Blackstone Heritage Corridor appoints Anya Wilczynski as Executive Director

WHITINSVILLE — The Blackstone Heritage Corridor is pleased to announce the appointment of Anya Wilczynski as executive director.

Wilczynski is an experienced and innovative nonprofit professional who previously served as director of operations at Essex National Heritage Area in northeastern Massachusetts and most recently had been Blackstone Heritage Corridor's director of volunteers and community engagement, as well as interim executive director. She earned a Bachelor's degree in design studies and historic preservation from the Boston Architectural College. She also holds a certificate in nonprofit management and leadership from the Institute for Nonprofit Practice.

Blackstone Heritage Corridor is a private nonprofit that manages the Blackstone River Valley National Heritage Corridor, recognized by Congress in 1986 for its national importance. Stretching across 25 cities and towns from Worcester to Providence, R.I., the area is known as the birthplace of the American Industrial Revolution. It features a rich mix of historic sites, natural landscapes, and recreational opportunities. The Corridor's mission is to preserve, promote, and celebrate these resources through volunteer programs, community events, and more.

"On behalf of the Board of Directors, we are thrilled to welcome Anya as the next executive director," Dennis Rice, board chair, said. "Blackstone Heritage Corridor will be celebrating the 40th anniversary of our designation next year. We are excited to be entering our fifth decade with an enthusiastic and innovative leader aboard."

"Have a deep appreciation for the many attributes and historical assets that the Blackstone Valley has to offer," Wilczynski said. "This is a special place, home to many inspirational stewards and valuable historic and natural resources. I am honored to step into this role and feel invigorated to work with community partners to promote the legacy of this region."

Among other duties Wilczynski will spearhead Blackstone Heritage Corridor's Legacy Campaign: Reimagining our Future. This is the organization's first fundraising effort since becoming a nonprofit. Federal financial support had significantly decreased over the years and becoming a nonprofit in 2014 has allowed the organization to fundraise directly within the cities and towns that the organization serves.

"Regardless of what is happening at the federal level, we remain committed to our mission," Wilczynski said. "Blackstone Heritage Corridor will continue its work in the Blackstone River Valley."

"Anya brings a strong understanding of nonprofit sustainability, management, and community-based fundraising," Rice said. "Her experience building donor relationships, securing grants, and running impactful campaigns like the Legacy Campaign will help our organization grow."

Thanks to the generosity of individuals, businesses, and foundations, the Legacy Campaign is nearly halfway towards a $1.3 million goal. This funding supports efforts to update historic site signage, champion completion of the Worcester-to-Providence bikeway, grow volunteer and community programs, and sustain the organization for the future. ## Douglas library hosts locally filmed movie "Eephus" at Soldier's Field Aug. 9

DOUGLAS — The Simon Fairfield Public Library in partnership with the Douglas Recreation Commission, invites the community to a free outdoor screening of the locally filmed family-friendly movie "Eephus" on Saturday, Aug. 9 at Soldier's Field, 2 Manchaug Rd., Douglas.

The festivities begin at 6:30 p.m., with the film starting at 8 p.m. under the stars. The film crew will also be playing a reunion game at 3 p.m. with everyone welcome to cheer them on.

Food trucks will be lining up at the Soldier's Field parking area beginning at 6:30 p.m. with Smash'D Burgers and others participating.

"Eephus," written and directed by New Hampshire native Carson Lund, was filmed at Soldier's Field with participation from local residents. This special event is a homecoming celebration, honoring the town's contribution to the film and showcasing its deep sense of community spirit.

Attendees can enjoy food trucks, live music, and a special appearance by former Red Sox pitcher Bill "Spaceman" Lee, who appears in the film and famously threw the eephus pitch.

Families are encouraged to bring chairs or blankets for seating on Soldier's Field. Kids' activities will be available throughout the evening, including slow-pitch softball, giant Jenga, corn hole, and Bowling for Books.

Visitors are encouraged to register for the free event: <http://bit.ly/46b2STW>

For more details and updates, visit <https://mysfpl.org/eephus/>.

Potential funding opportunity available through Northbridge Community Preservation Committee

NORTHBRIDGE — The Northbridge Community Preservation Committee (CPC) is accepting Project Pre-Applications for its next round of CPA -Community Preservation Act project initiatives. The CPA is a dedicated funding source that may be used for open space & recreation; community housing; and historic resources. Eligible projects will be reviewed by the CPC for consideration and inclusion at the 2026 Spring Annual Town Meeting. The CPA provides project funds through a local surcharge on property tax bills for projects initiated by residents and town organizations that might not otherwise be possible due to budget limitations.

The Northbridge Community Preservation Committee is a volunteer-appointed committee charged with overseeing local CPA funds and recommending projects for Town Meeting consideration. The Committee is currently soliciting projects for the 2026 Spring Annual Town Meeting. Each fiscal year, the Committee shall announce calls for Project Pre-Applications during the months of August and September with Project Applications due by Oct. 1 of each year. The Community Preservation Committee invites municipal departments, community organizations & individuals to submit applications for CPA funding on an annual basis.

First time applicants are advised to attend a public informational meeting hosted by the Community Preservation Committee. The first of which will be held Aug. 4 in advance of the Committee's official solicitation for CPA projects for the fiscal year of 2026. Because of the unpredictability of CPA projects involving the purchase of land or historic buildings, the CPC may accept applications on an on-going basis as needed. However, CPC recommendation and Town Meeting vote are still required to allocate Community Preservation Act funds.

