Dudley officials decide FY2027 financial plan following special election

DUDLEY — Following the Sept. 29 Special Election, the Town of Dudley is moving forward with a financial plan designed to address immediate needs, stabilize critical operations where possible, and strengthen financial oversight while the Town manages unavoidable service-level reductions.

Voters rejected the proposed $717,630 operating override for the Police, Fire and Highway departments. As a result, the Town must operate within its existing recurring revenues, current appropriations and available one-time resources.

The Board of Selectmen Thursday approved the financial package going before voters at the Special Town Meeting set for 7 p.m. Oct. 19 in the Connie Vanco-Galli Auditorium at Shepherd Hill Regional High School, 68 Dudley-Oxford

Local man becomes licensed funeral director

Lee Gendron

WEBSTER — Sitkowski, Malboeuf & Hickey Funeral Home and Scanlon Funeral Service are proud to announce that Lee A. Gendron, a recent cum laude graduate of Cape Cod Community College, has earned his Associate's degree in funeral service, and has passed the state examinations to become a licensed funeral director in Massachusetts.

Gendron looks forward to becoming a productive member of our community. He is a native of Quinebaug, Conn., a son of Teresa E. "Tess" (Kowalewski) Gendron and the late James P. Gendron. He graduated with honors from Tourtellotte Memorial High School in 2015 and was a member of the National Honor Society.

He earned his Bachelor's degree in communications from Eastern State CT University in Willimantic, Conn. in 2018 and was a member of the Lambda Pi Eta Honor Society.

Gendron is an Eagle Scout, and was active for many years in Boy Scout Troop 66 in Thompson. Previously he served as an altar boy at the former St. Hedwig Parish in Southbridge and is a current member of Saint Stephen's Church in Quinebaug, Conn. He is also a Second-Degree Black Belt in Tang Soo Do.

Shepherd Hill celebrates academic excellence at 38th Annual First Honors Dinner

DUDLEY — On Wednesday, Sept. 23, Shepherd Hill Regional High School (SHRHS) hosted its 38th Annual First Honors Dinner, honoring exceptional students who achieved first honors distinction for four consecutive academic terms.

To mark the occasion, the high school staff transformed the school cafeteria into a fine dining venue complete with candlelight, cloth tablecloths, and seasonal fall decorations. Demonstrating their dedication to student achievement, SHRHS staff members personally prepared and served a gourmet meal to the honored guests.

The evening traditionally features guest speakers from the school's distinguished alumni network, who share inspirational words about their professional journeys and expertise since graduating from Shepherd Hill. This year, the honored speaker was 1992 graduate, Kimberly Snow. Snow is the Executive Creative Director at Sundogs, a creative intelligence start-up that's using data and tech in service of creative excellence. Before that she spent 11 years at Google as a Global Creative Director, acting as collaborator and consultant to the world's top agencies and brands. She previously worked at Digitas in Boston and New York.

The enduring tradition of First Honors Dinner is made possible through the continued commitment of the Quo Vadis Club, whose generous financial support allows SHRHS to celebrate its highest-achieving students year after year. Ahead of this year's celebration, Quo Vadis Club Secretary Steven Szlyk presented Principal Elwell with a generous donation of $6,000 to help fund the event.

"We are extraordinarily proud of our students' unwavering dedication to academic excellence," said Principal Darren Elwell. "This event is a labor of love for our faculty and staff, and we are deeply grateful to the Quo Vadis Club for their steadfast generosity in keeping this special tradition alive for 38 years."

Webster residents to participate in 38th Annual Jimmy Fund Walk for Dana-Farber Presented by Hyundai WEBSTER — Seven residents from Webster will participate in the 2026 Jimmy Fund Walk for Dana-Farber presented by Hyundai on Sunday, Oct. 4.

Dawn Brody, Karen Alberta, and Michael Shaw, along with several other Webster residents and thousands of other walkers, will participate in the annual event that will unite the community to raise funds to support all forms of adult and pediatric care and research at Dana-Farber Cancer Institute. Last year marked a historic milestone, with the Walk raising more than $11.2 million for Dana-Farber Cancer Institute and setting the stage for an even greater impact in 2026.

“Each year, the Walk brings our community together in a powerful way, with people of all ages supporting Dana-Farber’s groundbreaking research and patient care,” said Jessica Abbott, assistant vice president of the Jimmy Fund. “For more than three decades, this event has been a celebration of hope, where every step helps fuel breakthroughs, support patients, and inspire progress.”

Together Against Cancer

The Jimmy Fund Walk for Dana-Farber takes place along the famed Boston Marathon® course. Participants have the flexibility to choose from four distance options ranging from a 5K to a full marathon. Walkers can also participate virtually at a time and location that works for them.

Whatever route participants choose, they will be supported by hundreds of volunteers and treated to refueling stations with refreshments throughout the course. Walkers will be motivated by posters of Heroes, the Walk’s adult and pediatric patient partners, that appear along the course as inspiration. All routes will conclude at the Jimmy Fund Walk for Dana-Farber Finish Line sponsored by Schneider Electric at Boston Common, by the corner of Charles and Beacon Street. Finish line activities will include a celebration with food, entertainment, and more.

To register for the Walk or to support a walker, visit JimmyFund.org/Walk or call 866-531-9255. Registrants can enter the promo code NEWS for $5 off the registration fee. All registered walkers will receive a bib, medal, and a Walk T-shirt. You can also sign up to volunteer on Walk Day.

