SOUTHBRIDGE

SOUTHBRIDGE — On Monday, May 4, Major General Salem Towne Masonic Lodge had the privilege of welcoming guests from the Libertad Lodge # 50 located in East Providence, R.I.

These brethren made the long trip to Major General Salem Towne Lodge (MGSTL) in Southbridge to retrieve a case with a beautiful and valuable Masonic Apron that was lost. A Good Samaritan named Rick (full name unknown) found a briefcase on a Rhode Island on ramp, stopped his car, and picked it up from the road. It is believed that the individual in question resides in the Webster, Massachusetts area, as this briefcase bearing the Masonic symbol and the name "Libertad Lodge #50" was discovered outside the entrance of the Webster Masonic building.

A note was found inside the briefcase saying I found this Masonic briefcase on the on ramp in Rhode Island, signed "Rick." A Masonic Brother from MGSTL learned that Libertad Lodge #50 is in East Providence, Rhode Island. A phone call was made, and the owners of this Masonic Apron came for a fraternal visit to retrieve their Apron back. While these brethren from Libertad Lodge were here and heard than seen our big Traveling Regalia Gavel, they decided they wanted to take our big beautiful Traveling Regalia Gavel back to East Providence Rhode Island.

Masonic Lodges from across the state or neighboring states may attend regular monthly meetings to collect these Traveling Regalia Gavels. The Libertad members noticed the large, striking big Traveling Regalia Gavel and showed enthusiasm about getting involved. To retrieve the gavel and return it to their lodge they must have a minimum of three brothers which must include a Worshipful Master, an officer and a fellow brother. In return the lodge that it was taken from must go to one of their monthly meetings to retrieve it back. This is one way how fellow Master Masons meet new brethren. If you would like more information about Freemasonry, go to www.massfreemasonry.org and to find a lodge nearest you.

Town of Sturbridge earns Tree City USA recognition From Arbor Day Foundation

STURBRIDGE — The Arbor Day Foundation named the Town of Sturbridge a 2025 Tree City USA in honor of its commitment to plant, grow, and maintain trees to benefit its community.

The Arbor Day Foundation is a global nonprofit with a mission to inspire people to plant, nurture and celebrate trees. Its network of more than a million supporters and partners has helped the organization plant more than 500 million trees in forests and communities across more than 60 countries. The Foundation's Tree City USA program is now celebrating its 50th recognition season. The anniversary underscores the program's rich history of growing healthier, greener, and more resilient communities through urban forestry.

"For five decades, Tree City USA has rallied passionate local leaders to enhance the livability and sustainability of their communities. Tree champions like Sturbridge are leading the way in a growing movement to shape a better future with trees and action," said Michelle Saulnier, Vice President of Programs at the Arbor Day Foundation. "Trees are critical infrastructure, building resiliency and fostering good health in our nation's cities. We're proud Sturbridge is among the Arbor Day Foundation's growing network of communities dedicated to creating positive impact through trees."

In cities and neighborhoods, trees are proven to help mitigate the urban heat island effect, reduce stormwater runoff, improve air quality, and boost mental and physical health. When the right trees are planted in the right places, they can also reduce traffic noise, increase property values, and lower energy costs for homeowners.

Town Administrator, Robin Grimm, commented, "Sturbridge has a rich tradition of celebrating the natural beauty of Central Massachusetts, and its Tree City designation stands as a testimony to the commitment in this town to preserving our precious natural resources."

To earn Tree City USA recognition, a city must uphold four core standards including maintaining a tree board or department, having a community tree ordinance, spending at least $2 per capita on urban forestry, and participating in an Arbor Day celebration.

The Arbor Day Foundation's Tree City USA program is operated in partnership with the National Association of State Foresters and the USDA Forest Service. To learn more about Tree City USA and other Arbor Day Foundation programs, visit arborday.org/programs.

Charlton Lions to conduct toll road fundraiser

CHARLTON — If you drive through the intersection of Route 31 and North Main Street in Charlton on Saturday, May 16, you may encounter slower-than-normal traffic. The Charlton Lions Club will conduct its annual "Toll Road Fundraiser" in the intersection from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. on that day, weather permitting.