Since November 2017 (local adoption), Northbridge's CPA has helped fund the Linwood Basketball Court Improvements, acquisition of Castle Hill Farm, and an Architectural & Structural Assessment of the Col. James Fletcher House (circa 1770) located at 1 Elm Pl. For information about Community Preservation goals and initiatives, eligible projects, and the application process please visit Northbridge's Community Preservation Committee webpage at <https://www.northbridgemass.org/community-preservation-committee> The Preservation Committee will begin reviewing projects at its next scheduled meeting(s) of Monday, Aug. 4 & Monday, Sept. 8 (6:30 p.m. -via ZOOM).

Those interested in submitting a Project Application or learning more about Northbridge's Community Preservation Act are encouraged to contact the Community Planning & Development Office, R. Gary Bechtholdt II, Planning Director/CPA Administrator at (508) 234-2447 or contact the Community Preservation Committee at cpc@northbridgemass.org.

WCS students excel in AP testing

WHITINSVILLE — Students at Whitinsville Christian School have a lot to be proud of this year, after posting outstanding results on the 2025 Advanced Placement

(AP) exams. A total of 90 students took 148 AP exams across multiple subjects, achieving an impressive average score of 3.9. Even more notable: 87 percent of those scores were 3 or higher, the benchmark for earning college credit or advanced placement at many universities.

Several subjects stood out for their strong performance. In AP Biology, the average score of 3.77 was well above both the state average of 3.45 and the global average of 3.24. 92.3 percent of WCS students scored a 3 or higher, compared to 75.7 percent statewide and 70.4 percent globally. In AP U.S. Government and Politics the average WCS score came in at an impressive 4.23, significantly surpassing the state (3.58) and global (3.34) averages. 86.7 percent of students earned qualifying scores, outperforming both the state (77.7 percent) and global (71.7 percent) rates. Students in AP English Language and Composition averaged a 3.93 (state average: 3.44; global average: 3.19). A remarkable 93.1 percent of students earned a 3 or higher, compared to 81.2 percent across the state and 74.3 percent globally.

"I am so proud of our students and our faculty for the outstanding AP scores WCS has achieved year over year," said Tammi Gorman, WCS Middle School/High School Principal. "These results reflect the dedication of our students, the hard work of our teachers, and the school's commitment to academic excellence. Congratulations to all who challenged themselves with AP courses this year!"

8 games to try at the next backyard bash

Games can enhance any outdoor function. Whether at the beach or in one's backyard, activities can keep guests entertained in between the food and other refreshments. And the good news is that most games designed for these types of functions are appropriate for players across a wide range of ages.

The following are eight games that can add to the excitement of any outdoor gathering.

1. Ladder toss: Also known as ladder golf, this game requires players to toss string-attached balls onto a ladder-shaped target. Points are awarded depending on which rung the ball lands on.

2. Kubb: Pronounced "KOOB," this Swedish lawn game believed to have originated during the era of the Vikings and is best described as a blend of bowling and horseshoes. Two teams compete to knock over their opponents' wooden blocks by throwing batons.

3. Cornhole: Many people have played cornhole, which involves tossing bean bags at the cornhole board. The objective is to get the bag into the hole or on the board to score points. The game can be played as singles or doubles. The first team to reach 21 points wins.

4. Spikeball™: Also called Roundnet, this two-on-two sport is played by hitting a ball off a net with the goal of preventing the opposing team from returning the ball within three touches.

5. Ring toss: This is another game that tests hand-eye coordination. Players take turns tossing the rings onto the target pegs. Each peg is worth a different number of points. The first player to reach the agreed-upon amount of points wins.

6. Connect four in a row: Giant versions of familiar tabletop games also are available for yard use. With this game, players need to get four chips in a row, either up and down or diagonal.

7. Kan Jam®: Similar to cornhole or horseshoes, Kan Jam® features two teams of two that alternate between throwing a frisbee and trying to deflect it. The goal is to get the frisbee into the can.

8. Rollers: Goals are placed 25 feet apart and then players roll wooden discs to try to get closest to the goal. Each side of the disc has a different number to determine the point value.

Backyard events can be enhanced with some game play. There are plenty of fun options for your next gathering.

Make it a summer of no regrets

As the final days of summer approach, we find ourselves standing at a crossroads. The days grow shorter, the evenings cooler, and the carefree essence of summer seems to slip away. It's time to seize the moment, to cherish every opportunity, and to make August a summer of no regrets.

Living in the picturesque region of New England, we are fortunate to be surrounded by a breathtaking landscape. From majestic mountains to serene lakes, our backyard is a playground of adventures waiting to happen. The time has come to embark on those road trips we have been postponing and explore the hidden gems that lie within our reach.

Whether you're an avid hiker or a casual nature lover, our region's mountains offer an escape from the hustle and bustle of everyday life. Take a day to venture into the wilderness, breathe in the crisp air, and marvel at the natural wonders that lie before you. The memories forged amid the towering pines and breathtaking vistas will last a lifetime.

Equally enticing are the serene lakes scattered across the area. Pack a picnic, gather your loved ones, and head to the waterside. Be it swimming, kayaking, or simply basking in the sun's warmth, lakeside retreats provide a tranquil refuge to unwind and savor the joys of summer.

For those who seek a taste of city life, why not take a drive to the vibrant metropolises of Boston and Portland? These urban centers share a rich cultural heritage, bustling streets, and delectable culinary scenes. Lose yourself in the museums, explore the historic landmarks, and indulge in the local cuisine – each moment a treasure to hold on to.

