Reading into it

THE MINOR
DETAILS
MINOR

As someone who reads and writes for a living, and considers it a lifelong passion, you can imagine the pride I feel in my heart when I see my 5-year-old son learning to read.

I sat down with him before bedtime last week, and he read me a book. It was a simple book. I'm not talking Shakespeare here (although that would be quite impressive). It was called, "I Am Here," filled with short words designed to stimulate early readers, with pictures to help if they get stuck. It was like a book with training wheels. I'm sure at this point he has probably memorized the book he has read it so much, but his eyes light up when he can successfully recognize the words he is trying to read.

It's an awesome thing to see him on the beginning of the path of learning such an important skill. I can see the gears churning as he thinks about the sounds that correspond to different words, his "thinking face" complete with furrowed brow and scrunched lip, as he concentrates on the page in front of him.

Of course, it's not always on the page that I'll catch him reading. As I came out of my bedroom one night last week, I came upon my son playing. He gave my midsection a curious look, and slowly and simply said: "Old Navy."

Puzzled, I looked down, and realized that I was wearing my 2016 American flag Old Navy T-shirt. He had read my shirt. To further test his skills, I asked him as I pointed to the words underneath the American flag, "What does this say?"

"L...an...D...of...the...f...r...ee." Following my fingers, he sounded it out at a faster pace. "Land of the free."

When I was his age, I was reading and writing at a furious pace. I couldn't stop. Anything that had words on it, I was trying to sound out loud. My mother will tell you that it got out of hand sometimes. When I was 3, I was scolded for taking the graphite bottom of a light bulb and using it as a pencil to write words on my wall. My mother was simultaneously angry and impressed, so much so that she left those doodles on my wall years. My son never did that, but he has tackled any and every word he can, even if he doesn't know how to spell it. It's almost become like a secret language we try to decode, as he writes his messages phonetically, often-times accompanying his notes with pictures and doodles (sometimes, I wish I could accompany this column with doodles...).

It makes me happy to see him (and my daughter, as she tries to keep up!) enjoy learning to read. Now granted, there are times he gets into his moods and wants to just be left alone and be left to his Legos, dinosaurs and knick-knacks. But more often than not, he is more than happy to be in a book, either trying to figure out the words, or having one of us help him along.

I can only hope that he learns to love the written word as much as his old man as he grows up — but even if he doesn't, at least he can read this in some archive somewhere, sometime in the future, and be embarrassed!

OXFORD — The Tri State Trail Riders continued their yearly dedication to giving back to the Oxford Fire Department & EMS on Jan. 13, with the presentation of a check for $500 as a "thank you" for the department's help with an annual event at Hodges Villager and Dam.

Each year the Tri State Trail Riders host an event for local riders at the dam to allow them to hit the trails for some fun and excitement. Many of the riders are on the young side, and Oxford EMS is always on scene to help with any potential medical situations that may occur. David Carlson, the president of the Tri State Trail Riders, said giving back to Oxford Fire & EMS has long been a priority for this organization.

"Firefighting equipment, EMT equipment, training, it's all a lot of money," Carlson said. "I wish we could give more, but unfortunately we're not a big club so whatever

DESTO: DABROWSKI'S LIFE A LESSON IN CARING, LOVE

CHARLTON / DUDLEY — Shepherd Hill invited students, faculty, staff and the community to come together on Sunday, Jan. 8 for support—and just someone to talk to — after the tragic death of Shepherd Hill senior Emily Dabrowski.

The 17-year-old Charlton resident passed away suddenly on Friday, Jan. 6, in the UMass Medical Center in Worcester, from rare complications related to mononucleosis.

A funeral was held on Wednesday, Jan. 11, and in lieu of flowers, her family asked that donations be made in memory of Emily to help the children in Haiti by giving to Free the Kids. While just a teenager, Dabrowski had already been on three humanitarian trips to Haiti with her church, a cause she was very passionate about. While she was known to excel in many aspects of life, it was her caring nature that stood out to many.

"Her dedication to the orphaned children of the poverty stricken nation of Haiti was amazing," Superintendent Gregg Desto stated the following week. "Emily cared deeply for these children and this, for me, is where the lesson begins. We, students and adults, often live our lives in a state of hurried confusion. We are always busy, often too much so to spend quality time with our loved ones, and we have been conditioned to worry about a lot of superficial things.

BOS ADDRESSES CONCERNS ABOUT PERMITTING PROCESS

BY JASON BLEAU

DUDLEY — The Islamic cemetery issue in Dudley has picked up right where it left off in 2016, with the Zoning Board of Appeals officially signing off on a settlement agreement between the town and the Islamic Society of Greater Worcester (ISGW) on Jan. 12, that will dictate how the permitting process for the project is handled moving forward.

The agreement, which was reached just before the Christmas holiday, made headlines in the first week of January when comments made to The Webster

Times by the ISGW's representing attorney, Jason Taleran, drew the ire of Dudley selectmen when it was implied town boards would have no power to deny the cemetery project. However, talks have since recommenced and both the Board of Selectmen and ISGW representatives have agreed to abide by a document that Board of Selectman Chairman Jonathan Ruda has told Dudley residents will require mutually agreeable terms to see the cemetery come to Corbin Road.

WEBSTER — The Board of Selectmen has signed documents to allow for four purchase items that were approved at a Town Meeting in May 2015. Webster Town

Treasurer James A. Chauvin approached selectmen on Jan. 9 to have them sign several documents authorizing the $3.1 million in purchases to be paid through bond anticipation notes. The four purchase items were approved by taxpayers on May 11 of 2015 with notes on the bond anticipation notes securing a long-term bonding plan for each item even without the money already in hand.

"These borrowings for the $3.1 million

Webster to list licensees on agendas going forward

WEBSTER — Selectmen in Webster have seemingly resolved a complaint issued against their board for an open meeting violation dating back to the board's meeting last month in relation to how the town presents companies up for liquor license renewal on town agendas.

of an open meeting complaint filed by Patrick Higgins, dated on Dec. 11, 2016, which Town Administrator Doug Willardson told selectmen was due to the Board of Selectmen's practice of omitting certain details about liquor license renewals from meeting agendas.

"The biggest thing that the complaint was about was listing the liquor licenses and the addresses," Willardson said after confirming he had consulted Town Council about the situation. "[Higgins] also brought up a couple other things that the board doesn't list including the dates of the meeting minutes. Town Council doesn't think that's necessary."

While the dates of meeting minutes and other issues presented in the complaint may be seen as non issues by Town Council, it turns out Webster is required to list the companies for license renewal, per state rules,

Trash pick-up updates draw criticism in Oxford

BY JASON BLEAU
NEWS STAFF WRITER

OXFORD — Oxford residents really don't want to see their trash pickup regulations messed with — at least that's how it appears if the latest meeting concerning possible changes to the regulations is to be taken seriously.

After postponing the public hearing in December, the Oxford Board of Health finally addressed proposed updates to the rules and regulations for trash and recycling pickup in the town mere months after voters cast a resounding 'no' vote on the establishment of a town-wide trash pick-up service with many of the sentiments shared at this most recent meeting being carried over from those earlier discussions in 2016.

Kerrie Singer, chairman of Oxford's Board of Health, told the large crowd of Oxford taxpayers who filed in to the Oxford High School auditorium that the proposal they presented is connected to the town-wide service proposal from 2016, but is not the same kind of proposal. In August, when the Department of Environmental Protection and Oxford officials had been discussing the town-wide service proposal, the Board of Health was informed that their regulations were "grossly outdated" with the current format dating back to 1987, with recycling not even mentioned in the policies. With that, the Board of Health was tasked with updating the rules and regulations for modern times.

"Trash is a public health issue. It does fall underneath Massachusetts General Law and the Board of Health does have a lot to do with the trash hauler and regulations in general," Singer told residents when asked why changes weren't made sooner if they were needed to badly. "I'll be open and honest. The timing of this is terrible. We were notified and we were kept abreast of all of the information of what was presented with regards to the single hauler proposal in October and that was when we were notified that our regulations were outdated. It took some time in order to have our regulations to be drafted to go through Town Council and the proper channels and unfortunately, and we're being very honest, the timing of it was just not right and if there was a way for us to have these regulations done prior to that meeting (concerning the town-wide proposal) we would have, but unfortunately it didn't happen that way."

Singer said the Board of Health's goal at the public hearing was to take note of the major concerns the public has with the proposal or any potential change at all to the trash and recycling format currently utilized in Oxford. Several concerns brought up during the meeting included the impact a required service would have on low income or senior residents of the town, especially if the rules require a weekly versus a biweekly pick-up option and many said they felt the town was trying to relinquish the power of choice from the townspeople. Some even went so far as to challenge town officials and say that their positions could be on the line and some accused town leaders of undermining the previous 'no' vote on the town-wide service by using the regulation changes as a "back door" to get their plan through.

Oxford taxpayer Collette Gage presented an emotional statement calling the whole situation "unfair" and the regulations changes "unnecessary."