The Town of Charlton has issued a permit for the Club to solicit donations from motorists passing through the intersection. Any size donation will be greatly appreciated and produce a smile and a thank you from the Lion holding the bucket. (Even if you don't give, you'll probably get a smile and friendly wave.)

Donations will be used for a number of service projects carried out by The Charlton Lions Club each year — scholarships for Charlton residents who are continuing their education beyond high school, holiday gifts for needy families, diabetes programs, support of assistance dog organizations, disaster relief, installation of handicap ramps, and vision/hearing testing. You may request specific information about these programs by emailing thecharltonlions@gmail.com. For more information about the Club and its service activities, visit thecharltonlions.com.

Battling Sox Music Festival to raise funds for American Cancer Society

FISKDALE — Live music, barbecue, raffles, and community spirit will come together later this month as the Battling Sox Relay For Life team hosts an all-day music festival fundraiser at Hyland Orchard & Pavilion in Fiskdale.

The event is scheduled for Saturday, May 30, from noon to 9:30 p.m. at the orchard and pavilion located at 199 Arnold Road. Organizers say the fundraiser will benefit the American Cancer Society through Relay For Life of Southern Worcester County.

Admission to the rain-or-shine event is a requested $10 donation, with attendees encouraged to bring lawn chairs or blankets to enjoy a full afternoon and evening of performances. Two stages will operate throughout the day, featuring separate acoustic and full-band lineups as part of a Battle of the Bands-style showcase.

"This is really about bringing the community together for a good cause while celebrating local music," organizers said. "People can come for a favorite performer or stay all day and experience everything."

The festival will feature competitions for both acoustic performers and bands, giving local musicians a chance to perform before the crowd while supporting cancer research and patient services through the American Cancer Society.

The lineup currently includes:

- Noon to 12:30 p.m. — Emma
- 12:30 to 1:30 p.m. — Back Seat Boogie
- 1:30 to 2 p.m. — Steve Robinson
- 2 to 3 p.m. — Shedding Zen
- 3 to 3:30 p.m. — Mama Kilsmith and the unofficial T. Swift Experience

- 6:30 to 7:30 p.m. — Wonderland Mafia
- 8 to 9 p.m. — Vivi and Da Funk

Organizers noted that the performance schedule remains subject to change.

In addition to the music, food and refreshments will be available throughout the day. Paradise BBQ and Catering will offer food for purchase, while Glazed Gourmet Bakery will provide desserts and sweet treats. Beer and wine will also be available through the pavilion bar.

A raffle table featuring donated items and prizes will help raise additional funds during the event.

Sturbridge America250 celebration invites community to Family Fun Day

STURBRIDGE — The Sturbridge America 250 Celebration Committee invites the community to our Family Fun Day on Saturday, May 16, from noon to 3 p.m. on the Sturbridge Common. This is the first of two community-wide events commemorating America's 250th anniversary. The second, on June 27, features a parade followed by activities on the Common. The Family Fun Day kicks off at Noon with a Patriotic Costume Parade. Participants can check in starting at noon and will receive a parade number and patriotic goodie bag. The Parade begins at 12:15 p.m. Prizes will be given for: Most Historical, Most Patriotic, and Best Family/Group Theme. From 1 – 2 p.m., the Mighty Top Big Circus will perform. This is a small but mighty show with aerial silks, hula-hoop acrobatics, and aerial hoop acts. After the show, kids can jump in and try out hula hoop tricks and other circus skills themselves. By watching and joining in, kids can learn more about coordination, rhythm, and sticking with something new. In collaboration with the Joshua Hyde Public Library, this program is supported in part by a grant from the Sturbridge Cultural Council, a local agency which is supported by the Mass Cultural Council, a state agency. Following the Circus there will be a potato sack race, and a three-legged race, with prizes awarded. Throughout the afternoon families can enjoy yard games, a selfie station, face painting, a balloon artist, and an inflatable double slide. Girl Scout Troop #65394 will have a coloring and crafts table, with the crafts sponsored by the Stephanie Lachapelle Group with Compass. Children can make a patriotic hat with the Daughters of the American Revolution. ADJ will be acting as emcee and providing music throughout the afternoon. Free hot dogs, chips, and water will be provided to the first 250 attendees. Food can also be purchased from attending Food Trucks. The Sturbridge America 250 Committee thanks Veolia for providing prizes, goodie bags, and the hot dogs, chips, and water. On Saturday, June 27, the community is invited to participate in and enjoy a parade starting at OSV and ending on the Town Common, followed by a number of patriotic activities on the Common. Anyone who wishes to participate should go to the Sturbridge Recreation Dept. Web site: sturbridgema.myrec.com. More information on the parade and activities will be coming soon.

