A total of $15 million in workforce training grants were awarded to the Commonwealth's 15 community colleges in support of the creation and expansion of training programs in high-demand industries, such healthcare, education, manufacturing, information technology and cybersecurity.

"Education is at the heart of all economic growth and this type of revenue stream goes a long way in supporting our region's employers, incumbent workers and potential workers," said QCC President Luis G. Pedraja,

'I'm encouraged by the work that's being done here at QCC and all the grantees that have been awarded today. I'm very optimistic that our academic institutions are going to step up to meet this moment. We need our community colleges more than ever. You have the best platform to get this work done,' Secretary Acosta said.

The training programs will assist those populations who have traditionally experienced higher rates of unemployment, as well as barriers to employment identified by the Black Advisory Commission and the Latino Advisory Commission. Priority will be given to those who are unemployed and underemployed. "One of the goals of these grants is to help address shifting economic conditions that occurred for many residents brought on by the COVID-19 crisis, and persistent racial inequities and workforce challenges that existed in the Commonwealth before the pandemic," said Education Secretary James Peyser. "We anticipate these new training opportu-nities will make it easier for more people to move into high-demand, higher paying careers.'

DA continues to support local overdose response efforts

Worcester County District Attorney Joseph Early, Jr., continues to advance a program that is helping to save lives.

BY KEVIN FLANDERS STAFF WRITER

REGION — Teaming up with local police departments, Worcester County District Attorney Joseph Early, Jr., continues to provide vital assistance to overdose victims.

Implementing a $1.2 million federal grant, the DA's office has helped add recovery coaches to an ongoing overdose response program launched in partnership with the county's 60 police departments.

The program, Critical Incident Management System (CIMS), has been used by local police since March 2020. The main priorities of the program are to enable officers to collect overdose data and respond to non-fatal overdose victims to offer services.

Within 48 hours of an overdose, a plainclothes police officer, often accompanied by a recovery coach, responds to the home of an overdose victim and offers various paths to treatment.

In 2021, the first full year of the CIMS program, 60 percent of officers' follow-up visits resulted in individuals either accepting services or reporting that they were already seeking services.

Even though many local police departments previously had protocols in place for responding to overdoses with recovery coaches, the grant funding implemented by the DA's office has added partnerships with three local community agencies. This means every police department in the county will now have access to recovery coaches.

"We have seen how valuable recovery coaches are. They often have firsthand experience, which helps them relate to and better guide those who've recently suffered an overdose," DA Early said. "We are so grateful for the continued work of all our police departments and the agencies who agreed to help us support this program by providing access to dedicated recovery coaches. We know this will save lives."

The $1.2 million in grant funding was awarded to the Worcester County District Attorney's office in November 2020 by the Federal Bureau of Justice Assistance.

"It's so important that we continue to expand our ability to respond to overdoses while supporting individuals on their personal journeys to recovery," said Congressman James McGovern, who helped secure the funding. "This investment of $1.2 million in federal funding will allow the Worcester County District Attorney's office to add recovery coaches with important and unique firsthand experiences to support overdose survivors. This is a major step forward that will help save lives and address the root causes of substance use disorder, and I commend DA Early for securing this critical grant.'

While awaiting the release of funds, the DA's office worked to form partnerships with police departments across the county, as well as various community agencies. Partner agencies involved in the recovery coach program include Community Program for Addiction Recovery and Family Continuity.

For local police departments, it's encouraging to join the DA in focusing on offering resources to individuals in need.

"I am proud to be a part of the effort to get to the root of the problem by offering treatment and providing recovery and support services to those who need it and want help," said Worcester Police Chief Steven Sargent.

The Leicester Police Department has also seen a productive partnership with the DA's office as part of the overdose response project. The LPD reports all non-fatal overdoses to a central CIMS database, with an officer managing the program for the department.

Meanwhile, Uxbridge Police Chief Marc Montminy recently announced a program his department and the Blackstone Valley Opioid Task Force are supporting to provide scholarships to those who wish to become recovery coaches. They hope to support a class of 20-30 new coaches.

"The opioid epidemic has forced law enforcement to challenge the traditional role of police. We've decided to be an entry point into the recovery system instead of the entry point to the criminal justice system," Chief Montminy said.

Local organizations and agencies are also thanked for their support of the program.

"With this new project, we've been welcomed with open arms. It's a very big change in terms of how law enforcement, behavioral health, and substance use providers work together. This program is very unique in that way," said Craig Maxim, the director of behavioral health at Family Continuity, which is providing recovery coaches to 26 communities through the grant.

