Big Bunny shoppers come through again!

BY BRO. JIMMY FALZONE
MAJOR GENERAL SALEM TOWNE
MASONIC LODGE

SOUTHBRIDGE

SOUTHBRIDGE — On Saturday, March 7, the Major General Salem Towne Masonic Lodge (MGSTL) Community Outreach Program was in full swing at Big Bunny Supermarket in Southbridge. This event was a Food Drive to collect food donations for the Food Share pantry located at 446 Hamilton St. in Southbridge. MGSTL Masonic Lodge volunteers spent five cloudy, wet cool hours in Southbridge collecting food donations. The food share provides services for the towns of Southbridge, Sturbridge, Holland, Wales, Brimfield, and Charlton. The uncomfortable weather did not stop, Big Bunny Market shoppers that morning and shoppers were very generous and supportive of the food drive.

Shoppers from Big Bunny market and community members donated food and other items. One couple donated three bags of food and an additional $100. We had a gentleman stop his car in front of our table open his trunk and handed a box full of food. Shoppers donated so many boxes of pasta and canned goods items. By the time the MGSTL Masonic Lodge members put all these single items in paper bags along with the paper bags already full of what the shoppers have given us, we were able to collect and donate 86 bags of groceries. We were able to collect for the food share 3 pickup trucks full of food. We also collected $184 in cash donations thanks to the generosity of the Big Bunny shoppers. The lodge volunteers unanimously decided to take the $184 and went back into the supermarket and purchased a lot more groceries and a lot of baby food for the Southbridge Food Share Pantry. A special thank you to Big Bunny market owners Pete and Jon Cournoyer and the staff at Big Bunny for supporting their community and allowing us Master Masons to run this food drive.

The volunteers of the Southbridge Food Share were all smiles and very, very happy to see 3 pickup trucks full of grocery bags that were collected from the food drive. President of the Food share Karen Engell and Treasure Renee Proulx and a few more volunteers, was so appreciative and grateful to see those trucks full of food collected by us Master Masons and for doing this food drive. The way this community came together to meet our challenge we Masons made to the community, to fill 3 pickup trucks full of food was amazing. Times are tough in this economy right now with Easter around the corner, and families not getting enough food assistance. The Food Share was very grateful to the Major General Salem Towne Masonic Lodge of Southbridge for picking the Southbridge Food Share as part of their Community Outreach Program again this year. Sturbridge Historical Society, Southbridge Garden Club explore "Victory Gardens: Then and Now"

STURBRIDGE — The Sturbridge Historical Society and the Southbridge Garden Club invite you to travel through time and discover the history of Victory Gardens and their inspiration on Thursday, March 26, 7 p.m. at the Publick House.

The presentation, by Debra Dellanina-Alvarez of Saved by the Garden, explains the history of Victory Gardens, what life was like during both WWI and WWII, the benefit and depth of information given to volunteers, and samples of what they created back then and how we can use that information today. There is a virtual visit to the oldest Victory Garden in the U.S., exploring its significance then and today, as well as virtually stopping in several garden plots showing garden architecture and noting interesting facts about plant history and details that are often unheard.

Debra Dellanina-Alvarez is a lifelong-gardener, healthcare provider, program designer, and speaker. Debra is passionate about nature, history, architecture, and science, and worked as an architectural/history guide and walking tour designer for Boston by Foot. Her latest tour – Art, Architecture and Gardens – can be enjoyed during the summer months when gardens flourish. Her time as a teacher naturalist at the Massachusetts Audubon's Drumlin Farm and Wildlife Sanctuary allowed her to share her knowledge and appreciation for green spaces and the fascinating world of nature with children and adults. In 2019, Debra founded Saved by the Garden and utilizes her past experiences and knowledge to provide insightful programming regarding noteworthy garden spaces, their elements, unique features, and special exhibits.

Please join us for an evening highlighting an important aspect of American history and gardening. This program is open to the public, and is graciously hosted by the Publick House.

A community that shows up

On a gray, wet Saturday morning earlier this month, a small group of volunteers stood outside Big Bunny Supermarket in Southbridge collecting food donations. The weather was hardly inviting. The clouds hung low, the air was cool, and most people would have preferred to run their errands quickly and head home.

But something else happened that morning.

Shoppers stopped. They paused on their way in or out of the store. They reached into carts and trunks. Some handed over bags of groceries. Others dropped off boxes filled with food. One couple donated three bags of groceries and added a $100 contribution. Another person pulled up in front of the volunteers, opened his trunk, and offered a box packed with food items.