"We have a system that's not broken and if it's not broken it should not be played with or mandated. I feel our rights as townspeople are being hampered on. We are being treated to the point of not having enough brains to be able to take care of our own trash. We, the people of Oxford, are paying. Not the town. The town should not mandate the size (of trash containers). We should mandate the size of what we are paying for. The service we are paying for we should mandate. If a person can't afford weekly pickup and have no reason for it, why should they be forced to pay for weekly trash pickup? Now you're asking the residents of Oxford to have a higher burden," Gage said.

Another Oxford resident, Janet Fish, proved to be one of the most vocal of around 30 residents who stepped up to the microphone to speak their piece. Her criticisms of the proposed changes included one major shot at the town's plan to put the burden of enforcement on the shoulder's of Oxford's police officers.

"I don't know how everyone else feels, but I don't want the police monitoring my trash," Fish said. "I don't think (our police officers) feel that it's beneficial for them to have gone through the police academy and all those weeks of hard training to watch what size trash containers we have along the side of the road. I don't want our police doing that. I want our police making sure more important things are taken care of rather than being a glorified trash monitor."

Fish also criticized the proposed changes for stripped taxpayers of their choice. She said the townsfolk should be able to make their own decisions when it comes to trash pick-up service, frequency, and even whether or not to recycle.

"Recycling should be a choice that the resident, the property owner, makes themselves. We should not have to be forced to do recycling if we don't want to. Do I think recycling is good? Yes I do. But, we shouldn't have to be forced into it by getting smaller containers because the town wants us to. This is America, we can choose who we want to have our trash hauler," Fish said.

Fish said that if something is not mandated by the state then there's no real reason for the Board of Health to implement it and upon asking Singer and the Board of Health about any state mandates Singer said the container size, which would shrink from 96-gallons to 64-gallons under the newer regulations proposed with older containers being grandfathered in, is not a mandate but rather a change proposed by the Board of Health itself. Fish's comments fell in line with many other citizens who all had the same message — if it's not broken, then don't fix it.

With permission from the town, Eric Pratt, of Pratt Trucking, the most used trash hauler service in town, added her own comments on this issue. The company's representatives became outspoken against the town-wide trash service late last year when they claimed they were not given proper consideration for the proposal. On Jan. 4, Pratt showed she was in agreement with many in Oxford telling the Board of Health they shouldn't go forward with any changes because the system in place has sufficed for years.

"I think it's pretty clear that DEP does not mandate what you are saying they are. It's a little unfair in my opinion, unfortunately," Pratt said. "The DEP does not require any town in the commonwealth to do anything. It's not marching orders. They're suggestions."

Selectman John Saad spoke as a citizen at the Board of Health hearing and restated his opposition to any change to the trash service in town, but also came to the defense of the Board of Health following several comments of distrust from the residents in attendance.

"I say if it's not a health problem why create one? I'm totally opposed to mandating something that we don't have to mandate. God forbid. We have enough mandates in the federal and state government right now," Saad said. "I've heard remarks about is this a method of the town trying to get rid of a certain hauler, namely Pratt. I don't believe that. I don't believe it for a minute. I firmly believe that whatever the Board of Health does in adopting regulations, it's going to be across the board and it's going to cover all haulers. I happen to have Pratt, but there are other haulers in this town and, you know what, if they don't do the job then someone else is going to take it over. Let the market regulate itself."

The Board of Health will now take the information they gathered from the public hearing and use it to decide how to proceed. Until then whether that

Worcester County Sheriff Lewis G. Evangelidis takes the Office of Office for his second term as Sheriff administered by Lt. Governor Karyn Polito. The Inaugural Ceremony was held on Jan. 5, at St. John's High School in Shrewsbury

SHREWSBURY — Flanked by members of his department's Honor Guard, command staff, local clergy and family, Worcester County Sheriff Lewis Evangelidis was sworn-in for his second term serving as the county's 28th High Sheriff on Jan. 5 at St. John's High School in Shrewsbury.

The Inaugural Ceremony was attended by Massachusetts Lt. Governor Karyn Polito, who administered the Oath of Office and had much praise for Evangelidis.

"Tonight with friends, family, community leaders, mayors, law enforcement and people from all of Worcester County we celebrate the individual for whom we are here tonight, Sheriff Lew. Under his leadership, Sheriff Evangelidis has gone above and beyond what we expected and strengthened our community here in Worcester County," Polito said. "He is a sheriff who understands that 90 percent of inmates suffer from addiction and he has touched inmates lives in a way that had not previously been done and by doing so, he is showing how to reduce the rate of recidivism. Our Sheriff serves this community in so many ways going above and beyond with the senior picnic and winter coat drive."

Evangelidis began his remarks by thanking family, friends, staff, supporters, the department's honor guard and correction officers as well as fellow law enforcement officials.

"Tonight is a celebration of the Worcester County Sheriff's Department and how grateful we are to have this job in public safety and give back to the citizens of Worcester County," said Evangelidis. "We are proud of our promises made and promises kept throughout our first term and the professionalism of our department; including raising the hiring standards, implementing a promotional process based on merit, removing the Sheriff's name off of the vehicles, prohibiting all political contributions from department employees and their spouses as well as immediately consolidating many costly positions."

"The role of Sheriff is more than a desk job and I am so proud of what we have accomplished in the mission of public safety to make Worcester County a safer place — at the jail, within our community and in our schools," continued Evangelidis, referring to the many programs implemented during his tenure including increased substance abuse programming, the use of shelter dogs for narcotics detection and inmate re-entry, prioritizing military hiring, inmate work crews that provided over $7 million in county-wide savings and an organic jail farming program that donated to local food banks over 20,000 pounds in fresh food.

Evangelidis also shared during his Inaugural remarks that almost 90 percent of his inmates are incarcerated due to addiction and substance abuse issues and to combat the current opioid epidemic head on he has given extraordinary focus to bringing that message with his Face2Face Program to over 270,000 middle and high school students.

Evangelidis' address concluded with his vision for his next term which included two new building projects at the jail to address infrastructure needs at what is the oldest county correctional facility in the Commonwealth, establishing a local employment board to assist with inmate re-entry and job training as well as continuing efforts to combat addiction. His Department will also host and house patrol horses, in partnership with the Worcester Police Department, for the newly formed Mounted Police Patrol Unit.

Evangelidis also took a moment to thank many community, civic leaders and charitable organizations that have dedicated their lives to helping others in Worcester County and as Sheriff he has worked with closely including; Gordon Hargrove of The Friendly House, Billy Reilly of St. John's Food for the Poor Program, Pastor Janice Ford of The Reconciliation House of Webster, Warner Winters of Leominster and St. Anne's Human Services of Shrewsbury.

"Over the last six years, it has been a great honor and privilege to serve as your Sheriff. I love this job and I am so appreciative of the faith you have put in me and as we begin our second term at the Sheriff's Department, I look forward to continuing that service," said Evangelidis.

Police urge residents to keep pets safe during winter cold

BY KEVIN FLANDERS
NEWS STAFF WRITER

Area police departments and animal shelters have a message for pet owners this winter — if it's too cold for you to be outside for a prolonged duration, then it's also too cold for your furry friends.

Local police departments have received numerous calls reporting stray animals with nowhere to find warmth, as well as pets left outside in frigid temperatures. A dangerous misconception that pets' fur will protect them from the elements for extended periods leads to countless deaths nationwide each year.

"Every winter there are animals found dead, injured, or ill because they are not being properly taken care of," said Robert Misseri, the founder and president of Guardians of Rescue, an animal rescue organization which assists pets across the northeast. "Our team puts in a great effort to help as many pets as we can, but we don't do it all on our own. We are urging communities to get involved in helping to keep the pets in their area safe throughout the winter chill."

In addition to the risk of hypothermia, prolonged exposure to the cold can also exacerbate such medical conditions as arthritis for pets, according to the American Veterinary Medical Foundation. There are numerous measures owners can take to protect their pets, including:

- Shorten your dog's walk during extremely cold conditions. Elderly pets may also have a difficult time walking on snow and ice.
- If your dog will allow it, put a sweater on during the coldest days. When bringing your dog back in from a walk in the snow or ice, be sure to wipe down the fur to remove any deicing chemicals.
- Once the temperature drops below 40 degrees, pets should be brought in from outdoor enclosures. For those who cannot keep their dogs inside, opt for having a heated doghouse with proper bedding and insulation.
- "A general rule of thumb is that if it's too cold for you to be outside, it's too cold for your pet," said Sheryl Blancato, the executive director of Second Chance Animal Shelter, which operates locations in North Brookfield and East Brookfield. "Also, be aware of areas being treated by ice melt — certain kinds can injure your dog's paws."

Officials also remind residents to be on alert for pets in the neighborhood left outdoors without proper shelter. Additionally, pet owners are warned to keep their animals away from areas where spilled antifreeze can be accessed. Because antifreeze has a pleasant taste to pets, it is responsible for many deaths each year.