However, amid our grand adventures, we must not forget the simple joys that have brought us together year after year. Backyard barbecues offer a nostalgic charm that fills the air with laughter and the scent of sizzling goodness. Gather family and friends for a fun filled evening, where the flames of the grill light up not only the darkening skies but also our hearts with warmth and camaraderie.

And as the sun sets lower, take the opportunity to relive the carefree days of youth by playing hoops at the local park. Feel the thrill of competition and the joy of teamwork as you shoot hoops and chase the ball. The courts become a canvas for unforgettable moments and lasting memories. August is our chance to make amends for any missed opportunities from earlier in the summer.

As we look back on this summer, we'll be filled with the contentment of knowing that we embraced the season wholeheartedly. We laughed with abandon, explored with wonder, and lived with joy. When we bid farewell to August, we'll do so with hearts full of cherished memories, knowing that we made the most of every fleeting moment.

So, unite in spirit and determination to make August a summer of no regrets. Whether we climb mountains, swim in lakes, stroll through cities, or gather in backyards, seize the remaining days with gusto.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Pineda is not my kind of aspiring American

To the Editor:

Did you know that there is a network of 2,500 "activists" in Massachusetts who alert communities that ICE [Immigration and Customs Enforcement] is in town?

ICE is a federal enforcement agency that enforces federal law. Supremacy Clause.

The network is run by Lucy Pineda, a 52-year-old native of El Salvador, and head of Latinos Unidos. The Boston Globe lavished praise on her and her group of activists. Her brother is another illegal sweetheart.

Todd Lyons, Chief of Enforcement and Removal Operations, said that she endangers the lives of ICE agents who follow federal law. Let me repeat, Federal law. The community cannot override federal law. Supremacy Clause!

Lyons said people like Pineda and her "activists" help "violent criminals continue to victimize the migrant communities."

ICE arrested Pineda's brother, an illegal from El Salvador for the following: domestic assault and battery, violation of a restraining order, operating a vehicle under the influence of alcohol in Peabody. At the time of his arrest, federal agents had in hand two prior arrest warrants for leaving the scene of an accident and compulsory insurance violation for which he failed to appear in court.

Not my kind of wannabe American. We welcome those who come here legally, get jobs and not arrest warrants.

This is the kind of person The Boston Globe is protecting. After ICE arrested 1,400 criminal illegals in May, the Globe sent "reporters, photographers and videographers to canvas immigrant communities "to understand the effect of that surge." Ridiculous.

I could have saved the Globe lots of time and money. The effect is that criminals are off the streets and out of communities, and are on their way home to Cuba, Venezuela, El Salvador, Guatemala, and name-your-own hellhole country. Another effect is to save taxpayers money! We are getting short-changed!

The Globe posted a video of Lucy interacting with ICE agents. She shouted at them: "You're targeting our hard-working community, OK? Remember, karma exists. Karma exists, OK? Karma exists." Such a genius. She must have learned English in Communist Karma school.

Some people may be sympathetic to the millions of illegals who Biden's auto-pen allowed to flood over our southern border. You may be sympathetic to the panhandler at the side of the road. You may give him a dollar.

Would you give him $1,000 or $1,500? That is what every blue state taxpayer is doing: giving each illegal $1,000 to $1,500 of our tax dollars. Do you really want to do that? How about $3,000 out of your own pocket? How about $15,000?

In our state, we have spent $3 billion. Comrade Healey has requested an additional $42 million for illegals in the closing days of this fiscal year.

Did you know that in the last days of the sad Biden years, his auto-pen gave a convicted murderer who is also an illegal alien a "reprieve" from being deported because he said he feared "torture" in El Salvador? Do we have to take his word for it? He is so bad that his own people want to inflict punishment on him.

Now, we the people must protect a convicted murderer criminal illegal from consequences in his home country. No way, José.

The Congressional Budget office (CBO) estimates that the surge in illegal immigration in 2023 cost state and local governments $9.8 billion. The CBO said that the surge population is barely educated and fails to pay state income taxes.

One more CBO nugget: many new public school students were part of the 2023 surge population. Most do not speak English, do not read or write in their own language [!] and have "issues." Huge costs for school districts.

Our state legislature is still fighting the state auditor and refusing to get audited, despite the 2024 Law requiring it. Did you know that "Amiga Non-deportada Healey" cut local aid, but approved $5 million for "free" lawyers for illegals facing federal deportation? No raise for public defenders - lawyers who defend our poor citizens charged with crimes. When do we taxpayers get "free" new roads and bridges and new senior centers?

As the great Howie Carr says, "Trump is for ICE. Dems are for ISIS."

A predator walks among us

To the Editor:

It has come to my attention that in your Op Ed pages week after week, you have a predator who not only writes falsehoods, but he also tries his very best to insult those that have a different outlook, especially in politics and history. This person to whom I speak of suffers from Trump Derangement Syndrome, believes his own lies and routinely pokes fun at Bev Gudanowski, even when truthful facts about history and politics are written. This individual thinks we who think differently than he are one trick ponies who only get our news from Fox and friends and Howie Carr: I used to listen to Howie Carr; but when he sold out to Maura Healey I was done with Carr and I hope his show tanks.

By now, you avid readers know that I am referring to Rick Bevilacqua. The wannabe of journalism when most news networks are no longer journalists, but more activists who are deaf, dumb, and blind to American values.