Join the fun at Seventh Annual Scarecrows on the Common event

OXFORD — Fall is in the air, and it’s time once again for one of Oxford’s favorite autumn traditions! The Oxford Community Center is delighted to host the Seventh Annual Scarecrows on the Common on Saturday, Oct. 24 from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. In the event of extremely inclement weather, the rain date will be Sunday, Oct. 25.

Community members of all ages are invited to help transform the Town Common into a festive fall display by creating and entering a homemade scarecrow. Whether you are a resident, school group, town department, community organization, or local business, this is your chance to showcase your creativity and community spirit. Participants will have the opportunity to compete for prizes in categories such as Most Creative, Best Town Spirit, and Funniest Scarecrow.

In addition to the scarecrow contest, visitors can enjoy a lively day filled with fun and entertainment, including a vendor fair, live performances by DW and The Shakemakers, appearances by the beloved Sutton Dancing Witches, and exciting children’s games hosted by Oxford Community Center staff.

Scarecrow entry forms will be available beginning Oct. 1 at the Oxford Community Center, 4 Maple Road, and at Oxford Town Hall. Registration and additional event details can also be found online at oxfordma.myrec.com.

Bring your imagination, celebrate the season, and join your neighbors for a memorable day of family-friendly fall fun. We look forward to seeing the Town Common filled with creativity, laughter, and community spirit!

Charlton Library Friends hold Trivia Night

CHARLTON — The non-profit Friends of Charlton Public Library will hold a Trivia Night on Thursday, Oct. 15 at the Charlton Beagle Club, 103 Bond Rd. in Charlton. The event will take place from 6 to 8 p.m.

The Friends invite the general public to test their knowledge and challenge their friends as they attempt to answer a variety of questions provided by Wise Guys Trivia. In addition, attendees will have an opportunity to enter a raffle to win prizes such as gift cards to a variety of local businesses, including grocery stores, book and coffee shops, entertainment venues, photography and fitness studios, restaurants, and more. Other prizes include seasonal gift baskets. A cash prize will be awarded to the overall winner.

The Friends extend sincere thanks to Savers Bank our most generous sponsor for their support. We also thank Better Life With Yoga, Blush Photography, Volume Hair Studio of Southbridge, Alternatives For Health, Booklover’s Gourmet, Entertainment Luxury Cinema, Golden Nails, Sturbridge Coffee Roasters, Ted’s Package Store, Worcester WooSox, and Tree House Brewery for their donations.

Tickets are $10 per participant and can be purchased at the Charlton Public Library circulation desk or at the door the evening of the event. All proceeds enable the Friends to support the mission of the Charlton Public Library as it brings enrichment, musical, and educational programs, and more to the community-at-large. The Friends of Charlton Public Library appreciate your ongoing support.

Francis N “Skip” Sczepanski 1914-2005 Floral Collection on exhibit at Gladys E. Kelly Public Library

Francis “Skip” Sczepanski

WEBSTER — Francis N. “Skip” Sczepanski expressed his love of the natural world and beauty of flowers, not only in the loving care and the enjoyment of tending his home garden, but also in creating a series of floral paintings. He had a passion to capture the beauty of flowers before they faded. This persistent passion is revealed in many oil paintings that include anniversary floral arrangements, landscapes, as well as fresh cut flowers from his own garden.

“Skip’s” paintings span the 1950s through the late ‘90s. This exhibit will make for a beautiful backdrop to the Friends of the Library’s annual fundraiser, Bites, Books, and Blooms. “Skip” Sczepanski’s work will be on display in the Community Room at the Gladys E. Kelly Public Library through Oct. 13.

OXFORD — St. Roch Church will welcome bargain hunters and treasure seekers to its annual yard sale Saturday, Oct. 17, from 8 a.m. to 2 p.m. at the church, 334 Main St.

The annual sale will offer shoppers an opportunity to browse donated items while supporting the St. Roch community. Organizers are inviting residents to stop by throughout the day to search for bargains and unexpected finds.

Community members can also help make the sale a success by donating items ahead of the event. Donations will be accepted at the Saint Ann Center, located at St. Roch Church, during three scheduled Saturday drop-off periods.

Donations may be brought to the center Saturday, Sept. 26; Saturday, Oct. 3; and Saturday, Oct. 10. Drop-off hours on each date will be from 9 a.m. to noon.

The church is encouraging residents who may be cleaning out closets, basements, attics or other areas of their homes this fall to consider contributing suitable items to the sale rather than discarding them.

The yard sale is scheduled for Saturday, Oct. 17, from 8 a.m. to 2 p.m. In the event of rain, the sale will be postponed to Saturday, Oct. 24, during the same hours.

St. Roch Church is located at 334 Main St. in Oxford.

Now come the tough decisions

The voters of Dudley made their decision Sept. 29. Now comes the more difficult part. The rejection of a $717,630 operating override for the Police, Fire and Highway departments means town government must live within the financial boundaries voters established. That does not make the needs behind the override disappear. It means town officials must determine how to address the most pressing of those needs without the recurring revenue they had sought. The financial package headed to the Oct. 19 Special Town Meeting appears to recognize that distinction.

Dudley recently had $678,672 in state-certified free cash available. The temptation could have been to use much of that money to temporarily restore what the override would have funded. Instead, the proposal directs $219,000 in one-time support to police, fire and highway while putting significant amounts into reserves and paying other necessary expenses. That is an important distinction because free cash and an operating override are fundamentally different things.

An override would have provided recurring revenue. Free cash is one-time money. Using temporary revenue to support permanent operating expenses can postpone difficult decisions, but it does not solve the underlying problem. Eventually, the money runs out while the expenses remain.