In your own driveway and garage, be sure to clean antifreeze spills right away to prevent animals from contacting it.

Also, pets should never be left alone in a vehicle for extended stretches during cold weather. Much like the summer months, the temperatures in vehicles can quickly become extreme once the engine is turned off.

"We have seen way too many pets that live outside with very poor shelter, and they suffer so much," added Misseri. "We have made it our mission to go out in full force and try to help as many of those pets that we can. The laws on leaving pets outside are very weak, so we have to do what we can to help make a difference for the animals."

OML UPDATE

even though the town has not made this common practice over the last few years.

"We never have listed the names and addresses in the past," Selectman Randy Becker said during the Jan. 9 meeting. "Apparently, we have to."

Selectman Donald Bourque showed citizens in attendance that the license renewal section of the Jan. 9 agenda did indeed include the names and addresses of those who applied for renewal, however Bourque echoed Becker's statements explaining that this is in fact a new practice for Webster.

"I've been on the board for six years. This was not common practice. We have rectified it," Bourque said.

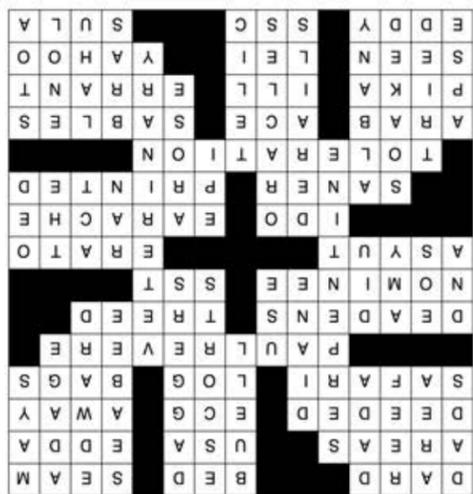

Willardson, although new to Webster, had worked for several other towns in the past and even he admitted that the towns he had previously worked for didn't list the entities and addresses when addressing the liquor licenses either.

With approval of selectmen to acknowledge the complaint, selectmen will send notice of their vote to town council as well as notice of the adjustments made in the hopes that this will be enough to appease the complainant. While a seemingly small issue, listing the licensees and their addresses allows citizens to know every entity being given permission to serve alcohol over the next year and where those entities are located, details that are certainly public information but made more accessible by their inclusion on the agenda.

Selectmen approved 17 pouring all alcohol restaurant licenses, eight club licenses, five pouring wine and malt restaurant licenses, five package store wine and malt licenses, four package store all alcohol licenses, and 36 common vic licenses for non alcoholic restaurants. They also approved several Class I, Class II and Class III licenses for local auto dealers and businesses and one gold dealer license in votes that same night.

St. Joseph School to celebrate National Migration Week

WEBSTER — The Catholic Church in the United States has celebrated National Migration Week for nearly 50 years. National Migration Week is an opportunity for Catholics to reflect on their heritage as well as the heritage of those they encounter in their community.

The importance of the word “encounter” was stressed during Pope Francis’ homily given at his first Pentecost as pope: “For me this word is very important. Encounter with others. Why? Because faith is an encounter with Jesus, and we must do what Jesus does: encounter others.”

The celebration of National Migration Week is an annual tradition at St.

Joseph School in Webster. The children of the school represent various cultures and each year they celebrate this diversity! Students and their families will come together to celebrate their heritage on Sunday, Jan. 29, during 9:30 a.m. mass. They will be joined by special guest, Bishop Robert J. McManus. The public is invited to join us for this special celebration.

Following mass, in honor of the school’s 125th Anniversary there will be a special Open House from 11 a.m. – 1 p.m. to kick-off Catholic Schools Week. All are invited to visit each classroom and learn about the individual ethnic groups that have influenced St. Joseph School and the community of Webster.

Travel through France, Poland, Greece, Italy and more! Passports will be provided to participants who experience the “Tour of Countries.” Everyone who completes the tour will receive a special gift.

In addition, a

WEBSTER — The Children of Mary Sodality at St. Joseph School recently held their installations for new members. Membership is open to girls in grades 3-8 who attend St. Joseph School. New members are accepted into the Sodality on the First Sunday of Advent. New members installed in December 2016 include Alexandra Kurowski, Samantha Reseigh, Grace Pomfret, Hannah Watson, Cheyanne Matthews and Sheridan Medaglia. As members of the Children of Mary Sodality, the girls actively participate in various parish activities such as processions on important feast days and the Fatima processions on the 13th of the month from May through October when they have the privilege of carrying the statue of Our Lady. The girls also participate in First Friday adoration where they pray the rosary in front of the Blessed Sacrament and join parishioners in singing the Chaplet of Divine Mercy. In addition, they take part in a variety of service activities including organizing and preparing the parish Advent Angel Tree. Congratulations!

we make extra on our event at Hodges Village we like to give back.”

Captain Roger Lambert of the Oxford Fire & EMS said that the money is always appreciated and, as always, the funding will go to a good cause to keep employee training and preparedness up to date.

“The money often goes toward building different types of training props of purchasing props. This may be used for medical training. We’ll see,” Lambert said. “There are a lot of certifications that we have to keep up with including CPR and ACLS and PALS that fall on the department. The money will definitely go to a good cause.”

David Carlson couldn’t stress enough how thankful his organization is for the contributions of Oxford Fire & EMS. He said having them on hand may not always be needed, but they are always valued.

“We appreciate the Oxford EMT’s being present at our function. I know it puts the parents at ease to know there are medical personnel on site in case there was a problem,” Carlson said. “Fortunately this year I don’t think we got more than a scratch so the EMT’s had a rather boring time at our event, but it’s good to have them there for the peace of mind. It was a good time by all. Part of our function is to donate money to organizations and charities and this is one of the good ones on the top of our list to help out.”

St. Joseph School receives technology grant

WEBSTER — St. Joseph School is proud to announce that it has been awarded $16,000 by the National Network of Libraries of Medicine (NN/LM) to fund interactive technology in its classrooms. The funds will be used to complete wireless infrastructure in the school and purchase Chromebooks for the students to provide state of the art technology for its science and health classrooms. The goal is to increase and improve access to health information including NN/LM resources and other reliable health information on the Internet for students, staff and family members of the St. Joseph School Community. School Councilor Samantha Miller has been designated to attend Train-the-

Trainer sessions with NN/LM staff in January. Through use of the Chromebooks and with guidance from Ms. Miller, students will learn how to evaluate health information and be instructed about Alcohol Awareness and environmental health. The new technology will allow the students to wirelessly share and compare their work from multiple devices, and the interactive lessons will transform the students into active learners, thereby increasing their academic achievement and health literacy. Increased health literacy skills have been shown to have a direct correlation to an increase in preventative services as well as fewer emergency room visits and hospitalizations.

Salvation Army Kettle Campaign a success

To the Editor:
 This is written to acknowledge the many who supported our local Salvation Army this holiday season.

A very special thanks to Price Chopper, Dudley Park n' Shop, and New Lakeside & Dudley Insurance Agency for allowing us to use their locations to ring the bell. We would also like to thank Take 2 Consignment, Closet Classics Thrift Store, Dippin Donuts, Elite Hair Design, Jimmy's Pizza, Leoni's Pizza, Bubba's, The Coffee Shop and the Webster House of Pizza for allowing our table top kettles to sit on their counters! A very special thanks to the individuals from Life-Skills, Inc. who were hired to ring the bell faithfully Monday-Friday for the entire campaign, and all friends and family members who logged many hours of bell ringing in some challenging weather conditions.

Thank you to the Dudley Senior Center who knit warm mittens, hats, and scarves for local children in need. They also collected gift cards and funds to support two struggling families experiencing significant life challenges. Their efforts along with the Sturbridge BNI group provided presents for 11 children ages 1-16 years.

A special thanks to everyone at Bank Hometown in Webster, for counting the kettles daily. They always providing us with empty kettles to take with us while displaying a positive and encouraging attitude.

Last year, the Salvation Army in Massachusetts provided over 2.2 million meals to the hungry, over 195,000 nights of shelter, 100,000 warm coats and articles of clothing for those in need and these numbers continue to grow. As the Salvation Army Unit Coordinator for the Webster-Dudley area I was able to experience firsthand while ringing the bell the amount of thoughtful giving and generosity by so many in the local community. This year's kettle campaign resulted in over $10,000 received at these above listed locations. On behalf of those most in need in our local area, thank you very much for the support. Life-Skills, Inc. is proud to be a part of this annual community outreach program that benefits so many.

Financial fraud scams continue to deceive

A variety of financial fraud "scams" continue to occur frequently in our area. People are asked to send money to various locations or provide personal or bank information. These can take place in person, on-line, over the phone, or by mail. As a result, people may be out large sums of money. Two relatively new ones were brought to my attention and I wanted to provide everyone some information on these illegal activities.