Coping with burnout

Most individuals take time during the summer months to unwind and sort of reset after a busy fall, winter and spring. Summer vibes are usually all about taking things slow and soaking up as much sunshine as possible before Old Man Winter heads back into the neighborhood. Many people who suffer from "burnout" welcome the longer days and warmer weather, however sometimes these three months of frisbee throwing and hanging by the lake aren't enough.

With the go-go-go culture that has taken over our society, many people find themselves burnt out, to their detriment. Experts say people can reverse that feeling of burn out and we decided to share what we have found with our readers.

If work is taking its toll on you, you may need to make some changes there. Experts say that oftentimes, simply talking it out with a co-worker or supervisor can help to get things off your chest, especially if the consensus is to create a healthier work environment. Some people have found that the only way to cure burnout is to change positions; however, without proper techniques, every job could eventually burn you out.

Managing stress properly is huge, however not everyone knows exactly what that entails. Healthy eating, exercise and proper sleep are the easiest things one can do to ease stress in other aspects of your life. Most people who are over working themselves claim that time is an issue. There is no time to exercise, no time to sleep, no time to eat healthy. Point blank, if they can put a man on the moon, you can find the time to put yourself first without letting your job duties fall by the wayside. This could include little tricks such as parking your car far from the entry of a place to extend the walk, taking the stairs or even placing your computer on a counter so that your sitting time is lessened. Everyone knows what works best for themselves, so oftentimes, a bit of creativity and resourcefulness is needed.

A vacation can help ease burnout symptoms but often, a week isn't enough time to truly combat burnout. If you are at a severe risk of burning out, experts say to stop working for at least two weeks and cut yourself off completely from the office. According to those in the know, they say most employers will understand that this break will result in a better employee after they return. If two weeks isn't in the cards, at least take one day a week to yourself with no phone calls, no emails or anything work related. Finding a release is imperative, whether it's going for a run or simply tuning out with a good movie or an old fashioned game of solitaire. If you let stress build and build without letting off some steam, that could lead to unintentional outbursts and severe irritability. Try not to let yourself become dependent on alcohol and caffeine. Everything in moderation. We're not sure, but we do believe the Red Bull trend has settled a bit. Switch things up by asking for different responsibilities. When things get mundane, they can become less interesting. Having fun while also getting the job done can make a world of difference. Even working away from the norm, and changing up the scenery can be a game changer. Find a nice coffee shop or a park and try to avoid working from home at all costs. If you work from home, you will begin to associate the same feelings about work, in the home. Your home is your sanctuary, and you need to protect it. Oftentimes, people take better care of their vehicles then they do themselves. To keep a car running smoothly, you need to upkeep with maintenance, use top of the line fuel and keep the miles low. In the book "Don't Sweat the Small Stuff, and It's All Small Stuff" by Richard Carlson, he talks about how when you die, your 'In Basket' won't be empty. His point is that we all feel the need to get everything done. We stay up late, get up early, just to get everything done. By doing this he says we put off having fun or spending time with loved ones. Keeping a full 'In Basket' means that your time is in demand, with projects to complete and phone calls to return. Carlson reminds his readers that no matter what you do or who you are, nothing is more important than your own happiness and sense of inner peace and that of your loved ones. He reminds us that when we die there will still be things left to finish, and that someone else will do it. It's one thing to read tips, and take advice from others, but it's another thing to remember what you've read, and to put those words into action.

Opinion and commentary from the Blackstone Valley and beyond

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR Look in the mirror for the source of this failed presidency

To the Editor:

What I believe. Feel free to disagree. This is a failed presidency.

Have you taken a moment to review all of the disasters that Feckless Biden has brought us since January 2021? These are the Intolerable Acts:

- Historically high gas prices, soaking up everyone's money. In 2019, gas was $2.55 per gallon. We the People were drilling for our own oil and gas. Energy independent. Today, we pay nearly $5 a gallon. Highest in history. Home heating fuel is up 100 percent. If it cost you $150 a month last year to heat your home, this year it will be $300 a month. Build Back Broke!

- Biden vowed to end fossil fuels. But he has no green energy replacement. No amount of solar energy is going to run your truck or Tesla. Pound for pound, fossil fuels produce more energy than solar or wind ever can. There is no magic energy cube. Oh wait, there is. It's called nuclear power. But the climate gods have outlawed fossil fuels and nuclear. By the way, Tesla "electric" cars run on electricity from oil, gas or nuclear power plants. Did the climate gods tell you that?

- Historically high inflation. A 41year high. Those who suffer the most are the elderly, the poor, and working folks. You and me. The stock market has had the worst 6 months since 1970. Does Biden care? He has lived on the government dole all his adult life. So, no, he does not care, nor does he feel your pain.