The proposal instead calls for $130,000 to go into the Finance, Appropriation and Advisory Reserve Fund, $80,000 into the Capital Improvement Account and $131,172 into general stabilization. Other money would address legal expenses, Senior Center heating repairs, information technology, auditing and assessing work.

Residents attending the Special Town Meeting should examine those individual expenditures carefully. That is what Town Meeting is for. But maintaining reserves while facing financial uncertainty is not wasteful. It is part of responsible municipal budgeting. A town without sufficient reserves has fewer choices when an emergency arrives.

The more difficult part of Dudley’s situation can be seen in the operational changes that are already taking shape. Town Hall will close to the public two days each week. Administrative positions have been eliminated. Vacant positions will require Board of Selectmen approval before being advertised. Department heads must defer discretionary spending and provide monthly reports on budgets and service levels. The town will explore consolidation, automation, shared services and other ways of reducing recurring expenses. Those changes demonstrate something residents should understand clearly: Rejecting an override does not eliminate its underlying consequences.

There is nothing unreasonable about taxpayers deciding they cannot absorb another permanent increase in their property tax bills. Household budgets have limits, too. Voters were asked a question and answered it. But there is also no responsible way for town government to pretend that the same level of municipal service can always be maintained with fewer resources. That is why the new monthly reporting requirement may prove especially valuable. If service reductions are necessary, residents deserve to see where they are occurring and why. If savings materialize through vacancies, insurance changes or lower expenses, residents should see that as well.

Transparency becomes particularly important when money is tight. Difficult choices are easier to understand when the public can follow the numbers rather than encounter reductions only after services disappear.

Dudley now has an opportunity to begin its FY2028 planning earlier and ask some fundamental questions about how town government operates. Some services may be delivered differently. Technology may reduce certain costs. Shared services may make sense in some departments. Other positions or services may prove difficult to reduce without consequences residents consider unacceptable. There will be no single solution.

The Sept. 29 vote settled the override question. It did not settle Dudley’s financial challenges. The next phase requires discipline from town officials, scrutiny from residents and candor from everyone involved. One-time money can provide breathing room, but it cannot substitute indefinitely for recurring revenue.

The most responsible course now is to use that breathing room wisely, protect Dudley’s capacity to respond to emergencies and make the coming decisions openly, before circumstances make those decisions for the town.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR
An expression of gratitude

To the Editor:
I would like to thank Dudley Assistant Town Administrator Olivia Antonson for taking it upon herself to arrange an alternate site on three occasions when the Dudley Senior Center was unavailable.
My thanks also goes out to Dudley Library Director Nicole Messier and her staff for once again hosting the Dudley Senior 13 Card Pitch League in the Fels Community Room on those three occasions. They displayed excellent cooperation and hospitality. It allowed me to continue my weekly card playing without any interruption.

Vote life!

To the Editor:
With all the political advertising overtaking our televisions, it is time to reflect on whom we want to lead the state of Massachusetts.
Has our current Governor, Maura Healey, earned the right to be our governor for another four years?
Currently, Massachusetts is considered a sanctuary state. Did we, the citizens, ever vote for this designation? Why did the governor not support federal immigration agents from removing illegal immigrants with deportation orders, as well as dangerous illegal immigrants from our state? Past practice was that state agencies cooperated with federal immigration agents and allowed them to remove these individuals before releasing them back into society. If that course of action was followed, we would not be demonizing ICE agents, who are doing their job, enforcing the law.
Why did our Governor not support the lives of the unborn by signing into law the egregious Abortion Up Until Birth Bill? With the stroke of a pen, she signed a death sentence for these defenseless babies whose voices she silenced, and in whose deaths, in my opinion, she is complicit. This act was not to be celebrated as was apparent after the signing. Pregnancy is not a health issue. It is a gift from God given to women to continue the chain of human life.

In the words of the Psalmist:
... You formed my inmost being;
you knit me in my mother’s womb.
I praise you, so wonderfully you made me;
wonderful are your works.
My very self you knew;
my bones were not hidden from you.
When I was being made in secret, fashioned as in the depths of the earth (WOMB).
Your eyes foresaw my actions;
In your book all are written down;
My days were shaped, before one came to be. (Ps.139:13-16)

As a Catholic, our Governor must have forgotten that all life is sacred from womb to tomb. If you value human life, your choice for governor is clear, and it is not Maura Healey!

No way to treat a friend

To the Editor:
Many of us know that a true friend is a true treasure, and generally irreplaceable. Maintaining a true friendship sometimes requires compromise, commitment, patience, trust, alliance, and the test of time. To be a true friend, one must commit to being reliable and trust worthy.
The friendship with the United States of America and the sovereign country of Canada has exemplified all those mutual efforts over many decades. However, the US is currently demonstrating its lack of integrity and trustworthiness through our elected leaders.
Canada has been indiscriminately attacked by the US government leadership for reasons that appear to have no basis in fact. Canada produces many quality products that American customers want and buy. Canadians chose to buy many products that America is good at. Free trade is memorialized in formal agreements the US has with Canada and Mexico and updated since the 1990’s. These mutual agreements are effective free trade agreements in place, operative words being free trade. Trashing those agreements and attempting to use the market to leverage more concessions demonstrates how unreliable and not trust worthy the US has become under the current regime.