Money and identity scams have been occurring for many years. Those responsible prey on unsuspecting individuals, in particular the elderly. Their goal is to obtain either quick cash or other personal information, such as bank account numbers. Armed with this documentation, the criminal can commit identity theft and access your finances. Some scams will inform the victim they have won a prize or that they are eligible for some gift or benefit. They will ask the victim to provide personal information. This information can then be used to open accounts or conduct other identity theft crimes.

One local resident had researched traffic patterns in connection with a trip they were taking. Upon returning home, they received an e-mail informing them they had been "issued a traffic infringement." The message had a fine associated with it and it directed the person to open an attached document. The person researched this and determined it to be false. The intention is either to commit identity theft or place a virus on the computer. A second scam brought to my attention has not been reported in our area, yet, however; it is certainly one to watch. People in other states have received telephone calls from people claiming to be police or court officials. The victims were told they had been chosen for Federal Court Jury Duty but had failed to show. They are then asked for personal information, such as social security numbers, and / or bank or credit card information. The FBI warns the Federal Courts don't require people to give sensitive information over the phone or by email. Most contact between these courts and a prospective juror will be through the U.S. mail. People are encouraged to note the phone number from the caller ID and contact the FBI at 314-589-2500.

Always be cautious of calls from people claiming to represent government agencies such as the IRS. Most government offices, or financial institutions, will contact you by mail or deal with you in person when they have the opportunity. Do not trust any of this business over the phone. Another scam involves people receiving a phone call or e-mail telling them a relative or friend has been arrested. These are most often based in a foreign country. Elderly victims are frequently targets of this type of activity. They can be fooled into believing their grandchild is in trouble. The suspects ask for bail money to be wired to them in order to get the person out of jail. This is most likely a hoax. Never send money just based on this type of contact. Be sure to notify family members or the police for assistance.

It is best not to conduct business transactions unless you are sure of the people and places you are dealing with. If you receive unexpected requests for money or other personal information, chances are it is a scam. Be very cognizant of these occurrences and take the time to verify the activity before providing anything. Protect your personal information and report anything suspicious to the proper authorities.

Thanks again for your questions and comments. Please send them to me at the Dudley Police Department, 71 West Main St., Dudley, MA 01571 or e-mail at swojnar@dudleypolice.com. Opinions expressed in this weekly column are those of Chief Wojnar only and unless clearly noted, do not reflect the ideas or opinions of any other organization or citizen.

Making life a little easier is what this column is all about, and this week, it will focus on saving time and money — two things many people wished they had more of! From recycling free samples to cutting down on cleaning, these simple and effective tips give you one less thing to worry about!

Scented Samples: The next time you find yourself with too many perfume sample papers from magazines and store sale catalogs, gather them up and stow them in the glove compartment of your car. When your car needs refreshing, (or if you want to try out a new scent without commitment) stick an end of the fragrant paper into the air vent slot and enjoy the aroma!

Got it Covered: Futon covers are pricey, but did you know a full or queen fitted sheet will do the trick just as well and save you a bundle? The sheet fits nice and snug and best of all, it can be easily washed. Plus you can afford to change colors or patterns with the seasons.

Another futon cover alternative is to shop for sales on duvet covers. They are usually much cheaper than futon covers, but essentially do the same job.

Crystal Clear: Washing large windows, like sliders to a deck can be grueling chore. If you'd like to play hooky from the job for a week (or two), treat the glass with Rain X, a water repellent sold in auto supply stores. Dirt, as well as water, won't be attracted to the glass!

Shower Power: Daily shower cleaner sprays have all but alleviated hard scouring, but the popular commercial products are expensive to use. No worries. You can whip up your own just-as-effective version for a lot less money. Here's how: Combine together in an empty spray bottle: one cup of white vinegar; one half teaspoon liquid dishwashing soap, and one quarter cup of dishwasher rinse agent (such as Jet Dry). To use, just spray down shower and tub walls after each use.

Slick Trick: Keep a bottle of cooking oil spray in the garage to spritz on the shovel this winter. It will keep snow from sticking. This trick also works with snow blowers and lawn mowers, just spray it on the blades to keep them clean and clog free.

Fire & Water: There is still plenty of winter left this season and nothing warms up a room better than a candle's glow. You can cut down on cleaning your votive holders by adding little water to the bottom of the glass before lighting the candle. This way, wax won't stick and cleanup is a snap!

Rub a Dub: Rubbing alcohol does double duty as both a time and money saver. It's an inexpensive cleaner and disinfectant you can use all around the house. Did you know you can pour straight alcohol in a spray bottle to quickly clean windows, streak free? It's also an effective disinfectant for counter tops, telephones and other surfaces you want to be germ-free. Alcohol also shines up chrome sink fixtures with just a quick rub. A spray of alcohol works well in winter to clean car windows, as it does not freeze. If you buy the pine scented rubbing alcohol it will

Investment tips for 'millennials'

If you are a "millennial" — a member of the age cohort born anywhere from the early 1980's to the late 1990's — then you're still in the early chapters of your career, so it may be a stretch for you to envision the end of it. But since you do have so many years until you retire, you've got the luxury of putting time on your side as you save and plan for retirement.

Here are some suggestions for making the best use of that time:

Invest early — and often. Even if you are at the very beginning of your career, make investing a priority. At first, you might only be able to contribute a small amount each month, but something is far better than nothing — and after a year or so, you might be surprised at how much you've actually put away.

Take advantage of your employer's retirement plan. If your employer offers a 401(k) or similar plan, contribute as much as you can afford. At the least, put in enough to earn your employer's match, if one is offered. Your contributions can lower your taxable income, and your earnings can grow on a tax-deferred basis.

Invest more as your earnings increase. As your career advances, and your earnings rise, you'll want to increase your contributions to your 401(k) or similar plan. And if you ever "max out" on your annual 401(k) contributions (the limits change over time), you can probably still contribute to another tax-advantaged retirement plan, such as a traditional or Roth IRA.

Thus far, we've only discussed, in general terms, how much and how often you should invest. But it's obviously just as important to think about the type of investments you own. And at this stage of your life, you need an investment mix that provides you with ample opportunities for growth. Historically, stocks and stock-based vehicles provide greater growth potential than other investments, such as government securities, corporate bonds and certificates of deposit (CDs). Of course, stocks will rise and fall in price, sometimes dramatically. But with decades ahead of you, you do have time to overcome short-term losses. And you may be able to reduce the effects of market volatility by spreading your dollars among many different stock-based investments, along with a reasonable percentage of bonds and other, more conservative securities.

Here's something else to consider: Many millennials want more from their investments than just good performance — they also want their money to make a difference in the world. This interest in "impact" investing (also known as "socially responsible" investing) has led some of your peers to screen out companies or industries they believe have a negative impact on society in favor of other businesses that are viewed as contributing to a more sustainable world. If this viewpoint resonates with you, then you may want to explore these types of investment opportunities with a financial professional.

But most importantly, keep on investing throughout your life. As a millennial, you've got plenty of the one asset that can never be replaced: time. Use it wisely.

FHA loans just got cheaper

In many parts of Worcester County buyers are purchasing with low money down programs such as an FHA loan, which is administered through the Federal Housing Administration.

This week it was announced that they will lower the annual mortgage insurance premium by .25 percent. They say the reason is because the amounts of defaults have decreased causing higher reserves to be on hand and passing this savings on to homeowners. The other thing they are doing is making these loans more competitive and it hedges against the rising interest rates. These loans allow you to buy an owner occupied home 1-4 units building with as little 3.5 percent down payments. These rates will be for loans that close on 1/27 or later. This savings on average should save a homeowner about $500 per year.

These loans can be appealing for several reasons. They typically allow for a higher debt to income ratio than many other loans allow borrowers to spend more on a home thus protecting the Real Estate Market from pricing these borrowers out of the market. Many times you can get these loans with lower credit scores than conventional loans.

The other reason these can be desirable is the ability to purchase with as little as 3.5 percent down.

For most loans, you will be going from 85 basis points down to 60 basis points. Make sure to speak to a mortgage lender that you trust that can do a calculation for you to see if this is the best loan product for you. We talked about mortgage insurance premiums and there can be confusion about what that is for. This is not the insurance to protect you if anything happens to your home. This insurance is designed to help the bank that is lending you money in case you default on the loan. Depending on the loan product and the percentage you put down when purchasing the home you may or may not have to pay a mortgage insurance premium.

Unpredictable weather impacting local outdoor events

Here we go again. Although the weather is enjoyable for this time of year it has taken a toll on the ice at lakes and ponds in the area.

A couple of rod and gun club ice fishing derbies have been postponed until ice conditions improve. There is some talk at clubs about opening their ponds to rod and reel fishing. That would be great, as numerous others are having a feast at a couple of clubs, eating recently stocked trout.

Jerry Gareri was ice fishing in Maine for trout and large-mouth bass last week and caught some very impressive brown trout and bass. He and his fishing companion had brown trout tipping the scales at 5 and 6 pounds and bass in the 4-5 pound range. They fished more than 40 hours last week.

