New solar trainer unit installed at Tantasqua

BY KEVIN FLANDERS
STAFF WRITER
STURBRIDGE — Students from several classes of Tantasqua Regional High School’s technical division have teamed up to install a unit that augments safety and education.

Overseen by Mark Wood, Principal-Director of Tantasqua Regional Vocational High School, students and staff members are completing the installation of a solar trainer.

The support structure for the unit was built by carpentry students last year, and the installation will be finished this year by electrical students.

The project was made possible by a $60,000 grant from the All Points North Foundation.

“They have been amazing to work with,” Wood said of the foundation. “Everyone is very excited about the project.”

Foundation) for serving as the applicant for the grant. The final materials needed for the project have been ordered. Upon arrival, they will be installed by students.

Last school year, CAD students helped design the installation.

Upperclassmen then worked with TRHS carpentry teacher Tim Seguin to build a shed to be used for storage on site.

Once complete, the solar trainer unit will allow students to safely learn how to install solar equipment.

“The number of jobs out there for solar keeps growing. We want to give our students the best training opportunities for this aspect of the industry,” Wood said.

The project has also benefited Chapter 74 students from Leicester, East Brookfield, and West Brookfield who participate in TRHS coursework.

“The project has come along well, and the students have really enjoyed working on it,” said TRHS electrical teacher David Bachand. “It’s a great way for kids to get some fresh air while learning.”

TRHS carpentry students also built memorial benches outside the storage shed. The benches honor former TRHS students Vinnie Ardizzoni and Dom Gardner, who lost their lives in a 2022 car accident.

The next step in the installation process is for the solar trainer unit to be connected to the school’s power system. Students look forward to the new opportunities that will be introduced once the device goes live.

“It has been a good experience to work on different projects with a team,” said TRHS student Ethan Langevin.

The new unit will also allow students to discover how various items of safety gear operate while they’re working, including harnesses.

Council makes Dean department head

BY GUS STEEVES
CORRESPONDENT

SOUTHBRIDGE — Revamping economic development in various ways was key to the Town Council’s most recent agenda Nov. 20.

Specifically, they unanimously approved Town Manager Jack Jovan’s reorganization of that department to elevate Peg Dean formally to department head, a job she’s essentially been doing for some time now. Jovan noted the last person to do it was Rosemary Scrivens, but when she left, the then-manager split her job duties between Dean and then-Planner Eric Rumsey. This change restores the job description the council approved back in 2017.

“I see some real changes on the horizon of people that want to invest to move this community forward,” he said, noting Dean has helped find them and hoping to take advantage of that.

Dean has worked for the town five years, starting formally as CDBG Coordinator. Several councilors praised her work.

Many of the agenda’s other items are things Dean has been working on. The board accepted a $2 million MassWorks grant to extend the already-approved paving and infrastructure project on River/Crane Street to Pleasant Street. The fact it originally stopped at the bridge was a technicality of the fact it was heavily being funded by CDBG (Community Development Block Grant) money, which is restricted to the town’s two low/moderate-income census tracts.

Speaking of CDBG, the board voted to extend and repurpose the remnants from two years of funding (fiscal 2020 and 2021) to rebuild the burned Rotary Club playground on Main Street. Jovan noted parks within 1000 feet of a town building are covered on that building’s insurance policy, but that playground and the one on Walcott St are outside that distance, so weren’t listed on the policy.

He also discussed the ongoing effort to secure a $10 million federal RAISE grant to rebuild Hamilton Street. It was rejected a few months ago, but federal officials urged Southbridge to resubmit with more information, and Jovan noted the town is talking to both Reps Neal and McGovern for help.

He noted the town was subject to a $13,800 fine from the IRS over the fact the town’s health insurance didn’t meet certain percentages regarding “affordable” plans, a figure the council voted to pay. That fine was reduced from $63,000, and Jovan said “some communities say it’s cheaper to pay the fine than to offer this insurance.”

The one issue that sparked a little discussion was one that usually gets none – approval of the annual winter parking ban. George Chenier rased concern over the fact West Street is still under construction. It already has just one-side parking, with a snow emergency ban and a restriction during school hours. He wondered what residents there would do.

Jovan admitted he didn’t know, and said he wished that had been brought to his attention before the meeting. Instead, he said he’d work out something with the police, but asked the board to approve the overall list because it needs to start Dec. 1. (They did.)

CHARLTON — Another year, another tax rate hearing, but the same result for Charlton, as town officials decided once again to stay with a single tax rate rather than imposing increased tax burden on local businesses.

Charlton held its annual tax rate hearing on Nov. 14, where Town Assessor Kathleen Stanley presented the usual two options to selectmen, either remaining with a single tax rate or shifting to a split rate that taxes businesses more than residents. Stanley started her presentation by exploring the idea of splitting the rate, as is usual practice during the hearing to provide town leaders with options. She explained that even a shift of 10 percent would lower single family assessment by $170 a year, however it would dramatically affect local businesses with the medical commercial property seeing an increase of $443 a year.

The concept was once again balked at by selectmen who have traditionally presented themselves as business friendly. Selectman Bill Borowski, a staunch advocate for a single tax rate, made his case noting how splitting the rate would only hinder Charlton’s economic growth.

“I remain adamantly opposed to a split rate. I Turn To CHARLTON page A16

Charlton hires new Deputy Police Chief

BY JASON BLEAU
CORRESPONDENT

CHARLTON — The Charlton Police Department has promoted a longtime staple of local law enforcement to the position of Deputy Chief.

