BY GUS STEEVES
CORRESPONDENT

WEBSTER – The schools intend to seek a 5-percent budget increase for fiscal 2022 to add special education, academic intervention and other services.

As Business Manager Monique Pierangeli put it at the Feb. 9 School Committee meeting, they see a need to “make up any lost ground. ... We can’t afford to lose any more than what we’ve lost.”

At the time, she was summarizing the budget plan, which calls for an increase in the town’s share of just over $1.1 million, to $22.8 million. Under state funding rules, she added, the minimum local contribution is $19.67 million. Both of those figures include various indirect services the town provides the schools routinely, such as insurance, plowing, retirement support and the like.

Last year, she noted, the schools agreed to accept a 0.55 percent cut “and found ways to make do.” Thus this year’s desired increase “is not a big ask” if averaged over two years, she said.

At a previous meeting, Superintendent Ruthann Goguen told the committee her plan was to reduce the number of paraprofessionals at Park Avenue to add special ed staff, create a grade 1 and 2 resource room. At the middle school, she hopes to hire another coun-

LOCAL TEEN ATTAINS EAGLE SCOUT RANK

Jacob Scotti, son of Dan & Betty Scotti of Oxford, earned his rank of Eagle as a member of Charlton Troop 165. For his project, Jacob replaced the sign in front of the Charlton Grange on Main St. in Charlton. The previous sign was hidden by bushes and was difficult to read. The new sign has been moved closer to Main St., lights have been added and the sign incorporates the long history of the union of Charlton Grange #92, American Legion Post #391 and ScoutsBSA Troop #165. The sign was generously donated by Diversified Sign Co. in Charlton. Jacob graduated May 2020 from Shepherd Hill Regional High School.

New Highway Superintendent looks to update Dudley’s driveway regulations

BY JASON BLEAU
CORRESPONDENT

DUDLEY – Dudley’s new Highway Superintendent is hitting the ground running as he sets his sights on bringing the town’s driveway paving regulations up to date with modern standards.

During a meeting with the Board of Selectmen on Feb. 8, Highway Superintendent Jeffrey Murray addressed the current driveway permit process in town, and said he feels that the requirements need to be changed to reflect a need for proper paving practices and aprons to prevent potential problems with drainage.

“If you look in the planning documents for a new subdivision it actually shows detail that’s actually showing this, a driveway apron that extends from the edge of the paved roadway back to the town’s property line or the rear of the sidewalk which often times match each other. Basically, what it does is it causes the water to stay on the road,” Murray said. “If the water doesn’t stay along the edge of the curb lines or reach the catch basins and it enters the property through the driveway, if we have a garage that’s downgrading from the driveway it’s a potential problem with a homeowner that the town would be responsible for the runoff going into their property or having a wet basement or any types of issues like that.”

Murray admitted that the planning documents can be difficult to read so he would like to update the policies to bring requirements with current standards and make them much clearer to applicants. The updates would require two-inch binder course, two-inches of top and twelve inches of gravel at the base as well as clarifying that the first fifteen feet of the driveway are to be paved.

Selectman Steven Sullivan, a former Planning Board member, said he felt that updating the policies to include both ascending and descending gradients as proposed was a good step in the right direction.

“There’s no descending standard in our regulations, but we have ascend-

School board examines pandemic’s effects on students

BY GUS STEEVES
CORRESPONDENT

WEBSTER – Covid-era student mental health became a serious issue at the most recent School Committee meeting now posted on the district’s Web site (the Feb. 9 meeting).

“Our current schedule wasn’t meant to be sustainable because it requires so much self-motivation and requires students to be on top of things on their own,” said Student Representative Vivian Poplawski, a senior. “... I think I speak for everyone when I say we have mostly lost all of our motivation.”

She said she particularly sees it among seniors, but it’s “prevalent” among all grades of students who are “passionate about learning.”

Although many are still doing the work, they “just do not put in any effort. ... they just show up for class and float through their day.” In general, she said they are “not handling it well.”

Part of the issue, she added, is the fact they aren’t getting a rotating schedule, and in general need “more engaging school days.”

Superintendent Ruthann Goguen noted the administration has been doing a lot of professional development regarding such issues, with forums ranging from the serious (watching for suicide signs) to the “fun” (how to engage kids in class in various ways). They’ve also been trying to improve outreach to “high-risk students,” although in this case, Poplawski noted the students she’s referring to are not typically “high risk.”

“There seems to be a disconnect between the population of students you’re referencing and the lion’s share of the outreach efforts are going to a different population who equally need them,” Chair Kelly Seddiki observed, noting Poplawski has mentioned such concerns before.

When she asked Poplawski if the schools are trying to address her concerns, Poplawski said she has seen more Guidance Department effort to talk to “kids who have good grades but are struggling.”

Principal Fran Thomas agreed this is an import-

Webster Water Department receives award from MassDEP

WEBSTER — The Webster Water Department was recognized by the Massachusetts Department of Environmental Protection, Drinking Water Program (MassDEP) and the Awards Committee as a recipient in the 2020 Public Water System Award Program. The Water Department achieved one of the top compliance scores for the 2019 calendar year in the Regional Recognition category of the award program.

The citation read, in part, “The MassDEP Drinking Water Program is pleased to extend its congratulations to Webster Water Department for its outstanding performance in 2019. MassDEP realizes that it is no easy task to keep up with the ever-evolving federal and state drinking water regulations. Your compliance efforts have not gone unnoticed. MassDEP encourages you to continue this level of excellence in carrying out your work of protecting and supplying safe and fit water to our citizens.”

Over the course of four years, the Town of Webster completed the piloting, design and construction of a new 2.75 million gallons per day water treatment plant with greensand filtration media to treat elevated levels of iron and manganese in the groundwater. The treatment plant went online in December 2019 treating water from the rehabilitated Well 01G at Station 2 while new well pumps and level transducers were installed in Wells 04G-08G at Station 1. Once Wells 04G-08G could be pumped to the new plant, MassDEP approved a final activation of the 2.75 MGD Memorial Beach Water Treatment Plant with all wells online

Simple ways to maintain braces

Many adults recall having braces as children. While braces have evolved dramatically over the last few decades, modern braces benefit teeth in much the same ways as those adults recall from their youth.