Saving for retirement:

Are you guessing or planning?

Rooted in community pride

There is something reassuring about a town that still values its trees.

In an era when development often moves faster than reflection, the recognition of Sturbridge as a 2025 Tree City USA community serves as a reminder that thoughtful stewardship still matters. The designation from the Arbor Day Foundation is certainly an honor, but more importantly, it reflects a philosophy that has long shaped life in this community: preserving the natural beauty that makes this corner of Central Massachusetts feel like home.

Visitors often notice Sturbridge's historic charm first. They admire the Common, the scenic roads, the stone walls, and the blend of village life and open landscape. But what quietly ties much of that beauty together are the trees themselves. Towering maples shading neighborhoods, pines lining country roads, and mature oaks standing watch over parks and homes all contribute to the identity of the town in ways that are easy to overlook until they are gone.

Trees are not merely decoration. They are infrastructure in the truest sense of the word.

Modern research continues to confirm what generations instinctively understood. Trees cool neighborhoods during increasingly hot summers. They absorb stormwater during heavy rains. They improve air quality, reduce noise, and create healthier public spaces. Studies have even shown that greener communities contribute positively to mental health and overall well-being.

In New England towns especially, trees also serve another purpose. They provide continuity.

Some of the trees standing in Sturbridge today were already mature when earlier generations gathered for parades, church suppers, or school graduations decades ago. They connect present-day residents to those who built the town long before modern concerns about climate resiliency or urban forestry entered the public vocabulary. Protecting and maintaining them is not only environmentally responsible, but culturally meaningful.

The Tree City USA designation also highlights something else worth recognizing: this kind of achievement does not happen accidentally. Communities must meet standards involving long-term planning, public investment, ordinances, and public participation. It requires cooperation between municipal leaders, public works staff, volunteers, and residents willing to care about the spaces beyond their own property lines.

That spirit of shared responsibility is becoming increasingly important. Across Massachusetts, communities continue balancing growth with preservation. Housing demands, infrastructure projects, and commercial development all place pressure on existing landscapes. While growth is necessary, towns that maintain a clear commitment to protecting natural resources often retain the very qualities that make people want to live there in the first place.

Sturbridge has long understood that balance better than many communities. The town has welcomed change over the years while still protecting its rural character and scenic identity. Recognition as a Tree City USA community fits naturally into that tradition.

Of course, planting and preserving trees may seem like a small thing in the context of larger national or global issues. But local actions matter. A healthier environment is not built solely through sweeping legislation or international conferences. It is built one town, one neighborhood, and sometimes one tree at a time.

The best communities think beyond the next season or budget cycle. They make decisions with future generations in mind. A tree planted today may not provide full shade for decades, but someone eventually will sit beneath it.

That kind of long view deserves recognition. And in a fast-moving world, there is something comforting about a town still willing to plant roots.

Let's say you dream of spending your retirement mornings on a warm beach, coffee in hand, waves rolling in. To get there, you had a simple plan: save $1 million and buy the beach house you always wanted.

But when retirement arrives, reality hits. After accounting for keeping your current home, everyday expenses, and health care, $1 million doesn't stretch as far as you thought, and the beach house remains a dream.

The problem wasn't your discipline – it was that your number was never really your number. It was arbitrary, not anchored to what your ideal retirement would actually cost.

