The setting is Salem, Mass. 1692, a year in which, of the 168 men and women were accused of practicing witchcraft. Twenty of those accused were executed.

Let's see how things go in the 21st century when the audience members become the jury in the trial of Susannah Martin. Federated Church Pumpkin Patch returns Sept. 26

STURBRIDGE — For nearly a decade, the arrival of a tractor-trailer filled with pumpkins at the Federated Church of Sturbridge & Fiskdale has signaled the start of a busy October on Maple Street. This year, the church's Ninth Annual Pumpkin Patch opens Saturday, Sept. 26, and continues through Saturday, October 31, with pumpkins, seasonal displays and a growing schedule of activities for the community.

Before the Patch can open, however, there are a lot of pumpkins to unload. The Pumpkins USA truck will arrive early Saturday morning carrying pumpkins and gourds from New Mexico, and the church is welcoming volunteers to lend a hand with unloading and setting up the grounds. Pizza and refreshments will follow

CHARLTON — On Sunday, Sept. 6, Charlton's common was filled with people, at the Old Home Day festivities. The tradition began more than 129 years ago and continues to feature entertainment, music, games, crafts, food vendors, citizenship awards, and parades. For the past decade, two local lodges from the 24th Masonic District—Major General Salem Towne Lodge (MGSTL) of Southbridge and Oxford Lodge of Oxford—have taken part in the event by setting up booths to sell their goods. Both lodges had a very busy and exciting day as they

Shepherd Hill students hosting Tackle the Stigma 5K to promote mental health awareness

CHARLTON — The Shepherd Hill Regional High School cheerleading program, in partnership with the Dudley-Charlton Regional School District community, is inviting residents to lace up their running shoes and help break down barriers surrounding mental health during the annual Tackle the Stigma 5K and 2.5K Walk/Run on Saturday, Sept. 27.

The event will begin at 10 a.m. at the Shepherd Hill football field and is designed to raise awareness about mental health and mental wellness while encouraging open conversations throughout the local community.

Organizers hope participants of all ages will come together to demonstrate support for those facing mental health challenges and reinforce the message that no one has to struggle alone.

"This event is very important to us as we work to raise awareness about mental health and mental wellness throughout our local community," organizers said in announcing the event.

The walk and run carries the theme, "Run toward awareness, stand up for support, and tackle the stigma one mile at a time," reflecting its focus on education, compassion and community involvement.

Mental health advocates continue to emphasize the importance of reducing the stigma surrounding anxiety, depression and other mental health conditions, which can often prevent individuals from seeking help. Community events such as Tackle the Stigma aim to create a welcoming environment where conversations about mental wellness are encouraged and support resources are highlighted.

In addition to providing an opportunity for exercise and community engagement, the event serves as a reminder that mental health is an important part of overall well-being. Organizers hope the day will inspire participants to check in with friends, family members and neighbors while promoting a culture of understanding and acceptance.

The Shepherd Hill cheerleaders have made mental health awareness a priority, using the event to unite students, families, educators and community members around a common cause. By bringing together participants from across Dudley, Charlton and surrounding communities, they hope to build momentum for ongoing conversations that extend well beyond race day.

Whether participants choose the full 5-kilometer course or the shorter 2.5-kilometer walk/run, organizers say every step represents a commitment to supporting mental wellness and reminding those who may be struggling that help is available.

Registration information and additional event details are expected to be available through Shepherd Hill Regional High School and the Dudley-Charlton Regional School District as the event approaches.

Sturbridge Historical Society hosting presentation by historian Manisha Sinha

STURBRIDGE — Join the Sturbridge Historical Society and the Joshua Hyde Public Library for an evening with renowned historian and Sturbridge resident Manisha Sinha on Thursday, Sept. 24, at 7 p.m. The event will take place at the Sturbridge Senior Center.