Gary Mason, a lifelong resident of Charlton who joined the department in 1995, was officially appointed to the position on Nov. 14 at the recommendation of Chief Dan Dowd, who spoke highly of Mason’s longstanding commitment to the community and his endless leadership of department staff both new and old.

“Gary is just one of those rare people that bleeds Charlton, both in the Police Department and in the community. He’s so well versed in town and I’m sure everybody knows Gary. He’s just everywhere. He’s an all-around great guy. He’s been there since I started, and he’s always been helpful to the person that walks in the door from day one of their career. He’s always taking time to talk to people. He’s a perfect example of what we’re trying to emulate at the police department,” said the chief.

Mason’s promotion was heavily supported by selectmen who praised the approach of hiring from within. For his part, Mason was humbled to be considered for the post.

“I appreciate the support from everybody, family, friends, especially my coworkers, the town. I’m just looking to keep it moving at Charlton PD. Our mission is to keep that team approach going,” said Mason.

The new Deputy Chief was one of eight candidates who applied for the job, with two being invited for interviews. Mason has served numerous previous posts in the departments including dispatcher, officer, detective, sergeant, and, most recently, lieutenant. He began his newest position on Nov. 19. The Charlton Police Department will now begin the hiring process to fill the vacant lieutenant position left by Mason’s promotion.

BATON ROUGE, La. — Shawn Tinsley of Charlton was recently initiated into The Honor Society of Phi Kappa Phi, the nation's oldest and most selective all-discipline collegiate honor society. Tinsley was initiated at University of South Florida.

Tinsley is among approximately 25,000 students, faculty, professional staff and alumni to be initiated into Phi Kappa Phi each year. Membership is by invitation only and requires nomination and approval by a chapter. Only the top 10 percent of seniors and 7.5 percent of juniors are eligible for membership. Graduate students in the top 10 percent of the number of candidates for graduate degrees may also qualify, as do faculty, professional staff and alumni who have achieved scholarly distinction.

Phi Kappa Phi was founded in 1897 under the leadership of undergraduate student Marcus L. Urann who had a desire to create a different kind of honor society: one that recognized excellence in all academic disciplines. Today, the Society has chapters on more than 325 campuses in the United States, its territories and the Philippines. Its mission is "To recognize and promote academic excellence in all fields of higher education and to engage the community of scholars in service to others."

SOUTHBRIDGE — Southbridge officially kicked off the holiday season Saturday with its annual Santa Parade and Tree Lighting on the Common. Hundreds of people turned out for Santa's arrival, photos with Mr. and Mrs. Claus, cocoa, popcorn, a little seasonal song karaoke, craft-making, visiting with alpacas and various other attractions. Events were partly funded by the Southbridge Cultural Council.

Santa has his hands full of kids.

The strength to overcome obstacles lies within you

We sometimes find ourselves standing at the feet of towering giants and facing impossible battles. The types of battles that make you question everything you thought you knew, making you feel as if you don't have what it takes and that you should give up and die.

What if I told you that this perception, this daunting outlook, is often a mere illusion?

There is a truth that many of us find hard to believe: that deep within you lies everything you need to triumph over your giants.

At an early age, Stephen Wiltshire received an autism diagnosis, a condition that faced significant stigma during his childhood. He was non-verbal until the age of five; few could have imagined his disability would eventually become one of his greatest strengths.

Stephen had a love for drawing; he was passionate about it. It was his way of connecting and communicating. Being autistic, I'm sure nobody thought Stephen had any chance in art.

Soon enough, Stephen had the attention of a teacher who noticed his remarkable talent. His drawings, characterized by their stunning detail and complexity, were entered into competitions and started winning awards.

As fate would have it, Stephen discovered that he had an eidetic memory that allowed him to draw complex landscapes and cityscapes even after just a glance.

Against all odds, Stephen's perceived disadvantage also came with an advantage that gave him everything he needed to become a world-class artist.

Ludwig van Beethoven, a renowned musical genius, faced an unimaginable challenge as he began to lose his hearing. Many might have thought this marked the end of his illustrious career. Yet, in an astonishing turn of events, this loss became a transformational force in his musical journey.

His compositions got better as he lost his hearing; they soared in depth and expression. Astoundingly, Beethoven's most celebrated works emerged when he was entirely deaf.

This profound loss forced him to listen in a new way, feeling the vibrations of each note. He began to perceive and compose music in a way he never had before.

This unforeseen challenge became the catalyst that propelled his artistry to unprecedented heights.

What seems like a crippling setback can be precisely what's needed to bring you toward your destiny.

Aron Ralston, an adventurer and mountaineer, lived for the thrill of conquering the great outdoors. His passion for exploring remote canyons and scaling rugged peaks was not just a hobby but a profound expression of his connection with nature. Ralston's adventures showed his profound love for the wilderness, a love that would be tested in ways he probably never imagined.

POSITIVELY

In April 2003, a routine solo canyoneering trip in Utah became a life-or-death struggle. While navigating a narrow canyon, a dislodged boulder trapped his right arm against the canyon wall. For five agonizing days, Ralston battled the elements, his physical limits, and mounting despair.

With dwindling supplies and no hope of rescue, he faced an unimaginable decision: amputate his trapped arm with a dull pocketknife to escape. This harrowing choice marked a turning point not only in his ordeal but in his entire life.

Ralston was undoubtedly forced to alter his relationship with the outdoors dramatically. What had once been a playground became the scene of his most profound challenge.

Yet, it deepened his respect and appreciation for the wild and led him down a new path.

He penned his memoir, "Between a Rock and a Hard Place," recounting his extraordinary survival and the lessons learned in the canyon.

His story inspired millions, leading to speaking engagements and even a film adaptation, "127 Hours," that brought his tale to a global audience.