Rick wrote in last week's paper attacking, as usual, the topics of the prior week, but something really stood out. Bevilacqua quoted Bev's prior writings, "We recognized that all men are created equal..." except for women, slaves, and non-landowners. Bevilacqua, you should know that your party, a.k.a. the losing badly Democrats, can't even define a woman. If you ask a Democrat to define a woman, they get madder than a rabid dog. Where were your Democrats when it came to voting to end biological men from competing in women's sports? I will show you how the Democrats voted. In the House, Republicans 219 and Democrats 203. All 219 votes in favor were cast by Republicans, while all 203 votes against were cast by Democrats. This is clear evidence democrats don't care about women, women's rights, or women's sports.

Next up is slavery, and the Democrats know all too well about this subject, because who will pick the cotton, asked the Democrats in 1861? When the Democrats were once again defeated in 1865, they formed the Ku Klux Klan and started taking revenge on the Blacks because that's what they do if they don't get what they want. In addition, that's what modern day Democrats are doing now if they don't get that extra wad of cash they were stealing from USAID and Social Security. And what is that the Democrats are doing? They are sending pallets of bricks to cities for peaceful protesting. Not ever have I heard a Democrat talk about the modern slavery that occurs on this very day. Countries like China, India, North Korea, and the Democratic Republic of Congo to name a few still practice this evil deed. Has any of our avid readers ever read an Op Ed post from Bevilacqua denouncing modern day slavery? My guess is that he might do so now out of shame.

Bevilacqua then pulls out the "we" card in terms of the Native Americans, which he calls indigenous. First and foremost you are delusional if you think we did anything to the Native Americans in this country of ours. The government were the ones subjecting Native Americans to socialism. Native Americans were the first to endure the one thing the Democrats think is cool: socialism. Those mostly those peaceful Democrats we keep hearing about, are my dog whistles getting through?

Then Rick mentions, of all people, Rosie O'Donnell. Rosie, you may have heard, moved out of the country because Trump won the election by a landslide and moved to Ireland. The funny thing that Rick didn't mention is that poor Rosie is upset that no one is paying her any attention since Trump jokingly said he was going to "revoke" O'Donnell's citizenship. Will Rosie put down that box of Oreos to go and stand with the illegal immigrants against the people of Ireland? Tune in next week!

Rick then clings to his climate change vine in the hopes that the EPA and NASA will soon swoop in like Tarzan to stop that climate change wildfire that has occurred for centuries. Maybe Rick could watch "Quest For Fire" instead of the fireworks on the 19th, but don't hold your breath; he loves a good doomsday! Tell us again, Rick, who told you that the planet was dying? Bono? Gates? Oprah? None of these people are scientists but you know those that vote democrat think everything seen on the silver screen is going to happen.

Well, this was fun. Until next time, folks, don't let a bad Democrat tear down your day, use that section of the Op Ed page for everyday chores like bird droppings. Thanks for reading.

Protecting our interests...

To the Editor:

So, Bev, what exactly are 'our interests' in the Middle East? We don't need their oil any longer, as we are the #1 producer of crude oil in the world. We don't need to make friends, as Qatar just gave Trump an airplane worth between $250 million and $400 million; an Emerati-backed firm just bought $2 billion worth of Trump family digital coin; the Saudis are funding the Trump LIV golf tournament; there is going to be a Trump International Hotel & Tower in Dubai, a golf resort in Doha with Qatar's sovereign wealth fund's real estate arm, a Trump Tower in Jeddah, and a hotel under construction in Muscat. The projects are partnered with Dar Global, a developer linked to the Saudi government. Then there's talk of turning the Gaza strip into a Trump resort. So whose 'interests' is Trump protecting? Ours or his?

We had a nuclear treaty with Iran, until Trump pulled us out. There would have been no need to bomb Iran's nuclear facilities. There would have been no need to spend over $200 million just to set back their enrichment program by a couple of months. If that. We had the money for an unnecessary bombing, but just cut Meals on Wheels because we have to reduce spending.

Bev has nothing to say about the on-going Palestinian genocide. Anyone – students, pundits, reporters, regular people – are anti-Semitic for opposing what is happening? I have Jewish relatives, and I oppose the slaughter. Does that make me anti-Semitic? But it's the party line, and a useful feint from the truth. So Bev is all in.

Bibi Netanyahu is a criminal, just like Trump. He has been charged with fraud, breach of trust, bribery, as well as receiving bribes and acting in a conflict of interest as Minister of Communications. He believes that his only chance of political survival is by distracting Israelis with this war. He has been trying to convince America to attack Iran for years. In Trump, he finally found someone he can manipulate into doing his dirty work. Just as Putin manipulates Trump like his personal sock puppet.

Anyone interested in how Biden dealt with Netanyahu and the prelude to Russia attacking Ukraine, should read "War" by Bob Woodward. You will see the difference between a savvy world leader and our current failed game show host.

Stress-test your retirement portfolio in volatile markets

You have an estate plan – whether you know it or not Think estate planning is only for the wealthy or elderly? Think again. If you own anything — a home, a car, a savings account, even a pet — you already have an estate plan. The only question is: Did you create it, or will your state do it for you?

When someone passes away without an estate plan, state laws take over, deciding who gets what and when. This legal process may not reflect your wishes. That's why taking control of your assets through a personal estate plan should be a top priority.