How can you make sure your retirement number is right for you?

A solid savings goal starts with a clear picture of the retirement you want. Think through where you plan to live, whether you'll keep your current home or downsize, how much you plan to travel, if you'll help children and grandchildren financially and what health care might cost you later in life. Build a realistic monthly budget, then multiply by 12 months to find your annual need. Adjust this amount for inflation until the first year of retirement.

Then, multiply that figure by 25 to get a sense of how much may be needed to save. It's a formula based on the idea of withdrawing 4 percent annually from your savings, assuming you retire in your mid-60s. If you need $60,000 a year, your target is around $1.5 million. You may need more or less depending on your lifestyle, health, unexpected expenses, Social Security benefits and other income. No single rate or strategy will work for everyone. A financial advisor can help you determine your number and strategy.

Once you know your target, the path forward becomes clearer. Here are a few tips for next steps:

Start early. The sooner you begin saving, the more time compound interest has to work in your favor. Small amounts set aside automatically each paycheck have the opportunity to grow significantly over decades.

Live below your means. Spending less than you earn is one of the most powerful wealth-building habits. When your income rises, save and invest the difference instead of upgrading your lifestyle.

Keep your debt under control. Since credit cards and other high-interest debt can slow your progress, pay off balances monthly when possible.

Invest consistently. If your employer offers a 401(k), aim to contribute at least 10-15 percent of your salary, and increase your contributions after every raise. If you max out your 401(k), a traditional IRA or Roth IRA may offer additional tax-advantaged growth (eligibility and contribution limits apply).

Boost your income when you can. Develop new skills, ask for a raise or explore a side income. Every extra dollar saved moves you closer to your goal.

The difference between a retirement you love and one full of compromises often comes down to the planning you do today. Know your real number, build a solid plan, and get the right help along the way.

The sound of a ball game on a spring night

LANTERNS ALONG MAIN STREET By CHARLES

There are certain sounds a town doesn't realize it would miss until they come back again.

Around here, one of those sounds is the crack of a baseball bat on a cool spring evening.

Not the roar of a professional stadium, mind you. I mean the smaller sounds. The real sounds. Aluminum bats echoing off a school backstop. Cleats scraping gravel in a parking lot. A coach hollering "Run it out!" while somebody's little brother chases a foul ball toward the concession stand.

You hear it drifting through town this time of year. Through open pickup truck windows. Across the pond at dusk. Sometimes while standing in line at the hardware store, you suddenly realize you can hear a game going on somewhere nearby.

And for a moment, the whole town feels exactly the way it's supposed to feel.

I drove past one of the local fields the other evening after supper. I wasn't headed there. I had no grandson playing, no reason to stop, and my knees certainly weren't volunteering to sit on aluminum bleachers for two hours. But the parking lot was full, the lights were on, and there was something about it that pulled me in.

So I parked.

I sat there in the truck for a while with the windows cracked, listening.

A boy struck out and slammed his helmet down harder than necessary. A girl in the outfield was picking dandelions between innings. Somebody burned popcorn in the snack shack. Two older fellows near the fence were discussing the Red Sox as if the front office might call them for advice at any moment.

It was perfect.

You know, when people talk about small-town New England life, they usually mention the postcard things. Church steeples. White fences. Covered bridges. Fall leaves.

But they forget these spring nights at the ball field.

That's where communities really happen.

You see grandparents who haven't missed a season in twenty years. You see exhausted parents still wearing work boots, arriving just in time for the third inning. You see kids learning difficult lessons about teamwork, patience, embarrassment, effort, and occasionally what happens when you forget there's a runner on second base.

Nobody remembers the score ten years later.

But they remember who showed up.

I remember my father standing along a chain-link fence with his arms folded, saying almost nothing during games. That was his generation. Men didn't chatter encouragement every thirty seconds back then. You knew they were proud because they came. Because they stood there after a ten-hour workday instead of heading home to rest.

Every once in a while, after a decent play, he'd clear his throat and say, "Not bad."

From him, that was practically a parade.

