Dudley Board of Health closes Subway

BY JASON BLEAU
CORRESPONDENT

DUDLEY – The Dudley Board of Health has ordered the closure of the longstanding Subway restaurant at 157 West Main St. after a series of violations dating back to December of 2023.

The Dudley Subway is owned by Seema Sub Shop LLC, and has been in business for roughly 14 years. On Dec. 29, Dudley Health Agent Patrick Hannon performed an inspection revealing 14 violations. During a hearing before the Board of Health on March 19, Hannon noted that he thought the store was clean and that food storage was organized but revealed the only employee on hand that day was untrained in how to take proper food temperatures, was not ServSafe certified, and was not trained in allergen awareness. Records concerning food temperatures were not available to Hannon at the time of inspection. Hannon left an order that a certified food manager be on site when food is being served, proper training be administered to the employees, and that temperatures be recorded every two hours until further notice. Failure to follow those orders would risk revocation of the food service permit, which Hannon said was not appealed. Hannon paid a second visit to the restaurant the next day when the owner was there where the only violation recorded was once again issues with food temperatures.

A follow-up inspection was performed on Feb. 24 where a different employee was alone, again improperly trained and not a certified food manager. This employee shared negative comments concerning the owner and the condition of the store, and revealed that they had been improperly trained in re-heating tactics for the food. The business was also not adhering to the temperature logging requested by the Health Agent. Hannon told the Board of Health that the first employee he met in December, identified as Lauren Dobson, who testified during the hearing, visited his office, sharing information and around 225 photos from the business showing poor storage practices, cleanliness issues, and food quality concerns. Hannon found the photos disturbing and commended the employee and her coworker for coming forward.

"I think the girls finally got comfortable enough that we weren't trying to make it their fault that they were willing to come forward and actually say what was really going on at the Subway," Hannon told the Board of Health.

A selection of the photos was presented during the hearing showing moldy vegetables, evidence of date tampering with cold-stored foods, visible proof

Wojnar honored with Grange Public Service Award

Retired Dudley Police Chief Steve Wojnar is presented with the National Grange 2024 Public Service Award by members of Sunrise Pomona Grange #9.

CORRESPONDENT

DUDLEY — Dudley's retired Police Chief Steven Wojnar was honored on April 1 with a special award by Sunrise Pomona Grange #9 in recognition of his decades of dedication to the town.

Wojnar was presented with the National Grange 2024 Public Service Award in a special ceremony during a meeting of the Board of Selectmen. The honor recognizes individuals who have proven their commitment to being a servant of the people. Wojnar devoted over three decades of his life to the town in law enforcement starting as a reserve officer in 1988. He was promoted to Sergeant in 2002 and then Chief a year later, a position he would hold for the next 20 years until his retirement in 2023.

Before presenting the award, members of the Sunrise Pomona Grange #9 listed off just a selection of Wojnar's accomplishments and contributions to his community during career. These included serving as a Court Liaison Officer and Crime Scene Technician and leading many programs with the Dudley schools such as starting the School Resource Officer Program and serving as field attendance officer. His role in the local schools earned him the nickname "Officer Friendly" at Mason Road Elementary School.

During his career, Wojnar was heavily involved in charitable programs and causes including the United Way of Webster and Dudley, Helping Address the Needs of Dudley Seniors (HANDS), and the Jimmy Fund. He has served on the Southern Worcester County Drug and Counter Crime Task Force, as President of the Central MA Chiefs of Police, and as a member of the Executive Planning Committee for the National Center for Missing & Exploited Children. He served a term as President of the Massachusetts Chiefs of Police Association in 2018 and helped respond to the first Amber Alert in Massachusetts in 2003. Wojnar has continued to contribute to his community as Director of Public Safety at Nichols College. The recognition also came nearly ten years to the day after Wojnar received a cancer diagnosis, a battle he has since won.

Wojnar was known as a softspoken and humble leader during his time with Dudley Police, and those traits shined once more when selectmen asked him to comment on his latest honor.

"This was always one of those things where you did this job and you're not a golfer or a tennis player, you're part of a team no matter where you work. I was fortunate to have a great wife and family behind me, a great group I worked with, a great community. I always admired

WEST BOYLSTON — Worcester County Sheriff Lewis Evangelidis is pleased to announce the recent round of lieutenant promotions at the Worcester County Sheriff's Office. These new lieutenants will join the superior officer's group and assume administrative responsibilities at the Worcester County Jail and House of Correction. The last round of lieutenant promotions at the Worcester County Sheriff's Office took place in 2021. Among those promoted from the rank of sergeant are Auburn's Tony Delarosa and Ryan Bennett.

Delarosa, an 11-year WCSO veteran, began his career in 2012 and was promoted to sergeant in 2017. Before his promotion to lieutenant, Delarosa worked in the receiving/intake area at the Worcester County Jail and House of Correction. He was also a member of the Special Operations Group and the WCSO Critical Incident Stress Management team. Delarosa will now take on additional oversight and responsibility in this area as well as maintain his specialty roles.

Bennett, a 17-year WCSO veteran, began his career in 2006 and was promoted to sergeant in 2022. Before his promotion to lieutenant, Bennett worked in the WCSO Special Services Department and for CEMLEC as an FCC-licensed drone pilot. He is also an active member of the WCSO Honor Guard. Bennett will now take on additional oversight and responsibility within the Special Services Department.

With the rank of lieutenant, the recently promoted individuals will be responsible for commanding and supervising sergeants, officers, and staff under their charge. In addition, the lieutenants will be responsible for monitoring the care, custody, and control of inmate activity, ensuring the safety of both staff and inmates.

"At the Worcester County Sheriff's Office, promotions are granted to those who have earned them through exceptional merit, unwavering work ethic, and steadfast dedication to duty," commented Evangelidis. "This group has proven themselves as leaders during their tenure with the sheriff's office. I look forward to seeing the lieutenants settle into their roles, mentor newer staff, and execute the mission of the sheriff's office for the residents of Worcester County."

The Worcester County Jail and House of Correction is responsible for pre-trial detainees and inmates sentenced to two and a half years or less. The facility can house more than 1,000 inmates and is in West Boylston. The sheriff's office also operates community centers in Fitchburg, Worcester, and Webster.