Destroying centuries long relationships out of personal fragility and hubris is not in the best interest of America. I come from a border state and very well aware of the importance of the trading relationship with Canada with regard to our economy, security and favorable friendships. The voters in America need to take all necessary steps to shut down the attacks and damage being caused by Washington to our friends to the north and we need to take all possible steps to restore stability, harmony and good will.
When politicians do not do what is best for the country, but instead act in a self-serving way, they must be fired. Nov. 3 is the next time to call the leadership to account. Please reflect on the facts of current events and make plans to vote. We are in this together.

If only Nichols committed itself to making a difference in its community

To the Editor:
If you read the promotional material published by Nichols College, the place sounds idyllic.
The college raves about its scenic hilltop location in Dudley Center, its golf course, its sparkling residential halls, and the conference center that is often available for hire. It boasts about the support it receives from the Dudley community, in particular, the town’s Police Department, which ensures the safety and comfort of its 1,500 students. That also includes all the other municipal services - those same services afforded residents who actually pay property taxes.
And just how does Nichols reciprocate? The sad truth is that it doesn’t. In a sense Nichols doesn’t even give the town the time of day, never mind contribute financially.
Case in point: For years, Dudley Selectmen have tried to convince Nichols — a tax-exempt not-for-profit institution — to make payments in lieu of taxes, just as many other civic-minded educational institutions do, recognizing the important services provided free of charge by their municipalities and, no less, a token of gratitude for their generosity.
Selectmen have characterized the college’s response as ranging from “stringing us along” to no response at all. After Nichols repeatedly ignored invitations to discuss a Payment in Lieu of Taxes (PILOT) Program, last January, selectmen sent Nichols a letter suggesting the college pay $108,222.25 in lieu of a tax bill that would have been four times that amount if Nichols were not exempt. Nichols never even gave selectmen the courtesy of a reply. This from an institution that, according to 2025 tax filings published by ProPublica’s Non-profit Explorer, reported $64.8 million in revenues and $109 million in total assets against $68.3 million in expenses and $22.6 million in other liabilities.
And it is not only about that bucolic campus along Dudley Center Road. According to the Dudley Assessors’ records, the college owns four houses on Tanyard Road and multiple lots of open land on Grandview, Beacon and Woodland Avenues. The Dudley Hill

Golf Course, also owned by Nichols, is taxed under Chapter 61C, which limits its property tax appraisal to no more than 25 percent of its true value, because it is open to the public — at a price, of course.
Memberships cost $1,559 a year for individuals and $1,999 a year for a family. Currently there are more than 100 active members. Businesses can buy a corporate membership for $6,800, which includes 4 passes. And oh yes, Nichols faculty and students can get a membership discounted to $250 a year, a bargain considering tuition, room, board and fees can reach nearly $68,000 a year. Meanwhile, the rest of us can play for $31 a day weekdays and $38 on weekends. ($42 and $49 respectively if you want a cart.)
According to ProPublica, Nichols pays its several top executives — presumably the same ones who ignore Dudley’s entreaties — more than $920,000 a year. I can only wonder if those officials might have been just a little embarrassed by Boston University’s recent decision to pay the city of Boston $104 million in cash and other benefits over the next five years under its PILOT program. The university made that decision on its own. It didn’t have to be cajoled, threatened or browbeaten by the city to do it. And the city didn’t have to beg them for it. BU President Melissa Gilliam said the payment “reflects the priority we place on service and partnership with Boston.”
Meanwhile, the best civic gesture that Nichols can come up with seems to be “partnering” with an organization called the Joe Andruzzi Foundation, which provides financial aid to cancer patients. It is unclear just what the college’s role is but Nichols President William C. Pieczynski said it reflected Nichols “commitment to preparing students to become leaders who make a difference in their professions and communities.”
If only someone could convince Nichols to make a difference in its own community.

The great October thermostat standoff

There comes a morning every October when a man wakes up and realizes that his house has become an experiment in refrigeration.
You know the morning. You get out of bed, put your feet on the floor and immediately reconsider every decision that brought you to this point in life. The floor is cold. The bathroom is colder.

And somewhere downstairs, your wife is wearing a sweatshirt and giving you the kind of look that says the heating season has officially begun, whether you have accepted it or not.
I have always believed there should be rules about turning on the heat. Not actual rules, mind you. Nothing involving town meeting or the Legislature. We have enough regulations already. I mean personal rules.
Mine is that the furnace should remain off until sometime in October when it becomes absolutely necessary. The trouble is defining “absolutely necessary.” My wife and I have different standards. To her, the appearance of frost on the lawn is compelling evidence. To me, frost is merely nature making a suggestion. She will walk past the thermostat and glance at it. I will notice her glancing at it. Neither of us will say anything. This is marriage after 30 years. You don’t need words for the important negotiations. The thermostat sits there quietly between us, waiting to see who cracks first.
I usually attempt several delaying tactics. First comes the sweatshirt. Then the heavier socks. Then I begin making helpful observations such as, “It’s supposed to warm up this afternoon.” This is technically true, although warming from 43 degrees to 58 degrees isn’t quite the argument I think it is. Eventually, my wife asks the obvious question: “Why don’t we turn the heat on?” I never have a particularly good answer.
There is something psychological about that first firing of the furnace. Once you hear it rumble to life, summer is officially over. There is no going back. Windows that were open every evening suddenly get locked. The ceiling fans stop spinning. The extra blanket returns to the bed. Somewhere in the garage, the snow shovel begins plotting its comeback. Turning on the heat feels like signing paperwork acknowledging that another New England winter is on its way.
And winter never arrives alone. It brings heating bills, icy windshields, frozen door locks, driveway shoveling and the annual mystery of where I put the good gloves. So I resist. Not effectively, but symbolically. I suspect generations of New Englanders have done the same thing.
We live in a part of the country where stubbornness is sometimes confused with thrift, and thrift is occasionally confused with sitting in your own living room wearing a winter coat. Eventually, of course, common sense wins.
One evening the temperature drops, the house gets genuinely chilly and somebody finally walks over to the thermostat. Click. A few seconds later comes the familiar sound of the furnace starting. Warm air begins moving through the house. And almost immediately, I wonder why I spent three days pretending I wasn’t cold.
That is another October tradition around here. The leaves change. The days shorten. The pumpkins appear on front steps. And grown adults engage in silent contests with their thermostats.
I know how ours will end. The heat will go on. My wife will be comfortable. And I will stand near the vent enjoying the warm air while maintaining, purely for the historical record, that I could have held out another week.