Family economics are a disaster.
Many are broke. Your July 4th Barbeque costs 17 per cent more!
Baby formula. There remains short-

- Baby formula. There remains shortage across the nation. Mobs are in the street because abortion law has been sent back to the states for voters to decide. Who is demonstrating because babies do not have food? In 2021, Biden was too old and frail to appoint a Chief to the Food and Drug Administration. Now, an Obama retread is the FDA Chief. He is another old (71) white male in Biden's crew.

- Homelessness has skyrocketed. Which cities have the most homeless people? Nine of the top 12 cities are in California, including San Francisco and LA. New York City and Seattle round out the top 13. Who runs these cities? A Woke Mob. - Speaking of Woke California, 61 percent of the voters in San Francisco dumped the Progressive District Attorney on June 7 because he does not believe it is fair to prosecute criminals. This Charming Darling (Chesa Bodin) is the son of convicted Weather Underground (Socialist) terrorists. His parents were the two getaway drivers for the 1981 robbery of a Brink's Armored car in New York City. Two police officers were killed. Chesa's darling Dad was paroled by darling Governor Cuomo in one of his last acts in office. Progressive Socialist justice!

Woke District Attorneys have turned American cities into crime-infested danger zones. Cut incarceration without reducing crime! A magic Equity button!

- Schools will now be grading differently based on race. Using the "Grading for Equity" handbook, they will eliminate homework from grading, permit unlimited retakes on tests, and replace Ds and Fs with "incomplete." This new grading policy does not teach a child anything. Grades improve without learning anything!

-The Appalling Southern Border: the cartels make money on human trafficking and use it to manufacture Fentanyl 24/7. One DEA drug bust at the border seized enough Fentanyl to kill 200 million Americans. 234,000 illegal immigrants came over the Border in May alone. Half a million illegal immigrants (criminals) "got away" because Border agents were busy giving out welcome packages.

No amount of disinformation can be worse than what Old Feckless is doing all by himself. Biden has turned America into Biffville [remember the film Back to the Future II?]. A huge majority of Americans (88 percent) think the country is going in the wrong direction. Another huge majority (60 percent) think Biden is doing a terrible job. Me too.

Hello? Is anyone awake in the Woke White House? This disaster is not Stumbling Joe's fault. He didn't put himself in office, nor did he put himself on that high tech experts-only bike. I hope you're looking in the mirror. Yes, you. What say you?

Signed, your local Patriot insurgent, BEV GUDANOWSKI UXBRIDGE Are you prepared to burn your ships?

Positively 1 Speaking 2 Toby Moore 2

I believe we all have dreams that we would love to accomplish during our lifetime. Some of us may never try; others may try for a while, but the struggles and the worries strangle their dreams like weeds do to the flowers. Others persist, and they find a way.

What gives them the ability to jump over the obstacles and break through the barriers?

The very first and fundamental step to achieving your dream is desire. Desire is the starting point for all achievement. You have to want it. Whether or not you persist to the end depends on how bad you want it.

Ask yourself, "How bad do I want it?"

Are you filled with desire? To achieve the impossible dream, you must work yourself into a frenzy of white-hot passion. You must always think about it and obsess over it; you have to stoke and cultivate the fire burning inside you.

You may say, "I want to accomplish my dream, and I want it bad, but I definitely can't say that it's a burning white-hot desire..." Is it possible to increase your desire?

You've heard it said, "Don't burn bridges." That's true for most things in life, but when it comes to your dream, if you're desire is strong enough, you must cut off any chance of retreat; you must put yourself in a position where the retreat is impossible.

Hernan Cortez, the Spanish Conquistador, is a problematic historical figure; he was ruthless. There is a story about him that is very interesting.

In 1519, he arrived on the coast of Mexico with an army of 600 warriors. Soon after their arrival, he set fire to his ships.

Can you imagine what his army must have thought? Without their ships, there was no turning back. They would never see their homes

Nanu Nanu!

To the Editor

To the Bullon.

I just had my worst fears confirmed - we are living in an alternate reality. Herein lies proof:

1: a writer says I should send my statement "...your beliefs shoved down our throats' to "commie, socialist, radical, left-wing Democrats' – (in his rancor he somehow left out 'antifa, pedophile, child grooming, open border, CRT, vaccine hoax...) - who, ostensibly, are "shoving their beliefs down our throats". Yet the writer never states which Democrat beliefs are "being shoved down our throats." Could they include the belief that 'we are created equal' - including gays, trans, black, brown, men, women; or that you should be able to marry whoever you want; or that women should be able to control their own bodies; or that we should be able to protect our citizens from weapons of war? Those all seem to be 'unalienable personal rights', not any one person's or party's beliefs. But, I'm left wondering which he is referring to.