Braces are often recommended to help straighten crooked teeth, correct misaligned bites and/or address overcrowded teeth. Maintenance is essential to ensure braces are effective and provide long-lasting benefits, and the American Association of Orthodontists offers these tips to protect braces and prevent patients from developing tooth decay

- Avoid certain foods. Hard, sticky, crunchy, or chewy foods should be avoided. Many candies and snacks fit that description, so parents of children with braces and adults with braces of their own should make sure these foods are not readily available around the house. The AAO specifically mentions foods such as caramel, gummies, licorice, jelly beans, and even soft drinks among the foods to avoid when wearing orthodontic braces.

- Be extra cautious around Halloween. The days surrounding Halloween can be an especially difficult time to maintain braces. Candy is everywhere come the end of October, but people with braces must be diligent in avoiding hard-shelled peanut candies and nut-filled candies.
- Brush twice per day, but be careful. The experts at Oral-B® note that careful cleaning is required when wearing braces. Plaque bacteria can be easily trapped inside and around braces, so it's especially important that people with braces carefully brush each day. Removable parts, including elastics, should be removed prior to brushing. Clean each tooth individually in a circular motion, tilting the brush as necessary to reach small front teeth.

- Continue regular visits to your orthodontist as well as your dentist. Regular visits to the orthodontist are required when wearing braces. These visits are necessary so braces can be adjusted and orthodontists can make sure there are no signs of gum disease. But Oral-B® notes that it's just as important to continue visiting the dentist while wearing braces. Dentists can perform routine services designed to protect tooth surfaces from decay while wearing braces, making dental visits a vital component of orthodontic maintenance.

Orthodontic braces help people have healthy, beautiful smiles.

Maintenance while wearing braces is vital to avoid disease and produce a mouthful of pearly whites.

How parents can get kids excited about brushing their teeth

Dental hygiene is an important component of a healthy lifestyle, but it's an element youngsters rarely embrace with open arms. Parents know that getting kids, especially young children, to brush their teeth is not always so easy.

In recognition of that, the American Dental Association suggests the following strategies to make brushing teeth something kids will look forward to.

- Make it fun. Brushing teeth may not be considered a fun activity, but who's to say it can't benefit from a little levity? The ADA recommends turning tooth brushing sessions into dance parties and/or sing-alongs. Youngsters might be so busy cutting a rug or listening to mom and dad belt out a few hits that they don't even realize they're cleaning their teeth at the same time. If singing and dancing aren't cutting it, then incorporate another fun activity, like reading a child his or her favorite story, into daily brushing sessions. The ADA advises adults and children to brush their teeth for two minutes twice a day, so activities need not be too advanced. But a fun activity that allows kids to do something other than brush their teeth can be a great way to help them meet the "two minutes, two times" guideline.
- Reward good behavior. Parents can reward youngsters who brush their teeth without incident by offering praise or allowing them to pick a bedtime book when brushing at night.

- Put kids' favorite characters to work. The ADA notes that many popular children's television shows and books have stories about brushing teeth. Watch these stories with your children, then reference the stories and characters if kids are reluctant to brush their teeth. Parents also can find toothbrushes and/or toothpaste that feature kids' favorite characters to get youngsters more excited to brush.
- Become a storyteller. Parents also can make up their own stories, explaining to kids how they can be superheroes who brush away the bad guys that cause cavities.
- Brush alongside your children. Kids love to mimic their parents, so moms and dads can brush alongside their youngsters in the hopes they'll follow suit.

Many children may never jump at the chance to brush their teeth. But parents can employ a few savvy strategies to make daily brushing sessions more fun for youngsters.

But this isn’t a one time or one week only demonstration of that. The motto is at the heart of Catholic schools everywhere and students, staff and their families live by it every day. The planned activities and festivities are only one way for Catholic school communities across the nation to celebrate the way they are connected to faith, education, community, and the nation.

The faculty and staff at ASA strive to guide students to be good citizens of the world, to love God and neighbor and to enrich society with the messages of the Gospel and by the example of faith.

At All Saints Academy, this guidance permeates each school day throughout the year. Recently, the students replicated a stained-glass cross that illustrated how each of them live their lives by Jesus’ example.

Some of their examples included: “Jesus, use me to spread positivity and creativity,” and “Jesus, use me to spread hope.” Students were also treated to special presentations about vocations and careers.

Former faculty and staff members came back to surprise students and virtually visit with each class to speak to them about a future full of possibilities.

All Saints Academy provides a loving and nurturing environment in which students strive for excellence, both academically and personally, because the focus is on the whole child: mind, body and spirit. By providing in person instruction since August, students and staff have been working hard to excel in a challenging and changing environment. The students have recently been working hard on creating mini-poetry anthologies to share virtually with families and special persons in a Poet-Tea event. Additionally, students in all grade levels created a giant flag of the United States made up of all the countries that represent their collective heritages, demonstrating that while we can acknowledge and celebrate our differences, we still have much in common.

The entire school community serves others in one form or another. This year, because of the pandemic, students cannot personally serve at area establishments that need help, so they are helping in other ways. In the fall, the school held a food drive and collected over 2,000 items that were donated to local area food pantries. As the school marked the 100th day of school milestone this winter, Operation 100 was well underway. Students and families donated cake mixes, cooking oil, shelf-stable milk and frosting to create Birthday Bags for food deprived children, because all children deserve to celebrate their birthday with cake. They also collected and created First Responder Care kits, containing various personal care items along with snacks and bottled water, because it is important to care for the ones who take care of everyone else. The original goal was to create a combined 100 gift bags, but the response has been overwhelming. As such, they will likely reach 100 gifts each for the Birthday Bags and First Responder Care Kits.

All Saints Academy and its families are proud of the accomplishments of their students. While Catholic Schools week happens once a year, they know that living in faith, excellence and service takes place every day throughout the year.

Webster poet Robert Eugene Perry to take part in online festival

NORTHFIELD — Online Feb. 27 at 11 a.m., Rich Holschuh, spokesman for the Elnu Abenaki, a Vermont State-recognized tribe, will open the Northfield Authors and Artists Festival: Honoring Nature.

Squakeag/Northfield is within the traditional Sokoki Abenaki homelands, and the festival opens with a grounding as to where we physically would be if we weren't in cyberspace. Just afterwards, the first talk will be given by Sherri Mitchell of the Penobscot Indian Nation, followed by Christian McEwen, a western Massachusetts resident originally from Scotland; Scott Russell Sanders from the midwestern US; Gay Bradshaw from the west coast; and Patrick Curry originally from Canada, now resident of London in the UK. The poets too bring a diversity of voices from Pakistan, Israel, Taiwan, the Passamaquoddy Nation, and the US. And that's just Day 1 of the two-day free Authors and Artists Festival. Day 2 includes Deb Habib from Seeds of Solidarity Farm; Joan Maloof of the Old Growth Forest Network; Susan Cerulean Florida bird expert; and Simon Wilson speaking on religion and the ecological crisis from Canterbury Christ Church University in southeastern England.