By the end of five hours, volunteers from the Major General Salem Towne Masonic Lodge had collected 86 bags of groceries, enough to fill three pickup trucks. Cash donations totaling $184 were also given, which the volunteers immediately used to purchase additional groceries and baby food for the Southbridge Food Share pantry.

It was not the weather that defined that morning. It was the generosity of the community.

The Southbridge Food Share serves families across several local towns, including Southbridge, Sturbridge, Holland, Wales, Brimfield, and Charlton. For many households, food pantries help fill the gap when grocery budgets run thin. In recent years, rising food prices and economic pressures have made that gap wider for many families.

Food pantries across Massachusetts and the country continue to report increased demand. The challenge is especially sharp during holidays and seasonal transitions, when family budgets are already stretched.

That is why events like this food drive matter.

They are not only about collecting food. They are about neighbors helping neighbors. They remind us that even in difficult economic times, communities still find ways to care for one another.

The volunteers who stood outside the store deserve recognition for giving their time and effort. But just as much credit belongs to the people who stopped to help. Each bag of pasta, each can of soup, each box of food added up.

In the end, three pickup trucks full of groceries were delivered to the Southbridge Food Share pantry. For the volunteers who run the pantry and the families who depend on it, those donations will make a real difference.

Another important part of the story is the cooperation that made the event possible. The owners and staff of Big Bunny Supermarket opened their doors and allowed the drive to take place outside the store. Community partnerships like that are often the quiet foundation behind successful local efforts.

Small towns thrive on these kinds of relationships. Local businesses, civic organizations, volunteers, and residents all play a role. When those pieces come together, even a cloudy, rainy Saturday can turn into something meaningful.

The truth is that no single food drive can solve the larger issue of food insecurity. But that does not diminish the value of what happened in Southbridge that day. Instead, it demonstrates something powerful about the character of the community.

When a need is identified, people respond.

They bring groceries. They offer donations. They volunteer their time. They show up, even when the weather is unpleasant and the morning is busy.

That spirit has long been one of the strengths of communities like Southbridge, Sturbridge, Charlton, and the surrounding towns. It is not always loud or widely noticed. Often, it happens quietly outside a local grocery store, one bag of groceries at a time.

But the impact is real.

And sometimes, three pickup trucks full of food tell the whole story.

Ease the squeeze on your retirement income plan

Rising prices may not dominate headlines the way they did a year or two ago, but if you're retired, you're probably still feeling them. Even when overall inflation cools, the costliest expenses — like health care, utilities, insurance, and property taxes — tend to rise faster than broad inflation numbers suggest. That creates a squeeze that can make you question whether your income plan is built to last.

Fortunately, you often can adjust without drastic cuts that affect your lifestyle. Start by understanding where the pressure comes from and how to build more flexibility into your plan.

Inflation hits retirees differently. You've likely noticed your grocery bill, prescription drug costs and heating expenses haven't returned to "normal." Even small increases compound over time, and can chip away at your buying power.

If your income plan was created years ago, it may assume lower inflation or relatively stable price increases over time. Recent years have shown that's not always the case.

Why some income plans feel strained. Any plan relying on fixed withdrawals or rigid budgets can feel tight when living costs rise. If you're drawing from investments, you may hesitate to increase your withdrawals because of market volatility. And if you depend on fixed income sources like Social Security or a pension, yearly cost of living increases may not keep pace with your expenses. You might live 25 to 35 years in retirement, giving small annual cost increases decades to add up.

What you can do without sacrificing stability. A few adjustments can help you stay ahead of rising costs and maintain your financial confidence.

First, review your withdrawal strategy. Ask your financial advisor about flexible approaches that increase income when markets and portfolios perform well and pull back during tougher times. This protects your long-term plan with room to respond to rising prices.

Next, rebalance your portfolio. You may uncover opportunities to shift toward investments with more consistent income or better tax efficiency. Sometimes a small tweak can generate extra cash flow without increasing overall risk.

Finally, look at your income sources. You may be less affected by rising costs if you delay taking Social Security, work a part-time job, add inflation-protected bonds, or create predictable lifetime income with annuities, if they're appropriate for your situation.

Don't overlook health care: Health care costs often grow faster than general inflation. Medicare premiums and out-of-pocket expenses can rise annually, and the need for long-term care remains a big financial uncertainty for retirees. Building health care-specific inflation into your plan now can help prevent surprises later. Any savings you have in a health savings account can help you cover health care costs. And many pharmaceutical companies offer financial assistance programs to help pay for costlier medications.

Stay flexible and informed: Today's retirements look different from those of even a decade ago. The key is staying flexible, reviewing your plan regularly and making small adjustments before pressure builds. A financial advisor can help you find the right approach to navigating rising costs without disrupting the life you've worked hard to build.