Oxford School Committee approves collaborative fund, eyes budget again

BY GUS STEEVES
CORRESPONDENT

OXFORD — The School Committee became the first of 15 districts participating in the SWCEC to approve establishing a capital reserve fund.

According to Southern Worcester County Educational Collaborative (SWCEC) director Arnold Lundwall, the plan aims to set aside up to $2 million in budgets surpluses as a "safety net" to cover equipment, space and other needs "slowly over time." One of the latter might include the ability to fund their "first refusal" rights to buy their two campuses if their present landlords decide to go out of business or otherwise sell. Another might be to "bring our students together" in one location, he said.

The collaborative now runs out of a former bowling alley in Southbridge and a former farmhouse in Dudley. Lundwall noted both landlords have been "good partners with us" for more than 15 years, noting as an example that one donated a playground.

The key issue, he said, is that collaboratives don't have access to state MSBA school renovation funding for projects. Any spending would have to be approved by the board of directors, which is a committee of the superintendents of participating districts, so it will have "no risk to the districts." To create this fund, they need approval from two-thirds of those districts.

Chair Corey Burke said he's happy with the collaborative's services, but visited it and agreed their campuses need some work. Member David Cornacchioli agreed, noting he started his teaching career in a Worcester collaborative.

Lundwall said SWCEC tries to return students to their home districts "if the students are ready," he WEBSTER — On Friday, April 26 and Saturday, April 27, the Shepherd Hill Regional High School Drama Club will present "Clue: High School Edition." The play is based on the screenplay by Jonathan Lynn, which was inspired by the Hasbro board game, Clue, and was written by Sandy Ruskin. The show also features original music by Michael Holland.

Published by Dramatist's Play Service, the comedic whodunnit is set in the late 1950's, when Joseph McCarthy's House Un-American Activities Committee was waging war on communists and Barbie had just made her official debut in American toy stores. On a stormy night, six strangers have been invited to a dinner party by a mysterious "Mr. Boddy." Before the night is over, all of the guests have colorful aliases, they have received murderous "party favors," and their host is dead before dessert.

So who is the murderer? Join Colonel

Mustard, Mrs. White, Mrs. Peacock, Miss Scarlet, Professor Plum, and Mr. Green as they, along with overly helpful butler, Wadsworth, race around Boddy Mansion trying to find the killer before it's too late. Was it Colonel Mustard in the study with the lead pipe? How about Miss Scarlet in the conservatory with the revolver? Come see the show and see if your suspicions are correct!

Oxford selectmen promote two officers, honor dispatcher

BY GUS STEEVES
CORRESPONDENT

OXFORD — The last selectmen's meeting focused largely on honoring the police in various ways.

The first form came as the board voted to promote Jeromy Grniet to lieutenant and Kenneth Meade to sergeant after Chief Mike Daniels described his process for recommending them.

He said he purposely waited six months after starting to see how people in the department worked together, what process to sue, who'd test well and "who can show the skills." That was more than just for these promotions, he noted; he's in general looking for officers "who have the potential to move up."

Daniels said these two specifically shined as part of a two-day process. Day one featured the written testing featuring "things you'd probably see at the executive or administrative level." Day two was a formal assessment center for practical skills, so he could see "where their strengths and weaknesses are."

"This gave me a lot of information," the chief said. "That was awesome because now I know the direction of the department and who's going to help us get there."

Regarding Grniet, Daniels said "everyday since I started here, he's been very helpful. ... He's been my sidekick and most valued team member." Grniet has been on the force since 1999 and served as acting chief during last year's search for Daniels, who replaced retiring Tony Saad. Regarding Meade, he said Meade was "very surprised" to see Daniels come in to ride with him on an overnight shift; he's served since 2002.

John Eul also praised them, noting the Auburn police commended their actions during a March 9 shooting.

"That says a lot when your peers recognize your professionalism," he said.

Daniels added he was "impressed how much they care about this community." He dubbed his first six months as chief "a dream" because the collaboration within the department "has been awesome."

Later, the department and board honored dispatcher Stephanie Dvareckas with "the Stork Award" for her "compassionate support [that] rose above the daily challenges" during a 911 call Feb 25 from the husband of a woman in labor.

Sgt. Joseph Conlin, who recommended her to the chief, said the father to be called "frantic" and there was no time for EMS to get there, so Dvareckas "gave articulate directions to dad" on how to help. By the time the ambulance got there, baby Austin had been born. He noted it's rare for a dispatcher to get a Stork Award.

Chair Dennis Lamarche briefly summarized three legal cases. One, known as the "59 Quaboag Ave case" (Casey Fleming et al vs the Zoning Board), was heard in December and "all three judges ruled in favor of the town," and "affirmed the town was not arbitrary" in issuing a cease and desist order to stop breeding bearded dragons there, he said. One of the appellants in that case was selectman Robert King, but the issue began before his election.

The other two are still ongoing, both in Land Court. One, the "Oxford Logistics Center case" (Michael Evans et al vs the Planning Board) is a residents' appeal of that board's approval of the project, which saw significant neighbor opposition during the lengthy public hearing process last year. The other is a developer's appeal of the Zoning Board's rejection of a proposed 40B project at 722 Main St. Lamarche said he expects the court to hear them sometime this summer.

In other business, the board extended the application deadline for the town's Hannah Harwood scholarship to May 20. Usually, it's awarded about now, but nobody has applied so far this year.

Anyone getting money gets in in two chunks – one before college begins and the second after providing documentation they've completed their first semester.

In her report, Town Manager Jen Callahan announced Oxford was approved for participation in the state's Vacant Storefront Program, which gives small businesses a tax break for filling vacant storefronts downtown. She also noted the March 22 and 28 housing plan forums drew good turnout, with 344 survey responses. One point they highlighted is that "49 percent of Oxford population would qualify for affordable housing based on income," she said, noting there will be future forums.

Additionally, Callahan noted the town's seeking small businesses to participate in another forum at 9 a.m. June 5 at Carbuncle Beachhouse on how to help economic development. For more general residents, she added the transfer station will host bulk days April 27 (north half of town) and May 4 (south half). Kids are being invited to acting classes on Mondays from April 22-May 20 as part of the Oxford Community Theater Program; those do have a tuition cost.