The speakers from both days are equally diverse in how they participate in Honoring Nature. From the practical work of protecting old growth forests; maintaining animal sanctuaries; and growing organic food with no-till methods; to the equally hard work of imagining a more respectful and sustainable way for humans to interact with the rest of Nature, the authors tell their stories and inspire others.

Lis McLoughlin, one of the festival organizers, says “We are grateful to have the involvement of so many people from around the world who Honor Nature in their own unique ways. Because so much of what we do is hard work, it is especially gratifying to have the chance to celebrate Nature, and our collaborations, in the festival. “

This year there is an additional reason to party: a book produced from authors and artists who participated in the festival's first two years. The anthology “Honoring Nature,” published by Human Error Publishing (Paul Richmond) contains work from 40 authors and artists and is available to buy separately or with a book launch ticket. The launch will be held at 5:30 p.m. on Saturday, Feb. 27, and the cost of $5 is to help fund a free book for each of the 40 contributors to the volume. Purchase a book and/or launch ticket at: <https://ko-fi.com/lismcloughlin/shop>.

The online Authors and Artists Festival: Honoring Nature, Feb. 27-28, is free and includes two online art shows with work from children and adults. Sign up at www.authorsandartistsfestival.wordpress.com

The Authors and Artists Festival is very grateful to our sponsors who include: The Greenfield Cooperative Bank; The Dickinson Memorial Library of Northfield; The Friends of Greenfield Public Library; The Northfield Historical Commission; The Grass Roots Fund of New England; the Northfield Area Tourist and Business Association; the Kiwanis Club; the Northfield Parent Teachers Association; and the Massachusetts Cultural Council (a state agency) through their local cultural councils of Northfield, Greenfield, Gill, and Montague.

Friday's Child

Tatiana
Age 12

Hi! My name is Tatiana and I want to try gymnastics!

Tatiana is a funny and lovable girl of Hispanic descent. She loves playing with dolls, coloring and riding her bike outside. One day she hopes to join a gymnastics team.

Tatiana receives extra supports in school to help address her academic, intellectual and social/emotional needs. Tatiana particularly struggles with relating to her peers and often presents as a much younger child. She is on the Autism Spectrum.

Not yet legally freed for adoption, Tatiana will benefit from joining a loving family of any constellation who can provide her with stability, structure and a dependable routine. She will do best as an only child or with older siblings. An ideal family will be comfortable navigating the mental health and educational systems, and be able to act as a strong advocate for Tatiana. A family should also be open to helping Tatiana maintain a relationship with her four siblings and birth parents, who she currently visits with monthly.

Who Can Adopt?

Can you provide the guidance, love and stability that a child needs? If you're at least 18 years old, have a stable source of income, and room in your heart, you may be a perfect match to adopt a waiting child. Adoptive parents can be single, married, or partnered; experienced or not; renters or homeowners; LGBTQ singles and couples.

The process to adopt a child from foster care requires training, interviews, and home visits to determine if adoption is right for you, and if so, to help connect you with a child or sibling group that your family will be a good match for.

To learn more about adoption from foster care, call the Massachusetts Adoption Resource Exchange (MARE) at 617-964-6273 or visit www.mare-inc.org. The sooner you call, the sooner a waiting child will have a permanent place to call home.

Tips for seed starting success

You created your wish list, ordered some or all of the seeds you will need, and they are beginning to arrive. Make the most of your investment with a bit of planning.

Starting seeds at the proper time, indoors or directly in the garden, ensures a good start to the growing season. Check the back of the seed packet for planting times and directions. Consult your local Extension Service's website for more details on the best time to plant in your area.

Organize your seeds by when they need to be started. You can create your own system or invest in one like Gardener's Supply's seed envelopes and dividers. This system allows you to organize seeds by type, planting season, color, garden location and more. Use your storage system to keep leftover seeds organized for future plantings. It will also save you money on future seed orders. Just be sure to place the seeds in an airtight container in the refrigerator.

Enter planting dates on your calendar as well. Months pass quickly and it is easy to miss important planting times. Creating a planting calendar will help you plant seeds at the proper time for the maximum benefit.

Gather seed starting equipment and supplies if starting seeds indoors. You will need a quality seed starting or potting mix and clean containers. Use yogurt and other small food containers for starting seeds. Drill holes in the bottom and clean them before planting. Avoid disease problems by sanitizing old plant containers. Soak them in a one-part bleach and nine-parts water solution for ten minutes. Then rinse in clear water before filling with planting mix.

Or try one of the new plastic-free, environmentally friendly seed starting options. Use a paper pot maker (gardeners.com) to convert newspaper into biodegradable plant pots. Consider cow pots made of composted manure that provide nutrients in a biodegradable pot. You can leave your seedlings in these containers when moving them into the garden.

Create your own pot-free seed starter with Gardener's Supply soil blocker. It presses moist potting mix into blocks that hold their shape. The blocks can be moved directly into the garden, reducing transplant shock.

Follow the directions on the seed packets for depth and care. Most seeds prefer warm conditions but do not need light to sprout. Keep the planting mix moist. Cover the containers with a sheet of plastic to conserve moisture and extend the time between watering.

Once you see any green, it is time to move the seedlings into bright light or under artificial lights. Keep the lights on for no more than 14 to 16 hours and four to six inches above the top of the plants for best results.

Once your plants are actively growing, you can begin fertilizing if needed. Check the planting mix to see if a fertilizer has been added and how long it will be effective before adding more. Follow the label directions on the fertilizer you select.

Share the fun and workload with friends and family. Perhaps you will start tomatoes for everyone, another person handles the peppers and yet another person the eggplants. Or just share extra seeds since each packet usually contains more than most gardeners have space to grow.

Most importantly, have fun.

The positive power of influencing others

A few weeks ago, we spoke of the power of influence and that we become the average of the five people we spend the most time around. People often brush aside the idea that they are influenced by others. To do so is foolish. We are all influenced, and we all influence others.

Today, I want to speak with you about the power of influence we have over others. Let me first break down the difference between casual influence and purposeful influence. Casual influence is the impact you have on others by just who you are. Purposeful influence is in mentoring others. Let's focus on the power of influence you can have on others and we will call it mentoring.

