Dudley appoints Gatzke Dudley begins work on as Interim Highway Superintendent

With the departure of the most recent Superintendent Jeffrey earlier this Murray year the town set up a screening committee led by Police Chief Marek Karlowicz to find a worthy candidate to fill the vacancy. However, at a Board of Selectmen meeting on Feb. 26 Karlowicz admitted they had yet to find someone to fill the position and the committee recommended promoting a temporary replacement in the meantime.

DUDLEY — The town of Dudley has begun work on a paving project that will improve accessibility at the town's portion of the Quinebaug

Rail Trail. The town received a MassTrails Grant of $500,000 in 2023 with the intention of making the trail more user friendly for the whole community. Dudley's proposal was one of 68 projects supported through the grant program, each receiving a share of $11.2 million in total funding. Now, as spring 2024 arrives, Dudley has announced it has begun to prepare the trail for paving later this

Jonathan Ruda said this project has been a long time coming and will bring significant improvements to one of the town's most cherished recreational treasures.

"Town leaders are committed to the betterment of our community. Having the lowest tax rate in Worcester County means our limited revenues must be directed to maintaining adequate public safety and meeting public school funding obligations. But the work doesn't stop there. We put in the time and effort to pursue other sources of funding, such as the MassTrails Grant, to enhance recreational experiences and the quality of life for all our residents," Ruda said. "The rail trail is one of the most heavily used of Dudley's recreational facilities. Paving the trail will open it up for children to ride their bikes, for wheelchair users to have a smooth surface and to improve first responder access to those who may require it while using the trail.'

The MassTrails Grant requires a $125,000 match on Dudley's part which Ruda said will be paid for with Chapter 90 Funds and utilizing Highway Department personnel paid by the town. Dudley's section of the rail trail will be part of a larger regional trail improvement extending from Webster Turn To RAIL TRAIL page A11

Quinsigamond Community College receives grant for emergency response device

WORCESTER — Quinsigamond Community College recently received a grant from the Healey-Driscoll Administration to purchase an Automatic External Defibrillator (AED) for one of the college's security patrol vehicles. QCC was one of 80 Massachusetts municipalities, public colleges and universities, and nonprofits chosen to receive part of $165,000 in grant funding for AEDs to be placed in emergency response vehicles.

We are close to completing the outfitting of all campus police and security vehicles with an AED. Seconds count in a cardiac situation, which is why we bring these vital life-saving devices on all critical calls," said QCC's Police Chief, Stephen

The funding will cover the cost of an AED assigned to one of the college's security vehicles. Currently 12 of the 13 police/security vehicles have AEDs, and the grant will ensure that all vehicles are now equipped with this life-sustaining device. Additionally, two AEDs are assigned to QCC's Police Academy, 21 in fixed locations that include at least one in each building on the West Boylston Street campus, three at the downtown campus and one at QCC's Southbridge location. The college's Athletic Center has four additional AEDs.

OCC's Campus Police Medical Advisor Stephen Rice noted that sudden cardiac arrest causes approximately 350,000 deaths each year in the United States. Cardiopulmonary Resuscitation (CPR) with the use of an automated external defibrillator (AED) can double or triple a sudden cardiac arrest patient's chance of survival. A person's chance of survival can decrease by 7%-10% for each minute that passes without restoring a normal heartbeat. If the AED determines that it is necessary, it delivers an electric shock through the chest to restore a normal heartbeat. The combination of AEDs around QCC in both fixed locations and patrol vehicles decreases the delay between sudden cardiac arrest and restoring a normal heartbeat. The $1,703.20 grant covers the cost of one AED package that includes one set of adult and pediatric pads, one battery pack, a carrying case and an initial warranty.

QCC Campus Police officers and security officers are all certified in Basic Life Support and First Responder. CPR and use of an AED are covered under Basic Life Support certification.