At its core, estate planning is about clarifying your wishes and making things easier for your heirs. It ensures your assets are distributed according to your preferences, designates who will make decisions on your behalf if you can't and provides guidance for your care in a medical crisis. Most plans include four key components:

1. A will – This document outlines how your assets should be distributed after your death and names an executor to oversee the process in probate court. It can also designate guardians for minor children. Keep in mind that a will doesn't cover everything — certain transfer on death (TOD) accounts and jointly held property may bypass your will entirely.

2. Power of Attorney – If you become incapacitated, you'll want someone you trust to be able to make decisions on your behalf. A durable power of attorney designates such a person, helping to ensure your bills are paid, your business continues (if you have one) and your wishes are honored.

3. Health Care Directive – Sometimes called a living will, this document spells out your preferences for medical treatment if you're unable to speak for yourself. It can also designate someone to make health care decisions for you.

4. Beneficiary designations – Accounts

FINANCIAL FOCUS

like 401(k)s, IRAs, and life insurance policies transfer directly to the people you name, regardless of what your will says. It's essential to review these beneficiary designations regularly, especially after significant life events such as marriage, divorce, death of a spouse or the birth of a child.

One common myth is that a will is all you need. But wills only take effect after death; they don't help if you're alive but unable to make decisions. Another misconception is that estate planning is only for the wealthy. In truth, planning is about more than money — it's about making things easier for the people you love during difficult times.

An effective estate plan can prevent costly legal battles, reduce confusion, and give your loved ones a clear roadmap to follow. It also allows you to leave a legacy that reflects your values and priorities.

As your life changes, your estate plan should change along with it. Review your documents every few years or after major life events. It's often a good idea to seek help with such reviews. Your financial advisor or attorney can guide you through the process, ensuring your plan fits your unique circumstances.

In the end, estate planning isn't just about planning for what happens when you are gone. It's about feeling confident, knowing that what matters most — your family, your purpose, your legacy — is protected.

Tips for a Great Summertime Lawn

It's the height of mid-summer and the heat is on – literally! The recent heat wave and intense summer heat can take a toll on your lawn. If you find your grass is scorched and stressed, read on. The following golden rules of watering, as well as a few tried and true lawn tips can help revive your lawn to make it lush once again!

Golden Rules of Watering:

1. Water early in the day – before 10 a.m. is best. On days when temps are expected to be higher than usual, water before the dew dries. Watering at this time allows time for the water to soak into the ground, and keeps the lawn cooler throughout the day.

Can't water during the day? Early evening between 6 and 8 p.m. is the next best time. Avoid watering later at night when the lawn doesn't have enough time to dry off. Keeping well-watered lawns wet overnight can encourage fungus.

2. Lawns need approximately one inch of water per week (including rain). In the hot days of summer, two inches of water per week should be the goal.

Not sure if your lawn is watered enough? Try the simple screwdriver test. Push a long screwdriver into the soil. If it's hydrated enough it should go all the way down into the soil. If it is resistant to push down, you likely need to water.

Read on for some trouble shooting lawn tips, courtesy of Turf Masters Lawn Care:

Overwatering and Underwatering: Did you know that overwatering can cause more damage to your lawn than underwatering? Watering your lawn every day or even every other day can ruin your turf as the result of overwatering. The soil underneath your grass contains porous spaces containing oxygen vital to plant growth. Daily watering will push the air out of those spaces, filling the pores with water. This can cause the roots to suffocate and die. And this can result in a shallow root system and more susceptibility to weeds, disease and insect damage.

Signs that you are overwatering

- Development of thatch—A layer of decomposed plant material that builds up when overwatering prevents beneficial soil bacteria.

- Fungus—Thin or weak grass that has a reddish-orange color could be a sign of fungus from overwatering.

- Weeds—Overwatered lawns will develop weeds that are harder to control such as nutsedge and crabgrass.

- Insects—Too much water creates a conducive habitat for pests. Damage from armyworms, cutworms or other insects could be the result of overwatering.

On the other hand, if your lawn is being underwatered, it can experience drought damage, weeds and other symptoms.

Signs that you are underwatering

- Dry patches—If you notice your lawn has developed patchy areas of straw colored grass, this could be a result of too little water.

- Visible footprints on grass—If your turf is not springing back up when you step on it, this could be a sign that the grass blades are dehydrated.

- Slowed growth—If you notice you are not having to mow as often, your lawn's growth may be stunted as a result of too little water.

To help prevent drought damage in cool-season grasses like Fescue, a professional core aeration and seeding treatment every fall is imperative.

Here are some lawn mowing minders:

Experts say a common mowing mistake is cutting your grass too short, particular for cool season grasses.

TAKE THE HINT
KAREN TRAINOR

Higher heights usually provide for a deeper root system, looks better, and is less likely to have weeds invading, particularly crabgrass.

Lawn pros advise adjusting your blade so that you never remove any more than one third of the grass leaf at any one cutting. By doing so, you can safely leave clippings that will quickly decompose and add valuable nutrients back into the soil.

The direction you mow your lawn is also important. For best results, your lawn in a different direction with each mowing... Altering the direction gives you an even cut and will prevent your grass growing in a set pattern.

To ensure a good cut, make sure your lawn mower blade is sharp, which may translate into sharpening it at least three times during mowing season.

Want to up your odds of a lush lawn? Try mowing during the moon phases. Here's how: If you want your lawn to grow, mow it during new or first quarter moon. If you want your lawn to grow more slowly, mow it during a full or last quarter moon.

Cymatics

Through a branch of study called cymatics, scientists discovered something astonishing: Sound doesn't just move air—it shapes matter.