Mentoring is about helping another person learn through a one-to-one relationship. It's a common practice for transferring knowledge and promoting best practices and procedures in the workplace, as well as being an effective way to develop new leaders. Serving as a mentor can play a powerfully influential role in younger generations and can benefit you as well as the mentee.

We spend a lifetime learning, gathering information and experiences. My oldest son once told me, "When a person dies, it's as if a library full of one-of-a-kind books burns to the ground. Unless shared, all your knowledge, information and experience are lost." If we allow that to happen it's as if a lifetime of learning is wasted.

What experience and information do you have that can benefit others if shared?

I don't care who you are, what your education level is or what you do or have done for a living, you have something

POSITIVELY

inside your head and heart that would benefit others to know.

A few years ago, our community was desperate for substitute teachers. I have a degree in education, so I began. I continued doing so two days a week until I was diagnosed with stomach cancer.

I also started a drum line and color guard in association with Youth for Christ and found weekly opportunities to set an example and share life experiences with eighth grade through high school age students. Many of those students came from broken homes and did not have a father figure in their lives. I found it to be an incredibly rewarding experience for me as well as them.

What experience do you have to share? Are you a musician, athlete, business professional or tradesperson? If so, you have experience to share. Do you know how to cook or work in a kitchen? Do you know how to repair cars? Are you a computer coder or hardware tech? We all know something that will benefit others.

What I've learned most of all about mentoring, is what young people want and appreciate most is your time. They may not express it in words, but when you connect with a young person, they benefit from the experience and are grateful whether they express it in words or not.

Where can you go for mentoring opportunities?

Your church, service club or fraternal organizations often have opportunities. I know most, if not all school districts, need substitute teachers. Organized sporting activities or community dance, theater, or musical organizations ... the list is endless. All that is required of you is to take the step to let them know you are available ... and be available to spend time. I know of no studies to verify this, but I believe those who volunteer find happiness and joy in the experience.

Once I'm a little further along in my healing process, I'd enjoy starting a young writer's group to provide mentoring and encouragement to those interested in the craft as a hobby and/or career. I don't want my library to burn to the ground without sharing the information and experience in my head and heart. When we do so, we live on through the lives of others.

What about you? Are you a "Hey you kids! Get off my lawn!" kind of person or would you like to make a positive difference in the lives of the next generation? That's a serious question and I'd like you to answer. If you are willing to share your experience and time with others, jump in.

There's never been a time when optimists are needed more to provide positive mentoring to the next generation. Will you answer the call? Will you share what you know?

Will you join me?

How about this weather?

“How about this weather?”

If ever there was an easy, non-challenging conversation opener, this is it. You can be in line at the grocery store, serving jury duty or pushing papers around at work – it doesn’t matter where you are - this line never fails.

Everyone seems willing to talk about the weather. It’s a built-in, slam-dunk, easy topic that allows complete strangers to either commiserate or celebrate, depending on the daily meteorological situation.

So, what is it with the weather? Why do we love to discuss, comment and re-hash it?

Weather is complicated, frustrating and ultimately uncertain. Weather breaks our hearts and lifts our moods and forces daily choices for everyone. Weather drives our decisions, affects our attitudes and makes fellow survivors out of strangers.

Weather is our most true common denominator. No matter what our life circumstances - student, professional, retiree – when you live in the same geographic area, you and your fellow community members have the weather in common.

Weather doesn’t care about politics or sports teams or vacations or the date on the calendar. It is an equal opportunity annoyer and a great equalizer – everyone has to drive in snow, or dash to the car in the rain, or stand in long lines at the fair in the hot sun. Almost everyone has had a picnic cancelled, a vacation spoiled or a ball game rained out.

But weather is also the unexpectedly warm, sunny, sweet-smelling spring morning that causes smiles and banter with co-workers. It’s the light snow flurries that add sparkle to early December and prompts holiday greetings between shoppers. It’s the crisp, snappy feel of fall football games and the slow, sultry, humidity of summer evenings spent on backyard patios. It’s the backdrop of every day of our lives.

So, what is it with the weather? Maybe we love the topic because it’s universal. Maybe we love the excitement of something that will change – either for the good or the bad. Maybe it’s that it is temporary and fleeting and some- thing to either be withstood or enjoyed, knowing that it will not last. Maybe it’s simply because weather is always with us... whether we like it or not.

FINANCIAL FOCUS

DENNIS ANTONOPOULOS

If you’re close to retirement, you’ll have several financial issues to consider. But you’ll want to pay attention to one of the most important of these issues: health care costs. How can you prepare yourself for these expenses? First, get an early start on estimating health care costs. More than two-thirds of those planning to retire in the next 10 years say they have no idea what their health and long-term care costs will be in retirement, according to the Edward Jones/Age Wave Four Pillars of the New Retirement study. And some people don’t worry much about these costs, which may

Our new normal

Lord willing, we all are hoping to get back to “normal” sometime this year. Yet, what will the “new normal” look like once the pandemic is past? How has this new life of social distancing, wearing masks and being concerned of getting the virus or passing the virus on to others changed us? What long-term impact will the pandemic have in our lives? Has the past year permanently changed us, our relationships with others, and even our understanding of God and His Church?

These are serious questions to reflect upon and to pray about. The pandemic has presented a serious challenge for all of us but hopefully it has also acted as a wake-up call which will help us see more clearly what is most important in life.

When I was sick with COVID for 15 days, feeling miserable with a fever, body aches and extreme fatigue, the experience helped me appreciate life, health, my family and friends, and even my faith and the Church in so many ways I too often took for granted. Not serving in the Divine Liturgy for three Sundays in a row was the longest I was away from the church in my entire life. Some days when I felt too tired to even pray reminded me of how precious the treasure of faith is that we have. I sincerely missed seeing people even for those three weeks and realized what a special gift we have in friends and in our Church family!

I am praying that this pandemic, and the time some people are having away from the church, will only help them come to a new realization of what a special gift we have in our communities of faith. Hopefully we’ve

BY FR. LUKE A. VERONIS
SAINTS CONSTANTINE AND HELEN GREEK ORTHODOX CHURCH, WEBSTER

come to understand that despite the unexpected challenges of this pandemic, and the surprising events of whatever life may bring, God is still always with us. In fact, God’s presence is sometimes most consciously felt when we face the extreme difficulties and challenges of life, and hopefully the pandemic has made us realize this.

To be honest, though, I’m not sure everyone will come to the same conclusions that I have reached. I’ll admit that I am praying for everyone to come to a renewed relationship with God and a deeper appreciation of their faith during the pandemic, yet I am also afraid that the difficulties of this past year may only have disconnected too many people from their community of faith, from one another, and even from God.