As our nation celebrates the 250th anniversary of its founding, Professor Sinha will explore how the Civil War and emancipation functioned as a "Second American Revolution." This transformative period led to the re-founding of the American Republic during Reconstruction, establishing birth-right citizenship and the first federal civil rights laws. Her talk is drawn from her latest acclaimed work, The Rise and Fall of the Second American Republic: Reconstruction, 1860-1920. The presentation will delve into the overthrow of this Second Republic by domestic terror and legal decisions that hollowed out Reconstruction-era protections. The promise of American citizenship regardless of race or color would not be realized until the Civil Rights Movement in the twentieth century. We still live with the competing legacies of reactionary authoritarianism and progressive democracy bequeathed by this history. Copies of the book will be available for purchase and signing following the presentation. Having resided in Sturbridge since 1994, Professor Manisha Sinha has authored several distinguished, prize-winning volumes including The Slave's Cause: A History of Abolition (2016), a work that earned a spot on the National Book Award longlist for non-fiction. A graduate of Columbia University with a Ph.D. in American history—where her doctoral research was a Bancroft Prize nominee—she spent more than two decades at the University of Massachusetts, Amherst. During her tenure there, she received the Chancellor's Medal, the faculty's most prestigious commendation. Since 2016, she has served as the Draper Chair in American History at the University of Connecticut, Historians of the Past President of the Society for Early American Republic.

A golf tournament becomes groceries on the table

There is a tendency to measure the success of a charitable event by the size of the crowd, the amount of money raised or whether everyone had a good time. Those things matter. But the most important measure comes afterward.

In the case of the Rotary Club of Sturbridge's annual charity golf tournament, the result this year was $13,000 for the St. John Paul II Food Pantry, an organization serving approximately 230 families and 800 people in Sturbridge and Southbridge. That puts the significance of a day on the golf course into perspective.

Forty-three golfers participated in the Aug. 24 tournament. Sponsors contributed. Volunteers gave their time. Organizers handled the countless details required to put together an annual fundraiser.

Then, on Sept. 1, all of that effort was distilled into a check presented to Father Carlos Ruiz. The money will now help put food on tables. That is community fundraising at its best.

Food insecurity can sometimes be difficult to see in communities such as ours. There is no single face of a family that needs help from a food pantry. People may be working and still struggling with rising household expenses. A sudden job loss, illness, rent increase, major repair or other unexpected expense can quickly upset a family's finances.

The numbers from St. John Paul II Food Pantry provide an important reminder of how widespread that need can be.

Among the households it serves are 95 senior families. For older residents living on fixed incomes, increases in the cost of food, utilities, housing, transportation and medical care can leave little flexibility in a monthly budget. A food pantry can provide some breathing room while allowing limited income to cover other necessities.

There is also something particularly valuable about the local nature of this effort. The golfers were local. Many of the businesses and organizations supporting the tournament have deep connections to the region. The Rotary Club organized the event locally. And the money is being directed to an organization feeding people in Sturbridge and neighboring Southbridge.

The distance between donor and recipient is remarkably short. That matters because strong communities are built not only through major public programs and large institutions, but through hundreds of smaller acts of participation.

Someone registers for a golf tournament. A business agrees to become a sponsor. A volunteer gives up part of a day. A civic organization spends months planning an event.

Individually, those contributions might seem modest. Combined, they produced $13,000 for a pantry helping hundreds of neighbors.

The tournament itself also demonstrates why long-running community traditions deserve support. Annual fundraisers do not continue automatically. They survive because organizers remain willing to do the work and because residents and businesses continue showing up.

That consistency is valuable. Food insecurity does not disappear when a fundraising campaign ends. Pantries need dependable community partners because the families walking through their doors need dependable help.

There will always be worthy causes competing for attention and resources. No single organization can address every need. What civic groups such as Rotary can do, however, is identify a need close to home and mobilize people around it. The Sturbridge tournament accomplished exactly that.

The final score from Aug. 24 will eventually be forgotten. The foursomes will change. Next year's tournament will bring another round of competition and camaraderie.

But $13,000 worth of community generosity has now moved from the golf course toward pantry shelves and, ultimately, kitchen tables throughout Sturbridge and Southbridge. That is a result worth remembering.

Don't lose track of financial accounts

For years, people save and invest in 401(k) plans, IRAs, and other financial accounts. They wouldn't lose track of this money, would they?

You might be surprised. About one in seven people has unclaimed cash or property, totaling billions of dollars, according to the National Association of Unclaimed Property Administrators.