I didn't appreciate those evenings enough at the time. Most kids don't. You think life will always include grass stains and orange slices and the sound of somebody dragging the infield after sunset.

Then one day you realize decades have passed, and suddenly you'd give quite a lot to stand near that fence again.

These days, life moves faster than it ought to. Everybody's rushing somewhere. Phones buzz through dinner. Half the country seems angry all the time. Folks wear earbuds walking down Main Street now, which still strikes me as a funny way to avoid hearing the world.

But at a local ball field, for an hour or two, things slow down again.

Neighbors talk.

Kids laugh.

Teenagers who act too cool for everything suddenly become ten feet tall after catching a fly ball.

And old men like me sit quietly in pickup trucks pretending we only stopped for a minute.

The best part may be that these evenings cost almost nothing. A couple dollars for a hot dog. Maybe another for a soda if you're feeling reckless. No fancy tickets. No valet parking. No giant video board demanding applause.

Just people gathering because spring finally returned to Massachusetts and somebody chalked the baselines again.

I think towns need traditions like that more than ever.

Not grand traditions. Not expensive ones.

Simple ones.

The kind that remind people they belong to one another.

By the time I finally drove home that night, the field lights had gone dark except for one near the parking lot. A few players were still fooling around by the dugout while parents folded chairs into car trunks.

And for a second, the place looked exactly the same as it probably did 30 years ago.

Maybe even 50.

That's comforting these days.

There aren't many things left in life that still sound the same after all that time.

But on a spring night in Massachusetts, the sound of a baseball game still does.

Charlton Garden Club Plant Sale fundraiser set for May 16!

CHARLTON — Once again, it's time for the Charlton Garden Club's annual plant sale. Held on the Common on Saturday, May 16 from 9 a.m. to noon, the sale offers a wide variety of flowering annuals and perennials, vegetables and herbs, as well as woody plants. Come peruse our plant selection, check out the Garden Treasures table, and be sure to bring a half cup of soil for a free pH test. Massachusetts Master Gardeners will be on hand to answer your gardening queries.

The Charlton Garden Club was started 89 years ago by a group of 12 women, all wanting to share their interest in gardening. It didn't take them too long to find like-minded individuals in the community and the Charlton Garden Club was formed. The club has met continuously since 1937 except for a brief time during World War II due to gas rationing. At least 300 members have participated in and enjoyed the club's activities. Presently, the club meets on the second Monday of the month (March through December) typically at 6:30 p.m. in the Community Room at the Charlton Public Library. All are welcome to attend our advertised meetings at no charge. Those wanting to join the Charlton Garden Club would be asked to pay annual dues.

The purpose of the Charlton Garden Club is "To create interest in gardening in all its branches and encourage the beautification of home and community." The plant sale is our major fundraiser with funds used for speakers and community beautification projects. Each year club members plant flowers at the Morton Memorial as well as beds on other parts of the Common. At Olde Home Day, the club sets up a flower show with arrangements from club members for pleasant viewing by all. Throughout the years, the club has planted trees and flowers at our schools, police station, town hall and churches. In the past, scholarships were awarded to Shepherd Hill or Bay Path students entering horticultural related fields.

The Charlton Garden club offers opportunities to learn more about plants and the environment, to participate in community beautification projects as well as to instill an appreciation for our natural resources. Plus, it is a great place to meet other local gardening enthusiasts. Those interested in learning more about the garden club, can email us at charltongardenclub@gmail.com.

- The Infringers™: Campers use their invention superpowers to solve challenges in their community and around the world. They miniaturize top-secret innovations, safeguard their designs using cryptography and protect their intellectual property from the Infringers.

"I love that this camp lets my kids step out of the usual roles that they have at home and in school, and explore different parts of themselves," said the parent of 2025 Camp Invention campers. "At camp my son learns to be more creative and my daughter learns to be more independent."

All local Camp Invention programs are facilitated and taught by qualified educators who reside and teach in the community. Camp Invention serves 147,000 students every year and partners with more than 2,600 schools and districts across the nation. For more information or to register, visit invent.org/camp.

