is a kind of healing that comes from being needed in the most simple, unconditional way. Pets don't care what your job title is or whether vour life is falling apart. They just want to sit beside you on the couch and maybe steal your blanket. And science backs it up! Petting a dog or cat has been shown to lower cortisol (the stress hormone) and raise oxytocin, the same hormone that helps us bond with other people. Just spending time with a pet can lower blood pressure, ease anxiety, and even reduce feelings of loneliness. Some studies show that dog owners, in particular, are more likely to reach recommended physical activity levels, just from walking their dog. So no, they are not just pets. They are therapy. They are family. They are the ones who show up every day and ask for nothing but your presence.

Diversity and inclusion

"There is no longer Jew nor Greek, there is neither slave nor free, there is neither male nor female; for you are all one in Christ Jesus." (Gal. 3:28) The Apostle Paul offers this radical and transformative statement about diversity and unity in his powerful letter to the Galatians. In these few words, St. Paul obliterates the human divisions and hierarchies of his time-ethnic, social, and gender-basedand lays out the Christian vision of radical unity. In Jesus Christ, all are one. This is not an erasure of our differences, but the sanctification of our diversity in the harmony of divine love.

In today's world, the language of "diversity, equity, and inclusion" have become politicized. But we must not let political confusion rob us of a deep Christian truth - that every human being made in the image and likeness of God is worthy of love, dignity, and full participation in the life of Christ and His Church.

The Church is not a museum of the perfect or a club for an elite minority. It is, as the Fathers have taught us, a spiritual hospital for the broken. And who among us is not broken in some way? Whether our wounds are visible or hidden, physical or emotional, neurological or spiritual - we all carry wounds. And it is precisely in our weaknesses, as St. Paul says, that the power of Christ is made perfect.

The Church proclaims a vision of inclusion that is not sentimental. It is incarnational. Christ did not avoid the outcast, the diseased, the marginalized, or those who are different from ourselves. He embraced the leper, dined with tax collectors, touched the blind, reached out to those outside of Israel, and listened to the cries of people ignored by society. He became one with them. Then He commanded His followers, and now us, "As I have loved you, so you must love one another.'

Harriet Fradellos, a dear parishioner of our Church and a mother of a child with special needs, has courageously faced overwhelming challenges, and allowed her challenges to lead to transformation. In our Church's July issue of "The Light," she writes of how autism, though terrifying at first, became a kind of spiritual exercise - one that brought her to her knees and closer to God. Her words echo the deep truth that many of us experience: that our greatest hardships can also become the very places where God meets us.

Harriet reflected on her recent expe-understood, who have learned to navigate stares and silence with grace and resilience. They discussed simple but meaningful changes churches need to make to help all people feel welcomed and comfortable. We need to cultivate a culture of belonging.

Her words reminded me that true inclusion is not just about ramps and handicapped restrooms. It is more about relationships. It is about love. It is about seeing Christ in each person. It is about welcoming people where they are at. Harriet wrote, "When we can't change who we are or how we show up in the world, and others don't want to be confronted with such differences, the impulse is to look away. But we all need each other. All of us make up the body of Christ.'

Jesus opening His arms to the thief on the cross. It looks like the early Church welcoming slaves, Gentiles, and women as full members of the Body of Christ. It looks like saints such as Saint Moses the Ethiopian, Saint Mary of Egypt, and Saint Maria of Paris — each different in background and brokenness yet made whole in God.

It also looks like us-our churcheslearning to become more like Christ. Learning to see not with the eyes of fear, discomfort, or judgment, but with the eyes of love.

Can we become a Church where no one is "othered," where everyone knows they belong, where even weakness is honored because it makes space for God's grace?

In the end, diversity is not a political slogan. It is a Eucharistic reality. The Church is the one place on earth where people from all walks of life kneel side by side, receive the same holy Body and Blood of our Lord in the Eucharist, and are united into the one Body of Christ through our repentance and transformed life.

And so I ask, "What will our parishes look like if we take this calling seriously? Will we be a place of hospitality and welcome or a place of judgement and exclusion? Will we listen to the marginalized among us, or remain comfortably blind?"

As Harriet beautifully put it: "Autism exercised my spiritual being and created an unshakeable foundation... 'My strength is made perfect in weakness." Let that be the heartbeat of our com-

Summer is officially here, and the sunny season promises exciting outdoor activities, as well as direct exposure to the sun's rays. If your "hot fun in the summertime" included getting burned, read on - these sunburn tips can take the heat off.