In losing a part of himself, Ralston found a deeper purpose and discovered that even with losing his arm, he still had everything he needed to get to the next level of his life.

Each of us has an untapped well of inner strength. More often than not, we possess the tools necessary to navigate life's biggest challenges. Sometimes, the presence of a daunting obstacle reveals the actual depth of our ability. Next time you feel overwhelmed or insufficient, hold onto this truth: within you lies everything you need to overcome and succeed.

The power of small changes

In a world that often celebrates instant results and quick fixes, the true path to personal growth and self-improvement lies in the steady accumulation of small changes. We live in an age where we're bombarded with information about radical transformations and overnight success stories. However, it's essential to remember that lasting change often comes from the consistent practice of good habits, one small step at a time.

The journey of self-improvement can be daunting. Whether it's striving for better health, financial stability, or personal development, the thought of making significant changes can be overwhelming. But here's the secret: progress is not about massive, dramatic actions. Instead, it's about the cumulative effect of tiny, daily efforts.

Developing good habits requires patience, persistence, and an understanding that meaningful change doesn't happen overnight. Instead, it unfolds gradually.

Small changes are sustainable because they don't disrupt your life drastically. When you start with tiny steps, you're less likely to feel overwhelmed and give up. These changes become integrated into your daily routine, making them easier to maintain over the long term.

Consistency is the backbone of habit formation. By taking small actions every day, you reinforce positive behaviors and build momentum. Over time, these behaviors become second nature, and you don't have to rely on willpower alone.

Large changes can trigger resistance and anxiety. Our brains are wired to resist big, sudden shifts. In contrast, small changes are less threatening, making it easier to overcome the resistance that often accompanies change.

Celebrating small victories along the way boosts motivation and confidence. Each small change achieved is a step forward, reinforcing your commitment to your goals.

Life is unpredictable, and sudden disruptions can derail even the best-laid plans. When your habits are built on small, manageable changes, you can adapt more easily to unexpected challenges without losing sight of your goals.

Identify one habit you want to cultivate and break it down into the smallest possible steps. For example, if you want to exercise regularly, start with just five minutes of activity each day.

Set specific goals: Make your goals clear and measurable. Instead of saying, "I want to get in shape," say, "I will walk for 10 minutes every morning."

Establish a daily routine that includes your new habit. Consistency is easier to maintain when your habit becomes part of your daily life.

Track your progress: Keep a journal or use habit-tracking apps to monitor your daily efforts. Seeing your progress can be motivating and help you stay on track.

Stay accountable: Share your goals with a friend or family member who can offer support and encouragement. Having someone to hold you accountable can be a powerful motivator.

Remember, the journey of self-improvement is not a sprint but a marathon. Embrace the process of making small changes every day, and in time, you'll look back and be amazed at the significant transformation that these incremental efforts have brought to your life. By cultivating good habits one step at a time, you'll not only achieve your goals but also develop the resilience and discipline necessary for a lifetime of positive change.

Helping the poor

• • • • •

BY REV. JOHN H.D. LUCY
CHARLTON CITY UMC

This year, my church, Charlton City UMC, collected gift cards to distribute to local families to help create Christmas miracles. I can't help but think of Tiny Tim. Still, we received a comment that we shouldn't hand out free money because parents probably won't spend the money on gifts and food and instead will spend it on drugs and unnecessary luxuries. The comment bothered me so much, I have to address it.

You've probably heard a similar comment about handing out cash to persons who are homeless on the side of the street. I'll come back to that. The comment we heard is particularly upsetting because it implies that anyone who is unable to provide gifts or a feast for their kids is a bad parent, makes bad choices, is a drug addict. That's unfair to the extreme. I work full-time, my wife works two part-time jobs, we're quite thrifty, and we're still on the edge of wondering whether Christmas will be what we hope. To assume those in need in our country are somehow lazy, indulgent, or plain bad, is, if I'm being politically correct, silly.

Next, I have put together little gift bags for those who are homeless so that, when I come across a person in need, I can give them the bag rather than cash. The bag consisted of a water bottle, perishable food, socks, and other such items. But it did also include some money. That's a good idea and I'm thankful for my wife for first suggesting it. Too often, though, we simply refuse to give anything to those who are homeless because we've heard the argument that they'll just use it to buy drugs.

Who are we to judge, by the way? We don't know the person we're serving. What anyone does with a gift is between them and God. The job of those who have, as far as I'm concerned, is to give the gift. Each gift is an opportunity for new doors to open, including the door of grace.

So this year, this holiday season, I hope and pray that we'll give out of our abundance without rules or restrictions, trusting that each gift is an opportunity; I hope and pray that we'll give out of our abundance so that Christmas and other holidays can be for everyone what we hope it will be for ourselves.

Can life insurance provide retirement income?

NIELSEN

If your children are grown and your mortgage is paid off, do you still need to carry life insurance? It depends on your situation, but for many people, a cash-value life insurance policy, such as whole life or universal life, can be a valuable, tax-efficient source of retirement income.

And by drawing on the cash value of your policy, you might be able to temporarily reduce the amount you take out from your retirement accounts, such as your IRA and 401(k). This ability could be especially important when the financial markets are down — you'd probably like to avoid liquidating your assets when their prices have dropped.

Basically, you can use the cash in your policy in these ways:

Withdrawals – You can typically withdraw part of the cash value of your life insurance without losing coverage. You generally won't incur income taxes on these withdrawals, up to the amount you've put into the policy — that is, the premiums you've paid. Once your withdrawals exceed this amount, you would generally owe taxes. Also, keep in mind that any withdrawals will reduce your policy's death benefit and the available cash surrender value.