The college's Center for Workforce Development and Continuing Education offers CPR/AED certification classes to the public for a fee. QCC Campus Police also occasionally offers non-cer-tification training in recognizing sudden cardiac arrest, calling 911, Adult hands-only CPR and use of an

A total eclipse of... the sun

In just a few weeks, on April 8, those who travel to Texas, Oklahoma, Missouri, Arkansas, Illinois, Kentucky, Indiana, Ohio, Pennsylvania, New York, Vermont, New Hampshire, and Maine will have the extraordinary opportunity to witness a total solar eclipse. This celestial phenomenon, where the moon completely obscures the sun, casting a shadow on the Earth, is a moment of

For New Englanders, this upcoming eclipse holds particular importance, as the region has not experienced such a spectacle in over a century. The anticipation is palpable, with communities buzzing with excitement and preparations underway to ensure a memorable viewing experience for all.

The corona is a region of superheated gas extending millions of kilometers into space, but it's normally obscured by the sun's intense brightness. During a total solar eclipse, however, when the moon perfectly aligns with the sun, the corona's ethereal glow emerges, creating a spectacle unlike anything else in nature. For those fortunate enough to be in the path of totality, the sky darkens, stars emerge, and the sun's corona—the outermost layer of its atmospherebecomes visible.

Beyond the scientific implications, a total solar eclipse holds profound cultural and spiritual significance for many. Throughout history, these celestial events have been interpreted as omens, symbols of renewal, or moments of cosmic alignment.

It is essential to prioritize safety when viewing the eclipse. Directly observing the sun, even during an eclipse, can cause permanent damage to the eyes. Therefore, it is crucial to use certified eclipse glasses or other safe viewing methods to protect our vision.

The influx of traffic and people into small towns have caused local safety departments, and even state departments of transportation, to collaborate alongside local hospitals and businesses on how best to prepare.

Do you know that 1 out of 14 school age children in the USA have a parent who is incarcerated? One out of 14! That's unbelievable! My dear friend, Patrick Tutella, who has worked for many years with prisoners, shared a story about his outreach to school children who have parents incarcerated in prison.

During my first week in an urban middle school, I encountered many young people between the ages of eleven and fourteen who would look me square in the eyes, proceed to give me the middle finger and say the most horrid vulgarities imaginable. This was shocking, to say the least. These children are our lost sons and daughters.

Emilio, an eighth grader, is one such boy. He hangs out with other boys and girls who express animosity for life. Instead of staying in class where he can prepare for a promising future with a decent education, he roams the halls of the school all day long. When he is escorted back to class, he becomes disruptive and interferes with the lessons. Instead of treating school property with respect, he often kicks and punches lockers in the hallways.

He comes from a family with three siblings; a sister and brother who are older and one younger brother. His dad is in prison, and his mother works three jobs just to make ends meet. They are poor and unable to get ahead. It seems that part of Emilio's aberrant behavior can be described as his way of expressing his dismay over the absence of his parents; having lost his father to prison and his mother to work. He also seems to be lashing out against the social injustice he has experienced in his young life. Clearly, it is his way of saying, "Don't try to control me!"

Each time I attempted to let Emilio know that I care about him, his guard would go up and he would refuse all expressions of genuine solicitude. His tough exterior seems to be his means of protection, even from people who care about him.

When I focus on identifying the beauty in Emilio, I behold a lost son with a big, beautiful heart. I see the image of God; a genuine love that he tries to hide but can't, because it is stamped in his soul. It proceeds out of him naturallv. When he sees a student with a disability struggling, he reflexively jumps up to assist. When a 'little guy' needs help, he becomes a champion. Each time this beauty is exposed and pointed out to him with specific examples, he is surprised by the treasure hidden in his own heart. He stops running and contemplates his true identity - a beautiful son of God.

There is this divine identity imprinted in every single person, no matter who they are, what they've done, or what society has done to them. No abhorrent behavior, no bad choice or mistake, Anthony Bloom put it this way: "Unless we look at a person and see the beauty there is in this person, we can contribute nothing to him. One does not help a person by discerning what is wrong, what is ugly, what is distorted. Christ looked at everyone he met, at the prostitute or the thief, and saw the beauty hidden there. Perhaps it was distorted, perhaps damaged, but it was beauty none the less, and what he did was to call out this beauty.'