 $Every one\,knows\,over exposure\,to\,the\,sun$ is dangerous. Not only does a sunburn dehydrate your skin, break down collagen and provoke wrinkles, just one blistering sunburn doubles the likelihood of developing malignant melanoma. The golden rule to treating a sunburn is to avoid applying lotions or creams that can hold in the heat, for the first 48 hours. Aloe Vera may be applied during that time. Here are some more ways to combat the common seasonal malady:

Cool milk compresses take the heat off a sunburn. Simply soak cheesecloth in whole milk and lay compress over skin. Reapply as necessary.

The tannins in black tea will also help sootheasunburn. Simply patthesoreskin with wet teabags for almost instant relief.

White vinegar has long been used to relieve sunburn pain. Just mix two tablespoons of white vinegar in one half cup water and dab on burned area with a soft cloth as often as needed.

Or apply plain yogurt to the skin, then add some cold water and smooth on skin.

Sunburn sprays are handy to tote with you while you are suffering the after effects of a sunburn. There's no need to spend big bucks on commercial mists when there are many effective sprays you can make yourself.

Here are some to trv: Super Sunburn Spray: Mix together liquid aloe vera (sometimes called aloe vera juice, available at health stores); with half as much liquid Vitamin E and a few drops of lavender essential oil. Pour into a spray bottle and lightly mist the body.

Your body, your brain,

How do we know?

In 1801, physicist Thomas Young ran a simple experiment with light. He shined it through a single slit, then through two narrow slits, and observed the pattern it made on a screen behind.

If light behaved like tiny particles—like little bullets flying through the slits-he would've seen just two bright spots. Instead, he saw something strange: a series of bright and dark bands.

This experiment became one of the first major clues that light

Cucumber Sunburn Lotion is another cool cure for sore skin: To make, squeeze the juice from one chopped cucumber (use a juicer) and mix with one quarter cup each glycerin and rosewater.

This Cooling Sunburn Mist is quick and easy to whip up. Mix together two ounces distilled water: nine drops of lavender essential oil; two drops of peppermint essential oil; and one drop of spearmint essential oil. The lavender has antibacterial properties and the mint oils cool off skin fast.

This recipe relieves the pain and tightness of a sunburn almost instantly: Sunburn Bath: In a blender, puree one cucumber and pour into a bowl. Add four cups oatmeal, ten black tea bags and two tablespoons rosemary leaves and mix well. Pour mixture into bath under running water. Take a long, relieving soak.

Harvest garlic and replant with quick-maturing vegetables

Get the best flavor and longest storage life from your homegrown garlic with proper harvesting, curing and storage. Then fill that space with a quick-maturing vegetable for a tasty fall harvest.

Harvest garlic when approximately one third, but less than half of the leaves turn brown. Start by digging one plant to check the garlic for maturity. Cloves should be plump and fill the skin.

Immature garlic does not store well, while over-mature bulbs are more subject to disease. Don't discard but rather use immature garlic as soon as possible.

Cure the garlic you plan to store for three to four weeks in a warm, well-ventilated location. Once dried, remove soil, long roots and only the damaged outermost layer of papery skin with a brush of your gloved hand. Cut off the tops being careful not to damage the papery covering that protects the cloves.

Store the garlic in a cool location with good air circulation and out of direct sunlight to prevent resprouting. Properly harvested and cured garlic will last for up to eight months.

Garlic can also be frozen. Place the whole bulb, individual cloves, or peeled, chopped cloves in a single layer in a plastic freezer bag. Use frozen garlic to flavor your favorite recipes within three to four months for the best flavor.

Once harvested, prepare the area for another planting. Spread a layer of compost over the area or incorporate an inch of compost into the top six inches of soil and fertilize if needed.

Calculate the number of frost-free days remaining in your growing season. Simply count the number of days from planting to the date of the average first fall frost in your area. Select and plant vegetable seeds and transplants that will be ready to harvest before the first killing frost in fall. Check the back of the seed packet or plant tag for the number of days from planting to harvest. If there is enough time for the summer planting to grow and produce before the first killing frost, they can be added to the garden. Or extend the season with cold frames and floating row covers to protect plantings as needed from killing frost.