A recent e-mail from Dan Southwick provided this writer with some great pictures of his pike fishing trips last week. Dan is another angler that takes his fishing seriously. Pitching a tent on the ice and fishing around the clock is the only way to catch fish when there feeding frenzy starts. His past trips to New York have also had him catching some very impressive steelhead in past years. With ice conditions deteriorating rapidly, Southwick may be heading to upstate New York to catch steelhead. His adventures often take him away from other anglers into remote areas of the Salmon River.

Anglers patiently waiting for warmer weather can cure cabin fever by attending the upcoming sportsmen's shows in the coming weeks. The New England Fishing and Outdoor Expo will open their doors on Jan. 27, at the Boxboro Regency Hotel and Conference Center in Boxboro! The Springfield Sportsmen's Show at the Big E will open their doors on Feb. 24-26 this year. The New England Saltwater fishing show will be held at the Rhode Island Convention Center on March 10-12. This highly rated and attended show is a must see for any saltwater angler.

Bald eagles are making their presence known locally. A couple of birds were spotted at the Meadow Pond in Whitinsville this past week. A couple of years ago an eagle killed a large swan at Rice City and was the topic of conversation for some time. Local residents caused a small traffic jam on the bridge overlooking the pond, anxious to observe the huge bird as he dined on the bird for a few weeks. Eagles and hawks have made a big come back after DDT was stopped being used to control mosquitoes.

Reports of numerous fisher cat crossing local back yards and roadways are on the increase. Late February and early March is the breeding season for this interesting and sometimes nasty tempered animals. In the coming weeks, numerous fishers will be observed in the road after they have encountered a motor vehicle. Their pelts are still highly prized and will bring a substantial amount of money to trappers that take the time to skin and tan them. Beaver populations also continue to grow and are causing some major damage to trees along local rivers and streams. Severe flooding will start to become a problem in the spring.

Now is a good time to go scouting for shed deer antlers. With the absence of snow, they can be easily spotted if you look hard enough. Picking a good deer run and walking slowly through the woods carefully scanning the ground, you would be amazed at how many are out there. You can learn a lot about the deer in the area, and it could help you next season in harvesting a trophy buck. Take along a good hunting dog and they may also locate a few shed antlers for you. A few dog owners have trained their hunting dog to locate them also.

John O'Leary was a long time delegate to the Worcester County League and wrote a monthly column for the league's newspaper. His love for the outdoors inspired him to write about his experiences, and his bird hunting with his English pointer. John was a heavy built man and always provided a real strong handshake when he met you. I often gave him one back, which often brought a smile to his face. Our deepest sympathy goes out to both families.

Short coin series, Part 3: Liberty V Nickels, 1883-1912

Believe it or not, we come across one or more of these coins in about half of the collections we encounter. Most often they are simply loose coins or stacked in old orange pill canisters. The vast majority are from 1900 to 1912.

However, there's the occasional 1883 both with and without the words "FIVE CENTS" at the bottom of the reverse. And therein lies the story of gold-plated "bootlegger nickels." We have related this story in past columns so we'll simply note here that the coins without the denomination noted were gold plated and passed off as bogus $5 gold pieces to folks and merchants who had no idea what a real $5 gold piece looked like.

You may recall that the only person charged with passing a fake $5 gold bootleg nickel was here in Mass. However he was acquitted because he was a deaf mute and, therefore never claimed it was a gold coin.

Over 16 million Liberty V nickels were minted in 1883 in both "without cents" and "with cents" varieties. Production exceeded 10 million each year through the last regular year of production in 1912. The only years that fell below that mark were (in decreasing order of numbers made) were: 1895 (9.9 million), 1896 (8.8 million), 1894 (5.4 million), 1886 (3.2 million), and 1885 (1.5 million). The coins were only made in Philadelphia until 1912 when 8.4 million were made in Denver and just 238,000 were minted in San Francisco.

Of special note...none were legally made in 1913, which was also the first year that Buffalo nickels were produced at all three mints. However, five were clandestinely made and supposedly given to a collector. All of them have sold for well over $1 million each in the past several years.

We seldom find coins in collections in grades above VF 20. Most normal year coins generally sell for $1 in G-4 condition, $3 in F-12, and $7 in VF-20. But let's take a look at the lower mintage years. Here are the values in G-4 condition for those years: 1895 ($5.50), 1896 ($6.75), 1894 ($13), 1886 ($160), and the rarest date, 1885 ($290). In G-4 condition, none of the letters in "Liberty" on the headband are visible.

In Fine-12, the values are: 1895 ($18), 1896 ($30), 1894 ($75), 1886 ($300), and 1885 ($660). In order to be graded F-12 all seven letters in "Liberty" on the headband must be clearly visible.

While we rarely see these coins in EF-40 condition, we do occasionally see them. In order to be EF, there must be considerable original mint luster on both sides of the coin. These values are: 1895 ($52), 1896 ($95), 1894 ($195), 1886 ($520), and 1885 ($1,050).

For the only year of production in Denver and San Francisco, here are the values...note that the mint mark is located near the rim at the bottom on the reverse...12D: G-4 is $2; F-12 is $8; VF-20 is $28; and EF-40 is $75. For the rarer 12-S: G-4 is $110; F-12 is $160; VF 20 is $375; and EF-40 is $750.

To assist you in identifying a Liberty V nickel you've pictured both the obverse and reverse of a 1912-S coin. In our next column we'll take a look at what the gold and silver coin market looks like, along with some values for investment coins.

Desto: 'Do or say something nice for someone else today'

At times, it seems, we place excessive emphasis on how we look, what others think of us and what kind of stuff we have. Often, that leads to us being judgmental and unkind to one another. We say mean things, start false rumors and use social media as a weapon through which to wage battles with one another. I want to be clear — these issues are not restricted to teenagers. We adults do many of the same things. So I'm asking you to give some thought to the way you treat others. I'm asking you to understand that the things you do and say have a powerful impact on your peers. You can treat people with civility and respect and improve the quality of their lives, or you can be mean and hurtful and make their lives very difficult."

Loved by her church, classmates and family, the sudden loss was very hard on the community.

"We had a lot of hurting kids today," Desto stated on Friday. "Above all else, our hearts and prayers are with Emily's family and closest friends. We trust you will join us in our concern and sympathy for them and in respecting their privacy at this unimaginably difficult time."

Upon learning of Dabrowski's death, Shepherd Hill had canceled all sports-related events that Friday night.

On Jan. 13, Desto released a letter to Shepherd Hill students that stated how proud he was of the student body for the manner in which they had conducted themselves during the difficult time.

It read: "Whether you were close to Emily Dabrowski or not, as a school community, you have shown an admirable combination of compassion and strength. I am so proud of the way you have come together and taken care of one another throughout this ordeal. Next, I can't help thinking about who Emily was as a person and what we may be able to learn from that."

While Dabrowski's sudden death was tragic for the community and has shaken many, Desto stated that he felt she would want the school to honor her memory by caring about one another.

He concluded: "Remember, this school district, this community will be as enjoyable as we make it for one another. Do or say something nice for someone else today; maybe even someone who wouldn't expect it from you. Then do that again tomorrow."

I don't know how long that's going to be. If we can include it we will, if we can't that will have to be another borrowing for another time."

The four purchases that make up the bond anticipation notes include $750,000 for computer hardware and software for the sewer treatment plant in town, $700,000 for the design of the filtration plant, and $234,946 for computer hardware and software for the schools, all approved in 2015. The fourth item is a new $1.5 million fire truck that Town Administrator Doug Willardson provided more detail on during the Jan. 9 discussion.

"The fire chief says we should get a solid 20 years. The National Fire Protection Association states that fire apparatus should be front lined for 15 years and then can be 25 years, so 15 years is certainly a reasonable life expectancy for a fire truck," Willardson said.

Selectmen signed the necessary paperwork to finalize the bond anticipation notes on their end. Chauvin said now those documents will be sent to the bond counsel to be reviewed before releasing the funds. Chauvin told selectmen that Webster received a low interest of 1.6 percent on the bond anticipation notes because of the town's good standing which will be applicable when Webster pursues long-term borrowing down the line.

Offenses explode as Indians top 100-point barrier in victory versus Southbridge

WEBSTER — Each Wednesday during the high school winter sports season, member schools from the Southern Worcester County League travel to Tantasqua Regional and Northbridge High for their weekly indoor track and field meet. Well, it looked like Bartlett High had its own indoor track on Wednesday, Jan. 11 when the Indians hosted archrival Southbridge High in a boys' varsity basketball contest.

Both teams ran up and down the court at a blazing speed — similar to their classmates participating in the 50-meter dash — and produced points at an amazingly quick clip. Bartlett topped the 100-point barrier to get past the Pioneers, 111-93, to improve to 7-1.