Poets at Large presents Arsego and Aeroelastic Flutter Oct. 24

POMFRET, Conn. — Poets at Large will continue its seventh season on Saturday night, October 24th with a wide variety of spoken word. The show begins at 7 p.m. at The Vanilla Bean Café, 450 Deerfield Rd. in Pomfret, Conn. and featured that night will be Sharon Arsego and performance artist duo Aeroelastic Flutter. Suggested donation is $10.00. Sharon Arsego is from Bristol where she works as a senior administrative assistant for the city. She has three published collections including Scenes and Sonnets which is an ekphrastic collaboration with Massachusetts photographer Wendy Tobin. Arsego is an active participant in various arts and culture communities, has been a featured spoken word performer for two seasons of The Soul Session in Bristol, and also writes for The Bristol Magazine. Learn more at sharonarsego.com. Aeroelastic Flutter is a spoken word and sound collaboration, combining the often-absurdist poetry of Jim Whitten with the guitar work and sound exploration of Nicholas Pecsok. Their project experiments with lo-fi audio and borderline performance art, challenging audiences to reevaluate how poetry can be performed and defined. Linda Blakesley will do an extended read in the open mic segment. Blakesley is a poet from Coventry, CT who hosts a monthly open mic in connection with the Coventry Arts Guild, providing a platform for new and veteran poets. Linda works in adult education. Poets at Large has brought more than 150 published and awarded poets to the area since 2020 and dozens of people have participated in the open mic portions during that time. Poets at Large is a project of Windham Arts. All events are ADA compliant and are recommended for ages 16 and up. Readings for the rest of the season are sponsored in part by donations from bankHometown, Charter Oak FCU, WHZ Financial and The Putnam Area Foundation. Contact karen.warinsky@gmail.com to sign up for the open mic; 5-minute max as time allows.

Walk to support the Oxford Ecumenical Food Shelf

OXFORD — Join Oxford Ecumenical Food Shelf volunteers and others on Sunday, Oct. 18, for the annual Crop Hunger Walk. Everyone is welcome! The walk begins at the First Congregational Church, 355 Main St., Oxford, at 1 pm. Please arrive at 12:30 p.m. to sign in and gather to walk an easy three and a half miles through Oxford together. A small monetary donation is suggested. We're looking to raise $4,000 this year, which will help stock the shelves of the Oxford Ecumenical Food Shelf, Oxford's community food pantry, in the weeks ahead. To participate, go to: <https://events.crophungerwalk.org/crophungerwalks/event/oxfordma> and follow the steps from there, or just show up on the 18th. Volunteers will be at the church to help you get started. For more information, check the Oxford Food Shelf page on Facebook (<https://www.facebook.com/OxfordMAFoodShelf>) or call 508-987-1062. The Oxford Ecumenical Food Shelf is a free non-profit food pantry in Oxford MA. We are available to every resident in Oxford who needs groceries to help feed themselves or their family. Thank you for your continued support of the Oxford Ecumenical Food Shelf.

Saint-Gobain invests $300,000 in Advanced Manufacturing at QCC

WORCESTER — Quinsigamond Community College and Saint-Gobain North America, a global leader in sustainable construction and advanced materials, today announced a $300,000 partnership to support an advanced manufacturing learning space and cutting-edge equipment in the college's future QCC Center.

"This partnership with Saint-Gobain reflects our shared commitment to education, innovation, and hands-on learning," said QCC President Dr. Luis Pedraja. "By investing in our students, we are preparing the next generation of skilled professionals who will shape the future of manufacturing in Central Massachusetts and beyond while building a strong pipeline of talent for employers across the region."

"At Saint-Gobain, we know that the future of manufacturing depends on investing in people and creating pathways to rewarding careers," said Mark

Rayfield, president and CEO of Saint-Gobain North America and CertainTeed. "Our partnership with Quinsigamond Community College reflects our commitment to strengthening the workforce, advancing innovation, and supporting hands-on learning experiences that prepare students for success in modern manufacturing. We are proud to support the Saint-Gobain Advanced Manufacturing Center at QCC and help equip the next generation of talent with the skills needed to drive our industry forward."

In recognition of Saint-Gobain's three-year, $300,000 investment, the advanced manufacturing space within the future QCC Center will be named the Saint-Gobain Advanced Manufacturing Center at QCC. The three-year sponsorship will fund lab and classroom furnishings and equipment, allowing QCC's advanced manufacturing program to expand and integrate computer science, engineering, and robotics programming that aligns with current industry standards.