I’m concerned that too many people haven’t been to Church in almost a year. Others have come to worship and shared in Christ-centered fellowship very sporadically. Habits are being solidified where Sunday is no longer the Day of the Lord, the Day of Resurrection, the Sabbath Day which we consciously dedicate to God in a special way. Early on during the pandemic, some people found comfort in worshipping and participating via the live stream services our churches offers. Yet, watching the Divine Liturgy or some other service on television is not the same as participating in person, where we receive the life-giving Body and Blood of Jesus Christ and share in the nourishing Christ-centered fellowship of our Church Family. Someone commented to me that watching the services on live stream compared to participating in person is similar to looking at a beautiful scene of a summer day at the beach on TV compared to being present and experiencing the warmth of the sun, smelling the ocean air, and jumping in the refreshing water. Watching someone on TV can never be compared or replace the actual experience of being there, especially in the worship and fellowship of the Church.

So, what is happening with each one of us? How are we adapting? Are we aware of the changes that may be occurring in our lives and in the new habits that are being formed? The Christian life has always been about spiritual disciplines. Disciplines don’t come about automatically and are not easy to develop. They take time and effort. They take sincerity of heart and desire.

We live in a secular world that tempts us to compartmentalize our faith into a small corner of our life, to minimize the importance of our relationship with God, or even to focus on the material world and the here and now instead of remembering that we are but sojourners during a very brief life on planet earth. We discover the answers to the deepest questions of life, we find the purpose and meaning of why we exist, and we discover a path of peace, hope, love and joy when we prioritize our pursuit for God. May we not give in to the temptations of our secular society, and may this pandemic only highlight our need to always “seek first the kingdom of God.”

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Kneejerk reactions and unnecessary change

To the Editor:

Chief Wojnar deserves true appreciation for his response in an article of Jan. 15 issue in the Webster Times responding to Gov. Baker’s signing the new law, “An Act Relative to Justice, Equity and Accountability in Law Enforcement in the Commonwealth.” Gov. Baker’s caving to a call for action following protests against police brutality across the nation was a short-sighted, in fact kneejerk, reaction, as Chief Wojnar said, making local police feel like they are made to pay a price for activities and actions totally out of the local police control. Chief Wojnar should be applauded for standing up for his force and those of Massachusetts.

This “kneejerk” reaction coalesces with the Dudley Charlton Regional School Committee’s pledge to hire faculty on a more diverse basis, including accepting students of more diversity after BLM erupted following the George Floyd death. The school committee was responding to parents who were then naive of BLM’s founding and purpose. Let us hope as the time has passed since that dreadful event those who called for action have been educated of Susan Rosenberg’s role as one of the founders and of BLM’s true agenda.

The School Committee’s acquiescing to being more diverse is like admitting to prior insensitive practices, which we know is not true. Isn’t true diversity hiring on merit of all applicants devoid of their background, race or creed? Hiring practices focused on background or race is anything but diversity, but puts those factors on an unequal basis. Unless there have been events I’ve not been made aware of, true diversity has been the ongoing practice of hiring and accepting students on equal merit at Dudley Charlton Regional all along, with no need of change.

An arrest vs. a summons

CHIEF’S CORNER

STEVE WOJNAR

Criminal court proceedings continue during the pandemic. Crimes are still occurring. To limit personal contact, many offenders are being summoned to appear at court, as opposed to being arrested. I was asked to provide some information about the differences, if any, between the two.

Criminal charges against a person can be initiated by either an arrest or a summons. Eventually, they will end in the same place. When a person is arrested, they are physically taken into custody and processed (or booked) at the police station. A court official will determine if the subject is eligible for bail (money to assure they will appear at court) or held without bail for an appearance at the next sitting of the court. When at court, the case is reviewed by the Clerk Magistrate and the individual is processed through the Probation Department. They are then arraigned (formally notified of the charges against them) before the judge. He or she will determine if the person is to be held, with or without bail, or released pending their next appearance.

In the case of a summons, a criminal application, with the list of offenses, is filed at the Clerk Magistrates Office. If sufficient evidence (more commonly known as “probable cause”) is presented, the Clerk’s office will issue a notice to appearance for the person. In the case of a felony (serious crime that can include a state prison sentence) the person can be either notified of a date to appear for arraignment or a warrant for their arrest can be issued. Whichever occurs, the person will follow the process mentioned above. For misdemeanors (lesser offenses), a notice to appear or an arrest warrant can be issued. In most misdemeanor cases, the defendant is given the opportunity to appear at a hearing before the Clerk Magistrate. If “probable cause” is found at that point, the subject will be scheduled for arraignment before the judge. There is the possibility the matter can be dismissed by the Clerk, based on insufficient evidence, or it may be resolved at that hearing.

Regardless of the path, the defendant will likely end up in the same place. Often victims can be frustrated if a person is not physically taken into custody. They could believe the suspect has avoided justice. This is not the case. In some instances, arrests are not authorized by law. Therefore, a summons is the only way for this to proceed. Depending on circumstances, as with the pandemic, a criminal summons may be the most viable option to initiate the process. Certainly, criminal charges or arrests, are always determined on a case-by-case basis. Bottom line, whether it is a physical arrest or summons, these matters will end up in court for the appropriate criminal proceeding.

As the pandemic continues, we ask everyone to stay safe and continue to take the necessary precautions to protect yourselves. We continue to serve the people of Dudley and work with the community to improve the quality of life for everyone. I thank the men and women from my department for their continued dedicated service to the Town during these trying times. Thanks also go out to the many Police Officers, Fire and Emergency Services members, public works, health care, government officials, and all other “essential” personnel for their continued hard work and service. We greatly appreciate the support we receive from our community. Thanks again for your questions and comments. Please send them to me at the Dudley Police Department, 71 West Main St., Dudley, MA 01571 or email at swojnar@dudleypolice.com. Opinions expressed in this weekly column are those of Chief Wojnar only and unless clearly noted, do not reflect the ideas or opinions of any other organization or citizen.

Pre-retirees: Plan now for health care costs be considerable, thinking that Medicare will pay for most of them.

While Medicare does cover many medical expenses, it also has its own costs. You probably won’t pay a premium for Part A (inpatient/hospital coverage), since you likely had this cost deducted from your paycheck when you were working. But if you are hospitalized, you’ll have to pay deductibles and coinsurance (the percentage of costs you pay after you’ve paid your deductible). Part B (doctor’s visits) requires a premium, deducted from your Social Security checks, and you must pay an out-of-pocket deductible. After you meet this deductible for the year, you typically pay 20 percent of the Medicare-approved amount for most doctor’s services. And when you enroll in Part D (prescription drug plan), you will likely also have to pay a monthly premium, an annual deductible and coinsurance or copays.

