Monarch Orchard celebrates grand opening

Members of the Charlton Select Board welcome Monarch Orchards to the community.

BY JASON BLEAU
CORRESPONDENT

CHARLTON — It's been quite a few years now since the previous owners of Charlton Orchard sought to sell the property, resulting in a controversy that divided the town of Charlton. However, years after the dust settled, the orchard now officially has new life, but this time serving as a uniting force for the community. Like a butterfly emerging from its slow transformation in a cocoon, Charlton Orchard is now officially reborn as Monarch Orchard.

The venue held its official grand opening on Oct. 25, with new owners Alanna and Justin Tomer welcoming guests to a special celebration including music, vendors, games, and more. Speaking about his new business venture, Justin Tomer said he fell in love with the property from the start and eventually he and Alanna decided to take a chance and purchased the property to continue its legacy as an orchard producing numerous different kinds of produce.

"We've been just putting in as much work as we can to open it up and clear a lot more land and make it available for people to come in an enjoy," Justin Tomer said. "It's amazing to see the people and it gives you goosebumps. You see how happy everybody is, and it brings another life to the orchard. It feels like something that's been needed."

Alanna Tomer spoke about how special the grand opening was as she greeted guests during a ceremony which included appearances by elected officials from the state and Charlton's Select Board.

"It's been a long road to get here and a lot of hard work, but today we have so much to celebrate," said

Alanna. "Monarch Orchards was once just a scribble on a piece of paper, an idea, a dream, and now we are here standing proudly on this land seeing it all come to life."

Before the Tomer's came along, the fate of Charlton Orchard proved divisive among the people of Charlton. Prior to 2020, the potential sale of the property for use as what would have been one of the largest cannabis growth sites in the country resulted in lawsuits and heated debates, although many simply wanted to see the property remain as an orchard.

This controversy was referenced by state and local lawmakers, who kept their statements vague enough to recall the struggle, but focused more on the positive and what the orchard has since become.

"We know in this community some years ago this might have been used for something else and that caused a bit of a stir to say the least," said State Rep. Paul Frost, whose territory includes part of Charlton, including Monarch Orchard. "To have this go back to what it was originally here for and have them nurture this land and make it a jewel of the community is a great endeavor."

Charlton Selectman Steven Koronis agreed noting that while he wasn't on the Select Board during the years of the controversy, he was keenly aware of how important preserving the property was to the townsfolk.

"There were so many people that were saying why can't someone buy up the orchard and keep it an orchard. That was the common thread. Regardless of which side of the argument you were on, everybody wanted that and this is proof that sometimes it takes just a matter of time before someone is brave enough to do it," said Koronis.

Now the future looks bright for Monarch Orchard. Even as the fall and winter months approach, the family is hard at work preparing for exciting springs and summers ahead in 2026 and beyond steeped in local tradition and a desire to preserve and build upon the small town, pick-your-own-food aesthetic that many loved about the orchard for so many years.

A small group of weary travelers discover the power of the season while trapped in a lonely train station on Christmas Eve. As a blizzard rages outside, the troubled people are forced to turn to each other for companionship. Trying to make them more comfortable is the old stationmaster, Charlie. When the clock strikes midnight, there is a knock on the station door and seven youngsters appear. They've seen the station lights from the nearby church where, in secret, they've been practicing the story of the nativity which they plan to present at regular service. They offer to perform their play for the travelers and afterward, speak to the travelers individually, giving advice which is seemingly wise beyond their years. The next morning, as a new, younger stationmaster lights a Christmas candle, we realize the mysterious stop in the travelers' journey was more than accidental and has given them a renewed spirit and resolve.

Tantasqua Hall of Fame announces 2025 inductees

FISKDALE — The Tantasqua Hall of Fame Committee is proud to announce the inductees for the Class of 2025, recognizing a distinguished group of three student athletes at a ceremony on Wednesday, Nov. 26 at the high school cafeteria.

J.J. Howland, tight end, captain and MVP of the 2016 Western Massachusetts championship team, will lead off the ceremony. Howland was a four-year varsity starter who went on to play Division 1 football for Yale University and professional football for the Tampa Bay Buccaneers.

From the Class of 2014, football lineman Bobby Law will be recognized for his relentless style of play on both sides of the ball. In nominating Law for the honor, Coach Joseph Beveridge called him a "one-man wrecking crew." He was team captain in his senior year and a member of the Worcester Telegram and Gazette Super Team before going on to excel at Deerfield Academy and Union College.

J.J. Howland

Stephen Tieri earned his place in the Hall of Fame nearly 30 years after his outstanding accomplishments on the soccer field and baseball diamond in 1986. He made the soccer varsity team at the age of 13 and went on to score 20 goals as captain his senior year. He was also captain of the baseball team and earned the Wyman and Stewart Award given by coaches in recognition of his dedication and excellence in both sports.

"These are three extraordinary student athletes," said William Emrich, chair of the committee. "We're proud to be able to recognize their contributions."