"Saint-Gobain's extraordinary investment in our Advanced Manufacturing Program represents a transformative opportunity for our students and our region," said Dean of the School for Computing & Applied Technologies Dennis Dean. "This support will help ensure that QCC graduates are equipped with the skills, technologies and hands-on experiences needed to succeed in today's advanced manufacturing workforce. We are deeply grateful for Saint-Gobain's confidence in our students, faculty and future."

Scheduled to open next year, the QCC Center will be a modern, multipurpose facility featuring advanced manufacturing classrooms, student engagement spaces, a gymnasium, and dedicated space for the hospitality program. Investments from committed industry partners like Saint-Gobain are helping bring this vision to life by expanding opportunities for hands-on learning and workforce development.

"We are proud to partner with organizations like Saint-Gobain that help create opportunities for students while strengthening the workforce of tomorrow," Pedraja added.

Booklovers Gourmet to host parenting workshop

WEBSTER — Booklovers' Gourmet, 72 East Main St., Webster, is hosting a free workshop with Jessica Butler, "How to Talk So Kids Will Listen and Listen So Kids Will Talk," on Saturday, Oct. 17 from 10:30 a.m.-12:30 p.m. To RSVP, please call 508-949-6232 or email deb@booklovers-gourmet.com.

Do you struggle to find the right things to say to your kids? Do you feel like your child "tunes you out" when you talk? Does it feel like you and your child fight more than talk?

Based on the celebrated book "How to Talk So Kids Will Listen & Listen So Kids Will Talk" by Adele Faber and Elaine Mazlish, this interactive session will provide attendees with an introduction to practical, effective methods of communication that will make their relationship with children of all ages less stressful and more rewarding.

- This discussion will help you:
- Learn specific skills that help children recognize and cope with their negative feelings, such as disappointment, envy, frustration, anger.
 - Understand ways to accept children's feelings, limit unacceptable behavior, and still maintain goodwill.
 - Learn ways to invite cooperation that will leave everyone feeling good about themselves and each other.

Dudley's annual Spooktacular returns

DUDLEY — Those known to haunt the halls have been scurrying about, transforming parking lots and lawns in preparation for a frightfully fun—and free—Halloween celebration for ghosts and goblins of all ages.

Dudley's annual Spooktacular returns Thursday, Oct. 29. Hosted by the Dudley Recreation Commission and Pearle L. Crawford Memorial Library, the event promises plenty of tricks, treats and Halloween fun from 5 to 6:30 p.m.

Festivities begin at 4 p.m., when families are invited to gather in costume at the Pearle L. Crawford Memorial Library, 40 Schofield Ave., for some family-friendly fun before the parade begins. At 5 p.m., a gaggle of ghosts, goblins and other costumed characters will receive a police escort as they parade up Brandon Road to Town Hall, 71 West Main St.

Once there, families will be greeted with plenty of frightfully free fun, including games, live music, a balloon artist and the always-popular Cauldron of S'mores.

And no Halloween celebration would be complete without a costume contest! Prizes will be awarded for the scariest, funniest and most unique costumes.

Webster Five Foundation awards nearly $186,000 to 54 nonprofits in first half of 2026

AUBURN — The Webster Five Foundation has awarded 54 grants totaling $185,917 during the first half of 2026, continuing its long-standing commitment to strengthening the communities it serves. (To view the complete list of grant recipients, visit web5.com/bank-news.) Through its grant program, the Foundation supports nonprofit organizations that expand access to education, arts and culture, social services, community development and other charitable initiatives. The Foundation's largest grants awarded during the first half of 2026 include: Open Sky Community Services, Inc. — $15,000.00 toward the organization's Aurora Staff-Supported

Activities which offers long term rental assistance and supportive services for young adults who need support in accessing behavioral health services, income and employment supports and tenancy stabilization skills. CASA Project Worcester County, Inc. — $10,000.00 to support the CASA Child Court Advocacy Program. As the only agency in Worcester reporting to the courts on the best interest of thousands of at-risk children, the priority of the program is to support abused and neglected children from across the 60 cities and towns that comprise Worcester County. YMCA of Central Massachusetts — $10,000.00 for the Achievers Program towards the organization's Achievers

Program which provides workforce development, leadership skill-building and college and career readiness to 150 teens. "Supporting dozens of nonprofit organizations during the first six months of the year speaks to both the depth of need across our region and the incredible work being done to meet it," said Brian Westerlind, President and CEO of Webster Five. "Each organization has its own mission, but together they're helping create healthier, more connected and more resilient communities. It's a privilege for Webster Five to support their work." Since its inception in 1996, the Foundation has awarded $4,633,321 to 321 organizations.

Can I Adopt?

If you're at least 18 years old, have a stable source of income, and room in your heart, you may be a perfect match to adopt a waiting child. Adoptive parents can be single, married, or partnered; experienced or not; renters or homeowners; LGBTQ+ singles and couples. As an adoptive parent, you won't have to pay any fees, adoption from foster care is completely free in Massachusetts.

The process to adopt a child from foster care includes training, interviews, and home visits to determine if adoption is right for you. These steps will help match you with a child or sibling group that your family will fit well with. To learn more about adoption from foster care visit www.mareinc.org. Massachusetts Adoption Resource Exchange (MARE) can give you guidance and information on the adoption process. Reach out today to find out all the ways you can help children and teens in foster care.

OBITUARIES

Southbridge: Theresa L. Joy, 93, passed away after living a full enjoyable life on Sept. 27, 2026 at Christopher Heights in Webster, surrounded by her family.