People lose track of their money for a variety of reasons: They change jobs and forget about their retirement accounts; they move and leave no forwarding address; they change names and don't notify former employers; or their employers go out of business or merge with another company.

Whatever the reason, losing tabs on accounts that could be worth thousands of dollars is never a good thing. What can you do to avoid suffering this type of loss?

Here are a few suggestions:

- Maintain good records. Keep records of all your financial, investment and retirement accounts — and let a family member know where these records are kept.
- Keep a manageable number of financial accounts. The fewer bank and brokerage accounts that you have, the easier it will be to keep track of everything. You might even want to consolidate accounts when possible.
- Report your change of address. Whenever you move, contact your financial services providers and any former employers with whom you may have retirement accounts.
- Report name changes. If you change your name, notify new and old 401(k) plan administrators, banks, brokerages, and any other institution connected to your money.
- Manage retirement accounts when you change jobs. If you leave your job, you might be able to leave your 401(k) behind with your old employer. But if you do, keep track of it. On the other hand, you could roll your old plan into your new employer's plan or into an IRA.
- Inform your financial professional about all your accounts. If you work with a financial professional, they can help you track your accounts, so inform them of all past and present IRAs and 401(k)s or similar employer-sponsored plans.

So far, we've looked at ways you can prevent losing track of financial accounts. But can you do anything if you suspect you've already left some money behind?

If you think you've lost tabs on an IRA, you can check old tax returns and bank statements to help you track your contributions and find the name of the financial provider that held your account. If it's a 401(k), you can contact your old employer's plan administrator.

You can get some help from other sources, too. The Department of Labor recently launched a retirement savings lost-and-found database (lostandfound.dol.gov) that can help you find pension or 401(k) plans connected to your Social Security number. For a stray IRA, you can check unclaimed.org, the Web site of the National Association of Unclaimed Property Administrators. And for various other sources of money — including uncashed checks from corporations and financial institutions, inactive brokerage accounts, and unclaimed safe deposit boxes — you can check MissingMoney.com, the unclaimed property website of the National Association of State Treasurers.

These sites offer no guarantees of finding your lost or missing accounts or other sources of money, so you still may have to do your own sleuthing. But as the old saying goes, "an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure" — which, in this case, means you'll help yourself greatly by tracking your accounts from beginning to end.

Somebody is stealing the daylight

It happens every September, and every September, I somehow manage to be surprised by it. I look out the window sometime after supper and think, "Why is it getting dark?" As though there has been some sort of mistake. As though I should call somebody.

For most of the summer, daylight spoils us. You can finish supper, look around the house, decide you ought to do something useful and still have enough daylight left to avoid doing it for another hour.

There is time to mow a little grass, putter around outside, talk to a neighbor or stand in the driveway staring at something that needs fixing while making absolutely no progress toward fixing it.

Then September arrives.

At first, nothing seems particularly alarming. The afternoons can still be warm. The trees are mostly green. Nobody has put the snow shovel by the back door yet, unless that person is either extremely organized or knows something the rest of us don't. But the daylight is quietly packing its bags.

One evening you are outside at 7:30 without giving it a thought. A couple of weeks later, you glance at the clock at 7, and the windows have turned into mirrors. That is when you know summer has begun slipping away.

My wife handles this transition better than I do. She accepts that seasons change because she is a rational adult. I behave as though daylight is something we purchased and therefore ought to receive in the quantity promised.

"It's dark already," I'll announce.

"Yes," she'll say.

"It wasn't dark this early last week."

"I know."

"Seems awfully early."

This conversation has taken place every September for roughly 30 years.

Marriage is partly about love, partly about companionship and partly about listening patiently while another human being reports the same seasonal phenomenon three decades in a row. There is something about these September evenings that changes the rhythm of a small town.

In July, evening stretches. People are still outside. Lawnmowers are running. Somebody is washing a car. Kids are squeezing another half-hour out of the day. A neighbor wanders over and a five-minute conversation becomes 25

LANTERNS ALONG MAIN STREET

By CHARLES

because nobody is particularly concerned about the clock.

September puts everybody on notice. The shadows stretch across the yard earlier. Porch lights appear. Cars traveling down Main Street have their headlights on before supper has had much time to settle.