This field emerged in the 18th century with the work of German physicist Ernst Chladni, often regarded as the father of acoustics. In his experiments, he took a metal plate, sprinkled it with fine sand, and ran a violin bow along the edge. The vibration caused the sand to shift and form symmetrical patterns—now called Chladni figures. It was the first glimpse of invisible vibration becoming a visible design.

In the 1960s, Dr. Hans Jenny, a Swiss medical doctor and scientist, gave this field its name: cymatics, from the Greek kyma, meaning "wave."

Using tones played through a tonoscope, Jenny discovered that different frequencies consistently produced specific shapes: low frequencies tended to create simple shapes—circles, triangles, and lines. But as the pitch increased, the patterns became more intricate. Hexagons appeared. Then mandalas. Even flower-like lattices began to take form. At certain exact pitches, symbols long considered spiritual or mathematical would emerge—not by chance, but repeatedly, predictably.

The sound didn't just move matter. It is organized, formed by frequency alone.

Jenny called this phenomenon "visible music."

You can see an experiment online where a woman sings, "Una Donna a Quindici Anni," into a tonoscope and a perfectly symmetrical seven-pointed star is created—not generated by a machine, but by resonance. Sung—with breath, with intention, with the human voice.

This idea—that sound can shape the unseen—was not foreign to the ancients. The Vikings had a word for it: Galdr.

Galdr wasn't just melody—it was spoken intention, sharpened into sound. It was the intentional chanting of runes. Warriors, seers, and shamans would speak or sing these runes aloud, believing they could influence the forces of nature, shield themselves in battle, or open gateways to hidden knowledge.

Each rune had a sound, and each sound had power. To chant a rune was to call a pattern into being, much like the seven-pointed star rising from the sand on the tonoscope.

Galdr was the understanding that the human voice—charged with intent—

POSITIVELY SPEAKING

was not passive. It was a tool for shaping.

In early Chinese tradition, the philosopher Confucius taught that the key to harmony in the kingdom was to "rectify names"—to speak words that accurately reflected truth and order. If names became distorted, if language no longer matched reality, society would unravel. Disorder in words meant disorder in the world.

And this idea? It's not foreign to Christian tradition.

The Apostle James called the tongue "a small part of the body, but it's like a spark that can set a whole forest ablaze. The tongue, he warned, carries disproportionate power.

Paul compared it to a rudder on a ship—tiny, yet able to steer the entire vessel. In other words, your words guide your direction.

But the most striking example comes from the prophet Isaiah.

In a vision, Isaiah finds himself in the throne room of the Almighty. He sees the Lord, high and exalted, surrounded by seraphim.

It is a scene of perfect glory. But Isaiah doesn't feel worthy to join in. He falls to his knees and cries,

"Woe is me! For I am a man of unclean lips..."

He doesn't say, I am unclean because of what I've done.

He says, I am unclean because of what I've said.

In that moment, a seraph flies to him with a burning coal, taken from the altar. And touches Isaiah's mouth. In this divine encounter, it's not Isaiah's actions that are purified—it's his speech.

It all seems to point in one direction: What we say has power.

Today, in the field of modern psychology, we've rediscovered the same truth. The language we use—especially the words we speak about ourselves—shapes our perception, our emotions, even our identity.

Say "I'm worthless" enough times, and it becomes more than a thought—it becomes a worldview.

Say "I'm loved. I'm here for a reason." You carry yourself differently, with a spring in your step. You begin to live into the shape of the words you've spoken.

Just as sand arranges itself under sound, your life begins to align with your language.

Your words do not vanish. They echo. Speak with care, for what you say becomes a reality.

How to choose a grill that's best for you

Grilling is a warm weather tradition, particularly when entertaining. Cooking food outside while guests gather and mingle sets a scene for a fun summertime event. It also is a great way to cook meals and avoid heating up the home when outdoor temperatures rise.

Few things match the taste of freshly grilled foods, which can be prepared and cooked to perfection on grills that range from traditional charcoal grills to gas grills and more. The following rundown of grills can help homeowners identify which style is best for them.

- Charcoal grills: Charcoal grills have been around for some time, and they tend to be inexpensive and easy to use. Charcoal grills enable air to enter a manually adjusted intake at the bottom of the grill. Foodies claim that the only way to grill is with charcoal, which imparts a smoky, rich flavor. Charcoal kettle grills are a subset of charcoal grills that are lightweight and portable.

- Gas grills: Gas grills either use a propane tank for fuel, or are directly connected to a home's natural gas line to offer continuous availability of gas. According to The Home Depot, gas grills are prized because they heat up quickly and are very easy to use. Most come with a push-button ignition to light the grill, and heat can be easily regulated with control knobs. Some gas grills also come equipped with side burners, so that food can be boiled or reheated outside while a main course is being cooked.

- Kamado grills: Known as ceramic cookers or egg grills, Kamado grills are a more sophisticated version of a charcoal grill, according to Build with Ferguson, a home improvement retailer. While they are still operated similarly to other charcoal grills, the engineered design and ceramic material causes much more regulated and insulated temperatures inside.

- Wood pellet grills: Pellet grills bring the best of both worlds of smoking and grilling. Pellets the size of peas are loaded into a hopper and go into a burn pot with an auger. The thermostat and burn pot work electronically to keep the grill at the desired temperature. Pellet grills are good for foods that require longer cook times, like roasts and ribs. Some models allow users to adjust the temperature of the grill and monitor food using a smartphone app.