Emily Dabrowski Scholarship Committee seeks applications

To the Editor:

The Emily Dabrowski Memorial Scholarship Committee is seeking applications for 2026 scholarships. This is the ninth year that funds have been generously provided by members of our community.

The scholarships are in memory of my daughter, Emily, who died during her senior year at Shepherd Hill. Emily's "Happiest place on Earth" was a Haitian Orphanage called Espwa, where she worked for three summers with others from St. Joseph's Church in Charlton. This scholarship seeks to reward and encourage students like her to continue their volunteer efforts.

The number and amount of scholarships granted depend on the number of applications received. We seek students who have shown kindness to others, animals and our environment. We look for a history of volunteering in our community and/or a desire to join the Peace Corps or similar efforts. A pursuit of humanitarian fields of study is preferred.

Scholarship applications must be submitted to the Bay Path Regional or Shepherd Hill Guidance Office by April 27.

To donate to the Emily Dabrowski Memorial Scholarship Fund, please contact Saver's Bank in Charlton at 508-248-4255. Please contact me for more information at Diane01507@gmail.com. I'd like to thank everyone who has donated to Emily's scholarship fund. Your generosity is deeply appreciated!

Thank you,

Regionalizing 911 dispatch services in Southbridge based on safety and facts

To the Editor:

Southbridge deserves a town government that chooses solutions protecting both our safety and our wallets. Choosing what is best for the community must be done with caution, research, and facts — not feelings, hostility, or a quick Internet AI search.

On Nov. 3, 2025, the Town Council voted 6-3 against regionalizing dispatch services with the Central Massachusetts Regional Emergency Communications Center. The six councilors who voted no were Daou, Chenier, Ortiz, Provost, Lazo, and Montigny. Chief Woodson, Chief Normandin, and Town Manager Jack Jovan recommended regionalization. Despite the recommendation from our Chiefs, the Council's majority rejected that recommendation without offering factually based explanations to the public. Decisions that affect emergency response and municipal budgets should be justified with evidence and transparent reasoning. Voters deserve clear, rationales — not silence from the Councilors who voted no.

Public safety and fiscal responsibility are not mutually exclusive. The case for regional dispatch rests on concrete operational and budgetary benefits:

1. Faster, consistent response. CMRECC uses standardized protocols and Emergency Medical Dispatch practices that reduce call-processing time and improve pre-arrival instructions.

2. Joining CMRECC gives Southbridge access to hosted CAD, NG911 mapping, and integrated radio interoperability; CMRECC and state grants fund and maintain these systems.

3. CMRECC provides hardened facilities, backup power, and surge staffing during major incidents — capabilities a small local dispatch struggles to sustain.

4. Centralized staffing models and training reduce overtime pressure, improve certification rates, and create predictable schedules that benefit employees and the community.

5. State 911 grants and shared regional purchasing reduce the town's capital burden for radios, consoles, and facility hardening.

6. Regional cost-sharing lowers exposure to overtime, pension, and health-insurance swings.

7. Regionalization converts unpredictable local dispatch costs into a steady, budgetable assessment of about $391,000 per year (estimate as of 11/1/2025.) By contrast, the FY26 budget for current dispatchers with fringe benefits and health insurance is approximately $1.1 million.

8. At the Oct. 27, 2025, Joint Protection of Persons and Properties subcommittee meeting, Councilor Montigny proposed building an "Elite Local Dispatch" (increase staffing from nine to 14, that will include a director, three supervisors, and match CMRECC salaries.) An "Elite Local Dispatch" will cost roughly $1.8 million per year plus the long-term retirement responsibilities.

8. Loss of local control is overstated. Modern location and mapping technology can locate callers within ten feet of their location and governance agreements can preserve local input while delivering regional capability. Southbridge will have several seats at the CMRECC table. We are not giving up local control — we are gaining local control over public safety and budgeting.

About 88 percent of Southbridge's property-tax levy is shouldered by residential property owners. That concentration means homeowners already carry most of the town's tax burden. Southbridge cannot responsibly absorb a permanent, large increase in annual dispatch costs without shifting more pressure on residents. Many seniors in our community cannot shoulder additional increases in property taxes. We must make smart decisions. We cannot burden homeowners further. Local government should always look for solutions that protect the community and residents. Regionalization offers budget stability, grant funding, and reduced long-term retirement obligations — outcomes that protect taxpayers and public safety.