The Hall of Fame started in 2010 as a "method of acknowledging outstanding athletic abilities and contributions to the proud Tantasqua community," according to the committee's Policy and Procedure guide. It has inducted 41 players and contributors, whose accomplishments are enshrined in a permanent display in the athletic foyer at Tantasqua High School.

Bobby Law

"The display not only recognizes those who helped build the Warrior spirit, but also inspires today's youth to strive for excellence in sports," Emerich said.

The ceremony is set to start with light refreshments and a meet and greet at 6 p.m., followed by opening remarks and formal inductions at 6:45 p.m. The high school is located at 319 Brookfield Rd., Fiskdale.

Tantasqua plays Shepard Hill in the annual Thanksgiving game the following day at 10 a.m. at Tantasqua.

Community invited to celebration of love, healing, and community spirit

STURBRIDGE — Juno's Place and Burt's Brigade are thrilled to announce the Grand Reopening of the Wolfie's Legacy Memorial, a beloved community space rebuilt after being destroyed during a devastating winter storm. To celebrate the return of this cherished memorial, the public is invited to join a Pizza Party & Celebration at Juno's Place on Saturday, Nov. 2, from 1-4 p.m.

For years, the Wolfie's Legacy Memorial has served as a comforting sanctuary where grieving pet parents could honor the memories of their beloved companions. Visitors from across the country have sent tags, collars, photos, handwritten notes, and keepsakes—each one representing a story of love, loss, and healing.

After a powerful storm brought down a tree that destroyed the original gazebo in January, the teams from Juno's Place, Burt's Brigade, and their supporters refused to give up. Months of dedication, and kindness made it possible to rebuild the memorial—stronger, safer, and more beautiful than before.

"This memorial isn't just a structure—it's a symbol of love, hope, and connection," said the Juno's Place and Burt's Brigade teams. "We're so grateful to everyone who helped make this possible. The new Wolfie's Legacy Gazebo will continue to be a place where every heart that has loved and lost can find peace."

The new cedar-shingled structure, generously donated by Reeds Ferry Sheds of New England, features improved accessibility, a durable foundation, and special additions such as the symbolic Rainbow Bridge entrance and the Whisper Phone Booth, where visitors can privately speak their final words to their pets.

The reopening party will feature pizza, refreshments, and community fellowship as friends gather to celebrate the memory of Wolfie—a small rescue dog whose short but powerful life inspired the creation of the original memorial. Guests are encouraged to bring a memento of their pet to add to the memorial.

"Wolfie's spirit continues to bring people together," said a representative from Juno's Place. "This celebration is for everyone who's ever loved a pet, said goodbye, and found healing through shared compassion."

P.E.O. Chapter R to host informational meeting on educational funding for women WORCESTER — Women seeking financial assistance for their educational goals are encouraged to attend an upcoming informational meeting hosted by P.E.O. Chapter R of Worcester. The event will focus on the variety of low-interest loans, grants, scholarships, and awards available through the Philanthropic Educational Organization (P.E.O.).

The P.E.O. Sisterhood is a U.S.-based international women's organization that was founded in 1869 by seven young women at Iowa Wesleyan College. Dedicated to its mission: "where women educate, motivate, and celebrate women," P.E.O. has grown to nearly a quarter of a million members across the U.S. and Canada, passionately committed to advancing women's education.

The organization's philanthropic work is extensive. P.E.O.

proudly sponsors six international philanthropies that provide financial assistance to women at various stages of their academic journey. These programs include:

- P.E.O. Scholar Awards (PSA): Merit-based awards for women pursuing doctoral-level degrees.

In addition, P.E.O. owns and supports Cottey College, an independent, baccalaureate-granting liberal arts and sciences institution for women in Nevada, Missouri. Chapter R, led by Christine White (paws@townisp.com) invites the public to learn how these resources can provide opportunities for women pursuing various educational paths, including those returning to school, seeking career development, or continuing their academic studies.

Event Details
Attendees will receive details on eligibility requirements and the application processes for the organization's various financial programs. All P.E.O. financial projects require a recommendation from a local chapter, making this local information session a crucial first step.

Southbridge Historical Society meets Wednesday

SOUTHBRIDGE — The Southbridge Historical Society will meet on Wednesday, Nov. 12 at 7 p.m. at the Ruth Wells Center for the Arts, 111 Main St.

This evening's program is "History Beneath Our Feet," presented by Wally Hersee of the Sturbridge Historical Society. Hersee is a photographer, amateur historian, and writer on the Sturbridge Historical Society's Facebook page.

In the summer of 2024, Hersee formed a group of local volunteers that soon became gravestone preservationists. They began a project to clean the gravestones in the North Cemetery in Sturbridge for both clerical and preservation reasons. Cleaning the stones of organic matter and dirt preserves the, and allows the information on them to be recorded properly. This enables families and genealogists to learn more about their families.

As always, this program is free and open to the public.