To help pay for the Medicare deductible, coinsurance and copayments, you may want to get supplemental insurance, known as Medigap. Premiums for Medigap vary, depending on the plan you choose.

As an alternative to original Medicare, you could select Medicare Advantage (sometimes called Part C). Medicare Advantage plans are offered by private companies approved by Medicare, but the benefits and costs vary by plan. These plans generally will incorporate Medicare Parts A and B and will provide additional medical coverage, such as prescription drugs.

When you incorporate all the above, the annual out-of-pocket costs for traditional medical expenses likely will be about $4,500 to $6,500 per year, per person – not insignificant, but certainly a number that can be addressed by careful planning.

But there’s one more expense to keep in mind: long-term care. The average cost of a private room in a nursing home is more than $100,000 per year, according to the insurance company Genworth. And Medicare typically pays few of these expenses.

Clearly, between regular medical costs associated with Medicare or those not covered by it, and costs resulting from the possible need for long-term care, your health care bills can mount. To meet these costs, you need to plan ahead – and take action.

For example, it’s essential that you incorporate health care expenses into your overall financial strategy. You can also work with a financial professional to run some “what-if” analyses to see if your strategy would be derailed by a potential long-term care stay. And the professional you work with may be able to suggest specific protection vehicles that can help you meet the costs of long-term care.

The best time to prepare for your health care costs during retirement is well before you retire. So, if you haven’t already started, now is the time to do so. When it comes to paying for health care, the fewer surprises, the better.

Discussing duck boxes

The recent cold weather has made a lot of ponds safe to fish on, and it also made the ice safe enough for Mass. Fish & Wildlife personnel to visit the hundreds of Wood Duck boxes that are erected throughout the state. Each year, repairing and cleaning out boxes in numerous bodies of water needs to be addressed. The state is not the only entity that has taken on the interest in helping the Wood Ducks by erecting boxes. Numerous Fish & Game Clubs have taken on the task of placing Wood Duck boxes on their property, and in local rivers and swamps. When checking and cleaning boxes, it is like opening a gift, revealing weather the box was successful in a duck hatching her eggs. The sign of empty shells in the box is very satisfying.

Paul Soars has maintained a number of Wood Duck boxes on the Uxbridge property for years. Efforts by both Fish & Wildlife and local clubs and private citizens have kept the Wood Duck population in good shape. At one time, the Wood Duck population was in bad shape, but with the erection of Wood duck boxes over the years, the population is high enough to allow a three-bird daily bag limit during the hunting season. At one time, only a single Wood Duck was allowed in the daily bag limit of ducks.

Over the years, Boy Scout troops and other outdoor groups have built numerous duck boxes, and actively monitored and repaired them every year. Any group that is interested in finding out more about building and monitoring them should call the Mass. Fish & Wildlife in Westborough. They can get you started, and also have plans, as to building the boxes and all other information that you will need to get started. This writer contacted the Boys Trade school back a number of years ago, and was successful in getting the carpenters section of the school to build more than 100 boxes in one year. All we did was to supply the wood from a local sawmill and passed them out to sportsmen that erected them in suitable habitat. The Wood Duck is a migratory bird that will return to New England every spring. This year's migration is due to arrive in a few weeks.

This past week, ice fishermen were out in force again trying to enjoy the outdoors and to catch the big one. Reports were coming in from all over the state about lunker bass, pike, pickerel, perch and some large trout. One local angler caught a two pound rainbow trout at the Whitinsville Fish and Game Club's fishing derby this past Saturday, that netted him a $500 purse. More than 80 anglers entered the derby which was a record turnout. This week's picture shows Patrick Soullier with his derby winning trout.

There were a lot of youngsters also fishing, which was nice to see. The second picture shows young Sophie, waiting patiently for a bite on her jig stick! She was social distancing and wearing her mask. The bite was a bit slow, but everyone had a great time. A report of more than five or six anglers that fished Wallum Lake this past Saturday caught nothing, while another group caught a couple of bass, but no trout. That is the way Wallum Lake is. Do not forget that Wallum Lake closes to all fishing on Feb. 28!

Mass. Fish & Wildlife released their proposals for an increase in 2022 hunting and fishing licenses, permits and stamps and a new stamp for pheasant hunting for 2022. They are only proposals! The partial list is as follows: Resident fishing license $40, Resident hunting license $40, Resident sporting license $75, all stamps and permits $20 each. A new Pheasant and Quail license will cost $20. Most Non-Resident permits could be $40 each! For a complete list of all license changes and permit changes, go to the Mass. Fish & Wildlife Web site. Saltwater licenses are also up for an increase for 2022.

Mother Nature had been kind to all wildlife this winter, until this past couple of weeks. With very little snow this year, finding food was relatively easy after the heavy acorn crop of last year. Female deer are now carrying their young, but should have no problem finding food and navigating the recent snow left by the last two storms. The snow should be gone in the next two weeks.

The Whitinsville Fish & Game Club will hold their annual Game dinner on March 27. The event will be a takeout only dinner with all of the usual great food. Tickets are $20 each. Go to their Web site at www.whitinsvillefishgame.com to purchase your tickets. A raffle will also be held. At this time of Covid-19, numerous Rod & Gun Clubs are doing everything they can to keep the lights on, and they need your continued support.

An Array of Handy Tips

This week's column will feature a potpourri of assorted tricks and tips to make everyday life a little easier. From fix-it hints to painting pointers, read on for an array of tried and true strategies:

During the long, cold winter creativity often results in a room redo! Here's a tip from pro painters: If you are painting a baseboard or old fashioned radiator with enamel paint (made for this purpose) the finish will last longer if the surface is warm. The enamel will "bake" on the metal for a chip-proof finish.

One more another painting tip: Here's the best way to quickly and easily remove latex paint from your brush. Immediately after use, swish brush vigorously in a pail filled with a quarter cup liquid fabric softener to a half gallon of water and watch paint disappear! As a bonus, the fabric softener makes bristles silky again!

Salt has many virtues way beyond seasoning! New toothbrushes soaked in salt water don't need to be replaced as often. Did you know if you marinate fish in salt water the scales will come off easier?

And, to extend the life of flower blooms, simply add a little salt to your fresh flower vase.