You start measuring outdoor jobs differently. In June, you might think, "I'll get to that after supper." In September, "after supper" is no longer a time. It is a threat. You also discover how many things are harder to find in the dark.

I recently went outside to retrieve something I had left in the yard. I knew precisely where it was. At least I knew precisely where it had been when there was daylight. I spent several minutes wandering around before admitting defeat and going back for a flashlight. The object had not moved. Apparently, my ability to locate stationary objects disappears shortly after sunset.

There is a melancholy side to all of this, of course. Summer always seems as though it ought to last longer. We spend months waiting for warm evenings, open windows, cookouts, gardens and those long stretches of daylight when 8 o'clock somehow feels like the middle of the afternoon. Then suddenly, the sun starts keeping bankers' hours.

But I've reached an age where I appreciate September more than I once did. There is something comforting about lights coming on in houses a little earlier.

Drive through one of our towns around dusk and you see lamps glowing through kitchen windows. Porch lights flicker on. Restaurants and little businesses look warmer against the darkening street. The world seems to draw inward a bit.

Soon enough, there will be leaves to rake, furnaces to consider and the annual mystery of discovering what happened to the gloves you distinctly remember putting somewhere sensible last spring. I'm in no hurry for any of that. For now, though, I'm trying to appreciate these September evenings for what they are. They are the hinge between seasons. Summer has not entirely left us, and autumn has not entirely arrived. There is still warmth in the afternoon, but evening carries a warning. Use the daylight while you've got it.

Take the walk. Finish the yard work. Sit outside for another few minutes. And when you look up one evening and discover that darkness has arrived much earlier than expected, don't bother announcing it to your spouse.

Trust me. They already know.

St. Anne-St. Patrick Parish announces grief support group

STURBRIDGE — St. Anne-St. Patrick Parish is holding a faith-based grief support workshop this fall to help those who have experienced a loss. “Grieving with Great Hope,” a bereavement resource from Good Mourning Ministry, is dedicated to accompanying those who are grieving on their healing journey through prayerful, practical and personal grief support.

Each session includes viewing a video followed by small group discussions for those who wish to share. Prayer guides participants through the seven intentions of mourning. The program offers tools to help those who are grieving find comfort, support, and healing.

The workshop is open to those grieving a loss of any type, regardless of faith, age, or when the loss occurred. However, it is recommended that the loss has taken place at least three months previously. The program has helped thousands of people find hope and healing.

The next series of workshops is scheduled for Sept. 12, 19, and 26, and October 3 and 10. Meetings take place on Saturdays at 9 a.m. in the Rendezvous inside St. Joachim’s Chapel at St. Anne-St. Patrick church.

Space is limited and registration is necessary. For more information or to register, please call the parish office at 508-347-7338 or email Chris Williams at cwkiki@charter.net. Visit www.goodmourningministry.net to learn more about this grief resource.

St. Anne-St. Patrick Parish is an active parish community. It offers daily Mass for worship, religious education, and community ministries. It welcomes visitors to St. Anne Shrine, the new Memorial for the Unborn, the Hall of Saints, the Russian Icon Exhibit, the Votive Chapel, the Generations Statue, and the Angel of Hope Monument. The Daily Rosary is recited at 3 p.m. in the St. Patrick Chapel, and weekend Masses are celebrated in its outdoor pavilion in the summer. Its religious gift shop is open every day from 10 a.m. – 5 p.m.

BHS Class of 1986 seeks community’s help locating classmates for 40th reunion

REGION — As the Bartlett High School Class of 1986 prepares to celebrate its 40th reunion on Sept. 26, organizers are asking the community for assistance in locating classmates who have not yet been reached through social media or via text.

To make the process simple, the reunion committee has created a short contact-information form and is encouraging residents, friends, and former classmates to help spread the word. If you know someone on the “missing classmates” list, organizers ask that you text them the link to the form so they can update their information.

Contact Info Form: <https://tinyurl.com/BHS1986-40Years>

If it’s easier, you may also complete the form on a classmate’s behalf—so long as you have their current contact details. Organizers emphasize that any help tracking them down is truly appreciated, as personal connections often succeed where digital outreach falls short.