Honoring those who served, in every season

Every November, the wind grows sharp, the flags hang proud, and our towns pause to remember. Veterans Day arrives not as a holiday of fireworks or gifts, but as one of reflection—a moment for gratitude measured not in words but in quiet acknowledgment. In Southbridge, Sturbridge, Charlton and surrounding communities, that gratitude takes many forms. It’s seen in the Boy Scouts who line Main Street with flags before dawn. It’s heard in the toll of the bell outside Town Hall. It’s felt in the firm handshake of an aging veteran who still stands straight when the anthem plays.

These gestures, simple as they are, remind us that service is not confined to history books or battlefields. It lives here, in the veterans who coach youth teams, volunteer at food pantries, and sit patiently in meeting halls when their towns debate budgets and bylaws. They’ve already given enough—and yet they give still. In small towns like ours, remembrance has weight. We know the names etched on the granite. We see the faces at the Legion breakfast or the VFW fish fry. Many of us grew up watching parades from the curb, waving at our grandfathers, mothers, or uncles in uniform. Veterans Day belongs to them, but it also challenges the rest of us. It asks us to keep faith with those who served—to ensure that their courage is matched by our care. That means supporting organizations that help veterans find work, housing, and healthcare. It means checking in on neighbors whose lives were shaped by military service. It means teaching our children why freedom is fragile, and who paid for it.

As the last of the autumn leaves fall across the Southbridge Common, the flags at half-staff remind us: some debts cannot be repaid, only remembered. So this week, take a moment. Attend the ceremony, offer a thank-you, or simply stand in silence when the bugle calls. In that stillness, we honor not only the veterans of war, but the enduring spirit of service that holds our small communities together.

Come as you are

The other day. I was praying about what to write, when I heard a song played on our local Christian music station Q90.1 “Come as you are...” * “Come as you are.”

Then not long after that I reached out to friends who invited me to a party. When I texted what could I bring, their text reply “come as you are.”

Point is “come as you are” seems to be the theme, so let’s go with it.

“Come as you are” is a powerful invitation. Think about it. It is an unvarnished statement of heartfelt hospitality. It is pure welcome. It is a gift. And it is sensibility felt by others that the comment truly comes from the heart.

“Come as you are” really means you are enough. It is the hallmark of people who know how to make others feel at home.

“Home” can be a residence, or in the broader sense the spiritual dwelling for a faith family – our house of worship.

But how often do people feel that sense of hospitality in church settings, let alone other environments? Especially if folks are shy, lonely, going through challenges, a crisis of faith.

At one point or another we have all experienced the need for human contact expressing kindness and hospitality, even when we “come as you are” may not be our best.

That’s when houses of worship have to convey you are enough.

You can tell a place has the spirit of welcome because you can immediately feel just come because you are enough. The invitation “come as you are” is authentic, organic, natural; people make you feel you are what matters. The Bible, the Torah, and religious traditions throughout history encourage fellowship among believers, a sense of welcome to visitors, and hospitality for those exploring a journey of faith, regardless of where the travelers find themselves, even on the sidelines, or starting block. Jesus made this abundantly clear with all who met Him... “come as you are,” because you are enough.

Thankfully several houses of worship, and opportunities in our area where the spirit of welcome, and hospitality is as natural as the invitation “come as you are.”

And that can mean visit our church, or one of the others in town or nearby, partake of var-

Smart financial moves to make before year-end

As the year winds down, it's the perfect time to make some smart moves before the calendar flips to 2026. Think of it as a financial tune-up that could help with saving money and setting you up for success in the months ahead. Here are some things to consider.

- Don't forget about required withdrawals. If you're 73 or older, you'll need to take your required minimum distribution from traditional retirement accounts to avoid a 25 percent penalty on any amount you should have withdrawn but didn't. This rule also applies to some people who inherited retirement accounts, including certain Roth accounts.
- Use your flexible spending money. Got money sitting in a flexible spending account at work? Remember, these accounts follow a "use it or lose it" rule. Check with your HR department about your plan's specific deadlines for spending the money and submitting receipts. Whether it's that dental work you've been putting off or new prescription glasses you need, now's the time to use those funds before they disappear.

- Boost your retirement savings. Consider ramping up your pretax retirement contributions before year-end. Not only will this help your future self, but it might also reduce your current tax bill. If your workplace plan allows it, you can even set up automatic increases for next year so you won't have to remember to do it later.
- Share the wealth through gifting. In 2025, the current tax rules let you give family or friends up to $19,000 per person without affecting your lifetime gift tax exemption. Married couples can combine their allowances to give up to $38,000 per person. Plus, you can pay someone's tuition or medical bills directly without these payments counting against your gift limits at all.

FINANCIAL FOCUS

NIELSEN

- Navigate new tax changes. The recently passed One Beautiful Bill Act has made several tax provisions permanent, including lower individual tax rates and higher standard deductions. However, it also introduces new changes that might affect your situation. It's worth sitting down with a financial advisor or tax professional to understand how these updates impact your specific circumstances.