Call to action: If you believe Southbridge should prioritize both safety and fiscal responsibility, please sign the initiative petition to put the non-binding question on the June 9 ballot. The deadline for collecting signatures is April 9. The initiative petition can be signed at the customer service desk at Big Bunny during business hours or stop by on Saturdays now through April 4 between 10 a.m. and 2 p.m. to say hello, ask questions and sign the petition. A heartfelt thank you to Pete Cournoyer at Big Bunny, Cheyenne at Moon Magick, and Yolanda at Salon 769, and all the residents who are circulating petitions and standing out to get signatures for helping with our efforts to give voters a voice. Thank you to the hundreds of residents who have already signed.

Sincerely,

*Shelley Klein

Spring arrives today!

To the Editor:

Spring arrives on Friday with vernal equinox (March 20). Thanks to all the shoveling and patching from the DPW and fire department, shoveling out all those hydrants. Thanks to the citizens who helped shovel their neighbors out and, as always, a shout out to my neighbors, the Engels, who helped with snow and car issues!

With spring comes vernal pools, a welcome sight and sound after this winter. These are great to observe as they are so full of life! Appreciate them as you soak up some sun and warmth. Mass Wildlife tells us that spotted salamanders, wood frogs, blue-spotted salamanders, Jefferson salamanders, American toads, spring peepers, four-toed salamanders, northern leopard frogs, and eastern red-backed salamanders are frequently encountered on roads during early spring rains. So be wary not to hit these valuable little creatures. "With little to no snow cover and the ground thawing in many areas, we expect migrations in milder, lower-elevation parts of Massachusetts to commence with the next warm, rainy night." (If you are not sure how these animals are valuable, vernal pools are valuable habitats to help humans with flooding issues and clean water and soil issues: these habitats are being lost to development, pollution, and trash. We need to maintain these habitats and keep them clean. Then, they can live their lives, and we can enjoy watching them and hearing them! as well as enjoy the ecological functions!)

These animals can be difficult to see, as they are generally small-bodied and move under the cover of dark. This spring, please be mindful of our amphibians and our natural heritage. Please watch this short video for great footage of vernal pool animals and hear the pepper sound so you can identify it when you hear them. <https://youtu.be/KLARoicdmmY?si=vnF0QOTSIOftSMP2>

Did I mention the birds? Wetlands, in general, are great spots to see birds and vernal pools, being temporary water holes, serve as great stop-overs for ducks, herons, and other song birds.

Vernal pools offer something to everyone: listen to the noises, enjoy watching the plants, insects, frogs, and salamanders. Make a sketch. Get inspired by the action (and non-action) there.

The lost art of knowing your town

The other day, I needed to stop at a small local bank branch to take care of a simple errand. Nothing complicated, just the sort of quick visit that most people expect to finish in a few minutes.

While I was waiting, I noticed something that used to be fairly common in Massachusetts towns but feels a little rarer these days.

The teller greeted nearly every person who stepped up to the counter by name. Not loudly, and not in a showy way. Just a friendly, matter-of-fact kind of greeting.

"Morning, Bob."
"How are you today, Linda?"

One fellow walking out the door paused long enough for a quick conversation about someone's daughter who had recently gone off to college. Another customer asked about the progress of a new roof being put on the teller's house.

None of it lasted long. A minute here, 30 seconds there.

But it reminded me of something that used to be second nature in small towns: people knowing one another, not in the grand sense of lifelong friendships, but in the simple recognition that comes from sharing the same streets, shops, and sidewalks for years.

There was a time when nearly every town had places like that.

The hardware store where the owner remembered what kind of paint you had bought the year before.

The diner where the waitress didn't need to ask how you liked your eggs.

The post office where the clerk might mention that your neighbor had picked up a package earlier that morning.

None of these connections were particularly dramatic. They were small, everyday acknowledgments that people lived side by side in the same place.

Over the years, many parts of life have grown more efficient, which is not always a bad thing. Self-checkout lanes move quickly. Online banking saves a trip across town. Packages arrive at the door without anyone needing to stand in line at the counter.

Convenience has its advantages. But sometimes, I wonder if we've quietly traded away a few of those small human moments along the way.

When everything is done through a screen, there are fewer chances to run into someone you know. Fewer moments when a casual "How are you?" turns into a short conversation about a local ball game or the latest town project.

And those small conversations matter more than we sometimes realize.

They help knit a town together.

In Massachusetts communities, where many residents have lived for decades and families often return generation after generation, those everyday connections create a sense that a place belongs to the people who live there.

You are not simply passing through. You are part of the town's ongoing

That doesn't mean everyone needs to know everyone else's life history. No one expects that.

But there is something reassuring about walking into a familiar place and seeing a face that recognizes yours.