Depending on the variety, cucumbers and bush beans are ready to harvest in as few as 60 days. Enjoy great flavor from summer plantings of broccoli and cabbage transplants harvested during the cooler months of fall. Sow seeds of radishes, beets, carrots and other quick-maturing vegetables for a fall harvest.

Once your seeds and transplants are in the ground, be sure to water properly. Keep the seedbed and roots of transplants moist for the first few weeks. Gradually reduce watering frequency as seedlings sprout and grow and transplants become established. Help keep the soil cool by mulching plantings with shredded leaves, evergreen needles or other organic mulch.

Enjoy the rewards of all your planning, planting and care with bountiful harvests now through the end of the season.

Delaney Kudron of Oxford graduates from Eastern Connecticut State University

WILLIMANTIC, Conn. — More than 800 Eastern Connecticut State University students received undergraduate and graduate-level degrees in the 2024-25 academic year, which culminated this past May with two commencement ceremonies at the conclusion of the spring 2025 semester.

Delaney Kudron of Oxford graduated with a Bachelor of Arts in History and Social Science.

From first-generation college students to seasoned professionals pursuing advanced degrees, the graduates reflected the breadth and diversity of Eastern's public liberal arts mission. They ranged in age from 20 to 72, representing nearly all of Connecticut's 169 towns, 19 other U.S. states, and more than 30 foreign countries. The graduates went through the University's School of Arts and Sciences, School of Education and Professional Studies, and Graduate Division. Popular undergraduate majors included business administration, psychology, health sciences, sociology, and communication. At the graduate level, degrees were awarded in fields such as accounting, education (early childhood, elementary, secondary), management, applied data science, special education, and educational technology.

commencement ceremony, Dr. Mary Grant, president of the Massachusetts College of Art and Design, applauded the graduates for their resilience, especially as the first class to attend college following the initial shutdown of the COVID-19 pandemic.

"In a world that sometimes chooses fear over hope, choose hope," she said. Drawing on her own liberal arts background, she emphasized the enduring value of skills like critical thinking, creativity, and ethical reasoning. "These aren't soft skills," she said. "They're essential skills-skills that all employers want."

President Karim Ismaili echoed that sentiment, com-

He encouraged graduates to recognize shared humanity and stand up for marginalized communities. "See the people who don't look exactly like you; they're your people too," he said. During her graduate ceremo-

During her graduate ceremony remarks, student speaker Shellena Pitterson '25 highlighted the personal sacrifices and late-night study sessions that defined the graduate journey: "We've navigated assignments, exams, late nights, and - let's be honest - the occasional existential crisis."

At the undergraduate ceremony, Senior Class President Felishka Ramirez '25 thanked the "Eastern village" of faculty and staff who invested in students' growth. "They didn't just teach us; they believed in us. They taught us how to think critically, how to persevere, and how to believe in the power of our own voices," she said. Speaking on behalf of alumni, Ellen Lang '81 spoke at both ceremonies to welcome new graduates into Eastern's alumni family, now more than 40,000 strong. "You are now connected to a powerful and supportive network of leaders, changemakers, and lifelong learners," she said. "Once a Warrior, always a Warrior."

The only thing that changed... was the act of observing.

When the particles were observed, they behaved the way the scientists believed they should. When not observed, the particles had a mind of their own.

We all live our lives with an underlying expectation of what we think will happen. We expect certain outcomes in our relationships, our work, our health—even without realizing it.

If you expect failure, you'll probably see it. But if you expect success, and you are present, focused, and emotionally aligned with that outcome, quantum physics suggests that you may literally begin to tune into a version of reality where that success starts to show up.

Just as the observer changed the outcome of the particle's path, quantum physics suggests your awareness and expectation will shape the path of your own life.

The Quantum field is not distant. It's all around us, it's inside of us.

mending graduates for transforming through their college years into effective communicators, problem solvers, and thoughtful citizens. "You've matured, you've discovered new passions, and in many ways, you've changed," he said. "These skills will serve you no matter where life takes you."

Connecticut Attorney General William Tong spoke at the graduate-level ceremony on May 17, where he was awarded Eastern's inaugural Distinguished Public Service Award. Reflecting on his upbringing as the son of Chinese immigrants working in a family-owned restaurant in Wethersfield, Tong said, "There are a lot of people who feel our thoughts, our emotions, and our beliefs. Put those three together, and you get expectations.

The Quantum world is telling us something. It's not just what we see, but how we see, that shapes our reality.