- Examine your investments. Take some time to review your investment portfolio. Ask yourself: Did your investments perform as expected this year? Do they still match your goals and comfort level with risk? You might need to rebalance things to get back on track.
- Build up your emergency fund. It's ideal to have enough cash saved to cover three to six months of living expenses in an easily accessible account. This safety net can prevent you from having to raid your retirement savings when unexpected expenses pop up.

- Review your estate planning documents. This is especially important if you've had major life changes like marriage, divorce or a new baby. Don't forget to check the beneficiary designations on all your bank and brokerage accounts as well as life insurance policies – these often override what's written in your will.

Taking care of these financial housekeeping tasks now can help you start the new year on solid ground.

Food security

But out of that dust, compassion took root.

Ordinary citizens—neighbors, church groups, and volunteers—refused to wait for government relief that was still tangled in red tape. In living rooms and church basements, they poured kettles of soup, handed out bread loaves, and opened their doors to strangers. These homegrown soup kitchens ran on donations, not directives.

In Detroit, Capuchin friars opened a humble kitchen that would serve thousands each day, surviving on faith and flour. Even Chicago’s most unlikely philanthropist, Al Capone, set up a soup line—not out of sainthood, of course.

Across the nation, gymnasiums became dining halls, union halls became food depots, and women’s auxiliaries became engines of mercy. The system was imperfect and chaotic, but it worked.

No one knows exactly how many Americans were starving, but by 1932, a quarter of all families had no wage earner at all. Hunger was not a number—it was a cold morning, an empty pot, a mother whispering to her child, “We’ll find something tomorrow.”

Out on the plains, where the dust blotted out the sun, the same story unfolded. Farm wives gathered wild berries. Neighbors shared seed and sugar. Churches turned barns into relief depots. At train stations, small-town committees left buckets of milk and bread for migrants heading west. And in California’s orchards, locals organized food drives for the endless wave of families who had lost everything but their will to survive.

By the late 1930s, those collective acts of kindness—migrant relief kitchens, church pantries, and conservation efforts—had begun to turn the tide. Fields were reseeded. Families found work. The wind still blew, but hope had returned to the soil.

Things may change by the time you read this, but as of now, the federal government shutdown has halted the Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program—known to most as food stamps or EBT. More than 42 million Americans rely on that card to buy groceries and feed their families. A judge has ordered the administration to make the payments, but delays mean refrigerators are empty.

Wherever you stand on the issue, I hope we can all agree that when the system pauses, the people must not.

Throughout our history, when hardship struck—whether in the breadlines of the Great Depression or the barren fields of the Dust Bowl—it wasn’t bureaucracy that saved us. It was we, neighbors, who refused to look away. Church volunteers stirring soup at dawn. Farmers who shared seed they could barely spare. Americans have always filled the gap with compassion and courage, long before any program or policy could.

That’s the tradition we inherit. That’s what makes this country strong.

So go to the store. Pick up some rice, beans, noodles, pasta sauce, peanut butter, honey, and bread—whatever lasts and nourishes. Drop it off at your local food pantry. Share this with your friends and encourage them to do the same.

Please don’t wait for permission or for Washington to solve it. The United States is swimming in food; no one should go hungry.

America’s greatness has never come from government checks—it has come from human hands, and from hearts that move.

That’s the American way.

Gardening gifts that keep giving

MYERS

Gift the gardeners in your life with tools that are sure to make them smile as they put them to work throughout the coming years. No matter your budget, you are sure to find the perfect gift for your favorite gardener.

Help gardeners track the weather and rainfall in their backyard. You can find decorative and functional low- and high-tech thermometers in a wide range of prices. Consider giving them a rain gauge to help monitor rainfall so they know when and how much to water.

For the indoor gardener, paint a pot, preferably one with drainage holes, that they can use to display their favorite plant. If your budget allows, add potting mix and a plant or gift certificate so they can select a new or favorite plant from the garden center. Include a pair of snips to help them trim, groom and keep their indoor plants looking their best.

Purchase a fun watering can or decorate one with decoupage. This is a fun gift for kids and adults to make for family and teachers. Just select a plastic or metal watering can, gather pictures, and secure and seal them to the watering can with a suitable material found at craft stores.

Dress up your favorite gardener's gear with colorful tools like the British Meadow Pruner & Holster Set endorsed by the Royal Horticultural Society. The pruners have a comfort grip and are perfect for cutting small branches and stems and the floral holster will keep them handy when gardening. This makes a great gift for gardeners that appreciate aesthetics as well as quality tools.

And what gardener doesn't need a good bypass hand pruner with two sharp blades to make clean cuts. Look for one with a large three quarter inch cutting capacity if your gardener does extensive pruning. Select one with narrow, comfortable nonslip grips like those on the ClassicCUT® Bypass Pruner for those with small- to medium-sized hands. Stuff one in their stocking, combine it with a new garden book, or wrap it up as it makes a great gift on its own.