“We call it the rat race game every year,” explained Tony Paranto, head coach of the Indians. “They just want to get up and down [the court] with us. I was extremely happy the way we scored today, but very disappointed with the way we played defense.”

Paranto added that one of his assistant coaches compared the contest to playing a machine at a casino.

“You keep hitting buttons and the wheels keep going over and over, but you look up and see your points scored and at the same time it’s scoring at the other side, too,” he said.

Both Bartlett and Southbridge are known for their fast-paced play, so a high-scoring game wasn’t out of the ordinary. Just how many total points were scored did exceed expectations, though.

“It was just fast tempo,” said Victor Colon, head coach of the Pioneers. “They got us out of our rhythm. We like to play fast, but it was a very sloppy fast where we’re [usually] more controlled.”

The first quarter was the game’s most lopsided stanza, with the Indians winning it by 14 points, 37-23. It featured multiple turnovers forced by the Indians’ press, which Colon thought was the turning point.

“The first quarter killed us,” he said. “I’ll blame it all on the first quarter. We weren’t ready and were throwing the ball away.”

The scoring slowed down slightly in the second quarter — there were still plenty of points — and the Indians advanced their lead to 20 points at intermission, 58-38.

“We know we have some scorers that can score,” said Paranto. “As long as we run the floor we’re going to get some easy looks and we did.”

Bartlett continued to score what seemed to be at will in the third stanza, with the Indians netting six points in the quarter’s first 36 seconds. Anthony Grzembki capped the frame by dribbling down the length of the court and laying the ball into the hoop at the buzzer.

“I think that when we needed clutch points I think Grzembki did a good job,” Paranto said, as Grzembki finished with a team-high 34 points.

Leading, 92-67, entering the fourth quarter, Bartlett scored the first eight points of the frame to extend the lead to 100-67. Logan Paranto scored the 99th and 100th points with 6:49 to play after grabbing a rebound and putting home the put-back.

On the next whistle the Indian starters exited the game. Along with Grzembki’s high point total, Tyler Davern (11 rebounds) finished with 28 points, Cody Adams contributed 18 points and Logan Paranto added another 8 points.

Southbridge continued to show some fight down the stretch, as Jared Figueroa went on a personal 11-0 run to trim Bartlett’s lead down to 100-78. Figueroa finished with 24 fourth quarter points for a grand total of 41, a game high and the third most in school history.

Pioneer reserve Carlos Escalera Gomez was a much-needed asset, contributing 21 points.

“He’s our sparkplug off the bench. He gets to see what’s going on and feel the game out,” Colon said of Escalera Gomez.

Starters Justin Reyes (11 points, 8 rebounds) and John Morales (10 rebounds) also played well for Southbridge, who dropped to 4-4 overall.

“They’re just more experienced,” Colon said of what kind of difference a year makes, as the Pioneers finished 5-15 a season ago. “Last year they came straight from JV and they were all young guys. I had three seniors that really contributed, but that’s it. It was like testing the waters last year and this year we’re back into it.”

The Bartlett-Southbridge rematch is slated for Thursday, Feb. 2 at 6:30 p.m. at Southbridge High.

Bartlett's Anthony Grzembki flings a pass down the court while on a fast break.

Rhythm-less Rams can't stop Leominster in loss, 70-56

Nick Ethier photos

Shepherd Hill's Jason O'Regan delivers an up-fake to get Leominster defenders James Purcell (22) and Patrick Gallagher to leave their feet.

BY NICK ETHIER
SPORTS STAFF WRITER

DUDLEY — No matter what combination of players Shepherd Hill Regional boys' varsity basketball head coach Scott Provost put onto the court on Friday evening, Jan. 13 versus Leominster High, the Rams couldn't click. The Hill was outplayed for much of the game and eventually lost a 70-56 decision.

"No rhythm to the game, couldn't get into a groove. We struggled in that sense," said Provost. "When you're not shooting well and you're not controlling the boards and you're turning over the ball as much as we do, it's hard to find success."

There were some positives for the Rams, though, and it was fitting that one of them happened to be Michael Gilligan. The senior came off the bench to score a quick five points late in the first quarter to give his team a 13-11 lead after the initial eight minutes. It was Gilligan's first game wearing jersey No. 12 after abandoning No. 21 for all the right reasons.

"Most people know about the tragedy in our school family, Emily Dabrowski, and he wanted to give up his number, No. 21," Provost began. "Hang it up and honor her and wear 12 the rest of the year, so it just shows you the character of our players, which goes above and beyond anything we can do on the basketball court."

Dabrowski, a Shepherd Hill senior, wore No. 21 during the volleyball season and passed away on Jan. 6 after complications from mononucleosis.

Gilligan finished with a team-high 10 points as the Rams' scoring was balanced. Paul Veronis (10 rebounds) and Vaughn Hammond both scored 9 points, while Kenneth Flynn chipped in 8 points and 10 rebounds.

Leominster grabbed the lead for good in the second quarter when they scored the first seven points of the frame. They won the quarter by a 24-13 count to charge ahead, 35-26, at halftime.

An evenly matched third quarter saw The Hill win it by a point, 12-11, but the Blue Devils still had an eight-point advantage. They then opened the fourth period on a 6-0 run, capped by a steal and coast-to-coast layup by Emmanuel Dolce to make it 52-38 with 6:12 to play to essentially put the game away.

The Blue Devils ensured victory by hitting their free throws, too, something they did over the course of the game. On two occasions Patrick Gallagher (20 points) hit all three of his attempts from the stripe after drawing a foul on a 3-pointer. Anthony Dandini (22 points, 8 rebounds) was an efficient 8 for 10 from the line as Leominster finished 26 of 35 as a team.

Provost didn't blame the 10 days off in between games — two matchups were postponed due to the Dabrowski tragedy — for the Rams' rusty play.

"We had plenty of practice time and were well prepared," he said. "You have to give it to Leominster, they did exactly what we knew they could do."

One thing the Blue Devils did well was rebound, as they held a 43-39 advantage. James Purcell (8 points, 16 rebounds) and Givensky Pierre-Louis (8 points, 6 rebounds) were key factors in that regard, with Pierre-Louis pulling down five key boards in the second half while battling through traffic.

"We had way too many turnovers and we didn't control any of the boards — that just killed us," Provost reiterated.

The Rams are now 3-4 as they must prepare to face off with one-loss Groton-Dunstable Regional next on Jan. 17, after press time.

"We're playing a quality, quality team," Provost said of the Crusaders. "Not one easy game on the schedule, so a lot of work to do."

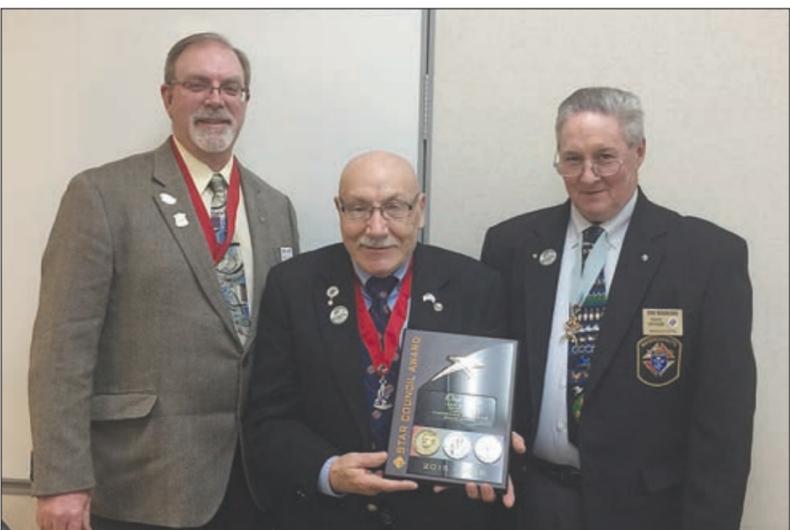

Even with a hand in his face, Michael Gilligan of Shepherd Hill takes and makes a first quarter 3-pointer.

Shepherd Hill's Aiden Bishop keeps the ball away from Leominster defender Patrick Gallagher while contemplating his next decision.

Avoiding a double-team, Paul Veronis of Shepherd Hill dishes a pass outside.

Friday's Child

Keanu is a sweet and affectionate twelve-year-old Caucasian boy who loves to run and be outside. He is fascinated by water and loves to play in the pool. His favorite food is pizza. Keanu dances and sings; his favorite songs include "Old MacDonald", "You are my Sunshine", and "Wheels on the Bus".

Keanu has had a challenging start to life and needs a lot of care, support, and love. Keanu has some medical difficulties and developmental challenges, so he needs family who can put some time into learning about his needs and how to set up the best possible environment for him. Keanu is legally blind with some vision - in fact, his favorite toys are those that light up and play music. Keanu has been learning how to use a cane to navigate in school and works with a vision teacher too. All of his teachers and providers constantly report what a joy he is to work with, and how much he loves being at school!