Personal finance at the Gladys E. Kelly Library

WEBSTER — Money is usually a very personal and sensitive topic. Not so at the Gladys E. Kelly Public Library! Recently, parents from Webster Head Start were invited to participate in a five-part course focused on personal finance. This series of workshops were hosted by the Library with the support of Webster Five Bank, MAPFRE Insurance, Friends of the Gladys E. Kelly Public Library, and Webster Head Start.

Webster Five's Brenda Sullivan, Assistant Vice President and Marketing Manager, and Worcester Community Action Council's Melissa Trinidad, Lead Financial Empowerment Coach, each highlighted one element of personal finance per session. Topics included: savings, banking, borrowing, credit reports, and housing. These complex subjects were made manageable because of the expertise of the presenters.

Recognizing the busy schedules that most young families keep, Webster Five sponsored an evening meal before each session so that the families could enjoy each other's company. After dinner, the children were treated to a storytime and activities, led by Head Start Staff, while their parents participated in the seminar. Adults were asked to complete a pre-assessment sheet, to privately assess their understanding of the topic being discussed. At the close of each information session, the same assessment was used to gauge their level of understanding.

An indicator of success was not only the level of attendance (the majority of participants attended all five sessions), but their level of active participation and engagement. In all cases, the parents indicated that the sessions were very helpful and that they appreciated the opportunity to support each other and learn about area resources and contacts.

The allure of outer space and eclipses

Humanity's fascination with outer space and celestial events like eclipses stretches back to the dawn of our existence. From ancient civilizations to modern-day space agencies, the allure of the cosmos has captured our imaginations and sparked a colossal sense of wonder and curiosity. But what is it about outer space and eclipses that continues to captivate us?

One of the most undeniable reasons is the utter scale and mystery of the universe. Outer space represents the ultimate frontier, a vast expanse of uncharted territory waiting to be explored. The unfathomable distances between stars and galaxies, the enigmatic nature of black holes, and the possibility of extraterrestrial life all contribute to a sense of awe and intrigue. The exploration of outer space offers us the chance to push the boundaries of our knowledge and understanding, to uncover the secrets of the cosmos, and to answer some of humanity's most weighty questions about our place in the universe.

Eclipses, in particular, hold a special place because they offer a tangible connection to the cosmos. These rare celestial events, where the sun, moon, and Earth align in perfect harmony, produce breathtaking displays of light and shadow that captivate millions of people around the world. Whether it's a solar eclipse, where the moon passes between the sun and Earth, casting a temporary shadow on our planet, or a lunar eclipse, where Earth's shadow falls across the surface of the moon, eclipses remind us of the beauty and grandeur of the universe.

Moreover, eclipses have played a significant role in shaping human history and culture. Ancient civilizations viewed eclipses as omens or portents, often interpreting them as signs from the gods. Today, eclipses continue to inspire awe and wonder, bringing people together to witness these rare cosmic events firsthand. Whether it's through scientific expeditions to observe and study eclipses or community gatherings to marvel at their beauty, eclipses have a way of uniting us in our shared sense of wonder and appreciation for the cosmos.

In addition to their aesthetic appeal, outer space and eclipses also hold immense scientific value. Studying the cosmos allows us to better understand the fundamental laws of nature, from the forces that govern the motion of celestial bodies to the origins of the universe itself. Eclipses provide scientists with unique opportunities to conduct experiments and observations that would be impossible under normal circumstances, offering valuable insights into everything from solar physics to the dynamics of Earth's atmosphere.

Furthermore, our fascination with outer space and eclipses speaks to something deeper within us – a primal instinct to explore, to seek out new frontiers, and to push the boundaries of what is possible.

Jesus is alive

BEYOND THE PEWS

BY FR. LUKE A. VERONIS
SAINTS
CONSTANTINE AND HELEN
WEBSTER

Two weeks ago, my wife and I went to Notre Dame Academy to watch a musical production of "Godspell." Just like "Jesus Christ Superstar," "Godspell" is a 1970s production trying to present the life of Jesus Christ to the Hippie generation. Watching a bunch of high school girls re-enact the life and teachings of Christ was special.

Except I was taken aback when "Godspell" ended with the Crucifixion of Christ. Just like "Jesus Christ Superstar," both of these modern renditions of the life of Jesus Christ end with his death. Nothing after the crucifixion! How can that be? How can someone tell the story of Jesus without His victorious end of resurrecting from the dead? That is like telling a story but leaving the most central part of the story out. It doesn't make much sense.

Jesus was dead, and is now alive. Think about the consequences of this reality! He was betrayed, arrested, beaten, tortured, killed and buried, yet, somehow, He came back to life. This is not a mirage. It is not simply a dream.

No! The resurrection of Jesus Christ is fundamentally different! Jesus the man was killed and buried on Friday. His friends mourned in despair thinking all their dreams came to an end. He was dead in the tomb all day Saturday. Then on the third day, which we call the Day of the Lord, Sunday, He came back to life. He rose from the dead and presented Himself alive. And He revealed Himself to numerous people – first to Mary Magdalene, to Peter and the ten disciples, to Cleopas and Luke on the road to Emmaus, to Thomas and the eleven disciples a week later, to his followers on the beach where he ate with them (something a ghost wouldn't do), to 500 followers all at once, and to others. The Risen Lord Jesus showed Himself alive for 40 days following His Resurrection.

It all sounds quite outrageous. And it is! Who has ever heard of anyone else coming back to life and appearing to many people over a six week period. This is the reason why skeptics today try to dismiss this story as a fairy tale, a pie-in-the-sky dream of wishful thinking about someone rising from the dead. It just seems impossible. Because it is, humanly speaking.

Even two thousand years ago, such skepticism was just as adamant. As NT Wright, the famous New Testament scholar, notes, "Early Christianity was born into a world where everybody knew that the central claim of its faith was ridiculous, and the early Christians knew it themselves... This claim seemed absolutely crazy. Ordinary, sober people knew perfectly well that dead people don't rise back to life."