Local students named to dean's list at Tufts University

MEDFORD — Lilianna Sigalovsky, Class of 2026, of Webster and Sophia Gawronski, Class of 2027, from Auburn have been named to the dean's list at Tufts University for the spring 2025 semester. Dean's list honors at Tufts University require a semester grade point average of 3.4 or greater.

Tufts University, located on campuses in Boston, Medford/Somerville and Grafton, and in Talloires, France, is recognized among the premier research universities in the United States. Tufts enjoys a global reputation for academic excellence and for the preparation of students as leaders in a wide range of professions. A growing number of innovative teaching and research initiatives span all Tufts campuses, and collaboration among the faculty and students in the undergraduate, graduate, and professional programs across the university's schools is widely encouraged.

how far the library has come, reminiscing on the successful campaign to build the facility as well as how The Pearle has grown to be so much more than a place to rent books.

"We never had a negative vote when we started this process 20 years ago, but questions would be asked, 'in the future you're not going to need books.' Well, books are a major part of this, but we do so much more here. The imagination between the staff. They always come to us asking to try new things and the Trustees are game to try anything. If it doesn't work, they go on to something new and we've become known as 'the fun library,'' said Craver. The 15 years celebra-

The 15 years celebration of the current building was a testament to all the different elements that make The Pearle such a beloved community treasure. Music, food, arts and crafts and more made for a full afternoon for anyone of any age. The day was also an opportunity to honor the many individuals who led the campaign for the building so many years ago and Hugh and Harriet Crawford who were the Grand Benefactors of the facility.

While one might think it's unique that the library drew such a huge crowd for a single celebration, Messier said the library has become accustomed to large turnouts with the year-overyear numbers from 2024 to 2025 alone, seeing an increase of nearly 150 more program attendees and roughly 1,475 more total visitors to the facility. Despite fears of physical media disappearing, The Pearle continued to see an increase in physical circulation by more than 40 percent year-overyear, as well as continued increases in digital circulation and foot traffic.

With numbers like that, it's safe to assume The Pearle will continue to be a cherished local resource for another 15 years and beyond.

The caricature station was a popular attraction for visitors young and old with a line of patrons running through the library waiting for their turn.

ly approved declaring a vacancy for a patrolman in June while another vacancy was already in the hiring process.

Karlowicz praised both officers as capable and well-trained veterans who bring knowledge and experience to the department. "They will provide guidance to some of our young officers, and they're excited for the new chapter in their lives to come to Dudley. That shows that our police department has a lot to offer when you have two veteran officers come into our town and show interest in joining our police department," said the Chief. Officer Scott Crevier previously served 20 years with the Connecticut State Police as a detective in the Major Crimes Unit and on the force's Tactical Team and Dive Team before joining the Sturbridge Police Department in 2018. He had previously served the Monson Police Department and the Ware Police Department. Currently a resident of Woodstock, Conn., of Crevier told selectmen that the small-town mentality is what drew him to Dudley.

Dudley staple which now totals nearly 125 years.

"It's the professionalism and their style of the policing with the community. It seems like the town is behind them," said Crevier.

Officer Jeff Forcier brings more than 27 years of law enforcement experience, the last 12 with Sturbridge. He previously served in the Military Police as well as working in the Wales and Brookfield Departments Police and the Assumption College Campus Police. He was a Lieutenant for the Holland Police Department before his most recent stint in Sturbridge. Forcier, who was born and raised Southbridge and in Charlton, said he felt the time was right for him to make a change in his career.

"Life is about opportunity and timing, and this just happened to be both. I'm looking forward to getting back to working in the smaller community," Forcier said.

Both officers officially started their new positions in Dudley on July 15.

Select Board has handled the matter, they want to keep a professional and productive working relationship with the town. Szela also stated that while they would inform Charlton that they would not issue a statement, they do understand and acknowledge the concerns shared by the selectmen.

"It's an unfortunate climate that we're in right now, but I don't think that, as far as the schools go, we should issue a statement at this time. Just having Mr. Lamarche's well-written words that he spoke regarding the situation probably covers our bases," Szela said. "I don't want to hurt the relationship that we have with the towns going forward, but I feel like just putting it on the burner and letting them know we're aware and we understand their concerns and not taking really a stand at this time would be our best bet."

A video recording of the July 10 meeting containing Lamarche's full statement and the statements of individual School Committee members has been made available for the public on the Dudley Charlton Regional School Committee page of the district Web site.