2. My gun advocate friend now insists that children will suffer if there is any form of gun control. To be clear, the country is ONLY talking about restrictions on assault weapons. Quote: "To further devote oneself to supporting gun control creates more scenarios in which children are horrifically victimized, because gun control removes a child protectors best chance at ensuring children are not murdered." If I understand this correctly, we have no realistic gun control, and children are being murdered, but if we restrict guns - again, we are only talking assault-style weapons - even more children will be killed. According to this logic, the children who were killed at Sandy Hook, Colombine, Parkman, Uvalde, etc., wouldn't have been killed by AR-style weapons, if only AR-style weapons were available to defend them! Huh? There are 321 shootings every day in America. There are more citizen-owned guns in America, than there are citizens.

We obviously care more about our guns than about our children. Except for the unborn ones. I will repeat, for the reasoning impaired – no one is coming for your guns. It would be impossible to do so, and no one is advocating for it. It just doesn't seem reasonable to have assault weapons out on the street, in the wrong hands.

3. My favorite BVT author now uses a fictional story to justify sitting back and accepting everything that occurs in this country. "Most heartily we beseech Thee with Thy favor to behold and bless Thy servant, the President of the United States, and all others in authority." That has to be the most frightening pro-fascist sentence I've ever encountered. But it does invoke Trump's "Don't believe what your eyes see, or what your ears hear." Maybe the insurrectionists of 1775 should have read this book, and just accepted King George's repressive edicts. Maybe Martin Luther King should have read this book and not pushed for racial equality. Maybe American workers shouldn't have fought to form unions and eliminate child labor and six-day work weeks. Maybe 80 million people should have just accepted Donald Trump and his corrupt, treasonous administration, and let America become a fascist state. We should all just be silent co-conspirators in whatever is going wrong with our country, in the interest of "patriotism". That is just wrong. No country makes progress towards freedom and equality for all, by not confronting injustice and inequality in all its forms, at every turn. "Let them search for liberty elsewhere, and report back to us if they find it." No. If the roof of your house is leaking, you don't move out. You put in the time and effort to fix it. You don't desert it, you confront its flaws.

To a better, fairer, more honest and inclusive America for all.

again unless they accomplished their mission. He sent them a clear message; the only options were victory or death.

What do you think the effect of burning his ships had on the morale of his men? I am sure many were devastated and panic-stricken. After some time, I believe they began to feel a burning desire to win, to accomplish their goal no matter the cost. If they didn't, they'd never see their families again. Something must have risen inside them; they met their other self, a part of them who was not lazy and indifferent and would do whatever it took to get back home.

What does it mean to burn your ships? It means you're committing yourself fully.

Cortez and his men won against overwhelming odds. They defeated an army of Aztec warriors that may have outnumbered them fifty to one. They conquered the Aztecs adding the land of Mexico to the Spanish Empire.

If you want it bad enough, burn the ships. How committed can you be if you know you can run back to your former life?

Leave no room for escape. Burning the ships doesn't mean you cannot change course on your path to victory. Faced with the choice of success or failure, you'll find the desire burning brighter than ever before. You'll be determined to win, no matter the odds.

When challenges come, you'll face them with a different attitude. You won't shrink back in defeat; you'll press through them with an unstoppable attitude.

The challenges will come. All who succeed are put to the test. If you burn the ships, be prepared; there will be moments where all will seem lost. The trick is to know that you can still push through. You only fail when you give up.

I burned the ships in my life. I was forced to live out of my car for over a year; A family friend stole the $50,000 I raised to build my company. All seemed lost, but with the fire of desire burning ever brighter, I found a way to take it to the next level, and so can you.

Desire is the first step towards accomplishing your dreams; fan the flames of your desire you'll have the power to break through all obstacles and barriers in your way

Time to start thinking pheasants

A German shorthair pup that belongs to a local bird hunter.

It is time for bird hunters to think about the upcoming pheasant season. For those bird hunters that are fortunate enough to hold a membership at one or two Rod & Gun Clubs in the area that hold a state pheasant hunting preserve permit, their season starts even sooner than the state pheasant season, that starts on Oct. 15 this year in Mass.! The cost of raising pheasant this year for Rod & Gun

Clubs has had a modest increase to date, but if grain continues to increase clubs and state birds will continue to increase in cost. The state no longer raises their own pheasant, and opted to purchase adult birds years ago from states like Vermont & New Hampshire, to mention a couple.