Don't forget the youngsters on your list. Research shows children exposed to the outdoors and gardening are more focused, do better in school, and have less severe ADHD symptoms. Girls raised in a landscaped environment are more confident and less subject to peer pressure. By encouraging them to garden you might be helping them acquire a lifelong skill and get help planning, planting and tending the garden.

Giving them their own kid-sized garden gear (coronatools.com) can make gardening more fun and easier as they garden by your side or in their own garden plot or container. Look for tools designed to fit children's hands like Corona's kids 3-piece garden tool set that has everything a young gardener needs to dig, explore, plant and tend their garden. A kid-sized wheelbarrow is just the right size for hauling plants, soil and mulch.

Don't let the hustle of the holiday season put a damper on your gift giving. Keep in mind this act of kindness generates happiness in ourselves and others.

Gretheline Bolandrina at the Sturbridge Big Y.

CHARLTON — For more than a decade, Big Y Supermarkets has been a steadfast supporter of the Bay Path Practical Nursing Academy, contributing to the growth and success of future nurses through generous donations, scholarships, and community partnerships.

The partnership between Big Y and Bay Path Practical Nursing Academy reflects a shared commitment to education, community health, and service — values that have shaped both institutions for years.

In 2013, Big Y supported then Professor Gretheline Bolandrina's clinical group, as the nursing students gain real-world experience and complete the hands-on training essential for their licensure, at the end of term and last clinical night, Big Y provided snacks.

By 2016, their generosity extended to holiday cheer, with the Practical Nursing Academy receiving $25 Big Y gift card and packaged in a festive mug — a thoughtful gesture recognizing the hard work and dedication of a lucky student during a rigorous academic year.

The collaboration continued in 2019 when Big Y proudly awarded the Big Y Scholarship to Deanna Scaramangos, of Paxton, acknowledging her excellence and potential in the nursing field. Deanna completed the program, passed her NCLEX-PN on her first attempt, and was gainfully employed.

Big Y's involvement has not been limited to student recognition. In 2020, with Shrewsbury Youth and Family Services providing Mental Health First Aid Training, promoting awareness and resilience among healthcare students and professionals — a vital focus amid the growing need for mental health support in healthcare, again, Big Y provided snacks.

Throughout 2021, Big Y continued to show its support for Bay Path Practical Nursing Academy's mission and the broader community. Most recently, in 2023, Big Y once again demonstrated its commitment to humanitarian efforts by encouraging customers to donate to the American Red Cross Hawaii Wildfires Relief, matching community compassion with corporate leadership, a project that the practical nursing students fully embraced.

From scholarships and student support to community outreach and disaster relief, Big Y's contributions exemplify what it means to invest in people — especially those preparing to serve others in nursing and healthcare.

Bay Path Practical Nursing Academy extends heartfelt thanks to Big Y for its partnership and for nurturing a spirit of compassion, education, and community care that continues to inspire students year after year.

Sheriff's Office announces annual Winter Coat Drive distributions

REGION — With winter fast approaching, the Worcester County Sheriff's Office and Worcester County Reserve Deputy Sheriff's Association are preparing for their Annual Winter Coat Drive. Their goal is to distribute 4,000 brand-new warm winter coats to those in Worcester County who need them, helping them stay comfortable during the winter months.

Distributions are planned on Nov. 4 at 10 a.m. at the Webster Dudley Food Share, 4 Church St., Webster, and Nov. 6 at 10:30 a.m. at the El Buen Samaritano Food Pantry, 39 Piedmont St., Worcester.

During the first weeks of November, Sheriff Lew Evangelidis and his team will distribute thousands of coats directly to local service organizations and community members. These coats will help keep people warm during the colder months and represent the support and care from local law enforcement.

The annual coat drive attracts many community sponsors, including Saint Francis Community Health Care, The Gun Parlor, Mercadante Funeral Home, Cliff & Susan Rucker Foundation, The Krock Family & Commerce Associates, CareOne at Millbury, The Overlook, Diamond Auto Group, KAL Construction & Remodeling, Chop Chop Convenience, Falcone Enterprises, NEPBA Local 550 Worcester County Correction Officers, Pat's Service Center, Quality Companies, Rockland Trust Bank, and Pam Massad, in Memory of "Duddie" and Bette Massad. Many other community organizations and businesses have also stepped up to support the initiative.

"The Worcester County Sheriff's Office Winter Coat Drive aims to strengthen connections with law enforcement across different communities in Worcester County," Sheriff Lew Evangelidis commented. "When we distribute these jackets, the recipients express a tremendous sense of gratitude. This time of the year is special for the Sheriff's Department, and we are excited to connect with the community members we serve."

DA hosts event highlighting holistic approaches to recovery

WORCESTER — On Oct. 23, Worcester County District Attorney Joseph D. Early, Jr. welcomed community members, including recovery advocates, health and wellness professionals, and law enforcement personnel to Veterans Inc. in Shrewsbury for a half-day event organized by the Prevention and Support Network. This event focused on supporting individuals and families affected by substance use disorders (SUD) through holistic, mind-body approaches to recovery.