Attention Do it Yourselfers: Did you know nonstick vegetable spray such as Pam can be used to lubricate sticky locks, metal gears, and even bicycle chains? And never use oil for squeaky

And don't toss out those rusty tools. Soak them in hot vinegar for a quick fix.

Go for Garlic: Garlic is praised as an antibacterial, anti-viral and anti-fungal remedy but before you gorge on garlic, take note: Garlic must be fresh for optimal benefits. Garlic's active ingredient is destroyed within an hour of smashing the clove. So eat fresh garlic, or run it through a juicer in a vegetable drink for best results.

Frosting a cake can be "a piece of cake" with this top tip from bakers! If you're frosting and the tiers of your layer cake lean like the Tower of Pisa, prop them back up by inserting strands of uncooked spaghetti through the cake for support. Just be sure to pull them out after the frosting has set.

Cut cleaning time in half with these tips: After washing grout and tile, rub liquid turtle wax car wax on, and polish when dry. It makes the tiles twice as easy to clean next time.

When you clean your refrigerator or freezer, wipe the inside down with straight white vinegar and allow it to air dry. It will discourage future growth of mold and mildew and instantly deodorize your refrigerator.

Celluloid collectibles

Celluloid was considered the first semi-synthetic plastic. According to Britannica, "some historians trace the invention of celluloid to English chemist Alexander Parkes, who in 1856 was granted the first of several patents on a plastic material that he called Parkesine." The Atlantic magazine attributes development to the United States inventor John Wesley Hyatt who is said to have created celluloid in 1869. Celluloid was created to replace ivory billiard balls but proved to be unsuitable for that purpose. According to the Atlantic, "because celluloid could be made to imitate expensive or rare materials -- such as ivory, tortoiseshell, and mother-of-pearl -- it was soon employed in the manufacture of fancy goods affordable for the growing middle class." It increased in use during the 1880s and it was used to make postcards, game pieces, toys, advertising novelties and souvenirs, jewelry, knitting needles, straight razor handles, and imitation linen collars and cuffs." "In 1882, John H. Stevens, a chemist at the Celluloid Manufacturing Company, discovered that amyl acetate was a suitable solvent for diluting celluloid," according to Britannica. The new clear celluloid was used to create flexible films. Celluloid was used in motion picture films into the 1930s.

Because celluloid was so widely used, we often find it in local estates. Dresser/vanity sets are some of the more common celluloid items we encounter. Years of heat exposure often affected the sets and they can become very brittle. A typical set in good condition sells for around $20. A vanity set in a color other than ivory can bring a little more.

Most celluloid is affordable to collect, but there are some celluloid collectibles that command strong auction prices. For example, cels (Merriam Webster: "a transparent sheet of celluloid on which objects are drawn or

painted in the making of animated cartoons") from older cartoons can be quite valuable. In 2017 a cel from 1937 of the Evil Queen from Snow White sold for $25,000 and a Charlie Brown Christmas cel sold for $50,000. Because celluloid deteriorates over time there aren't a large amount of advertising signs in pristine condition. Three nice examples sold very well at auction. A Chancellor Cigar sign depicting a 1910 woman went for $12,000. An Ingram's Witch Hazel Salve sign sold for $13,000 in 2012 and a 1902 hanging celluloid Coca Cola sign reached $19,000 in 2011. Rare celluloid toys can also bring high auction prices. A 1930s waddling Donald Duck toy went for $13,000 in 2014 and a celluloid Mickey Mouse on a metal scooter with the original box brought $37,000 in 2008.

Older pinback buttons were also made of celluloid with metal backing. Some have brought astronomical prices. A rare "Buck Rogers 25th Century" celluloid pinback went for $2,700 in 2019. A Franklin D. Roosevelt for Senate pinback brought $3,750 in 2016. As you might expect, sports pinbacks are very popular. Few examples of a one and a half inch Mickey Mantle Fan club button are known to exist. One sold for over $23,000 last year. A pinback advertising a Detroit beer company is even more rare. The pinback is the only one known to exist depicting Babe Ruth and the 1916 World Champion Boston Red Sox. It sold for nearly $63,000 last year. I'm sure celluloid manufacturers weren't expecting the objects they made inexpensively for the middle class to sell for five figure sums over a century later.

We will have some celluloid objects from the estate of a long-time collector in our May multi-estate auction. We are still accepting quality items such as antique paintings, gold jewelry, sterling silver and older collectibles such as coins, sports memorabilia, advertising signs, and comic books for the May auction. We are also currently running an online auction of model railroad trains, die-cast cars, pressed steel trucks, and models that ends on March 10th. # Dudley officials reflect on recent storms

CORRESPONDENT

DUDLEY – Late January and early February saw Mother Nature finally embrace the New England winter, dumping snow all across the region through numerous storms putting local highway department workers through their first true tests of the season.

In Dudley, town employees rose to the occasion impressing the town’s new Highway Director Jeffrey Murray who told selectmen on Feb. 8 that he had received numerous compliments from town officials and citizens at large concerning the work of his personnel.

“The past several week’s we’ve had some storms to contend with and in the big storm I did get several emails or calls with some praise for the employees saying it was a job well done. I have gotten calls with some service complaints or a miss or skip. I will encourage residents to call the highway department if anybody has some concerns or if there was potentially a service that was missed near their property or on their street. We certainly want to hear from them because we don’t know what we don’t know,” Murray said.

The topic of snow was brought up by several department leaders over the course of the meeting. Water & Sewer Superintendent George Patrinos took a moment in his report to remind citizens to make sure their hydrants are shoveled out and exposed to ensure emergency personnel have access to the primary water source in case of a fire.

“Right now, with these storms coming upon us every couple days, the wind rows are going to get bigger and bigger and it’s going to effect the hydrants. We’ll do what we can to get out there and shovel or plow the hydrants out, but if the public can help us in that matter, it’s a great thing as far as emergencies for the fire department to get at the hydrants,” Patrinos said.

Police Chief Steve Wojnar added to this saying that the winter isn’t slowing down anytime soon and that residents need to remain diligent and informed as new storms roll through.

“Storms are going to be a challenge. Kudos to the fire chief and his crew and Jeff and his crew for all the work that they’re doing. Two things we can ask is to make sure people pay attention to the parking bans, we try to get those out as soon as we can – and also, it’s going to be very important to clear off your sidewalks. I believe it’s Article 8 of our bylaws that requires property owners to clear the sidewalks in front of their respective homes or businesses,” Chief Wojnar said.