The Gospels offers a poignant story in The Prodigal Son of what can happen to someone when they give in to the deceptive and tempting lies of the world and get lost in life. The younger son in this story was an arrogant, self-assured young man. He didn't care at all about his family. He deeply offended his father when he asked for his inheritance before his father dies. He rejected his tradition, his heritage, and everything from where he came. And where did his cocky attitude lead him? Into what he thought was a worldly paradise - partying hard with friends, doing whatever he desired, living the so-called high life. It seemed that he had plenty of friends to hang out with. And as long as it was on his dime, he was the life of the party!

Yet where did this empty life really lead him? The superficial friends and the hard partying didn't last long. Soon, he was without money, without friends, and living among the pigs. He hit rock bottom in life. He was lost. He was desperate. He was a pathetic shadow of his past life.

Now some might say, "Well, he deserved it! He was such a scoundrel, disgracing his father and arrogantly rejecting his roots! He was a self-entitled, good-for-nothing who received what he deserved!"

Too quickly and easily the world rejects such prodigals. Society judges them failures. Too many people look down and despise those who make such mistakes. And even in the case of Emilio, the young man acting up in school because his father is in prison, we are too quick to reject people who are the product of other people's bad

Yet, as followers of Jesus Christ, we know that no matter what one has done. no matter how someone has failed, no matter what mistakes or poor choices one makes, no matter from where someone comes, nothing can take away the divine image deep within. Nothing can change the divine beauty that awaits to be awakened!

In this Parable, the younger son comes to his senses when he lives among the

Spring garden cleanup with pollinators in mind

Adjusting your spring cleanup schedule will help pollinators like this bee on an allium flower.

Spring cleaning, indoors and out, is a long-standing tradition for many households. But as we learn more about the important pollinators, insect-eating toads, songbirds, and beneficial insects, the more we realize we need to adjust some of our timing and methods.

It is safe to remove winter protection, such as mulch, when the temperatures begin hovering around freezing or your plants are beginning to sprout. Keep some frost protection handy just in case you need to protect any tender plants from a hard freeze.

Always check for frost heaving. When cold winters are interrupted by warm spells, bare soil may thaw and then $refreeze. \ This \ temperature \ fluctuation$ can cause the soil to shift and push spring flowering bulbs, coral bells, daylilies, and other perennials out of the soil. Just gently push them back in place or reset in the soil making sure the roots are covered.

Wait for temperatures to be consistently above 50 degrees to start cutting back perennials that were left standing. This allows any beneficial insects overwintering in the hollow stems time to emerge and find a summer home.

Cut some of the stems to the ground and some back to 18 to 24 inches on each native bees. As new growth emerges in spring, it will mask the older stems so your garden will look as beautiful as

If you can't wait, stack the stems out of sight until temperatures warm and pollinators have a chance to emerge. Then chop and compost the debris in mid-summer.

Tie or bungy cord tall ornamental grass plants before cutting them back to make cleanup easier. Then use a hand pruner for small jobs or a string trimmer or hedge clipper for larger plantings. Wait for new growth to fill in shorter grasses and simply comb your fingers through the plant removing the old brown leaves.

Leave fall leaves on the soil surrounding the plants to serve as mulch, suppressing weeds and conserving moisture. As the leaves break down, they add organic matter and nutrients to the soil. They also provide homes for beneficial insects and insulate the soil for plants, toads, and more.

Mark the location of perennials like butterfly weed and hardy hibiscus that emerge later than most plants in spring. This helps to avoid accidentally weeding them out. Leave a few stems standing, use plant markers, or next fall plant some spring flowering bulbs near the plants to serve as a colorful placeholder.

Consider leaving some sunny spots bare for ground-nesting bees. Avoid areas like entryways and gathering spots where people and the bees may collide. Although the bees are docile and not likely to sting, people are often fearful leading to their elimination. Setting aside some out-of-the-way spaces for ground-nesting bees allows everyone to coexist more happily.

This is also a good time to tidy up garden beds and lawn edges. You'll slow the invasion of weeds and grass into garden beds and lawn encroaching onto walks.

Remove weeds as they appear. The smaller weeds are easier to remove and eliminating them before they flower and set seed means fewer weeds you'll need to pull in the future.