A list of classmates the committee is hoping to locate appears below. With the community’s support, they hope every member of the Class of ’86 will have the opportunity to join this milestone celebration.

St. Anne – St. Patrick Parish introduces family-friendly schedule for 2026–2027 Faith Formation program

FISKDALE — St. Anne-St. Patrick Parish is making it easier for families to participate in both Faith Formation and Sunday Mass with a newly redesigned class schedule for the 2026-2027 program year. By intentionally centering its Faith Formation schedule around the 10:00 a.m. Sunday Mass, the parish hopes families can more easily worship together while also having more time back in their Sundays.

"At St. Anne – St. Patrick Parish, we want to remove obstacles that make it difficult for families to practice their faith together," said Fr. Salvator Musande, Pastor of St. Anne – St. Patrick Parish. "Our new schedule allows children to grow in their knowledge and understanding of the Catholic Faith while making Sunday Mass something families can attend together. We warmly invite both returning and new families to join us."

Registration is now open for Faith Formation for students in Kindergarten through Grade 11. Families are encouraged to register online by September 6, 2026, which will help with class planning, although registration will remain open after that date.

The new class schedule is:

- Grades K–6: Sundays, 8:45–9:45 a.m., before the 10 a.m. Mass.
- Grades 7–11: Sundays, 11:15 a.m.–12:30 p.m., after the 10 a.m. Mass.

Faith Formation provides children and teens with age-appropriate instruction in the Catholic Faith, Sacred Scripture, Prayer, Christian living, and preparation for the Sacraments. Online registration is the preferred registration method and is available on the parish website. A paper registration form is also available for families who need one.

For more information or to register, visit www.StAnneStPatrickParish.com or call 508-347-9353.

St. Anne St. Patrick Parish & Shrine is an active parish community serving the Sturbridge area and beyond offering daily Masses, religious education, and community ministries. The shrine grounds welcome thousands of visitors each year and feature St. Anne Shrine, Stations of the Cross and Crucifix, Hall of Saints, Russian Icon Exhibit, Generations Statue, Angel of Hope Monument, Memorial for the Unborn, Votive Chapels, weekend Masses celebrated in the outdoor pavilion during the summer, and a religious gift shop open daily from 10 a.m. – 5 p.m.

Shepherd Hill graduate named Beckman Scholar

WEBSTER — Joanna Lepper, a 2024 graduate of Shepherd Hill Regional High School, has been selected as a 2026 Beckman Scholar at Syracuse University, a prestigious honor recognizing promising undergraduate researchers in the chemical and life sciences. Currently in her junior year, Lepper is double-majoring in Biotechnology and Applied Data Science. She conducts computational research in the Oliverio Lab at Syracuse, focusing on microbial eukaryotes.

The Arnold and Mabel Beckman Foundation selected Syracuse as one of only 14 institutions nationwide to participate in the 2026 Beckman Scholars Program. The program provides students with an intensive, 15-month mentored research experience, including two summers of research, along with professional development opportunities.

Lepper recently traveled to Irvine, Calif., to attend the annual Beckman Symposium, where she joined other researchers from around the country to share research, learn from scientists, and make professional connections.

The Beckman honor adds to Lepper's accomplishments as an undergraduate researcher. In 2025, she was the primary author of a research paper published in The ISME Journal, an international scientific journal specializing in microbial ecology.

Tri-Valley, Inc. celebrates 50 years of service, independence and community

DUDLEY — Tri-Valley, Inc. is proud to celebrate its 50th anniversary, marking five decades of service to older adults, people with disabilities, caregivers and families throughout the communities it serves.

Since its founding in 1976, Tri-Valley has grown and evolved alongside the people and communities it serves. What began with a commitment to helping individuals remain independent in their homes and communities has developed into a broad network of programs, services and partnerships designed to promote dignity, choice, safety and quality of life.

“Fifty years represents much more than the passage of time,” said Lisa Prince, CEO. “It represents generations of people who have trusted Tri-Valley, employees who have dedicated their careers to serving others, community partners who have worked alongside us, and leaders who had the vision to build and strengthen this organization. Most importantly, it represents the thousands of consumers whose independence, determination and voices have shaped who we are.”