No other major world religion claims that their central figure came back to life after death and is still alive today! Muslims would never claim that Mohammed is still alive. Buddhists know that the Buddha died and didn't physically come back to life. Jews never claim that Abraham or Moses or David is still alive. Hindus claim that souls can be reincarnated but they don't believe that a person who is dead comes back to life as the same person. The Christian claim to Jesus Risen from the dead is unique and revolutionary!

The idea is so absurd, in fact, that even some liberal Christians and churches have tried to soften this scandalous idea by turning the reality of the Resurrection into some spiritual metaphor, some psychological rebirth of hope or a "spiritual but not religious" beginning of a new life. Of course, the New Testament offers a witness to the radical new life that Jesus Christ offers all His followers – we do become a new creation in Christ through our Baptism and life in Him - but that is something that comes as a result of the transforming power we receive from the Risen Lord Jesus Himself. The spiritual metaphor doesn't replace what truly happened. The dead, crucified man, Jesus, rose from the tomb and came back to life! He conquered death! He opened the gates of eternal life, paradise, and humanity no longer needs to fear death if they live with the Risen Christ!

If we embrace this reality as true, if we believe that Jesus overcame and conquered death and all the injustice and suffering He endured by rising from the dead, then it changes our entire perspective on life. If we truly accept the fact that Jesus is alive and victorious, we can then commit our lives to follow this Risen Lord, and our life will never be the same. Death is not the end of our story! All the darkness and evil we see in our world – the violence and wickedness, any suffering and tragedy, the greed and ego-centric desires, the lust and impurity, the utter confusion and deception we see all around us – is not the end of the story!

Always remember how God became a man who lived on this same earth and experienced the greatest evil and darkness of this world. He was betrayed by his own friend. He was abandoned by his closest followers. He was rejected by His own people. He was unjustly arrested, beaten, tortured and killed. We have a God who understands the evil and darkness of this world! He voluntarily experienced and endured it all for a purpose. To expose its temporary character. Evil and darkness, even suffering and death did not have the final say in the life of Christ, and will not have the final say in our story of life if we walk with the Risen Christ!

The Risen Lord Jesus is the Victor over evil, darkness, and death! And this is where we come into the story. If we choose to not only believe in the Risen Christ in an intellectual manner, but if we choose to commune with Him every day, to walk with Him and to walk as He walked, to allow His Spirit to dwell richly in us, and if we choose to form our entire world view around "Jesus Risen From the Dead," then our life will change!

When we walk with the Risen Jesus and live in the light of Christ's Resurrection, we walk in the spirit of the Beatitudes. We imitate the life of Jesus as a servant of others. We sacrifice for others out of our love for them. And ultimately, we fear nothing! Death is but a doorway into an eternal embrace in God's love. Suffering is but a temporary experience which is transformed when I accept the unconditional nature of God's love. Tragic events and affairs may seem to be overwhelming from a limited perspective, yet from the view of our Risen Lord Jesus, we find courage and discover hope because we know He is victorious over all, and we will be victorious with Him.

When we walk with the Living Christ, our lives radiate with an eternal joy, hope, peace, gratitude and wonder!

Let me conclude with the words of Archbishop Anastasios of Albania, who noted, "With Christ's Resurrection everything was made new again; everything was restored! From that point on, the question posed for every human being has been whether or not to participate in this restoration."

Christ is Risen and good prevails over evil. Christ is Risen and hope prevails over despair! Christ is Risen and light prevails over darkness. Christ is Risen and joy prevails over sadness. Christ is Risen and life prevails over death!

This is why, if we choose to participate in this resurrection, we enter into a new beginning and a victorious life! Remember, never let anything in life ever allow you to forget the joy and new life we have in the Resurrection!"

Freshwater fishing heats up

Wachusett Reservoir was hot last week for numerous anglers, as this week's pictures show. Trout fishing was not bad either, if you could stand the cold wind that was blowing all week.

Wallum Lake opens this Saturday, and should be a great day outdoors. The lake was stocked two times by Massachusetts, and the trout should provide some great fishing. The Uxbridge Rod & Gun Club will also open their trout pond to fishing for members only.

Eastman Party boats had some slow fishing last week with spotty fishing for haddock and pollock. There were plenty of Cusks being caught. Mass. saltwater fishing regulations have changed very little from last year, with scaup increasing another inch.

Tautog fishing in both Mass. & Rhode Island should start to improve in the next two weeks. Although a three fish daily bag limit is still in effect, catching a few of these hard fighting fish are all worth the effort. Eating one of these fish can provide a meal like no other ocean fish.

Turkeys are starting to become more active in the last few days. Sightings by local hunters have increased also. The Mass. turkey season opens on April 29.

The unsustainable path

To the Editor:
Many analysts project a bleak economic future for the United States due to the growing national debt currently at $34.6 trillion. The current spending rate will increase this debt to $54 trillion in 10 years. The current interest paid on this debt is $475 billion per year. This indebtedness will eventually create hyperinflation and an economic collapse like what occurred in Germany in 1923.
The current ruling class makes no attempt to reduce spending or to lower this debt. A Civil Society is dependent upon the ruling generation to preserve and protect our culture and successful economic policies for future generations. We are ignoring our responsibility to make sacrifices to reduce this debt. Can we love our children and grandchildren but simultaneously betray them and jeopardize their future?

Appropriations are constantly created in the form of assistance programs, grants, pay raises and welfare programs. Massachusetts taxpayers are now required to pay $75 million every month to provide everything needed to thousands of non-citizens. The current government is concerned with finding more funding to expand this migrant program. Much higher taxes are coming and the debt to be paid by our children will continue to explode. We know what is happening, we just don't care.

Mount Everest (and your retirement)

Climbing Mt. Everest is a challenge that captures the imagination of adventurers worldwide. It is a daunting feat that pushes ones physical and mental endurance, resiliency, and technical skills to the limit. Standing at a staggering 29,032 feet above sea level, Everest's summit is the highest point on earth. To put that height in perspective, commercial airplanes fly around 31,000 feet.

Climbers daring enough to attempt this challenge will often spend years physically training, planning, and preparing. When they finally arrive at base camp, a successful expedition can still take anywhere between six and 10 weeks — the average being two months. Often, extreme weather conditions can make summitting impossible. Climbers must contend with unpredictably high winds, blizzards, and sub-zero temperatures, even during the “climbing season”. Sudden changes can turn a promising bid into a perilous situation, forcing climbers to retreat or seek emergency shelter.