Take advantage of the delay in spring cleaning by cleaning and sharpening your tools. When the temperatures are right, with tools in hand, you will be ready to get busy in the garden.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

The bill comes due

To the Editor: If you are a taxpayer in Massachusetts, you are in for yet another reminder of just how much it costs to live in our beloved Commonwealth. The General Court, that overwhelmingly Democratic group of lawmakers on Beacon Hill, is looking for ways to get deeper into your wallet. The current thinking is to allow the 351 municipalities to raise the meals tax, raise the lodging tax and — hold your checkbook tight for this one — raise the excise tax. Even the Worcester Telegram (March 2) realizes that this last one is the «Most Hated Tax." Who knew the Telegram was that attuned to its readers?

All of this is to help communities raise the revenue they need to bolster

Letter submission policy

Letters to the Editor must include the author's name, address, and a daytime phone number for purposes of verification in order to be considered for publication. Only the author's name and the town in which they reside will be published. Letters submitted without all of the required information will not be accepted.

"skinny budgets" and is part of Gov. Healy's (she who will give your community center to migrants) Municipal Empowerment Act. What this all means and what is not being said is that state revenues are below expectations and the administration is spending any and all surplus funds on people who arrived here yesterday. The end result is that Massachusetts' 351 cities and towns will see reduced state aid, leaving them no choice but to fleece their residents, otherwise known as taxpayers.

Yes, Virginia, filling all the rooms at Motel Sixes, Comfort Inns and local community centers, providing three meals per day at $64 per day, free medical and dental care and laundry services for the recent arrivals adds up. Costs are expected to approach a billion dollars and the bill is coming due. Sleepy Joe and President Jill have turned a deaf ear, and the worst is yet to come. Spring and summer are ideal for travel and the path is well worn. You can bet cell phones that taxpayers are probably paying for are buzzing with plans for the arrival of family and friends wanting that same free lunch and more. Hiliary Clinton once said it "takes a village." The village is on the way.

Therefore, Massachusetts taxpayer, it will be increasingly on you to keep your cities and towns afloat. The Commonwealth is redefining "Common" and is committed to giving away your wealth.

I once heard a political science professor say that "people got the government they deserved." As a state we have overwhelming elected the same party to positions of power. Now we have to pay for the consequences.

might remember hear-You ing the Governor talk about making Massachusetts more affordable. You thought she meant for you? Silly taxpayer. Now you know she actually meant affordable (more like free) for migrants.

Thank you,

RICHARD CLARK DUDLEY

Trump will bring peace

To the Editor:

There are many reasons why I will be voting for President Trump in November, but the main reason is peace! Not just in Ukraine, Israel and countries in the Middle East, but we need peace in America. Thanks to the policies of the radical Democrats, they have created such a great division in our country! Trump is the only candidate who has said when he's elected, he will have peace in 24 hours! Bumbling Biden never discusses peace; in fact, he keeps supplying our enemy, Iran, with billions of dollars so they in turn can fund the Houthis, Hezbollah and Hamas! Biden touts himself as a wartime President and he has no problem leading America into World War III which would be nuclear. Voters think of your children, grandchildren and families, you don't want them growing up in a war torn America! In the upcoming months, watch and listen to the candidates and see who is the peacemaker! You will then be voting for Trump.

The trout trucks are rolling

Spring trout fishing has already begun in the valley, and it is just the start, as Mass. Fish & Wildlife trout stocking trucks are already rolling!

This week's two pictures show Amelia Sinopoli with an impressive rainbow trout, and her first time fishing partner Jake Boudreau two weeks ago, while attending a birthday party for Logan Henchey. The pair were fishing from a small boat dock using worms as bait when suddenly Amelia yelled out to her mom that she had a big fish on! Mom quickly rushed over to assist her as the large rainbow was causing a lot of excitement for all in attendance. The fish was finally lifted onto the dock where pictures were taken of the happy angler and her prize fish! The trout was quickly released.

A while back, this writer received a number of fishing lures from Donald Neilsen of Warren! They were made by Donald, and the material that he used to make the lures were quite unusual. I got to use some of the spinning lures last year, and caught numerous trout with them. I apologize for not getting back to him sooner to thank him for the lures. They were quite neat. Some were made out of beer caps! I have decided to donate the remaining lures to young anglers at the next kids fishing derby at Uxbridge Rod & Gun and Whitinsville Fish & Game Club. Thanks again, Don!