A quick greeting. A nod.

Maybe a short conversation about the weather, or the Red Sox, or how quickly the kids seem to grow up.

By the time I finished my errand at the bank that day, I had heard at least half a dozen people greeted by name. Some lingered to talk. Others hurried off to their next stop along Main Street.

The teller returned to her work without much fuss.

To her, it probably felt like a normal morning.

And perhaps that's exactly the point.

In the best small towns, the quiet habit of knowing one another doesn't feel unusual at all. It simply feels like the natural way a community should work.

A town where people recognize one another, even in small ways, is a town where neighbors are never very far apart.

Ecumenical Easter Sunrise Service at Old Sturbridge Village

STURBRIDGE — The annual Ecumenical Easter Sunrise Service will be held at Old Sturbridge Village on April 5 at 6 a.m. The service is open to the public.

According to The Federated Church of Sturbridge and Fiskdale's pastor, the Rev. David W. Cote, seven local faith communities will gather at the original Baptist Meetinghouse located at the end of the Common at Old Sturbridge Village.

Also participating in this year's service are the faith communities from Bethlehem Lutheran Church (Sturbridge), St. Anne/St. Patrick Catholic Church (Fiskdale), Brookfield Congregational Church (Brookfield), Elm Street Congregational Church (Southbridge), Holy Trinity Church (Southbridge), and St. Joseph Church (Charlton).

"The sunrise service is a simple but meaningful way to begin Easter," said Cote. "I believe that this Sunrise Service is a representation of Christ's love for us all. We come together as one body, as the sun rises to celebrate the hope that Easter brings. All are welcome to join us."

Those planning to attend should enter the Village through the security gate at the top of the parking lot and proceed to the Meetinghouse on the Common. Attendees are encouraged to dress appropriately for the weather.

Food and drink are not permitted, except for bottled water. Old Sturbridge Village will not be open for touring during the event and restrooms will not be available. Guests are asked to leave the Village directly following the service.

Sturbridge Affordable Housing Trust seeks input through survey

STURBRIDGE — The Sturbridge Affordable Housing Trust (SAHT) is leading the development of a new Housing Production Plan (HPP) to update its 2021-2026 Housing Production Plan and guide the Town's future housing strategy. The updated HPP will include current data and analysis on demographic trends and housing conditions, identify priority housing needs, and recommend strategies to address them.

Community engagement is a central part of this process. The SAHT will offer multiple opportunities for residents to share input on local housing challenges, goals, and priorities. As part of this effort, the SAHT is conducting a Community Housing Survey to gather additional feedback. The survey is designed to be brief and easy to complete, taking only a few minutes of your time.

To participate in the survey, visit the town Web site, sturbridge.gov, and click the link under the News tab on the main page.

“The Secret World of Elephants” exhibit now open at the EcoTarium!

WORCESTER — “The Secret World of Elephants” exhibit opened at the EcoTarium on March 7, with a special Opening Day celebration. As the inaugural exhibition in the Museum’s new Stoddard Exhibition Hall, the exhibit invites visitors to explore the remarkable lives, abilities, and history of the world’s largest land mammals, and reveals new scientific insights into how elephants think, communicate, and shape entire ecosystems, as well as the urgent challenges they face today.

“Today marks the first time Worcester, Massachusetts, is able to be the host city for a large-scale national science exhibition, thanks to the new Stoddard Exhibition Hall,” said Noreen Johnson Smith, President & CEO of the EcoTarium. “The 8,000 square foot Stoddard Hall features 16-foot high ceilings and flexible IT and electrical infrastructure to support modern, immersive, tech-driven exhibitions. The kind of exhibits you could only find in Boston or New York City or at the Smithsonian in Washington DC are now available right here in Worcester.”

The EcoTarium welcomed distinguished guests to the opening ceremony of “The Secret World of Elephants,” including Senator Michael Moore; EcoTarium Board Chair Joseph Bartulis; Trustees Ray Quinlan, Harry Kokkinis, and Dr. Flo Tseng; and longtime supporters, community leaders, and friends Judy Stoddard King, Barbara Merolli, Sarah Ribeiro, Cynthia Pitcher, and Linda Robbins. EcoTarium Corporators, staff, and visitors also joined the celebration to mark this momentous occasion.

Following the ceremony, visitors excitedly formed a line, and then the doors to Stoddard Hall opened to reveal this magnificent exhibit!

“As we enter our third century of continuous operation as a science and nature museum, we are singularly focused on our guests: the curious, the studious, the explorers, the passionate science students, and lifelong learners who are eager to discover and learn more,”

said Smith. “The Elephant exhibit will inspire everyone to learn more about these beautiful creatures who roam the forests of Southeast Asia and the savannahs of Africa.”