Hitchcock's popular annual Plant Sale returns

BRIMFIELD — The "Grow With Us" Plant Sale will take place on Saturday, May 9 from 8 a.m. to 2 p.m. on the lawn of Hitchcock Free Academy.

Hitchcock's popular annual sale features perennials, annuals, and vegetable plants, as well as hanging plants, which make a great gift for Mother's Day.

For those thinning out their gardens, Hitchcock welcomes donations of plants on its porch the week leading up to the sale. It is requested that plants be labeled along with any other information such as sun or shade. Plants can be dropped off to the designated area by the building's porch through the Friday evening preceding the sale.

Plants offered in partnership with a local greenhouse will include geraniums, petunias, marigolds, impatiens, and many other varieties as well as vegetable plants such as peppers, tomatoes, cucumber, squash, eggplant, and others.

Hanging flower baskets will be offered in both 10- and 12-inch sizes.

Attendees are encouraged to arrive early for the best selection.

The Plant Sale kicks off the peak season of events at the community center, which includes the Brimfield Town-Wide Tag Sale on May 30, the Hitchcock Summer Concert Series on the Brimfield Town Common in July and August, and the Brimfield Farmers' Market every Saturday in the organization's parking lot with the exception of flea market weekends. It is one of the 501(c)3's important annual fundraisers which help to cover operational costs.

For more information, visit www.hitchcockacademy.org. Hitchcock Academy is a community center located at 2 Brookfield Rd. in Brimfield, serving the community with educational, recreational, and cultural programming.

Southbridge Food Share adds monthly Saturday hours to expand community access SOUTHBRIDGE — Residents who rely on the Southbridge Food Share now have an additional opportunity each month to receive assistance, as the pantry expands its schedule to include one Saturday distribution day.

The added weekend hours are intended to make services more accessible for individuals and families who may not be able to visit during the organization's regular weekday schedule. Southbridge Food Share continues to operate on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays, and will now also open one Saturday each month at its location at 446 Hamilton St.

Distribution hours remain the same on all service days, running from 10 to 11:15 a.m.

Upcoming Saturday dates include April 25, May 16, June 27, July 25, Aug. 22 and Sept. 26.

No appointments are required to receive food, and visitors are not asked to provide income documentation or legal identification.

The pantry serves residents from Southbridge and surrounding communities and operates with support from local partners, including the United Way of South Central Massachusetts. Community donations and volunteer efforts continue to play a key role in sustaining the program's operations.

Southbridge Food Share has remained a central resource for area households facing food insecurity, particularly as grocery costs and household expenses continue to affect many families across the region.

Organizers encourage residents to share information about the expanded Saturday schedule with neighbors and community members who may benefit from the service.

For more information, residents may call 508-765-6583 or visit the Hamilton Street location during operating hours.

Burgess third graders kick off Sturbridge celebration of America 250

STURBRIDGE — One-hundred and twenty “Happy Birthday America” cards created by Burgess Elementary School third graders are now hanging in the Senior Center. This project was developed in collaboration with the Sturbridge America 250th Anniversary Committee, established in January 2025. In the coming months, residents and visitors will enjoy a number of community programs created by and coordinated with this Committee.

Expect to see special commemorative banners featuring an historical flag posted on poles along Routes 20 and 131. Look for programs focusing on the history of America at the Joshua Hyde Public Library, and from the Sturbridge Historical Society. Old Sturbridge Village is hosting Revolutionary Game Nights at the Ox &

Yoke Café. Participants will have the chance to win prizes such as special event tickets, Village crafts, and more! Check out “Revolutionary Bingo” March 27 and May 29 and “Revolutionary Trivia” Feb. 27, April 24, and June 26. For more information about these events and the many other new 250th events that the Village will be hosting, go to: osv.org.