Blooming Bulbs Nothing adds color and beauty to a garden for less effort than bulbs. Even if you didn't have the foresight to plant spring bulbs last fall, you can still enjoy summer blooms. паеану, vou should wait until the danger of spring frosts has passed before planting bulbs. If you think the threat of frost is over, think again. Garden experts give May 30 as the first safe planting date of the season.

Some summer flowering bulbs that have a history of success include Dahlias, Gladiolus, Cannas, Caladiums, and Daylilies. Just keep in mind in our zone you may have to dig up the bulbs and store for the winter for springtime planting next year.

To test whether soil is ready to work, squeeze some in your hand, then poke at the clump. If the clump breaks up easily into small crumbs, the soil is dry enough to till.

Getting a head start on bulb planting by starting them indoors increases your odds of success. Use deep pots and replant them outside once the ground has thawed.

Planning where you want to create "splashes" of color in the garden also includes how dramatic a statement you want your plot to make. Large clumps of flowers demand attention and this method of planting has long been a favorite of gardeners.

Another popular planting pattern is to "drift" flower varieties, which has been compared to painting the garden with a brush of color. Drifts can encompass waves of complementing bulb varieties bordering each other, or each flower drift can stand on its own, perhaps creeping across an incline or making its way along a stone wall.

To ensure successful drifts, use a generous sprinkling of densely planted bulbs. Or, simply toss or scatter bulbs and plant them where they land for a natural meadow effect.

Perhaps the best rule of thumb for planting bulbs is the most obvious. Plant bulbs where you want to see color. Attractive uses include planting bulbs to border a perennial garden, to fill in a rock garden and as a decorative accent circling a mailbox post or light pole.

Garden experts recommend planting bulbs in crumbly soil with proper drainage, although hardy bulbs often thrive in less than satisfactory soil. Soil that has not been turned over in a while will benefit from loosening it up with a shovel. Your hole should be dug a few inches below where the bulb should sit to allow for fertilizer.

Bulbs should be planted pointed side up. Flat tubers should be planted sideways for best results. Avoid any air pockets in hole which can inhibit growth.

Here are more tips and shortcuts are geared toward cutting time and effort in the garden.

*Plants that grow best in alkaline soil such as geraniums and hydrangea will thank you with better blooms if you water them with a mild mixture of baking soda and water occasionally.

*The first thing to check if your azalea leaves are looking yellow is the soil pH. Azaleas need a soil on the acid side. Alkalinity locks up iron needed for green color.

*Adding Epsom Salt to plants has been reported to enhance the color of blossoms and leaves, promote new flowers and fruit, improve the root system and improve the strength of stems. For roses: Sprinkle one teaspoon of Epsom Salts per foot of plant height and spread evenly around the base for better blossoms and deeper greening. Add 1/2 cup sprinkled around the base and then scratched in, for strong production of new flowering canes and healthy new basal cane growth.

*Did you know most fragrant flowers are lightly colored or white? If you want to add a scent to your garden, be generous with white or pastel blooms.

Telepathy is reading others'

Telepathy is the ability to communicate thoughts directly from one mind to another without the use of words, gestures, or any conventional forms of interaction. The idea of telepathy has idea of telepathy has intrigued humanity for centuries. Its origins are steeped in ancient lore and psychic traditions, often portrayed as a mystical bridge connecting human consciousness.

An example of telepathy in modern fiction can be seen in the character of Professor Charles Xavier, also known as Professor X, from the "X-Men" series. With his telepathic powers, Professor X can not only read minds but also project his thoughts onto others.

But does such a profound ability exist outside the realms of fiction? The question leads us to people like Uri Geller, a performer who claimed to possess psychic abilities, including mind reading. Geller's demonstrations of spoon bending and telepathy captivated audiences worldwide, suggesting a glimmer of reality to the powers depicted in tales and comics.

Much skepticism surrounds Geller's claims, with critics pointing to sleight of hand and psychological tricks rather than genuine psychic phenomena.

While the allure

While the allure of telepathy remains potent in our collective imagination, the jury is still out on whether a human being has truly being has truly harnessed this extraordinary ability.