Policy loans – Rather than taking a withdrawal from your policy, you could take out a loan. You won't have to go through an approval process or income verification, and policy loans typically have lower interest rates than bank loans and don't assess closing costs. Plus, because your insurer will be lending you the money and using the cash in your policy as collateral, your policy's cash value can remain intact and still potentially grow. However, policy loans do carry some issues of which you should be aware. For one thing, while a loan usually isn't taxable, you could end up owing taxes on any unpaid loan balance, including interest. And if this balance exceeds the policy's cash value, it could cause your policy to lapse. Also, outstanding loans can reduce your death benefit.

Cashing out – If you cash out, or "surrender," your policy, you can receive the entire cash value, plus any accrued interest. You will have to subtract any money needed to pay policy loans, along with unpaid premiums and surrender fees, which can be significant. Also, any amount you receive over the policy's cash basis — the total of premiums you've paid — will be taxed as regular income.

1035 Exchange – Through what's known as a Section 1035 Exchange, you can transfer your life insurance policy to an annuity, which can be structured to pay you a lifetime income stream. The exchange won't be taxable but surrender charges may still apply.

Outdoor winter container gardens

MYERS

Add a bit of greenery to your front steps, window box or patio with a winter container garden. You'll find all the ingredients you need at your local garden center, craft store, and maybe even a few in your backyard.

Start with a walk through your yard and look for evergreens and other potential ingredients for your winter containers. Fruits like rose hips, winterberries, holly berries, crabapples and others add color to the container. Fluffy seed-heads of grasses make a nice vertical accent and add a bit of motion to the arrangement.

Next, convert one or two of your summer or fall containers into a winter display. The container should be able to tolerate the winter conditions in your area. Concrete, iron, metal, wood and fiberglass containers are best suited for year-round use. Even plastic pots will last for a few years when left outside.

Or start a new container for winter. Repurpose or purchase a container. Nursery pots that once housed trees and shrubs make excellent options. These black containers provide the perfect backdrop for greenery and are available for free from most garden centers and fellow gardeners.

Make sure the pot has drainage holes to prevent water-logged soil and water from overflowing the pot. Fill the container about seven eighths full with a well-drained potting mix. The soil helps hold the greenery, twigs and other materials in place and adds weight to keep the pot upright throughout the winter.

Consider using a mix of greens for a variety of textures and various shades of green.

Pine, spruce, arborvitae, boxwood and junipers may be growing in your landscape and most are available at garden centers. Spruce tips are popular, allowing you to add "mini" trees or create vertical accents in your containers.

Use greens to cover the pot and create an attractive base for your winter display. Place some branches upright and others at a 45-degree angle so the greens drape over the edge. Secure the stems by placing them at least four inches deep in the soil.

Now add some color and vertical interest with stems of red twig dogwoods, paper birch branches, berry-laden stems from holly and winterberry and curly willow branches. Artificial material and outdoor ornaments can also be used. It's your opportunity to get creative.

Do consider adding other elements such as evergreen cones, seed pods, allium seed-heads, and balloon plant pods. Leave them natural or add some paint and glitter.

Water thoroughly to remove air pockets and lock your ingredients in place. Keeping the soil moist until the potting mix freezes can help extend the beauty of the greenery. The winter containers will also last much longer in cooler temperatures. And those displayed in more sheltered locations out of direct sunlight and wind will suffer less drying.

Once your container is complete it is time to relax and enjoy your holiday celebrations.

Given the potential tax implications of the above options, you may want to consult with your tax advisor before making any moves. Also, be sure you are comfortable with a reduced or eliminated death benefit. Specifically, you'll want to be confident that your spouse or other family members don't need the proceeds of your policy. This may require some discussions about your loved ones' plans and needs. And don't forget that life insurance can help your family pay for final expenses, such as funeral costs and unpaid medical bills.

Whether it's providing you with needed retirement income or helping your family meet future needs, your cash value life insurance policy is a valuable asset — so try to put it to the best use possible.

Be alert against CIRDC

Shotgun deer hunting season opened in Mass. this past Monday, in somewhat ideal conditions. The early morning rain was over by sunrise, followed by light winds in the morning, for hunters hoping to harvest a deer for the family's freezer.

Deer have already started to become nocturnal (traveling and feeding only at night). Deer hunters often work in small groups, hoping to locate the deer, often pushing them from their beds. With the high population of deer in Mass., hunters should have no problem harvesting a couple for the family freezer.

A canine respiratory disease known as CIRDC, "Canine Infectious Respiratory Disease," is a disease that is highly contagious, and has been detected in numerous pets recently. People that frequent dog parks are exposing their pets to this deadly disease. Taking your pets to the veterinarian to diagnose and treat the disease can be extremely expensive, as most visits to the Veterinarian are.

Getting an appointment to the veterinarian can often take days, as most are often booked up. Pet owners are often referred to Tufts medical clinic in Grafton, which is extremely expensive. Anyone that has had to take their pet to Tufts, often come out with a bill of $500 or more, a thousand dollar bill is not unusual. Owning a dog that is healthy is great, and the companionship is most often a strong bond with the owners.

I have often mentioned the risks of taking your pets to a dog park, and with the recent outbreak of this disease, you should not do it! People take their dogs almost everywhere they go, and the risks are very high that they could become infected. Don't do it!

Purchasing a dog as a Christmas present for someone is also a foolish thing to do! There is too much going on, and the pup could be injured during all of the commotion of opening other gifts. Also, when you decide to buy a new family member and/or hunting partner, be sure to buy a healthy dog directly from a breeder. Be sure to see both parents and spend a little bit of time with them. Labradors are still the no. one pet, but if you do not do your homework before you purchase one, diseases like hip dysplasia could end up costing you hundreds, if not thousands of dollars, not to forget to mention a short life for your new family member. Choose wisely and good luck!