The mountain is notorious for its steep ice slopes, deep crevasses, and rocky ridges. It requires the use of ropes, shaky ladders, sherpas, and fixed lines to ascend safely. The Khumbu Icefall, a particularly hazardous section near Everest's base camp, is well known for its unstable ice towers and seemingly bottomless crevasses.

As climbers ascend, the air becomes progressively thinner, leading to reduced oxygen levels. This can cause altitude sickness, characterized by headaches, nausea, and fatigue. Taking just a few steps in these conditions can be utterly exhausting. But for those individuals fortunate enough to reach the top, it is worth the effort to achieve a lifelong goal.

Since 1953 approximately 6,664 different people have successfully summitted Mt. Everest. Sadly, the mountain has also claimed many lives (approximately 305). What might be surprising to learn is that 80 percent of those deaths occurred on the way down — after they successfully reached the summit.

When it comes to financial planning, it may seem your “climb” is done once you've reached retirement. But in reality, a new set of challenges and decisions will present themselves. How long will your portfolio last? Are you withdrawing too much or too little? Do you have a spending plan? How should you adjust your asset allocation? Is your portfolio protected? When should you take Social Security? What about taxes and inflation? Successfully reaching retirement is a fantastic accomplishment. But there is still plenty of work to be done. A knowledgeable financial planner can help guide you through the vast array of retirement pitfalls.

An Array of Random Tips & Tricks

Spring is here and it seems the perfect season to start a home project and/or prep for planning that backyard garden. From painting to gardening tips (and a few home remedies), read on for some “semi random” tips that seem especially appropriate to share this time of year!

Spring is spruce-up season, and if for you, that includes painting, try these painting pointers from the pros:

Flat Out Frugal Paint: The higher the gloss of the finish, the easier the paint is to clean. However high gloss shows imperfections, that's why flat is used. How do you get a flat finish with “washability”? Just mix a pint of gloss finish paint into each gallon of flat finish.

Timing the Job: Choose warm dry mornings to paint. Cold weather retards drying of paint and the dampness will spoil the gloss. And avoid

using paint directly from the can as this may cause contamination and prematurely age the paint. Pour the amount you expect to use in 30 minutes into a separate container.

Backyard gardeners are prepping for planting this month. Read on for some helpful hacks:

Beautiful Blooms: Planning a spring flower garden? For an interesting mix, plan to merge short plants with tall specimens for variety and depth, and differing textures. And don't underestimate the power of fragrance. Plan a pathway of flowers with strong floral scents to welcome visitors up to your door!

See the Light: Starting indoor seedlings and don't have greenhouse light? No worries! It is possible to achieve satisfactory results by utilizing your ordinary LED white shop lights. Gary Pilarchik of therustedgarden.com recommends 5,000 lumens or higher. Hang the lights about two feet above the seedlings.

An old fashioned lore worth repeating: Long ago farmers used to use the cricket's chirp to estimate the temperature, and you can too! Just count how many chirps you hear in 15 seconds, then add 40. This will give the approximate temperature in degrees Fahrenheit.

H2O2 for Plants: Hydrogen peroxide. It does much more than sooth a sore throat or clean a cut! Even your plants can benefit from H2O2. Just water or mist plants with an ounce of hydrogen peroxide in one quart water.

Produce Wash for Pennies: 'Tis the season of fresh produce - and pesticides. If you're buying a commercial produce wash, your hard earned cash may be literally going down the drain! Instead, in a spray bottle, mix two tablespoons of baking soda with one cup of water. If you want add a tablespoon of lemon juice. Spray veggies, let sit for a few minutes and rinse!

Garden Therapy: Here's a stat worth repeating: If you're planning a garden, you may be reaping more than healthy plants! The Horticultural Therapy Association claims simply looking at trees and vegetation reduces stress, lowers blood pressure and relieves muscle tension. Gardening can produce endorphin highs similar to those experienced when jogging or cycling!

Skip the medicine cabinet and open the kitchen cabinet to try these pantry cures:

It's well know that if you're drinking tea, you are boosting your immune system. But did you know studies show tea reduces the risk of some cancers? Actual tea, as opposed to herbal tea, is rich in powerful antioxidants. The National Foundation for Cancer Research reports green tea is 100 times more potent than vitamin C and 25 times more potent than vitamin E at protecting cells from cancer.

Have a headache? Mix two tablespoons of apple cider vinegar with two teaspoons of honey in a glass of water; drink it slowly, and get results within a half-hour. Or eat ten to twelve almonds. Experts say the almonds are equal to taking two aspirins but won't irritate your stomach.

Your tips can win you a great dinner for two at the historic Publick House Historic Inn in Sturbridge! Simply send in a hint to be entered into a random drawing. One winner per month will win a fabulous three course dinner for two at the renowned restaurant, located on Route 131 across the town common in historic Sturbridge. Because I'm in the business of dispensing tips, not inventing them (although I can take credit for some), I'm counting on you readers out there to share your best helpful hints!

Do you have a tip that has worked for you? Do you have a question regarding household or garden matters? If so, why not share them with readers of Stonebridge Press newspapers? Send questions and/or hints to: Take the Hint!, C/o the Southbridge Evening News, PO Box 90; Southbridge, MA 01550. Or email KDRR@aol.com. Hints are entered into a drawing for dinner for two at the historic Publick House Inn.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Thank you, Webster Fire and Rescue!

To the Editor:

I want to give a shout out to Webster Fire and Rescue! First, thank you for all you do to keep us safe.

Second, I want you to know how much joy you have brought to our parishioners on Easter. Normally, we at the Episcopal Church of the Reconciliation buy our Easter plants from a wholesaler an hour away from here. Seeing the lovely offerings you had last year for your fundraiser, we decided to shop locally and you did not disappoint. Know that your lilies lined the aisle of our lovely 154 year old church, your tulips graced the stained glass windows, and a combination of hydrangeas, tulips, and lilies joined other spring cut flowers to enhance the front of our altar. The colors were vivid, the quality excellent — my colleagues on the Washington National Cathedral Flower Guild would refer to them as “luscious”.