Recent advances in intelligence artificial and neuroscience have led to the development of AI systems capable of decoding human brain waves into speech. This groundbreaking technology bridges the gap between thought and communication, allowing for telepathy mediated by machines. While I'm sure there are benefits to this technology, it's also terrifying.

Terrence McKenna was an ethnobotanist and author known for his controversial theories on psychedelics, consciousness, and culture.

If you've ever listened to one of his lectures, you'd find that he had a different definition of telepathy than the one portrayed in popular media.

In one lecture, he states, "If you're like me, you think telepathy is hearing other people's thoughts. It isn't that; it's seeing what other people mean."

Consider when a friend texted you, "We need to talk." The immediate sense of dread, the assumption of an impending argument, only to discover they simply wanted advice. The text, devoid of tone and context, became a breeding ground for misunderstanding, showcasing a moment where telepathic clarity — understanding the true intent behind the words — could have spared you the stress.

Or picture this: two travelers, one speaking only Italian and the other only Japanese, trying to find their way in a crowded international airport. Their attempts to communicate through gestures and broken English spiral into confusion. Misinterpreting each other's actions, they become increasingly frustrated and offended, convinced the other is being rude. The situation escalates, as neither can grasp the true intention behind the other's gestures.

A bystander who happens to speak both languages steps in to mediate. The translator breaks down the language barrier and quickly resolves the misunderstanding. The tension dissolves into laughter and gratitude as they finally understand what each other means.

Misunderstandings involve more than language differences. Even when we speak the same language, we often end up confused and in conflict because of misinterpreting what's meant by what's said.

If we could truly understand the intentions and emotions behind other's words and actions, many misunderstandings that lead to conflict could be avoided.

This is easier said than done, but what if?

What if we just took a breath and tried to understand rather than reacting with a knee-jerk reaction and getting upset? Could we reduce social divisions, understand that we are all human, and accept that we are all different?

The world is filled with miscommunication; what if we could become a more collaborative and innovative planet by truly looking past what is said and trying to understand what is meant.

Relationships could flourish free from the constraints of misinterpretation, with partners, friends, and family members trying to understand rather than assuming that they know.

Telepathy, as defined by the late Terrence McKenna, could be the key to unlocking a new era of human understanding and cooperation.

Is this possible? I don't know, but I suppose if we stopped jumping to conclusions and practiced more patience, we might be headed in the right direction.

swine and remembers the home from where he came. He remembers his father and the roots of his family. In his repentance, his turning away from his poor choices and his turning back toward his true home, he humbly acknowledges his failures, his mistakes, and his arrogance. He says, "I'm no longer worthy to be called a son. Simply accept me back as a slave." This extreme humility, which is rooted in his deep and divine inner beauty, frees him from his past and opens up a new future, a promising and new start.

When the son returns back to his Father's house, there is no recrimination or reproach. The father doesn't scold the son for his immature behavior. He doesn't seek revenge for his offensive actions. There's no punishment to pay for his sins. Instead, the Father sees the beauty deep within and names his son's beauty. "I know who you truly are" the Father says to his wayward son. "You are my child, my treasure. Nothing you have done in the past can change your true identity as a beloved and cherished son (or daughter) of God, someone with a beautiful soul deep within?"

I could focus on many different aspects from about the story of The Prodigal Son - on the unconditional love of the Father, on the repentance and eventual humility of the younger Son, on the jealously and lostness of the older son. Yet for today, I highlight the beauty that is within every person – sometimes a beauty hidden deep within hardened exterior, a beauty hidden deep with a broken and confused soul. Whenever we encounter someone like Emilio, who comes from a dysfunctional family that has impacted his life in a negative way, or someone like the prodigal son, who comes from a healthy family but makes some poor choices, whatever the reasons, let us look beyond the exterior brokenness of any individual and see within the hidden divine beauty. Let us strive to treat everyone we meet with the respect, kindness, dignity, and love they deserve as a unique child of God.