Christmas shopping for those special sportsmen is often a hard thing to do. It is best to give that special guy or gal a gift certificate at their favorite sporting goods store. Shopping at a Mom & Pop store is the best way to go, and will help keep the establishment in business. Many of these small shops have gone out of business over the last 20 years or so, and there are very few left.

Holiday Crafts for Kids

As we count down to Christmas, a host of festive preparations take center stage in most families. This exciting time of year is hectic, and even more so for anxious children eager to be part of the pre-holiday activities. If you're searching for easy, creative ways to keep little ones from underfoot, look no further. The following ideas are fun and easy ways to keep kids busy. Best of all, these imaginative projects make great gifts for the special loved one in a child's life.

This amazing scientific project takes a little time, but it is educational as well as interesting. Kids really get a kick out of gifting teachers with this sparkly ornament. (Adult supervision required.)

Materials: String, wide mouth jar (such as a mason canning jar); white pipe cleaners; boiling water; borax (such as 20 Mule Team Borax booster, available at grocery stores); pencil; blue food coloring (optional).

Directions: Cut a white pipe cleaner into three equal sections. Twist the sections together in the center so that you have a six sided star shape. If your points are not even, trim the pipe cleaner sections to the same length. Attach string along the outer edges to form a snowflake pattern. Attach a piece of string to the top of one of the pipe cleaners and tie the other end to a pencil (this is to hang it from). Fill a wide mouth jar with boiling water. Mix borax into the water one tablespoon at a time. Use three tablespoons of borax per cup of water. Stir until dissolved, (don't worry if there is powder settling on the bottom of the jar). If you want you can add a little blue food coloring now to give the snowflake a bluish hue. Insert your pipe cleaner snowflake into the jar so that the pencil is resting on the lip of the jar and the snowflake is freely suspended in the borax solution. Wait overnight and by morning the snowflake will be covered with shiny crystals. Hang in a window as a sun-catcher or

Coal Stocking Bags

Children love to think they aren't the only ones who are "naughty" at times, and really enjoy bestowing this holiday teaser on family members and friends. This tried and true project is so simple, yet never fails to garner giggles and fun!

Materials: Small, coal sized rocks; black paint; ziplock bags or brown paper lunch bags; ribbon or twine.

Instructions: Have kids package painted rocks in zipper bags or brown paper bag pouches and tie with a ribbon for gift giving. They can hand print out the following message and tie it to the bag:

I heard you have been naughty not nice,
And Santa even checked his list twice.
So all the way from the cold North Pole,
All you're getting is a bag of coal!

******

Pinecone Trees

Gathering pinecones for holiday crafts is a generations old tradition that reflects one of nature's many gifts of the season! Creating cute, colorful, pinecone "trees" is easy enough for young children to do. The little trees are made simply by painting a single pinecone and are ideal for displaying on the windowsill, desktop or table.

Materials: Pinecones, dried (see below)*; paints; glitter; beads; cinnamon candies, etc. and other adornments as desired; wine cork or a slice of tree trunk for base.

Instructions: Choose a pinecone that mimics the shape of a Christmas tree (short and stout tall and slender, etc.). Paint pinecones green and decorate with beads or tiny buttons; cookie decorations such as cinnamon candies and silver balls, etc.; dip tips in glue and glitter, if desired, etc. Glue bottom of pinecone to a wine cork or small tree trunk slice to form a base (trim bottom of pinecone to make it flat for gluing).

*To dry pinecones for crafting: Lay pinecones out flat on an old cookie sheet. Bake at 225 for two hours. This not only helps the pinecones to open, but eliminates moisture and any insects.

Note: a mix of short, stout pinecones and long, slender ones can create a "forest" of varying heights for a tabletop display!

Garden Bows

The gardener on your child's gift list will truly appreciate this creative tree ornament. Perfect for a grandparent, teacher or special adult, the gift can be opened for use in the spring, or hung on the tree year after year.

Materials: Flower or vegetable seed packets; white glue; glitter; metallic tree garland; fishing line.

Instructions: Fold seed packet into pleats. Spread white glue along the outside edges of the pleats. Dip the pleated packets into glitter and let dry. Pinch the top of the packet to create a fan. Hang the ornaments by wrapping them at center point with metallic garland. Thread fishing line or ribbon through the garland and tie in a loop for hanging on tree.

2023 auction results

I hope that you had a Happy Thanksgiving! As we near 2024, I'll use today's column to share some results from our 2023 auctions.

In previous columns, I've discussed how comic books are classified. As a refresher, Golden Age comics were printed from 1938 to 1956. The Silver

Age of comics lasted from 1956 to 1970. The Bronze Age spanned from 1970 to 1985 and the Modern Age began in 1985 and continues today. A Golden Age superhero comic book in great condition could make you a millionaire. More recent ones can still be valuable, though. We sold a group of Bronze Age and Modern Age X-Men Comic Books that brought $2,880 in November.

Old and newer collectible toys also brought strong prices this year, including two cast iron toys from our June auction. Kenton Toys of Kenton, Ohio began manufacturing toy trucks in 1903, according to the National Museum of American History. An early 1900s Kenton Toys Cast Iron Police Patrol Horse Drawn Carriage brought $960. "Samuel

COLLECTIBLES

WAYNE TUISKULA

Fire Engine sold for $1,020.