Additional events sponsored by the Committee include an essay program for Grade 5 students titled “What Does America Mean to You?” with an option for students to voluntarily submit essays to a Town-wide recognition contest. Local restaurants will participate in a “Taste of Sturbridge” event during March and April featuring patriotic-themed offerings. Opacum Land Trust will incorporate Sturbridge historical landmarks into its April 2026 Vacation Scavenger Hunt. Also planned for May at the Senior Center are a tree planting and the burying of a time capsule

Events will culminate in May and June. A Family Fun Day on May 16 features a Children’s Bike Decorating and Parade, followed with activities on the Common including: a Mini Big-Top Circus, face painting, T-shirt decorating, yard games, potato sack and 3-legged races, music and more. More information on these events will be forthcoming.

Volunteer recruitment and community engagement have been central to the Committee’s work.

The Committee extends its appreciation to all residents, volunteers, non-profit organizations, and local businesses supporting the America 250th Anniversary celebration. If you are interested in participating in either/ both the Family Fun Day and the Parade, or simply wish to find more information, please contact the Sturbridge250 Committee by email at Sturbridge250@gmail.com.

Hitchcock hosts seated tour of Brimfield’s historic downtown

BRIMFIELD — Hitchcock welcomes its next Brown Bag Speaker Series installation — The Brimfield Historical Commission’s Mike DeFalco will present “Brown Bag Speaker Series: Brimfield’s Historic Downtown.”

The talk will begin at 12:30 p.m., with an optional lunch at noon. Attendees may reserve a lunch ahead of time or bring one in. Reservations are required for both ($10 for the talk and an additional $10 for the optional lunch). The talk will likely run approximately one hour, and additional time is reserved for questions and discussion.

Take a sitting tour of the Common from the comfort of Hitchcock Academy. Learn about the historic buildings and monuments that make up Brimfield’s Historic District. Do you know about the privy in the Town Hall, the Academy students that died in WWI, the original use of the Town’s newly acquired Windmill and why the Bed & Breakfast at 8 North Main Street is named after Elias Carter? No need for comfortable shoes; you can walk through 300 years of Brimfield history without ever leaving your seat.

“We are fortunate to have a historian who is equally passionate about Brimfield’s history as he is willing to give of his time and knowledge,” says Executive Director Cindy Skowrya. “Mike brings unrivaled curiosity, and is well-researched in his storytelling. We’re looking forward to this talk.”

The Brown Bag Speaker Series is presented with support from The Shirley Frye Memorial Fund.

For more information, visit www.hitchcock-academy.org. Hitchcock Academy is a community center located at 2 Brookfield Rd. in Brimfield serving the community with educational, recreational, and cultural programming.

Join Sturbridge America250 Parade June 27

STURBRIDGE — The Sturbridge America250 Committee is moving forward with plans for a parade and festival on Saturday, June 27 – rain or shine. The parade will step off from the Old Sturbridge Village Museum Education parking lot at 10:30 a.m. It will proceed on the OSV access road to Route 20, then to Route 131 and end at the Town Common. Bill Emrich will emcee the parade. The parade will include marching bands, entertainers, antique cars, floats made by local businesses, and area groups. Bob Briere, recognized by many as the Town’s historian, is the parade Grand Marshall. Virginia Jalbert, the Town’s oldest resident at 101, is the guest of honor.

There is still time for businesses or groups to get involved – with a float, vintage car, or marchers. Children are invited to decorate their bikes or scooters and ride in the parade (helmets are required and a parent/guardian must walk alongside their child throughout). Anyone wishing to participate can email sturbridge250@gmail.com.

Following the parade there will be a Festival on the Common. This festival will include historical reenactors, entertainers, patriotic music, a reading of the Declaration of Independence, a cherry-pie eating contest and other participatory activities, and food trucks.

Mark your calendars on June 27 to celebrate the 250th anniversary of American independence in Sturbridge!

All Saints Academy honors veterans at Loyalty Day celebration

WEBSTER — On May 1, All Saints Academy welcomed local veterans to its annual Loyalty Day celebration, a meaningful tribute honoring the service, sacrifice, and enduring patriotism of those who have defended our nation. Loyalty Day is a national observance set aside to affirm loyalty to the United States and reflect on the values of freedom, democracy, and unity. The event brought together students, faculty, and community members in a heartfelt

Saint Joseph School hosts engaging Social Studies Fair for students in PreK–Grade 8

WEBSTER — On April 30, Saint Joseph School proudly hosted its inaugural Social Studies Fair, welcoming families and community members after school to experience an afternoon of student learning, creativity, and discovery. Students from the PreK 3-year-old program through Grade 8 participated, transforming classrooms and hallways into vibrant showcases of historical knowledge, research, and hands-on exploration.