Special thanks to Lt. Blair for his help. But the most thanks should go to those who stood in the bad weather for a couple of days selling—with good humor and offers of help to carry. I took the opportunity to stop by a couple more times to buy my own home embellishments—I could not pass on those incredible blue/purple and bright pink hydrangeas. Websterites, if you missed the sale this year, mark your calendar for next Easter. Other churches, check them out. I, for one, will be there again!

Thank you, Webster Fire and Rescue!

Sincerely,

Biden chose the path to a border crisis

To the Editor:

I would like to refer the reader to the Web site address “federal register.gov” and then bring up executive orders. There, you can find President Trump's E O 13768 on Jan. 25, 2017 (Enhancing Public Safety in the Interior of the United States), which basically protected our country from illegal immigration. Then scroll forward to President Biden's EO 13993 on Jan. 20, 2021 (Revision of Civil Immigration Enforcement and Priorities), which completely reversed Trump's executive order.

With Biden's signature, our southern border flew open for millions of unvetted migrants and enough drugs to kill thousands of Americans. We all should be extremely concerned about the hundreds of thousands of “got-a-ways.”

These are migrants who do not report to the border patrol and start receiving all the free stuff (food, lodging, medical, debit cards, etc.) at taxpayers' expense but rather secretly cross the border and go dark. They are a danger to our country and they just walk in. Democrats, including Gov. Healey, want congress to “fix” this chaos with more money (our money!) to care for her “new arrivals.”

They (Pelosi— Schumer, for example) say we need more workers in our country. Why not raise the quotas/caps for friendly countries on existing immigration laws. We do not need terrorists from Iran, China, Iraq, and others just walking in. Biden did not have to make this crisis. He chose to!

Remember in November.

Stuff I wonder about

To the Editor:

In Massachusetts, do we have taxation without representation? I don't remember voting for $2 billion (that we know of) support for illegals. What are they doing here? I didn't vote for them, and why is taxpayer money being used to support them? My ancestors didn't have support when they immigrated legally. Just think of what the towns could do with that money. Our taxes, water, schools, permits going up — I don't hear any protests from our alleged reps. Wonder why? Seems to me after two terms, they don't represent us, just the party (doesn't matter what party), and later on pension, or no show job in state government, state colleges. Voters passed term limits 30 years ago, why hasn't the state constitution been changed? We all know why.

New Hampshire pays their reps $300 for two year terms, two or three sessions, and go home. What is so special about MA reps to be in Boston 365 days a year? MA is loaded with tax money, but what do they do with it?

My friends complain, complain, but what do we do, nothing. If voters don't vote these alleged reps out of office, or protest, write, email, X (Twitter), nothing will change. I keep hearing democracy, democracy, but do these reps know what it means? Democracy is government by the people, not by the party.

I see for once, the state auditor wants to audit the state house, do you think it might be time, hasn't been done since 1922? Why is the state auditor having a problem doing this? MA Pike bond has been paid off since 1989, why is there still a toll? It will go on, and on, unless we speak up, vote. Don't matter what party, if in love with one; at least make a change. Two terms, that's it.

Dudley Grows Together Plant Hop scheduled

DUDLEY — The Dudley Agricultural Advisory Commission will host the third annual “Dudley Grows Together” Plant Hop on Saturday, May 18, from 9 a.m. - noon. This is a rain or shine event.

Confirmed participants at this time include Armstrong Acres (heirloom tomato seedlings, herbs, and perennials), Farmer Tim's (herb, vegetable, and flower seedlings), Walnut Lane Farm (compost and meat/eggs), The Leo Family Homestead (herbs), Pleasant View Farm (honey, hay), Partridge Hill Gardens (daylilies and perennials), The Dudley Conservation Land Trust, The Dudley Grange, and of course the Dudley Agricultural Commission, who will have free seeds available thanks to the generosity of Ocean State Job Lot and the CT Master Gardeners.

Lanette Lepper, member of the Commission, had this to say: “The Plant Hop is a great way for the community to support our local growers while filling their gardens with plants that are already acclimated to our area. Many of these varieties simply are not available at big-box stores. We encourage gardeners to save the date and visit each location, ask questions, learn about new plants, and meet fellow gardeners who are excited to get their hands in the dirt! It's always a fun day for everyone, but bring some cash because not all of our growers accept cards.”

Maps will be available online at dudleyfarmers.com and on the Common day of the event. You can also search for «Dudley Grows Together» on Facebook. Many growers have a social media presence, so you are encouraged to ‘like and follow’ for more information on what they will be offering.

the unsung Brother of the lodge working behind the scenes who goes above and beyond the call of duty of what's expected of a Freemason.

Let me tell you a little bit about these two "Worthy Men" who received this Distinguished Service Award. Brother Bob St.

Auburn Historical Society hosting talk on Wachusett Dam and Aqueduct

AUBURN — The April 18 meeting of the Auburn Historical Society and Museum will feature Paul Marrone, who will present the pictorial history of the Wachusett Dam and Aqueduct.

The Wachusett Aqueduct was built to carry the newly collected waters of the Nashua River overland to the Sudbury Reservoir in Southborough. The aqueduct is largely invisible today and has since been replaced by the Cosgrove Intake. Mr. Marrone has compiled this history from the archives at Digital Commonwealth and will be taking a closer look at each of the four sections.

This event will take place at the Auburn Sportsman's Club, 50 Elm St., on Thursday, April 18 at 6:30 p.m. The meeting is free and open to the public with plenty of parking.

Keep smiling

I waited tables for quite a while in my early acting days. It's a common choice for actors because you can work at night. That leaves your days free for auditions and acting gigs.

POSITIVELY SPEAKING

yet I had to act as if they were?

It didn't matter. Showing annoyance and anger towards a customer, no matter how much they might deserve it, wasn't an option. I was forced to choose.

After many nights of soul-searching, tossing, and turning, with thoughts racing through my head, I reached a decision. No matter what happened during my shifts, I had to keep smiling.

No matter how tempting it was to snap back, showing annoyance or anger towards a customer was off-limits. I had to make a choice, which was definitely challenging.