SOUTHBRIDGE -On Saturday, March 9, the Quinebuag Masonic Community Outreach Program was in full swing at Big Bunny Supermarket in Southbridge. This first event was a Food Drive to collect food donations for the food share pantry, located at 79 Elm St in Southbridge. Volunteers from the Quinebuag Masonic Lodge in Southbridge weathered the cool windy morning for five hours to collect food donations. The Chef Boyardee ravioli, and so many boxes of pasta and canned goods items. By the time the Quinebaug Masonic Lodge members put all these single items in paper bags along with the paper bags already full of what the shoppers have given us, we were able to collect and donate 100 bags of groceries to the food share two pick-up trucks full of food. We also collected $210 dollars in cash donations thanks to the generosity of the Big Bunny shoppers. The lodge volunteers unanimously decided to take the $210 and went back into the supermarket and purchased a lot more groceries for the Southbridge food share pantry. A special thank you to Big Bunny Assistant Manager Coralee Safin for the generous donation of two huge 20-pound bags of rice which will feed many families.

William Bouvier one of the volunteers of the Southbridge food share was all smiles and very, very happy to see two pickup trucks full of grocery bags that was collected from the food drive. Mr. Bouvier mentioned to our volunteers that this is, as far as he knows, one of the largest single food donations that the food share has ever received. This food will feed a lot of families in the community and in one month they estimate to feed about 80-90 families The Food Share was very grateful to the Quinebaug Masonic Lodge for picking the Southbridge food share as part of their Community Outreach Program for this year. Auburn descendants of Revolutionary War patriots

BY HELEN POIRIER

AUBURN — The month of March commemorates Women's History and what better way to do this with the 250th anniversary of the Revolutionary War looming on the horizon, than to look at the women in Auburn who come from Revolutionary War patriots. Mary Deborah (Shute) Stone is one of those women. She was born in Hingham in 1854 to Charles and Eliza J. (Wellman). Her mother coming from Lyman, York Maine. Her father was a private in the Civil War. Mary's siblings were Elizabeth M. who married William Darling, Abbie B., lastly, William A. who married Grace Rice June 20, 1872.

Mary went on to graduate from the Worcester Normal and Training School, in June 1872. She was qualified to teach reading, spelling, writing, drawing, grammar, geography and arithmetic, the Auburn Historical Museum has her diploma. In August 1872, she married William Stone, a farmer in town. Thus she became Mary D. Stone. Mary and William had three boys, Arthur born September 26, 1881 and married Mildred Morrison, Fredrick Nathaniel who was born Oct. 20, 1875 and married Shirley Carr, Everett William born August 1886 and married a Boyce. Mary served one term on the Auburn School Committee from 1895-

Her Great Grandfather was Dr. Daniel Shute (1756-1829) who served with Maj. Gen. Benjamin Lincoln as a physician or surgeon. According to the Massachusetts Soldiers and Sailors who served in the Revolutionary War: Shute, Daniel. Surgeon's Mate in hospital department; Continental Army pay accounts for service from July 16, 1778, to Dec. 31, 1780; also, Surgeon, (Col. Henry Jackson's (4tli) regt.; commissioned April 14, 1782; also, list of officers accompanying a recommendation addressed to Gov. Hancock, dated Fair Forest, near West Point, April 20, 1782, signed by N. Rice, Major Commandant, 4th Mass. regt., asking that certain officers be commissioned to fill vacancies in said regiment; said Shute, Mate in general hospital, to be promoted to Surgeon.

Col Jacksons regiment saw action at Bunker Hill, New York Campaign, Battles of Trenton, Saratoga, Princeton, Monmouth and Battle of Rhode Island. Dr. Shute's assignment to West Point was after the Benedict Arnold inci-

With this in her ancestry, Mary her sisters Abbie and Elizabeth Darling were able to join the National Society Daughters of the American Revolution and were part of the founding members of the General Ebenezer Learned DAR Chapter of Oxford which is still going strong today. Other Auburn members who joined in 1907 were; Mrs. Eleanor Bigelow, Miss Elizabeth Hewett, and Mrs. Evelyn E. Perry. On June 17, 1907 the first meeting of the chapter was held in Oxford at Mrs. Clara A. Fuller's home. According to a newspaper account of that meeting the battle of Bunker Hill was observed with a reading description of the battle by Mrs. Stone. The Nov. 11 meeting was held at the Stone Brook Farm home of Mary Stone on Elm Street.