She was born in Southbridge, the daughter of Rodolph Tremblay and Beatrice (LeClair) Tremblay, her brother William (Billy) and her sister Pauline (Paquin). She grew up in Southbridge graduating from Mary E. Wells High School where she was a majorette leading parades down Main Street in Southbridge. She met her husband at a dance at the Quinebaug Dance Hall and subsequently married and formed a 64-year marriage to Walter "Skippy" Joy. Terry and Skip had 4 children: Allen, Kenny and his wife Kathy, Bruce and his wife Judy, and Gail.

Terry was a proud homemaker and as the children grew, she worked many years as a home cake decorator, a Park and Shop cashier and a bank clerk at Savers Bank. She also volunteered at the voting station at Charlton Street School. She is a devout Catholic and a true believer in God and Jesus Christ. She enjoyed making many quilts and with Skip made numerous beautiful stained-glass items for her family as well as trips to the golf course! Music was always in the air with her and she enjoyed many camping trips with her family and that was where she brought memories and lifelong friends into her life. She was always a cheerful and friendly person to all she came across and as a result bonded with many people from all walks of life. She loved games of all sorts; Bingo, cards with friends, the occasional casino trip, and lately "KLUPPA" defined as Keno between LUNCH and SUPPA. She had many winning streaks in KLUPPA, resulting in her being named "Keno Boss."

Theresa was predeceased by her husband Walter in 2015, her son Allen in 1971, her siblings William and Pauline and a host of other relatives and friends. She has had the benefit of enjoying life with 7 grandchildren, 6 great grandchildren and lots of loving nieces, nephews and in laws.

Theresa's parting wishes were that everyone should find a way to love each other deeply and appreciate that we're all in this together and find ways to love each other. The family wishes to express the greatest of thanks, love and respect to Christopher Heights family and staff, Summit Eldercare, and Price Chopper Pharmacy staff, all of whom cared for her wellbeing and comfort.

Her funeral was held on Thursday, Oct. 1st, from the Daniel T. Morrill Funeral Home, 130 Hamilton St., Southbridge, with a Mass at 11:00am in St. Mary's Church of the St. John Paul II Parish, 263 Hamilton St., Southbridge. Burial in Old Notre Dame Cemetery will be private. Calling hours in the funeral Home were held on Wednesday, Sept. 30th, from 5:00 to 7:00pm.

In lieu flowers donations may be made to Blood Cancer United, Attn. Donation Services, P.O. Box 22324, New York, NY 10087 or online at <https://bloodcancerunit-ed.org/give>.

Alice M. Foote, 100

OXFORD – Alice M. (Johnson) Foote, 100, of Depot Road, died Tuesday, September 22, 2026, in her home.

She was predeceased by her husband of 68 years, Proctor Brigham Foote who died in 2013. She is survived by four children, Andrew Foote and his wife Susan of Oxford, Matthew Foote and his wife Linda of Oxford, Amy Clouthier and her husband James of Oxford, and Jon Foote of Quinebaug, CT; her daughter-in-law, Karen Foote of Wareham; eight grandchildren, seven great-grandchildren, and two great-great grandchildren.

She was predeceased by her son, Timothy P. Foote; her infant daughter, Melanie Foote; four brothers, Howard Johnson, George Johnson, Homer Johnson, and Robert Johnson; and her sister, Lois Janse.

She was born in Woodstock, CT, daughter of the late Harry and Anna (Johnson) Johnson, and lived in Oxford since 1954.

She graduated from Woodstock Academy in Woodstock, CT.

Mrs. Foote was a homemaker for most of her life, caring for her home and family. In her younger years, she worked at American Optical in Southbridge. She was a long-time member of the First Congregational Church in Oxford, and volunteered for Central Mass Hospice in Auburn. She enjoyed living on the farm and gardening.

The family would like to thank Alice's Tri-Valley caregivers, Fran and Josie; VNA Care Hospice who were extremely helpful; and her longtime housekeeper Jean.

A memorial service will be held at 11 a.m. on Saturday, November 14, 2026, at the First Congregational Church, 355 Main St., Oxford. In lieu of flowers, memorial contributions may be made to the First Congregational Church, P.O. Box 585, Oxford, MA 01540, or to the VNA Care Hospice, 67 Millbrook St., 500 North, Worcester, MA 01606.

Paradis-Givner Funeral Home in Oxford is directing the arrangements.

DUDLEY

Rd. The plan calls for the use of recently state-certified free cash of $678,672, which is unspent revenue, or surplus, from the last fiscal year.

"We are providing limited relief now while preserving emergency capacity and rebuilding reserves, because the town still has difficult operating decisions ahead and one-time revenue cannot be used to avoid them," Town Administrator Jonathan Ruda said.

Of that amount, $130,000 would be directed to the Finance, Appropriation and Advisory (FAA) Reserve Fund for extraordinary or emergency expenses. Another $211,172 would be placed into the town's savings accounts, known as stabilization: $80,000 for the Capital Improvement Account and $131,172 for general stabilization.

If approved at town meeting, free cash would also be used to fund $83,000 for police, $86,000 for fire and $50,000 for highway. Additional funding is proposed for legal expenses, repairs to the Senior Center heating system, information technology, required auditing costs and assessing work.

"This plan does not attempt to recreate the override with free cash," Ruda said. "Police, Fire and Highway are receiving $219,000 in one-time support, compared with the $717,630 in recurring revenue that was proposed—less than one-third of that amount. The balance is being used for required costs, rebuilding stabilization, and a $130,000 FAA reserve that cannot be spent as a routine departmental supplement."