Keynote speaker Linda Geraghty, a trauma-informed yoga instructor and family recovery specialist featured in the award-winning documentary Our American Family, spoke about the deep connection between trauma and substance use. Drawing from both professional expertise and her own experience, she emphasized how recovery requires attention to one’s entire system – body, mind, and family – not just the symptoms of addiction.

“Addiction is relentless. We often try to hide it while our families get sicker. Engaging in open conversations is crucial to truly understanding this disease, and that understanding is vital for the family's healing,” said Linda Geraghty.

Geraghty highlighted the ways in which stress and trauma can live in the body, and how practices like yoga, breathwork, and mindfulness can help release those patterns, restore regulation, and rebuild trust in oneself and others. Geraghty underscored the importance of supporting families, emphasizing that addiction affects loved ones as profoundly as those experiencing it firsthand, and that breaking generational cycles of trauma and addiction begins with compassion, communication, and consistent support. Her work integrates trauma-informed principles to help families navigate recovery with understanding, boundaries, and resilience – key themes that resonated with many in attendance.

A legacy of leadership, a heart for nursing Bay Path honors retiring Academy Director

CHARLTON — Bay Path Practical Nursing Academy and Bay Path Regional Vocational Technical High School bid a heartfelt farewell to its longtime leader, Dr. Gretheline Ramos Bolandrina, Academy Director, who retired on Thursday, Oct. 30. The event marked the end of a remarkable 12-year tenure defined by leadership, compassion, and dedicated service to the nursing community.

Under Dr. Bolandrina’s direction, the Practical Nursing program flourished, earning recognition for its academic rigor and the signature human touch she infused into every aspect of the curriculum. Her influence shaped generations of nurses, inspiring them to lead with professionalism, excellence, and heart.

A heartfelt celebration of service

Colleagues, faculty, and administrators from Bay Path Regional Vocational Technical High School gathered to honor Dr. Bolandrina’s contributions.

The celebration featured a special presentation by Superintendent Kyle Brenner, who unveiled the gift to Dr. Bolandrina an engraved Standard Chair of Gardner. This handcrafted piece from a renowned local family-owned company symbolized the respect and enduring legacy she leaves behind. Dr. Bolandrina was visibly moved by the thoughtful gesture.

A festive luncheon accompanied a beautifully designed cake that read: “Keep on Doing Amazing Things — Bay Path Will Miss You!” The atmosphere was filled with shared memories, laughter, and warm wishes, underscoring the deep affection colleagues hold for her. As the event concluded, Dr. Bolandrina’s husband, Joseph, assisted in carefully packing her office belongings, including the commemorative chair, marking a poignant close to her time at Bay Path.

A nurse’s final reflection

In her farewell message via email, Dr. Bolandrina reflected on the essence of her nursing journey, emphasizing the importance of compassion over confrontation: "Not every battle in nursing is meant to be fought with words. Some are won through silence, grace, and steadfast professionalism... Because in the end, nursing is not just about clinical skill or knowledge — it is about the heart."

She encouraged future nurses to embody this spirit: "We are not defined by how others treat us, but by how we continue to care, especially when it’s hardest. Choose empathy. Choose growth. Keep moving forward.”

Dr. Bolandrina expressed deep gratitude for her twelve years, calling Bay Path "a place where ordinary people became nurses and perseverance bloomed into purpose.”

New adventures await

While her chapter at the Academy closes, Dr. Bolandrina looks forward to exciting new adventures. She plans to spend time with her grandson, Tidus, visit her son Chef Gino’s Worcester restaurant, KuruKuru Ramen, and tend to her extensive tropical and rare plant collection (@Gretheline_plants).

“Dr. Bolandrina’s impact on the Academy and the nursing community will endure,” said a PN faculty member. “Her leadership, kindness, and dedication leave a lasting legacy. The momentum she helped build will carry forward in every graduate who serves the community and the greater good. The best is yet to come.”

Courtesy Superintendent Kyle Brenner with Dr. Gretheline Bolandrina.

A panel of local wellness professionals expanded on these ideas, offering practical insights into how holistic methods can complement traditional treatment and recovery pathways.

Panelists included Kellie Hamilton, founder of A Better Path to Wellness; Phil George, clinical biochemist; Jacqueline Monteiro, wellness practitioner and recovery coach; Anthony Bizzotto, president and co-founder of Revive of the U.S.A., Inc.; and Heidi Moody, personal trainer and L3 CrossFit coach. Each spoke about the ways nutrition, movement, mindfulness, and community engagement contribute to sustainable recovery and overall wellbeing.

Throughout the event, attendees also took part in guided mindfulness exercises and movement breaks, offering moments to practice the very mind-body techniques discussed during the program. These activities encouraged participants to experience firsthand how mindfulness and movement can support focus, stress relief, and emotional balance.

District Attorney Early commended the speakers and attendees for their shared commitment to exploring new, compassionate approaches to supporting recovery throughout Worcester County. He noted that addressing addiction requires collaboration across every part of the community – treatment and health care providers, families, schools, clergy, law enforcement, and local organizations – working together to reduce stigma and create lasting change.