Featuring life-size models, including a scientifically accurate woolly mammoth, touchable teeth casts, multimedia experiences, and interactive displays, the exhibition highlights elephants’ extraordinary senses and behaviors. Visitors can discover how elephants “hear” with their feet, use the 16 muscles in their trunks, and maintain complex social bonds.

The exhibit also explores the long relationship between elephants and humans, from their roles in war and work to their presence in religion and cultural symbolism. Notable objects on display include Vietnamese puppets of the legendary Trung sisters and a large figure of the Hindu god Ganesha.

The exhibit will run through Sept. 7. Visitors can learn more, view ticket timeslots, and get tickets on the EcoTarium Web site.

The Secret World of Elephants is organized by the American Museum of Natural History, New York (amnh.org).

JAK-L Foundation to host Dueling Pianos in Auburn

AUBURN — Get ready to sing, dance, and make a difference. On Saturday, May 2, the local community will gather at J. Anthony's Italian Grill for a high-energy "Dueling Pianos" event presented by the JAK-L Foundation.

The evening promises a vibrant blend of music and laughter, but the mission behind the melodies is deeply personal. Proceeds from the event will directly support youth mental health and suicide prevention programs within the local community.

Turning pain into purpose
The JAK-L Foundation was established in 2023 by President Joy Kochinskas. For Kochinskas, a local salon owner and stylist for more than 25 years, the cause is an intimate one. After losing her sister to suicide in 2017, she became a dedicated advocate, participating in the "Out of the Darkness" walks for years before founding the JAK-L Foundation to create a more direct impact on mental health awareness.

"I'm hoping to make more of an impact on the mental health society," Kochinskas said regarding the foundation's mission. Alongside an active event committee, the foundation is working to transform how the community discusses and supports mental wellness.

Event details
The event kicks off at 8:00 PM, though supporters are encouraged to

From silver medals to success

Bay Path alumna Moreen Barber achieves milestone RN status

CHARLTON — In a journey defined by academic excellence and a deep-seated commitment to patient advocacy, Moreen Barber of Natick (formerly of Worcester) has officially reached the pinnacle of her nursing education. This March, Barber achieved a major career milestone, passing the NCLEX-RN on her very first attempt—a feat that follows her graduation from the Advanced Placement LPN program at Quinsigamond Community College (QCC).

For Barber, the road to becoming a Registered Nurse began in Charlton at the Bay Path Practical Nursing Academy. A standout member of the PN Class of 2022, she was recognized early on for her clinical sharpness and competitive spirit, earning a Gold Medal in Medical Terminology at the SkillsUSA District level and a Silver Medal at the State level.

A foundation in excellence
Barber's time at Bay Path was marked by more than just high marks; it was defined by service. From serving as an officer for the UNICEF Club to volunteering at community health clinics and middle school screenings, she consistently looked for ways to apply her skills beyond the classroom.

After passing her NCLEX-PN on the first try in September 2022, Barber immediately entered the workforce, gaining vital experience in rehabilitation and geriatric care at Marlborough Hills and later at Eliot Rehabilitation in Natick. Even while working as a dynamic LPN, she remained focused on her goal of advanced practice.

A full-circle moment
In December 2025, as she prepared to graduate with her Associate in Science in Nurse Education from QCC, Barber reached out to retired Academy Director, Dr. Gretheline Bolandrina, with a heartfelt invitation: "I'm kindly inviting you to attend my pinning ceremony at QCC. This has been a long journey starting with you at Bay Path. Please join me in celebrating this achievement. You are a blessing to me."

The pinning ceremony served as a bridge between her foundational training at Bay Path and her future as a Registered Nurse. During her clinical rotations at St. Vincent's Hospital (Maternity), and UMass, Barber was praised for her critical thinking and her ability to coordinate complex care plans in emergency and surgical settings.

Skills for the future
With a robust clinical toolkit that includes certifications in Dementia Care, Mental Health First Aid, and Infusion Therapy, Barber brings a high level of expertise to the nursing field. Her background in end-of-life care, surgical recovery, and quality improvement makes her a vital asset to the Central Massachusetts healthcare community.