- Electric grills: As the name implies, these grills are plugged into a nearby outlet. Electric grills are compact and portable, and some are even tabletop models. Electric grills may be ideal for apartment dwellers or those who do not have adequate outdoor space for another type of grill.

- Smoker: Standalone smokers are designed to cook foods at low temperatures over long periods of time to produce fall-off-the-bone results. Heat for smokers may be provided by wood, charcoal, electricity, or propane. Wood chips customarily are added for aromatic, authentic flavors. Although charcoal smokers are more traditional, they need to be monitored quite a bit. Electronic models may have a set-and-forget function that enables less hands-on time around the smoker, much in the way a slow cooker indoors can be set up and left without a need for monitoring.

- Hybrid grills: Some grills marry the convenience of gas grills with the smoky flavoring charcoal grills provide. Others may have a side for gas grilling connected to a charcoal smoker.

nuova" recently sold at auction in the United Kingdom. The book discussed a "new star," which was very controversial when the heavens were considered perfect and unchanging, according to the Antique Trader. Only eleven other editions are known to exist, and all are owned by institutions. It brought £1,129,000 ($1,535,400 U.S.).

Moving ahead late into the 20th century, Hermès designed and created a handbag for the late actor and singer Jane Birkin in 1984. The Hermès Birkin bag became a symbol of luxury and status. The first Birkin bag originally owned by Jane Birkin that was "scuffed, scratched and stained" recently sold for 7 million ($8.2 million), according to CNN.

An antique toy also recently brought good results at auction. The circa 1904 Marklin Ferris Wheel was manufactured by the German company Marklin, known for their precision model trains. The Ferris Wheel retained "its six original gondolas, attractive stained glass, and original figures," according to WJW TV in Cleveland, Ohio. It went for $156,000.

Moving later in the 20th century, the 1941 film "Citizen Kane" is considered one of the best films ever made. The film was hailed both for its plot and cinematography. It used a film technique known as deep focus where the foreground, background, and middle are all in sharp focus. Low angled filming and innovative lighting also contributed to the film's acclaim. Orson Welles directed and acted in the film about a newspaper magnate Charles Foster Kane, who resembled William Randolph Hearst. Kane's dying word "Rosebud" was the name of his childhood sled. It was "a nostalgic callback to the days before wealth and power ultimately ruined the mogul's life," according to Parade Magazine. It was anything but tough sledding at a recent auction when one of the original sleds showcased in the film sold for $14.75 million, making it the second highest price paid for a Hollywood prop. As I mentioned in a previous column, a pair of Judy Garland's ruby red slippers from the "Wizard of Oz" set a record when it sold for $32.5 million in December.

We are still working on multiple online auctions including a Civil War auction, Laurel and Hardy memorabilia auction and a Pennsylvania transportation museum. Other auctions will have gold jewelry, sterling silver, art, and advertising signs, along with a wide variety of other items. We are always accepting valuable pieces and collections for upcoming sales. Please visit our website <https://centralmass-auctions.com> for links to upcoming events.

Reduce maintenance and boost your garden enjoyment

GARDEN MOMENTS

of that and decide what needs changing in your garden plantings, designs, and maintenance.

Every gardener has personal reasons for gardening whether it be the hope that their garden brings joy, productivity, beauty, or peace throughout the growing season. Embrace what makes you happy as you tend, view, and enjoy every aspect of your garden.

Weather, busy schedules, and life in general can interfere with the best laid plans for any garden and landscape. Take some time now to evaluate what is working so you can do more with the maintenance but still want seasonal interest, consider filling garden beds with shrubs. Look for low maintenance varieties suited to your growing conditions and climate. Select those with multiple seasons of beauty from flowers, foliage, fall color, and interesting form and bark. Include some that provide birds with food, shelter, and protection from predators. You'll appreciate the beauty and motion these winged visitors pro-

Melinda Myers

Then add season-long color with pockets or containers of annuals. With fewer to buy and maintain you may decide your schedule and budget will allow you to change them out as the seasons change.

Accept and embrace the beauty of a less-than-perfect garden. Most visitors won't notice the imperfections unless you point them out. Plus, faded flowers and seed pods can provide unique texture and food for songbirds.

Do minimal cleanup that is better for the plants, pollinators and songbirds. Do remove or cut back diseased and insect-infested plant material as needed. Leave fall leaves in the garden to serve as mulch, a home for some beneficial insects, and insulation for toads, queen bumblebees, and others that overwinter underground. Allow perennials to stand for winter, increasing hardiness, providing homes for beneficial insects, food for songbirds, and adding winter interest. Leave some of these stems standing throughout the upcoming growing season to serve as homes for some of the native bees.

Ask for or hire help if needed. As much as you love gardening, securing help for some of the larger tasks or those that just aren't getting done can help boost your enjoyment. It can be hard to find gardening help so you may need to get creative. Consider sharing your gardening space with someone who loves to garden but lacks a garden. Barter your knowledge and skills for help in your garden. Or plan a round robin of fun and gardening with a few friends. Take turns visiting and tending each other's gardens. You'll enjoy the time spent together in each other's gardens as you tackle a gardening task or two. Then top off the visit with a favorite beverage and snack or meal.

Don't let your list of unaccomplished tasks or weeds stop you from enjoying your garden and what you have accomplished. Relish every bloom, fresh tomato, or visiting bird or butterfly.