QCC receives $106,000 TRAIN grant for PCA workforce program

WORCESTER — Quinsigamond Community College was recently awarded a $106,183 state grant for its Personal Care Assistant (PCA) workforce development program. The funding is part of approximately $1.5 million in Training Resources and Internships Network (TRAIN) grants awarded by the Healey-Driscoll Administration. QCC has received over $1.4 million in TRAIN grants since 2016.

QCC's PCA program will train 30 individuals as PCAs, providing an entry point to a career in healthcare. After successfully completing the PCA program, students will be prepared to work in entry-level positions in private residences, group homes and assisted living facilities, supervising and assisting elderly, ill or disabled clients.

"This grant allows us to expand access to meaningful healthcare careers and meet a growing need in our community," said Director of Workforce Development Operations Kathleen O'Connor. "Personal Care Aides play a vital role in supporting older adults and individuals with disabilities, and demand for qualified caregivers continues to rise. Our PCA program not only prepares students for immediate employment but also opens doors to long-term career growth."

The PCA program is designed to equip students with the essential knowledge, skills and competencies required to provide high-quality care in various settings.

The curriculum emphasizes hands-on training, real-world scenarios and foundational healthcare knowledge to ensure students are well prepared for their roles.

All students will receive 80 hours of classroom training, including Basic Life Support (BLS) Cardiopulmonary Resuscitation (CPR) certification training and workforce readiness training, as well as 16 experiential learning hours through an internship with employer partners. Students also have access to support services such as financial literacy assistance, family support services and transportation.

Charlton votes to prohibit firearms in town buildings

BY JASON BLEAU
CORRESPONDENT

CHARLTON — While, in many ways, Charlton’s fall town meeting was a standard affair, a pair of items in particular proved to be among the most controversial town meeting articles in recent memory as the town officially voted to prohibit the possession of firearms at town administrative offices and buildings.

The issue was brought to the forefront by both a Select Board article and a citizen’s petition with debate spanning around half of the over three-hour fall special town meeting on Oct. 20. Both articles sought to exempt town administrative buildings and offices from the provisions of Mass General Law that prohibits firearms in government facilities. Essentially, as part of the Acts of 2024, which were effective as of August of 2024, municipalities have the ability to vote to exempt town administrative buildings as prohibited areas. A “yes” vote would have allowed firearms in these facilities. Both articles were brought to a vote and both failed albeit in very close decisions.

The first vote was one of the closest in recent memory at a Charlton town meeting. The 133 “yes” to 137 “no” decision meant every one of the 274 voters on hand played an important part in the matter, especially considering that four voters abstained which was the exact difference in the vote count. A subsequent vote on the citizen’s petition article also had a close but more decisive margin of 101 “yes” to 126 “no” although numerous voters had left the meeting after the first article’s results.

The debate leading up to the vote was substantial and extensive. Numerous speakers spoke in support of the Second Amendment arguing that such rules only hurt law abiding citizens who could serve as the first line of defense if a shooter were ever to enter these buildings. Others argued against the articles believing that more guns don’t make people safer and sharing concerns about weapons near children, especially in the town’s library which was eventually exempt from the Select Board article as part of an amendment. In addition, while it was made clear that schools are not town administrative buildings and were exempt from the articles a point was made that there could be gray area where schools hosting town meetings could be considered administrative buildings during that time.

Local Reverend John Lucy was one of the first to speak against the articles, drawing from the common argument that guns are simply tools that bad people use to kill. “If guns are not a problem, I would say having more guns in more places is also not a solution,” said Lucy.

On that same note, Nancy Pecore, a Second Amendment supporter, offered a counterargument later in the debate.

“It’s not the tool, it’s the person. We know that criminals are not going to follow laws. Criminals will not follow signs.

Making us law-abiding citizens defenseless by taking away our firearms is what the criminals want,” Pacore said.

Speaking as a private citizen, Select Board member David Singer said firearms possession has long been acceptable until the state’s new law, which he argues asks towns to opt into their constitutional rights rather than opt out of them.

“This is actually a relatively new restriction. You were able to carry on town property for decades. All of a sudden, our illustrious governor decided to make this an issue. You don’t make towns have to choose to opt in to their constitutional rights,” said Singer.

While there were many more speakers arguing in favor of the article during public comment, the silent majority decided to keep town administrative buildings as prohibited areas. Even after the initial vote another small, but still at times heated debate was sparked by the citizen’s petition. That too failed in a vote, although it was questionable whether the second article would have stood if approved as it would have had to go to the State Attorney General who might have considered the results of the earlier vote as well.