The purpose of a Social Studies Fair is to provide students with an opportunity to deepen their understanding of history, geography, civics, and culture through independent and guided research. It encourages critical thinking, organization, and presentation skills, while also fostering curiosity about the world and its people. Events like this allow students to take ownership of their learning and build confidence as they share their knowledge with others.

Across all grade levels, students created colorful, well-organized displays that reflected both their effort and enthusiasm. Each grade explored age-appropriate topics aligned with their curriculum:

- Grade 8 examined major wars, spanning from the Revolutionary War to the Gulf War
- Grade 7 focused on government, including the Constitution and the branches of government
- Grade 6 researched U.S. presidents
- Grade 5 studied individual states
- Grade 4 explored the history and significance of the Olympics
- Grade 3 also researched states, building foundational geography skills
- Grade 2 created family trees, making meaningful connections to their own histories
- Grade 1 learned about the American Revolution, choosing to study figures such as Betsy Ross, Benjamin Franklin, Paul Revere, or Thomas Jefferson, while also drawing George Washington and learning about the 13 original colonies
- Kindergarten students explored the United States by creating passports and Saint Joseph School Grade 8 student Axel Kapitilik proudly stands beside his Social Studies Fair project focused on the attack on Pearl Harbor, which occurred on Dec. 7, 1941. As part of the Grade 8 study of major wars throughout history, Axel researched the events leading up to the surprise attack and its impact on the United States. His well-organized and informative display reflected both careful research and a strong understanding of this pivotal moment in history.

learning about states and presidents

- PreK 4 students investigated animals, including their habitats, diets, and predators
- PreK 3 students researched and shared information about their favorite animals

The Social Studies Fair provided meaningful benefits at every developmental stage. Younger students were introduced to foundational concepts through hands-on and visual learning experiences, sparking early curiosity and excitement. Elementary students strengthened their research and organizational skills while beginning to make connections between topics and the real world. Middle school students demonstrated more advanced critical thinking, analysis, and presentation abilities, preparing them for future academic challenges.

The event was a true reflection of Saint Joseph School's commitment to fostering a "Foundation for Life" through engaging, student-centered learning. It was inspiring to see students of all ages take pride in their work and share their knowledge with confidence. The Social Studies Fair not only celebrated academic achievement but also highlighted the importance of inquiry, creativity, and a deeper understanding of our world.

The ceremony opened with a prayer offered by Benjamin Mukuha, who reflected on the courage of those who have given their lives in service, as well as those who continue to serve today. Camden Trainor then led the Pledge of Allegiance, followed by Colonel Bruce Finley's informative remarks on the United States Flag Code. A solemn performance of Taps honored fallen service members, while Mrs. Rose's kindergarten class sang "The Star-Spangled Banner," bringing a sense of pride and joy to the occasion. Following a moment of silence, Commander Randolph Snow of VFW Post 654 spoke about the origin and significance of Loyalty Day.

Lydia Burke then recited an original patriotic poem written by the seventh-grade class, titled "Where I'm From," celebrating the history, values, and pride of being American. The program continued with a flower presentation led by Graceanne Troiano, during which students presented red, white, and blue flowers to attending veterans. Each color symbolized a core virtue—red for courage and loyalty, white for purity, and blue for trust. All Saints Academy students created and distributed the flowers, with each veteran receiving a multicolored bouquet as a personal gesture of appreciation.

The ceremony concluded with a closing prayer by Eleanor Thompson, offering blessings and gratitude for the veterans' service and sacrifice.

The Loyalty Day celebration at All Saints Academy provided a powerful opportunity for reflection and unity, reinforcing a shared appreciation for the freedoms enjoyed in the United States and for those who have safeguarded them.