Some more modern toys also sold well in our 2023 auctions. "The Munsters" was the 18th highest-ranked TV show for the 1964-65 season. A 1964 Talking Herman Munster figure by Mattel with original box sold for $900. The intro for "Six Million Dollar Man" became a 1970s catch phrase: "We can rebuild him; we have the technology." A 1970s The Six Million Dollar Man

F. Pratt, Pascal P. Pratt, and William P. Letchworth established the Buffalo Malleable Iron Works in 1836," according to worthpoint.com. They began toy production in 1889. A late 19th century Pratt & Letchworth Cast Iron Horse Drawn Steamer

Venus Space Probe in the box went for $960. Even newer toys can be valuable. A 2016 Lego Ghostbusters Fire House MIB (mint in box) sold for $780 earlier this year.

Baseball and other sports cards continue to be popular with collectors, especially graded cards of star players. Cards featuring two Hall of Famers brought strong prizes in our June auction. A 1954 Topps Hank (Henry) Aaron #128 PSA 5 (out of 10) Baseball Card fetched $4,425. Mickey Mantle cards in good condition are highly desirable. A 1952 Bowman Mickey Mantle #101 PSA 6 (out of 10) Baseball Card knocked it out of the park, selling for $5,000.

We are expecting more strong auction results at our major multi-estate online auction which starts soon and ends on January 10th. We will be offering fine art including paintings by listed artists (those whose works have sold at auction), Pablo Picasso limited edition pottery, and bronze sculptures. We have gold, platinum, and diamond jewelry and a large amount of sterling silver. There's also a wide range of mid-century modern furniture and accessories. We will also offer aviation and Civil War memorabilia and much more, including a book from the 1600s. Our online estate auction of a Concord, Mass. home is also currently running and will end on Dec. 12. The Concord home has fine furnishings, oriental rugs, an antique tall case clock, and more. Please visit our Web site, <https://centralmassauctions.com>, for links to upcoming events.

Late game interception secures Thanksgiving Day victory for Tantasqua over Rams

The Shepherd Hill offense begins a play as Tantasqua's defense attempts to rush in.

BY JASON BLEAU
STAFF WRITER

STURBRIDGE — The Shepherd Hill Rams and Tantasqua Warriors met for their 49th annual Thanksgiving Day game, this year played at The Reservation. The game proved to be a thrilling tale of two very different halves.

Both teams came out determined to keep each other from the end zone as the game remained scoreless at halftime, but the scoreboard would see plenty of work in the second half with points on every possession except the final drive, which ended with a game-clinching interception for the Warriors, as they edged the Rams, 17-14.

The second half provided a bit of everything from both teams as Shepherd Hill took the lead in the third quarter on the strength of a touchdown run by Aiden Tyler. The Rams would later secure the lead with a 75-yard kickoff return for a score by William Sirleaf.

In between those scores Tantasqua kept things close with a touchdown of their own courtesy of a 33-yard connection between quarterback Adam Howe and receiver Noah Wotton. Shepherd Hill took their 14-7 advantage into the final quarter of the game, but that lead wouldn't last.

Tantasqua took control in the fourth quarter thanks to scrappy play by Howe under center, who converted another touchdown — this time to Isaac Colon — to tie the game despite a strong showing by the Rams' defense. The Warriors then took their first lead of the day after successfully securing an onside kick complimented by a highlight scramble play later in the drive where Howe escaped a charging Rams defense to complete a first down pass. The effort eventually set up a 19-yard field goal by Luke Marvin to make the score 17-14 in favor of the Warriors.

Shepherd Hill never backed down and threatened to take the lead in the closing seconds, attempting a desperation pass play into the end zone. However, Tantasqua's Jack Rapose made the game-clinching interception with 18 seconds left on the clock securing the Warriors their 10th win in the annual holiday matchup.

Kyle LeBlanc of Shepherd Hill carries the ball and pushes forward while getting tackled.

Joshua Harrison of Shepherd Hill rushes the ball for a first down.

Tantasqua place kicker Luke Marvin watches the ball go through the uprights, as this score would be the difference in a 17-14 victory for the Warriors over Shepherd Hill.

Warriors' head coach Nate Orzech complimented Rapose on his game-winning play, calling it redemption for a mistake made at the very beginning of the season.

"Week one against Marlborough he got beat on a play like that and I've been on him about it for the rest of the year, so it makes up for week one. We were talking to the safeties to be aware of toss passes and they didn't get beat. They did a good job and made a play," Orzech said.

After a scoreless first half, Orzech said the Warriors made all the right adjustments to counteract the Rams coming into the closing quarters. "(Shepherd Hill) did a great job taking away what we were trying to do. We said we had to run at them and beat them at their own game and be a little bit more downhill," said Orzech. "That set up Adam (Howe) obviously making some tremendous plays in the second half. He was excellent in the second half and made a lot of big plays for us and those receivers coming down with those passes was pretty great, too."

Shepherd Hill head coach Steve Ide said the loss was tough, but he felt it was a hard-fought battle between two very capable football teams. "These were two good teams playing really hard football. The onside kick was obviously a huge play. The scramble play by the Tantasqua quarterback, he did an outstanding job because we had him a couple times and he still managed to get the ball loose and they caught it," Ide said. "That's the difference in the game. One big special team play by us, one by them. Good defense played by them, good defense played by us. They have an elite kicker, and he made a great kick."

Ide said he had no regrets going for it on the final play, although he wished the result was different for his team.

"We were out of timeouts, so it's tough for us because obviously we're a run first operation. We can throw the ball effectively, but we're run first, so in that situation and you're on the clock you need to take a couple of chances.

We put the ball in the hands of two of our best players and it looked like they got tangled up, Tantasqua caught it and those are the plays you've got to make if you want to win the game," said Ide.