Melinda Myers has written more than 20 gardening books, including the Midwest Gardener's Handbook, 2nd Edition and Small Space Gardening. Consider using fewer species of low-maintenance perennials and more of each. You'll have fewer plants to try to identify as the garden comes to life in spring and as you weed throughout the growing season. Look for those that are disease and insect-pest resistant, need minimal or no deadheading and pruning, and attract and support pollinators as well as provide winter interest and food for songbirds in the winter.

UXBRIDGE POLICE HOST SENIOR COOKOUT

The Uxbridge Police Association sponsored a wonderful cookout for the Uxbridge Senior Center on July 11. This yearly event has been a more than 10 year tradition to celebrate July 4, and to celebrate our older adult community. The UPD cooked all the tasty food including hamburgers, hot dogs and cheeseburgers. Seniors also enjoyed potato salad, chips and an ice cream sundae to top it all off! The Uxbridge Senior Center would like to thank all the officers of the UPD, especially Officer Ryan Haney and Marc Montminy, UPD Chief, for helping with this special event. The audience sang patriotic songs led by Pat Stephan, a local resident and musician. Chief Montminy started off the program with the pledge allegiance to the United States of America Flag in honor of the 4th of July holiday. A fun time was had by all!

Friday's Child

Alanna is a bright, easygoing, and adventurous young lady who enjoys exploring new experiences. She is often described as a "great kid"—easy to talk to, helpful, and kind-hearted. Alanna loves staying active and dreams of joining a gymnastics team one day. Taking gymnastics lessons is something she's very excited about. Creative and thoughtful, Alanna enjoys arts and crafts, especially making origami. She also has a deep love for babies and often says she would babysit for free just to be around them. Her nurturing side really shines through in moments like these. Alanna is also an animal lover—though she'll pass on snakes, worms, and bees! One of her favorite activities is visiting the library and picking out books to read, showing her curiosity and love for learning. Alanna would thrive in a supportive, active, and loving family that encourages her many interests and gives her space to grow and express herself.

Interesting facts about America's national parks

America's National Park Service is more than 100 years old. President Woodrow Wilson signed the act that created the NPS on August 25, 1916, and since then the parks have attracted a steady stream of nature lovers who want to take in all the beauty the parks have to offer. National parks are a source of pride for hundreds of millions of Americans, and the following are some interesting facts about these special places across North America.

- Acadia National Park in Maine is the oldest national park east of the Mississippi River, tracing its origins to 1916. Landscape architect Charles Eliot and American preservationist George Dorr were influential in the establishment of the park, as was American financier John D. Rockefeller, Jr., who was vital to the construction of a network of carriage roads that ran throughout the park upon its opening.
- Arches National Park is appropriately named. The park, located in eastern Utah, features more than 2,000 natural sandstone arches, including the well-known and widely recognized Delicate Arch.

- Biscayne National Park south of Miami, Florida, is 95 percent water. Perhaps that's why a half dozen shipwrecks spanning nearly a century have been mapped on the park's Maritime Heritage Trail.
- Capitol Reef National Park in south-central Utah contains rocks that History.com notes have estimated to be as much as 270 million years old.

- Sea turtles are among the many notable features of Dry Tortugas National Park, which is located roughly 70 miles west of Key West. Accessibility is another notable quirk of the park, which can only be reached via seaplane.
- Glacier Bay National Park in southeast Alaska is covered by 2,000 square miles of glaciers. No roads lead to Glacier Bay National Park, which is typically reached by air or sea travel.
- Great Basin National Park in Nevada features the Lehman Cave system, which began forming 550 million years ago while the area was still submerged in a shallow ocean.
- American fjord fans may think of Norway when seeking these beautiful bodies of water, but they can see some right within the nation's borders as well. Kenai Fjords National Park in Alaska contains numerous coastal fjords that were carved by glaciers.
- The national park system is so expansive it actually extends south of the equator. The National Park of American Samoa is the only national park south of the equator, and even features a World War II gun emplacement.

NORTHBRIDGE — The seventh annual David Muradian Charity Classic golf tournament was held on Friday, June 27 at Shining Rock Golf Club. The weather could not have been better for the 144 golfers and volunteers who came out in full support of Tony Genga, the Northbridge Deputy Fire Chief who is currently battling adult T-cell acute lymphoblastic leukemia (T-ALL).

The tournament kicked off with Chick-fil-A sandwiches, energy teas from Twins Nutrition, and welcoming remarks and appreciation by Genga, read by Rep. Muradian. Todd Angilly, anthem singer from the Boston Bruins, sang the national anthem as the crowd pledged the American flag courtesy of Direnzo Towing and Recovery.

"Having golfed in the David Muradian Charity Classic in years past, I am incredibly humbled that they selected our family as the recipient of this year's tournament proceeds. Thank you for all of the support and generosity," said Genga.

"It was an amazing day full of support for Tony with an incredible outpouring of love for both him and his family from everyone in attendance," shared Muradian, speaking on behalf of the Charitable Foundation Board.

The David Muradian Charitable Foundation would like to thank all of the supporters and volunteers of the golf tournament to include the tee sponsors, numerous raffle basket donations and silent auction items, and especially Homefield Credit Union, UniBank, Koopman Lumber, PhRMA, Salmon Health & Retirement, Retailers Association of Massachusetts, Sunshine Sign Company, Mashford & Sons, Knights Airport Limo, Murder Hill, Chick-fil-A, Twins Nutrition, Blackstone Valley Physical Therapy Services, Central MA Veterans Support Inc, as well as the delicious lunch from Anzio's Brick Oven Pizza.