Under state law, the use of the FAA reserve fund is limited to extraordinary or unforeseen expenditures and requires a vote of the FAA before funds can be transferred.

Along with the financial package, the Board of Selectmen Thursday also voted to approve cost-saving measures and budget-management directives for town departments.

Town Hall will close to the public two days per week, allowing staff to focus on essential department work without having to cover the administrative duties of department assistants who have been eliminated. The department assistants cut from the budget since the start of FY2027 aided the selectmen's office, the highway department, the accounting office, the treasurer/collector's office, and the assessor's office. Also cut was the coordinator who managed the town website, information technology and Dudley Cable Access TV.

Town employees will be offered a health insurance opt-out policy intended to reduce town insurance costs when eligible employees voluntarily use other qualifying coverage.

Vacant positions are now subject to Board of Selectmen oversight and will require board approval before they are posted, with departments required to justify the need and consider alternatives such as consolidation, automation or shared services.

Department heads are required to defer discretionary spending.

Mandatory monthly budget status and service-level reporting has been established for department heads to expose potential financial or operational problems and offer recommended corrective actions. This will allow the Board of Selectmen to make cuts and reductions as needed through June.

"Monthly reporting will give the board and FAA early warning of developing financial problems so they can act before the Town reaches the point where few choices remain," Ruda said. "Further reductions are likely, and the margin for delay is limited. As vacancies occur through attrition, health-insurance savings are realized, energy costs stabilize, and other expenses become clearer, department heads will identify the least disruptive options. The board will then have to decide where reductions are necessary and where verified savings are sufficient to support backfilling or restructuring critical positions."

The Building Department staffing and compensation model will be modified to more closely tie costs to actual inspection and permitting activities.

The town will also begin preparing for FY2028 earlier than usual, examining opportunities to reduce recurring costs and considering alternative ways to provide services, including technology, automation, shared or contracted services, staffing changes and other operational efficiencies.

The overall approach of both the supplemental budget going before town meeting and the new directives are intended to provide limited relief for immediate needs while maintaining emergency capacity, rebuilding reserves and giving town officials earlier warnings of financial problems so that decisions can be made before available options become limited.

Boat America - Safe Boating Certificate course offered at Bay Path in Charlton Oct. 13 & 15

CHARLTON — The United States Coast Guard Auxiliary Tri-State Flotilla, Massachusetts will be instructing the Boat America Course that meets current state mandated educational requirements offered in a two-night format developed to provide the skills and confidence needed to explore the coast and inland waters by boat. Basic knowledge and skills are needed to have safe and enjoyable boating experiences. This course is perfect for families that have just purchased any type of boat or are planning to in the future, and for the boater keeping up with changes to boating regulations and laws.

The Hanson-Milone Boater Safety Act, signed into Mass. Law, now requires all Massachusetts motorboat operators over 12 years of age to complete an approved Safe Boating Certificate course before April 1, 2026 for anyone born after Jan. 1, 1998, and by April 1, 2028 for boaters born before Jan. 1, 1998. Enforcement of the new law will begin on Sept. 1, 2026. Personal Watercraft / Jet Ski operators are required to be at least 16 years of age also included. A certificate, required to be carried onboard, will be issued by the state to resident motorboaters.

Successful completion of this BA course offered meets this requirement and inclusion into the Mass. Environmental Police Boating Safety Database, Approved by National Association of State Boating Law Administrators (NASBLA) it will also cover the requirements to operate a vessel in most other states & many countries where boating safety education is mandatory including NH, RI and CT. You will receive the additional USCG Auxiliary certification and a possible discount on premiums for most boating insurance companies for successful completion of this course. Some basic marlinespike seamanship (knots etc.) will also be included as part of the course. Participants 16 years old and under must be accompanied, in person, by a registered parent/guardian. SPACE IS LIMITED so register soon:

Booklovers’ Gourmet spotlights local artist Judy Murphy

WEBSTER — An Art Show titled “The Colors of Life” by Judy Murphy, will be on display at Booklovers’ Gourmet in Webster Oct. 6-31 in the cafe gallery. A public meet and greet with the artist will take place on Saturday, Oct. 24 from 2-4 p.m.

For more information, call 508-949-6232.

Booklovers’ Gourmet is located at 72 East Main St. in Webster, and has been a community gathering space since 1995.

As a child, Murphy won coloring and poster contests, but never pursued art until she retired. Color is her main inspiration. She can stop and find the beauty in any person, place or thing. Her style is said to be unique, quirky, fun, illustrative and easily recognizable. While most of her paintings are watercolors, she continues to expand her skills through courses at the Worcester Art Museum and as an active member of the Blackstone Valley Art Association.

Dudley Woman’s Club meets Oct. 8

DUDLEY — The Dudley Woman’s Club will welcome local charity The Pink Exchange as the featured guest at its October Club Meeting on Thursday, Oct. 8, at 6:30 p.m. at Dudley Town Hall, 71 West Main St.

Representatives from The Pink Exchange will share information about the organization and its work supporting women throughout their breast cancer journey.

In recognition of Breast Cancer Awareness Month, the Dudley Woman’s Club will also hold a voluntary Giving Project to benefit PinkHippy.org. A list of suggested items will be shared on the club’s Facebook pages prior to the meeting.

The October gathering provides members with an opportunity to learn more about local efforts supporting women affected by breast cancer while contributing to a meaningful community cause.

For more information about the Dudley Woman’s Club, visit dudleywomansclub.org or email dudleywomansclub@gmail.com.