Honoring the leaders who helped shape Tri-Valley

Tri-Valley’s 50-year history has been guided by dedicated executive leadership, beginning with Mr. Donald Warner and continuing through former Executive Directors Ms. Patricia Clark, Mr. Bernard Gagnon and Ms. Marilyn Travinski.

Each brought different strengths to the organization while carrying forward a common purpose: ensuring that people have access to the services and supports they need to live as independently as possible.

Under their leadership, Tri-Valley responded to changing community needs, expanded services, developed new partnerships and navigated significant changes in aging and disability services. Their contributions established the foundation on which Tri-Valley continues to build today.

Celebrating the staff behind 50 years of service

At the heart of Tri-Valley’s history are its employees.

Over five decades, hundreds of staff members have answered phones, visited consumers in their homes, coordinated services, delivered meals, supported caregivers, advocated for consumers, managed programs and performed the countless behind-the-scenes tasks necessary to keep services available to people who depend on them.

Some employees have devoted decades of their careers to Tri-Valley, carrying the organization’s institutional knowledge and mission from one generation of staff to the next.

Their stories — and those of every employee who has been part of Tri-Valley during the past 50 years — demonstrate that the organization’s greatest resource has always been its people.

Programs that have evolved with the community

Throughout its history, Tri-Valley has adapted its services to meet the changing needs of older adults and people with disabilities.

Programs and services over the years have included our well-known and long-standing Meals on Wheels program and the original State Home Care program. Program offerings have expanded over the years to better serve the needs of community members. These include the Adult Family Care program, information and referral services, care management, caregiver and Veteran supports, protective services, options counseling, transportation and others.

Today, Tri-Valley continues to provide services that give consumers greater choice and control over how and where they live. Its work includes Personal Care Management functions within the Massachusetts MassHealth system, one example of the organization’s continuing role in supporting people who choose to live independently in their communities.

The programs may have changed, expanded and modernized during the past half-century, but the purpose behind them has remained remarkably consistent: listen to the individual, respect their choices and connect them with supports that help make independence possible.

A community achievement

Tri-Valley’s 50th anniversary is also an opportunity to thank the many people and organizations that have shared in its work: consumers and their families, current and former employees, volunteers, Board members, community organizations, health and human-service providers, municipal leaders, state partners, donors and advocates.

To every person who has been part of Tri-Valley’s first 50 years: thank you.

And as Tri-Valley begins its next 50 years, its commitment remains rooted in the principle that has guided its work for generations — helping people live with choice, dignity and independence in the communities they call home.

Fifty years — and the work continues

As Tri-Valley celebrates its anniversary, the organization is also looking toward the future.

The needs of older adults, people with disabilities and caregivers continue to change. Technology, workforce challenges, health care delivery and demographic shifts are transforming the human-services landscape.

Tri-Valley enters its next chapter with the same willingness to adapt that has sustained the organization for five decades.

“As we recognize everyone who helped bring Tri-Valley to this milestone, we are equally excited about what comes next,” said Prince. “Our mission continues because the need continues. We will keep listening to consumers, supporting our staff, strengthening our partnerships and finding new ways to help people live with independence and dignity.”

About Tri-Valley, Inc.

Tri-Valley, Inc. is a community-based human-services organization headquartered at 10 Mill St. in Dudley, Massachusetts. For 50 years, Tri-Valley has connected older adults, people with disabilities and caregivers with programs, services and supports designed to promote independence, dignity and quality of life.

Wales Community Pantry announces first-ever fundraising golf tournament

FISKDALE — The Wales Community Pantry today announced its first annual fundraising golf tournament, inviting the community to swing for a cause that hits close to home. The event will take place on Saturday, Oct. 3, with a 9 a.m. start at Hemlock Ridge Golf Course in Fiskdale.

This is more than a day on the course. It is a chance to stand with neighbors and families who face the stress of not knowing whether there will be enough food for dinner. Or breakfast. In just the past two years, the number of people the pantry serves has roughly tripled. Hundreds of families across Brimfield, Holland, Wales, and more than 20 surrounding communities now rely on the pantry for nutritious food provided with dignity. The pantry also sends weekend food home with 85 elementary students through its Backpack Program and delivers to more than 40 homebound neighbors.