As she transitions into her new role as an RN, Barber continues to embody the spirit of the "lifelong learner." With a proven track record of enhancing patient outcomes and a dedication to ethical practice, her journey serves as

OBITUARIES

Marie Jeanne Benoit (Mercier)

SOUTHBRIDGE: Marie Jeanne Benoit (Mercier) passed away peacefully on March 12, 2026, at the age of 88. She was born on August 1, 1937, in Southbridge, Massachusetts, to Henri Joseph Mercier and Rose Belle (Gagnon). She was the youngest of seven children and was preceded in death by her siblings:

Irene, Doris, Henry, Rita, Therese "Terry," and Cecile. She was also predeceased by her son, Brian Robert Benoit, in 2000, and her great-granddaughter, Janessa Marie Jimenez, in 2009.

Jeanne married Robert George Roger Benoit on August 18, 1956, at Sacred Heart Church in Southbridge. They shared 55 years of marriage before his passing in 2011.

She is survived by her daughter, Rebecca Ann McManus of Charlton, MA; her daughter-in-law, Doreen Ann Benoit of Southbridge, MA; her grandchildren, Malory Marie Jimenez (Benoit) and her husband Jonathan Jimenez of Templeton, MA, Andrew Robert Benoit of Southbridge, MA, and Heather Jean McManus; and her great-grandchildren, Jayden and Jordan Jimenez.

Jeanne attended Catholic school in Southbridge and later worked for many years locally at Providence House. She also provided compassionate care as a private PCA to many patients in the community.

Jeanne found her greatest joy in caring for her grandchildren. She also enjoyed her daily walks around town with her husband, Sunday drives, dining out, and spending time at Old Orchard Beach, Maine. There will never be a meal at Bill's Pizza with pier fries in OOB, a Shirley Temple film, or a Josh Groban song enjoyed without thinking of Jeanne.

She will also be remembered for her tough exterior yet deeply caring heart, her words of wisdom which she shared whether you were willing to listen or not, and the many memories she made sure to create with those she loved most. And so, as we say goodbye, we remember the words Jeanne often shared through life's moments: "c'est la vie."

A private service will be held at Belanger-Bullard Funeral Home, 51 Marcy St. Southbridge.

Burial will be at Oak Ridge Cemetery in Southbridge, where she will rest alongside her husband, son, and great-granddaughter.

She will be deeply missed and remembered always.

An online guestbook is available at www.BelangerFuneralHome.com

Community invited to closing reception for art exhibit at Charlton Public Library

CHARLTON — The public is invited to a special closing reception for an exhibit at the Charlton Public Library on Tuesday, March 24 from 6 to 7:30 p.m.

The exhibition features a unique collaboration between Laura Cenedella and Jim R. Wilton. When Cenedella was invited to show a large collection of her work at the library, she was so impressed by Wilton's artistry that she asked him to co-present. Their styles and subjects complement each other perfectly, creating a cohesive and inspiring display.

Wilton's passion for art is rooted in his family history, influenced deeply by his grandparents. His grandfather, a renowned calligrapher and Aztec painter famous for his work with real duck feathers, was a significant mentor who encouraged Jim's lifelong dedication to his craft.

Please join us for an evening of art and inspiration as we celebrate the beauty of spring. Refreshments will be served, and both artists look forward to meeting you and having you sign the guest book.

Here Today Adopted Tomorrow hosting "Spay"ghetti Supper

PALMER — Here Today Adopted Tomorrow (HTAT) invites all animal lovers to our annual "Spay"ghetti Supper fundraiser at the St. Thomas Parish Center in Palmer on Saturday, March 28.

Enjoy a delicious chef-prepared meal while helping the very cats in our community! Whether you're a true party animal or simply want to make a difference, it's a great way to support a good cause with friends and family. Plus, enjoy raffles, prizes, and plenty of fun throughout the evening!

Each year, HTAT sees more cats pawing at its doors for help. As prices rise, everyone feels the strain—but many people don't realize that rising costs affect pets, too. It's not just veterinary care that has exploded; as food and housing prices rise, many loving pet owners find themselves struggling to keep up. When life becomes overwhelming, cats can be the ones caught in the middle.

That's where HTAT steps in. Events like the "Spay"ghetti Supper make our support possible, helping us provide food, shelter, and care for cats who might otherwise fall through the cracks.

HTAT Executive Director Rachael Max says the event is a chance for the community to come together while making a real difference. "Spay"ghetti Supper is one of our most popular events of the year," said Max. "It's always a fun night, but it also plays an important role in helping us continue our work with cats who need a little extra care and attention."

The "Spay"ghetti Supper takes place at the St. Thomas Parish Center in Palmer on Saturday, March 28, 2026, from 5:00-6:30 PM. Advance tickets are $15 for adults and $10 for seniors and kids under 12, while limited door tickets will be available at $20 for adults and $15 for seniors and kids. To purchase tickets, visit www.heretodaysanctuary.org or call 413-324-8224.