The state still purchases young pheasant from pheasant farms ,and supply's Rod & Gun Clubs with the young birds to raise to adults, but the birds must be stocked in open covers, so that all bird hunter can hunt them in the fall. This year pheasant hunters will be allowed to harvest two pheasant daily, during the regular hunting season. Pheasant of either sex may be hunted. The six-bird annual harvest is no longer law in Mass., and hunters may now harvest two pheasant daily, during the Pheasant hunting season. Bird hunters in Mass. are wondering if the state will be increasing their quantity of pheasant to be stocked this year, because of the increased annual bag limit. It would be the right thing to do after the large increases for hunting & fishing license, permits, etc.!

Hunting with a bird dog is so much more fun. watching the dog use his keen sense of smell to locate birds, and hold them from flushing before the hunter is ready to shoot. When the bird is dropped in the field or brush, the dog quickly retrieves the bird and brings it back to the hunter. Dogs save a lot of shot game from being lost or wasted, because they cannot be located.

If you do not own a bird dog, the time to purchase one is now so that it is ready for the upcoming hunting season in a few months. If you purchase a dog now, he or she will be able to do some exciting things in the field, and will also be a joy to have one in the family. You need to consider purchasing a new pup, if you have the time and money. A good dog if purchased from a breeder, can cost upwards of $1,000 to $2,000 or more. You need to do your homework when selecting a breeder, making sure he has good references, and a good reputation. Selecting the breed, you want could be a Labrador, Brittney Spaniel, or Springer spaniel, to mention a few. Larger dogs in the pointing family could be an English pointer, German shorthaired pointer, English Setter to mention a few. It is a big decision to make, so be sure you are ready to take on the responsibilities before to set down the cash!

Maine & New Hampshire continue to suffer serious loses in their young moose population, and it continues to become worse every year. Moose are being infected by more than 80,000 or more ticks per animal, and the moose rub themselves down to the bear skin, to rid themselves of the nasty insect. The young moose are dying from winter tick bites which infect the young moose annually. Maine had a 90 percent loss this year in young moose. A warming climate change is part of the problem. Hopefully, something can be done soon to rectified the problem.

Hypermiling and more strategies ease high gas prices

Hypermiling is the buzz word for strategizing to trim your gas costs. But all it really means is driving with techniques that maximize fuel efficiency. If you've been using the tips outlined below (and those revealed in previous columns), you've already been practicing hypermiling.

Experts claim the typical hypermiler can realistically expect a 10-20% increase in fuel economy. Read on for tips (some old, some new) to help you ease the jump at the pump!

DWB: "Driving without breaks" is a strategy popular with hypermilers, as they drive for as long as possible without using the breaks. Breaking as little as possible not only improves gas mileage, but also tends to make you more aware of traffic obstacles, so it's not necessary to slam on the brakes at the last min-mileage. On the highway, closed windows decrease air resistance, so it's efficient to run the air conditioner in how weather.

In stop-and-go traffic, shutting off the air conditioner and opening the windows can lighten your fuel use. Experts estimate using the auto a/c can lower your fuel economy by 10 percent to 20 percent.

If your car has cruise control feature, use it. Not only will you give your accelerating foot a rest, you'll save money too! Using cruise control will save you 5% to 10% of a gallon of gas on long trips!

Keeping tires properly inflated and aligned equals gas savings. Periodic wheel alignments and keeping tires inflated to the maximum recommended pressure really does improve your gas Gas pumps measure volumes of gasoline, so it's a better deal to buy it at its densest fuel concentration.

Performing periodic vehicle "checkups" is a cost effective way to keep from wasting gas.

It's no secret a well-tuned engine burns less gas. Routine maintenance is your best insurance against gas guzzling.

Be sure to check your air filter each time you have your oil changed. Clogged air filters cause engines to work overtime which eats up more gas. Replacing a clogged air filter can improve gas mileage by as much as 10 percent, saving about 20 cents a gallon.

Periodic wheel alignments and keeping tires inflated to the maximum recommended pressure really does improve your gas mileage, according to experts. When tires aren't inflated properly it's like driving with the parking brake on and can cost a mile or two per gallon. According to SGI, you waste 1% fuel for every 10 lb per square inch of under inflation. Win Dinner for Two at the Publick House

Reader Lois O'Leary shares her impressive money saving gas tip that recently allowed her to purchase gas for a jaw dropping cost! She writes:

"With the price of gas these days we all need to save however we can. An easy way to do this is to check with your local grocery store to see if they have bonus points that you can use toward gas. As an example, Price Chopper gives five cents off a gallon of gas for every $100 spent in their store. Look for their special deals as well as sometimes they give 5x the points when you buy gift cards. If you know you are going out to a restaurant, particular store, or even shopping on Amazon, buy yourself a gift card to use there. You can accumulate points for up to three months. In the last month, I got $98 work of gas for 40 cents! Also check out Shaws, Stop & Shop and Big Y, which also offer gas programs.'