In the immediate area there are no grocery stores and limited public transportation, making the pantry a critical lifeline. Rising costs of food, housing, and healthcare continue to push more households to seek help. The tournament will feature food, prizes, and the chance to make a tangible difference.

“Golf is fun, but this day is about something bigger,” said Dave Sweeney, Executive Director of the Wales Community Pantry. “Every player, sponsor, and volunteer helps us keep food on the shelves for families who need it. We’re grateful for the community’s support and excited to grow this event into an annual tradition.”

Event Details

- Date & Time: Saturday, Oct. 3, 9 a.m. start
- Location: Hemlock Ridge Golf Course, Fiskdale
- Includes: Golf, food, and prizes
- Registration: <https://bit.ly/WalesGolfFundraiser>
- Sponsorships: Available at multiple levels. Contact WalesCommunityFoodPantry@gmail.com or visit the golf tournament registration page for more details.

Players, sponsors, and volunteers are encouraged to sign up early. Sponsorship opportunities offer visibility while directly supporting the pantry’s mission. For more information or to discuss sponsorship, email WalesCommunityFoodPantry@gmail.com or visit the golf tournament registration page for more details.

About the Wales Community Pantry

Theodoss, Maria Torres and Romon Torres finished fourth.

This year’s tournament, the 9th consecutive of 30 annual tournaments, was supported by major donors bank-Hometown, Country Bank, Dave’s Pest Control, Daniel T. Morrill Funeral Home, Dexter-Russell Inc., Four Seasons Maintenance, McCarthy

Hargrave Wealth Management, Militia Administrative Services Inc., Paul’s Automotive Machine, Power Specialist, Safety Source, Savers Bank and Southbridge Credit Union.

The annual tournament is one of the Rotary Club of Sturbridge’s major fundraising efforts and supports the club’s commitment to addressing needs in the local community.

in Fellowship Hall for all “Helping Hands.” Those interested in volunteering should contact the church office at (774) 304-1021.

Once the work is done, the front lawn at 8 Maple Street, Sturbridge, will once again be filled with pumpkins and gourds of all shapes and sizes, along with mums, hay bales, corn stalks and loose hay for scarecrows. Cookbooks will also be available.

The Pumpkin Patch will be open Monday through Friday, 10:30 a.m.-6 p.m.; Saturday, 9 a.m.-6 p.m.; and Sunday, 11 a.m.-6 p.m., weather permitting. Payment may be made by cash, credit card or Venmo.

Visitors will find more than pumpkins during the five-week run. Plans include pumpkin carving, face painting, music and Storytime with Judy, along with a performance by Rock Voices Auburn, with the date to be announced.

The Central Mass Plein Air Painters will also return on Saturday, Oct. 10, setting up their easels around the church grounds to paint the Patch and surrounding autumn landscape. “The Pumpkin Patch is such an idyllic fall scene it begs to be painted,” said organizer Diane Vanaskie Mulligan.

“The Pumpkin Patch began in 2018 as a simple fundraiser, but it has grown into something the church and community look forward to every year,” said committee co-chair Paul Medeiros. “It gives people a chance to spend some time together, enjoy the season and, at the same time, help us support the missions and ministries that are important to our church.”

The Patch also has a connection extending well beyond Sturbridge. A portion of the proceeds supports the Navajo Nation in Farmington, New Mexico, where Pumpkins USA grows the pumpkins and provides seasonal and year-round employment.

What began nine years ago as a seasonal fundraiser has become one of the church’s most visible community traditions — part pumpkin sale, part gathering place and part reminder that a simple fall activity can help support worthwhile work throughout the year.

Proceeds help the Federated Church support a variety of local missions and ministries, including Sturbridge Girl Scout and Scouting America troops, both of which meet at the church, the local Veterans Association, and the church’s ecumenical work with other area congregations.

October will be a particularly active month at the Federated Church. In addition to the Pumpkin Patch, the church will host its monthly movie night and ice cream social on Thursday, Oct. 1; a Roots and Relics concert on Friday, Oct. 9, from 7-8:30 p.m.; and the Koinonia women’s group Rummage Sale on Oct. 23 and 24.