Since the Feb. 8 meeting, several more, albeit smaller, storms have pushed through the region and while spring may be on the horizon, it’s good to remind citizens that winter isn’t over until it’s over especially in new England.

Here's How It Works:

Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!

ant issue, and this year's senior class is the first who won't get a senior rally or participate in several other normal events and extracurricular activities. Had this happened when he was a senior, he added, he'd probably have said "sayonara, I'm out of here."

"A lot of things that keep kids grounded that make school fun aren't happening right now because of the restrictions we face," Thomas said. "... A whole bunch of things are missing that are the heart and soul of a high school experience."

Goguen and Student Support Director Kathleen Baris urged Poplawski to participate in ongoing discussions of how to address student mental health concerns. Baris noted they're in the process of organizing an action plan for each of the schools.

Regarding Covid more generally, Goguen said the district has been looking at the viability of having more in-school class time, but is seeing issues primarily with space needs for lunches. Although the state allows three-foot spacing in classrooms, it still requires six feet at lunch, and she said Webster has so far been using six feet for all in-school functions in agreement with the teachers' union. Switching to three feet would require "a number of steps" that might not work in all schools.

"I know for sure we wouldn't be able to fit all our students back at Park Avenue and possibly the middle school," Goguen said. She noted Park Ave might have space at kindergarten level, and Bartlett had some space for more kids recently.

Some districts that are trying to meet state time-on-learning have gone to half-day sessions, sending kids home at lunch. But, to her, doing that "would disrupt a lot of parents with working schedules."

Before Poplawski's remarks, Member Kathleen Napierata said she feels "the model has been working, from what I see." Many kids are still staying home, and she believes the push for more in-school time is largely coming from parents who already have kids in class.

Goguen said the administration is reaching out to parents whose kids have missed two or more weeks of in-person classes to see if they intend to keep their kids all-remote for the rest of the year.

If they do, she added, she'd like to open their seats to a wait-list of kids.

Member Nick Adamopoulos asked if the district would be setting criteria for expanding in-person classes, including number of teachers vaccinated and increased rapid testing availability. He noted he expects growing federal and state pressure to return the kids to class.

Goguen said they will do that "following the safety guidelines." She specifically stated she does not want to mandate staff get vaccinated, seeing that as "a personal decision." Ideally, though, she'd like to see 80 percent get it and have the state change the space criteria for lunches before fully reopening.

SCHOOLS

selor and reorganize the grade 7 and 8 teams “to ensure 90 minutes of ELA and math,” cut one STEM section and replace it with a foreign language, and restore band and chorus. At Bartlett, there are no plans yet to fill library vacancies.

The committee, however, praised the school for recently creating several technology and career-related programs. Among them are the WPI/Dell challenge, the One Goal program (which helps kids deal with college application process), Project Lead the Way (featuring classes and internships in health care and manufacturing areas), and Girls Who Code.

As usual, a significant share of the school’s budget is coming from the state and federal governments, in the form of state Chapter 70 grants and several federal programs. This year, those include Covid funds from what’s called the ESSER (Elementary and Secondary School Emergency Relief) II grant. Chapter 70 is allocated using a fairly complex formula that includes such factors as local median income, special education and low-English percentages, and cost of employee benefits.

Back in 2019, the state changed the funding law to slowly increase local school aid over the course of seven years, but Pierangeli said it’s been mixed in practice. While Webster has benefited from the way the state calculates low-income figures (by tallying 1,165 students, when just 1,103 are certified by state aid programs), it is “almost a year behind already” in growth of special education funding. That’s because the increase in aid is being stalled at fiscal 2020 rates.

Overall, she added, Webster is one of the state’s 29 districts that saw a more than 5 percent drop in enrollment this past year (from 2,023 to 1,870). Those numbers include “anyone we’re fiscally responsible for,” including anyone going to district schools, charter and out-of-district special education students, but not private schools, Bay Path or homeschoolers. The state’s funding formula is generally not penalizing towns for lower enrollment this year; Chapter 70 funding overall still rose, and most districts expect the numbers to bounce back. In many cases, the decline was due to parents holding back kindergarteners for an extra year due to Covid.

Goguen cited recent data to show that Webster has significantly more “high needs” and “economically disadvantaged” students that state average, somewhat more special education kids, and lower-than-average rates of low-English speakers.

“With each different population, there are different needs and we are trying to address those needs through our budget,” she said. “... I do believe our fiscal 22 budget meets the needs of our students” with the new staffing it calls for.

Pierangeli also summarized the district’s capital needs. Those are largest at the high school, but the administration is hoping to get most of them met by the ongoing feasibility study for renovation there. If the state ultimately approves a project, Webster stands to get 76.8 percent reimbursement for most costs, rather than having to pay the entire bill if it tries to fix the various issues on its own, she said.

“We’re starting to see items that need repair” at the Middle School, which opened in 2005, she added. Some of them are things where the warranties expired – namely, windows, where many “have lost their seals.” Other needs there include replacing the phone system (which she thinks can be funded with Covid money), upgrading the HVAC units to computer-controlled ones (adjustments now need to be done by people climbing to the roof), parking lot sealing, and replacing lights with LEDs.

She noted there are no capital needs at Park Avenue because of its newness.

on Jan. 31, 2020. The Department held a ribbon cutting and open house ceremony on July 18, 2020 to celebrate the completion of the project. Water quality in Town has improved significantly and the Department reports discolored water complaints have reduced dramatically.

Superintendent Greg Woods said he was happy the Department received the award.

“It is nice that the staff, the Commissioners and all those involved with implementing this project get recognized for their efforts. It was a long process but we’re seeing the benefits for their work,” Mr. Woods said, adding that the Department is continuing with improvements this year with the replacement of water mains on Lincoln Street, Whitcomb Street and Nelson Street.

The five-member Water Sewer Commission is reviewing future system improvements as part of a long-term capital improvement plan. The Commission currently has a vacancy and residents interested in serving on the Board should contact the Town Administrator.

"One of my favorite things about working at Quaboag is that you can tell the staff is here because they care about the patients. I have also found that my supervisor and administrator are very approachable when I have any concern. There are a lot of places where someone in a supervisor position is not that approachable." — Nicole F. (CNA)

"I am Definitely glad to be a part of the team as well. I feel like I'm home and everyone has been wonderful." — Nicole V. (LPN)

"In the time that I have been working at Quaboag I have witnessed the well-being and comfort of the residents as the main priority of the facility. The facility is centered around patient care and is designed in the best interest of the residents." — Lynnea T. (CNA)