United Way bolds 19th Day of Caring

REGION — The United Way of South Central MA (UWSCM) held its 19th Annual Day of Caring on Friday, June 20, aligning with United Way's National Day of Action on June 21.

This community-wide volunteer event brought together 75 volunteers from local companies and residents. The day was dedicated to giving back and making a positive difference in the communities served by UWSCM. Volunteers tackled 12 different projects across Charlton, Dudley, Southbridge, Sturbridge, and Webster. Projects included painting, cleaning, landscaping, and organizing. Volunteers were found at the following project sites: Dodge Chapel and the Charlton Animal Shelter in Charlton, the Perle L. Crawford Library and Tri-Valley, Inc. in Dudley, Heritage Trail, Joe Capillo Park, Southbridge Food Share, and the YMCA in Southbridge, Leadmine Trail in Sturbridge, and the Boys & Girls Club, Guild of St. Agnes, and the Gladys E. Kelly Library in Webster. The day began at the Southbridge Common with breakfast sandwiches provided by the Elm Centre Café and fresh fruit donated by Big Bunny Market. Volunteers also received custom embroidered hats, sponsored by Webster First Federal Credit Union.

According to United Way Executive Director, Kristin McCarthy, "Our volunteers accomplished so much in just five hours, and we are so grateful for the time and energy they contributed to each project. I'd like to thank the companies and agencies who allowed their employees to volunteer with us: CASA Project, Center of Hope, Community Legal Aid, Dexter-Russell, JLA Contracting, MAPFRE, Our Bright Future, Reconciliation House, Savers Bank, Southbridge Credit Union, Starkweather & Shepley, Tri-Valley, Inc., Webster First Federal Credit Union, and Webster Five. It was a successful day and several volunteers mentioned that they are looking forward to participating again next year!"

The United Way of South Central Massachusetts is a non-profit organization dedicated to improving the lives of people in the communities it serves. UWSCM achieves its mission by funding local programs that focus on education, health, and financial stability. For more information, or to donate, please visit www.uwscm.org

professional development

CHARLTON — The Bay Path Practical Nursing Academy is proud to announce that four of its faculty members who were nominated for recent professional development funding have been successfully awarded, securing a total of $3,356 to support their ongoing growth and excellence in nursing education. Each faculty member will receive an award of $839.00.

The funded faculty members are:

- Virginia Dockstader, BSN, RN
- Barbara Martel, BSN, RN
- Christine Piehl, BSN, RN

Rianna Romano, MSN, RN, CEN

This 100 percent success rate in securing funding underscores the high caliber and commitment of Bay Path Practical Nursing Academy's nursing educators. These funds are designated to support faculty who are eligible to sit for the Academic Clinical Nurse Educator Certification (CNEcl) exam, demonstrating the Bay Path Practical Nursing Academy's dedication to fostering advanced certifications and continuous professional development among its teaching staff.

The Academic Clinical Nurse Educator Certification Exam was created for academic clinical nurse educators to demonstrate expertise in this role. The academic clinical nurse educator facilitates the learning of nursing students throughout clinical components of an academic nursing program. This educator is guided in this role by faculty of the nursing program and is accountable to that nursing program for providing fair evaluations of learners' performance in meeting expected learning outcomes. The academic clinical nurse educator may have a variety of titles depending on the classification used by the specific nursing education program (e.g., clinical faculty, part-time faulty, adjunct faculty, clinical instructor, or preceptor), according to https://www.nln.org/certification/ Certification-for-Nurse-Educators/cne-cl

We are absolutely delighted by this news," said Gretheline Bolandrina, DHA, MSN Ed, RN, CRRN, Academy Director. 'This funding is a testament to the dedication of our faculty to not only their students but also to their own professional growth. Investing in our educators directly translates to an enhanced learning experience for our students and reinforces the high standards of nursing education we uphold at Bay Path."

The Bay Path Practical Nursing Academy worked closely with the funding body and finalized the necessary steps for payment processing. The Bay Path Practical Nursing Academy received the lump sum payment, which will then be distributed to the faculty members. Further follow-up will occur in approximately six months to capture outcomes for faculty who utilized this funding for the CNEcl exam.

This achievement highlights Bay Path Practical Nursing Academy's ongoing commitment to faculty development, ensuring that its students receive instruction from highly qualified and continually advancing nursing professionals.