I found myself smiling at customers who sent back their meals because the soup was "too hot" or complained their ice cream was "too cold." It seemed absurd, but as I kept my cool and flashed a smile—even when everything in me wanted to do the opposite—something unexpected began to happen. The stress that used to weigh me down started to lift.

As I made smiling a practice, I realized it wasn't about giving in or pretending the stress didn't exist; it was about choosing how I reacted to it.

I realized that my smile wasn't just a courtesy; it was my shield, a powerful defense against the relentless negativity and chaos that threatened to engulf me. No matter how unreasonable the customers were, how baseless the complaints were, or how chaotic the kitchen became, I found something interesting.

I found that smiling, keeping calm, and not reacting to the negativity wasn't me being a fake person. It was changing how I felt on the inside. I started to feel happy and soon enough I didn't have to force it.

I also noticed that the customers found it hard to continue their negativity when confronted with unwavering positivity.

Next time you find yourself about to lose your cool, take a breath and force a smile. It might feel unnatural at first, but give it a moment. That smile will start to work wonders, not just on those around you, but on you as well.

Even after I landed a lead role in Showtime's "A Separate Peace," a film produced by Oscar winners Dustin Hoffman & Michael Sugar and directed by Oscar nominee Peter Yates, I was back at the restaurant working shifts before and after filming.

It surprised a lot of folks. They thought a movie role meant you made it big, but acting jobs can be few and far between. Keeping a steady job, like waiting tables, helped me pay the bills.

Being a waiter is straightforward but challenging. You're always on your feet, rushing around. Customers are only sometimes lovely; some can be downright rude or impatient. And when you're juggling several tables, plus dealing with kitchen mix-ups, guess who customers blame? Yep, the waiter.

Waiting tables is a job packed with stress. There were days when it was written all over my face, days when anyone walking by the kitchen could hear me grumbling under my breath. I was short with the kitchen staff, snappy with my managers, and could have done better at keeping my cool.

Quitting crossed my mind more often than I'd like to admit. I fantasized about making a grand exit, throwing my apron down and shouting, "I QUIT!" for everyone to hear, then striding out the door with my head held high.

Then came the day my managers decided it was time for a chat. They understood that the job was stressful, but they also made it clear that stress comes with the territory in the restaurant world. They told me straight: no matter how tough things got, losing my cool wasn't an option. I was expected to handle it all with a smile, no exceptions.

I remember thinking, How am I supposed to keep smiling? What if a customer yells at me for their steak being overcooked when they asked for it well-done? It seemed impossible at the time. How could I grin and bear it when things were so obviously not my fault,

Dudley Grows Together Plant Hop scheduled

DUDLEY — The Dudley Agricultural Advisory Commission will host the third annual "Dudley Grows Together" Plant Hop on Saturday, May 18, from 9 a.m. - noon. This is a rain or shine event.

Confirmed participants at this time include Armstrong Acres (heirloom tomato seedlings, herbs, and perennials), Farmer Tim's (herb, vegetable, and flower seedlings), Walnut Lane Farm (compost and meat/eggs), The Leo Family Homestead (herbs), Pleasant View Farm (honey, hay), Partridge Hill Gardens (daylilies and perennials), The Dudley Conservation Land Trust, The Dudley Grange, and of course the Dudley Agricultural Commission, who will have free seeds available thanks to the generosity of Ocean State Job Lot and the CT Master Gardeners.

Lanette Lepper, member of the Commission, had this to say: "The Plant Hop is a great way for the community to support our local growers while filling their gardens with plants that are already acclimated to our area. Many of these varieties simply are not available at big-box stores. We encourage gardeners to save the date and visit each location, ask questions, learn about new plants, and meet fellow gardeners who are excited to get their hands in the dirt! It's always a fun day for everyone, but bring some cash because not all of our growers accept cards."

Maps will be available online at dudleyfarmers.com and on the Common day of the event. You can also search for «Dudley Grows Together» on Facebook. Many growers have a social media presence, so you are encouraged to 'like and follow' for more information on what they will be offering.

SUDOKU

Fun By The Numbers

Like puzzles? Then you'll love sudoku. This mind-bending puzzle will have you hooked from the moment you square off, so sharpen your pencil and put your sudoku savvy to the test!

Here's How It Works: Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!

Enjoy and protect hydrangeas from hungry deer

Melinda Myers

Hydrangeas are a favorite of hungry deer making them susceptible to severe damage so strategies to protect these plants are recommended.

Low maintenance, beautiful flowers, and plenty of varieties have made hydrangeas a favorite landscape plant. It seems you can't visit a garden center or nursery without being tempted by one of the traditional favorites or newer hydrangea varieties.

Despite their easy-care nature, hungry deer can make it difficult to fully enjoy these plants. Rutgers University rates landscape plants based on their susceptibility to deer damage. According to Rutgers, hydrangeas are occasionally severely damaged by deer, meaning they are a plant preferred by deer and protection is advised. Your experience may be different and can vary from year to year, but it is always wise to be prepared to protect key plants in your landscape.

Deer like to browse leaves, tender shoots, flower buds, and blossoms. Damage is worse when populations are high, food is scarce, and when environmental stresses like cold and deep snow are present. Once deer find a place to dine, they tend to return. Their damage has a rough or torn appearance as opposed to a clean cut like that made by a pruner. Preventing damage is always the best way to maximize your enjoyment. Even if your plants have escaped damage in the past, continue to watch for deer tracks, droppings, and plant damage.

Fencing is one option but not always the most attractive or practical. An eight-foot fence is the recommended height for protecting large areas. The University of Minnesota found deer can be kept out of small gardens that are 8 x 16 feet or smaller with much shorter fences. Sturdy decorative posts and somewhat invisible deer fencing tend to make a less obtrusive fence. Always check with your local municipality for any fencing restrictions.

Many gardeners report success using high-test fishing line. Create a barrier using strong five-foot posts with the fishing line spaced at two-foot intervals.

Scare tactics may provide some short-term help. Motion-sensitive sprinklers, noise makers, and smells are often used. Several gardeners reported success placing colorful wine bottles inverted over rebar posts. The rattling helped discourage deer browsing and added an ornamental element to the garden. Change scare tactics to increase success.