Keanu is doing very well in his program, but is ready to get the chance to thrive with the attention and love through having a family of his own. Any family constellation that feels they can meet Keanu's needs will be considered.

What is a Homestudy?

Part of the process to adopt a child from foster care is the homestudy review. After completing the Massachusetts Approach to Partnerships in Parenting (MAPP) training course, your social worker will conduct in-home interviews that will help gather information and get to know you and your family. Your social worker will schedule visits with you to discuss your strengths and challenges as a family, your parenting style, and the type of child you would like to adopt. From these meetings, your social worker will write a narrative, also called a homestudy, about your family. Once MAPP training is successfully completed and the interviewing is over, the decision is made to approve you as a licensed pre-adoptive parent. This homestudy document is then shared with other social workers to help make an appropriate, mutually selected match between your family and a waiting child.

To learn more about Keanu, and about adoption from foster care, call the Massachusetts Adoption Resource Exchange (MARE) at 617-54-ADOPT (617-542-3678) or visit www.mareinc.org. The sooner you call, the sooner a waiting child will have "a permanent place to call HOME."

Young Oxford team can't stop Spartans

UXBRIDGE — A 22-4 record and a trip to the Division 3 state championship game in the 2015-16 season was a memorable experience for the Oxford High boys' varsity basketball team, which was filled with four starting and talented seniors.

A season later, though, the Pirates have fallen on hard times, with their latest loss to Uxbridge High, 69-26, on Tuesday, Jan. 10. The setback dropped Oxford's record to 0-10.

The Pirates' starting lineup versus the Spartans included two freshmen, a sophomore and two juniors — one of which, Jared Perkins, was the fifth starter last year — and head coach Antony McDonald said that he hopes the club, without a senior on the roster, can win a couple of games this season, improve on that total next season and then be a force to be reckoned with the following year.

Oxford's Alexander Duval and Benjamin Grniet each scored 8 points versus Uxbridge, with Perkins adding 5 points.

Selectmen sign off on settlement agreement

CEMETERY UPDATE

Ruda and his fellow selectmen addressed the agreement during the Board of Selectmen's meeting on Jan. 9, several days prior to the Zoning Board's signing of that same agreement, where a large crowd of concerned citizens awaited answers to questions pertaining to the document and the future of the cemetery initiative. Town Administrator Greg Balukonis read a statement from selectmen upon request that confirmed the Board of Selectmen and ISGW have resolved whatever misunderstanding they had at the start of the year and that the settlement agreement will stand.

"As we announced on Dec. 22, 2016, the parties have reached a settlement that provides for a remand to the ZBA and completion of a public review process concerning the Islamic Society of Greater Worcester cemetery," Balukonis said. "That agreement was memorialized in writing and signed by the parties. Both sides have restated their intent to abide by the terms and provisions of that agreement moving forward."

The document has now been signed by all required parties — the Board of Selectmen, ISGW, and Zoning Board — and will bring the project back before the Zoning Board for consideration for a special permit, likely within the next month. That would coincide with the one-year anniversary of the first public hearing on the matter in February of 2016. Selectman Ruda said the settlement agreement is very specific in how the process will be handled.

"The process is very much like a special permitting process. I don't want to get into the nuts and bolts," Ruda said, noting that much of the discussion to that point on the agreement was held in executive session. "I don't want to give the wrong information, but the process is very close to the special permitting process and involves all of those boards included in that process."

Those boards include the Zoning Board, Board of Health, and, if needed, the Conservation Commission. The ISGW will be required to visit the Health and Zoning boards for approval with a visit to the Conservation Commission pending.

Dudley resident Mary Sansoucy was the first citizen to seek information on the agreement during the Jan. 9 meeting, and said she wanted a guarantee from selectmen that the town would have a representing engineer on hand for the permitting process and subsequent examinations of the property.

"The nine deep hole tests were dug on a very short notice and we were allowed to have three abutters come forward and observe, none of which were engineers. There was never an engineering report that was done regarding those deep hole tests," Sansoucy said, recalling tests on the Corbin Road land done during the permitting process last year. "It's not 'if' the town needs to have an engineer. The town needs to have an engineer."

Another resident, Kathy Hurst, was taken aback by the wording of the Jan. 9 meeting's executive session where the word "detrimental" was used in regards to public discussion of the matter in question. While it was clarified that that night's executive session wouldn't discuss the cemetery issue, Ruda also clarified that any closed door discussions are simply to ensure both parties are on the same page without outside interference before the public does get a chance to address the matter.

"What we're trying to work out is a framework that protects the ability for the town and the townspeople to be involved with the process every step of the way," Ruda said. "Throughout this process it's been, we take a risk, we lose, and we have absolutely no public input to the process and that's the end of the story and there's a cemetery. When we negotiate a process it involves what we're looking at as a process for special permitting, and all the boards that are involved with that process have the ability to weigh in and mutually agree with the applicant as to how the project is going to proceed. In order for us to get to that point we have to get the agreement done."

One of the Dudley's most outspoken citizens during this entire process, Richard Raymond, also took the floor to share his input and thanked the selectmen for their hard work over the past year before sharing his thoughts on what lies ahead.

"There's no right and wrong in this other than the laws, bylaws, policies, and procedures set forth by the state and the town that have to be followed," Raymond said. "I keep hearing 'mutual agreement' but I hope those hearings are actually heard and the settlement agreement [doesn't guarantee] that no matter what the ISGW hears at the public hearings they're going to get their way anyways. I know how agreements work sometimes. It's unfortunate that the residents of the town under executive session rules have to sit and assume what's going on. All we know [as the public] is that the Town of Dudley was taken to land court over whether or not they had the right to a special permit. If the agreement is reached on whether or not a special permit is going to be given and they let the process go about its business under the rules, regulations, bylaws, and policies then OK, that's fine."

With the Zoning Board's signing of the agreement on Jan. 12, the special permitting process will now commence again, although this time with a set package of rules and expectations or discussion and negotiation that the town and the applicants will need to follow. Copies of the settlement agreement were also distributed to the public at the Jan. 12 meeting giving those present a solid look at what exactly that agreement includes for future reference. Copies of that agreement are available in the Dudley Town Hall or all interested parties.

Looking ahead to 2017 with Gary McKinstry

be president. That he just wants the spotlight. That was clearly correct, but he still ended up winning despite apparent blunders he kept having, flubs you predicted.

"What was unforeseen was the outside forces, like Russia. I still don't believe he wanted to be president. I believe he's still shell shocked."

Trump did say that he didn't want to be at the White House full-time at one point.

"I don't think he is going to finish the four years. Either he will be removed or he will remove himself. He's just in above his head."

How do you think his first year will go?

"Chaos. Healthcare, economics, own party fighting against him ... I think it's a good thing that he's in. It will create enough chaos to make change. Through the chaos something good will come out of it."

That's what I'm hoping. In regards to Hillary Clinton, you predicted she would have leaked secrets and alas that was all anyone talked about all election year. Do you think Bernie Sanders would have been a better candidate to go against Trump?

"Bernie had the right idea at the wrong time. Bernie's socialist stand isn't popular if you're comfortable. There will be a new Bernie coming up. It won't be Bernie. He's getting too old. But someone like him, coming up shortly. It will be interesting."

One issue already coming to light is the attack on women's health, and healthcare in general.

"They want to defund Planned Parenthood. The removal of Obamacare is going to bomb dramatically. They don't have a viable plan. When they implement the removal you're going to see a major uproar from about 34 percent of the population. Fifty percent of citizens are sort of insulated. But you have that almost 40 percent that needs the assistance. I'm worried about these domestic issues."

There will be a lot of racism, sexism, religious intolerance...

"Within a matter of six months, we're going to look at the Obama days with nostalgia. It will hurt a lot of people in a very short time and there's no plan. And neither does his party. Or they would have come out with it already."

So will we get that wall we were promised?

"There will be parts of a wall. Mexico is not going to pay for it. You can put that I'm laughing. ... The wall is going to be just as unpopular with people in North America as with people in Mexico. It won't run the full length. It's little pieces of a wall here and there.

That didn't work well in Berlin."

A question from my mother — are there any spots in the U.S. or around the world people should be weary of? There were a lot of bomb threats and mass shootings in 2016.

"New York, New York, New York..."

You said that last time, too.

"It's iconic. If you're in a Middle Eastern country you know New York, Boston, L.A. ... I'm surprised we made it through New Year's Eve. Notice I didn't say Washington, D.C. I do believe they're afraid to bomb Washington because of retribution."

Is there anywhere around the world to avoid?

"The soft targets — Paris again ... I think they'll leave England alone. You'll see it in western European countries again. It's kind of a soft spot there."

The weather is certainly weird right now. Back and forth, freezing, hot. How will the weather be in the summer? Will there be any other weather phenomena?

"Summer will be hot, hot, hot — and tornado alley is going to increase. I believe in global warming, unlike Donald Trump. If you notice, the tornado strip is enlarged and they're coming earlier and staying later. Be prepared for the hurricane from hell."