Howe was named Offensive MVP while Shepherd Hill's Joshua Harrison earned Defensive MVP honors. The win now puts the Warriors — who finished the season at 5-6 — in double digits for the Thanksgiving matchup with the record at 39-10 in favor of the Rams — who also wound up 5-6 — as the game approaches its 50th anniversary next year.

Bay Path narrowly defeats Pirates in Battle for Buffums, evens series at 5-5

Bay Path’s Aiden Fausek powers through the Oxford defensive line.

OXFORD — If you’re a fan of offense and high numbers on the scoreboard, then this year’s Battle for Buffums Thanksgiving Day foot- ball game between Bay Path and Oxford was a treat. In the end it was the Minutemen who emerged victorious, 42-34, as they knotted up the battle in the 10th year of the rivalry, 5-5. The scoring started on the first offensive play as the Pirates’ Kellen Clarkson found Connor Fantasia on a 41-yard pass, and Alexander Perry booted the extra point to make it 7-0.

Bay Path’s Brayden Downes countered with a 57-yard TD run, Kaiden Brochu tacked on the two-point rush, and the Minutemen led, 8-7. Downes then scored again, this time from 26 yards, and Brochu again got the two-point run, and it was 16-7 Bay Path.

Next it was Brochu’s turn to find pay dirt, and he rushed one in from 18 yards as the Minutemen surged ahead, 22-7.

But Oxford tied the game at 22-22, the halftime score, when Fantasia caught two TD passes from Clarkson, and Perry made one PAT and Clarkson hit Andruw Martinez with a two-point pass.

The Pirates then grabbed a 34-22 lead when Clarkson had a pair of rushing scores — from 3 and 4 yards out — before Brochu trimmed the deficit down to 34-28 at the end of the third quarter thanks to a 40-yard scoring run.

Brochu then tied the game at 34-34 with a 34-yard rushing TD and then, with 5:36 to play, Bay Path won it when they blocked a punt at the 4-yard line. Bryan Pardee was there to catch the ball and scamper into the end zone, and Brochu added the two-point rush to account for the 42-34 final.

The Minutemen improved to 9-3 and then played Blackstone Valley Tech for the State Vocational Large School Championship, which was played after press time. The Pirates finished their season with a record of 5-6.

Bartlett narrowly gets by Southbridge in another Thanksgiving Day classic

BY NICK ETHIER
SPORTS EDITOR

WEBSTER — With the Bartlett and Southbridge varsity football teams having competed against one another on Thanksgiving Day over 100 times — this was the 103rd installment of the third longest rivalry in Central Mass. — anything can, and will, happen on the field.

“We talked a lot, ‘Don’t look at their record. Records don’t mean anything,’” said Dane Laboissonniere, head coach of the Indians, of the one-win Pioneers.

“Frank (Koumanelis, Southbridge’s former head coach) told me that crazy things happen on Thanksgiving,” added Nick Clark, Southbridge’s first-year head coach.

The Pioneers nearly pulled off the upset, but Bartlett — which finished 5-6 — scored the only points of the second half to rally for a 10-8 victory.

“We overcame a lot of self-inflicted mistakes today. We ended up costing ourselves a couple of scores, but the kids came out in the second half and found a way to win,” said Laboissonniere.

“Today, although we didn’t get the win, we proved that anything can happen on Thanksgiving,” added Clark. “We played to a caliber that I knew we could play all year, that we hadn’t gotten to all year until today.”

Points were at a premium throughout, and it was a safety — of all plays — for the Indians that staked them to a 2-0 first quarter lead. A poor pitch back on a sweep saw the ball fall in the end zone, resulting in the two points. But the Pioneers rallied later in the half as they grabbed an 8-2 half-time later. Southbridge’s Alexis Ramos scored the touchdown on a 9-yard run, and Steven Santos tackled on the two-point conversion rush.

The Pioneers opened the second half with possession of the ball, but a turnover on downs gave it to Bartlett. The ensuing drive started on their own 13-yard line, but the Indians drove 87 yards to pay dirt, Joshua Ramirez eventually finding the end zone from 3 yards out in the final minute of the third quarter. Nay’Jean Holley then tacked on the all-important two-point conversion rush by extending the nose of the football over the goal line, and Bartlett led again, 10-8.

“Can you give me 3 yards?” Holley remembered Laboissonniere asking him before the two-point conversion. “And I said, ‘Of course, Coach, I can do it.’”

The Pioneers’ next drive was stalled, and the Indians gave Southbridge a big dose of Holley carrying the football as Bartlett held possession from 9:36 remaining until there was only 1:29 to go. Holley had many chunk runs that continued to move the chains, bleeding the clock in the process.

“We put the ball in our senior captain’s hands and said, ‘Go win us the game,’ and there were a couple long, less than ideal down and distances, and picking up runs on third-and-7 and third-and-8,” Laboissonniere said.

Southbridge had its final chance, though, starting at their own 25 yard-line. They grabbed a couple of first downs, but Bartlett’s Caiden Steeves eventually secured an interception — his second pick of the day — to all but seal the deal with 29 seconds to go.

“It was going to take a stop at the end to win the ballgame and Caiden coming up with two picks, he’s top five in Central Mass,” Laboissonniere said of Steeves, who finished the season with six INT’s. “He’s turning into a ballhawk back there. He’s really blossomed in his sophomore year as a receiver and a safety.”

For his rushing yards and game-winning two-point conversion, Holley won the Captain Vincent Sabatinelli Trophy for Game MVP.