For additional information about the Pumpkin Patch, October activities or volunteering to help with unloading and setup, visit sturfed.org, call the church office at (774) 304-1021 or email churchoffice@sturfed.org.

The Federated Church of Sturbridge & Fiskdale, 8 Maple St., Sturbridge, welcomes all to share in Christ’s presence and God’s grace. Sunday worship is held at 9:30 a.m.

been doing to-go shows for the last several years at various venues throughout the New England area. The Company was founded in 1992, and prior to “going on the road” performed at different locations throughout Massachusetts, most often at the Boston Center for the Arts. Delvena was nominated for five Independent Reviewers of New England awards. Its production of ‘Who’s Afraid of Virginia Woolf?’ was on Theatre Mirror’s Best List for acting, directing and production. Presentations of ‘Anna Weiss’ and ‘Beyond Therapy’ were included on Theatre Mirror’s best play list and ‘Blue Heart’ was placed on Aisle Say’s best list.

Salem Witch Hysteria is supported in part by a grant from the Southbridge Cultural Council, a local agency which is supported by the Massachusetts Cultural Council, a state agency. To reserve a seat, call the Senior Center at (508) 764-1469.

ities for children. Members of the Charlton Old Home Day committee announced the day’s activities, and the live bands and music were outstanding. I enjoyed viewing the Grizzly Adams photos; he is buried in the town cemetery just down the road from the festivities. Many organizations, non-profits, craft makers, and vendors were also on hand selling their goods. The day concluded with a parade featuring beautiful antique cars, fire trucks, and more. MGSTL served fresh, hand-cut homemade French fries, and the long lines made it clear they were worth the wait. The lodge went through many, many pounds of potatoes.

Oxford Lodge sold lobster rolls, and snow cones. The lobster rolls were especially popular and sold quickly, while children eagerly lined up for flavored snow cones. At times, both lodge booths had long lines as visitors waited for their treats. To learn more about Freemasonry or find a lodge near you, visit www.massfreemasonry.org.

Rotary Club of Sturbridge presents Sixth Annual TREK Sturbridge Halloween 5K, 1K & Fun Walk

STURBRIDGE — Runners, walkers, families and Halloween enthusiasts are invited to hit the trails again this fall when the Rotary Club of Sturbridge presents its annual TREK Sturbridge Halloween 5K, 1K and Fun Walk on Sunday, Oct. 25.

Pre-registration is now open for the family-friendly event, according to Race Director Klaus Hachfeld. Participants can pre-register at RaceRoster.com by entering “Sturbridge” in the search field. Those who register before Oct. 19 will receive this year’s free collectible TREK Sturbridge Halloween 5K T-shirt.

“Partnering with TREK Sturbridge has become a great way to bring people together, enjoy some of Sturbridge’s beautiful trails and have a little Halloween fun at the same time,” Hachfeld said. “More importantly, every registration helps Rotary Education Center.

The timed 1K Pre-Teen Run begins at 9:15 a.m. and is open to children ages 12 and younger. Registration is $20, and the course is accessible to participants with mobility challenges.

The timed 5K Trail Run and Fun Walk begin at 10 a.m. The course follows Old Sturbridge Village Road and the Arbutus Park Trail through the Leadmine Mountain Wildlife Conservation Lands. Registration is $35 for the 5K and $30 for the Fun Walk.

Registered runners and walkers can also compete in the Best Costume competition prior to the 11:15 a.m. awards ceremony, with winners selected by popular choice.

Race-day registration will be available beginning at 8:30 a.m. Participants may register on their own devices using a QR code available at the site. Paper registration forms will also be available for those unable to register online.

The TREK Sturbridge Halloween 5K, 1K & Fun Walk is a fundraiser of the Rotary Club of Sturbridge, with proceeds supporting the club’s scholarships for local students and other community service projects.

“People who participate in the TREK Sturbridge Halloween 5K, 1K & Fun Walk aren’t just signing up for a race,” said Sturbridge Rotary Club President, Tim Gresenz. “They’re helping Rotary continue the work we do throughout the year to support students, families and organizations in our community. We hope they’ll come out, bring the family, wear a costume and make a morning of it.”