In this area?

"I think it will slam the south again. It's coming. It's not the end of days. The species is OK. But there will be dramatic weather changes."

You predicted low gas prices. But now they seem to be going back up this year. Thoughts?

"Be prepared for a dollar more."

Really...?

"It won't be dramatically high like the $4 gallon, but $3.15 by the time they're done this year. That hurts me. What a lovely thought ... I'm definitely not predicting something I like ..."

You didn't think Southbridge schools would be taken over by the state, but that did happen. There have also been a lot of controversies since. Do you think there will be improvement any time this year?

"I don't see an improvement. That's the problem. I was optimistic last year but now I'm not. They can't get a strong enough leader to lead and last. They're going to go through two or three more principals. That's unfortunate. They've got a year full of controversy."

Any other local stories, events...

I think we have a redevelopment coming. Somebody will come up with a nifty plan for not only Southbridge, but the central part here. It's almost like a mall, size-wise. It has to do with retail. It's in commercial land in the Tri-Community somewhere."

Let's go over horoscopes.

Aries: Time for learning. Education will be the key. Personal education, transformation. Mid-season change, a positive one. Going from sluggish and slow paced to a more profitable time.

Taurus: They need to make sure they see both sides of the coin this year, not stuck on one facet. They need to be open-minded and then the year will turn out okay.

Gemini: They need to look for the inner person this year. It's all about the self, not about the exterior. It's personal growth. They need to stop taking care of everyone else and focus more on themselves. They're great caretakers.

Cancer: They need a vacation. They've been working, working, working and putting plans together. Now it's time to reap what they've sowed. They need to take a little time for themselves, a little time off.

Leo: This is a charge ahead time, take no prisoners. Go forward. Don't look back. Back won't get you where you need to be. This is both personal and professional.

Virgo: Make sure you don't get lost. Sometimes they think too much. They need to act.

Libra: Lucky, lucky, lucky, lucky. Go to the casino! This is a good year for Libras. This is a luck year. At the end of it, make sure you count your blessings. If you gain, make sure you help.

Scorpio: This is a year where Scorpios need to basically not come to false conclusions. Scorpios are known for rumor speculation, holding onto things... They are great, loyal friends. Just don't cross them. They need to stay away from false rumors and listen to the facts and then they'll be able to go forward.

Sagittarius: Working through to get things completed. They're tireless. But the good thing is they will see completion on things this year. It's not about never-ending projects.

Capricorn: indecision, staying in place. Not a lot change around them.

Pisces: They need to make sure they keep their heads out of the clouds. They need to stick with reality and not get lost.

Aquarius: Write a book, tell a tale, sing a song ... The arts should drive Aquarius this year. It's a year to be creative."

On the entertainment side, you made some predictions about Daniel Radcliffe being in movies last year that ended up coming true. Any stand-out celebrities or movies you think will be coming in 2017?

"We're going to go away from the year of the reality show. Everything was reality. We're going back to the 60's more. It's going to be sitcoms, western, game shows. ... Everything your grandparents would have watched is coming back. Simple times, simple mind."

I have seen a lot of new game shows popping up, as well as remakes of game shows.

"War is out. I do believe some of the supernatural will also die down. It's just old. We went through vampires, demons, zombies... They have to find a new genre. This is where we are looking back, instead of new."

When it comes to technology, I've had my eyes on social robotics, which has been a growing market. My mom mentioned self-driving cars.

"Well, we will have autonomous cars in the next few years. Social intelligence will really soar. We are going to get more AI. That, and the synthetic look. They're going to start shaping things more, especially in the east. It will be humanoid-looking."

In Japan, they are very into making robots look human. In the US we seem more focused on making robots cute. They are simple, sleek, like EVE from "Wall-E."

"We feel safe here with those. But humanoid robots are coming."

Any other trends you see?

"There's a local celebrity coming up."

You said a talent would appear last year, too. Someone out of Sturbridge.

"Yeah, but out of Oxford, too. Major motion picture, superhero theme. ... Coming out of our little area. That will be kind of nice! The game that will take people by storm. ... A new game is going to catch the country. Everyone will have their head down again. It's not Pokémon. That's passé already. It's something for the summer that will keep everyone amused."

Nintendo Switch just had a presentation...

"No ... This is more transportable. Android approved."

Interesting...

By the way, the Kardashians are back in the news this year. Just when you think there's nothing left they could do, there will be something gigantic, something tragic.

Will it be Kanye?

"Either Kanye or their father, Caitlyn. There's one other entertainment trend. This will be the year of the drama. I am expecting more drama and romance, getting away from total action. People are looking to go safe. They're looking for tried, true and safe."

Any world news you want to share?

"China is sliding deeper into a major recession. If you got any money in the foreign market, watch China. And the final dissolution of the EU... I do believe borders are going back up this year. Right now you can pretty much travel Europe freely. But borders are going back up and Andrea Murkel is ousted out of power this year."

Local dance studio visits Brookside

WEBSTER — On Saturday, Dec. 31, the Aspire Dance Studio from Oxford, came to Brookside Rehabilitation and Healthcare Center to perform dance routines for the Residents, families and staff. They ages ranged from little ones to the adult Zumba class. After the dancing the dancers went around singing and passing out crafts that they had made. This is a wonderful way to start the New Year.

We cannot thank you enough for taking your time during your school vacation and practicing, making crafts and performing for us here at Brookside. The residents were beyond thrilled and the families were so happy.

They don't get many people to take so much time and put so much effort into volunteering and you just went above and beyond what we could ask for.

A very special thank you to Melissa Phillippe Dube for being so good to us, and a big thank you to the dancers and their families for taking your time to come in and be part of the events as well.

We look forward to seeing you again! Thank you from the staff at Brookside.

Patriots honor volunteers during pregame ceremony

FOXBOROUGH — Though the spirit of volunteerism will continue beyond the 2016 football season, the Kraft family and the New England Patriots Charitable Foundation celebrated the ongoing Celebrate Volunteerism initiative in a special pregame ceremony during the Patriots' regular season home finale versus the New York Jets on Saturday, Dec. 24, at Gillette Stadium.

As part of their commitment to celebrating volunteers, the Foundation announced the "Patriots Difference Maker of the Week" award, which aimed to recognize one deserving volunteer who had gone above and beyond to give back to their community. Patriots Chairman and CEO Robert Kraft announced grants of $5,000 to 14 nonprofits in the name of each of the Patriots Difference Makers of the Week selected throughout the season.

"We know that the holidays are a time for giving so it's exciting to have the opportunity to show our appreciation for those volunteers who generously give their time to these in need throughout the year," said Kraft. "This year's Patriots Difference Makers are an incredibly dedicated and selfless group of people that have shown a genuine commitment to serving others. It was an honor to have met them and to be able to offer our support to the causes that are so near and dear to their hearts."

Alvin Notice from the Tiana Angelique Notice

Foundation was announced as the grand prize winner, receiving a $20,000 grant for his nonprofit. Kraft was joined by Patriots and Pro Football Hall of Famer and Executive Director of Community Affairs Andre Tippett for a surprise check presentation prior to kickoff. The ceremony was also replayed on the HD video boards during halftime.

As part of the initiative and Patriots Community Tuesdays, current and former Patriots players made more than 500 appearances in New England communities throughout the year, participating in activities that included reading books to students, visiting patients in hospitals, giving back to children and families during the holidays and encouraging children to exercise 60 minutes a day through the NFL Play 60 campaign.

The Patriots Women's Association and Patriots families also joined the Celebrate Volunteerism initiative by participating in coat and toy drives throughout the season. They also joined more than 20 current and former Patriots players to distribute 220 complete Thanksgiving meals to families in need, prepared for the annual Children's Holiday Party for 250 children and served lunch to women in homeless shelter programs in Boston.

The Kraft family and Patriots Charitable Foundation will continue to Celebrate Volunteerism during the post-season, off-season and seasons to come. The Celebrate Volunteerism initiative aims to share examples of dedicated volunteers, build awareness of the need for volunteering, identify and educate others about volunteer opportunities and inspire New Englanders to follow the Kraft family's example of becoming lifelong volunteers.

415 BUSINESS SERVICES

Seeking area residents interested in having an on-site, professional review of their private wells. This service is grant funded by the USEPA. It is free and is confidential. Many times well owners are unaware of the possible causes of contamination in their wells. Older wells may not be sealed properly near the surface or their source of water may be shallow and influenced by things like feedlots, septic systems, or nearby land uses. Many things at or near the surface could impact the water quality of a well.

This assessment provides you a comprehensive evaluation of the possible causes of contamination at or near your well to help you understand what possible risks and vulnerabilities you should be aware of that might impact your drinking water. The assessment considers site conditions, geology, land use practices, well construction, and maintenance to provide you with a detailed list of things, if any, that could impact your well water quality. The results will provide you a list of possible concerns, if any are found, and recommendations and best practices that will help you keep your well and your family safe from well contamination.