“Nay’Jean wasn’t here as a freshman and as a sophomore I watched from afar when I was in my (one-year) retirement phase. He came out as a junior and we tried to find a home for him. By the end of the year, it was pretty clearly established that he was going to be our feature back,” said Laboissonniere. “We fed him the rock today. The game was on the line, and we put the ball in his hands.”

“It feels great,” Holley said while clutching the trophy. “I put in a lot of work in the offseason. I’m in the gym every day. I set the tone for my team.”

Holly was perhaps happier with the team victory, though.

“It’s a big tradition in the entire town. It’s one of the biggest rivalries in the state. It means a lot to us especially because we haven’t won much in the last two years,” he explained. “We did everything we could to turn it around. I can go home happy, everyone can go home happy.”

Clark, meanwhile, who was the Pioneers’ JV coach and varsity assistant last year, was proud of the way his team battled, regardless of the outcome.

“I knew they had heart all year, but they played with another kind of intensity that I haven’t seen, I’ve got to be honest with you,” said Clark. “The rivalry, they know what it is, and we make a good point to let them know the tradition of the rivalry. That extra intensity definitely comes from this Thanksgiving game and the tradition of it.

With Steven Santos (31) looking to block, Southbridge's Luis Gonzalez runs the ball down the field.

A gang of Southbridge defenders combine to bring down Bartlett's ball carrier.

“I can’t say enough about these guys, especially these seniors, they really, really battled right until the last whistle, right until the last play,” added Clark.

Clark noted that although Koumanelis is no longer the head coach, he started this season as a consultant before being promoted to assistant to the head coach.

“All season, Frank has been such a great mentor. I have a question and call him, he answers immediately. He’s calling me and we’re game planning. I don’t know where we’d be at without Frank because he’s been a great presence with the team,” said Clark.

think a single tax rate is much more economically favorable for our future development and I think the moment you split it, even though you do get some residual relief, I think there are longer term negative impacts," Borowski said. Board Chair Barbara Zurawski agreed saying she felt changing the rate format would undo years of effort to help Charlton grow.

"What we are trying to accomplish in this town and everything we're working so hard on is to try and bring in businesses and not discourage them from coming in, so I think that's very important to keep it, for now anyways, the way that it is," she said. The decision was an easy one for the board as selectmen voted unanimously to maintain the single tax rate for another year. They thanked Stanley, her staff and the Board of Assessors for another year of hard work and helping Charlton explore every option available.

Victor James Matherly, 44

STURBRIDGE: Victor James Matherly, 44, of Sturbridge, died Tuesday, Nov. 7 as the result of an accident at work. He leaves his wife of 19 years, Kathryn Matherly, his daughters; Lucy Matherly and Hayley Worthington both of Sturbridge, his parents; Christopher and Amy Matherly of Sturbridge, brothers; Thomas Matherly of Putney, VT, and Christopher Matherly II of Warwick, RI, and his sisters; Anna D'Agostino, Natasha Cortijo-Brown, Stacy Gutierrez - together with his aunts, uncles, nieces and nephews, as well as many others who loved him. A skilled computer programmer, network designer, and webmaster, Victor graduated from Quinsigamond Community College in 2003 and began working at Wave Communications Inc. of Warwick, RI, as Operations Manager. He was a caring father, husband, brother, and son, who always put the needs of his family before his own. Victor had many interests, which he would explore with curiosity and energy. He was a music lover and guitarist who enjoyed a wide variety of genres.

He loved to attend concerts with his daughter Lucy, also a musician and was the #1 fan at her band's performances. Victor and his dad spent many hours discussing their favorite recordings and concerts. He was a talented photographer and his beautiful art fills our homes. Victor enjoyed working on his house; creating an enormous garden, building retaining walls, fixing anything that needed fixing, and remodeling. His latest obsessions included 3-D printing. For refuge from his busy life, he and Kate would head up to the Vermont cabin to kayak, ride his ATV, sit around the fire pit, and take in the mountain views. We are heartbroken that he was taken from us so suddenly and at such a young age. A celebration of life will be held in the spring of 2024. To leave thoughts and remembrances visit his memorial website: <https://www.victor-matherly.org/> The J. HENRI MORIN & SON FUNERAL HOME at 23 Maple Terrace in Spencer is assisting the family with arrangements. The family requests that those who wish to express sympathy consider making a donation to their favorite charity in Victor's name. www.morinfuneralhomes.com is sponsoring the Winter Wonderland Masquerade Gala with a $5,000 donation. The event, which will be held on Saturday, Dec. 2, at 6 p.m. at 55 Pearl St. in Worcester; benefits The WellStorm (TWS) in Southbridge and the For One Child Foundation in Auburn.

Cornerstone Bank provides $5,000 for Winter Wonderland Masquerade Gala

“Not only are we proud to support these two deserving organizations, but also to raise awareness for the valuable work they do,” said Cornerstone Bank CEO Todd Tallman. “We hope others will join by attending and sponsoring this fun and creative opportunity to ‘glam up’ for a great cause.”

TWS aims to bridge the gap of poverty and engage the community in building connections and support for individuals experiencing homelessness, mental health struggles and food insecurity. One way TWS does this is by supporting the community with the Bridge Fridge, which allows anyone in the community to access healthy food. The mission of the For One Child Foundation is to empower children by providing learning materials, educational technology and other classroom necessities to deprived schoolchildren, in order to holistically enhance their lives and allow for a better future.

The Winter Wonderland Masquerade Gala will include awards highlighting the work of each organization’s staff, volunteers and supporters, as well as raffles, silent auctions, food, drinks, music and dancing. Tickets are $75 each and can be purchased online at bit.ly/3S8biEg.