Read on for a timely roundup of gas saving tips outlined in previous columns but bear repeating:

Keeping a steady foot on the pedal prevents gas waste. Tests show jerky starts and hard breaking reduces travel time by only four percent, but fuel consumption is increased by nearly 40 percent.

The faster you drive the more gas you use. In fact, lowering driving speed from 65 to 55 mph can improve fuel economy by an impressive two miles per gallon.

Traveling at fast rates in low gears can consume up to 45% more fuel than is needed. . Using cruise control will save 5% to 10% of a gallon of gas on long trips.

Driving with your windows all the way down at higher speeds, will waste 10% more gallons of gasoline than driving with them closed. The drag will cost you more in fuel, so delay opening windows wide until you've slowed down a bit (unless you want to literally throw money out the window)!

Opt for driving on smooth roads whenever possible. Rough roads with dirt or gravel rob you of up to 30% of your gas mileage, according to experts.

Confused when it comes to using your car air conditioner efficiently? According to cooling experts, when traveling 45 mph or less, you should open the windows or vents to create a steady airflow thatll give your car a cool boost. When going faster than 45 mph, you should crank up the a/c instead. This method avoids the drag generated when windows are left open during high-speed travel.

Did you know ten seconds of idling actually uses more fuel than restarting the engine? If your car doesn't have an automatic idling shut-off feature, you can still save gas by making it a habit to turn off the car when parked.

The simple chore of cleaning out your trunk can also translate into impressive fuel savings. For every extra 250 pounds your engine hauls, the car loses about one mile per gallon in fuel economy.

Your gasoline-saving strategies start even before you fuel up. Gas comparison sites and phone applications offer consumers instant prices that add up to optimum savings:

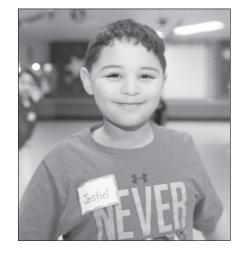

GasBuddy.com lists gas stations near you and their current gas prices Mapquest.com also offers a user friendly tool that has a map format and visual pinpoints to post real time prices of gas stations in your area or destination.

Analysis from GasBuddy revealed Monday is the best day to fill up as in many states gas prices are lower on Mondays than any other day. According to GasBuddy data, Thursday is the worst day to fill up, as far as cost is concerned, with Wednesday ranked second-worst.

Experts advise downgrading to upgrade gas efficiency. An AAA report found that drivers collectively waste $2.1 billion per year on high-octane gas. In other words, they paid extra for premium gas even though it wasn't required or even recommended for their cars. Check with your mechanic or car dealer to see if it's safe for you to switch to a lower grade. This money saving method alone can save hundreds of dollars a year.

Auto advisers also recommend buying gasoline during coolest time of day, such as early morning or late evening. During these times gasoline is densest. for dinner for two at the historic Publick House Inn.

Latest antique & collectibles news

I hope readers who attended Brimfield did well selling and/or buying this week. If you missed this latest show, you'll have another opportunity Sept. 6 through the 11th.

There's been plenty of antique, collectibles and auction news since my last update. Let's start in Massachusetts where a rare 1652 Dutch Master drawing of naval officer Admiral Maarten Harpertszoon Tromp fetched a huge price at auction recently. The New York Times reported last month that the drawing was offered as "an unidentified gentleman, initialed I.L., and dated 1652." You may remember from my recent column about old samplers that the letter "I" was used in place of "J" because "J" was not part of the Latin alphabet. This was also true of Dutch Master drawings.

The "I.L." was actually the JL signature of artist Jan Lievens, who had produced engravings and created paintings based on this sketch. The original drawing was sold at auction in Frankfurt in 1888. WAYNE TUISKULA Its location was unknown until it recently went to auction. A Dutch art dealer found the drawing while looking through online auction catalogs and arranged to view it prior to the auction. The auction hall only had around half a dozen bidders in-house due to COVID-19. There were also five phone bidders competing for the drawing. It sold for $514,800, far exceeding the $200 to $300 estimate.

Across the pond, a rare copy of Bob Dylan's "Blowin' in the Wind" also topped auction estimates when it sold in England earlier this month. T Bone Burnett recorded the song when it was performed by Dylan and a group of other musicians in Los Angeles in 1962. It was recorded COLLECTIBLES on a new type of acetate that Burnett had developed called an "Ionic Original." It was creat-ed to offer higher fidelity and was almost impervious to normal wear. The recording sold for $1,769,508 USD, beating out the holy water, a wooden stake and more.' The kit belonged to Lord William Hailey who was a member of England's House of Lords. The kit sold at a UK auction for close to $16,000 USD. There was no word on whether Lord Hailey ever wielded the vampire kit.