Portrait of Major General Salem Towne donated to new Lodge

BY BRO. JIMMY FALZONE
MAJOR GENERAL SALEM TOWNE LODGE

SOUTHBRIDGE — Monday, Oct. 20, was the first official meeting of the newly formed Major General Salem Towne Masonic Lodge in Southbridge. The meeting lodge room was filled with new faces of Master Masons we normally do not see. Wow what a site to see the room filled with all these brethren. During the meeting when new business was discussed Brother Jimmy Falzone asked permission to speak. Brethren on behalf of Masonic free-lance artist Brother Travis

Simpkins, who could not be in attendance this evening, asked me to present this generous gift of the portrait to the newly formed Major General Salem Towne Lodge. This portrait was from the time era of 1746-1825 and was gifted to the new lodge, in honor of Janet Simpkins great-grandfather Brother Robert A. Gard who became a member of the Quinebaug Masonic Lodge back on Jan. 5, 1931. This charcoal portrait was created from a photo hanging in one of the rooms at the Salem Towne House at the Old Sturbridge Village. He has created historical charcoal portraits in the past from that era, and they were published in our Massachusetts Masonic Trowel Magazine. Brother Travis Simpkins is well known among the Master Masons here in Massachusetts and North America for his extraordinary and beautiful life like Masonic portraits. Brother Simpkins is also a 33rd Degree dual member of the Scottish Rite Northern Masonic Jurisdiction and Southern Jurisdiction. Brother Simpkins artistic work has attracted international attention with his Masonic work being requested in Grand lodge

Jurisdictions throughout North America as well as Europe and Australia. Brother Simpkins is a staff member of the Worcester art Museum and has worked on projects for the Isabella Stewart Gardner Museum. He also served as an advisor for the art programs at the Massachusetts State House. We members of Major General Salem Towne Lodge are extremely grateful to the Simpkins family for the generous gift. Bay Path students receive InvenTeam grant to create technological solution to real-world problem

CHARLTON — Bay Path Regional Vocational Technical High School (BPRVTHS) was recently awarded a Lemelson-MIT InvenTeam® grant in the amount of $7,500 to create an invention geared towards helping people that are wheelchair-bound. This invention will allow them to visit areas that are otherwise inaccessible. BPRVTHS is one of only eight high schools nationwide to be selected as an InvenTeam this year.

The BPRVTHS InvenTeam is inventing a solution to the inefficiency, compromised safety, and lack of comfort present in wheelchairs used to access sandy beaches. Through our invention, we seek to improve the beach-going experience, promote accessibility and independence for wheelchair-bound people with an efficient, safe, and comfortable wheelchair design. Kristine Wade, science teacher, at BPRVTHS initiated the InvenTeam application process during the summer and worked with the students to prepare the final proposal. A respected panel of university professors, inventors, entrepreneurs, industry professionals, and college students including former InvenTeam members now working in industry selected the grantees.

Over the next eight months, our BPRVTHS InvenTeam will develop a solution to the problem. Our team will build a working prototype that will be showcased at a technical review here locally in February, and then again as a final prototype during EurekaFest®, an invention celebration taking place in June.

“The InvenTeams initiative has been a grand MIT experiment and proven that all youth can invent when given the opportunity,” says Leigh Estabrooks, Lemelson-MIT’s Invention Education Officer. “Our 22 years of working with high school teams in their communities shows the extraordinary power of invention education. Teams will work extremely hard throughout this entire school year becoming experts in their self-selected problems as well as the technological solutions. It’s an honor to work with such empathetic young people who care about making our lives safer, healthier, and more accessible.”

The InvenTeams grants

initiative has enabled 214 students to be awarded U.S. patents for their high school inventions. Hundreds more students have patent pending designations for their inventions. Intellectual property education is combined with our invention education offerings as part of the Lemelson-MIT Program’s deliberate efforts to remedy historic inequities among those who develop inventions, protect their intellectual property, and commercialize their creations.

The ongoing efforts empower students from all backgrounds, equipping them with invaluable problem-solving skills that will serve them well throughout their academic journeys, professional pursuits, and personal lives. The program has worked with over 4,000 students across 312 InvenTeams nationwide and has included:

- Partnering with intellectual property law firms to provide pro bono legal support
- Collaborating with industry-leading companies that provide technical guidance and mentoring
- Providing professional development for teachers on invention and IP education
- Assisting teams with identifying resources within their communities’ innovation ecosystems to support ongoing invention efforts

• Publishing case studies and research to inform the work of invention educators and policy makers and build support for engaging students in efforts to invent solutions to real-world problems thus fueling the innovation economy in the U.S.

The Lemelson-MIT Program (LMIT) is a national leader in efforts to prepare the next generation of inventors and entrepreneurs. Their work focuses on the expansion of opportunities for people to learn ways inventors find and solve problems that matter to improve lives. Their commitment to diversity, equity and inclusion aims to remedy historic inequities among those who develop inventions, protect their intellectual property and commercialize their creations.

Jerome H. Lemelson, one of U.S. history’s most prolific inventors, and his wife Dorothy founded the Lemelson-MIT Program at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology in 1994. It is funded by The Lemelson Foundation and administered by the School of Engineering at MIT, an institution with a strong ongoing commitment to creating meaningful opportunities for K-14 STEM education.