Place key plants closer to your home, in the back of large beds, or surrounded by less susceptible plants. Making it hard to reach the plants can help discourage damage to hydrangeas.

Repellents are another option. Treat susceptible plants before the deer start browsing for the best results. Look for a rain and snow-resistant product, like organic Plantskydd (plantskydd.com), which does not need to be reapplied as often. That means you'll save time applying and spend less money.

Maximize results by treating new growth according to the label directions. Most liquid repellents need time to dry and can only be applied when temperatures are above freezing. Always check the label for the product being applied and follow the directions for the best results.

Continue to monitor the landscape for signs of deer presence and damage and adjust your management strategies as needed. Be persistent so you can increase your success.

Melinda Myers has written more than 20 gardening books, including The Midwest Gardener's Handbook, 2nd Edition and Small Space Gardening. She hosts The Great Courses "How to Grow Anything" instant video and DVD series and the nationally syndicated Melinda's Garden Moment radio program. Myers is a columnist and contributing editor for Birds & Blooms magazine and was commissioned by Tree World Plant Care for her expertise in writing this article. Her Web site is www.MelindaMyers.com.

specifically noted four who went back to his previous town, Grafton, and graduated with honors. The collaborative is only seeking a 2 percent tuition hike this year "versus that 14 percent you're seeing from private schools."

Afterward, the board took its fourth look at the budget, specifically asking Superintendent Mike Lucas to compare it to Town Manager Jen Callahan's proposal. The biggest concern they had was about wanting the town to send all of the state's Chapter 70 funding to the schools, with members arguing it's intended for education aid. He noted the state increased it by $1.27 million this year specifically because of the district's increased needs and additional students, but decried what he said was the town's share being cut by $1 million.

Lucas said the committee's plan calls for $21.86 million, while Callahan's is $20.85 million. Of it, the town's share is $9.64 million; the rest comes from state aid. He said that while the total increase the board is seeking is 8.8 percent, just 5.5 percent ($501,521) is coming from local taxes.

"These are not wishes and dreams," he said. "... This is our opportunity to give our kids the best education possible."

Burke said he's concerned friends in other town departments are "being misled we're trying to harm those departments. ... We are in no way trying to take money from those departments." He noted he'd welcome more detailed discussions with the Finance Committee and selectmen over the district's goals and needs.

Todd Proctor said he's especially concerned that their requested $300,000 in "circuit breaker" money be included in the special ed budget. Since it's hard to predict when new students will need out-of-district services, he noted the district is only a couple students away from having to cut teachers to cover that cost without this money.

Leah Filipkowski said she believes the plan to replace kindergarten Chromebooks and keep three posts (a middle school interventionist, reading specialist and tech person previously federal ESSER grant funded) are "really important." The kids use those computers not to play games but to develop skills they need for later schooling, and those posts ensure the scholols can prepare the kids for high school and later because "the pandemic really hurt those grade levels," she said.

Palmina Griffin said she wants to see the covering "schedule 19 indirect costs," which should exist documenting the district/town hall understanding of how to share the various services the town provides the schools. She said she recalled a memo covering the DPW maintenance such arrangements "just kind of evolved" over time without documentation that she could find. In some cases, the School Committee managed assets the town side now manages, and she wants to "avoid redundancy."

"The town does a lot of us with all these indirect costs. That's much appreciated," she said.

promote agriculture and things in the community, so I can't really thank them enough for this. It's a tremendous honor," said Wojnar.

Before closing the ceremony, Wojnar was also honored with a special resolution recognizing the Grange award by Dudley Selectman and newly elected State Rep. John Marsi, who noted it was among his first official presentations since taking office.

of reuse of liners for the food heating systems, and evidence of reuse of a meatball container without proper cleaning just to name a few violations. Hannon said some of the photos were shared with Subway's corporate office and that company representatives were concerned about the conditions. Hannon posted an emergency order temporarily closing the business until the hearing was held.

The hearing featured input from both Town Counsel and a legal representative of Seema Sub Shop LLC who cross-examined both Hannon and Lauren Dobson while presenting their cases. The defense for Seema Sub Shop LLC argued that there had been no complaints of customers getting sick from the food and noted that a photo contained in a text message between the owner and Dobson about expired cucumbers had not actually reached the owner who instructed Dobson to use fresh cucumbers instead. The attorney felt that his client had made sufficient efforts to improve following the orders of the Health Agent and had invited Hannon back to inspect the store again with no response. The owners also acknowledged the lack of training with intent to correct those issues. The defense also noted that the restaurant's temperature logs were in line with Subway's corporate requirements.

The defense was not enough to convince the Board of Health to allow Subway another chance to improve. Board members argued that it took the restaurant being closed for them to address issues in the first place. They also explained that while Subway may have its own corporate requirements, local Board of Health orders supersede those standards and were not followed by the business. Board of Health member Jennifer Cournoyer felt that the restaurant's multiple violations gave her pause in allowing them to continue to operate in Dudley. "When we get violation after violation after violation and then it takes shutting somebody down to hear from them, it's an insult to us, like you didn't take us seriously," said Cournoyer.

The board acknowledged that the decision was difficult as they were caught between risking public safety or hurting local business. After nearly an hour and a half the board determined that Subway was too big of a risk to reopen and voted to revoke the license for Seema Sub Shop LLC for serious and repeated violations of the food code. The business owners will have the opportunity to appeal the decision in Superior Court if they choose, but for now the business will remain closed.

On April 2, the Park Avenue Play Ensemble put on their first rendition of "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs" for the entire Park Avenue Elementary Community. "This was just like going to the Hanover Theatre," said one Park Avenue Elementary employee. The Park Avenue Ensemble has been practicing profusely for the past three months and the hard work has paid off. Deb Casatellani and Kerri Williams were the masterminds behind the curtains with some help from several other staff members. The show included costumes, lights, music and sound effects that left a lasting image to the Park Avenue Community. "I have to say, it was the real deal," Mr. Aronian whispered to a neighboring staff member. "The performers were excellent," he concluded. There will be a live show for the parents later in the week and this is something the school plans to build upon in the years to come. "Having something like this is special," said Mr. Aronian. "This is how you build a strong, lasting community."