We are still accepting consignments for our fall multi-estate online auction. Some of the offerings include gold jewelry, baseball cards from the 19th century to the 1960s, coins, Civil War memorabilia, pocket watches, paintings and a wide variety of other items. We will also be running an estate sale in Walpole, Mass. on July 23. I'll be teach-ing my "Evaluating your Antiques" course at the Bay Path Evening School in Charlton, Mass. on Sept. 13. Managing garden pests with pollinators in mind

Every garden season is filled with beautiful and tasty surprises along with a few challenges. One challenge gardeners face each year is managing insect pests while keeping the pollinators safe. Fortunately, only a very small percent of insects in our landscapes are harmful. The rest help pollinate plants, feed upon or parasitize bad insects, or help decompose plant debris. Proper identification of the plant-damaging culprit is the first step in managing problems. Often the insect that is most visible is not the one causing the damage. You can find lots of helpful information and images online. Look for websites hosted by your local University, extension service or

Work with nature to help manage pest problems. By tolerating some damage, you provide the food that attracts nature's pest controllers to the garden. Watch for aphid eating lady beetles and green lacewings that eat hundreds of these pests each day. Invite songbirds to your landscape with seed and berry producing plants and a clean, fresh source of water. Ninety six percent of terrestrial birds feed their young insects. And then there are those non-stinging, parasitizing wasps that lay their eggs in other insects. When the eggs hatch the young feed on the host. The South Carolina Corps of Cadets Class of 2022 made history as one of The Citadel's largest incoming classes when they arrived on campus four years ago.

Now, after two years of modified graduation celebrations, Price is one of more than 600 members of the South Carolina Corps of Cadets who accepted their degrees during the college's traditional commencement ceremony held on Saturday, May 7 in McAlister Field House.

The day before commencement, about 30 percent of the graduating cadets accepted commissions as officers into the U.S. Armed Services. Among those who accepted commissions are the first two Citadel cadets to join the U.S. Space Force: Conor William Deans, Space Operations Officer, and Jack O. Schwartz, Developmental Engineer.

The top academic programs for the Class of 2022 included Business Administration, Intelligence and Security Studies, Criminal Justice, Mechanical Engineering and Political Science.

Graduates accepted their diploma from President of The Citadel Gen. Glenn W. Walters, USMC (Ret.), Class of 1979.

Once identified, you will need to decide if control is needed. Some insect damage is just cosmetic meaning the plant's health and longevity are not adversely affected it just looks bad. In these cases, control is for us not the health of our plants. Consider tolerating the damage and masking it with nearby plantings or garden art. In other cases, the damage is done, and the insect is no longer present. Revenge spraying may make you feel better but does nothing to fix the problem. Make a note on next year's calendar to watch for and manage the pest if you feel control is really needed. Finding pest problems early makes hand removal easier and may be all that is needed. Often when we see the damage on our plants, control will not help. Many galls, unusual growths on plants, are caused by insect feeding. When we see the gall, the insect is either safely living inside the gall or it has fled to complete another stage of its life. At that point, control will not work and in most cases, this is a cosmetic issue and control is not needed.

"He flew 66 combat missions over Southern France, Corsica, Algiers, and the Congo," the town reported, adding that Kilik is the recipient of the Distinguished Flying Cross and holds his service record as a point of personal pride.

In 1945, Kilik returned to Grafton and began a 33-year career working for Coes Knife Co. in Worcester. He started his career as a machinist and retired in 1986 as a Superintendent. BY KEN POWERS SPORTS CORRESPONDENT

NORTHBRIDGE — Nick Laflamme and Zach Feeney both went 3-for-4 and drove in two runs and pitcher Mike Shorey tossed a complete-game four-hitter to lead the Northbridge American Legion Post 343 baseball team to a 10-2 win over Sturbridge Post 109 on Friday, July 8, at Lasell Field.

"We needed this game," Northbridge coach John Demagian said. "We needed it bad.'

Post 343, which started the season 6-1, had lost eight of nine — and four in a row — heading into Friday's game against Sturbridge.

'When we put the ball in play, when we hit the ball, we're pretty good," Demagian said. "We beat Milford to go 6-1, and then we were 1-8 since, until today. Now we're 8-9. It's been a tough stretch, we've struggled scoring runs."