If you are local and need assistance feeding or caring for your pet, HTAT can help. Local cat owners can spay or neuter their cats for $80 or less, and strays and ferals can be fixed for free! Visit www.heretodaysanctuary.org to learn more about our community assistance programs.

About Here Today Adopted Tomorrow Animal Sanctuary

Here Today Adopted Tomorrow (HTAT) was founded by mother-daughter team Barbara Horn and Rachael Max. HTAT is a volunteer driven group focused on helping cats and the people who love them in our community. In 2012 we opened our no kill, cageless cat adoption center for adult cats and kittens in Brimfield, MA. It is deeply important to us that every resident's stay at HTAT is comfortable and healthy, making for well-adjusted, happy animals. Shortly after opening, we realized there were more homeless cats than we could handle by adoption alone. We believe that pets are cherished members of the family and that every cat deserves care, respect, and the chance to thrive, no matter their circumstances. We have programs to help special needs cats flourish and get adopted, as well as community assistance programs to help pet owners keep their pets, such as our Pet Food Pantry, low-cost spay-neuter program, and free cat behavior program. Each year, HTAT helps over 1,500 animals and their families. For more information, visit heretodaysanctuary.org.

Celtic traditions come to life at Old Sturbridge Village

STURBRIDGE — Celtic traditions will come to life at Old Sturbridge Village's annual Celtic Celebration this March with live music, traditional dance performances, storytelling, and for the first time, the chance to meet two Scottish Highland calves visiting from Moonlit Run Farm in Barre.

Throughout the week-end of March 21-22, visitors will learn about Irish and Scottish history and the ways they shaped 19th-century New England. They will be treated to a host of Celtic traditions including fiddle tunes, bagpipes, and musicians alongside a variety of demonstrations and activities, including:

- Irish poetry readings and folk tales
- Harp performances by Cate Mahoney on Saturday and Shelley Otis on Sunday
- Play Rounders (an Irish game similar to baseball)
- A Celtic magic show with magician Daniel GreenWolf & Bella

- A step dancing performance by the Inishfree Dance School
- Character presentations about an immigrant's experience in early New England

Celtic Celebration is sponsored by Southbridge Credit Union. This event will occur on March 21 and 22 from 9:30 a.m. to 4 p.m., and is included with general daytime admission or Village membership. To learn more, or to purchase tickets, visit osv.org/event/celtic-celebration.

Burgess third graders kick off Sturbridge celebration of America 250

STURBRIDGE — One-hundred and twenty “Happy Birthday America” cards created by Burgess Elementary School third graders are now hanging in the Senior Center. This project was developed in collaboration with the Sturbridge America 250th Anniversary Committee, established in January 2025. In the coming months, residents and visitors will enjoy a number of community programs created by and coordinated with this Committee. Expect to see special commemorative banners featuring an historical flag posted on poles along Routes 20 and 131. Look for programs focusing on the history of America at the Joshua Hyde Public Library, and from the Sturbridge Historical Society. Old Sturbridge Village is hosting Revolutionary Game Nights at the Ox & Yoke Café. Participants will have the chance to win prizes such as special event tickets, Village crafts, and more! Check out “Revolutionary Bingo” March 27 and May 29 and “Revolutionary Trivia” Feb. 27, April 24, and June 26. For more information about these events and the many other new 250th events that the Village will be hosting, go to: osv.org.

Additional events sponsored by the Committee include an essay program for Grade 5 students titled “What Does America Mean to You?” with an option for students to voluntarily submit essays to a Town-wide recognition contest. Local restaurants will participate in a “Taste of Sturbridge” event during March and April featuring patriotic-themed offerings. Opacum Land Trust will incorporate Sturbridge historical landmarks into its April 2026 Vacation Scavenger Hunt. Also planned for May at the Senior Center are a tree planting and the burying of a time capsule

Events will culminate in May and June. A Family Fun Day on May 16 features a Children’s Bike Decorating and Parade, followed with activities on the Common including: a Mini Big-Top Circus, face painting, T-shirt decorating, yard games, potato sack and 3-legged races, music and more. A hot dog cart will also be available. The Committee’s signature event will be held on June 27, 2026 and will feature a parade along Route 20 and Route 131, followed by a community festival on the Town Common. More information on these events will be forthcoming.

Volunteer recruitment and community engagement have been central to the Committee’s work. The Committee extends its appreciation to all residents, volunteers, nonprofit organizations, and local businesses supporting the America 250th Anniversary celebration. If you are interested in participating in either/both the Family Fun Day and the Parade, or simply wish to find more information, please contact the Sturbridge250 Committee by email at Sturbridge250@gmail.com.