The Mary D. Stone School was finished in 1930 and her sons', William, Arthur, Everett and Frederick established a trust fund of $2,000 in her name. The interest from the trust to be used to aid education at the school.

willing to take on this role. We need someone to be in charge," added Selectman John Marsi.

As for the search for a new permanent Superintendent, Town Administrator Jonathan Ruda admitted that the town may need to scale back the expectations of the job in order to attract candidates.

"Effective March 1, we're going to pull the job notice down and take a look at the job description itself because it was modified over the past few years with Jeff stepping up to assume various roles and we may have gotten a little ahead of ourselves in terms of what it pays versus those roles that he voluntarily assumed,' said Ruda. "We'd like to take another look at a job description, take a look at the market in the area, and bring it back to the selectmen after we've made some edits to it.'

In the meantime, the Board of Selectmen feel the department is in good hands and expressed confidence that Gatzke will be able to lead the department effectively for the time being.

Second period special teams help Tewksbury defeat Rockets in State Tournament Elite 8

Rams reach Round of 16, lose to top-seeded Malden Catholic

Lucas Miglionico and the Shepherd Hill boys' varsity basketball team advanced to the Round of 16 inside the Division 2 State Tournament. There, the 16th ranked Rams played at No. 1 Malden Catholic on Tuesday, March 5. The Hill lost the game, 59-40, to finish with a record of 16-6, while Malden Catholic advanced to the Final Four after topping No. 8 Holyoke in the Elite 8, 60-43.

WOBURN — When taking on the top seed-Tewksbury boys' varsity ice hockey team in the Elite 8 round of the Division 2 State Tournament, Auburn head coach Glen Bombard made one thing clear.

"A team like that, they're skilled and you can't give them power plays. Point blank. You just can't do it," said Bombard.

The ninth ranked Rockets — a co-op with student-athletes also from Tantasqua, Shepherd Hill and Millbury — allowed a pair of second period power play goals and then the Redmen also scored a shorthanded strike, turning a 3-2 advantage after one period into a 6-2 lead through two.

"We screwed up in the second period," said Bombard, as Auburn eventually lost, 7-2, at the O'Brien Ice Rink on Wednesday, March 6. "That's pretty much what it came down to."

With the game at 3-2 early in the second, the Rockets were awarded a power play. But Auburn took a penalty of their own, and then another a minute later. Now skating five-on-three, Tewksbury took advantage. Tyler Bourgea made a pass over to Matthew Cooke, who then slapped a pass near the right post to Jeremy Insogna, who tapped the puck into the net. The Redmen made it a 5-2 game a minute later with Bourgea scoring, and Insogna and Tyler Barnes grabbing the assists.

With the clock ticking toward the end of the second period, the Rockets went on another power play. But it was Tewksbury who found the net, Bourgeau taking a pass from Barnes and beating Auburn goalie Ethan LaPlante (21

"We gave up the five-onthree and then the shorthanded, and that kind of put the nail in the coffin,' said Bombard.

The Redmen put the finishing touches on their victory with another power play goal — they were three-for-three with the man-advantage midway through the third period. There, Insogna scored with Cooke and Jake Cunha assisting.

"I thought we played a great third period. We just didn't put anything into the net," Bombard said of the final frame of his team's season.

The first period was a back-and-forth affair. Tewksbury took 1-0 and 2-1 leads (Jason Shreenan and Bourgea scoring), only for Auburn to battle back to twice tie the score. Nathan Dono beat Redmen goalie David Karlberg (26 saves) twice for both of the Rockets' goals, with Austin Dono and Ethan McDermott assisting on the first, and the second coming unassisted.

Cooke scored later in the first for Tewksbury to take a 3-2 lead into the first intermission, but Bombard wasn't concerned at that point in

"I felt pretty confident going into the second period," said Bombard.

But the Redmen took advantage of their opportunities and moved to the tournament's Final Four.

"We just made mistakes that we haven't made in the last nine games, and those mistakes came back to haunt us," said Bombard.

Tewksbury (21-3) then defeated No. 4 Woburn, 6-4, to advance to the State Final, while the Rockets wound up with a record of 17-6.

"We have a ton of these guys returning next year, so we'll see what happens," said Bombard. "I'm extremely proud. They're awesome kids. We'll keep building.'