Sturbridge (0-17) jumped out to a 2-0 lead in the top of the first inning.

to 2-1 on an errant throw to third base ond when the throw to first was off in an attempt by Sturbridge to catch the mark. Seaver put Post 109 ahead, him napping. Northbridge's next bat-1-0, racing home when the next batter, Cam Athanas, walked, advanced to ter, Keenan Wetherbee, doubled to the second on a Post 109 error, and went to gap in right-center field. Wetherbee third on a groundout by Matt Landry.

> "I was looking to attack first pitch and hopefully get on base; it felt good off the bat," said Laflamme, who turned on the first pitch, a fastball, and sent it to deep left field. "It was a good way to start the game; I felt like it really got us going.'

Laflamme gave Northbridge the lead for good, 3-2, in the third inning. After being hit by a pitch Laflamme went to second base on a wild pitch and third on a single by Landry. He scored on a single to right field by Feeney.

Post 343 broke the game open in the fourth inning, taking an 8-2 lead by scoring five runs on five hits, two walks, a sacrifice fly and a Sturbridge error. Laflamme and Athanas both drove in two runs with singles to left field, and Landry delivered the fifth run with a fly-ball out to left field.

The eight runs was more than enough for Shorey — although Post 343 did add a pair of runs in the sixth inning to account for the 10-2 final score — who threw just 79 pitches and didn't walk a batter.

"Mike locates and changes speeds very well," Demagian said of Shorey, who is left-handed. "I don't know (Shorey being left-handed) bothers the other team. It's something they don't see a lot of because there are not a lot of lefties out there. He's a good one, though, we're glad to have him."

Shorey said he wasn't worried when he walked back to the dugout in the middle of the first inning trailing 2-0.

'I just try to throw strikes when I'm out there," said Shorey, a Northbridge grad who will be starting his sophomore year at Anna Maria next month. "I know I have a good defense behind me so I'm just trying to pitch to contact. I was a little shaken up in the first inning, but not worried; I hadn't pitched in a week. I knew (the defense) was going to figure it out for me; they always do.'

Sturbridge manager Jim Rosseel, who was disappointed by the loss, remains upbeat.

'After tryouts we knew we had no pitching," Rosseel said. "I had a bunch of (roster) spots available so I went for the young kids. I said to myself, 'it doesn't matter; you've got no pitching so you're not going to go anywhere." So I decided it was time to start young again and get the young kids a year of experience so they know what to expect next year."

Post 109 has routinely had less than a dozen players at its games this summer.

'The beauty of only having 9, 10, or 11 guys at each game is that a lot of kids that didn't plan on getting a lot of playing time have gotten more than they expected," Rosseel said. "And that's invaluable."

Undefeated Northbridge 12U Cal Ripken All-Stars are State Champions

Courtesy photo

The Northbridge 12U Cal Ripken All-Star team won the State Championship and will head to the New England Regionals.

It has been nothing short of a spectacular season for the Northbridge 12U Cal Ripken All-Stars. So far on the season the team is 13-0 heading into the New England Regionals.

First, Northbridge went 4-0 in a Father's Day Tournament, defeating Uxbridge, Medway, Greenfield and Mohawk.

Then, in Districts, Northbridge went 2-0 in pool play to earn the No. 1 seed for playoffs. They then beat Douglas in the semifinals and fell behind Nipmuc in the finals 7-2 before battling back to tie it. The game went to extra innings, where Northbridge won it on a walk-off home run in the bottom of the seventh inning.

In the State Tournament, Northbridge went 3-0 in pool play defeating Maynard, Narragansett (in nine innings) and Mohawk. That propelled Northbridge into the No. 2 seed heading into playoffs. The locals beat Greenfield in the semifinals 5-3, hitting a pair of homers and getting a stellar pitching performance from Avery Schneider (complete-game gem on 66 pitches). Northbridge then faced Nashoba in the final and despite being behind for much of the game, they battled to tie the game in the fourth at 2-2. Northbridge then won the game on a two-run line drive single to right field while being down to the last strike with two outs. Another complete game gem of a pitching performance was turned in by Devin Lavallee.

On the season Northbridge has hit 18 homers in 13 games. They have scored 102 runs in those games and have only allowed 43 runs (25 earned runs). Solid base running has also been key to Northbridge's success, as they have 103 stolen bases while only allowing 42 steals while on defense.

The Northbridge 12U Cal Ripken All-Star team includes Devin Lavallee, Kyle Post, Brady Direnzo, Ryder Meagher, Tyler Desousa, Maya Macleod, Miles Gorman, Avery Schneider, Shane Paulhus, Damien Manosh, Rory Lamonda, James Flaherty, head coach Trevor Schneider and assistant coaches Rich Paulhus, Mike Manosh, Rick Gorman and Chet Direnzo.

The Regionals are set for the week of July 15-21 in New Milford, Conn.
